"DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY" is paying a visit to the Fulham Theatre this week, and is being heartily welcomed. The piece carries with it the description of "a musical comedy novelty," and thoroughly bears out the phrase, its exciting scenes being varied throughout by songs, dances, and much humour. The members of Mr. Henry Swinerd's company do full justice to the various characters, high honours being won by Miss Dorothy Desmonde, to whom the title-rôle is entrusted.

A PERFORMANCE of Sherlock Holmes which was to have been given at the Casino at Bagnères on Tuesday evening, was abandoned under curious circumstances. At eight o'clock the building was full, but M. Gémier, who was to have played the title-rôle, was absent. Nine o'clock found the audience still waiting, and when, at ten o'clock, the actor, with some other members of the company, was still missing, the management gave up hope, and the spectators had their money returned. A search-party was then formed, and at three o'clock in the morning M. Gémier and his friends were found stranded on a mountain pass, at an altitude of 3,000 feet, and half dead from cold. Their machine had broken down far from human habitation, and overtaken by mountain fog and darkness they had settled themselves down to make the best of their situation.

THE Theatre Royal, Cardiff, presented an animated scene last Sunday evening, when a "full house" assembled at a mass meeting, with Miss Daisy Halling in the chair, to hear an address by the Rev. J. Stitt Wilson, M.A., in conclusion of his seven weeks' Socialist campaign in Cardiff. Mr. Wilson's resemblance in appearance and manner to the late Sir Henry Irving was the subject of frequent comment.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

MR. BEERBOHM TREE has permitted peeps at the preparations for Faust which stimulate the already keen desire to see the piece materialise at His Majesty's on Sept. 5. "The authors of the new Faust," to use Mr. Tree's own words, "have made from Goethe's original a poetic drama, preserving, I think, all the philosophy and beauty of sentiment of the immortal story. All through the play the authors have kept before them Goethe's philosophy, 'I will the evil, I achieve the good.'" While the authors acknowledge their indebtedness to Goethe, they have fashioned a new Faust; but, on the whole, the presentation will be classically true to the original conception, or, rather, to Marlowe's conception, on which he grafted the magnificent love theme.

THE play is divided into four acts and a prologue; and the increased facilities afforded by the reconstructions lately effected on the stage reduce the pauses for scenic changes to the minimum. As with Goethe's poem, the drama starts with a Prologue in Heaven, and here the authors have pressed Shelley's sublime verses into their service. "I should like to say in this connection," said Mr. Tree, that "we have striven to preserve throughout an atmosphere of mystical simplicity rather than to obtain sensational scenic effects."

FROM the Prologue a quick transition is made to Faust's study, and the first act ends with the witches' kitchen, where a spectacle of weird and grim revelling is presented. The opening scene of the second act is the Platz in front of the cathedral, and thence the action passes to Margaret's chamber and subsequently to the garden. A change is then made to the forest, when Faust makes one last vain effort to free himself from the domination of the tempter, the act finishing with the traditional love scene between Faust and Margaret.

THE third act reveals the exterior of the church, and deals with the incidents of Valentine's return, of his duel with Faust, of his death, and his harsh condemnation of Margaret. The fourth comprises three scenes, the first on the Brocken, the second in Margaret's dungeon, and the third in Heaven, where the last word is spoken in an Epilogue revealing the final deliverance of Faust from his bondage.

OVER the beauties of the Brocken scene Mr. Tree grows eloquent. "It is treated," he said, "in a spirit of unalloyed beauty. In it Faust is invited by Mephistopheles to feast his eyes upon some of the most beautiful heroines in the world's history; upon those queens of love whose influence has served to make or unmake the destinies of nations. In a vision he sees before him Cleopatro, Helen of Troy, and the famous courtesan Messalina."

AT this juncture the authors make a special point, which, although suggested by Goethe in the scene of the witches' kitchen, was, oddly enough, never again referred to by him. In a concluding vision, they show Margaret, her dead child lying beside her, in prison. And it is this spectacle which, acting upon Faust's sensitive nature, compels him to seek her once more. This determination to flee from the temptations of Cleopatra's and of Helen's beauty it is that forces from Mephistopheles the words, "I have no scythe to shear a harebell down, Its weakness masters me."

MR. TREE'S character of Mephistopheles constitutes the one serious departure from the original. In the Prologue he appears in the guise rather of Milton's Fallen Angel than of that flippant personage who argues with the Almighty in the trivial and light-hearted fashion adopted by Goethe. When, however, he follows Faust to earth, he puts on the garb of common humanity, although looking down upon men and women from the more exalted platform of a spiritual entity.

MISS MARIE LOHR, the Margaret, is, in Mr. Tree's opinion, the very ideal of Goethe's heroine, and in that view he will have many supporters. The music to the song, "There was a King in Thule," which falls to Margaret, has been composed by Mr. Coleridge Taylor, who has written all the music with the exception of the entr'actes; and there can be no question that Miss Lohr's sweet and cultured voice will do it full justice. Mr. Tree will also indulge in vocalisation, and is hopeful of creating an unexpected effect with "The Ballad of the Flea," and in the famous Serenade.

THE cast of Stephen Phillips and J. Comyns Carr's version of Goethe's Faust at His Majesty's may here be added. Mr. Tree as Mephistopheles, Miss Marie Lohr as Margaret, and Mr. Henry Ainley as Faust will be supported by Messrs. Godfrey Tearle, Charles Quartermaine, G. W. Anson, Norman Page, W. Creighton, Cyril Sworder, P. Johnson, John Deverell, Henry Morrell, and Robert Atkins, and Misses Elizabeth Valentine, Isabel Merson, Muriel Alexander, Sylvia Buckley, Shelley Calton, V. Sinclair, Laura Cowie, Pauline Bredt, Ethel Hodgkins, Madge Titheradge, and Rosina Filippi.

MISS LENA ASHWELL has fixed upon Friday, Oct. 9. for the beginning of her autumn season at the Kingsway, and the occasion will be rendered further interesting by the fact that it will be the anniversary of the opening of the theatre. The season will start with the production of the new play by Mr. Wilfred T. Coleby, of which mention has already been made. A welcome addition to Miss Ashwell's company is that of Miss Kate Rorke, and Mr. Ernest Cosham and Mr. E. W. Garden have also been allotted important rôles.

THE novelty, for which a title has yet to be decided upon, will be rehearsed during Miss Ashwell's provincial tour, which finishes at Birmingham on Oct. 3, thus leaving almost a clear week for the final rehearsals in London. The box-office at the Kingsway Theatre will open on Monday, Sept. 21.

MR. LAURENCE IRVING has acquired the rights of a new drama by Walter Frith, founded on the remarkable career of Margaret Catchpole, that heroine in humble life who did such things in the late seventeenth and early eighteenth century as to make herself a name. The action is laid in the days when horse-stealing was a capital offence, and the story of the young woman who was tried for her life as the result of an escapade which had nothing more than high spirits and a lover's meeting for a motive is a romantic one. The chief part should admirably fit the talents of Miss Mabel Hackney, for whom her husband has bought the piece.

LADY IRVING, widow of the late Sir Henry Irving, arrived on Saturday in Dublin, where her son, Mr. H. B. Irving, is appearing this week at the Gaiety. Lady Irving was a Miss O'Callaghan, and is grand-daughter of Surgeon-General O'Callaghan, the author of the "History of the Irish Brigade."

MISS CECILIA LOFTUS will arrive from America next Tuesday. We should be glad to hear that this accomplished actress is about to make her reappearance on the London stage. One does not forget her delightful Peter Pan.

MESSRS. SMITH AND CARPENTER have the distinction of starting the autumn season, which begins on Saturday next with the production of Pete at the Lyceum. It has not been generally observed, by the way, that a version of The Manxman was produced at the Shaftesbury in the November of 1895, with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Waller in the parts of Philip Christian and Kate Cregeen. The version differed materially both from the book and from Wilson Barrett's dramatisation produced at the Grand Theatre, Leeds, the previous year.

THE Lyceum version has been conceived on lines quite apar tfrom either of those above alluded to. Mr. Hall Caine and his collaborator, Mr. Louis N. Parker, have dealt with two aspects of the ethics of sex, one of them consequent on the other. The first is: The sin of woman as compared with the sin of man. The second is: The attitude of society and the law towards the property of parents in their children—the man's right on the one hand, the woman's on the other. The first of these propositions is one of the main themes of both the original novel and of the play. In both it is taken that both the man and the woman were equally in fault, thus affording a common ground for the divergence of sex penalties.

THE other half of the problem of Pete presents more difficulties. Does the child born of a woman belong to her absolutely by right of motherhood, or are there conditions under which society and the law may quite properly take it out of her hands? The legal aspect of this particular case is, of course, complicated by the fact that Kate Cregeen's baby is not her husband's, but the result of an ante-nuptial misdoing with Philip Christian. The conclusions to which the authors arrive are set out with dramatic force, and are reached after a series of scenes as poignant as any that could be conceived.

MR. FORBES ROBERTSON will introduce The Passing of the Third Floor Back to London at the St. James's on Tuesday, Sept. 1, when, if report speaks truly, the distinguished actor will be seen in one of the noblest studies of his career. The play, which is by Jerome K. Jerome, was given a trial at Harrogate last week, and, as noted in our account of its production in another column, achieved an instantaneous success. It is fervently to be hoped that the provincial verdict will be confirmed by a London audience, and that Mr. Forbes Robertson's stay at the West End will be of long duration.

THE threatened clash of "first-nights" has been averted in one instance by the decision of Mr. Frank Curzon to hasten the appearance of The Early Worm, which he will accordingly bring out at Wyndham's on Monday, Aug. 31, instead of Sept. 1, the date originally selected. The chief character in Mr. Frederick Lonsdale's comedy is in the hands of that sterling comedian Mr. Weedon Grossmith, and the interest of the play is sure of being artistically maintained in the care of Messrs. A. E. Matthews, Alfred Bishop, Wilfred Draycott, H. Stephenson, A. W. Baskcomb, Forbes Dawson, and E. W. Laceby, and Miss Fanny Brough and Miss Muriel Beaumont.

MR. FRANK CURZON will thus have only two clear days between the production of The Early Worm and that of The King of Cadonia, also by Mr. Frederick Lonsdale, which he will stage at the Prince of Wales's on Sept. 3. The piece was first announced as The Queen of Cadonia, and afterwards as Princess Marie, but finally given the title above alluded to. Mr. Huntley Wright and Miss Isabel Jay are the chief attractions of the cast, the remainder of which consists of Messrs. Bertram Wallis, Roland Cunningham, F. Pope Stamper, Harold Deacon, Arthur Laceby, Akerman May, and George Barrett, Mme. Amy Martin, Miss Peggy Bethel, and Miss Gracie Leigh.

MR. LEWIS WALLER adheres to the date fixed upon for the new adaptation of The Duke's Motto at the Lyric, namely, Sept. 8, which is also to be the occasion of the production of Paid in Full at the Aldwych. Mr. Waller as Henry de la Gardere in the former piece will be supported by Miss Valli-Valli as Blanche de Nevers and Miss Sybil Carlisle as Gabrielle. The other ladies of the cast will be Miss Dorothy Minto, Miss Gwendolin Floyd, Miss Maud Digan, and Miss May Chenery. Other parts will be in the hands of Messrs. Tom Heslewood, Owen Roughwood, Franklin Dyall, A. E. George, and Shiel Barry.

THE origin of The Duke's Motto may be traced to a play by the French dramatist Paul Feval, called Le Bossu, written in 1862. An adaptation was produced by Fechter at the Lyceum in 1863, the adapter being John Brougham, a native of Dublin, who played Carrickfergus. A revival of the piece under the title of The Duke's Device, was made at the Olympic in the September of 1876, with Mr. Henry Neville as Lagardère.

AN attractive title has been found for the new Barrie play, which is to be produced at the Duke of York's Theatre on Sept. 3. It is to be called What Every Woman Knows, and is described as a comedy in four acts. The first and second are laid in Scotland, but for the third and fourth a descent is made to the Sassenach side of the Tweed. There are nine characters, all of which have an important bearing on the story. Mr. Gerald Du Maurier will be seen in the principal part, and the others will be entrusted to Mr. Henry Vibart, Mr. Sydney Valentine, Mr. Edmund Gwenn, Miss Hilda Trevelyan, Mr. Norman Forbes, Mrs. Beerbohm Tree, Miss Lillah McCarthy, and Miss Madge Murray.

MISS ELLEN TERRY and her husband (Mr. James Carew), who are touring with Captain Brassbound's Conversion, are fulfilling a series of engagements in East Anglia. Aided by the irrepressible motor-car, they are visiting a number of rural spots, famed alike in history and art. Whilst at the Theatre Royal, Colchester, where, by-the-bye, Miss Terry was the recipient of bouquets of the famed Colchester roses, which have this year carried all before them at the principal shows, they motored over to Braintree, Bocking, and Coggeshall, and also paid a visit to that charming piece of scenery, immortalised by Constable, the Vale of Dedham. Everywhere the talented actress has been received with the greatest cordiality and delight.

MR. AND MRS. KENDAL will commence their autumn tour at Douglas, Isle of Man, on Aug. 31. The new play, The Whirlpool, has been selected to fill the bill for the whole week at this popular holiday resort. In succession to Douglas they are booked to visit Blackpool, Eastbourne, Folkestone, Holloway, Notting Hill-gate, Liverpool, Southport, Manchester, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Sheffield, Birmingham, Bradford, and Broadway Theatre, New Cross. The company supporting Mr. and Mrs. Kendal will be practically the same as that which has been associated with them for very many years.

MR. OSWALD BRAND, actor-dramatist, and formerly acting-manager at the Islington Grand, who has had a long and serious illness, has greatly improved in health since undergoing special treatment at the National Hospital, Queen's-square, and elsewhere. Though at present confined to his bed through a severe cold, he is actively engaged in writing new operas, plays, and poems. Her Majesty the Queen has just accepted an illustrated volume of poems from his versatile pen. From his sick bed Mr. Brand sends cheery greetings to his many professional and private friends, who will in return wish him a speedy and complete recovery.

VERY interesting to the singers of the lyric stage was the marriage of Mr. Michael Edmund Stephens (son of Mr. H. C. Stephens, M.P. for Hornsey, 1887-1900) with Miss Louise Kildreth Oudin (daughter of the late Mr. Eugene Oudin), which was solemnised at Christ Church, Lancaster Gate, on Tuesday afternoon. The bride, who was given away by her mother, wore a gown of white satin, with a half train arranged with old Mechlin lace, and a tulle veil over a tiara of orange blossoms. Miss Eugénie Oudin, sister of the bride, was the only bridesmaid. The best man was Mr. H. G. Rawlinson. The reception was given at 3a, Linden-gardens, and the honeymoon will be spent in motor trips on the Continent.

BOTH the parents of the bride, it is interesting to recall, were associated with the operatic stage. Her father, who was born in New York of French parents in 1858, for a time practised at the American bar. He afterwards adopted a musical career, and receiving an excellent training from Moderati in America, made his début on the stage at Wallack's Theatre, New York, on Aug. 30, 1866, with the McCaul Opéra Comique company as Montosol in an English version of Victor Roger's Josephine vendue par ses sœurs, his future wife, Miss Louise Parker, also making her début as Josephine. Both artists secured a considerable degree of success on that occasion, as well as during the run of the opera at New York and on tour. They were married at Detroit in the December of 1886.

MR. OUDIN made his first appearance on the English stage on Jan. 31, 1891, as Sir Brian de Bois Guilbert, the Templar, in Sullivan's Ivanhoe on the ocasion of the opening of the English Opera House (now the Palace Theatre). Among his chief successes were those of the hero of Tschaikowsky's Eugen Onegin, produced at the Olympic on Oct. 17, 1892; and Henri Quatre, in Lacome's Ma Mie Rosette, at the Globe, and later at the Prince of Wales's.

IN addition to his accomplishments as a vocalist, Mr. Oudin was a translator of many modern songs, of the lyrics of Messager's Basoche, and of Saint-Saëns' Samson and Dalila, wherein he sang on its production as a concert version under Cowen at the Covent Garden promenade concerts in 1893. In addition he composed a set of four songs, words, and music, but his best composition consisted of an "O Salutaris" for two voices. In 1893 and 1894 he repeated his successes in opera at St. Petersburg, singing the rôles of Wolfram, Telramund, the High Priest in Samson and Dalila, and Albert in Werther.

A SAD termination to Mr. Oudin's career was reached on Oct. 20, 1894, when he was struck down with apoplexy in the artists' room at Queen's Hall after a Richter concert. He never recovered from the stroke, and died on Nov. 4, to the universal regret of friends and the public, with whom he was in constant request. Mrs. Oudin, it may be added, left the stage soon after her marriage, and became a successful teacher of singing.

MR. MARTIN HARVEY, who commenced his special tour on Monday at the Grand Theatre, Llandudno, has now practically completed all his arrangements for the early days of his forthcoming London season, which, as we have already announced, commences at the Adelphi Theatre on Sept. 9 with The Corsican Brothers. Miss N. de Silva will not be in the opening cast, but will make her reappearance during the second week of the season, when she will figure in that striking one-act piece The House of Pierre, by Miss Julie Opp and Miss Kate Jordan, in which the accomplished actress recently obtained a conspicuous success. Mr. Harvey has also arranged for Miss de Silva to repeat her fine performance in another remarkable one-act play, The Tragedy of Truth, which will also be given during the run of The Corsican Brothers.

MISS FLORENCE SMITHSON, who has been winning deserved laurels in The Dairymaids at the Queen's, will be seen for the first time as Sophia in Tom Jones, with which Mr. Robert Courtneidge begins his second tour at the King's, Hammersmith, on Monday. Mr. Harry Welchman will play the title-rôle, Mr. Ambrose Manning will be seen again as Squire Western, and Mr. Dan Rolyat as Benjamin Partridge. New numbers by Mr. Edward German have been provided.

MR. PERCY HUTCHISON added to his fast-growing records by breaking all his former ones at Eastbourne and Hastings last week with Brewster's Millions in spite of the hot weather, the advance bookings totalling over £200. The success of the production is all the more remarkable when one considers that the Hutchison management has produced thirty-eight great London successes in both towns, but all have had to give place to Brewster's Millions. This week the company is at Middlesbrough, where intense enthusiasm is displayed every night at the end of the ship scene. In congratulating Mr. Hutchison, Mr. Imeson said: "The ship scene is marvellous; I have never seen anything like it during the whole of my forty years' experience."

MISS MAY PALFREY embarks upon an extended tour of Mrs. Dot at Cardiff on Sept. 14. Her company includes Mr. Kinsey Peile, Miss Aida Jenoure, Mrs. Kemmis, Miss Evelyn Beaumont, Miss Annie Hill, and Mr. H. C. Buckler, with Miss Palfrey, of course, in the part of the fascinating heroine.

MISS ALEXANDRA CARLISLE and Mr. Joseph Coyne had a hearty send-off when they left by the boat train for Liverpool en route for New York, where they are to appear under Mr. Frohman's management in The Mollusc in September. Miss Lily Elsie and Mr. George Graves and a party of gallery first-nighters were amongst the theatrical crowd on the platform. Miss Carlisle, who is delighted to get an opportunity of playing Miss Mary Moore's part, notes the remarkable coincidence that she appeared in comedy as Carlotta in The Morals of Marcus at the London Garrick on August 31 and is appearing in The Mollusc at the New York Garrick on the anniversary of the same date, August 31.

THE new King's Theatre, Melbourne, which has been erected by Mr. William Anderson at a cost of £32,000, was formally opened by the Premier, Sir Thomas Bent, on July 11. The structure is an imposing one, and boasts the largest stage of any theatre in Melbourne. Special care has been taken as regards the comfort of patrons in every part of the house, and altogether this handsome playhouse is a decided acquisition to Melbourne. The piece chosen for the initial performance was the evergreen melodrama Man to Man, in which Mr. William Anderson's company were all admirably placed. Miss Eugenie Duggan made her reappearance in the leading female part, after an absence of some twelve months.

AT a recent meeting of the Glasgow Distress Committee a letter was read from Mr. Arthur Jefferson, of the Metropole Theatre, offering fifty free seats per night for respectable, deserving men and their wives who were suffering from the effects of unemployment. A member of the committee said that their men had a very hard time, and it was a golden opportunity to them—something they could enjoy. The chairman said it was a very good offer, adding that all the clerk would have to do would be to distribute the tickets. The matter was remitted to the Executive Committee.

MR. AND MRS. F. R BENSON, with their Shakespearean company, will commence their autumn tour at the Spa Theatre, Scarborough, on Sept. 7. It will include Halifax, Hanley, Brighton, Fulham, the Marlborough Theatre, Holloway, Bath, Cardiff, Bristol, Birmingham, Liverpool, Manchester, Bradford, and Leeds. Mr. Cuthbert Ricketts, who has been Mr. Benson's acting-manager on tour for some years, is now taking over the business management of the company.

MR. GRANVILLE BARKER will be among the lecturers during the next fortnight at the Fabian Summer School at Llanbedr, North Wales. Included in the speakers in September will be Mr. G. Bernard Shaw and Mr. W. Archer.

MISS CAMILLE CLIFFORD (the Hon. Mrs. Lyndhurst Bruce) experienced a mishap in a motor-car on Wednesday afternoon within a few yards of this office. As the car in which Mrs. Bruce and her husband were travelling cut through a short thoroughfare from Aldwych to Wellington-street, another car came down Wellington-street from the direction of Covent Garden. The front of the latter vehicle came in contact with the back of the Hon. Lyndhurst Bruce's car, but fortunately both cars maintained their balance. Mrs. Bruce and her husband received a violent shaking, but were otherwise unhurt. The back wheels of the "Gibson Girl's" car were slightly damaged and the front of the other car was badly twisted. Mr. Bruce telephoned for another car at his garage in York-road, Waterloo, and on its arrival he and his wife proceeded to their destination.

RIVAL English versions of Herr Molnar's Der Teufel were produced by Mr. Fiske and Mr. Savage respectively in New York on Tuesday night. Mr. Fiske's secret rehearsals and Mr. Savage's resolve to produce his work at thirty-six hours' notice on the same night as his rival manager lent additional zest to the productions, and both houses were crowded. According to the critics, there is ample room in New York for both "devils."

MR. PERCY HUTCHISON'S No. 1 company of Lady Frederick is this week repeating its success at the County Theatre, Kingston. Miss Mabel Love's entrance on Monday was the signal for a great and spontaneous ovation in all parts of the house, which was packed, many being turned away early in the evening, and the audience insisted upon her taking several calls at the fall of the curtain with Mr. Robert Minster, whose performance as Paradine Fouldes was also a triumph. The dresses worn by Miss Love and Miss Eleanor Delaporte are beautiful creations, and murmurs of praise could be heard from all parts of the house as one lovely gown succeeded another. A huge crowd waited outside the stage door to cheer Miss Love as she left the theatre.

MISS AGNES KNIGHTS (Mrs. E. W. Thomas) has rejoined Mr. Edward Terry for his autumn tour, supporting him for the fifth season in the widely differing rôles of Agatha Posket in The Magistrate and Ruth Rolt in Sweet Lavender.

MR. GEO. S. KING'S new emotional and domestic play, entitled His Life for Her Love, will be produced at the Metropole, Devonport, on Monday. A powerful company has been engaged, including Mr. Douglas C. Phelps, who will appear in the leading rôle and produce the piece. Mr. King will take his annual benefit on Friday next, when the performance will be attended by the Mayor and Mayoress of Devonport and several members of the Devonport Town Council.

PROVINCIAL audiences are delighted with Mr. Hubert Henry Davies' charming play Captain Drew on Leave, which is presented by Miss Cynthia Brooke, Mr. Claude King, and Miss Nora Carton's company. The principals are winning high praise in each town visited.

MISS GERTRUDE IRVING is gaining warm encomiums in the part of Mrs. Wiggs in Mr. Gaston Mayer's production of Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch on tour, press and public being alike unanimous in their approval. Having lived for some time in Louisville, Kentucky, which is the scene of the now famous Cabbage Patch, Miss Irving is able to add many realistic touches to her portrayal of the delightful Mrs. Wiggs.

MR. NORMAN V. NORMAN will revive Anthony Hope's play The Adventure of Lady Ursula at the Marlborough on Monday. This play, which had such a long and successful run at the Duke of York's, has not been seen in London for some considerable time. Miss Beatrice Wilson will repeat her artistic performance of the Lady Ursula Barrington, a part in which she has won the greatest success in the suburbs and provinces, and Mr. Norman will reappear as Sir George Sylvester.

MR. HALL CAINE, who had an alarming experience with his runaway motor-car, and in consequence had a nervous breakdown, has sent a reassuring message to his anxious admirers. "I am quite unhurt and quite well," he wired, "and nothing is injured but the motor-car and a tree. I can give no explanation of the accident. The car broke away near the top of our steep carriage drive and ran down to a bend of the road, where it buried its bonnet in the stout trunk of a chestnut tree."

THE Earl of Shaftesbury, who has accepted the presidency of the newly-formed Dorset Choral Association, is keenly interested in movements that tend to promote the love of good music. Like the Earl of Kinnoull, his hobby is music, and, like his fellow peer also, he sings with a well-trained and sympathetic voice. As President of the Irish Folk Song Society of London, Lord Shaftesbury takes part in its annual concert, and invariably sings folk songs of Donegal. The folk music of that district of Ulster has a peculiar interest for him, as his mother was the daughter of a Marquis of Donegal, and it was to the Marchioness of Donegal, his great-grandmother, that Tom Moore dedicated his "Irish Melodies."

MR. H. G. DUDLEY BENNETT'S new acquisition, the Opera House, Crewe, has proved an enormous success, due primarily to the excellent bill of fare provided weekly by Mr. H. Percival Young, Mr. Bennett's sole booking representative for Crewe and Burton-on-Trent.

MRS. EDITH COLONA-CHALMERS, widow of Edgar Colona, the Shakespearian tragedian, is in sore need, and writes to say that she has parted with everything of value to support herself and her two boys. She appeals for aid through our columns to her friends in the profession, and would be grateful for any help, which should be sent to 60, Walworth-road, S.E.

MME. KATE FLINN, the finished teacher of singing, is resuming her lessons for the autumn at 11, Henrietta-street, Cavendish-square, and all who want to make as certain of success as may be should avail themselves of the opportunities thus afforded. Mme. Flinn has brought out several pupils this year, amongst them Miss Ruby Cobbett and Mlle. Sowinska. Studying under her now is a charming young soprano with a beautiful voice, of whom great things may be prophesied. Mme. Flinn's "At Homes" at Brighton, which she visits every Saturday, are very agreeable variations of her curriculum, and provide admirable opportunities for the exploitation of new talent.

MR. BANNISTER HOWARD'S arrangements for the autumn at the Crystal Palace Theatre make up an attractive series. The season will begin on Sept. 28 with The Dairymaids, followed on Oct. 5 by Uncle Tom's Cabin, and a week later by Beau Brocade. On Oct. 19 Miss Annie Hughes and company will appear in The Mollusc; and Are You a Mason? The Dandy Fifth, The Belle of Mayfair, Peter's Mother, The Beloved Vagabond, and The Merry Widow are announced in regular succession.

MILTON'S Hellenian-Hebraic tragedy, Samson Agonistes, will be revived in London next December in connection with the poet's tercentenary celebration. This play was acted for the first time in April, 1900, when it was produced for the Elizabethan Stage Society, and was given in the lecture theatre of the Victoria and Albert Museum. The performance was under the direction of Mr. William Poel, who will be responsible again for the stage management. Representations of the tragedy will also be given in Oxford, Cambridge, Liverpool, and Manchester.

"BEAU BROCADE," the successful romantic play by the authors of The Scarlet Pimpernel, opens its autumn tour at the Opera House, Southport, on Sept. 7. Mr. Reginald Dance and Miss Ruth Mackay will again play the principal parts, supported by a powerful company.

MR. CECIL A. COLLINS will commence his autumn tour of Hands Across the Sea, by the late Henry Pettitt, on Monday, at the Opera House, Weymouth. The cast includes Messrs. Clive Currie, Clifton Boyne, Adam Alexander, Frank Woodville, Patrick Fitzgerald, A. L. Burke, Forrester, Harvey, Edmond Beresford, and Cecil A. Collins, and Misses Marjorie Davenport, Lilla Nordon, Kersteen Graeme, and Beatrice Whitney. Mr. Frank Nelson is the business-manager for the company.

EXTENSIVE alterations have been made during the summer at the Victoria Opera House, Burnley, by Mr. Horner, the lessee and manager. Wide and spacious staircase entrances have been made to the circle and the pit, a new entrance has been made to the refreshment bar, and the stalls have been re-seated and upholstered. Tasteful decoration completes the work.

MR. SIDNEY BLAND, who is at present playing "the Rat" in Mr. Frank Bertram's company of The Breed of the Treshams, had the misfortune to break one of his ribs in the fight at the end of Act II. on Monday night. Nevertheless, with the aid of his doctor and at the earnest request of Mr. Gwyn Richardson, manager of the company, Mr. Bland pluckily continued playing the part, and thus maintained the business up to its usual high standard.

THE usual weekly meeting of the Actors' Union was held on Tuesday afternoon at Hummums Hotel, Mr. Cecil G. Calvert presiding. Others present were Messrs. Walter Clarke, Frederick Jacques, D. Lewin-Mannering, E. Y. Rae, and W. T. Riley; and Mesdames Cecil E. Anson, Bessie Armytage, May Conrade, Florence Creagh, Maud Henley, Geraldine Montrose, Ella Setan, Elsie Sinclair, Millie Vere, and Laura Vernon. It was decided that the business of the meeting should be regarded as private to the members.

MISS ANNIE SAKER, who is this week playing Astrea (her original part) in The Midnight Wedding at the Borough Theatre, Stratford, leaves the cast this evening to rehearse Monica for Messrs. Paumier and Howard's suburban tour of The Prince and the Beggar Maid.

OWING to the success that Mr. Charles Hartley and Miss Ethel Gordon Paull met with on their spring tour in Madeira, Canary Islands, and the Riviera, they have made arrangements to pay another visit next spring, starting at Cairo at the end of January.

MISS MABEL MAYOR-COOKE, who has recently returned from San Sebastian after a sojourn there of some months, has been retained by Hardie and Von Leer for their Two Little Vagabonds company.

AN occasional correspondent writes:—"I see in the columns of your valuable paper that Miss Evelyn Millard is to go into management at the Garrick with the new play Idols, adapted by Roy Horniman from W. J. Locke's novel of the same name. I have a very pleasant recollection of Miss Millard when she was a pupil of Miss Sarah Thorne, of Margate. I had the good fortune to stroll one evening into the Town Hall, Folkestone, to see a performance of Romeo and Juliet, with Miss Millard as Shakespeare's loveliest heroine. One of my friends said at the time, 'That young actress who played Juliet will make her mark if I'm not mistaken.' It was a performance charged with spontaneity and freshness, and a more ideal Juliet has been rarely seen."

A NEW one-act play, entitled The Proof, by Miss Alice Clayton Greene, will be produced by Mr. Reginald Dance at the Opera House, Southport, on Monday, Sept. 7.

MR. M. RUSSELL ROSSE, who has happily recovered from his recent indisposition, will commence his autumn campaign at the Theatre Royal, Newcastle, when he will present Sydney Grundy's comedy, A Pair of Spectacles. Mr. David James will resume his old part of Benjamin Goldfinch and Mr. Fred Dobell will be the Uncle Gregory.

MISS LOIE ESMOND, having enjoyed a six weeks' vacation at the seaside, commenced her autumn tour with The Sorrows of Satan and Nana, the Rage of Paris, on Aug. 3, at the Theatre Royal, Belfast, and there played to overwhelming business the whole week. On the date mentioned Miss Rosie Neville, who has been playing Lady Sybil Elton and Nana for the past fourteen months, reached the age of seventeen. She has been winning golden opinions from press, public, and local managers of the high-class theatres toured by the company.

THE late Bronson Howard, says the New York correspondent of the Pall Mall, languished long among the "Great Unacted," and play after play was rejected by the managers until the late Augustin Daly saw possibilities for his company in the piece produced under the title of Saratoga. The new note of bright amusing satire on the fashionable American watering-place struck the popular favour. A run of 101 nights was a record in those days, and laid the foundation of both Mr. Daly's and Mr. Howard's fortunes. The piece was taken to England and Anglicised.

IN forty years Bronson Howard averaged one play every two years. Aristocracy, produced in 1892, was a society play of the type he had made his own in The Banker's Daughter and Young Mrs. Winthrop, and was a good example of the playwright's technique in a series of effective dramatic situations. The late dramatist's prediction with regard to the future of the drama is interesting. "In all human probability," he prophesied, "the next great revival of literature in the English language will be in the theatre. The English-speaking world has been gasping for literary breath, and now we begin to feel a certain breeze. Let us hope the drama of this century will yet redeem our desert of general literature. The waters of our Nile are rising."

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

"Patent" Jealousy.

"SMALL as were the privileges accorded to the minor theatres," writes Mr. H. Barton Barker in his "History of the London Stage," "the managers of the patent houses endeavoured to curtail them by prolonging their own seasons further into the summer, and there were appeals to the public from one side and to the Lord Chamberlain from the other. There is a good story illustrative of this feud told in an unpublished letter of Peake's. Dr. Kitchener, who was a general friend of the theatrical people of the day, hit upon what he considered the splendid idea of inviting the four belligerent managers of the Haymarket, English Opera House, Covent Garden, and Drury Lane to a dinner, at which there should be no other guests. The arrangement was kept a close secret, and each arrived profoundly ignorant of the others' presence. Their combined astonishment may be imagined. But, after a little awkwardness, they could not withstand the ludicrousness of the situation, and, bursting out into a hearty laugh, shook hands and put a good face upon the matter. The doctor now tried hard to introduce the subject of their differences, but for a time they parried all his efforts, until at last Elliston, then lessee of Drury Lane, rose, and with an air of overwhelming hauteur, laid his hand upon Arnold's head and exclaimed, 'Minor manager, I will crush you!'"

A "Grave" Indiscretion.

"A CERTAIN well-known actor," writes Mr. Butler Stanhope, "had graduated at a Liverpool theatre, where he remained for some time, and by his cleverness was promoted to better parts as the season advanced. Eventually he became leading juvenile. Receiving a good offer from a London manager he accepted it, and made a big hit in town. After a time he was touring the provinces, and in the course of his travels he appeared in Liverpool as Hamlet. A comedian who had been at the theatre for a number of years playing the Gravedigger too had got on in his profession. Now, when Hamlet entered for his scene with the Gravedigger he espied his old friend the comedian in the grave, and said to him very quietly, 'How long have they made you First Gravedigger?' 'About as long,' returned the comedian, 'as they have made you Hamlet.' At the finish of the scene the Gravedigger, instead of getting out of the grave and making his exit from the stage, remained below and got to his dressing-room by the passages under the stage. After the burial of Ophelia a voice from the gallery shouted out, 'Did you see that, Harry? They've buried Ophelia on the top of the poor gravedigger.'"

A Lapsus Linguæ.

ON the subject of graves, Mr. Butler Stanhope mentions a little incident that happened at the Theatre Royal, Gravesend, during the stock season. The elections were on at the time. "Vote for So-and-So" posters were plastered all over the town, and excitement ran very high. Romeo and Juliet was the play. After the fight between Tybalt and Mercutio Mercutio receives his death-wound, and in his dying speech, instead of saying "Enquire for me to-morrow and you'll find me a grave man," said, "Enquire for me to-morrow, and you'll find me Member for Gravesend."

Saving the Pieces.

AN amusing unrehearsed incident occurred last Saturday at the St. Leonards Pier Theatre during the performance of the farce Facing the Music, which added to the general hilarity that prevailed in the audience. Mr. Arthur Dennis was playing the other Mr. Smith, and in the interview with "Uncle" Colonel Smith, played by Mr. Fred Castleman, leaned too heavily on the table spread for breakfast, and brought all the crockery, with a rattling smash, to the ground. The audience roared and clapped at the contretemps. Quickly recovering his composure, Mr. Dennis "saved the pieces," and jocularly called out, "Well, Uncle, you might help a fellow!" The sight of the "Colonel" picking up pieces of sugar and scraps of broken crockery proved excellent business.

George Alexander's Judgment.

"SINCE I commenced my management of the St. James's Theatre," says Mr. George Alexander in the Royal Magazine for September, "over sixteen years ago—on February 1st, 1891, to be precise—I have invariably relied upon my judgment of plays, which, happily, has seldom been at fault; but, naturally, one cannot always produce a good play. An actor-manager must be content with what he can get, for really fine plays, like His House in Order and John Glayde's Honour, to cite two recent successes, are rarities, so that one has, perforce, to do one's best with the material at hand.

The Human Note.

"To exemplify the manner in which even a rough outline of a play impresses one, I cannot, I think, do better than refer to His House in Order, which owes much of its popularity to the human note of sympathy it strikes and to the fact that it is true to life. To be sure, Mr. Pinero calls it a comedy, and so it is in the higher meaning of the word, since all life is either comedy or tragedy. But the author has been careful to keep the interest centred on the lighter side of the characters, while the real tragedy is over before the play begins. That is how this particular play struck me from the first moment Mr. Pinero told me his story, and as the play developed act by act I felt convinced it would be a success, so great is its fidelity to life.

The Call of the Stage.

"THE number of would-be theatrical stars who feel they have had 'a call' for the stage is appallingly large. Seemingly, there is glamour about acting; but it is the stage-struck public who see it, not the actor, to whom the theatre is a business, very real, very serious, and often very trying. But those in front of the house see everything going so smoothly that they are somewhat naturally induced to believe that acting is the easiest thing in the world; they forget that a long training is necessary; they overlook the imagination, the keen perception, the self-obliteration, so to speak, which are so essential to the making of a real artist."

The Tenor's Appreciation.

MME. FANNY MOODY had her chance as a singer on the lyric stage when the prima donna Mme. Julia Gaylord fell suddenly ill during the run of Nordisa, Mr. Frederick Corder's unsuccessful opera at Drury Lane, where it was produced by the late Carl Rosa. He excitedly asked, "Who is to replace my prima donna?" and when he was told the name of the fresh recruit, he expressed his doubts about her being able to study it. There was no need to do so. The young singer knew it already, and she appeared that evening, with great success, to the delight of everybody, including the tenor, who, in his enthusiasm, hugged the new singer so hard that she was at one moment unable to breathe, much less to sing, and Carl Rosa, from the wings, had to shout: "Look out! Don't kill the prima donna!"

We shall be obliged if our readers will send us any amusing anecdotes they may hear, or accounts of any quaint incidents they may witness while acting or rehearsing.

"THE PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK."

Play, in Three Acts, by Jerome K. Jerome, produced at the Grand Opera House, Harrogate, on Thursday, Aug. 13.

Joey Wright ..... MR. ERNEST HENDRIE
Christopher Penny .... MR. H. MARSH ALLEN
Major Tompkins ..... MR. IAN ROBERTSON
Mrs. Tompkins ..... MISS KATE CARLYON
Vivian ..... MISS ALICE CRAWFORD
Jape Samuels ..... MR. EDWARD SASS
Harry Larkcom ..... MR. WILFRED FORSTER
Miss Kite ..... MISS HAIDEE WRIGHT
Mrs. Percival de Hooley .... MISS KATE BISHOP
Stasia ..... MISS GERTRUDE ELLIOTT
Mrs. Sharpe ..... MISS AGNES THOMAS
The Third Floor Back .. MR. FORBES ROBERTSON

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

A beautiful idea dramatically treated is contained in the above new play, which was produced with every success by Mr. Forbes Robertson at Harrogate on Thursday, the 13th inst. The piece is described as "an idle fancy in a prologue, a play, and an epilogue." The scene is a Bloomsbury boarding-house, the roof of which covers a mixed collection. Variously described as a "cheat," a "slut," a "painted lady," a "shrew," a "snob," a "bully," a "hussy," a "satyr," a "coward," a "rogue," and a "cad," these people are living out their little lives, full of deceit, envy, hatred, and all uncharitableness. The cheat, the landlady, Mrs. Sharpe, and her slut, Stasia, are discovered pouring water into the milk-jug, and Mrs. Sharpe, having noticed the piano candles (only half burnt) have disappeared, is abusing Stasia in consequence. The various guests enter for tea. Major Tompkins, who drinks and bullies his wife; Jape Samuels, a "shark" from the City, and his cad of a friend, Harry Larkcom; Mrs. Percival de Hooley, who is cousin to Sir George Tweedle, Bart, and cannot get over the fact; Miss Kite, a lady of uncertain age, made up and dyed to appear twenty or thereabouts; Joey Wright, a retired bookmaker—retired owing to loss of voice; Christopher Penny, a young and struggling artist; and Vivian Tompkins, daughter to the Major, engaged to Wright, the rich bookmaker, but in love with Christopher Penny—this motley crowd make up the household. After tea Stasia inquires of Mrs. Sharpe if she intends to put up the card announcing "Apartments." Mrs. Sharpe replies in the negative. Stasia, inspired doubtless by cheap novelettes, replies that often noblemen in disguise turn up, and advises the card to be placed over the door. Mrs. Sharpe commands "No." When, however, she has made her exit to superintend dinner Stasia places the card in the fanlight over the door. Almost at once there is a knock, and the door opening admits the "passer-by." He asks for rooms, and Mrs. Sharpe, who interviews him, tells him her terms for the third floor back are £2 10s. per week, but she will reduce the amount for him to £2. The stranger does not desire such a reduction. He talks to her about many things, herself in particular—her past, her future. She tells him she made a mistake about the rooms; it should have been 30s. per week. He exercises an influence for good over all persons with whom he comes in contact.

In the play itself the new arrival interviews all the boarders separately, and each and several then and there make up their minds to lead better lives. Joey Wright gives up Vivian to her poor artist lover, on whom he has bestowed commissions for portraits of himself and others; the Major ceases to bully his wife, and they become a loving and exemplary couple; the Jewish shark, Jape Samuels, instead of trying to swindle people into taking shares in a silver mine, tells the landlady she has not charged him for a chop he has eaten; his jackal, Harry Larkcom, has gone on the stage, and takes a delight in giving pleasure to others instead of tempting Stasia from the paths of rectitude with imitation emerald earrings; and Miss Kite, the "painted lady," acting on the advice of the Third Floor Back, comes down to the room minus make-up and dressed as suits a maiden lady of mature years. Having accomplished all this good work the Third Floor Back takes his leave, privately, of each character, saying as he leaves, "I have other work to do." He goes out of the darkened room, but the sunlight pours in as it has never done before.

The "spirit of love and of our better selves" embodied in the Third Floor Back is played by that consummate artist, Mr. Forbes Robertson. The character is a "preachy" one, and everything is made the text for a sermon, but doubtless this phase of the character will be modified. Mr. Forbes Robertson's quiet dignity and magnificent voice were eminently suited to such a part, and he won throughout the highest admiration. Miss Gertrude Elliott was excellent as the slavey, Stasia, and is to be congratulated on a clever character study; Mr. Edward Sass, artist as he always is, proved his sterling qualities once again in the rôle of Jape Samuels; Miss Agnes Thomas as Mrs. Sharpe gave a typical picture of a certain class of boarding-house keeper; Mr. Ernest Hendrie was good as the retired bookmaker with no voice; Mr. Marsh Allen was a capital exponent of Christopher Penny; Miss Haidee Wright gave a wonderfully clever performance as Miss Kite, the made-up lady of uncertain age; and Miss Kate Bishop was admirable as the snobbish Mrs. Percival de Hooley. Mr. Ian Robertson combined the duties of stage-manager with the part of Major Tompkins, and in both capacities did very well. Miss Alice Crawford is to be congratulated on her comely appearance and finished performance as the daughter Vivian. Mr. Forbes Robertson was called and recalled after each act, and a vociferous demand was made for the author, who, however, did not respond.

"THE SCENE-PAINTER," wrote T. W. Robertson once in the Illustrated Times, "is usually one of the pleasantest men in the theatre. King in his snug painting-room high above the stage, he recks not of the whirl of passions and vanities below. It is a great power the theatrical Scene-painter holds between his pliant thumb and fingers. He copies Nature on a large scale. It must be high delight to look upon a broad, flat, white surface, and choose whether it shall be converted into an Emir's palace, all pillars, curtains, gold tassels, fringes, and polished-mirror marble floor, the hot sun shining on a fountain in the distance; or into an Alpine gorge, with blocks of snow-covered stone and funereal fir-trees, with plains of ice conducting to a frosty horizon; or into a magician's cavern, where the dark rocks, cut in fantastic forms, loom into sight in the shape of squatting demons, petrified giants, and ghostly vertebræ of huge and hideous reptiles; or into a sparkling, rippling sea, with but one white speck of sail between it and the clear dome of blue sky above it. These are great privileges. But the great charm of the Scene-painter's life is to take off his well-cut, well-brushed garments, and don his painting suit; then he revels in dirt and daubs and spots, that are of his clothes, and not of him. How? That very faultlessly got-up gentleman, who just now asked for letters in the hall; that exquisite in the black frock-coat, pearl-coloured trousers, fashionable hat, and perfect boots—can he be this canvassy creature in a wideawake which a thriving farmer would be ashamed to see upon his scarecrow? That dirty jacket, those grimy trousers! Is it a beggar who has made himself a suit out of old sail-cloth? No! It is an artistic gentleman, who owns a villa in the neighbourhood of Hampstead, who has choice wines in his cellar, and is a captain of Volunteers."

A COPY OF "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

"THE OLD FIRM."

Farce in Three Acts, by Edward and Harry Paulton, produced for the first time at the Theatre Royal, Newcastle-on-Tyne, on Monday, Aug. 17.

Daniel Hake ..... MR. RICHARD GOLDEN
Mr. Nichol ..... MR. JERROLD ROBERTSHAW
Harrison ..... MR. CLAYTON GREENE
Herbert Wardley ..... MR. FRANK TENNANT
Jabez Vennamy ..... MR. ERNEST A. DOUGLAS
Merrick ..... MR. GEORGE WEST
Deffner ..... MR. ATHELING FARRAR
Rosalie ..... MISS BEATRICE FERRAR
Lila Hake ..... MISS GLADYS MASON
Judy Hake ..... MISS ALICE BEET
Lucy Upton ..... MISS CONSTANCE HYEM
Fay Lofty ..... MISS FLORENCE LLOYD

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Mr. William Greet and all concerned are to be heartily congratulated on the three-act farce which saw the light at Newcastle on Monday. The piece is well conceived and cleverly written, the dialogue crisp and sparkling, and a strong vein of rich humour runs throughout the play, broken here and there by touches of pathos, which serve to make the enjoyment complete. The action opens in the house of Daniel Hake, an old "New England" inventor, whose lack of business ability leads him into serious financial difficulties. He is hardly pressed by Jabez Vennamy, an unscrupulous agent, who is the chief creditor, and as a last resource he goes out to drown himself, but a shower of rain somewhat "damps his enthusiasm" with regard to that mode of self-extinction, and he returns home. A gentleman of the name of Nichol (of Messrs. Nichol and Nichol), who wishes to treat with Daniel for the purchase of his invention, arrives in the midst of the storm, making his entry through the window just as Daniel, in despair, is considering the possibilities of emulating Faust by calling up the devil to his assistance. Daniel imagines that his wish has been granted, and the deception is further strengthened by Mr. Nichol saying that amongst his intimates he is known as "Old Nick." A contract is signed whereby Daniel binds himself to his new ally, and everything that happens afterwards he ascribes to his association with the "evil one." Naturally, this state of affairs leads to many ludicrous situations. Daniel has an assistant, who is the son of Mr. Nichol, but is working under the assumed name of Harrison. He is in love with his master's daughter Lila, and in order to propitiate Daniel Hake before asking for Lila's hand refurnishes the house, and also places money to Daniel's account in the bank. Lila is bound to secrecy for the time being, and Daniel ascribes all these changes to his powerful master "Old Nick." The situations become more and more confusing to old Daniel until at last the usual explanations are made and everything ends satisfactorily, Jabez Vennamy is outwitted, and Daniel escapes from the persecution of a termagant of a second wife by the intervention of a lady member of the firm of Nichol and Nichol, who proves Mrs. Hake the second to be a bigamist and a thief.

The authors could not have secured a more suitable man for their leading rôle than Richard Golden, one of America's quaintest and most original comedians, who seems to exactly fit the part. Mr. Golden's Daniel Hake is a masterpiece of character acting, unmistakably American, his absolute originality and quaint mannerisms adding to the interest of a delightful performance. There is dramatic force in his violent scenes with his wife, and touching pathos when he finds himself ruined, but for the most part he is a quaint, simple-minded old man, with an immense fund of humour. The rest of the company consists of well-chosen, capable artists. Mr. Clayton Greene appears as Harrison, the lover of Lila, and gives a natural rendering of the part; whilst Lila Hake is charmingly portrayed by Miss Gladys Mason. Miss Beatrice Ferrar is a lively, boisterous maid of all work, with a dry sense of humour, and Miss Alice Beet is excellent in the part of the shewish second wife, Judy Hake. Her partner in mischief, Jabez Vennamy, is well played by Mr. Ernest A. Douglas, whilst Mr. Nichol ("Old Nick") is quietly and consistently played by Mr. Jerrold Robertshaw. Other leading rôles are ably portrayed by Miss Constance Hyem, Miss Florence Lloyd, and Mr. Frank Tennant.

The incidental music has been written by Mr. Percy E. Fletcher. At the fall of the curtain Mr. Golden, in response to enthusiastic applause, expressed thanks on behalf of the authors and himself at the kindly appreciation afforded to the production.

MORE "TERRITORIAL MANŒUVRES."

The Right Hon. Richard Burdon Haldane, Secretary of State for War, has sent the following letter to the directors of the Hungarian Exhibition, Earl's Court, concerning their arrangements for the Territorial Day there to-day (22nd inst.):—

"Cloan, Auchterarder, N.B.
"Aug. 19.

"Dear Sirs,—I am grateful to hear of the invitation which the directors of your company have given to the members of the Territorial Force to visit the Hungarian Exhibition on Saturday. This mark of appreciation and welcome is generous, and comes at a very appropriate moment.—Believe me, yours sincerely,

"(Signed) R. B. HALDANE."

Each "Terrier" has been also invited to bring a lady with him, and it is generally expected that the non-commissioned officers and men will wear full-dress uniform. The five British and Hungarian bands and orchestras, including H.M. 7th (Queen's Own) Hussars, conducted by Mr. James Slattery, and the Hungarian Cadets, will play throughout the day and evening patriotic and popular selections, while in the wonderfully successful Summer Ballroom the Earl's Court Quadrille Band will have on their programme the "British Empire" two-step, "Army and Navy" lancers, "Health to His Majesty" quadrilles, the "Territorial" two-step, &c., to delight lovers of terpsichore. Further, all soldiers and sailors in uniform of the regular forces will be admitted free. The invitation has been widely accepted by all the City of London regiments; all the County of London regiments; the Territorial Force Associations of the City of London, Surrey, Middlesex, Essex, and Kent, 1st City of London Yeomanry, 1st and 2nd City of London Horse Artillery (H.A.C.), 1st City of London Brigade Royal Field Artillery, Mounted Brigade Transport and Supply Column, 1st and 2nd London Field Ambulance R.A.M.C., King's Colonials, London R.G.A. Heavy Brigade, the London Scottish, Royal Engineers, 1st Territorial Division, Middlesex Territorial Division Army Service Corps, Electrical Engineers (London Division), West Kent Yeomanry, East Kent Yeomanry, 1st Home Counties (C.P.) Brigade R.F.A., Civil Service Cadet Corps, and other units.

MISS DAISY HALLING writes:—"Sir, In an article on 'A Minimum Wage for Actors' by the Hon. Chas. Lister and the undersigned, which appears in the August number of the Socialist Review, a reference is made to the 'Amateur Dramatic Association.' It should read 'Academy of Dramatic Art.' We shall esteem it a favour if you will insert this correction in The Era for the elucidation of perplexed readers of the article. Difficult though it may be to adduce evidence of the need for actors' organisation, it is not necessary to refer to the non-existent in support of it."

"THE HEAD OF THE FIRM."

A Comedy in Four Acts, adapted from the Danish of Hjalmar Bergstrom by Leslie Faber, produced at the Prince's Theatre, Bristol, on Thursday, August 13.

John Lydford ..... MR. CHARLES V. FRANCE
Philip Lydford ..... MR. RICHARD NEVILLE
James Browne ..... MR. FREDERICK MORLAND
Edward Dalby ..... MR. EVELYN BEERBOHM
Butler ..... MR. ALBERT COE
George Heymann ..... MR. LESLIE FABER
Mrs. Dalby ..... MISS BEATRICE AINLEY
Helen Lydford ..... MISS ELIZABETH WATSON
Betty Lydford ..... MISS MURIEL POPE

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The action takes place in Lydford's house, on the outskirts of a large Midland manufacturing town, at the present time, and lasts from the evening of one day until the afternoon of the next day. John Lydford has carried on a large iron foundry successfully, as also did his father and grandfather before him. In his employ as manager is George Heymann, of Jewish descent, who has risen to his present position from that of office boy. Heymann, with the approval of Lydford, has formulated a scheme for converting the business into a limited liability company, with himself as managing director. Mrs. Lydford and her son Philip are much opposed to Heymann and his scheme, they favouring a profit-sharing arrangement with the workmen, who are threatening to strike. Lydford has every confidence in Heymann, both with regard to his integrity and business capacity, Lydford himself being a somewhat easy-going man, who takes much interest in art in the way of collecting valuable pictures. The opposition of Mrs. Lydford and her son to the proposed scheme, and the hesitation of Lydford to sign the necessary papers, provokes Heymann to state that for some years he has been offered the post of manager to a powerful rival concern called the "Steel Trust," the appointment still being open. He states his intention of accepting the post, and, throwing on the table the proposed company papers, leaves the house in anger. Subsequently it transpires that Heymann had become engaged to Betty Lydford, and, as a strike occurs, the whole family is anxious to get Heymann back. The play ends very abruptly by Mrs. Lydford writing a letter to Heymann asking him to return. The letter is duly delivered to Heymann, and the butler enters to announce him. The curtain, however, falls before his appearance, so the assumption is that Heymann puts everything straight, marries Betty, and that they all live happily ever after. The play is smartly written, and it is decidedly interesting, but the conclusion might be improved by the entrance of Heymann and a general reconciliation, ending with the signing of the company papers.

Mr. Leslie Faber acts with much discretion and power as George Heymann; Mr. Charles V. France distinguishes himself as John Lydford; Miss Elizabeth Watson presents a clever study of Mrs. Lydford; Mr. Frederick Morland acts cleverly as the shrewd old schoolmaster, James Browne; Mr. Richard Neville makes the most of his part of Philip Lydford; Miss Beatrice Ainley is sufficiently humble as Mrs. Dalby, a pensioner of Mrs. Lydford; Mr. Evelyn Beerbohm does his best with the somewhat objectionable part of Edward Dalby; Miss Muriel Pope acts prettily as Betty Lydford; and Mr. Albert Coe completes the cast by a staid and careful impersonation of John Lydford's butler.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

An enormous audience assembled at Queen's Hall on Saturday evening, the opening night of the fourteenth season of promenade concerts under the conductorship of Mr. Henry J. Wood. As several of the popular members of the orchestra entered they were greeted with enthusiastic applause, while a perfect ovation was awarded to Mr. Henry Wood. After the National Anthem had been sung and heartily cheered the concert commenced with Wagner's "Prelude" to Lohengrin, played with great delicacy and refinement by the fine orchestra. The chief item in the programme on Saturday was Sir Edward Elgar's suite, entitled "The Wand of Youth," an arrangement of six numbers composed for a juvenile play, and first heard at the Queen's Hall Symphony Concerts last year. The overture to the suite is fresh and youthful in its themes, while it is followed by a singularly graceful "Serenade." A quaint and charming "Minuet" and the skilfully-written "Sun-dance," with its waltz-like theme, are two very attractive numbers of the Suite. "The Fairy Pipers," a lullaby, and "Fairies and Giants" complete an interesting work, which was loudly applauded by the audience. Mr. Jacques Renard gave an excellent rendering of Max Bruch's "Kol-Nedrei," for violoncello and orchestra. Other successful performances by the orchestra were Weingartner's arrangement of Weber's "Invitation à la Valse," the suite "Karelia" (Sibelius), Tschaikovsky's fiery overture "1812," Dukas' scherzo, "L'Apprenti Sorcier," and Elgar's march, "Pomp and Circumstance," No. 4 in G. Miss Esta D'Argo, who sang Max Bruch's "Ave Maria," had two hearty recalls, and Mr. Lloyd Chandos was heard to great advantage in Lenski's Aria from Tschaikovsky's opera Eugen Onegin. The analytical notes in the programme this year are by Mrs. Rosa Newmarsh.

SHREWSBURY FLORAL FETE.

The colossal open-air fête annually held in the beautiful park at Shrewsbury known as the Quarry Grounds, took place on Wednesday and Thursday in this week, being the thirty-fourth of its kind, and, if possible, exceeding in attractiveness and success any previous gala. The variety and aerial performances given on specially-erected stages on both days were exceptionally fine, many of the leading artists of the day having been engaged. The Three Rubys gave a particularly good acrobatic act; the Warwick troupe of lady bicyclists contributed a remarkably graceful, rhythmic, and accomplished performance; the Lorch Family of nine acrobats were wonderfully smart and skilful; Aerian and Ostara, flying gymnasts, executed their daring leaps and somersaults in a manner which evoked plenty af applause; Brinn, the great Australian balancer of cannons and Maxim gun, gave a unique and well-nigh inconceivable performance; Cummin and Seaham provided heaps of fun in their comical and clever knockabout turn; Cole de Losse Duo merited high praise in an exceedingly smart comedy wire act; the performance of the Three Donalds on silver breakaway chains was novel and brilliant; those old favourite never-failing mirth-provokers, the Griffiths Bros., had something new and clever to entertain and amuse; Ella Zuila and Lu Lu executed a series of wonderfully graceful and sensational feats on the high cable, their final show, amid fireworks, being a magnificent feature; and the O'Briens were exceptionally smart and talented in their three-bar leaps and revolutions. Balloon ascents by the Spencer Bros., classical music by the high-class bands of H.M. Coldstream Guards, H.M. Artillery, and the King's Shropshire Artillery, and superb displays of fireworks by Messrs. W. and J. Wilder, of Birmingham, formed part of the great programme of amusements provided. Mr. Thos. James's orchestral band, of Wolverhampton, played appropriate airs during the stage performances. Mr. E. R. Hollier was in his accustomed place as stage-manager, and the general secretaries, Messrs. Adnott and Naunton, carried out with their accustomed efficiency the duties of general secretaries to the fête. Messrs. Anger and Bauer, London, were again agents for performers.

THE MOODY-MANNERS COMPANY.

Mr. Charles Manners and Mme. Fanny Moody were both happily placed in the opening performance on Monday of Lohengrin by their company at the Lyric Theatre, which was crowded with lovers of opera in Anglo-Saxon, who recognised the fine ensemble of the orchestra under the direction of Herr Eckhold, and had a warm welcome for the chief artists, especially for the gifted lady whose name is placed first in the title of the company whose high traditions she did so much to establish. Lohengrin was played by the following cast:—

Lohengrin ..... MR. PHILIP BROZEL
Frederick of Telramund ..... MR. LEWYS JAMES
King ..... MR. CHARLES MANNERS
Herald ..... MR. CHARLES MOORHOUSE
Ortrud ..... MISS MARIE LOUISE ROGER
Elsa ..... MME. FANNY MOODY

Mme. Fanny Moody's Elsa retains the romantic charm which has been always regarded as the chief attribute of her impersonation. The character is invested, too, with a dreamy significance, which adds appreciably to the beauty of the rendering, and the sincerity of her acting, especially in the later portions of the opera, assists to bring out the true dramatic power of the situations. The chivalrous knight-deliverer of the maiden of Brabant was Mr. Philip Brozel, who returns again to serve under the Moody-Manners banner. His Lohengrin is not lacking the romantic halo that one looks for naturally in the Knight of the Swan, and the entrance of Mr. Brozel on Monday night was impressively dramatic. Though in the main his rendering of the character might be termed robust, it was essentially sympathetic, with a fine suggestion, too, of predestined fate in the rendering of the music of the last act. Mr. Charles Manners played the King with sonorous dignity and with a lighter touch than is generally to be observed in renderings of the character. His fine breadth of phrasing and his round, full tone again made a great impression. Mr. Lewys James, who adds every season to his operatic répertoire, was seen once more as Telramund, the difficulties of which character can scarcely be over-estimated. The acting showed a considerable advance, and the singer's fine voice did complete justice to the rather trying music, especially in the second act in the long duet with Ortrud, a character that was played by a newcomer, Miss Marie Louise Roger, whose voice displays power and resonance, and who came through a high trial with much credit. Miss Roger is a most intelligent actress, and with the necessary experience should become a valuable member of the company. Mr. Charles Moorhouse made an excellent Herald. The chorus sang with their usual animation and freshness, and the production gave a great deal of pleasure.

On Tuesday, Aug. 18, Faust was given, with Miss Kate Anderson as Marguerite and Mr. Seth Hughes, the Welsh tenor, in the title-rôle, Mr. Chas. Manners being an incomparable Mephistopheles. Il Trovatore formed the attraction of Wednesday's matinée, Madame De Vere Sapio making her first appearance this season as Leonora, Mr. Charles Carter being the Manrico. Madame Fanny Moody repeated her success as Madame Butterfly on Wednesday evening, Miss Toni Seiter being the Suzuki and Mr. Seth Hughes the Pinkerton. Aïda was given on Thursday evening, and last evening Mr. Louis Laurier, a new tenor, was to make his first appearance as Tannhäuser.

"THE POSTERN GATE."

A One-Act Play, by B. Iden Payne, produced at the Prince of Wales's Theatre, Birmingham, on Thursday, Aug. 13.

Capt. Ambrose Underwood .. MR. LEWIS CASSON
Sir Thomas Ambergate .. MR. EDWARD LANDOR
Sophia Ambergate ..... MISS DORIS HORROCKS
Ensign Dermott Enderby .. MR. LEONARD MUDIE

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The Postern Gate is rather a good idea, written in a pretty Lyttonese vein. Three of the characters, the Captain, the Ensign, and Sophia, are "merely players," in the sense that they are playing parts to deceive Sir Thomas, Sophia's father, whom they fool to the top of his bent. Nor is the audience let into the secret till the end, when a flutter of laughter and surprise filled the theatre. The case is this: Sophia is beloved by the penniless Ensign, Dermott Enderby, and she loves him, and to confound the obdurate parent, Sir Thomas Ambergate, the pair are plotting to elope; in fact, are to meet for this purpose at night at the postern gate in Sir Thomas' garden. To frustrate this end, Captain Ambrose Underwood has brought Sir Thomas, and that from purely disinterested motives, he is careful to explain to the irate parent, who is amazed at his daughter's temerity, she having hitherto submitted herself to him in all things. Doubting the disinterestedness of the Captain, he wrings from him the interesting fact that his own hopes lie in that direction, and that he would fain win Sophia for himself by betraying his friend. Stifling his wrath at this daring avowal, the old man hies him to a sheltering tree, with the Captain, Mephistopheles-like, in attendance. He sees the lovers meet, and the Ensign conjuring his love to fly, for she has repented at the last moment, and will not go with him. Resisting all his entreaties, she pictures her dear father made desolate by her flight, the while he upbraids her for having "lit within his heart a flaming torch," and calls her "renegade." Distraught, she now consents to fly with him, when lo! the Ensign himself is seized with sudden remorse, and with surprising abnegation bids her stay with her father, while he—"he will go alone and desolate into the world." Whereon out rushes the visibly impressed parent, who, of course, has heard all, and unites the lovers for their "loyalty." Captain Ambrose is given "marching orders" for his "treachery," but the young Ensign magnanimously pleads for him, and he is forgiven, the old man calling his servants and bidding them prepare punch to be drunk in the house in honour of the occasion. The Ensign craving a few moments alone with his "false friend," the Captain, the old man departs with his daughter into the house, and the pair are left chuckling at the success of their scheme, which has been one to hoodwink the old man from start to finish. In short, the elopement and the "false friend's treachery," &c., was all a hoax.

The little play appeared to give much pleasure, the "love interest" caught well, and the "surprise" at the end undoubtedly scored. Mr. Lewis Casson as Captain Ambrose wore a merry mocking air and a buoyant gait that well became the part; Mr. Edward Landor as the "stern parent," Sir Thomas Ambergate, gave vent to his feelings in a perfectly natural manner, being explosive, credulous, and alert as the part in turns demanded; Miss Doris Horrocks dissimulated admirably as the daughter, Sophia, the perplexities of the girl under the stressful circumstances being portrayed sufficiently to deceive any father; while Mr. Leonard Mudie gave off his protestations of love with a fervour that would carry any girl by storm.

MR. A. CLIFTON ALDERSON, whose Coal King company is playing at Wigan, the scene of the great colliery disaster, received a visit from the Chief Constable, with a request that he would lend the rescue apparatus of the Fleuss-Davis pattern, with which the drama is equipped. It was found, however, that the machines were not required, as the rescue party was a strong one and came from all parts of Lancashire and Yorkshire with plenty of their own. The apparatus is causing a deal of curiosity in the towns visited, and Mr. Leslie Vyner, the manager of the company, has been kept busy explaining the working to numerous officials.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(Continued from page 11.)

SEAHAM HARBOUR.—New Theatre Royal.—Proprietor, Mr. A. C. Harrison; Manager, Mr. H. D. Lyle.—A Life for a Life, presented by Mr. Charles H. Lester's company, is drawing capital houses here this week. As Don Leon Fernandez, alias Josh Harker, Mr. Lester displays marked ability; Mr. Richard Bosco as the evildoer, Pedro Li Calci, plays with excellent effect; Mr. Harry T. Wood supplies an efficient Kit Oswald; Mr. Horace Buckley creates diversion in the rôle of Tim McCarthy; and Mr. Charles Osborne is a capable John Evelyn. Miss Beatrice Anderson portrays Eulalie with skill; Kate Evelyn is tastefully played by Miss Dorothy Riddell; Miss Lydia Hart is a pleasing Nancy Dorn; and Little Irene's singing and dancing delight the audience.

SHEERNESS. — Hippodrome. — Proprietors, Sheerness Hippodrome Co.—At the head of a capital list of turns this week is Charcot with his "Automatic Man," a distinctly clever and mystifying performance, which aroused the enthusiasm of a packed house. Roars of laughter continue while Leonard Teel, the suffering dame, occupies the stage; Madge Daly, a dainty, smartly dressed comedienne, elicits unstinted praise; Cedar and Elgar, in the comedy act Ye Knights of Olde, are clever and amusing, and Ross, Elvio, and Ross, in the comedy sketch Those Troublesome Slaveys, keep the house in screams of laughter. Marie Goodwin, comedienne, meets with success, and Johnny Worman is an excellent character comedian. The Bioscope concludes with pictures of more than ordinary interest.

Co-Operative Hall.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Co.; Manager, Mr. F. R. Griffiths.—This week's selections of pictures is varied and interesting, the principal items being The Vengeance of Man, Japanese Butterflies, Hurrah for Bachelorhood, Across the Frontier, and The Singer and the Songs. There are good attendances nightly.

SHEFFIELD.—Lyceum Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—The amusing farce Dear Old Charlie was played on Monday under the direction of Mr. Charles H. Williams. In Mr. Hawtrey's part of Charlie Mr. George Lestocq kept the house in roars of laughter, and a capital foil was provided by the Thomas Dumple of Mr. S. Trelawney; Miss Leonora Braham looked stylish and acted vivaciously; a good character sketch was Mr. Duncan Young's Colonel Fishbourne; Miss Marjorie Chard was a graceful and attractive Agnes; and other brightly played characters were the Gabriel Peplôe of Mr. Douglas Cox and the Captain Carew of Mr. Cyril Vernon. The concluding piece was a dramatic and terpsichorean episode, Salome. Both pieces were staged with the usual Lyceum liberality.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—The sensational drama of modern life, The Woman Pays, has proved quite to the taste of the Royal habitués this week. The characters are well represented by the members of Mr. Frank M. Thorne's company, and some artistic scenery is provided.

Alexandra Theatre. — Managing-Director, Mr. William D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—Mr. C. Watson Mill's popular company opened on Monday in the realistic drama A Wrecker of Men. Miss Florence M. Millett as Risca looked handsome in her beautiful dresses, and she acted with dramatic intensity; Mr. Eric Campbell was a powerful representative of the interesting character of Jim Murley; and excellently acted parts were Mr. Milner Noble's Pharosaphus, Mr. J. A. Wilson's Railton, Mr. Arthur Robinson's Guise Strange, Mr. Douglas Campbell's Reggie Verincourt, Mr. C. R. Lovell's Isaacs, Mr. Carruthers' Karnaphus, Mr. Harry Melton's Eric Melville, Mr. H. Mecres' Bransmere, Miss Gertrude Camp's Marion Isaacs, Miss Beatrice Reynolds' Vavasole, and Miss Gwendolyne Talbot's Doris Melville. The scenery was very effective.

Empire Palace Theatre.—The Moss' Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar.—Here, as elsewhere, the visit of Mr. Harry Lauder throws all other matters of public interest into the shade. The Seven Wulfrunas are seen in a novel act, and Mr. Frank Lynne, character comedian; Miss Aida Martine; Mr. Ed. E. Ford, "the Sundowner" humourist; Alexandre and Hughes, eccentric musical entertainers; Mr. Russell Brandrow; the Four Figaros, refined artists; and Miss Lena Verdi, burlesque actress, complete the bill.

The Hippodrome. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. P. D. Elbourne.—The pièce de résistance here is a lively and well-mounted whimsicality, The Capture of Venus, cleverly played by Mr. J. C. Piddock and a capable company. Other artists giving pleasure to large audiences this week are the agile and graceful Parisian dancers Susie and Protti; Francini Olloms, in a quite unique entertainment; the Ringling Trio, diverting acrobatic eccentrics; Hall and Earle as "The Chinaman and the Tramp"; Miss Teddy Edmonds's company in The Sportsman; Miss Maud Prenton, serio comedienne; the Two Kays, in a comedy turn; and the celebrated Boller Brothers, intrepid and graceful cyclists. The Barrascope concludes a good all-round programme.

Grand Theatre.—Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Turpin.—Appearing here to good houses are Babs Lloyd, Mr. Harry Luck, Len Towers, Messrs. Wragg and Wragg, military athletes, Mr. Clanmore Jones, with illustrated songs, the Raymond Bio-Tableaux Co., with the latest animated pictures, and Mr. Leslie Bell, Miss Pearl, and company in a clever sketch, The Red Letter, with new scenery and effects.

SOUTHAMPTON. — Grand Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Weston.—Messrs. W. H. Hallatt and Walter Howard's company is scoring a success with Her Love Against the World. Mr. Fred Emery as the Earl of Strathmere gives a fine representation of the brave soldier; Miss Grace Heywood plays the part of Iris with a distinct charm of manner. The other parts are all well played, and the scenery and effects are excellent.

Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Wm. Trussell.—Fred Karno's company of comedians, headed by Mr. George Hestor as Sergt. Lightning, is appearing in The Dandy Thieves. Mr. Hestor's facile methods, many disguises, and infectious humour cause unbounded laughter; Sergt. Brennan excels as a diabolist; Edie Reynolds is a skilful violinist. Others appearing are Irene and Morton, comedy merchants; Billy French, dancer; Georgina Middleton, vocalist, and Harry Milton, comedian and dancer.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and W. de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. P. Howell.—The star turn is supplied by Mr. Jake Friedman and his company in the miniature musical medley Happy Holland, which goes with a bang from start to finish. The sketch is beautifully dressed and staged, and the members of the company sing and dance extremely well; Harry Russon, actor-comedian, brings down the house with his character studies; Harry Champion, the popular comedian, and Rosie Lloyd, comedienne, both prosper well; Pyck, Tholl, and Taylor dance divinely; Gicardo, boy juggler, Constance Mori, comedienne, and Little Jenny Alexander, child mimic, all contribute to the successful entertainment.

Pier Pavilion.—Acting-Manager, Mr. H. C. Sait.—One of the best companies that has ever visited Southampton, the Nonentities, have this week made themselves popular favourites. This party are particularly strong in the humorous concerted pieces, which they have wisely made a feature of their programmes. Mr. Fred Evered excels as a lady impersonator, and wins golden opinions for his well-rendered songs; Miss Louie Counsell is dainty and fascinating in everything she does, her singing and dancing being charming. Mr. Oscar Mills is the life and soul of the party, his quips and cranks keeping the house rocking with laughter; Mr. Roland Foster (basso), Mr. Lavater F. Sumner (baritone), and Miss Madeline Stone (contralto) all contribute acceptable numbers; Mr. Oscar Mills is to be congratulated on the excellence of his concerts, the outstanding feature of which is refinement.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA.—Empire Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Conquest; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Lingham Power.—The attraction for the first half of this week was presented by Mr. Mouillot's strong company in the musical comedy The Girl Behind the Counter, which proved a decided success. Dresses and scenery elicited admiration. Mr. W. D. J. Damant made an able musical-director, the choruses being rendered in tasteful and pleasing manner. Mr. H. B. Clark Chadwick, who impersonated General Sir Wilkie Willoughby in masterly style, was delightful in song and patter; Mr. S. Lockridge gave a successful characterisation of Charles Chetwyn; and Mr. Ferris Pounds did equally well with Viscount Cushington; Mr. A. M. Moore as the waiter caused much merriment; Miss Gracie Moore sang in good voice, and her interpretation of Winnie Willoughby was both intelligent and clever. Miss Irene Vere made a pleasing character of Millie Mostyn; Miss Irene Lavington as Susie proved a capable exponent; and Miss Winifred Knightly won honours for an able delineation of Lady Willoughby. For the latter half of this week attractive variety entertainment is being given by Mr. Geo. Dance's company.

The Kursaal.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. P. T. J. Bacon.—Good support is given both the daily entertainments in the theatre, and this week's programme of varieties proves very popular. The retention of Mr. J. Carter's clever troupe of Ten San-Tan Girls in their delightful portrayal of An Eastern Slave, a scena with pretty dances and good songs, is decidedly successful; Griffin and Ardel also make another pleasing appearance this week, their acrobatic feats being remarkable; the Misses Bella and Greta gain honours as harmonising vocalists and danseuses; the Milton Trio prove highly entertaining with paper manipulation, song, and speciality dances; Miss Marie Florence sings and dances with evident delight, as also does Mr. Sam Mitchello; and Mr. Will Norris contributes in good style as a coster comedian. Mr. Victor G. Carter directs the Concert Party for the Café Chantant entertainment, another attraction which gets well appreciated, and which has additional interest by the Bioscope pictures being depicted here, the four series of new films being very enjoyable. Special interest was shown in the Ladies' Beauty Show on Wednesday evening, this novel competition drawing a large number of entrants, far in excess of last year.

Pier Pavilion.—Lessee, Mr. H. E. Angless; Manager, Mr. Stanley E. Angless.—Mr. Frank Weathersby entertains this week with the farcical comedy Facing the Music, and his company win unstinted applause for a talented characterisation. Mr. Dare Austin, in the rôle of the Rev. John Smith, works with success; while the other Mr. John Smith has a studious and masterly exponent in Mr. Arthur Dennis; Dick Desmond is creditably impersonated by Mr. Robert Noble; Colonel Duncan Smith is well represented by Mr. Fred Castleman; and Sergeant Duffell is well suited to Mr. Tom Tindall. Miss Ida Chapman as Mabel, the cleric's wife, displays talent in a marked degree, and Miss Helena Parsons gives a pleasing and dignified rendering of Nora, the other Mr. Smith's wife; Miss Lou Langley as Miss Fotheringay, and Miss Amy Lorraine as Mrs. Parting sustain their parts with credit. His Wedding Morning, a comedy duologue, precedes.

SOUTHPORT.—Opera House, Winter Gardens.—Proprietors, The Southport Opera House and Winter Gardens Co., Ltd.; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. R. Singleton.—Mr. J. Bannister Howard is this week presenting Mr. George Musgrove's principal company in The Belle of New York, which has apparently lost none of its former attractiveness. Mr. Frank Lawton in his original part of Blinky Bill repeated his past successes; Miss Hebe Kneller depicted the title-rôle with charming artistic skill; Mamie Clancy had an excellent and vivacious representative in Miss Florence Hersee; Miss Dorothy Doria enacted the part of Fifi Fricot in a piquant and fascinating manner; Mr. Arthur Ricketts submitted an admirable and clever impersonation of Ichabod Bronson; Mr. James A. Watts did exceedingly well in the character of Harry Bronson; Mr. William Hartigan's Doc Snifkins and Mr. Alec Godfrey's Kenneth Mugg were both capital comedy sketches; Cora Angelique was cleverly and characteristically portrayed by Miss Winnie Browne, and the polite lunatic had a grotesque impersonator in Mr. Jos. R. Tate.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—Theatre Royal.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. John and Fred Coulson.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Draycott's Répertoire company apeared her on Monday in A Stolen Birthright. Mr. Draycott makes the part of Stephano stand out vividly; Count Marco is powerfully depicted by Mr. George Arthur; Prince Michele and Prince Antonio are both well played by Mr. W. J. Short and Mr. Charles H. Herberte; Princess Miranda is powerfully impersonated by Mrs. Charles Draycott; Mr. Harry Scatchard and Miss Eva Norman are good in the comedy parts of Pedro and Nita.

Empire Palace Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—The head of the bill is Carrie Laurie's Kindergarten in a speciality, A Model School, and the efforts of the clever children are much appreciated; Harry Tate's company in Motoring also comes in for a good share of applause; J. H. Milburn, an old Shields favourite, has an excellent reception; Matthews and Cowper contribute a good comedy sketch, When the Clock Went Wrong. Other good items are those of Will Brockton, versatile artist; Musical Schaffers in a comedy act, The Garden of Melody; Gwennie Yeo, singer and dancer; and the Bioscope.

Tivoli, Laygate-lane. — Proprietor, Councillor J. K. Hall.—The Three Royal Temples, operatic vocalists, including Madame Louie Gilbert, soprano, are the chief attraction, and are warmly received. The Two Eltons are clever horizontal bar manipulators, and good pictures are shown by the Tivoloscope.

Cosy Corner, Sea Front.—The excellent character of Mr. George Burton's popular comedians is still maintained, the chief feature being their concerted numbers. On Monday a new tabloid version of Cinderella figured in the programme, special scenery and appointments being provided. The plot of the popular story is closely followed, and the sketch was amusingly depicted by the company.

SPENNYMOOR.—Cambridge Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. H. Robertson; General-Manager, Mr. Lloyd Clarance; Resident-Manager, Mr. David Collins.—Mr. Harry Foxwell's company is the attraction at this house with An Abandoned Woman, and opened on Monday evening to a large and appreciative audience. Mr. Herbert M. King acts well as Captain Herbert Seaton; Mr. F. Hendry gives a good account of himself as Sir Marmaduke Seaton; as the gentleman-vagabond Robert Saunders, Mr. H. H. Young is excellent; and as the villain of the piece, Phillipe Malvoisin, Mr. W. Fraser Brunner is all that could be desired. As Ninon Malvoisin, Miss Ruth Zillwood, time after time, evokes rounds of applause for her clever acting; the Eleanor Deane of Miss N. Thorne-Hallam is commendable. The humorous portion of the piece is in the safe hands of Mr. Teddy Myles as Paddy Boyle and Miss Queenie Fraser Brunner as Sally Sloper, this pair keeping the audience in one continual titter. The scenery and effects are especially good.

STAFFORD. — Lyceum Theatre. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Elphinstone.—The Shadow of the Cross is being reproduced here this week. The scenes of the drama (which deals with the struggle of the early Christians against the Pagan Kings of Mercia) are laid around Stafford. These local associations have created a big amount of interest, and on Monday a most cordial reception was accorded the play. As Wulfere, King of Mercia, Mr. William Calvert scored a distinct success, his acting throughout being powerful and telling. Mr. Edward Warden sustained the part of Edgbert with excellent effect; as St. Chad Mr. D'Arcy Salter gave an acceptable study; Edgar found a clever and manly exponent in Mr. Edwin Turner; Mr. Cecil Ash made a good Oswy; as Edelgitha Miss Maude Elliott was artistic; Miss May Warden and Little Minnie Brooklyn as Alfred and Rufus, the boy martyrs, played with rare ability; and as Ptolemy Mr. Johnny McElroy kept the house convulsed. The trials and sufferings of Ethelinda, Queen of Mercia, were represented in a truly heartbreaking manner by Miss Mabel Marte, and as Werebode Miss Florence Tyrrell played with grace and distinction.

ST. HELENS.—Theatre and Opera House.—Proprietors, St. Helens Theatre, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. A. McLeod Loader.—Mrs. Frank Bateman and Mr. Stuart Lomath's company is producing No Wedding Bells for Her this week at this theatre. Miss Lizzie Montague (Mrs. Frank Bateman) takes the rôle of Lola Delaspierre, and makes the character a really convincing one; Mr. Stuart Lomath as Frank Hatherleigh is a truly robust clergyman, and the house fairly revels in his acting; Mr. Percy Shaw as Dick Delva happily blends the serious and the comical; Mr. G. Harvey is sufficiently dramatic as Montague Blair, the wronged husband; Miss C. Clutterbuck is acceptable in the part of Dorris Fane; and the other characters are excellently filled. Miss Montague played Sapho on Friday.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford, Sley, and Willmot; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. Vic. Carnall.—An attractive programme is placed here this week. The New Macs sing and dance well; Les Ados are responsible for a clever acrobatic display; Jolly Crissie Cross is captivating, and the Wakman Quintette are loudly encored for their vocalisation; the Sisters Dorrell dance gracefully, and Wally's juggling act is an exceptionally fine one.

STOCKPORT.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Revill, jun. A Prince of Rogues has formed a pleasing attraction here this week. Mr. Sidney Dorey depicts the character of Gilbert Kenry, a detective, with marked effect; Geoffrey Flint is portrayed with power and ability by Mr. Edwin Firth; Mr. Bert Dench is exceedingly funny as Josh Buggins; and Mr. Hardy Marco as Hiam Harwood and Mr. Newton Buckland as Richard Harwood fill their parts with satisfactory success. Miss Dora Dench acts the character of Winnie Harwood most charmingly; Polly Dibbs is pleasingly played by Miss Alice May, and Rita Congrieve is capably presented by Kate Norris.

Empire. — Proprietors, The Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Black.—J. Gar Kiddie and company are presenting a distinctly funny sketch, The House of Tinn, which provokes roars of laughter. A refined musical act is given by the Five Tritons; clever and amusing is Mike Cray in his comedy act with his dog Dooley; Sim Marce, boy contortionist, displays ability; Marie Kay is a pleasing vocalist and neat dancer; Reszki and Raszki are capable and amusing acrobats; and Kitty Marion, vocal comedienne, is received with much favour.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES.—Castle Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. J. Chas. Imeson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Cecil Imeson.—Baron H. Harriss's company present here this week The Prince of Pilsen. Miss Sophie Harriss as the widow from New York wins great favour with the audience. Her dresses are magnificent. Mr. Harry Kilburn as the Cincinnati brewer proves himself to be a first-rate comedian, and never fails to elicit shrieks of laughter. Miss Nellie Lomas as Nellie Wagner is very dainty, receiving encores for her songs; as Carl Otto (the Prince of Pilsen) Mr. Leslie Owen sings and acts in rare style; Mr. Ernest Gifford as François, the waiter, and Miss Mabel Dent as Sidonie, the French maid, are very clever, their dancing being excellent. Miss Kitty Albert is a capital Gibson Girl.

Hippodrome.—Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. Harry Burns; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. Stainton.—Hill and Whitaker, instrumentalists and singers, head the bill here this week, their voices being of a very high standard, and are well received; the Catteano Troupe of acrobats are very clever, doing some very daring feats; Grahame and Harrington in a sketch entitled A Daughter of Pleasure are very good, W. G. Wesley, comedian, being heartily encored; Aidee Mellor, vocalist, sings well; Renson and Waite cause much merriment with their patter; the Wedburns, comedian and comedienne, take well; the Pictoscope concludes with a funny picture entitled Too Fat.

Grand Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. John Batty; Manager, Mr. Walter Batty.—Mr. M. Montgomery presents here this week the Russian drama A Beautiful Fiend. There were crowded houses on Monday night, and it should prove a big attraction for the general holiday. Payne's Biophotoscope shows some excellent pictures.

STOKE-ON-TRENT.—The Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; General-Manager, Mr. H. F. Miller.—The Selbinis, expert trick cyclists, appear in a combination of other feats of a gymnastic nature which are neatly executed; the Calbas, comedy equilibrists in a billiard-room, are exceptional exponents in their line; the Milsted Bell Trio are funny in their singing and dancing comedietta; the coloured slides shown by the Lovelaces in their illustrated songs are especially worthy of mention; Elton and Elma, on the "bars," are smart; Tennis and Laune are a most taking couple of lady vocalists and dancers. The bill is completed by Mabel Le Roy, Archie Pitt, and the Bioscope showing some interesting films.

SUNDERLAND. — Theatre Royal.—General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden; Manager, Mr. Arthur Grieveson.—Send Him Victorious is the attraction here this week. Mr. Montague Beaudyn gives a commendable impersonation of Captain Frank Allison, and the Colonel Heinrich Kaufmann of Mr. G. M. Montanini could not well be improved upon; Mr. John Baxter makes the most of his opportunities as Major Carl Strauss; Mr. Frank Holyoake is well placed as the King of Ravonia; whilst Mr. James Archer gives a capital rendition of the prison governor; Miss Irene Munroe is a charming Ethel Hardinge, and Miss Cecilia Craneford plays Gretchen Holtz with chic and subtlety that makes her impersonation very charming. The difficult rôle of the Countess Kara von Mechlinberg is in the capable hands of Miss Marie Robson.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director Mr. Richard Thornton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—The Dunedin troupe of acrobatic cyclists perform many wonderful and daring feats, and are accorded a flattering reception; the Gothams, glee singers, contribute an acceptable turn; Marie Empress, comedienne, scores a huge success, her catchy songs causing much merriment; Maud Rochez introduces a novel turn with her well-trained monkeys; Wilson and Waring score in their comedy act, entitled An Ugly Duckling; Johnson and Bert, comedians; Harry Marte, vocalist and dancer; and Carl Howard, comedian, please in their various items. The entertainment winds up with a capital show of animated pictures.

SWANSEA.—The Grand.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Oswald Brooks; Acting-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. Walter Dean.—In the Soup is receiving an adequate rendition at the hands of Mr. Ernest Dare's company at the Grand this week. The central figure of the play is Horace Gillebrand, and the success of Mr. Louis Palgrave in the rôle is unbounded; Miss M. Lowes Dare plays Judith with great vivacity and freshness; Abernethy Ruppershaw is another excellent character, in which Mr. A. Field Fisher excels; Delphine is charmingly played by Miss Mabel Harley; Mr. Evelyn Beerbohm (Paul Hemming), Miss Vera Wallace (Madame Moppert), and Mr. W. Warde, jun. (Bates), could scarcely be bettered.

The Star.—Manager, Mr. William Coutts; Assistant-Manager, Mr. S. J. Powell.—This week's entertainment at the Star is provided by Mr. T. Edward Ward's company, who appear with success in The Love of the Princess. The part of the Princess Idalia is taken by Miss Ward, who plays with real artistic fervour; Mr. Wilson Coleman impersonates Prince Conrad Ramona throughout in princely style; whilst the villainy of Count Danillo is well brought out by Mr. Ernest E. Imeson.

Empires, Ltd.—Manager, Mr. P. C. Rowe; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. H. Lennon.—A tip-top bill is headed by Joseph Hart's Futurity Winner, which must be classed among the most exciting sketches seen here; Gus Garrick presents music-hall tit-bits in his most approved style; the Narow Bros. are trick cyclists whose feats are daringly dexterous; Tennyson and Wallis have good patter, a good song, and get a good reception; Frank Bernard and company present an amusing sketch, and the Sisters Grovini are lady acrobats whose skill should make them go far; Maggie Rimmer sings and dances daintily; Jack Hayton puts everyone into a good humour; and an excellent Bioscope picture concludes.

SWINDON.—Empire Theatre.—Proprietors, The Wiltshire Entertainments Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Manners.—The following artists are appearing here:—The Three Demons, daring cyclists; Gladys Wilton, serio; Rosslyn, original wizard, assisted by Miss Louisa D'Aubyn; Enid Erroll and company in a fantastic dancing act, "The Magic Vase"; Wallace, boy juggler; Will Sullivan, eccentric comedian; the Hiatts, in their musical mélange; and the Empire pictures.

TORQUAY.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. W. H. Mortimer; Secretary, Mr. Arthur Pearse.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company presented Mrs. Dot here on Monday and received a very hearty welcome. Miss Decima Moore appeared in the title-rôle and thoroughly delighted the audience with her captivating acting and piquant style, prolonged applause being bestowed upon the talented actress after each act; Miss Emma Hutchison very capably fills the part of Lady Sellenger, and that of her daughter, Nellie Sellenger, is in the hands of Miss Ethel Grahame, who gives a quaint and artistic exposition of the rôle; Miss Celia Gordon is seen to advantage as Miss Macgregor; James Blenkinsop is admirably enacted by Mr. Frank Lacy, and Mr. James Gelderd is good as Gerald Haldstane; Mr. Philip Leslie as the youthful Freddie Perkins was sufficiently smart and conceited for the character, and acted with skill and alertness. Minor parts were well sustained.

Princess Pier Concert Hall.—Proprietors, the Torquay Town Council; Manager, Mr. A. T. Tremlett.—Mr. Leslie Harris and party are here this week, and although the prices are increased, crowded houses are present at every performance. Mr. Leslie Harris, as an entertainer at the piano provides some excellent amusement, his efforts being repeatedly encored; Miss Ida Kahn has a rich soprano voice of more than usual sweetness, and her singing is greatly appreciated; Miss A. Bachsheen Wood is a solo violinist of considerable ability, her numbers being very enjoyable; Mr. Cuthbert Allan, who completes the party, has a powerful but pleasing baritone voice. Mr. E. W. Goss acts efficiently as accompanist.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS.—Opera House.—Lessee, Mr. Welton Dale; Manager, Mr. A. H. Burdett.—Crowded houses have attended the opening of Mr. Edward Terry's autumn season by a visit to Tunbridge Wells this week, and this favourite comedian has been enthusiastically received in his old successes of Todman in Liberty Hall and Dick Phenyl in Sweet Lavender. Mr. Terry was in splendid form, and was ably supported by his company. In Liberty Hall, with which Mr. Terry opened his season on Monday, Mr. Edmund Hollick as Mr. Owen, Mr. Kenneth Brampton as Gerald Harringay, Mr. Wm. Dexter as Brigenshaw, and Mr. Poole Kirkwood as the solicitor all distinguished themselves; whilst among the ladies Miss Edith Coleman as Blanche Chilworth and Miss Evelyn Ormonde as her sister scored great successes; and Miss Sophie Lingwood as Crafer and Miss Gwendolen Wren as the shop boy played their parts with decided humour. In Sweet Lavender Mr. Terry resumed for we cannot say how many thousand times his old rôle, and he was well supported by Mr. E. Hollick as Horace Bream, Mr. Poole Kirkwood as Wedderburn, Mr. Kenneth Brampton as Clement Hall, Mr. W. Dexter as Dr. Delaney, Miss Coleman as Minnie, Miss Sophie Lingwood as Mrs. Graphan, and Miss Gwendolen Wren in the title-rôle.

TYLDESLEY. — Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. W. Brierley, J. Brierley, and W. German; Manager, Mr. W. W. Brierley.—Mr. and Mrs. Kimberley's company is proving a strong attraction here this week in Two Little Drummer Boys. Mr. Edward Bikker gives an admirable representation of General Kingsley; Mr. Harry Scott displays power and ability as Captain Carsdale; the part of Captain Darrel is adequately filled by Mr. Oswald Douglas; Mr. Alexander Knight cleverly impersonates Lieut. Allen Kingsley, and Mr. Frank Thorpe is a success as Major Kilkerrin; the Rev. John Rivers has a capital exponent in Mr. George Turner; whilst Messrs. E. A. Smith and Wilson Holmes are satisfactory in the parts of Jones, a warder, and Jim Barker, a deserter. Miss Mary Ainsle deserves great praise for her fine portrayal of Alma Kingsley; Miss Nesta Sandford submits an excellent performance as Margaret Rivers; Miss Maggie English and Miss Maudie Douglas make a favourable impression as the two little drummer boys. Mr. Charles Gallier and Mr. Will Percy cause great amusement as privates in the Warwicks; and Molly Meadows is humorously presented by Miss Patricia Connaughton. The piece is well staged, the handsome scenery and correct military uniforms being quite a feature of the production.

TYNEMOUTH.—Palace-by-the-Sea.—Proprietor and Director, Mr. J. H. Graham; Manager, Mr. Lindon Travers.—Sydney James's Royal Strolling Players, under the direction of Mr. Gilbert Fernie, again prove most versatile and are thoroughly appreciated; Alexander Prince as an expert on the English concertina will be difficult to equal; Halina is entertaining in a clever juggling act, and the Three Moxons are acceptable in their pot-pourri act. The very latest films of an interesting and amusing type continue to be shown on the Bioscope, and the Palace Orchestra, under the bâton of Mr. W. A. Crosse, B.M., always find favour.

Spanish City (Whitley Bay).—Manager, Mr. Charles Elderton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Fred Steele.—The special extra feature this week is the farcical comedy, His Lordship's Return, in which Mr. Percy Wright submits a capital interpretation of Sir Ed. Hastings; Mr. Teddy Worth is excellent as Sammy Short, and Mr. J. Cameron is well suited as Henry; Mr. Sutton also renders yeoman service as Pippin. Miss Cusdin is equal to the demands of Bessie Russell, and Miss Nellie Stuart and Mrs. Gertie Gavagan ably accounts for Marie Green and Mary Ann respectively; whilst Miss Dora Woodhouse is excellent as Mattie. The Campers held a special night, when it was difficult to find even standing room. They paraded the streets en route to the rendezvous in costumes both rich and racy, with "make-ups" fearful and wonderful. They good naturedly joined in the programme in a forcible and hearty way, that made it difficult for the artists to follow their usual routine, but it was all taken good humouredly and in excellent spirit. It is not too much to say that the Toreadors have "taken on" this season in an unmistakable manner, and the management are to be congratulated upon their enterprise.

WAKEFIELD. — Opera House.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—An appreciative audience assembled on Monday night to witness Mr. Charles Frohman's company (under the direction of Mr. Silvanus Dauncey) in The Hypocrites. Mr. A. B. Imeson gives an excellent rendering as the Rev. Edgar Linnell); Mr. Alfred S. Barber is highly effective as Mr. Wilmore; Mr. Charles Harley gives a capital impersonation as Mr. Viveash, the lawyer; Mr. Cecil Brooking is well placed as the Rev. Everard Daubeney; Mr. King Fordham ably depicts the rôle of Lennard Wilmore, and Mr. Sydney Hamilton makes a dignified Sir John Plugenet; much praise is due to Miss Amy Ravenscroft for her artistic and polished portraiture as Mrs. Wilmore; Miss Gladys Harvey captivates the sympathy of the audience in her delightful portrayal as Rachel Neve; Miss Gladys Purnell is charming as Helen Plugenet; Miss Florence Steventon is humorous as Mrs. Blaney, and Miss Madge Severne is successful as Mrs. Linnell.

Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—The Brothers Ashley, in a comical boxing act, top the bill this week and create much merriment; De Henau, the armless man, gives a wonderful performance; Miss Dora Barrington, assisted by Miss Lesley Gray, in a pretty vocal scena, is received with enthusiasm; Miss Lillian Rigby is clever in a musical turn; Mlle. Aladina and her performing cockatoos provide a capital item; Will Willis, comedian, and Miss Gwendoline Francis, comedienne, also do well.

WARRINGTON.—Royal Court.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred J. Reece.—Mr. Augustine Knight's company is here this week in The Mysteries of the Thames. Mr. Augustine Knight as Richard Brandon infuses much power into his acting; Mr. H. Bonhote Wilson as Captain James Denbigh scores a success; Mr. Edwin Jenner is a capable Jack Hammond, and a clever study of Bill Bosco, a cracksman, is given by Mr. E. E. Swinton; Mr. Tom J. Taylor is an amusing Peter Waggles; Miss Ella Vane in the dual rôle of Grace Rochdale and Helen Price displays versatility; a graceful Kate Brandon is Miss Eva Trelenna; and Miss Olive Lantz does well as Bertie Fitzgerald.

Royal Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Waters.—Some delightful pictures are shown here this week.

Palace and Hippodrome. — Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. G. D. Bradbury.—Mirth reigns supreme at this house this week, and Harry Weldon is happily styled the "swell entertainer." His songs are all good, and his patter and up-to-date business always has the house in the best of humours; the Waldrons, old favourites here, score a big success in the sketch The Silly Burglar, and the eccentricities of the cracksman at the safe are very amusing; Baker and Balfe are remarkable exponents on the xylophone, and Mr. Baker is a smart exponent of the terpsichorean art; Rosie Archer again wins many friends with her mimic turn at the piano; Reene Graham is a refined character vocalist, and Harry Sims sings his songs in smart style; Helen Martin has a charming voice and a choice selection of good songs; Ned Carr and Ada Rose sing selections from light operettas in good style, and the pictures are delightful.

WEST BROMWICH. — New Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Player.—There is, as usual, a highly attractive programme at this popular place of amusement. Mlle. Pollo is a graceful gymnast; the Durington Family are well styled the sensational cyclists; the Five Fludyers are smart and clever; Julie Guilbert is a delightful comedienne; Sam Williams sings catchy songs; Ryan and Hall are clever patter comedians; and Stanley Carr is a ventriloquist of more than average ability. The Hippodrome pictures conclude.

Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Richard Nightingale.—The Worst Woman in London is being presented by Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company. Miss Sidney Crowe as Frances Vere is most successful; Mr. Herbert Skardon as Jack Felton is also good; as, too, are Mr. Geo. Garsford as Vincent Lyle, Mr. Cass as Fred Thornborough, Mr. F. Vernon Travers as James Milford, and Miss Dorothy Haigh as Ruth.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE. — Knightstone Pavilion and Opera House.—Manager, Mr. W. Payne.—To conclude his engagement here Mr. Norman V. Norman staged The Adventure of Lady Ursula on Monday and Tuesday, and David Garrick on Wednesday. In the former comedy Mr. Norman interpreted Sir George Sylvester, and quite surpassed himself, the character fitting him like a glove; Miss Beatrice Wilson impersonated Lady Ursula Barrington, and this charming actress has never appeared to better advantage; Mr. Alfred Gray was extremely good as the Earl of Hassenden; a clever artist is Mr. J. H. Lambe, who did excellent work as Mr. Dent; Mr. Norman Leslie's Mr. Castledon must be eulogised; the Rev. Mr. Blimboe was humorously portrayed by Mr. Sam Wilkinson; Mr. Casson Freer as Mr. Devereux, Mr. Cassells Cobb as Mr. Ward, Mr. J. C. Norrys as Sir Robert Clifford, and Mr. J. Sharp as Quilton were all commendable in their respective characters; Miss Sybil Ruskin acted with delightful bonhomie as Dorothy Fenton, and Miss M. Barnett was good as Mrs. Fenton Mills; and the footmen were well looked after by Mr. Cyril Percy and Mr. J. A. Snaith.

Grand Pier Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. John H. Stevenson.—The Æolian Singers are paying a welcome return visit here this week; Miss Rose Alderman is the possessor of a very fine voice which she used to the utmost advantage in Tosti's "Goodbye"; Miss Doris Langdon made quite a hit with her song, "Mr. Schneider"; Mr. Chas. E. Browne excels as a comedian, banjoist, and chapeaugraphist; Mr. H. Watts' spirited rendering of "The Trumpeter" elicited unstinted applause; a comedian of considerable ability is Mr. H. Connorton, whose humorous rendering of "My Valet," gained an encore. Some very pleasing pictures are shown nightly on the Bioscope.

Pier Kiosk.—The Happy Knacks continue to draw large audiences, and this week fresh talent is provided and an entire change of programme is given.

(Continued on page 23.)

ANCHOR LIN

ON THE ROAD, AUG. 24.

An Abandoned Woman.—T. R., Consett.
An Unwedded Wife.—T. R., Batley.
Ashwell's, Miss Lena.—Court T., Liverpool.
At Cripple Creek.—T. R., Bolton.
At Duty's Call.—Star T., Swansea.
At the World's Mercy.—Bordon Camp.
Belle of Mayfair (Bode).—T. R., Hanley.
Belle of Mayfair (Howard).—O. H., Buxton.
Belle of New York (Howard).—T. R., York.
Best of Her Sex.—T. R., Ilkeston.
Bondman, The (Croke).—Kennington Theatre, S.E.
Breed of the Treshams.—Alexandra T., Widnes.
Brewster's Millions.—T. R., Yarmouth.
Bulmer, Mr.—T. R., North Shields.
Captain Drew on Leave.—T. R., Glasgow.
Charley's Aunt.—Grand T., Leeds.
Charley's Aunt (No. 2).—Tenby and Brixham.
Chinese Honeymoon (Bode).—Prince's T., Manchester.
Christian, The (Croke, N.).—Shakespeare T., Liverpool.
Christian, The (Croke, S.).—T. R., Brighton.
Christian, The (Croke, No. 3).—Sandown and Bognor.
Coal King.—Royalty T., Barrow.
Compton Comedy Co.—Doncaster and Llandudno.
Convict's Daughter.—T. R., Wolverhampton.
Country Girl in London.—T. R., Hyde.
Dairymaids, The (Courtneidge).—Eastbourne and Folkestone.
Dairymaids, The (Macdonald's, S.).—Ilfracombe.
Dairymaids, The (Macdonald's).—Cromer and Lowestoft.
Dare-Devil Dorothy.—County T., Reading.
Diana of Dobson's (M.).—West Kirby and Colwyn Bay.
Diana of Dobson's (N.).—Lyceum T., Ipswich.
Diana of Dobson's (S.).—Grand T., Swansea.
Driven from Home.—New T., Bargoed.
East Lynne (Kelly).—Greenwich Theatre.
Eve of Her Wedding.—T. R., West Stanley.
Faber, Mr. Leslie.—O. H., Cork.
Fatal Wedding.—O. H., Wakefield.
Fight for a Throne.—Alexandra T., Hull.
Florodora (Howard).—New T., Cardiff.
Flower Girl.—Royalty, Morecambe.
For Love and the King.—T. R., Barnsley.
Geoffrey Langdon's Wife.—Grand T., Walsall.
Girl Redeemed from Sin.—P. O. W., Nuneaton.
Girl With the Angel Face.—Alexandra T., Sheffield.
Great Awakening.—T. R., Darlington.
Greed of Gold.—T. R., Blyth.
Hands Across the Sea.—Weymouth, Weston-s.-M.
Heathen and the Christian.—E. Oxford T., Oxford.
Her Love Against the World.—Brixton Theatre.
Her Marriage Vow.—P. O. W., Mexboro'.
Her Nameless Child.—Alexandra T., Birmingham.
Honeymoon, The.—Llandudno and Aberystwyth.
Horniman's, Miss, Co.—H. M. T., Carlisle.
Hughes, Annie.—Palace Pier, Brighton.
Hypocrites, The (N.).—Saltburn and Doncaster.
Knight in Armour.—Ilfracombe.
Lady Frederick.—Tunbridge Wells and Buxton.
Lady Frederick (Potter).—T. R., Bournemouth.
La Comedie Anglaise.—Bowhill and Dunfermline.
Lancashire Lad.—T. R., Ton-y-pandy.
Leah Kleschna.—Rotunda T., Liverpool.
Little Breadwinner.—Lyceum T., Newport.
London with the Lid Off.—Carlton T., Bir'gham.
Love of a Princess.—T. R., Bristol.
Love Rules the World.—Victoria T., Broughton.
Love that Women Desire.—T. R., Sunderland.
Love's Golden Dream.—O. H., Kidderminster.
Lucky Liza.—Royal Court T., Wigan.
Manxman, The (Clyde).—Muirkirk and Ardrossan.
Manxman, The.—T. R., Halifax.
Man and Wife.—Colosseum, Oldham.
Maude's, Miss Winifred.—Gaiety T., Methil.
Merely Mary Ann.—Lyceum T., Edinburgh.
Merry Widow.—O. H., Southport.
Midnight Mail.—Theatre Royal, Ashton.
Moody Manners Opera (A.).—Lyric Theatre, W.
Moody Manners Opera (B.).—Yarmouth.
Mother's Salvation, A.—Hippodrome, Sheerness.
Mrs. Dot.—Aquarium, Yarmouth.
Mrs. Ponderbury's Past.—West Pier, Brighton.
My Mimosa Maid.—Marina T., Lowestoft.
Norman V. Norman.—Marlborough Theatre, N.
Old Folks at Home.—Metropole T., Manchester.
Power of the Cross.—Metropole T., Glasgow.
Power of the King.—Queen's T., Farnworth.
Prince of Pilsen.—T. R., South Shields.
Private Secretary.—H. M. T., Barrow
Prodigal Parson.—New T., Aberdare.
Prodigal Son (Croke).—Elephant and Castle T.
Prodigal Son (Day).—T. R., Stockton.
Prodigal Son (Western).—Bognor.
Royal Divorce.—Artillery T., Woolwich.
Second to None.—Grand T., Brighton.
Sexton Blake.—Grand T., Newcastle.
Sherlock Holmes.—P. O. W., Birmingham.
Sign of the Cross.—Dundalk and Londonderry.
Silver King.—Tyne T., Newcastle.
Silver King (Howard).—Deal and Canterbury.
Soldier of France.—T. R., Smethwick.
Still Alarm.—T. R., Woolwich.
Straight from the Shoulder.—Palace T., Bordesley.
Sunday.—County T., Kingston.
Terry, Edward.—Spa T., Scarborough.
Terry, Ellen.—Marina T., Lowestoft.
Thief, The (N.).—T. R., Huddersfield.
Thief, The (S.).—Margate and Eastbourne.
Thief, The.—King's T., Sunderland.
Tom Jones.—Southend and Worthing.
Two Lancashire Lasses in London.—Grimsby.
Two Little Drummer Boys.—Grand T., Nelson.
Two Little Vagabonds (N.).—T. R., Stockport.
Two Little Vagabonds (S.).—Tunbridge Wells.
Tyrant, The.—Dalston Theatre, N.E.
Uncle Tom's Cabin (Harrington).—P. H., Blaina.
Village Blacksmith.—H. M. T., Aberdeen.
Way of the World.—T. R., Coatbridge
What the Butler Saw.—King's T., Glasgow.
When Knights Were Bold.—Cornwall.
When London Sleeps.—T. R., Aston.
White Man, A.—H. M. T., Blackpool.
Why Men Love Women.—T. R., Middlesbrough.
Wilkie, Allan, and Co.—Prince's T., Accrington.
Woman and Wine.—T. R., Rotherham.
Woman Pays.—Theatre Royal, Leigh.
Woman Worth Winning.—Court T., Warringon.
Worst Woman in London.—Queen's T., Liverpool.
Wrecker of Men.—Metropole T., Birmingham.
£1,000 Reward.—Theatre Royal, Colne.

CRICKET.

"Way of the World" Co. v. Dr. Brown's XI.
Played at Falkirk on Thursday.

"Way of the World" Co.—First Innings: H. Sherwood Martin, c Palmer, b Nicol, 0; Darcy Kelway, run out, 0; R. Fyfe, c Brown, b Palmer, 2; J. P. McBride, c Stewart, b Palmer, 4; Pat Quinn, c Brown, b Nicol, 4; H. W. Ebbutt, c Palmer, b Nicol, 3; Scott, c Palmer, b Nicol, 2; Andrews, b Palmer, 6; Victor Gordon, c Brown, b Nicol, 0; Chalmers, not out, 4; C. Nicol, run out, 0; extras, 4; total, 29. Second Innings: H. Sherwood Martin, run out, 16; Darcy Kelway, b Brown, 6; R. Fyfe, b Nicol, 0; J. P. McBride, b Brown, 2; Pat Quinn, b Struthers, 2; Andrews, b Bactson, 20; Victor Gordon, b Nicol, 0; Chalmers, b Nicol, 0; C. Nicol, not out, 0; extras, 4; total 50.

Dr. Brown's XI.—First Innings: W. Brown, b Scott, 4; Stewart, b Sherwood Martin, 0; Nicol, b Sherwood Martin, 3; Struthers, b Scott, 0; W. Struthers lbw, b Scott, 21; Leake, b Sherwood Martin, 2; G. Brown, b Scott, 10; Beatson, b Sherwood Martin, 2; Ballantine, not out, 5; Harrison, b Scott, 2; Palmer, lbw, b Sherwood Martin, 8; extras, 3; total, 60. Second Innings: W. Brown, b Scott, 8; Stewart, c Andrews, b Scott, 8; Nicol, run out, 1; Struthers, b Scott 2; W. Struthers, b Sherwood Martin, 0; extras, 4; total (for five wickets), 23.

"THE ERA" NEWSPAPER.

Notice to Contributors.

All communications intended for publication should be sent to "The Editor," and be accompanied by the Writer's Name and Address, not necessarily for insertion, but as a guarantee of good faith.

The Editor will not undertake to be responsible for any rejected MSS., nor to return any Contribution unaccompanied by a stamped and directed envelope.

Notice to Subscribers.

"The Era" is sold by all Newsagents in all the leading English, Irish, and Scotch towns, every Saturday Morning. Price Sixpence.

TERMS, POSTAGE FREE.

Home Subscriptions.		Foreign Subscriptions.
One Year	£1 6 0	One Year	£1 12 0
Six Months	0 13 0	Six Months	0 16 0
Three Months	0 6 6	Three Months	0 8 0

Cash must accompany order.

Notice to Advertisers.

Advertisements should reach the Office early in the week, and not later than Thursday, 7 p.m. Remittances, payable to "The Era," Ltd., and crossed Lloyd's Bank.

Communications.

Business Communications should be addressed to The MANAGER,
"THE ERA" BUILDINGS,
5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.
(two doors off Wellington-street).
Telegrams, "The Era, London." Telephones, 4747 and 1433, Central.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

[We do not answer inquiries by post. In all letters the names and addresses of inquirers must be given as a guarantee of good faith. Initials only or pseudonyms will be used in the answers if so desired.]

Alfred Toots (Langham-street).—A letter to you from our Berlin correspondent has been returned. She writes:—"The name of Herr Schwayer is not in the Directory, and the Berliner Theatre has changed hands several times since April, 1907; the books seem to have disappeared, and nobody there knows anything about Die Sittennote. The publishing firm who have all rights of that and other plays of Schwayer is: Verlag Austria, Schikaneder Gasse 11, Vienna. The manager's name is, as well as could be made out through the telephone, Herr Janschke, but even if not quite correct the rest of the address is all right."

A. M.—The title-rôle of Peter's Mother was played by Miss Marion Terry, and not by Miss Lena Ashwell.

Senex.—Your question concerning Marie Van Zandt is apparently a difficult one to answer. We have referred it to our Paris correspondent, whose inquiries have been hindered somewhat by the intervention of holidays; but we will make another effort to give you the information you require. Your appreciation is valued.

Arthur Wray.—The veteran stars are wisely reticent as to their age, and they would very properly resent as an impertinence any inquiries on the subject. We should be the last to pander to idle curiosity; but we should say that from the vivacity displayed by the comedian you mention he is not likely to grow old, although he may be a grandfather.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, & DEATHS.

The charge for inserting in "The Era" an announcement of a Birth, a Marriage, or a Death, or an "In Memoriam" notice, not exceeding twenty-four words, is One Shilling and Sixpence.

As a guarantee of good faith, the name and address of the sender must accompany each notice.

BIRTHS.

Adams.—Aug. 15, at 64, Roman-road, South Shields, Mrs. Emil Adams (Miss Gertie Gray), of a son.

Bridge.—Aug. 14, at 102, Delaval-road, Old Benwell, Newcastle-on-Tyne, the wife of Roland A. Bridge (Miss Amy Shaw), of a son.

Lawrance.—Aug. 14, at Hampstead, London, the wife of Dorset William Lawrance (Lawrance d'Orsay), of a son (stillborn).

Pitt.—Aug. 16, at Pontypool, Bessie Ellis, the wife of Geo. H. Pitt, lessee Theatre Royal, Pontypool, of a daughter.

Priestley.—Aug. 15, at 7, Frances street, Bracebridge, Lincoln, the wife of Mr. Priestley (Marie Lisle, late Nydia, fire dancer), of a boy.

MARRIAGES.

Thomas—Field.—Madge Field (daughter of the late Paul Courtney) to Frank Thomas, of Jersey, at Southampton, June 25.

DEATHS.

Hardyman.—On Aug. 10, 1908, at 33, Aliwal-road, Clapham Junction, Elizabeth Hardyman, the dearly-loved mother of Adela Harvey and G. E. Hall.

Newman.—Deeply regretted: the sudden death of Major A. A. Newman, late Major of the Royal Field Artillery; father of Primavesi.

Sullivan.—On the 16th inst., at her residence, 46 Albany-villas, Hove, Mary, widow of the late Barry Sullivan.

In Memoriam.

Harvey.—Eddie, who passed away Aug. 24, 1906.
He is gone but not forgotten,
Never shall his memory fade.
Thoughts shall ever linger
Round the spot where he is laid.
—Baby Eddie and R. M.

Swallow.—In loving memory of William Charles Swallow, who died Aug. 23, 1900. Never forgotten by his loving mother, sisters, and brothers.
Eight years have now passed since he left us in sorrow,
And sad was the shock we received on that day;
But some day we'll meet and enjoy him for ever
In the home of Our Saviour, who called him away.

Sheldon.—In affectionate remembrance of Lechmere Sheldon, who died Aug. 18, '07, aged 29. Deeply regretted by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sheldon and family.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL LAW.

BY A. A. STRONG, LL.B. (LOND.), SOLICITOR

Your book will, I am sure, be a valuable aid to all managers and actors.—Sir Henry Irving.

Mr. Strong states the whole case very clearly.—Illustrated London News.

Should prove perfectly invaluable.—Weekly Sun.

Should be found very useful.—Pelican.

The work succeeds in making plain the thorny legal path that every manager and artist must tread, and by a timely consultation of its pages they may avoid much misapprehension and trouble.—Star.

"THE ERA" LETTER-BOX.

A Stamped Envelope, plainly addressed, must be enclosed with application for each Letter. Letters, after lying at this Office for One Month, are forwarded to the Postal Authorities, to be returned to the Senders.

No Circulars or Parcels admitted to this list.

Aldrich, Mrs. Chas.
Alexander, Mr. T. K.
Anthony, Mr. Henry
Armitage, Mr. Harry
Arnold, Miss T.
Ash, Miss Edna
Auton, Mr. W. Holmes
Bahadr, Singh
Baines, Miss F.
Baldwin, Mr. J.
Bale, Mr. Ed. Geo.
Beaute, Mons.
Bendons, The
Bernhardt, Mme. Sarah
Biddall, Mr. W.
Blunt, Mr. G.
Boggetti, Mr. E.
Boissett, Mr. Herbert
Brookes, Miss E.
Campbell, Mr. D.
Carle, Mr. Leo.
Carver, Mr. Geo.
Carver, Mr. Cecil A.
Carver, Mr. P.
Caselli, Miss Cora
Caselli, Mr. E.
Cash, Mr. Morny
Cecilians, The Four
Chard, Lieut.
Clark, Miss D. H.
Cliquot, Chevalier
Conynghame, Mr. F. L.
Cook, Mr. G.
Coop, Mr. Colin
Coram, Mr.
Corri, Mr. Clarence
Cosnett, Mr. F.
Cottrell, Mr. Robert
Cryer, Mr. Abraham
Cuthbert, Mr. Alfred
Dean, Miss Violet
Doody, Mrs. Sid
Doreen, Miss Lilian
Druce, Mr. Hubert
Duncan, Mr. Albert E.
Evans, Mr. Wash
Field, Mr. Penfold
Finglas, Mr. F. P.
Ford, Mr. Eddie
Franklyn, Miss Eugene
Ghalom, Miss Celia
Golden, Mr. Horace
Gordons, Mrs. Ada W.
Gordon, Mr. S.
Grenville, Miss Helen Grey, Miss Minnie
Hall, Mr. E.
Hamiltons, Messrs. W.
Hamilton, Miss H.
Hanson, Mr. Geo.
Harcourt, Miss Enid
Harrison, Mr. W.
Healy, Mr. Robert
Hearn, Mr. James
Hemingway, Mr. Jack
Hesslewood, Mr. Tom
Hickey, Mr. L. D.
Hubbard, Miss Ida
Hyde, Mr. Arthur
Imray, Mr. Chas.
Jessett, Mr. Fred
Johnson, Mr. Kid
Johnson, Mr. Mike
Jones, Mr. Henry A.
Juliette, Mme.
King, Mr. Leo.
Lafayette, the Great
La Martine, Mrs. Clara
Lant, Mr. William
Lanty, Miss Olive
Le Breton, Mrs.
Levaine, Mr. Harry
Ling, Mr. T. P.
Lingard, Mr. G.
Linwood, Mr. Lance
Lloyd, Mr. Hugh Lockart's Elephants.
Loftus, Mr. A.
Loftus, Miss K.
Lupino, Mr. George
Luxmore, Miss Mabel
Macdonald, Mr. Jack
Mack, Mr. Harry
Matthews, Mr. E. C.
McCarthy, Mr. D.
McGlynn, Mr. George
McNab, Mr. Sandy
Mead, Mr. David
Michelena, Miss Vera
Mildare, Mr. C.
Miniature Marie
Moore, Miss Mary
Morison, Capt. R.
Neilson, Mr. H. V.
New York Comedy Four
Odell, Miss Maude
Oliver, Mr. J. C.
Onda, Mr. Dick
Paull, Miss E. G.
Pettigrove, Mr. Britton
Pook, Mrs.
Powell, Mr. Frank
Ray, Miss G.
Ray, Miss M. L.
Relph, Miss Mary
Rignold, Miss Bessie
Romer, Mr. Adrian
Roscoe, Miss Ada
Rose, Mr. Howard
Rubens, Mr. H.
Sachs, Mr. J. L.
Scott, Mr. Malcolm
Selkirk, Mr.
Seymour, Mr. Harry
Shine, Mr. John L.
Shrapnel, Mr. L.
Smith and Beaumont
Stahl, Miss Rose
Staunton, Miss Cicely
Stratten, Mrs. Jack
St. Just, Mr. Hilton
Taft, Mrs. Gilbert
Temple, Mr. Fred
Thompson, Mr. C. W.
Thora, Miss
Tilbury, Mr. Walter
Ulrick, Mr. Chas.
Venus, Miss Mab
Walford, Mr. Archie
Walton, Mr. W. W.
Warren, Mr. Ross
White, Mr. Stanley
Willard, Miss Lena
Williams, Mr. Chas. H.
Willie Brothers
Yorke, Mr. Percy
York, Mr. Philip
Young, Mr. T. B.
Zanello, Mr. A.
Zerbinis, Mr. Victor
Zolas, The Four

BIRTHDAYS OF THE WEEK.

We wish Many Happy Returns of the Day to the following ladies and gentlemen:—

Adnam Sprange—Saturday, Aug. 22.
Willie Scott—Saturday, Aug. 22.
Clarice Reefern—Saturday, Aug. 22.
Joe Bracewell—Saturday, Aug. 22.
Calder O'Beirne—Saturday, Aug. 22.
W. J. Churchill—Saturday, Aug. 22.
Sir A. C. Mackenzie—Saturday, Aug. 22.
Dr. Cummings—Saturday, Aug. 22.
Violet Sims—Saturday, Aug. 22.
Wilfred R. Morgan—Saturday, Aug. 22.
Lonise Moodie—Sunday, Aug. 23.
Frank Beresford—Sunday, Aug. 23.
Charles J. Cameron—Sunday, Aug. 23.
Chas. E. Parlato—Monday, Aug. 24.
Beatrice Annersley—Monday, Aug. 24.
Max Beerbohm—Monday, Aug. 24.
Gus Hindell—Monday, Aug. 24.
Charles Whittle—Monday, Aug. 24.
Dulcie Roma—Monday, Aug. 24.
Marie Snelson—Tuesday, Aug. 25.
Alice de Winton—Tuesday, Aug. 25.
Mme. Alice Barth—Tuesday, Aug. 25.
Leonard Robson—Tuesday, Aug. 25.
Doris Trevelyan—Tuesday, Aug. 25.
(Miss) Santoi—Tuesday, Aug. 25.
Denise Orme—Wednesday, Aug. 26.
Helen Mathers—Wednesday, Aug. 26.
Daisy Morell—Wednesday, Aug. 26.
Dorothy Vicott—Wednesday, Aug 26.
J. L. Graydon—Wednesday, Aug. 26.
Fred Earle—Wednesday, Aug. 26.
Connie Leon—Thursday, Aug. 27.
Mara Collings—Thursday, Aug. 27.
Minnie Delevine—Thursday, Aug. 27.
Maurice de Frece—Thursday, Aug. 27.
Jack Pleasants—Thursday, Aug. 27.
Fred Keeton—Thursday, Aug. 27.
Walter Kenyon—Thursday, Aug. 27.
Nina Blake Adams—Friday, Aug. 28.
Nellie Christie—Friday, Aug. 28.
Lalla Selbini—Friday, Aug. 28.
James Doughty—Friday, Aug. 28.
Buckstone Clair—Friday, Aug. 28.
Charles H. Williams—Friday, Aug. 28.

On Thursday a bowling match was played on the green attached to the Bull Hotel, Peterborough, between the Two "Original" Bostons, Arthur Norton, Len Keppel, and G. W. Foster. Young Jack Boston was the victorious one, and an easy second came in Len Keppel. Jack Boston, sen., came third, with Arthur Norton and G. W. Foster at the finish. Wine flowed freely, and "Pa" Copley, the amiable landlord of the V.A.F. house, chatted and joked with the sports.

Presentation.—Mr. J. Langdon-Lee, manager of the Theatre Royal, Plymouth, on behalf of Mr. George Aubrey, press manager of the Beloved Vagabond company, on Aug. 15 presented Mr. A. E. Petherick, head of the Royal advertising department, with a handsome medallion suitably inscribed, in recognition of the good work he has done in the interests of the Beloved Vagabond.

"Mr. Editor,—Sir,—You were kind enough to give me a notice in last week's Era at the Bedford, mentioning my two successes, 'Stupid Mr. Cupid' and 'Every little bit.' You mentioned me as Florence Goodwin. My name is—Yours faithfully, Marie Goodwin (only daughter of Bonnie Goodwin). Hippodrome, Sheerness, Aug. 18.

BUREAU DE CHANGE

SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED
HANDS and CO.,
15, STRAND,
CHARING-CROSS RAILWAY STATION,
LONDON, W.C.

FRESH AS A ROSE!

Add a Little "CONDY'S FLUID" to your Bath or Footbath.

It invigorates the body and braces the Nerves. The Strengthening & Health giving effects are Simply Magical. Tired, Aching or Tender Feet are instantly relieved. All feeling of fatigue or discomfort and every trace of Offensive Odour immediately disappear. Of all Chemists at 1s. Insist on having "Condy's Fluid." Contains NO Permanganate of Potash.

CONDY'S FLUID CO., 65, GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

"I'll swear upon that bottle."—Tempest, Act ii.; Scene ii.

WHITBREAD'S

BOTTLED BEERS

maintain their popularity because they are brought into condition by

MATURING IN BOTTLE,

the Natural method,

without the aid of carbonating or other artificial process.

The largest Beer Bottlers in the World.

APPLY TO CHIEF OFFICES,

BRITANNIA ST., KING'S CROSS, LONDON, W.C.

(Telephone No. 366 North. Telegraphic Address, "Beerseller, London.")

FOR NAME OF NEAREST AGENT.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES.

For Sustaining the Voice.
Invaluable for ACTORS and SINGERS.
Indispensable for PUBLIC SPEAKERS

Gentlemen,—For sudden affections of the Bronchial Organs I use and most cheerfully recommend "Brown's Troches." They are regarded as most eligible, convenient, and indispensable by numerous artists of my acquaintance, BOTH IN EUROPE AND AMERICA. They seem to act specially on the organs of the voice, and produce a clear enunciation.—Yours truly (Signed), Marie Roze Mapleson.

SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 1/1½ PER BOX.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.

The Best Remedy for Acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Gout, and Indigestion.
A Safe and most effective Aperient for regular use.

INDIGESTION

Is the primary cause of most of the ills to which we are subject. WHELPTON'S VEGETABLE PURIFYING PILLS arouse the stomach to action. Headache flies away, Biliousness, Kidney Disorders, and Skin Complaints disappear.

ASK FOR WHELPTON'S PURIFYING PILLS,

And remember there is NO PILL "JUST AS GOOD." 1s. 1½d. of all Chemists.

TEETH!! TEETH!!
A COMPLETE SET ONE POUND.

Single teeth from 2s. 6d. each. Painless Gas Extraction, 3s. 6d. American Crown and Bridge Work at equally reasonable prices. American Bridge Work is very suitable for those on the stage, being fixed in the mouth and made absolutely unmovable. Our Speciality—Dainty Teeth for Actresses.
THE PEOPLE'S TEETH ASSOCIATION,
138, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.
Also at 177, WESTMINSTER BRIDGE-RD., S.E.

A. BLACKFORD.

the BEST HOUSE in LONDON.
For LADIES' and GENTLEMEN'S High Grade BOOTS and SHOES.
The FINEST ENGLISH and FOREIGN MAKES At Cutting Prices.
3, 4, and 5, KING-STREET, COVENT GARDEN, W.C.
Telephone, P.O. Central, 5,014.

DRESS CLOTHES LENT.—BLACKFORD has for SALE or HIRE the Finest of CLOTHES for Theatres, Balls, Parties, Weddings, Dinners, Funerals, &c. Clothes sent to any part of England. Perfect Fit guaranteed. 3, 4, and 5, KING-STREET, COVENT GARDEN (one door from Market), and 31, WELLINGTON-STREET, STRAND.
Telegraphic Address, "Misfits, London."
Telephone, P.O. Central, 5,014.

REAL HAMBURG GROUND

KROPP RAZOR

NEVER REQUIRES GRINDING.

DO NOT BE PUT OFF WITH SUBSTITUTES.

Black Handle	5s. 6d.	Pair Ivory Handles in Russia Leather Case	21s. Od.
Ivory Handle	7s. 6d.
Kropp Duplex Strop	7s. 6d.	Kropp Strop Paste	6d.

Wholesale: OSBORNE, GARRETT, & CO., LONDON, W.

TYPEWRITING.

MRS. MARSHALL, 126, STRAND, W.C. PROMPT BOOKS and ACTORS' PARTS TRANSLATIONS FROM and INTO ALL LANGUAGES. ADAPTATIONS of FRENCH and GERMAN PLAYS UNDERTAKEN. SHORTHAND DICTATION in FRENCH or ENGLISH. REFERENCES to MANY LEADING AUTHORS and MANAGERS.

BIRKBECK BANK.

ESTABLISHED 1851.
SOUTHAMPTON BUILDINGS, HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.
2½ PER CENT. INTEREST allowed on Deposit Accounts.
2 PER CENT. INTEREST on Drawing Acounts with Cheque Book.
All general Banking Business transacted.
ALMANACK, with full particulars. POST FREE.
C. F. RAVENSCROFT, Secretary.

"THE ERA" IN AUSTRALIA.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS AND SUBSCRIBERS.

MESSRS.
GORDON AND GOTCH.

SINGLE COPIES ON SALE.
SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED.
ADVERTISEMENTS ACCEPTED.

Australian Artistes visiting the Metropolis use The Era Offices as their Permanent London Address.

Apply or Address,
MELBOURNE—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH, QUEEN-STREET.
SYDNEY—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH, PITT-STREET.
BRISBANE—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH, QUEEN-STREET.
PERTH—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH.

LONDON THEATRES.

GAIETY THEATRE.
Manager, Mr. George Edwardes.
Every Evening at 8,
Mr. George Edwardes's New Production,
"HAVANA,"
a Musical Play.
Box Office Open Daily, 10 to 10.

DALY'S THEATRE,
LEICESTER-SQUARE.
Every Evening at 8.15.
Matinée Every Saturday at 2.30.
A New Play, with Music,
entitled
"THE MERRY WIDOW"
("Die lustige witwe").
Produced by Mr. GEORGE EDWARDES.

LYCEUM THEATRE.
Managing-Directors, Messrs. HENRY R. SMITH and ERNEST CARPENTER.
Acting-Manager, Mr. W. F. CROWE.
EVERY EVENING, at 8,
The New Romantic Drama
"THE PRINCE AND THE BEGGAR MAID."
By Walter Howard.
Last Performance, Wednesday Evening, Aug. 26.
Box-office, 10 to 10.
Stalls, 5s. and 3s.; Dress Circle, 4s. and 2s. 6d.; Pit Stalls, 1s. 6d.; Pit, 1s.; Gallery, 6d.
Tels., 7,617 and 7,618 Gerrard.
Saturday, Aug. 29, Grand Autumn Production,
"PETE."
By Hall Caine and Louis N. Parker.
Seats can now be Booked.

LYRIC.
MOODY-MANNERS OPERA CO.
Lessee, Mr. William Greet,
under the management of Mr. Tom B. Davis.
GRAND OPERA IN ENGLISH.
Every evening at 8, and Mats. Wed. and Sat. at 2.
Mon., "Il Trovatore," Mdme. De Vere Sapio, Mr. Charles Carter; Tues., "Tristan and Isolda," Miss Enriqueta Crichton, Mr. Philip Brozel; Wed. Mat., "Faust," Miss Kate Anderson, Mr. Seth Hughes; Wed. evening, "Lohengrin," Mdme. De Vere Sapio, Mr. Charles Carter; Thurs., "Madame Butterfly," Mdme. Fanny Moody, Mr. Seth Hughes; Fri., "Faust," Miss Kate Anderson, Mr. Seth Hughes; Sat., Mat., "Madame Butterfly," Mdme. Fanny Moody, Mr. Louis Laurier; Sat., evening, "The Jewess," Mms. De Vere Sapio, Kate Anderson, Messrs. Philip Brozel, Seth Hughes.

KING'S THEATRE, W.
'Phone 119 Hammersmith.
Owner and Resident-Manager, J. B. Mulholland.
Nightly at 8. Thursday Matinée at 2.30.
"TOM JONES."
All communications re dates at Marlborough and King's Theatres; also as to performing "The New Magdalen," address Mr. Mulholland, KING'S THEATRE, HAMMERSMITH, W.

MARLBOROUGH THEATRE.
Managing-Directors,
Mr. Ernest Stevens and Mr. R. C. Buchanan.
Aug. 24, NORMAN V. NORMAN'S REPERTOIRE CO.
Note.—Owing to change,
Sept. 7
may be open for First-class Attraction.
Address all communications re dates to Mr. J. B. Mulholland, King's Theatre, Hammersmith, W. All other communications to Messrs. Stevens and Buchanan, Marlborough T., N. 'Phone 131 North.

LYRIC OPERA HOUSE,
HAMMERSMITH.
Proprietor and Manager, WENTWORTH CROKE.
Enormous Success of Re-opening.
Aug. 24. "A MESSAGE FROM MARS."
Aug. 31, "SECOND TO NONE."
Add., Wentworth Croke, 17, Shaftesbury-av., W.

ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE,
KINGSTON-ON-THAMES.
Re-opened for the Season after Complete Reconstruction, Redecoration, and Refurnishing. Monday, Aug. 24, for Six Nights. Matinée on Wednesday, "SUNDAY." The First County Variety Season (twice nightly) will commence shortly.

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

MIDDLESEX.
Monday, Aug. 24. Mysterious Sensation. Charcot and his Automatic Man, Madge Daly, George Don, Thomas Brooklyn and Co., Jack Neil, Kitty Berresford, Mack Ollive (assisted by Miss Daisy Baldry), Special Grand Picture Display in two series, including Saved by a Newsboy, The Fordyces, Ray and Calden, Nora Stockelle, Johnny Worman, The Donnas Trio, George D'Albert. Doors Open at 6.45; Saturdays and Holidays One Hour Earlier. A Change Every Week.

EMPIRE, Camberwell Green.
Managing-Director, JESSE SPARROW.
Manager, PERCY FORD.
Fred Powerie and Co., in a New Melodramatic Playlet, "An Unfinished Symphony," the Great Haydas Troupe of acrobatic tumblers, Vi Adele, Fred W. Millis, Ivy Kildare, Lambert and Butler, Rose Lilian, Sadie and Leggi, Harry Village, Jeape's Animated Graphic, and Bob Hutt and Co., in "Welcome Home."

THE NEW BEDFORD
PALACE OF VARIETIES, LTD.
Twice Nightly, at 6.10 and 9.0.
Monday, Aug. 24.—Henry Doughty and Co. in "The Washerwoman Duchess," Thursby and Alexander, Sisters Allen, Le Gros, Gordon and Belle, Alf Davis, Lanos and Montes, Onda and Ardell, Aggie Nolan, Les Supriskis, Nora Stockelle, the Bioscope, Mlle. Sidy Nirvana.
Artists are notified that they must send their full Bill Matter in two clear weeks before opening. Rehearsal, 1 o'clock Mondays. All must attend. Artists not complying with the above rules are subject to having their contracts cancelled at option of Management.

ROYAL STANDARD MUSIC HALL
(facing Victoria Station).—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. T. S. DICKIE. One House Nightly.
Monday, Aug. 24: The Six Albyns, in "The Squire's Hunting Party," Dan Conroy, Prince Kuroki, Frank Elliston and Co., in "Aunt Matilda." The Katos, Talbot and Pearce, in "Yo-San," Two Rubies, Diamond and Hart, Jas. Hare and Co., in "The Guilty Man," Ethel Illarey, Lew Loman, Dora Daly, Edisonograph. Rehearsals, Monday, 1 o'clock. Doors open, 7.30 (Saturdays, 7 o'clock); commence, 7.40 (Saturdays, 7.15, with augmented programme). Tele. 503, Westminster. Assistant-Manager, Mr. MAURICE VOLNY.

CHELSEA PALACE.
At 6.40 and 9.10.
Ben Hur, the patrician athlete, in "Pompeii," H. A. Moore, The Doreen Girls, Arthur Slater, Millie Hylton, Vasey and Ramsey, in "Jerks, the Butler," Sisters McCalla, Hal Chapter, Jeapes' Animated Graphic, and Fred Winn and Co., in "The Light in the Window."

QUEEN'S PALACE OF VARIETIES,
HIGH-STREET, POPLAR. Tel. 714 East.
Proprietors, Messrs. F. and M. ABRAHAMS.
Joint Managers, M. Abrahams and C. Hector.
Twice Nightly, at 6.30 and 9.10. Matinée Thursday. Minnie Brooker, Fred Maitland, Edward Thane and Co., Bartholomew Girls, May Henderson, Spry and Monti, Gardiner and Co. in "The Airship," Queen's Bioscope, Harry Ford.
Bill matter must be sent in fourteen days before opening, in accordance with Clause 18, same to be sent to Manager, Queen's. Artists please note rehearsal must be attended Mondays, 1.0 o'clock, according to contract.

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

ALHAMBRA.
MDLLE. LEONORA, in
"SAL, OH MY!" UP TO DATE.
ROBERT STEIDL,
THE MASTER MYSTERY, MDLLE. BRESINA,
TOM NAWN and CO.,
MDLLE. POMPONNETTE, in
"THE TWO FLAGS," &c.

EMPIRE (Leicester-square).
ADELINE GENEE
in
"COPPELIA."
"AFTER THE OPERA,"
a Dramatic Episode.
Lydia Kyaksht, Ray Wallace, Velanche's Dogs, Warren and Brockway, Emma Francis, Les Souloffs, Battle of Salisbury on the Bioscope, &c. Every Evening at 8. Man., Mr. H. J. HITCHINS.

PALACE.
MAUD ALLAN in her WONDERFUL CLASSICAL DANCES, MACART'S EDUCATED MONKEYS, JULIETTES SEA LIONS, SPISSEL BROS., and MACK, &c., MARATHON RACE, &c., on URBANORA BIOSCOPE.
Matinée, Full Programme, Saturdays, at 2.0.
MAUD ALLAN MATINEE, WEDNESDAYS, at 3.0
Managing-Director, Mr. ALFRED BUTT.

OXFORD.
LITTLE TICH, Wilkie Bard, Victoria Monks, Joe Elvin, Cinquevalli, Dan Crawley, Warsaw Bros., Venie Clements, Madoline Rees, France and Stewart, H. La Martine, Daisy Wood, Sig. and Mme. Borelli, Tom Woottwell, Phil Rees' Stable Lads, Smiler Lee, Gertie Reynolds, Ruffell's Bioscope. Open 7.25. Saturday Matinées 2.15.
Manager, Mr. BLYTH-PRATT.

TIVOLI.
Marie Lloyd, R. G. Knowles, Wilkie Bard, Harry Tate and Co., Margaret Ashton, Les Frasettis, Jose Collins, Max Waldon, Foreman and Fannan, Talbot and Pearce, T. E. Finglass, Frank Harwood, Harry Leybourne, Alexandra Dagmar, Will Evans.
Open 7.30; Saturday Matinées, 2.15.

QUEEN'S HALL
PROMENADE CONCERTS.
Nightly at 8 till Oct. 24.
THE QUEEN'S HALL ORCHESTRA.
Conductor, Mr. Henry J. Wood.
1s., 2s., 3s., 5s.
Full Programmes for the Entire Season from the Queen's Hall Orchestra, Ltd., 320, Regent-street, W.
Robert Newman, Manager.

FUNDS, &c.

ROYAL GENERAL THEATRICAL FUND.
FOR MEMBERS BECOMING INCAPACITATED EITHER BY OLD AGE OR INFIRMITY.
Hon. Treasurer, Edward Terry, Esq., J.P.
Charles J. Davies, Secretary, Savoy House, Strand.

ACTORS' BENEVOLENT FUND.
8, ADAM-STREET, STRAND.
C. I. Coltson, Secretary.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION
Telegrams, "Actoris, London."
Telephone, 1753 Gerrard.
409, STRAND, W.C.
Subscriptions, 4s. 6d. Quarterly, or 15s. Annually.
Entrance Fee, 5s.

ACTORS' UNION.
Telephone 3714 Gerrard.
Entrance fee, 2s. 6d.;
Weekly Subscriptions, 6d.
Open Meetings every Tuesday at 2.30 precisely at Hummums Hotel, Covent Garden.
Kenneth Blackmore,
Secretary.

MUSIC HALL SICK FUND.
Founded in 1867.
Committee Meetings second Wednesday in the month at 2 p.m.
Sick Payments—£1 for 6d. per week, £1 10s. for 9d. per week. £10 paid to nearest relative on death of member. President, Mr. FRED KARNO. Hon. Auditors, Messrs. H. E. High and W. Brisco; Trustees, Messrs. H. Jennings, Jesse Sparrow, and Douglas White; Vice-President, Mr. W. J. Wainratta; Treasurer, Mr. Frank Heath; Secretary, Mr. R. T. Baines. Address all communications, the Crown Hotel, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

TOURING MANAGERS' ASSOCIATION LTD.,
AND THE MANAGERS' CLUB,
SAVOY-MANSIONS, STRAND, W.C.
For particulars of Membership, apply to The Secretary. Telegraphic address, "Playwright, London." Telephone, 8458 Gerrard.

ACADEMIES AND SCHOOLS.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
TENTERDEN-STREET, W.
Instituted 1822 Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.
The Academy offers to Pupils of both sexes an opportunity of receiving a thorough education in Music in all its branches, the Drama, and Dramatic Elocution under the most eminent Professors.
For terms and all other information, apply to
F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC
(Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883).
Prince Consort-road, South Kensington, S.W.
Patron: HIS MAJESTY THE KING.
President, H.R.H. the PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.
Director, Sir C. Hubert H. Parry, Bart., C.V.O., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec., Charles Morley, Esq.
The next Term will Commence on Monday, Sept. 28.
Syllabus and Official Entry Forms may be obtained from FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.
The only School in London for
OPERATIC and THEATRICAL TRAINING which possesses a completely equipped Theatre.
Public Performances periodically given.
Stagecraft, Elocution, Fencing, Gesture, and Deportment Taught by Eminent Professors.
New Pupils can enter at any time.
FEES MODERATE. Prospectus on application to H. SAXE-WYNDHAM, Sec., Victoria-embankment, E.C Tel No. 1943 Holborn.

THE SCHOOL OF MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC ART,
77, NEW OXFORD-STREET, W.C.
Principals: Cairns James, Ernest D'Auban.
President: George Edwardes, Esq.
Vice-Presidents: Mrs. D'Oyly Carte, Messrs. William Greet, George Dance, &c.
Autumn Term begins Sept. 28.
"George Edwardes" Open Scholarship Examination, Sept. 25. Private and Class Lessons in Acting, Deportment, Elocution, Fencing, Gesture, Stage Dancing, Singing, Choral and Sight Singing, and Rehearsal of Musical Comedy, &c., &c. Complete Course of Studies for the Light Opera and Dramatic Stage. Over 130 Pupils have secured Professional Engagements. Amateurs coached, and Amateur Dramatic and Operatic Companies Stage-managed. Lessons in Voice Culture and Public Speech to Members of the Parliamentary, Clerical, Legal, and other Professions. Prospectus, and all particulars on application to the Secretary.

NEW COLLEGE, HERNE BAY.
—Professional, Commercial, and Engineering sides; handsome buildings in 17 acres of grounds; thorough education with individual attention; University masters; separate bedroom; Cadet corps; good diet and moderate fees.
For illustrated prospectus apply,
J. W. Thurnham, M.A.

COLONIAL THEATRES.

AUSTRALIA.
MELBOURNE, SYDNEY, BRISBANE, WELLINGTON, N.Z.
Mr. J. C. Williamson,
Manager of the Leading Australasian Theatres.
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, MELBOURNE;
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, SYDNEY;
THEATRE ROYAL, SYDNEY;
HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, BRISBANE.
London Representative,
J. A. E. Malone, Daly's Theatre.

AUSTRALIA.
MR. HARRY RICKARDS,
Sole Proprietor and Manager
TIVOLI THEATRE, SYDNEY.
TIVOLI HOTEL, SYDNEY.
GRAND OPERA HOUSE, MELBOURNE,
PRINCE OF WALES' HOTEL, MELBOURNE,
TIVOLI THEATRE, ADELAIDE,
PALACE THEATRE AND GARDENS, PERTH.
Business Manager, John C. Lewis.
Private Secretary, Edward Maas.

AUSTRALIA.
THE HERBERT FLEMMING COMEDY CO.
Under the Sole Direction of
Mr. HERBERT FLEMMING.
All arrangements complete for 1908.
Australian address,
c/o Blake and Riggall, 120, William-st., Melbourne.
London Representative,
R. Golding Bright, 20, Green-st., Leicester-sq.

NEW ZEALAND.
VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT.
Proprietors, JOHN FULLER AND SONS.
AUCKLAND. Open OPERA HOUSE.
WELLINGTON. all the THEATRE R.
CHRISTCHURCH. year OPERA HOUSE.
DUNEDIN. round. PRINCESS'S T.
Proprietors, HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, ALHAMBRA THEATRE, PROVINCIAL HOTEL DUNEDIN; HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, CLUB HOTEL, WELLINGTON.
All coms., Ben Fuller, T. R., Wellington.

THE ABERDEEN DIRECT LINE
offers Special Low Rates to Theatrical or Concert Companies going on Tour in SOUTH AFRICA.
Full information can be obtained from
JOHN T. RENNIE, SON, AND CO.,
4, East India-avenue, E.C.

INDIA AND THE FAR EAST.
BANDMANN'S EASTERN CIRCUIT.
Maurice E. Bandmann
Controls the only Circuit of Theatres in the East.
Proprietor and Joint-Proprietor of the Albany Hotel, Calcutta,
Empire Theatre
Empire Rink and Hippodrome,
Calcutta.
Empire Buildings, Calcutta,
Theatre Royal, Calcutta,
Bandmann's Theatre, Bombay,
Empire Theatre, Malta.
Maurice E. Bandmann
Holds for the West Indies, Mediterranean, India, and the Far East
the Sole and Exclusive Rights of all
Mr. George Edwardes's
and the Gaiety Theatre Company's Plays,
the Gilbert and Sullivan Operas,
and all other Leading London Productions.
Companies Touring,
The Bandmann Opera Co.,
The Bandmann Comedy Co.,
The Ellis Opera Co.,
The London Frivolity Co.,
Alfred West's "Our Navy,"
The London Bioscope Co.,
The Marvellous Grossi.
Required, Companies, Artists, Novelties, and Attractions of all Descriptions,
Rent, Share, or Certainty.
Address all Communications,
Maurice E. Bandmann,
Theatre Royal, Calcutta.
Cables, "Svengali, Calcutta";
or to Sole London Agent,
Alfred Dove,
28, Gerrard-street, W.

INDIA, CALCUTTA.
PART OF BANDMANN'S EASTERN CIRCUIT.
EMPIRE THEATRE, CALCUTTA.
Sole Proprietors,
Maurice E. Bandmann and A. Stephen.
Will open on Nov. 1.
The Premier Theatre of the East.
A perfect and most elegantly-equipped Four-Tier House, built on the cantilever principle, absolutely up to date. Stage capable of any production. Holding capacity, £350
THEATRE ROYAL, CALCUTTA.
Sole Proprietors,
Maurice E. Bandmann and A. Stephen.
Run on strictly first-class lines. Patronised by the Viceroy and élite of India. Holds at ordinary prices £250. The largest stage in the East.
At both Theatres Resident Scenic Artists,
Full Band, and Permanent Staff.
Required, Companies, Novelties, and Attractions of all Descriptions.
Address all Communications,
Theatre Royal, Calcutta.
Cables, "Svengali, Calcutta";
or to Sole London Agent,
Alfred Dove,
28, Gerrard-street, W.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

ABERAMAN.—PUBLIC HALL and THEATRE. Now constructing Finest and Best-equipped Theatre in the Welsh Valleys. Every convenience; lit by electricity. Opening on Dec. 21, with Opera. W. W. Price, Sec.

ALDERSHOT.—THEATRE ROYAL.
Vacant Nov. 23 and Dec. 21
(three or four nights).
Add., Clarence Sounes, Woodlawn, Blackheath, S.E. 'Phone, 85 Woolwich.

ALTRINCHAM.—Correspondent Required to supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

BARROW.—ROYALTY THEATRE and OPERA HOUSE; JARROW, THEATRE ROYAL; CONSETT, NEW THEATRE; SPENNYMOOR, CAMBRIDGE THEATRE. Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson. Vacant Dates:—Jarrow, Sept. 14, Oct. 5, 26, and Nov. 9; Barrow, Oct. 5, 12, and 26, on. Consett, Sept. 14, Oct. 12, 19. Spennymoor, Oct. 5, Nov. 23, Dec. 7, on.
Apply, re dates, Hugh Robertson, T. R., JARROW.

BLACKPOOL.
HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE,
WINTER GARDENS,
The PRINCIPAL THEATRE
Holds MORE MONEY at ORDINARY PRICES, and has better average business throughout the Year than any Theatre in the Town.
The Most Comfortable, Elegant, and Best-Equipped Theatre. Large and Well Electric Lighted Stage and First-class Orchestra.
All visitors to the Theatre have Free Admission to the Winter Gardens, Floral Hall, Empress Ballroom, and Pavilion Entertainments; thus Companies visiting Her Majesty's Opera House have this additional attraction, which no other Theatre can offer. Only best No. 1 Companies booked.
For Dates, address, Jno. R. Huddlestone, Manager, Winter Gardens, Blackpool.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

BOW and POPLAR.—Correspondents Required to Supply Music-hall Reports Weekly.—Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

CAMBRIDGE.—NEW THEATRE (Ltd.)
Man.-Director, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.
A theatre among the most beautiful in England.
—Sunday Times.
All Autumn Dates Filled.
Now Booking Spring, 1909, and onwards.
Silence a polite negative.

CORK. — OPERA HOUSE.
Vacant Dates.
(Sept. 7 pencilled) Oct. 5, 12, 26, Nov. 2, 23, 30. Dec. 7, and onwards, with various exceptions.
Wanted, Musical Comedy Attraction for Xmas, 1908 (13 nights and matinées, commencing Boxing Day).
Applications to Mr. John Horgan, Manager.

DUNFERMLINE.—OPERA HOUSE.
The most Popular Theatre in Fife. Visited only by Companies of the highest repute. Vacant Aug. 24, on. Can be booked in conjunction with Perth, with exceptions. W. E. Potts.

GREAT MALVERN. — Correspondent Required to Supply Theatrical and Music-Hall Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE, LTD.
Established 1884.
Managing-Director, Joseph H. Curry.
Open all the Year Round.
Telegraphic add., "Curry, Grimsby." Tel. No. 240.

HANLEY.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.
The Staffordshire Potteries for all Dramatic Purposes must be considered as one large town. Hanley has undoubtedly the Largest Theatre and Stage in Staffordshire.
Lighted by Electricity. Electric trams and Trains after Performance to ends of the District.
This year's Bookings include:—
"Earl and the Girl," "See-See," Moody-Manners, "Prodigal Son," H. B. Irving, "Tom Jones," "Hypocrites," "Gay Gordons" (Zena Dare), "Hook of Holland" (Marie Studholme), "Maid and the Motor-man," "The Thief," Ellen Terry, F. R. Benson, Oscar Asche and Lily Brayton, Mrs. Brown Potter, "Brewster's Millions," "Merry Widow," Sir John Hare for Fullk Week, &c.
Vacant Oct. 19, Nov. 16, Feb. 1 and 8, onwards.
Chas. G. Elphinstone, Managing-Director.

HULL.—ASSEMBLY ROOMS and LECTURE HALL.—To Let, for Entertainments, Concerts, &c.
Good Vacant Dates.
Apply, G. Peacock and Sons, Managers.

LIVERPOOL. — SHAKESPEARE THEATRE. Man.-Dir., Wentworth Croke, First-class Companies Only.
For Vacant Dates, Address, Wentworth Croke, Piccadilly-mansions, 17, Shaftesbury-av., W.

MANCHESTER.
GAIETY THEATRE.
Sole Proprietor, Miss A. E. F. Horniman.
General-Manager, Mr. B. Iden Payne.
Closed during Summer for partial reconstruction and other improvements. Every seat bookable. One of the most beautiful and best-equipped Theatres in the Provinces.
Few Dates for No. 1 Companies only.

NORWICH. — THEATRE ROYAL.
Enlarged, Re-decorated, Lighted throughout by Electricity. Upholstered by Dean and Co.
Weekly Matinées for Country Visitors.
Silence a polite negative.
Fred Morgan, as above.

NOTTINGHAM.—GRAND THEATRE.
For Vacant Dates,
Address,
Cranbourn-mansions,
Cranbourn-street, London.

OLDHAM.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
will be Opened next Xmas.
Only the Biggest Companies Entertained.
Vacancies in the Spring.
EMPIRE THEATRE.
Note.—From Xmas the Empire will be run as a Variety House, Twice Nightly.
ROYAL VARIETIES, Twice Nightly.
HIPPODROME VARIETIES, Twice Nightly.
All communications to Ernest Dottridge.

OXFORD. — NEW THEATRE.
Managers of First-class Companies are invited to apply for Dates to
Mr. C. C. Dorrill,
Managing-Director.
Silence a polite negative.

PORTSMOUTH. — NEW THEATRE ROYAL.
Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton.
Open throughout the year.
First-class Companies.
Weekly Matinées.

REDRUTH, CORNWALL.—DRUID'S HALL. Population of district, 20,000. Hall seats 700. Stage 36ft. by 16ft.; electric light. Dates and terms, apply Owen Hill, Secretary, Public Rooms Co., Ltd., Redruth.

RICHMOND, S.W. — CASTLE THEATRE. Manager, Percy Twitchin. Fine Commodious Theatre, Seating Capacity about 600. Stage lighted by Electricity. Dates can now be booked, on rental or sharing terms. Add., Manager.

WEYMOUTH. — NEW PAVILION THEATRE.
This building, which is being erected by the Corporation on the sea-front, at a cost of £15,000, will be in every respect an up to date Theatre, and will be opened on Boxing-Day with pantomime, "Mother Goose."
Wanted, first-class companies musical and first-class variety preferred, January on, including Easter.
Walter R. Wallis, Municipal-buildings, Weymouth.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—Correspondent Required to Supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

WREXHAM.
THE PALACE THEATRE.
Managing-Director, W. Yates Gregory.
Architect, Thomas A. Price.
77A, Lord-street, Liverpool.
A Most Central Site has been Secured.
Building operations will shortly commence.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR PROVINCIAL THEATRES AND PROVINCIAL MUSIC HALLS.
Five Lines, TWO and SIXPENCE.
Thirteen Insertions (Including a Copy of "The Era" Weekly), THIRTY SHILLINGS.
For Each Additional Line, Sixpence.
Address, the Publisher,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.
"Wire," "The Era, London."
"Ring-up," 4,747. Central.

THE LAW OF MUSICAL COPYRIGHT,
BY
ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).
Price 1s., post free 1s. 1d.
Published at "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

MEXICO VILLAGE.	BROCK'S FIRE DISPLAYS, THURS AND SATS.	LEADBEITER'S WILD ANIMALS. SPORTS. CHUTES.

NEXT WEEK, Mr W. D. Mackenzie and Co. presents "MOMENTS WITH THE MASTERS."

MASKELYNE and DEVANT'S MYSTERIES,
St. George's Hall, W.
Daily, at 3 and 8.
Grand Programme, replete with new, startling mysteries, including Mr. Maskelyne's Comedy of Marvels, "THE PHILOSOPHER'S DIAMOND."
The Times says: The fun is, in truth, delightful.
Seats, 1s. to 5s. Children half-price. 'Phone, 1545 Mayfair.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF ILLUSTRATED BIOGRAPHIES.

Abrahams, jun., Mr. Morris	Aug. 10, 1907
Adeson, Mr. Charles	April 25, 1908
Alexandra, Late Miss Ada	March 23, 1907
Allen, Mr. Frank	Feb. 22, 1908
Ames, Miss Emmie	Jan. 4, 1908
Anson, Miss Carlotta	June 13, 1908
Armstrong, Mr. Barney	Nov. 30, 1907
Atwill, Mr. Lionel	June 27, 1908
Bailey, Mr. Gordon	May 30, 1908
Bandurria, Late Mr. George	Dec. 14, 1907
Barrasford, Mr. Thomas	Feb. 29, 1908
Barwell, Miss Edith	April 11, 1908
Bateman, Miss	March 14, 1908
Beck, Mr. Fred	April 4, 1908
Bentley, Mrs. Walter	July 20, 1907
Beresford, Mr. Frank	July 18, 1908
Bernard, Mr. Albert	Oct. 5, 1907
Berte, Late Mr. Charles	May 30, 1908
Bolder, Mr. Robert	July 20, 1907
Booker, Late Mr. George A.	April 4, 1908
Boulton, Mr. Matthew	April 4, 1908
Brett, Mr. Edwin	Feb. 22, 1908
Brittain, Mr. Arthur	Oct. 19, 1907
Brodie, late Mr. Matthew	Jan. 11, 1908
Brooking, Mr. Cecil	Nov. 2, 1907
Brooks, Mr. E. Oswald	Nov. 16, 1907
Brydon-Phillips, Mr. G.	Jan. 4, 1908
Buxton, Mr. Fred.	June 27, 1908
Camp, Late Mr. Jack	April 6, 1907
Cannon, Miss Mayme	July 13, 1907
Carnegy, Miss Mary	March 7, 1908
Carpenter, Mr. Ernest	Feb. 22, 1908
Carter, Late Mr. John	July 13, 1907
Chambers, Miss Lizzie	June 6, 1908
Cole, Mr. E. W. Maule	Feb. 1, 1908
Collins, Mr. George	March 21, 1908
Collins, Mr. Patrick Ross	March 16, 1907
Collins-Rolfe, Mr. Arthur	April 13, 1907
Connor, Mr. J. F.	Oct. 12, 1907
Cooke, Mr. Stanley	March 30, 1907
Cookson, Mr. S. A.	April 11, 1908
Cooper, Miss Florry	Aug. 10, 1907
Corri, Mr. William	July 25, 1908
Craven, Late Mrs. H. T	March 28, 1908
Crawford, Miss Alice	Nov. 9, 1907
Crewe, Mr. Bertie	March 28, 1908
Croke, Mr. Wentworth	Sept. 7, 1907
Cromwell, Mr. William	Jan. 25, 1908
Curry, Late Mr. H. J.	April 27, 1907
Darnley, Mr. Herbert	Aug. 17, 1907
Dashwood, Mr. Arthur	July 20, 1907
Davis, Miss Lallah	March 7, 1908
Day, Mr. David	Nov. 30, 1907
Dean, Mr. Walter	May 16, 1908
Denton, Mr. C. St. John	Jan. 4, 1908
Derry, Miss Joan	Feb. 8, 1908
Dexter, Miss Elizabeth	Feb. 15, 1908
Dickeson, Mr. Herbert	June 13, 1908
Donegan, Mr. James E.	July 11, 1908
Dorgere, Mlle. Arlette	May 30, 1908
Draycott, Mr. Charles	June 13, 1908
Drewry, Miss Maude Stewart	April 4, 1908
Dunville, Mr. T. E.	April 11, 1908
Dyas, Late Miss Ada	March 21, 1908
Edis, Miss Anita	May 9, 1908
Edmonds, Mr. E. Vivian	June 27, 1908
Edmonds, Late Mr. E.	May 4, 1907
Edouin, Late Mr. Willie	April 18, 1908
Edwards, Late Mr. G. H.	April 11, 1908
Empress, Miss Marie	Feb. 8, 1908
Feldman, Mr. Bert	Dec. 14, 1907
Fenton, Mr. Frank	June 6, 1908
Fitzgibbon, Mr. H. B.	July 25, 1908
Fogerty, Late Mr. Robert	July 6, 1907
Forde, Miss Florrie	March 21, 1908
Fox, jun., Mr. Charles	July 13, 1907
Francis, Late Mr. William	Jan. 25, 1908
Francis, Mr. Nelson	May 4, 1907
Frank, Miss Ada	July 25, 1908
Fuller, jun., Mr. John	July 27, 1907
Gay, Mr. Walter	July 11, 1908
Gibbons, Mr. Arthur	July 4, 1908
Gilmore, Mr. Paul	July 18, 1908
Goldston, Mr. Will	Feb. 22, 1908
Goodall, Miss Edyth	June 13, 1908
Grant, Mr. Christie	Feb. 29, 1908
Gregory, Late Mr. John	Dec. 28, 1907
Gribben, Mr. Harry A.	March 7, 1908
Grimes, Mr. W. J.	May 23, 1908
Hales, Mr. T. G.	April 6, 1907
Hall, Late Mr Owen	April 13, 1907
Hamilton, Miss Rose	April 18, 1908
Hamilton, Late Mr. Wm.	April 20, 1907
Hanbury, Late Miss Lily	March 7, 1908
Hanlon, Late Mr. Bob	July 6, 1907
Hansard, Late Mr. J. B.	Feb. 8, 1908
Hardacre, Miss Ethel	July 4, 1908
Harding, Mr. Alfred	May 2, 1908
Hare, John	Nov. 16, 1907
Harrington, Mr. J. P.	Nov. 30, 1907
Harvey, Mr. Martin	June 22, 1907
Harvey, Miss Rose	July 25, 1908
Hawthorne, Miss Lil	Feb. 15, 1908
Holding, Mr. Thomas	Jan. 18, 1908
Holland, Mr. Arthur E.	May 16, 1908
Howe, Late Mr. J. B.	March 14, 1908
Howson, Late Mr. Charles	Nov. 9, 1907
Hudspeth, Late Mrs. J. H.	March 7, 1908
Humphrey, Miss Ola	Sept. 7, 1907
Hutton, Mr. Ralph	July 25, 1908
Irving, Late Sir Henry	Oct. 21, 1906
Imeson, Miss Florence	Feb. 29, 1908
Ivatts, Mr. C.	Aug. 10, 1907
Jackson, Mr. T. Ellis	July 27, 1907
Jones, Mr. Tom	April 4, 1908
Kay, Miss Ethel	March 28, 1908
Kilburn, Mr. Harry	July 18, 1908
King, Mr. Claude	June 20, 1908
Lambert, Mr. R. Lawson	Feb. 8, 1908
Leitch, Late Mr. George	May 25, 1907
Leon, Miss Connie	April 4, 1908
Lester, Mr. Alfred	May 9, 1908
Little, Mr. Fred J.	April 18, 1908
Loftus, Miss Kitty	June 8, 1907
Lloyd, Mr. Samuel	Aug. 10, 1907
Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. E. H.	March 14, 1908
Maclachlan, Mr B. G.	Nov. 23, 1907
Macowan, Mr. and Mrs. Norman	July 18, 1908
Maule, Mr. Herbert	Dec. 7, 1907
Maundy-Gregory, Mr J.	May 23, 1908
Melford, Late Mr. Austin	Jan. 25, 1908
Mellon, Mrs. Alfred	July 18, 1908
Olive, Miss Edyth	July 4, 1908
Orford, Miss Emmeline	March 7, 1908
O'Sullivan, Late Mr. Denis	Feb. 8, 1908
Percy, Mr. Esme	July 4, 1908
Potts, Mr. W. E.	June 27, 1908
Price, Mr. Wylie	June 6, 1908
Raby, Miss Mary	May 16, 1908
Radcliffe, Miss Florence	April 4, 1908
Rees, Miss Rosemary	March 14, 1908
Reynolds, Mr. Walter	Dec. 7, 1907
Rickards, Mr. Harry	May 16, 1908
Rolyat, Mr. Dan	March 28, 1908
Roma and Romani	April 4, 1908
Ronalds, Miss Stanley	March 28, 1908
Rousby, Mr Wybert	Sept. 14, 1907
Scott, Mr. Bennett	Dec. 7, 1907
Searelle, Late Mr. Luscombe	Dec. 21, 1907
Shepherd, Mr. Leonard	July 25, 1908
Sheridan, Late Mr. J. T.	Dec. 8, 1906
Simpson, Miss Sadie	April 25, 1908
Sinden, Miss Topsy	Dec. 28, 1907
Snazelle, Mr. G. H.	July 4, 1908

Copies of the above can be obtained, price 6d. each for any issue 1908; other dates double price.
Address, The Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

THEATRICAL SHOE AND HOSIERY MANUFACTURERS.
MAKERS TO THE PRINCIPAL LONDON THEATRES.

Louis Heel Dancing Shoes a Speciality.
Sixty Art Shades of Linen Back Satin, Specially Woven for the Manufacture of Dancing Shoes, kept in Stock.
This Satin has a Fine Lustre, and is almost as Strong as Leather.

Large Stock of Pure and Spun Silk Tights, Worsted and Cotton tights, Opera Hose, Stockings, &c.
A Special Study made of Symmetrical Paddings.
The most Up-to-Date Stock of Stage Requisites and Sundries.
Everything of the Best and at Store Prices.

H. and M. RAYNE,
115, 117, and 119, WATERLOO-ROAD, LONDON, S.E.
(Opposite Electric Tram Terminus).
Tel. 7,978 Central.
And at 49, Charing Cross-rd., W.C., nr. Hippodrome.

ACTORS' DAY.

TRUSTEES:—
Sir GEORGE LEWIS, Bart., Sir SQUIRE BANCROFT, GEORGE R. SIMS.

ADVISORY BOARD, Elected 1908.
Chairman: SYDNEY VALENTINE.
Deputy-Chairman: HENRY AINLEY.

BLAKE ADAMS, GEORGE ALEXANDER, ALLAN AYNESWORTH, CECIL BARTH, A. E. BISHOP, ARTHUR BOURCHIER, Miss FANNY BROUGH, C. HAYDEN COFFIN, BURTON COOK, ALFRED DENVILLE, KENNETH DOUGLAS, Miss VANE FEATHERSTON, C. T. H. HELMSLEY, LAURENCE IRVING, WALTER MAXWELL, W. H. ROTHERAM, H. A. SAINTSBURY, E. LYALL SWETE, BRANDON THOMAS, H. BEERBOHM TREE, Miss BEATRICE WILSON.

Hon. Secretary: A. E. DRINKWATER.

The object of ACTORS' DAY is MUTUAL HELP in case of need. No one will be eligible to benefit who is not on the REGISTER as a Contributor.

By the unanimous resolution of the Advisory Board, confirmed at the last Annual General Meeting, ACTORS' DAY in 1908, and FUTURE YEARS, will be ABSOLUTELY CONFINED TO THIS OBJECT, and the FUND will be ADMINISTERED EXCLUSIVELY ON THIS CONDITION.

ACTORS' DAY is the THIRD THURSDAY IN OCTOBER in each year.

To be on the REGISTER, it is required:—
That a Manager, Actor, or Actress shall contribute not less than one night's salary.
That an Author shall contribute not less than one night's fees.

On Aug. 1, 1908, the Trustees had £876 11s. 7d. to their credit at Messrs. Coutts and Co.'s Bank.

ONLY THOSE WHO ARE ON THE REGISTER AS CONTRIBUTORS ARE ELIGIBLE TO APPLY FOR BENEFIT.

Any further information may be obtained by applying by letter to the HON. SECRETARY, at the Office of the Fund,

DUDLEY HOUSE,
37, Southampton-street, Strand, W.C.
August, 1908.

TO OUR READERS.
A SINGLE COPY OF "THE ERA."
Post-free to any Address in the United Kingdom for SIX STAMPS.
Telegraphic Address, "The Era," London.
Address, THE PUBLISHER,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C

THE ERA

SATURDAY, AUGUST 22, 1908.

ACTORS' HOLIDAYS.

Our blushing contemporary the Sporting Times recently published a "summer number." One of its most attractive items was a collection of opinions as to what is an ideal holiday; and amongst the contributors to the collection were several well-known actors. Mr. G. P. HUNTLEY said his ideal would be to be pulled through the Isle of Wight in a trailer drawn by a genial gourmand and littérateur riding an ordinary bicycle. Miss MARIE LÖHR thought lawn-tennis and reading were her favourite holiday occupations, but music was her chief delight. Mr. CHARLES HAWTREY'S desire was temporary "Nirvana"—he preferred to sleep for a month. Mr. GEORGE ALEXANDER elected for a complete rest after a long season spent in acting a fine part in a fine play, with the manuscript of another fine play in his pocket, among the mountains or by the sea, playing golf, and playing up to somebody else's form; "my own," added Mr. ALEXANDER, "is not satisfying." In Mr. LEWIS WALLER'S opinion, an ideal holiday would be to drive through Normandy and Brittany on his car with a pleasant companion, and to stop as long as he felt inclined at any place of interest en route. Miss ADA REEVE'S idea of an ideal summer holiday was, first of all, to have perfect weather, then to go to a perfectly beautiful seaside place, which is perfectly quiet, and which had perfect facilities for seabathing. These elements, coupled with the perfect absence of business worries, would, Miss REEVE considered, combine to make a perfect holiday. Miss MARIE LLOYD remarked that the kind of holiday she enjoyed best was to travel on the Continent and motor to all places of interest, leaving no address, so as not to be troubled with any business matters during that time. Mr. HARRY LAUDER'S choice was a quiet loch in September, with plenty of fish, and a good pal for companionship; a few hours on the loch in the forenoon, a rest and a "doze" in the afternoon, a motor run in the gloamin', and a wee bit crack at nicht. "An hour or two's shooting," he wrote, "is a delightful variance in such a holiday, and freedom from all restraint, correspondence, and worry makes it perfect." Miss EVIE GREENE'S ideal was to go to a little place on the Isle of Wight, and there live just a simple life. For breakfast to eat the fish she had caught herself, then play on the sands for an hour or so with her baby nephew, after that her swim, early lunch, and maybe a game of golf in the afternoon or a sail in her dinghy. When the tide is low, a scratch game of cricket on the sands. "After such a holiday," said Miss GREENE, I come back to town looking the picture of brown health." Miss NORAH KERIN chose a motor-ride round the coast of Antrim, exploring the Giant's Causeway, interviewing the Giant, and bringing back a bit of his Causeway—the Wishing Chair for choice.

The attitude of the artist towards a holiday is entirely different from that of the majority of persons. Nine people out of ten work, not because they want to, but because they are obliged to. If they were to leave off working, they would leave off earning; and that is the chief reason of their industry. It is true that, even in the world of business, there are a favoured few, the fanatics of money-making, who have the same feeling for business as the artist has for his work; but most people consider labour as a curse. This is proved by their eagerness to "retire" and cease working. It would be the greatest hardship for an artist to be compelled to leave off work at a certain age; and, as a matter of fact, they do go on painting, and writing, and acting as long, to use the colloquial phrase, "as they can blow a feather." The ordinary man works that he may make holiday; the artist rests that he may work. Nothing but illness or actual exhaustion will make an actor or actress take a real rest; by which we mean an entire abstention from all thought of their calling. To rest, it is not only requisite to sit on a beach and watch the waves; it is necessary that the mind shall not be at work on the beloved occupation. A recreation is necessary which, while exciting enough to divert the mind from its usual course, is yet not so strenuous as to exhaust and enervate. Two modern recreations—golf and motoring—come happily into this category, and are excellent holiday-making for the actor and actress. On the charms of motoring we need not expatiate. The delights of the fresh air and the rapid movement are obvious. Golf is just the recreation for an actor, because it can be played at the pitch that the player desires. He is not obliged to aspire to the mighty exploits of a VARDON, a BRAID, or a TAYLOR; he can often do as well by steady play and a strict attention to the gentle triumphs of putting and the approach. Golf is a deliberate game; it is played in the freshest air, and failures are not as painfully conspicuous as on the cricket-field. It is, above all, the game for those who want to reserve themselves—to make their "holiday" a recreation and not an exertion, and we are surprised that we have not yet heard of an actress's golf club.

We are somewhat sceptical of the possibility of long mental rest for the actor or actress. When thoroughly run down there is, for the first few days, a feeling of coma, which persuades the individual that he or she never wants to read a part or act one again. "The devil was sick, the devil a saint would be," says the proverb; "the devil was well, the devil a saint was he." With returning health come the old longings and the habitual desires. The painter, instead of sleeping on the beach, estimates "values" in the hollow of the waves; the sculptor models figures in the sand instead of helping his children to build castles; and the actor, like DEMOSTHENES, declaims his masterpiece to the roaring billows. The real artist's "rest" is a short one.

HENRY FISHER, thirty-nine, a contractor, of Thornhill-road, Leyton, was charged recently at West London with stealing and receiving during the past two months from the Franco-British Exhibition a quantity of building material and timber of the total value of £20, the property of the Franco-British Exhibition (Incorporated), and was remanded on bail. Mr. Oswald Hanson, who prosecuted, stated that Fisher appeared to be in partnership with a man named Salisbury, and traded as Salisbury and Co. They had a contract with a firm of exhibitors, called Boekbinder and Co., to clear away old sheds and firewood; but, from inquiries made by Detective-sergeant Burrell, it would seem that the accused had also taken away a quantity of the Exhibition Company's timber.

DETECTIVE-SERGEANT BURRELL stated that when he spoke to the accused about the timber he said, "It belongs to Mr. Salisbury. We are in partnership together. He finances the business. That wood was in the sheds when I pulled them down. I knew the company's marks were on some of the timber, and I was going to send them back." Mr. Ovenden, clerk of the works, who was with the witness, interposed with the remark, "Why, you put them in the auction and sold them." The accused replied, "I gave notice that they were not to be sold. Mr. Barr and Mr. Mortimer showed me the things in the sheds, and told me they were to go." After he was arrested Fisher said, "Mr. Salisbury didn't know what I was bringing away. He is not to blame."

THE Co-operative Exhibition, which opened at the Crystal Palace on Wednesday, will conclude to-day with a grand Co-operative festival. The crowds of people who visited the Palace during the week were greatly interested in the various labour co-partnership workshops and the productive department of the Co-operative Wholesale Society, which occupied the whole of the north nave. To-day it is expected that Co-operators from all parts of the country will visit the Palace, and preparations have been made for the enjoyment of a great crowd. An interesting programme has been arranged. This will include two grand concerts, one with a choir of 4,000 singers, led by Mr. Allen Gill, F.R.A.M., and Mr. Frank Idle, A.R.A.M., will be at the organ. The second concert, in which 2,000 children will take part, will be conducted by Mr. Charles J. Jeapes. For the choral competitions thirty-four choirs have entered from four classes, and the adjudicator will be Mr. W. G. McNaught. There will also be a flower show, three dramatic performances, gymnastic displays, and athletic sports. The prizes for the sports include silver cups presented by the Earl of Rosebery and Mr. Leopold de Rothschild. A magnificent display of fireworks by Messrs. C. T. Brock will be given at night.

WE regret to record the death of Mrs. Barry Sullivan, widow of the late famous actor, which took place at her residence at Hove on Sunday last. Mrs. Sullivan nursed her husband devotedly through the long illness, extending to nearly three years, which followed a paralytic stroke, and terminated fatally on May 3, 1891.

MR. ALLAN WILKIE'S next addition to his répertoire will be an elaborate production of Macbeth, complete with appropriate scenery and costumes. This interesting revival may be looked for towards the end of September.

THE CENSORSHIP AGAIN.

Mr. W. L. Courtney airs a legitimate grievance against the Censor in the columns of the Daily Telegraph. He writes:—"Some time ago I wrote a letter in these columns on the defects (as they appeared to me) of the Dramatic Censorship. It was my object then to point out the mistakes, misunderstandings, and acts of positive injustice necessarily involved in the action of a Licenser of Plays, more or less irresponsible, and partaking of all the ordinary shortcomings of an individual human being. I am sorry to have to return to the subject again, partly because I have absolutely no personal quarrel with Mr. Redford, and partly because on this occasion I have to ventilate (selfishly enough) a grievance not of the public, but of my own.

"Under such circumstances, a mere recital of facts will be sufficient. A year ago I was asked by Mr. Martin Harvey to prepare for him an English version of Sophocles's great tragedy on Œdipus. When the scheme was tolerably complete I sent a full account of my proposed play to the Censor, pointing out that Jocasta—a figure which might conceivably give offence—was rigorously kept in the background and reduced to practical nullity; while other changes were made in order, as far as possible, to bring the ancient tragedy into relation with modern thought. Mr. Redford, whose courtesy to me in the matter I am glad to acknowledge, explained to me that the authorities refused to entertain the idea, and were unable to sanction the play.

"Now, sir, how does the case stand? Let me set it forth in tabular form:

"(1) Sophocles's Œdipus is one of the master tragedies of the world. Aristotle's opinion on the subject has been confirmed by all critics worth speaking about in all ages.

"(2) The play is read by every schoolboy who is on the classical side. It is also read, I understand, by all girls who work at Greek. The story, therefore, is absolutely familiar to the most tender intelligence, and no amount of censorial prohibition will prevent our young barbarians of both sexes from becoming acquainted with it.

"(3) A version of it was produced by Betterton. This version, produced in Restoration times, is not likely to have been particularly mealy-mouthed, I imagine. Probably it could be revived without the necessity of official sanction. But a modern version, produced for a twentieth-century audience, is prohibited.

"(4) Œdipe Roi has, of course, been played in France, and M. Mounet-Sully gave a magnificent performance in the part of the hero.

"I should like to add that, not being a Palais Royal farce or a musical comedy, the plot of the Œdipus is absolutely devoid of any sensual appeal. The play itself happens to be a tragic masterpiece—that is all. If only I could think that the refusal of the authorities was due to their fear that a splendid work of art might be injured by being tinkered by a modern hand I should have nothing to say. But since their prohibition seems to be based on other grounds, I confess that I am discontented with their verdict. And in this feeling, I understand, Mr. Martin Harvey also shares."

The version of Sophocles's tragedy referred to by Mr. Courtney was by John Dryden and Nathaniel Lee, and was produced by Betterton at the Dorset Garden Theatre in 1679. Dryden is said to have formed the general scheme and to have written the first and third acts. The remainder was Lee's, whose lines are full of rant and fustian. Dryden, too, was at his worst in the piece, which was exceedingly bad and disfigured in the fifth act by an objectionable scene between Œdipus and Jocasta. The former throws himself from a window, and the latter kills herself and her children. In Sophocles, as soon as Jocasta finds out that Œdipus is her son she puts an end to her life. Betterton played Œdipus, and Mrs. Betterton was the Jocasta. Downes says the play was admirably well acted, "especially by the Bettertons." It took prodigiously, being acted ten days together, according to Genest. The version was certainly not "mealy-mouthed," for Dryden's coarseness was not checked by the grandeur of the original.

It will be remembered that the Lord Chamberlain refused to license Shelley's play of The Cenci, and it was produced at a private performance organised by the Shelley Society at the Grand Theatre, Islington, on May 7, 1886, with Miss Alma Murray as Beatrice and Mr. Herman Vezin as the Count Francesco Cenci.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—The correspondence in the Daily Telegraph headed "Dramatic Censorship Once More" provides interesting reading, but it certainly seems rather peculiar that some of the writers think it politic to attack musical comedies. One writer, in referring to dramatic censorship, goes so far as to say:

"It protects public morality by permitting the vicious rubbish, full of pornographic suggestion, that stimulates the senses at musical theatres."

Why should musical plays and light comedy opera be the target for people who do not happen to favour the fare? There can be not the slightest doubt that light musical plays are, and always will be, the favourite type of public entertainments. To say they are demoralising is utterly ridiculous; they are far less so than many of the so-called "high-class plays" which deal with many vexed sex problems.

I happen to be associated at the moment with one of the most charming musical entertainments of recent years, videlicet, Butterflies, at the Apollo Theatre. Recently a little classical dance which was introduced into the third act met with abuse from one conspicuous quarter, so that the management felt compelled to invite the whole of the Press to witness the dance as a sort of jury, and pronounce judgment, which judgment was decidedly in favour of the perfect good taste of the dance, and also of the entire play.

It is not a fact that musical plays essentially appeal to the basest instincts. A first-class work must necessarily commandeer some of the finest intellects in the course of its manufacture, and where a single individual can, and more often than not does, write and produce an ordinary play, it is a rarity for one person only to be responsible for more than one department of a musical play.

Anything that introduces the glorious art of music in its true form immediately serves a fine purpose, inasmuch as its beautiful influence considerably mitigates the monotonies of every-day existence.—Yours faithfully,

W. SCOTT PHIPP, Acting-Manager.

Apollo Theatre, W., Aug. 18.

Mr. Charles D. Leslie writes:—"The decision of the Lord Chamberlain is perfectly sound, and makes for the good of the stage. Suppose Mr. Courtney's adaptation of Œdipus were licensed and produced. This would admit the principle that incest may be treated on the stage, and sooner or later some third-rate scribbler, thirsting for a little cheap notoriety, would write a bestial drama, utterly devoid of literature, on the theme, and get some second-rate actor to produce it. The idea is unthinkable."

UNDER a receiving order made against Norman John Norman, theatrical manager and tourist agent, described as of Ridgmount-gardens, Gower-street, W.C., the first meeting of creditors was held in the Court of Bankruptcy on the 14th inst. before Mr. W. G. Williams, Official Receiver. The draft accounts showed liabilities £5,487, of which £4,182 is unsecured, and assets £3,601, the failure being attributed to want of capital and slackness of business. The case was left with the Official Receiver, as trustee.

MIDDLESBROUGH HIPPODROME OPENED.

Situated in Wilson-street, near the County Court buildings, the new Middlesbrough Hippodrome is of imposing appearance, and will doubtless be a substantial addition to the list of handsome edifices possessed by the town. Externally it is a building of brick, faced with buff terra-cotta, handsomely carved. The entrance is sheltered by a porch of glass. One great advantage possessed by the hall lies in the fact that waiting-rooms have been provided for gathering audiences for every part of the house. The benefit of this in wet weather is apparent, and at all times the rooms will tend to free the footpaths from obstruction. The seating accommodation in the hall is for, roughly speaking, 2,800, made up of 500 seats in the grand circle, 1,000 in the gallery, 900 in the pit, and about 350 in the stalls. The orchestra provides seats for 18 performers, who, by the way, are under Mr. Henry Hinchcliffe, L.R.A.M. One of the main impressions gathered by the visitor is the great width of the interior—an advantage because the audience are brought correspondingly nearer the stage. The performance can be witnessed in comfort from all over the house, as the building is constructed on the cantilever principle, there being no columns to block the view. The seats are comfortable and richly upholstered. The stage is large and roomy, the opening being 40ft. in width. The whole hall has a light and cheerful appearance, and general admiration is expressed at the effective plastic decorations which have been done in the style of Louis XV., in gold, white, and cream, relieved with grey and blue. The handsome dome is painted with a design of flowers, and the proscenium ceiling is richly ornamented. Mr. G. F. Ward, of Birmingham, is the architect, and the contractors are Messrs. J. Parkinson and Sons, Ltd., of London, Newcastle, and Blackpool. The decorations and upholstering have been carried out by Messrs. A. R. Dean and Sons, and the effective system of electric lighting by Messrs. Rook and Co., of Workington and Newcastle.

Amid the applause of a crowded audience the new house was formally opened to the public on Monday evening by the Mayor of Middlesbrough (Lieut.-Col. T. Gibson Poole). At seven o'clock the curtain rose, amid the plaudits of the audience, and revealed on the stage Mr. John Price, the chairman of the Hippodrome, Ltd., the Mayor and Mayoress of Middlesbrough (Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. T. Gibson Poole), Signor Pepi, the managing director, Mr. David G. Bliss, and Mr Wm. Sley, Manchester, directors of the company, and Mr. J. M. McIntosh, the secretary. Headed by the orchestra, the company stood and joined in the National Anthem, following which Mr. Price called upon the Mayor to declare the new hall open.

The Mayor expressed pleasure at being present, and said he had to admit he was greatly surprised, on viewing the building from that position, at its very handsome appearance. It had been criticised by many people in the town, but he was sure when they visited it they would change their minds regarding it. He might say that the hall had been built on the most up-to-date lines, and was a very fine one to have in the centre of the town. He thought the promoters deserved great credit for erecting it there. Middlesbrough was a growing town, and if it made the same strides during the next ten years as it had in the past he believed the new building would be successful financially, without affecting any of the other places of entertainment to which they had become used.

Signor Pepi, in a brief speech, recalled the time when he had the pleasure to appear before Middlesbrough audiences as a quick-change artiste, and the great reception they gave him. His last appearance, he said, on any stage, was at the Middlesbrough Empire. He would make them a promise. They would bring the best talent to Middlesbrough they could find in the market, and if they patronised them they should never regret it. Mr. Price then presented the Mayoress with a beautiful silver rose bowl, as a memento of the occasion.

The first "turn" given in the new hall was that of the "Three Dreadnoughts," who won enthusiastic applause by their smart exhibition of shooting. At the top of the bill was Arthur Prince, whose prowess as a ventriloquist quite took the audience by storm. Jock Whiteford gave an inimitable sketch of the antics of a football match enthusiast; and Florrie Forde had the whole house singing her chorus songs. The Carmos gave some clever juggling; and items were also contributed by Athas and Collins; "Cynthia"; and the Tally-ho Trio. The resident manager is Mr. A. E. Nicholls, who has been very successful in a similar capacity at Carlisle.

THE FRANCO-BRITISH EXHIBITION.

A most agreeable afternoon was spent by the members of the Press at the White City recently, in response to the invitation of Mr. George Curnock, the Press representative. The programme entitled the visitors to "three thrills and a mystery," to say nothing of a delightful tea at Paillards, a dainty box of rose-leaf tipped cigarettes and a little packet of Nestlé's milk chocolate for the ladies. A start was made with a ride on the Scenic Railway, which proved a thrill of the most exciting kind. One has only to mention the fact that the "Scenic" has carried as many as 30,000 people in one day to show how popular this kind of amusement is. The remarkable thing about the "Scenic" is its length. It is not merely two falls and the finish; one travels round and round, up and down for quite a long time, finally rushing through a tunnel into a most artistically constructed cave, at the end of which one arrives at the starting-point. Afterwards the party made their way through the huge crowd to the Johnstown Flood. A drama pathetic and very human is the Johnstown Flood, for which Mr. Menchen is responsible. It describes two days in the life of Johnstown, during which the great flood took place. Delightful effects of dawn, sunset, and moonrise are obtained, then suddenly a terrible storm comes on. A cry is heard: "The dam has burst!" The water rushes on with irresistible force, carrying half the town with it, until it is checked to a certain extent by the railway. Then it suddenly becomes brighter, the day breaks and a rainbow appears.

A move was then made towards Paillards, where an enjoyable tea was partaken of and a little speech-making was made on behalf of the Press. Pharaoh's Daughter, the mystery, was the next show. Here the curtain rises on a vision of the Nile and its palm trees; in the centre stands an ancient tomb with its mummy-case, and below falls the waters of the Nile. Six beautiful maidens come to draw water, singing and moving in rhythmic dance. Meanwhile the mother of Moses silently appears and places her infant in a basket on the water. As the basket floats down the stream the features of the mummy slowly become animated, the daughter of Pharaoh descends from the tomb singing of her release, and then rescuing the babe from its perilous position she indicates to the black-robed mother that she is the right person. Again singing she returns to her tomb, where her features gradually resume their death-like pallor, and she has again become a mummy. The artistic and the mysterious are excellently blended in this illusion, which was enthusiastically received. A pleasant afternoon, greatly appreciated by all, was thus brought to a conclusion.

"THE ERA" can be obtained at the principal bookstalls throughout the provinces.

NEW CUSTOMS REGULATIONS IN AMERICA.

A timely word of warning to artists about to fulfil engagements in the United States is offered by Mr. Paul Murray, the manager of the London branch of the William Morris Vaudeville Circuit, recently established in the Strand. Mr. Murray points out that the new Customs House regulations do not allow the performer's baggage to be examined on the pier, but cause it to be forwarded to the public stores for appraisal. It is a very long-winded method of passing the Customs, and practically means that four or five days will elapse before a performer can secure his material. He is allowed to bring ashore at New York an ordinary hand-bag after it has been examined in the usual way, but anybody with costumes, make-ups, &c., has to have them forwarded to the Public Stores, there to await appraisal by the Customs officers. One cannot be expected to conduct a tour of the States on a hand-bag, and the artist is therefore constrained to wait. It is thus rendered necessary that the performer should arrive in New York at least a week before the opening date if he is booked east of Chicago, and at least ten days before if he is going west of Chicago—to 'Frisco, for instance, to reach which four or five days are occupied in travelling. It is of course hopeless to expect that special exceptions may be made in the case of theatrical or music-hall performers, to whom the axiom "time is money" applies in an unusual degree. The officials of the States are very thorough, and the unsuspecting artist, thinking he is going to get off with his baggage after a few hours' delay as hitherto, finds himself rendered inactive for a period of several days while the authorities are making an exhaustive examination of his goods and chattels.

Grave hindrances and much vexatious waste of valuable time are involved in the operation of the new law, and a wholesale rearrangement of dates will be the consequence. Indeed, one well-known English artist, on reaching New York and learning of the enactment, saw the futility of trying to discharge his engagements, and returned to this country immediately. The law has been in operation two or three weeks, and Mr. Murray was obliged to advise his clients going out to America, thereby causing any number of cancellation of passages. The regulations apply of course to all passengers to America, and are not confined to New York, but are in force at every port. Mr. Murray thinks there must have been a great many breaches of the Customs regulations discovered by the officials to render the new conditions imperative. One cannot but fear that the innovation will act as a check upon the artist visiting America. To be forewarned, however, is to be forearmed, and Mr. Murray is to be thanked for thus directing attention in good time to the new imposition.

Mr. Murray, as we have said, is the manager for the well-known William Morris vaudeville Circuit in America, which has also an establishment in Chicago. The London branch was inaugurated last May, and occupies an elaborate suite of rooms on the first floor at 418, Strand. "Everything," says Mr. Murray, interrogated on the subject, "points to a prosperous vaudeville season in the States. One great point about the American public is that they will go where the shows are, and that is pretty well an answer to everything in this business. The Morris Circuit represents the opposition in America as against the Keith and United Offices. We are a new kind of opposition, because up to now opposition in America has always been conducted, as it were, with a brass band and much noise. The Morris Circuit will do its business in its own method and in a manner that ensures stability. In previous years there has been much high flying and consequent failure, but ours is really going to be an enthusiastic, well-conducted campaign.

"We receive," he continued, "a lot of communications from English artists asking for information with regard to the bona-fides of vaudeville firms offering contracts in America. In very many cases we have been able to put the applicants on their guard against accepting contracts with unsubstantial firms. The lower class of burlesque shows in America issue contracts so worded that artists on arrival have either to accept a cutting salary or relinquish the engagement."

Messrs. Morris do an extensive business with acts of foreign nationality. "There is always," says Mr. Murray, "an insatiable demand for comedy dumb acts on the Continent and especially in Germany. The Germans, as you will agree, have little humour in their composition, and a comic act in which dialogue is not necessary, whether it be from England or America, is bound to go." Mr. Murray, it may be added, is an Irishman, and has been chiefly located in London, but, as his accent betrays, he has mixed freely with Americans. For six years he was with Mr. Stoll at Cardiff before that gentleman came to London. Mr. Murray began in a humble capacity, but finished in a very trustworthy position. He bears witness to a very pleasant time in Mr. Stoll's employ, but opportunities came his way, and he seized upon them. Although established in the Strand, he makes frequent excursions across the Atlantic, as he considers it essential that an agent in England negotiating for turns to tour America should maintain a close association with the trend of the vaudeville industry in that country. His next journey to the States will be made in October, when he goes out with Mr. Harry Lauder and Mr. George Foster, who acts as the popular Scotch comedian's representative. Mr. Lauder is engaged for the opening by the Morris Circuit of the Lincoln-square Theatre in the course of that month.

AN interesting article which has just appeared in a German musical and theatrical paper contains the following statements: Beethoven never bargained in the ordinary way; his fees for a composition were demanded briefly and in decided manner, and he always pointed out when mentioning a price that he meant guineas and not sovereigns, or, rather, their equivalent in Austrian coin. In 1801 he wrote to a music firm at Leipzig: "Now the unpalatable business part is done with. I wish things could be managed differently in this world. There should be only one music publisher to whom the artist might take his work, knowing that he might ask a fee according to his requirements. As it is, he has to be partly a tradesman. Good heavens! how difficult and unpalatable this is!" But this pious wish was never fulfilled, and Beethoven had to remain "half a tradesman" to the end.

As a suggestion of how dedications are occasionally made, the following letter, which Beethoven wrote to a Leipzig publisher in 1802 from Vienna, is interesting: "The lady in question can have a Sonata, and I will do my best to carry out her æsthetic ideas. The price is five guineas (ducaten), and for this she may retain the Sonata for a year as her private property, but not for publication. At the end of the year the Sonata becomes my property—that is to say, I have the right to publish it, and if she thinks it an honour she may ask to have the work dedicated to her." A tempting offer, indeed! At least, so the art patroness of to-day would think if she had a chance of suggesting to a Beethoven the "æsthetic idea" for a sonata; to retain such a treasure in her own hands for a twelvemonth, and thereafter have it dedicated to her—and all for five guineas!

MRS. BANDMANN-PALMER, who since her return from Italy has been resting at her Kew cottage, will resume her tour for the autumn at the Theatre Royal, Bradford, on Monday.

VARIETY GOSSIP.

Mr. Oswald Stoll has arranged to give a matinée at the Manchester Hippodrome on Thursday, Sept. 3, for the benefit of the widows and children of the men who lost their lives in the coalmine disaster at Wigan on Tuesday. The performance will be favoured by the patronage of the Lord Mayors of Manchester and Liverpool, and the Mayors of Wigan, Bolton, and Oldham.

Miss Marie Loftus has received letters from Miss Connie Ediss and Miss Lucy Weston asking for permission to use her songs and sketches. But it is just on the cards that the "Glesca Lassie" may be going to America herself. She has received a very tempting offer this week.

Mlle. Adeline Genée, the famous dancer, is engaged to a gentleman holding a high position whom she met during her recent tour in America. Mlle. Genée, who is now appearing in the ballet Coppélia at the Empire Theatre, was staying last week end at the Duchess of Newcastle's residence, Clumber Park, Worksop, Notts, and on being asked to give the name of the gentleman, said she would rather not do so, and did not want to say anything more about the subject at present. It is understood that the marriage will not take place for some considerable time..

Mrs. Egerton, who presides over the fortunes of the chief professional house in Liverpool, is to be honoured by the presentation of an illuminated address. The attitude of the profession towards "Ma" Egerton is one of affectionate solicitude, and it is hoped that there will be a large crowd at the Liverpool offices of the Variety Artists' Federation on Friday next, when the presentation will be made by Mr. Fred Herbert, the popular topical vocalist. The variety artist on tour cannot find a more gracious and kindly personality than Mrs. Egerton, and in honouring her he is honouring one of the staunchest friends of the music-hall profession.

In the course of a few days it is proposed to add a winter garden for the convenience of the Canterbury patrons. The programme on Monday next is particularly brilliant, and contains the following notabilities: Paul Cinquevalli, the famous juggler; George Leyton, in his military scena, Lucknow, assisted by twenty Crimean and Indian Mutiny veterans, and Joe Elvin, in his funny sketch, Deaf.

Mr. George Robey, while motoring along Blackpool Promenade on Saturday afternoon, accidentally knocked down a little girl named Eliza Gomersall, aged nine, of Simpson-street, South Shore. She suddenly ran into the carriage drive, and the right front wheel of the car passed over her, injuring her right foot and elbow. Mr. Robey took the child home, where a doctor attended her. Mr. Robey again visited the house on Sunday, and found the girl progressing nicely.

The newest sensation invented by Mr. Frank Parker at the Hippodrome is due on the 31st inst. It is a gigantic wave which engulfs the villain, and the "effect" will be secured by specially ingenious machinery. The title is The Sands of Dee, founded on Charles Kingsley's poem by those experienced authors Alicia Ramsey and Rudolph de Cordova. Carl Keifert is responsible for the incidental music, and the celebrated scenic artist, Joseph Harker, will probably present his best work in an up-to-date seaside scene.

An important engagement for The Sands of Dee is that fine actor, Mr. J. H. Barnes, who, it is interesting to recall, first appeared at the old Lyceum as Irving's double in The Bells, and later, at the same house, supported Mary Anderson as Ingomar, some years after successful engagements at the old Strand in Old Soldiers. He is as well-known, too, in America as in London. Mr. Barnes is a great favourite at Drury Lane, and is an original member of the Green Room Club.

The cast for the production The Sands o' Dee is as follows:—Rube Stephens, J. H. Barnes; John Hooper, Norman Trevor; Bill Stephens, John Brabourne; Polly Stephens, Rosie Lee; Basil Dean, Lawson Butt; Mary Stephens, Ruth Maitland.

The spectacle opens with a representation of the sands of Dee, the sea, with its "cruel, hungry foam" being seen in the distance. Basil Dean, the village villain, as he cannot honestly win the love of Mary Stephens, determines to sell up the home of her old fisherman father, whose bond he holds for £100. The old man's grandson, on his arrival from America, offers to settle the financial difficulties of his family.

The evil-minded Basil persuades Mary to come on the sands of Dee in the hope of meeting John Hooper, her lover. When she arrives, he seizes her and binds her to the warning post, knowing that the treacherous tide will turn in ten minutes and sweep everything to destruction. But a tiny child gives warning of Mary's awful fate. She is not to find her grave beside the sea. Just in time, John gallops into the rapidly-rising waters and rescues her in sight of Basil, who in his madness falls over the edge of the cliff, and is lost in the trough of the sea.

Miss Loie Fuller, the inventor of the famous fire and serpentine dances, brings to the London Hippodrome on Monday nine dancers she has had in training for six years past at her dancing academy in Paris. These young ladies will be seen in a "Ballet of Light," which will be presented in scenic surroundings for which the Hippodrome has long been famous. It is just fifteen years ago since La Loie Fuller electrified the world at the Gaiety and the Shaftesbury. Her percentage of the takings in those days was seldom less than £1,000 a week. Undoubtedly no dancer of modern times has had such a tremendous artistic influence, for a perfect Loie Fuller craze spread over the country.

Miss Loie Fuller, who ran her own theatre within the Paris Exhibition grounds in 1900, will shortly take over the late Clement Scott's house in Woburn-square, and convert it into an academy for the acquirement of the best styles of dancing.

Mr. Cayley Calvert, the well-known lyric and sketch writer, has this week disposed of two songs (with music by Mr. Denham Harrison) to Mr. Leo Dryden, and a third to Mr. Edwin Boyde.

Mr. F. W. Purcell's company in That Brute Simmons, the successful comedietta by Arthur Morrison and Herbert C. Sargent, adapted for the halls from Mr. Morrison's "Tales of Mean Streets," commences a second tour of the Moss and Stoll Variety Theatres of thirty weeks' duration on Aug. 31. Mr. Purcell has engaged for this tour Mr. Julian Cross as Thomas Simmons, Mr. George Delaforce as Bob Ford, and Miss Oliph Webb as Mrs. Simmons.

Mr. Robert Forsyth, who has so successfully managed the Victoria Pier Hippodrome, Folkestone, for the past two seasons, is disengaged after Sept. 19. This gentleman has been congratulated on all sides on the success of his beauty shows, which he succeeded in getting boomed not only by the leading London and provincial dailies, weeklies, and illustrated papers, but also by the leading French journals. Mr. Forsyth is a first-class musical director, and can manage the house in all departments.

Mr. Charles Owen has relinquished the management of the Birmingham Gaiety, and leaves to-night (Saturday). Next week Mr. Owen will be taking a holiday on the Norfolk Broads.

Mr. Owen, whose resignation has been accepted with undoubted regret, was on Thursday presented with a pair of solid silver candlesticks and a silver salver. The presentation was made by Mr. Richard Swan, who was supported by Mr. Lester Collingwood and a host of friends, well-wishers of Mr. Owen. The staff and orchestra are also to the fore with a useful suit case, which is to be presented to Mr. Owen to-night (Saturday).

The Leicester Palace Theatre staff had another of their enjoyable annual outings on Sunday last. The happy party, to the number of ninety, left Leicester by the Great Central at 7.30, arriving at Cleethorpes at 11.30. At the Dolphin Hotel, the headquarters for the day, a four-course dinner and a three-course tea were admirably served, and done full justice to by the largest party that has ever left a Leicester place of amusement.

Mr. C. Finch-Hatton presided at the dinner, and referred to the hard work and the co-operation of the staff, the success of the Leicester Palace, and the promotion of Mr. Bertram G. Iles and Mr. Bertie Ralland to responsible positions in London. The party afterwards visited various places of interest, and were amused heartily on the return journey by the phrenology "act" of Mr. Finch-Hatton in the saloon. Leicester was safely reached at 11.30.

Mr. E. H. Bostock begs to return his sincere thanks to all those proprietors, managers, and artists who have sent him congratulatory letters and telegrams on his election as councillor for the Cowcaddens Ward in the Glasgow Town Council. He regrets that owing to the number of congratulations received it is impossible to reply personally to each, and he trusts they will kindly accept this public acknowledgment of his gratitude for their very good wishes.

The Glasgow Bailie, writing of Mr. E. H. Bostock, says:—"One of the men whom all Glasgow folk know, whose name is a familiar word in their mouths, is Mr. Bostock, of the Zoo-Hippodrome. The Bostock family have long had a leading place in the ranks of wild-beast tamers, of those who apply themselves to the work of forming zoological collections or establishing menageries. They are descended from the George Wombwell whose travelling menagerie was so popular, half a century ago, over the length and breadth of the land.

"Something like a dozen years back, or thereby, Mr. E. H. Bostock, who had already formed an intimate acquaintance with Glasgow, made up his mind to settle down in our midst. He leased the building known as Olympia, at the east end of the New City-road, converting it into a zoological museum, wherein he placed his extensive collection of beasts, birds, and reptiles, the largest private collection of its kind in the United Kingdom. The 'Zoo,' to give it the name by which everybody knew it, and everybody knows it to-day, was opened in 1897, and became, from the date of its opening, a place of general resort. Later on he added a variety theatre to his zoological establishment, and the theatre—its recognised title is 'The Hippodrome' is as popular as 'The Zoo.'"

The staff of the Pavilion Theatre, Newcastle, held their annual outing on Sunday. The party, numbering about ninety, left the Central Station in special saloons for Warkworth, arriving about 11.30. Brakes were waiting to convey the party to the Hermitage Hotel, where dinner was served. The party then proceeded to the golf links, where various sports were indulged in, after which a return was made to the Hermitage Hotel for tea. The Castle grounds and ruins of the Hermitage were visited, and there was boating on the river or a dip in the sea. The sports prizes were distributed by Mrs. F. C. Sutcliffe, to whom a hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Boardman. After a most enjoyable day the return journey was made, Newcastle being reached about nine o'clock.

Mr. H. Lyell-Taylor, who was appointed musical director of the Buxton Gardens Orchestra at the beginning of this year, has been so eminently successful in bringing the famous orchestra up to a state of almost perfection, that, at the meeting of the directors of the Buxton Gardens Company, Limited, held on Monday last, Mr. Lyell-Taylor was offered an engagement for three years, which he accepted. There is much enthusiasm over the band and music this season.

Mr. Herbert Taylor, who for the past five years has been the manager of the Palace Theatre, Derby, is to be the manager of the New Hippodrove at Devonport. Mr. Taylor is well known in "The Three Towns," having been the assistant manager at the Theatre Royal, Plymouth, prior to his proceeding to Derby.

The Cardiff Empire staff and a number of friends had a merry outing on Sunday. The gathering was the biggest of the kind ever held. The place selected for the outing was the Leys, and the drive to and from along the beautiful road was keenly enjoyed. Dinner and tea were supplied at the Ocean House Hotel.

Mr. C. H. S. Dring, manager of the Cardiff Empire, presided, and among the visitors were his wife (Mme. Ina Hill), Mr. Albert E. Mitchell, district manager, Mr. and Mrs. Bijou (Bella and Bijou), Mr. Wallis (Tennyson and Wallis), Mr. Wallace Sydney (Swansea), Mr. and Mrs. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Dai Davies, Mr. Frank Chamberlain, &c.

After dinner Mr. Dring proposed the health of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Stoll and Mrs. Adelaide Stoll. The toast was received with enthusiasm; and it was resolved to send a message to Mr. and Mrs. Stoll wishing them happiness, health, and prosperity. There were sports, the prizes including a gold medal given by Mr. Peter Bijou, and a lady's companion from Mrs. Bijou, and a silver matchbox, the gift of Mr. Syd May.

Mr. Oswald Stoll has kindly transferred Mr. W. S. Buccleuch (owing to ill-health) from the Empire, Glasgow, to the Palace, Leicester. Mr. George Manners, the acting-manager, on behalf of the staff presented Mr. Buccleuch before leaving with a double-snake gold ring, and Mrs. Buccleuch with a gold bracelet from friends and patrons of the Glasgow Empire.

The Harrogate Kursaal was the scene of an unusual incident on Tuesday, the place of Mr. Julian Clifford, the conductor of the Harrogate Municipal Orchestra, being taken by Mrs. Margaret Meredith, the daughter-in-law of Mr. George Meredith. The programme for the day included two new works by Mrs. Meredith—"Sursum Corda," for orchestra and choir, and "Requiem on the Death of Queen Victoria," the words being by Mr. Owen Seaman, editor of Punch.

On the morning of the performance Mr. Clifford informed Mrs. Meredith that he was too ill to conduct. Mrs. Meredith promptly took charge of the arrangements, conducted the final rehearsal on Tuesday morning, and in the afternoon and evening took Mr. Clifford's place at the conductor's desk.

Miss Florrie Gallimore resumes business on Monday next at the Hippodrome, Hull, having quite recovered from her operations.

Mr. Tom Pacey is staying at Wimereux, near Boulogne-sur-Mer, and writes: "This is a splendid place to come to for a holiday."

Miss Gipsy Woolf and her Merry Maids are displaying their gaiety and fascinations at the Coliseum, the charm of the turn being much enhanced by the dresses of Miss Lily Woolf.

Miss Claire Romaine, after last season's success in America, has been re-engaged by Mr. Percy Williams to star at his numerous theatres. She sails for New York per s.s. Baltic on Sept. 17.

Mr. Harry Tate's No. 1 company, booked for a twelve months' tour of the United States in Motoring, sailed from Liverpool on Wednesday per R.M.S. Carmania. Mr. "Bob" Tate, who goes in charge, has with him Messrs. Hy. Stephens, A. Rockhill, John Tweedley, and Hy. Wright.

Meier and Mora sailed on the s.s. Bremen from New York on July 23 to fulfil an eight months' tour on the Continent, commencing at the Central Theatre, Magdeburg, on Saturday last. After leaving England on April 2, they visited New York, Chicago, Seattle, Vancouver, Victoria, Tacoma, Portland, 'Frisco, Denver, and St. Louis. On arriving at Magdeburg they completed a journey of 14,000 miles.

Mr. John F. Preston will produce on Sept. 14, at the Hippodrome, Rotherhithe, an entirely new and original production, entitled A Ride to Win, which will be one of the most original and elaborate sketches that has been attempted on the variety stage. Among the three beautiful thoroughbreds introduced in the production will be a former runner for the Grand National.

Mr. Oswald Stoll has decided to "present" Wagner at the Coliseum in a very artistic setting. The arrangements are in the hands of Mr. Charles Wilson, a former producer of ballets at the Alhambra who has long been associated with grand opera. The scheme is to realise something of the romance of the great German's legends in the form of exquisite tableaux set in gigantic picture frames.

There will be four tableaux for Lohengrin, and five for Tannhäuser, and a short text will be thrown upon a curtain between each. The scenery is specially painted by Mr. Phillip Howden and Mr. William Telbin, and Alias will be responsible for the costumes.

At the termination of Mr. George Leyton's engagement at the Oxford, in The Last Muster, the popular actor-vocalist presented Mr. Orlando Powell with a handsome gold watch for his services rendered, both in the production, and afterwards as conductor, of the orchestra, during the run of this successful song-scena.

Miss Dolly Harmer has undergone a successful throat operation, which will mean absolute rest for about six weeks. She hopes to be in better form than ever when she returns to business.

Miss Sylvia Cavalho, whose sketch Kitty has been having a prosperous run on the halls, has secured the rights (through Mr. Hugh J. Didcott) of an entirely new and original sketch by Mr. Cayley Calvert, which she intends shortly to produce in the West End. The production will be considerably more elaborate than those with which Miss Cavalho has been hitherto identified in variety theatres.

That twentieth-century gallant, Joe Elvin, in an "open letter" addresses the ladies who assisted at the Benevolent Fund Sports as our "Brigade of Beauty." To each and all who in any way assisted towards the success of that event he and Mr. Albert Le Fre desire to publicly express their most cordial and sincere thanks for all the hard work and ungrudging energy with which that work was fulfilled. It was the first function of the kind held under the auspices of the Variety Artists' Benevolent Fund, and had it not been for generous and kindly aid the successful result achieved could not have been obtained. Messrs. Elvin and De Fre add: "It is impossible to write to you all personally, therefore we trust you will accept, on behalf of the Sports Committee, this open letter as an individual note of thanks, heartfelt and true."

Mr. Blyth-Pratt, the Oxford manager, has gone to the North of France for a fortnight's holiday, and Mr. Joseph Wilson, of the Tivoli, to his country cottage in the neighbourhood of Chideock, Dorset. They will be back some time next week.

Mr. Ted E. Box, who is at the Chelsea Palace and Canterbury, where is is starring in his comic whistling song, has a full book till 1911.

Mr. Harry Liston has purchased the entire rights of a three-in-hand farcical sketch by Mr. Wilson Howard, in which Mr. Liston and Miss Lord Lumley have strong parts. The sketch will shortly be produced on the halls. Mr. Liston has also acquired the rights from Messrs. Francis, Day, and Co., Witmark and Sons, and other publishers, to feature some very catchy songs.

Mr. Harry Relph, "Little Tich," complained to Mr. Justice Eve, sitting in the Vacation Court on the 14th, that the London Animated Picture Company had "billed" him in such a way as to lead the public to believe that he was appearing personally at their entertainments given at various seaside resorts. Mr. Mathew, for the company, declared that nobody had been deceived except "Little Tich" himself. The performance was not accompanied by any histrionic display. If the Bank Holiday crowds had been misled they would have pulled the places down.

Mr. Justice Eve: A holiday crowd is generally good-natured and sometimes likes to be taken in. (Laughter.) I do not like the words "at enormous expense" and the large type in which the name "Little Tich" is given. Mr. Matthew said that the company had to pay enormous fees for the films. Mr. Justice Eve: People in a profession of this sort are naturally rather sensitive as to the places they are appearing at. On Wednesday the motion came on for trial, and an adjournment was made until next Wednesday, the plaintiff declining to accept an undertaking with no order as to costs.

A new spectacular act, entitled Greater London, was produced on Monday at the Hackney Empire by Mr. Rousby. The opening scene is London in 1543, a panoramic view, which, presented in the style of an engraving, is distinctly interesting. By way of a contrast, the next scene shows London in 1908, with the multitude of houses breaking through the fog, followed by changes depicting the City in the morning, noon, and night. This is by far the best scene of the series, and is worthy of much praise. The next, described as an "Incident," depicts the curious happenings in a dream to one of the visitors to the National Gallery. The final scene depicts the White City, which changes to one showing it during the progress of the evening illuminations. The beauty of the various scenes was considerably enhanced by some novel lighting effects, and a few ladies and gentlemen fill in the picture in the guise of French tourists. The act was warmly welcomed, and on the fall of the curtain there was considerable enthusiasm

The Metropolitan, which is to reopen on Monday on the two-houses-a-night plan, has undergone a scheme of embellishment and enlargement, and is now one of the most beautiful and spacious palaces of pleasure in London or anywhere else. The public-house bar that was retained as a last relic of the old coaching house, the White Lion—on the stableyard of which the hall was originally built—is no more, the space gained by its abolition being used in an enlarged vestibule and new exits. The plans have been designed by Mr. Frank Matcham, and the new house will be reopened with a revised scale of prices.

"The Met," as it will always be familiarly known, was opened on Tuesday, Dec. 23, 1862, as Turnham's Varieties, with Mr. Charles Greville as the musical director and manager. Mr. Chas. Sinclair became sole manager in 1864, and on Easter Monday of that year, under the auspices of a company, the hall first was known as the Metropolitan, Mr. Turnham, its founder, joining Mr. Sam Adams at the Philharmonic. In May, 1864, Mr. J. J. Poole, for many years associated with the South London and the father of Mrs. Will Evans and Mrs. Edmunds (Mr. Poole was associated with Mr. Speedy at the South London in 1878), was appointed musical-director, and later in the year became manager and musical-director. Vance made his first appearance there in August, 1864, and J. H. Stead, "the cure," on April 4, 1865.

The Metropolitan, in February, 1866, passed into the hands of Mr. J. Meacock, and in November of the same year Mr. E. Winder, for many years the proprietor of the Middlesex, purchased the hall. It was under Mr. E. Winder that the late Mr. J. H. Jennings (Uncle John), then advertised as the new buffo, made his first appearance at "the Met" as a singer. This was in January, 1868, and in the following February he became chairman.

Among his contemporaries was young Harry Rickards, then a promising comic singer, who was destined, like Mr. Jennings, to make his mark as an entrepreneur and music-hall manager. Mr. Jennings became musical-director of the Oxford on Aug. 9, 1869, and managed the hall for many years; and Mr. Rickards's successful career in Australia as a pioneer of variety is too well known to need any comment.

Mr. J. J. Poole, who had severed his connection with the Metropolitan, temporarily returned there as manager in August, 1868. Mr. George Speedy became the proprietor in 1870. In 1873 the hall passed into the possession of Gooch and Son, and in 1876 we again find the name of George Speedy as proprietor. In 1879 Mr. H. G. Lake, who, like Mr. E. Winder, had been proprietor of the Middlesex, bought "the Met."

In 1892 Mr. Henri Gros acquired the property, his first manager, the late Henri Clark, being succeeded by Mr. Jack Edgar, who retained his position when the new hall was opened under the auspices of a company with Mr. Henri Gros as managing-director in 1898.

Mr. Leonard Mortimer writes: "Before the five-mile auto cycle race at the recent sports was run, I raised an objection to the hired racing machines ridden by Mr. Harry Tate and Mr. Ted Cowan, expressing the opinion that the official handicapper, Mr. F. Straight, of the Auto Cycle Union, could not have known the former gentlemen were going to ride Mr. C. R. Collier's and Mr. Harry Martin's famous racing mounts, or he would never have allowed me to be so hopelessly handicapped out of the race. Mr. Tate was riding a Standard Triumph roadster, with all pedals, mudguards, &c., on.

"I also protested to Mr. Albert Le Fre at Mr. Harry Tate being allowed to go round the track two or three times to 'warm' his borrowed mount while the competitors were kept waiting on their marks. I have appealed to the Auto Cycle Union for a scrutiny of Messrs. Tate's and Cowan's entry forms. Mr. Cowan has expressed to me his opinion that the handicap was grossly unfair and utterly absurd."

Professor Alec Payne, the skater, though bordering on the fifties, is shortly to be married to a pretty brunette not yet out of her teens. The ceremony will take place at the White City Rink, Manchester, the wedding party wearing roller skates.

In the rapid erection of rinks all over the kingdom is to be recognised the reviving craze in this country for roller-skating, which is likely to become as great a vogue as it has been in the States. There should be no lack of engagements for the gracefully elaborate skating act which Professor Alec Payne has been preparing for over a year. In this four pretty girls, specially trained by the professor, will appear.

Bosanquet was engaged for the matinée on Wednesday in the episode entitled The Human Violin; or, the Fiddler's Windfall, but, on going to rehearsal on Monday he was secured for the week in the place of Mr. Will Evans. Unfortunately, on Tuesday evening Bosanquet, on closing the piano, jammed his right hand thumb. He had it strapped up, and though suffering considerable pain, went through his performance.

The latest quotations for music-hall shares are as follow:—Alhambra, 1½; Canterbury, ¾; Empire (15s. paid) 1¼, ditto (10s. paid) 1; London Pavilion Ordinary ⅜, ditto Preference 4½; Metropolitan, 10s.; Moss Empire 5, ditto 5 per cent. Preference 3⅜; Oxford, 6 1-16; Palace, 20s. 6d.; Tivoli, 5; Variety Consolidated Theatres, ½.

Miss Millie Hylton, equipped with several new numbers, is starting out on an extensive tour this week at the Empire, Camberwell, where she receives a hearty welcome. Her comedy gifts are well employed in a song in which she represents a lady who has emerged from a humble position to move in the society of Park-lane, "where the diamond mines come from." Much comic effect is made out of the snubs administered to the lady, who gives a vivid indication of the drastic measures she would have resorted to "if she hadn't been ladylike."

A more pretentious item is that of the song dealing with courtship "Under the Golden Dome," for which a special drop-curtain is provided. The scene depicts the palatial office of a popular morning ha'penny, which is erected in the Franco-British Exhibition, the illumination with fairy lamps being ingeniously suggested. The refrain has a fascinating lilt, and as the audience is assisted by a sheet on which the words are printed the chorus is taken up all over the house. So captivating did it prove on the evening of our visit that after the charming singer had been twice recalled the sheet had to be again revealed in order that the chorus might be repeated.

Large audiences are crowding the Camberwell Empire at both houses nightly, and Mr. Jesse Sparrow is to be congratulated on the success which is attending his administration. Among this week's company is Mr. Bob Hutt, who, with his confederates, is arousing screams of merriment with his sketch, The Captain of the Boys, which we noticed on its production recently under the title of Now On. During the absence on holiday of Mr. Percy Ford, the duties of acting-manager are being courteously discharged by a son of Mr. Sparrow, who is professionally known as Mr. Gus Danter

Miss Vesta Tilley, who is this week appearing at the Albert Hall, Southport, received quite an ovation from a crowded audience on Monday, and in response to the extraordinary appreciation extended to her, said: "Allow me to thank you for this magnificent reception. You do not know what a pleasure it is to me to come back to Southport and receive such an ovation, but as I have already done one performance before this evening I trust you will excuse my doing any more. Allow me always to remain your humble servant."

Mr. A. Ernest Darewski has been suffering from very dangerous blood-poisoning in the arm, and on Saturday last had to undergo an operation at Eastbourne, where he went to spend the week-end. It was successfully performed by that skilful surgeon, Dr. Wm. Forbes Ross, of Harley-street, who was, fortunately for Mr. Darewski, staying in the town. He is making rapid strides towards recovery, and on Tuesday last was able to resume his managerial duties for the International Variety Musical and Dramatic Company, Ltd., at their offices in King-street.

Mr. Albert Leigh, the managing-director, and Mr. A. Ernest Darewski, manager, of the International Variety Musical and Dramatic Company, Ltd., of 37, King-street, have been alternately leaving town on a voyage of discovery through the provinces, and have been successful in discovering several novel acts, which they will introduce to the public early next season.

Thirty "creations" of Louise, of Paris, were consigned to Miss Millie Hylton, at the Hotel Great Central on Monday last. Miss Hylton has ordered this number of really ravishing costumes to be gowned in whilst singing her new song, "Meet me under the Golden Dome," during her forthcoming London engagements, extending over the next five months. She likewise carries her own scene, a beautiful representation of the Franco-British Exhibition by day and by night, with lovely lighting effects.

At the shop of Mr. J. Hamlyn, naturalist, St. George's-street, down by the London Docks, in a large cage, were eight vultures from Jamaica, worth about 30s. each. On Sunday afternoon an attendant left the door of the cage unfastened, and they stepped forth, soon soaring aloft to the nearest trees in Wellclose-square. Three of the birds were recaptured, but one was so injured that it had to be destroyed.

Only one of the eight vultures which escaped is now at liberty. On Thursday night the bird was reported to have been seen perched disconsolately upon a high roof near the Haymarket. Five of the eight vultures were shot, but the two which were captured alive are to become heroes. They have been purchased by Mr. Frank Bostock, and will be exhibited, in the dignity of a special cage, in the Bostock arena and jungle at Earl's Court.

Tom E. Hughes, comedian, and Coley McGowan (Grant and Grant) are the latest to swell the ranks of the Terriers' Association. Mr. Albert Voyce, in the chair, performed the initiation ceremony on Sunday last.

Mr. John Lawson is paying his first visit to Margate next week with a répertoire of his popular sketches. He will return to town Sept. 14 for his London production of Pigs in Clover. In this episode Mr. Lawson intends to introduce a big Carnival scene, employing crowds of dancers, musicians, &c.

Miss Marie Lloyd is singing three songs of Mr. J. P. Harrington's every evening at the Tivoli and the Duchess, Balham, during the present week, viz., "Don't grumble at woman"; "Do they do those things in London?" and "The Directoire Girl." By-the-by, Mr. Harrington's partner (Mr. Orlando Powell), in addition to being the composer of the popular "Directoire" number, is also responsible for the music of Miss Lloyd's fourth song, "Rum, tiddly, rum, tum, tay."

Signor and Madame Borelli, after a brilliant and successful tour in the provinces, return to town on Monday next, opening at the Oxford, Hammersmith, Collins's, London, Standard, &c.

"Paris" will be the title of the Empire's new ballet, for the scenario of which Lieut.-Colonel Newnham-Davis stands responsible, while the music will be furnished by Mr. Cuthbert Clarke. In this production that admirable dancer, Mr. Fred Farren, will appear as a guide, Mlle. Zanfretta as a model, and Miss Elise Clerc as a tourist's wife. There will be four scenes, as follows: (1) Outside the Opera House, (2) In the Champs Elysées, (3) Exterior of the Moulin Rouge, (4) The Artists' Ball at the Moulin Rouge. Such a scheme should afford Mr. Wilhelm, the Empire's own costume designer, a great field for his fine taste, and he may be trusted to make the most of his opportunities.

The Dunlops, comedy cyclists, now making a success in town, have been well booked up.

A strange sea-angling incident is recorded from Eastbourne, and one which, did it emanate from a mere freshwater rod-wielder, would be discredited at once. It is averred that a day or two since Mr. Alf. Sommerlad, the accomplished musical-director of the Devonshire Park Theatre, came across Edgar Bateman with his rods, who informed him he was going to the Hippodrome to try and borrow a professional's dress-basket, as no creel was large enough for his average "catch." "I've heard about your prowess with the rod," said the musician, "and now I'm coming on the Pier with you, to see whether it is true."

Nothing abashed, the Cockney led the way to the staging under the Pier-head, which was deserted, and, dropping down a line, soon hooked a fine specimen of the edible crab. He was about to destroy the creature, when Mr. Sommerlad begged that its life might be spared, and it was then tossed back into the water, and at that moment an accidental kick sent the tin box containing the lug and rag worms after the crab, and all the bait was gone!

There being no other persons fishing from whom worms could be begged or borrowed, the disconsolate song-writer lowered the line again into the sea, as one solitary fragment of bait was adhering to the hook, and sadly led the way to the refreshment department, where some little time was spent discussing likely songs for the coming pantomime season, and, the time approaching for Mr. Sommerlad to get to the theatre, Bateman went to fetch his rod, having decided to walk with him on the way. Judge the twain's amazement on finding the basket they had left empty on the still deserted fishing-stage filled to overflowing with fine flounders, soles, rock-whiting, and plaice!

They rubbed their eyes with astonishment at what seemed a miracle, when of a sudden the explanation was forthcoming! Painfully making its way backward up the fishing-line, which, as has been stated, had been left in the water, came the creature whose life had been spared, bearing in its nippers a fine young conger, which it carefully placed with the other fish on the basket, and then it dropped back into the water, to return no more. Apparently by instinct, knowing he had lost his bait, the grateful crab had deposited 15½lb. of live fish in the song-writer's creel as a thankoffering for its life being spared!

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

MR. JULIAN W. KANDT'S valse lente "Toujours à Toi," published by the Monte Carlo Publishing Co., has proved so successful as an instrumental piece that Mr. John P. Harrington has just written words to the tuneful melody, and the Berners-street firm are making the new song, which is entitled "Ever mine," No. 110 of their ever-increasing "Sixpenny Successes" series. Talbot and Pearce are producing the new number immediately at the Tivoli.

MISS ALICE LLOYD has just presented Messrs. John P. Harrington and Orlando Powell with a handsome cheque apiece, as a token of her appreciation of their efforts on her behalf, both past and present, and as a pleasant souvenir of the success she achieved in America with their two great songs "Looking for the lovelight" and "I want to be among the boys." She has already accepted two new songs for her forthcoming Ziegfeld production from these popular writers, viz., "Simp-simp-simple" and "There's a difference," and they are writing her several others for the same piece.

MISS CARLOTTA LEVEY, who was so eminently successful at the Empire, Liverpool, last week with Messrs. Paul Pelham and Herbert Rule's chorus song "I mean to try my luck in London," has been just as enthusiastically received during the present week at the Ardwick Empire, Manchester, in her rendering of this Monte Carlo Publishing Co.'s "winner."

MR. FRED W. WYNDHAM, that doyen of pantomime producers, during a brief visit to London this week yet found time to visit the Monte Carlo Publishing Co., whose "placers" promptly proceeded to tickle the ears of the Glasgow entrepreneur with some of the tit-bits of their catalogue. Mr. Wyndham was specially charmed with "Cuban Girl," "Directoire Girl," "Valentine," "Poverty Street," "Leaving Monte Carlo," and those two principal girl's songs "Looking for the lovelight" and "I want to be among the boys."

MISS WINIFRED HARE has just completed a long tour of the Moss-Stoll halls, and so great has been her success that she has been re-booked until 1912. Miss Hare says she is willing to pay very heavily for a good song, but experiences the greatest difficulty in securing the right goods. In fact, during the last weeks of her tour she was compelled to revive two of her old successes: "One little lonely star" and "All sorts of songs have I." The title of the last might also refer to the fact that Miss Hare gets hundreds of songs submitted to her, but the majority are the poorest stuff conceivable.

LITTLE RHODA PAUL opened at Nottingham Empire on Monday last resplendent in the uniform of a Gordon Highlander. She sang a stirring song from the prolific pens of Chas. Wilmott and Hermann Darewski apropos of the make-up entitled "It's the Gay Gordons." Song and singer secured a hearty welcome.

FEDERATIONS AND FUNDS.

THE Variety Artists' Federation will hold a general meeting on Sunday, Sept. 6, at the Bedford Head Hotel, Maiden-lane, Strand, to consider the position of the Variety Artists' Federation with respect to the rumoured managerial combine; to receive the report of the Agency sub-committee, and to decide on such steps as the circumstances render necessary; and to rescind Rule 30, which concerns loans.

THE latest concerning the German crisis is that during the earlier part of the week a more hopeful outlook prevailed in Berlin, on the announcement that the leading spirits of both the artists' and the managers' organisations were in conference with a view to an amicable arrangement. It is understood that the managers required certain hostile articles to cease, and the artists, on the other hand, required an undertaking that the managers would confer with them prior to drafting a form of contract.

THE following wire has been sent to Mr. Worswick, of Wigan, in response to a letter received by him asking permission for a matinée on Wednesday next at the Hippodrome, Wigan:—"Worswick, Wigan. The Variety Artists' Federation, deeply sympathising with the widows and orphans of the miners who perished in the Maypole Colliery Disaster, willingly grant permission for any of their members to appear at your proposed matinée for the relief of the sufferers, and they also forgo the usual percentage levied for their Benevolent Fund.—MONTE BAYLY, General Secretary, Variety Artists' Federation."

MISS MELINDA MAY, secretary of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild, 61, New Oxford-street, W.C., wishes to thank Mr. Hal Forde for gift of 10s. 6d., also a "Well-wisher" for £1 1s. (both through Mrs. Fred Ginnett), and £1 2s. 6d. from Mr. Harry Tate (through Mrs. Eugene Stratton), as well as a donation of 5s. from Mrs. Stratton, whose name, we are sorry to say, was unavoidably omitted as selling programmes at the V.A.B.F. Sports last week.

THE thanks of the Guild Committee are due to Mrs. Fred Ginnett, who by dint of hard work succeeded in gaining first prize for selling the most programmes.

THE ladies of the above Guild are having a dinner on Sunday evening, Sept. 6, at the Boulogne Restaurant, Gerrard-street. An excellent repast is promised in a private room for this occasion. Tickets, 5s. each, can be obtained from Miss Melinda May, 61, New Oxford-street. You are earnestly requested to attend and to bring as many friends as you can. Gentlemen especially invited. All are welcome to the receptions, which are held every Wednesday, three to five.

AT the first meeting on Wednesday after the summer recess of the Executive Committee of the M.H.A.R.A. Mr. Fred Herbert presided. There were also present: Lieut. Fred Albini, J. Rich, — Gallimore, Sid Bandon, Hal Forde, C. C. Bertram, Arthur Rigby (hon. treasurer), and Harry Blake. The resignation from the Committee of Carlton was accepted. Mr. E. Bamber, of the Royal Hotel, Lancaster, and Mr. Jas. Sutcliffe, of the Anchor Hotel, Brighouse, were appointed agents for their respective towns.

THE weekly statement for the week ending August 1, showing thirty-three new members and a cash total of £39 15s., and for the weeks ending August 8 and 15 thirty and thirty-three new members and totals of £25 12s. and £47 4s. 6d. respectively.

MR. PETER ADAIR, the hero of the 1,000 miles walk from Land's End to John o' Groat's, does not appreciate the comments of a halfpenny morning contemporary, who stated that he (Mr. Adair) was the funniest turn of the afternoon of the 12th inst. at the Variety Artists' Benevolent Fund Sports, and that he deserved the gold medal given to Bob Hutt as the chief fun-maker. Adair commenced walking at 11.30 and ceased at 5.5 p.m., doing 26½ miles in the time, his only refreshment being a tongue sandwich and a glass of beer. He was presented with gold and silver at the conclusion of his self-imposed task by his friends Fred Ginnett and George Gilbey.

PARIS VARIETY GOSSIP.

THE close season here is nearly at an end, and everybody is looking forward to Sept. 1. The principal event of that date will be the opening of the New Olympia, under the new direction of de Cottens and Marinelli. At least, it is the most interesting event from the standpoint of curiosity. Great alterations have been made in the seating capacity of the house. The programme is to be a strong one. It will be made up of a ballet, possibly by Mr. Tiller, a variety programme, and will finish with a revue by M. Boyer. In the latter we are to see the Vallis, Ida and Lulu, who will make their first appearance in Paris. Lulu will have several parts in the revue, and Ida will give her imitations of Mayol, Polin, Dranem, and other French stars.

IT is to be hoped that the new direction will abolish some of the old nuisances, the principal being the ouvrière, which makes theatre-going unwelcome. The doing away with this pest would be more appreciated by the public than all the coats of gold paint and new plush curtains the management may think fit to give them.

THE summer shows are dragging along, and the season has been a bad one for everybody. The Ambassadeurs have mounted a new revue, which is not a great advance on its predecessor. At the Alcazar Mayol is back again with a lot of good songs, which he sings in his own inimitable way. Tate and Tate are an excellent couple; the Dayton Family in The Rendezvous are good; and so also are the Jackleys.

PAUL RUEZ is once more united with the Parisina, and will try his fortune once more with this house. It will be remembered that M. Ruez was up till last year the director of the Folies-Bergères, Olympia, and Parisina, but he failed, and the halls in question came back into the hands of the Brothers Isola, who have again leased them, while their own particular attention is being taken up with the Gaité, where they are mounting the old-time but ever successful light operas. M. Ruez has for his star in his opening revue M. Max Dearly, so a success should be assured.

THE bright shining star of the Moulin Rouge is still Fred Wright, jun. His duet with Mlle. Mistingutte, "When you steal a kiss or two," and his funny burlesque English policeman, are the hits of the show. He gets about, too, does Fred, jun. The other day he appeared at the matinée given by M. Coquelin for the Actors' Home, and made a hit with his recitations and jokes in French. He wasn't quite sure if they were laughing at his jokes or his French. He may give himself the benefit of the doubt and put it down to the jokes. He is at present busy rehearsing for the coming Moulin show, and there are going to be some very merry moments up Montmartre way.

THE Folies-Marigny is still running its revue—sadly changed. As the season wears on the revue wears off and gives place to the big variety programme. The only redeeming features are Bert Coote's Marigny Girls and Miss Lawler in her boxing skit. The latter is missed by a lot of the audience as it is on so late. If it was on sooner it would go much better. On the variety part of the bill we have the great Tortajada in her Spanish songs and dances, and Lolla Selbini. Arrangements are being concluded by which La Tortajada will be seen in London before long in her new act, Les Débuts de Dolorès.

THE orchestra of the Moulin Rouge is coming quite into prominence since it has been taken in hand by Maître Maurice Jacobi, late of the London Coliseum. He is introducing a lot of good English and American numbers in the entr'actes, and the orchestral selection is looked forward to every evening instead of being the signal to invade the bar. For this little change from the usual French march and waltz you have our thanks, Maître Jacobi!

RICHMOND HIPPODROME.

There is evidence that the improvements inaugurated here at the beginning of the season are much appreciated, and business continues good despite counter attractions, which, at this season, are many. The current programme opens with clever little Ruby Bijou, who proves herself a dancer of exceptional ability; a series of steps daintily executed won for her a perfect torrent of applause. Hughes and Elliott bring along a Transatlantic suggestion with their peculiarly smart song and dance; for alertness and quaintness generally Hughes and Elliott may rest on their laurels. The Beauty Show was excellently done, and the sand dances resulted in a furore of applause.

Harry Grattan's company get to work in real earnest in a domestic farcical incident, entitled Man, The Brute. It is the story of a henpecked benedict and a virago wife; and loud laughter accompanies its progress. Vocal humour is supplied by Dan Whitley, who demonstrates his ability as a low comedian of much merit; his chief success was a song entitled "It's for your sake." Dan promptly won a score of admirers, and was cheered to the echo at the finish of a really admirable turn. The art of balancing is exhibited to perfection by the Stowe Brothers, who get through a number of tricks, and who trifle with 56lb. weights to the manifest delight of the audience. The show is quite wonderful in its way, and there is a refreshing absence of "side" that adds to its success.

The Primrose Quartette vocalise harmoniously; a musical joke, Fishing, proved highly diverting, while more serious fare was provided by their fine performance of the Soldiers' Chorus from Faust. Miss Nellie Wallace, who is no stranger here, possesses a fine vein of humour, and extracts endless merriment from a refrain, "I wish I was young again." The little lady achieved one of the successes of the evening. Man v. Motor gives the Davis Gledhill Trio an opportunity to prove their skill as riders of endurance; feats of this description invariably secure a big following, and so it proved at Richmond. The management came liberally to the fore in this contest, and presented medals and a silver cup; considerable interest was manifested in all the heats contested. The Bioscope completes a capital bill. The front of the house is capably controlled by Mr. H. B. Harries.

OWING to the success of Frank Hardie and company in the exciting American episode, Pedlar Sam, last week at the King's Theatre, Southsea, Mr. Barrasford has rebooked him to appear there again next week in another of his extensive répertoire.

THIS week Frank Hardie and company are topping the bill at the Standard, Pimlico, in the exciting American sketch, Pedlar Sam, and are meeting with great success.

MR. EDWARD THANE, author of many popular dramas, is producing a new dramatic sketch, entitled At England's Command, at the Queen's, Poplar, on Monday.

MR. LOUIS KERNO took his third annual benefit at the Bliss and Bliss Pierrot Pavilion, Abbey-road, Barrow-in-Furness, on Wednesday, and nearly doubled the previous year's receipts. Messrs. Barrett and Knowles came from the Tivoli, Barrow, and had a splendid reception. Mr. Kerno received many presents.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE OXFORD.

Mr. Charles Blyth Pratt will be cheered on his holiday to hear that business at the Oxford is simply phenomenal, and that summer records are being broken nightly. There is genuine entertainment every minute of the four hours devoted to the show, from the time Mr. Leon Bassett, the new conductor, lifts his bâton for the overture until the strains of the National Anthem are heard. Chorus songs form one of the features of the scheme, and in this connection Miss Victoria Monks is conspicuous with a sequel to "Moving Day," in which a slight dramatic idea is amusingly evolved. For swing of melody and interest of subject, however, there is nothing better in the way of refrain than Miss Kittee Rayburn's "Come to me in Canada." The recent visit of the Prince of Wales to the Dominion—the land of enterprise—to assist at the honour done to the heroes of Quebec, makes the number peculiarly apropos, and to hear the vast audience—many of them country visitors—take up the chorus, with its pretty accompaniment of bells and pizzicato passages, is a unique experience. Miss Rayburn is inspired with considerable feeling while singing the homely lyrics breathing love and faith. It could scarcely be otherwise with a song that not only haunts the ear, but touches a chord of sympathy between the Union Jack and the Maple Leaf. Miss Rayburn, who looks particularly smart in black and white, is deservedly encored, and her success is particularly gratifying.

Mr. Wilkie Bard is raising roars of laughter with his limerick competition; an ovation is measured out to Little Tich in his quaint and clever impersonations and his wonderful dancing. The one and only Cinquevalli retains the sang-froid and skill and nicety of judgment that make him an incomparable juggler, the turn being increased in its attractiveness by the amusing antics of an assistant with a sense of comedy. A new comer is Miss Gertie Reynolds, who has come from America to present her doll dance and her "Mexicano," a variant of the cachuca, in which she displays much chic and vivacity. A fine step-dancer is Mr. Herbert La Martine, who manipulates a bâton cleverly. Mr. Smiler Lee has a plentiful supply of jokes—by no means unfamiliar—and is blessed with a clear delivery and a good voice; Miss Madoline Rees has only to learn the value of "crystal clear" enunciation on the stage to make a good stride forward; Miss Amber Austa revives her "clam" song; and Miss Venie Clements provides us with some funny moments in her mimicry of a baby.

Mimicry, too, is Mr. Walter Stanton's strong point, and in his new act as the parrot (a wonderful make-up) he shows all the readiness of the tribe in reproducing sounds. The perkiness of the creature is not its least amusing qualification. As a gigantic rooster Mr. Stanton is attacked by as game a little bird as ever wore a spur, and the bout is made intensely amusing by its broad absurdity. Mr. Joe Elvin is positively great in his character impersonation in The King of the Castle. Mr. Harry Thurston, comedian; France and Stewart, in the racing sketch, The Hundred to One Chance; and Warsaw Brothers in comedy musical act, are other turns in a fine bill, which is completed by Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope.

THE CANTERBURY.

Mr. Charles W. Adams, the new manager of the Canterbury, has during his fortnight's occupancy of that responsible position already made several improvements both in respect of the appointments for the convenience of the public and of the conduct of its control. He is having the place thoroughly redecorated, and evidence of his endeavours to make the hall as comfortable as possible is not lacking. The house has been cleaned in every part, and in the auditorium itself a pretty scheme of decoration in red, white, and gold has been carried out. Other improvements may be summed up briefly as concerning the brilliancy of the stage lighting and the rapidity with which the items on the programme are presented. But the most important new feature is the institution of the half-time system, that is, admission at 9.15 at half the usual prices. It must not be supposed that the latter half of the entertainment will contain a greater aggregate of star artists than the first half. Indeed, in the case of the Canterbury Mr. Adams is arranging the turns on a principle of relative values, and thus there will be no inducement to overcrowding in the second house. Of course, this plan will be welcomed as a concession to the late worker or the individual with a couple of hours to spare.

Interesting and varied is the list of attractions Mr. Adams is able to offer this week. The top of the bill is taken by Mr. Harry Tate and his company in the screaming absurdity Fishing. It is not necessary that we should deal at length with this sketch; its highly-entertaining qualities are so well known as not to need harping upon at this time. Then there is Mr. Joe Elvin in his exceedingly amusing comedy playlet, The King of the Castle. His chief gag in it is the phrase, delivered in his intensely droll cockney style, of "I've got no go in me, Ameliah!" Miss Ella Lane proves to be a most engaging comedienne, and King Leo, the ventriloquist with his "college boy," furnishes an admirable demonstration of the art of vocal illusion.

Miss Helene Forest submits an interesting dramatic sketch under the title of A Woman of Paris, which we have before praised in our columns. Miss Forest's characterisation of the fallen woman who is urged by the man whose mistress she is to murder her own son is marked by a tragic intensity which does not fail to appeal to the very soul of her audience. The playlet, in which the leading lady has able support from the other two members in the cast, wins the favour of the Canterbury habitués. Weird and even wonderful are the doings of the Three Delaries in their speciality act, In the Demon Grotto, and their trapeze and somersaulting feats evoke tremendous applause. Mr. Gilbert Girard distinguishes himself as a mimic of animals and musical instruments, his vocal representation of a dog fight being particularly realistic. A popular descriptive vocalist comes on the stage in Mr. Frank Harwood, whose clear, pleasing voice is heard to advantage in a pot-pourri of songs and patter, his rendering of the ditty, "Rowing to Hampton Court," being especially admired. Phillips and Merritt give a good account of themselves as society entertainers, and their show, which brings before us an up-to-date vaudeville performance in miniature, meets with the unqualified approval of the spectators. Mr. Paul Cinquevalli, the accomplished and world-famous juggler, once more appears on the Canterbury stage, to the great enjoyment of the visitors to this establishment. Mr. Ted E. Box is an eccentric comedian whose sterling merit is immediately recognised by those before whom he appears, and his policeman song, "I've got to put it down in my book," as well as his characterisation of a "copper," is most diverting. In his second song he shows us what a really clever whistler he is. Miss Cissie Lupino, the talented speciality and character dancer, engages in attractive Dutch, Scottish, and other dances, and Les Fleurs Sisters are accomplished duettists and dancers. Jordan and Harvey, the American-Hebrew dialect comedians, create huge merriment with their "cross-talk" patter, and Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope pictures are most acceptable.

HOLBORN EMPIRE.

The entertainment at the Holborn Empire is quite up to the usual high standard of excellence, both as regards quality and quantity, fourteen items—all good—rapidly succeeding each other in the smartly-staged programme. Early in the evening a decidedly favourable impression is made by a lady whom we do not remember to have seen before in the London halls—Miss Helen Trix, an accomplished entertainer at the piano. Her first contribution shows her to be a skilful siffleuse, he, whistling medley being much appreciated; and she next sings a funny ditty concerning a darky damsel, Mandy, who has some difficulty in digesting an apple dumpling—a number that owed not a little of its success to the droll manner in which it was rendered. Miss Trix is an excellent pianist, she has a good voice and can sing a song with point and humour, and being thus admirably equipped for the line of business she has chosen will undoubtedly soon become popular in London. Mr. Harry Webber, a quaint Hebrew comedian, tells many amusing Yiddisher stories, some new and a few familiar, and has a humorous parody on "Irish Molly," his turn being greatly enjoyed; and the College Ladies, eight versatile and comely lassies, sing and dance with much ability, one of them contributing a realistic imitation of Miss Victoria Monks, an impersonation that was much applauded.

Laughter was almost continuous during the representation of the humorous sketch Three of a Kind, smartly enacted by Miss Ethel Arden, Mr. George Abel, and their capital company; and the cultured vocalism of the favourite burlesque artist Miss Winifred Hare was loudly acclaimed, her contribution on the night of our visit—"All sorts of songs"—being a particularly tuneful one. Some fine cornet playing was submitted by Master Lloyd Shakespeare, a talented youngster; and Mr. Walter Stanley has a droll ditty in "Whack-fol-the-diddle." Chanti, the accomplished quick-change artist, presents some finished representations of a German, Chinaman, Russian, Spaniard, Italian, &c., each impersonation being concluded with a national dance. The changes were very rapidly executed, and the smartly-worked show, embellished with many ingenious devices, was accorded some of the loudest applause heard during the evening. Miss Irma Lorraine in her "Studies of Modern Pictorial Art" presents a "Salomé" impersonation and accompanying dance. The favourite vocalist and dancer Miss Ella Retford warbled blithely of "Mr. Grundy," who, much to his lady-love's disgust refrains from visiting her "on Sunday," her expert dancing being not the least enjoyable portion of her turn; and the Seven Xentrixs are responsible for an attractive singing and dancing interlude. Professor Duncan's collies still present one of the cleverest dog shows to be seen on the halls, the handsome and wonderfully intelligent creatures skipping, turning somersaults, playing "The bluebells of Scotland" on the harmonium, and doing many other difficult feats with marvellous skill and apparent ease and enjoyment. The Imperial Bioscope this week is showing a novel series of pictures, Doll Making; and Mr. George Gilbey is also in the bill.

SADLER'S WELLS.

Mr. Frederick Victor, whose name is so well known to the playgoing public in connection with his many performances of the part of Napoleon in A Royal Divorce, presents an interesting playlet, written by himself, at Sadler's Wells this week. It bears the title of Meredith's Masterpiece, and was first produced at the Bow Palace three weeks ago. The scene is an artist's studio, and into it the artist, Richard Meredith, has taken a tramp who has been injured by a motor-car in the roadway outside. The nurse whose services have been requisitioned is quickly identified by Meredith as his own wife, from whom he had been separated in consequence of the improper conduct of another man. On the easel in the studio is a partly-finished picture representing a husband taking revenge with a knife upon the destroyer of his wife's honour. In a curious fit of spleen Meredith suggests to the nurse that for the purposes of his painting he could take advantage of the unconscious tramp by stabbing him. This would be securing realism with a vengeance! By and by the tramp returns to a state of sensibility, and when informed of the artist's idea, actually assents to it. His agreeing to become a victim to art, however, is not entirely the outcome of his love for it. He is sick of life, and feels that in any case he has only a few months to live. Why not end the misery now? But before he dies he would like to confess that some years previously he ruined the happiness of a married couple whose name was Meredith. Will not the artist strike now and take his revenge! Meredith does raise the knife, but almost immediately afterwards relents, and forgiveness is the conclusion of the sketch. Mr. Victor acts with considerable dramatic force in the rôle of the artist, and he is well supported by Mr. H. P. Eversley as the tramp and Miss Elizabeth Walters as the nurse.

There is plenty to interest one in the rest of the programme. Mr. Leo Dryden takes the house by storm with his stirring rendering of "Good-bye, bachelors," "Lucy Manette," and "The White Man," to which we had occasion to refer in a eulogistic way last week. Miss Ethel Arundel is a refined young comedienne whose ditties, "See the ocean" and "As kind as you are," find great favour with her hearers. The Sisters Belmoir have a capital coon duet in "Good-night, Mr. Kangaroo," and their combined skipping-rope and step dances are exceedingly effective. Ballad vocalists of no mean order come along in the persons of the Sisters Darnton, whose songs, "Sweet Adeline" and "Sleep and forget," are most expressively rendered. Stoll and Milton submit an attractive triple-bar act; and Fields and Lewis are entertaining burlesque artists. Some smart pedestal dancing is done by the Lannons, who create a diversion with their verses concerning "The Broadway Belle." Mr. George M. Marriott's company appear in the dramatic episode, Lady Audley's Secret, in which Miss Edith Finlay distinguishes herself as the unhappy Lady Audley. Raymond's Bio-tableaux is responsible for two interesting films, The Accused Postman and Jimmy the Apprentice.

MR. DARE AUSTIN will present on Monday at the Olympia, Shoreditch, his comedy duologue His Wedding Morning, which he has played recently at Hammersmith Palace and Empress, Brixton, with such emphatic success.

FISH galore came last Thursday to the baits of Whit Cunliffe and Tom Moore (operator of the Grand, Hanley), who with special permit fished the preserved water of the Duke of Sutherland. Fifty-four roach and perch were brought home.

"THE ORGAN GRINDER," a new sketch by Alicia Ramsey and Rudolph de Cordova, the authors of so many of the Hippodrome successful sensational plays and of the next production at that popular house, will be seen for the first time in London at the New Cross Empire next week, after having been acted with marked success in Liverpool, Birmingham, and Manchester.

THE story deals with the kidnapping of the little daughter of an English baronet by an Italian organ grinder, the inspiring motive being revenge. In full view of the audience, the child's golden curls are cut off, and she is disguised out of all recognition. Eventually, of course, her identity is discovered in a dramatic manner, and she is restored to her father, who finds in the youth who has befriended her, his own son, who had been stolen by the Italian fifteen years previously. The production is made on a very complete scale, new scenery having been painted, and two new piano organs made for it, while a real Victoria and pair are introduced during the course of the play.

THE NEW METROPOLITAN.

"To keep up with the times it is necessary to spend £10,000." These were among the concluding words of Mr. Henri Gros when he spoke from the stage of the Metropolitan during the last week of the old hall. The magnificent pleasure palace for the people of Paddington that he has had erected under the direction of Mr. Frank Matcham (who built the hall in 1897) has, we should say, amply justified this expenditure, and on Thursday night Mr. Gros was warmly congratulated by a large number of friends and people prominent in the music hall world on the beautiful house that has had such vast developments since it came under his management.

During the four months of the closure very great alterations have been carried out. To obtain the necessary exits and to adapt the building for the use of two performances a night it has been necessary to acquire extra premises towards the Edgware-road. The fine Mansfield stone elevation has been extended, and now forms a most imposing façade—quite a feature of the neighbourhood. Artistic gold and coloured mosaics embellish this façade, the general scheme being blue and gold, which has been ably carried out by Rust's Vitreous Mosaics Co. For the renovation of the elegant internal decoration Messrs. F. de Jong and Co., London, are responsible. The pretty circle and balcony fronts and the beautifully painted ceiling have always been a feature of the house; indeed, some experts maintain that they are the most elaborate and artistic of any theatre in the Metropolis. Pains have been taken while re-embellishment has taken place to maintain the character as originated in 1897. The White Lion, the old-world tavern of the locality, situated in the centre of the block, has disappeared, and the space thereby gained has permitted the enlargement of the auditorium and extension of the frontage, thereby improving entrances and exits. The vestibule has been conveniently enlarged, and a fine new hexagon entrance leads by a white marble staircase through a large foyer to the grand circle, to which several rows of seats have been added. New exits and staircases are provided from all parts of the building, making the Metropolitan one of the grandest and safest buildings of its class in London. The theatre has been luxuriously upholstered; the proscenium is fitted with handsome tableau curtains and deep drapery in rich crimson velvet ornamented with satin appliqué embroidered in Italian Renaissance style. For the draperies and the seating Messrs. J. Lyon and Co., of High Holborn, are responsible. The fauteuils are comfortable and capacious, tip-up seats are fitted in the grand circle and pit, and even the gallery seats, for which only 3d. is charged, are upholstered. The carpets throughout and extending to the grand circle are of the finest Wilton pile velvet, rich in colour to match the tout ensemble of the scheme of colouring, and are supplied by the famous firm of Shoolbred and Co., London. The main entrance hall and stall lobby is of arabesque design, with rich and appropriate colouring, the saloons and foyer being treated in the Louis Seize style. An entirely new system of ventilation has been introduced, while a new installation of electric lighting has been perfected by Messrs. Sunderland and Co., Victoria-street, S.W. The sanitary part of the work has been entrusted to Messrs. Davis, Bennett and Co., London.

The new building will undoubtedly by its attractive exterior, to which a handsome shelter is to be added as soon as passed by the authorities, form a landmark in the Edgware-road. The modern demand of variety entertainment seems to require moderate charges of admission combined with all modern comfort and luxury. The charges of admission range from 3d. to 10s. 6d. A luxurious fauteuil can be secured for 1s. 6d., and an equally comfortable seat in the magnificent grand circle at 1s., with the modest addition of 3d. for the cost of booking. In his advertisements Mr. Henri Gros, who is chairman and managing-director of the company, boasts that "all the stars hold contracts," and we may be sure that the amusement-going public of Paddington can rely with complete confidence upon the carrying out of his promises.

Mr. Jack Edgar, who has been associated with the fortunes of the hall for many years, returns to his old position of manager, in which he has made himself very popular; and Mr. W. Leslie Gooch, son of Miss Fannie Leslie, replaces Mr. Leon Zeitlin as acting-manager. On the "view" night the charming house was admired by a large crowd, among whom we recognised Messrs. Henry Tozer, Burney, Richards, Will Collins, Jack Somers, Emmanuel Warner, Clement Ravenscroft, George Ridout, Frank de Jong, Frank Matcham, Laurie Cohen, A. E. Oliver, William Bailey, Lake, Leon Zeitlin, Harry Masters, and a number of others.

The opening programme of Monday next includes Fred Karno's latest creation entitled The Bailiff, with Fred Kitchen in possession; Arthur Slater, the whistler; Leoni Dixon; the Dardinis, American jugglers (their first appearance in England); Alec Thorne, Ruffell's Bioscope, Eleanora Lorraine, Jack Neil, Fanning and Fanning, and Winifred Hare, who will all appear at both houses. The performances commence at 6.45 and 9.10.

During the evening the Metropolitan orchestra, under the direction of Mr. D. M. Trytel, played the following selection of music on the stage:—March, "The Metropolitan," D. M. Trytel; medley overture, "The Pacer," O'Hare; valse, "Les Brunes," Ganne; intermezzo, "The Hyacinth," Hatch; characteristic novelty, "Teddy Bear's Picnic," Bratton; idyl, "The Glow-worm," Lincke; selection, "Tales of Hoffmann," Offenbach; medley, "The Best of All," W. Williams; valse, "The Jolly Fellows," Vollstedt; patrol, "The Rose, Shamrock, and Thistle," Sousa; fantasie, "Faust," Gounod; valse, "The Merry Widow," Léhar; march, "Franco-British," Max Darewski; and "God Save the King."

"THE AIRSHIP," a new American comedy act, is to be given at the Queen's, Poplar, on Monday.

ANDREW KELSO, a Douglas barman, on the 14th swallowed his false teeth and plate. It is said he was making an exhibition of whole egg swallowing. He made his way to Noble's Hospital, where the Röntgen rays located the teeth, and an operation brought them out. He is now doing well, but will probably take no part in future in conjuring displays of this kind.

CAPITAL business still continues at the New Brighton Winter Gardens. Mlle. Ghita Corri has aroused great admiration by her excellent vocalism; the Three Behans, Mr. David McFarlane, and Miss Nellie Lawson in sketch; Mr. Bert Belton, comedian and mimic; and Mr. Max Hartree, vocalist, have all scored successes. Master W. Aubrey is a clever dancer, and Herr A. Spiegler plays violin solos effectively. The animated pictures are very fine.

AT the Ryde Pier Pavilion Miss Margaret Cooper last Monday gave two performances under the direction of Mr. H. Bernhardt, and received a most enthusiastic reception from two crowded houses, no fewer than twelve encores being freely responded to by this charming artist. The other artists in the programme during the week included Miss Nelly Ganthony, Mr. Lionel Brough, and Doris Wami. On Tuesday and Wednesday Mr. Arthur Roberts and his vaudeville party were the attraction, while The Magpies, The Serenaders, and The Kimoinos are among the bookings made by the enterprising lessee, Mr. Wishart.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD.

Fairs Ahead.

The fairs ahead till the end of the month are:—Beeston, on the Great Northern; Bingham, on the Great Northern, and London and North-Western; First Lee Fair; Guiseley, on the Midland; Horsforth, on the North-Eastern; Pudsey, on the Great Northern; Yeadon, on the Midland; Credition, on the London and South-Western; Hooley Hill; Taxal or Whaley Bridge, on the London and North-Western; Bakewell, on the Midland; Hinckley, on the London and North-Western, and Midland; Irlams-o'-th'-Height, on the Cheshire Lines; Shaftesbury, on the London and South-Western; Shrewsbury, on the London and North-Western, Great Western, Cambrian, and Rhymney; Strood, on the London, Chatham, and Dover, and South-Eastern; Cleckheaton, on the Lancashire and Yorkshire; Romsey, on the London and South-Western; Bradford-on-Avon, on the Great Western; Eccles, on the London and North-Western; Eyam, on the Midland; Halton (Lancs.), on the Midland; Oldham, on the Great Central, London and North-Western, Lancashire and Yorkshire, Oldham, Ashton, and Guide Bridge, Great Northern, and Midland; St. John's Chapel, on the North-Eastern; West Haughton, on the Lancashire and Yorkshire; Farsley, on the Great Northern; Halton Feast (Leeds), on the North-Eastern; Hucknall with Huthwaite, on the Midland; and Watchet, on the Great Western Railways.

Great Harwood Wakes.

For the annual wakes at this Lancashire town were the following amusement caterers:—Messrs. East, Haworth, Holland, Starkie, Sharp, Smith, Taylor, Stanley, Bullough, Gallagher, and Ingham, who provided gallopers, steam horses big boats, swings, shooters, and throwing games.

Rochdale Wakes.

Rochdale Wakes and ancient Rushbearing Festival still maintains (under modern conditions) its celebrity as one of the most famous wakes or fairs of the Lancashire district.

For variety of entertainment, and for the up-to-date character of its many shows, machines, and fair-ground novelties, Rochdale Wakes, 1908, would be difficult to beat. George H. Kemp, with new and superb cinematograph theatre, "The Anglo-American Combine of Varieties and Living Pictures"; Colonel Clark, with equally perfect and modern show—two of the finest shows on the road—these two concerns were enough to draw all Rochdale. Then amongst the minor novelties and side shows were Barker's Midget Wonders, "The Atoms of Humanity"; and Pattison's Mechanical Promenade.

The high-class electric and steam driven machines were:—Motor-car tracks by Relph and Pedley, and Mitchell; galloping horse sets by Sharpe and Hunter; steam horses by Makins; ostriches by Mitchell; bicycle track by Helm; steam swings by Shaw and Sons; big boats by Mitchell; and park swings by Morley and Sharpe.

The other novelties included shooting ranges, bottle batteries, penalty frames, novelty stalls, and throwing games by Sharpe, Henshaw, Wilson, Hughes and Maston, Dearden, Forshaw, Ingham, Butterworth, Clegg, Lorenzo, Crick, Thomas, Black, and Newton.

South Elmsall Feast.

Under the direction of Messrs. Tuby and Sons, this excellent Yorkshire fixture attracted a first-class aggregation of good concerns. These included the big show and the motor-car set of Messrs. Tuby and Sons, T. Harniess and Sons (two sets), the switchback motors, and the gallopers, Wortley's show, the coal mine model, White's two shows, the miniature menagerie and the fine art gallery, Pullan's shooting range and swings, Silverwood's highfliers, and varieties in galore by Messrs. Johnson, Calver, Spencer, Shaw, Middlebrook, Tucker, Norman, and Griffiths.

Guild Subscriptions, 1908.

Mr. H. Thurston, £5; Mr. F. Gray, £1; Mrs. Heeson, 5s.; Mr. E. Shaw, 5s.; Mr. W. Harris, 5s.; Mr. C. Darwent, 5s.; Mr. J. Thorburn, 5s.; Mr. E. Harris, 5s.; Mr. J. Kefford, 5s.; Mr. Wm. Harris, 5s.; Mr. J. Harris, 5s.; Mr. H. Barnard, 5s.; and Mr. J. Silk (1907), 5s.

Paignton Regatta.

The popular fair held at the time of the Paignton Regatta afforded great delight to the crowds of eager sightseers. A splendid array of shows, machines, &c., was on view. These included the exhibits of W. C. and S. Hancock, the cinematograph theatre, the helter-skelter tower, the motor-car track, and the four-a-breast galloping horses; John Jones, with variety theatre and animated pictures; Prince and Princess Samouda, occultists; and Professor Birch's Royal Court Midgets. Juvenile roundabouts were provided by Haywood, Wilson, and A. Jones; maypole games by Powell, W. Jones, and Chapman; big wheel and swings by Chapman, Lock, and Ball; shooting ranges, football games, variety frames, and cokers by J. Jones, Rowland, Smith, Lock, H. Chapman, Harker, Oldridge, Hurford, and Whitelegge; and photo saloon by Cribb.

Ball and Son's Lyceum on Tour.

After the great triumph of Mitcham Fair Messrs. Ball and Son removed their huge concern to St. Mary Cray, Kent. The people of St. Mary Cray look forward with delight to the annual visit of this superb show. Special interest attached to the opening night at this delightful Kentish village, for Harry Banford, the comedian, made a welcome reappearance on the stage of the Lyceum after his recent somewhat serious accident. We heartily join with Mr. Banford's many friends in congratulating him on his complete recovery and speedy return to work.

Ashton Wakes.

Yet another famous Lancashire town keeps its wakes this week. Ashton-under-Lyne, in the centre of the great cotton belt, serves an enormous area for the wakes' outing week. The great show attraction was P. Collins, jun.'s wonderland No. 2, The Palace of Orpheus. The other amusements were John Collins' electric jumping horses, the Japanese airship, and the electric motors, Harrison's Alpine glissade, and other fairground novelties by Messrs. Mercer, Hurst, Dillon, Murphy, Geoghegan, Shaw, Cornwell, Wilson, Tomlinson, Davies, Humphreys, and others.

Sanger's Circus.

This famous circus and menagerie visited Aberdeen on Monday. Both performances were crowded with enthusiastic spectators. As is always the case, the splendid spectacular drama of Dick Turpin's Ride to York was followed with breathless interest. In the course of the present tour the circus will visit most of the important country towns in the North of Scotland.

A remarkable scene was witnessed at Ipswich on Thursday at the funeral of Anna Barber, a travelling showman's wife, who died on board a steamboat whilst travelling from Ipswich to Harwich. She was affectionately regarded as the mother of the caravan folk of East Anglia, and they came from all parts to pay the last tribute of respect. Eleven carriages followed the hearse. Hundreds of people assembled at the cemetery, and wreaths with touching inscriptions were sent from Daventry, Forest Gate, Croydon, Colchester, Norwich, Yarmouth, and many other places.

SOME ECHOES OF MITCHAM FAIR.

The showmen who dared to defy the prohibitory ukase of the Conservators of Mitcham Common, and did invade the fair green and did hold the fair, met with far different treatment than was meted out to the old tenants, who both in 1906 and 1907 were subjected to costly legal proceedings.

In our article last week dealing with the fair we ventured to express a hope that a change of policy on the part of the Conservators might afford an opening for the reconsideration of the whole question, and that the fair might be preserved to the people of Mitcham for ever. That hope was justified in the fact that, despite threatenings, there were no writs for trespass served upon the show people. We shall be extremely pleased to find that wiser and more liberal counsels are prevailing, and that the removal of the fair to a more commodious site, and its due regulation and control by the local authorities, will be the end of the agitation for preserving one of the most famous fairs in the metropolitan district.

The Local Press on the Fair.

The Advertiser, a weekly paper extensively read in the district of Mitcham, gives an interesting résumé of the fight for Mitcham Fair. The following extracts will interest our readers:—

"Last year, it may be remembered, public interest was worked up to a high pitch by a series of meetings held by both parties. The Fair Green was the scene of gatherings at which the rival sides breathed threatenings and slaughter against each other. Great things were going to happen, history was going to be made at Mitcham, but all that happened was that the fair was held as it has been held for scores of years past, and injunctions were obtained against a number of showmen. The whole thing now seems to have resolved itself into a fight between the Conservators and the Showmen's Guild, and it looks, though we are loath to say so, that the former are not having the best of it by any means.

Last Year and This.

"The excitement which characterised the opening of the fair last year was not so noticeable this week except on one day. That was Tuesday, just before the showmen went on to the green. The Conservators, who had held several secret meetings beforehand, were given the credit of having prepared all sorts of mysterious schemes to oust the showmen. But absolutely nothing was known except that Mr. H. Mallaby-Deeley, J.P., their chairman, had been to London to see the Home Secretary. The presumption, of course, was that he had been trying to get that officer of State to sign an order to do away with the fair. Mr. Gladstone no doubt listened with a sympathetic ear, but the much-needed order did not eventuate, as subsequent happenings proved, and now it is said that the Home Secretary, while listening with one ear to the woes of the Conservators, gave the other to the representative of the Showmen's Guild, who spoke effectively on behalf of his people. Nothing definite, however, was known on Tuesday, and the London papers came out with all sorts of fairy tales. About eleven o'clock in the morning caravans and traction engines which had been gathering rather ominously in the neighbourhood of the green for a day or two previous began to make a move. The police and ex-Sergeant Lawton, chief common keeper to the Conservators, were in attendance, and, of course, noted all that was going on.

"Three traction engines led the invaders, and just before twelve o'clock they puffed on to the disputed space dragging their chains of vehicles after them. There was great excitement when this happened, and it was just now that there was a likelihood of the rough element getting the upper hand. Fortunately the off-scourings of South London, who had anticipated a row, got no encouragement anywhere, and the remainder of the vans took possession without incident. But as soon as everybody had comfortably settled up came police officers with Mr. Lawton, having note-books and pencils ready, and they carefully took down the names and addresses of thirty-two van proprietors with a view to further use. The object was to serve writs upon them, and no doubt that has been done by this time. The sequel will appear later in the law courts, when injunctions will be applied for to restrain the defendants from using the green hereafter. Unless some genius can provide other means of stopping the show it will be some years before the Conservators have secured injunctions against all the members of the Showmen's Guild, for they number nearly 50,000. Most of the owners of the confiscated names and addresses came from a considerable distance—as far away as Cambridge and Colchester. They are strangers to the police of these parts. The majority of them knew what they were to expect, but, strange to say, there were a few who did not, and they were mightily surprised to find themselves coming in for so much attention from the constabulary. The business of setting up the booths, swings, roundabouts, cocoanut shies, boxing saloons, &c., was immediately in full swing, and on both sides of the London—and Croydon—roads.

Public Sympathy with the Old Tenants.

"Meanwhile many of those under the ban of the law had set up elsewhere. Mr. Alf. Ball, a vice-president of the Guild, had erected his 'New Lyceum' on a piece of ground a few yards above the green on the right-hand side, and Messrs. Thurston had installed themselves with a miscellaneous lot of show proprietors on a large area of waste land on the other side of the road. It is reached through a rather narrow passage, but is an ideal spot for a fair—so long as the neighbours do not object.

"These people, who are among the most prominent who come to Mitcham Fair, and without whom it would be a poor sort of turnout indeed, cannot be touched by the Conservators. They can defy those indignant gentlemen, and, so far as they are concerned, can hold a fair every year as so long as it pleases them. Wednesday was the 'great' day. All the morning various organs had been making mysterious noises, 'tuning up' it is called, and at noon they commenced a noise which was not to leave off until midnight was approaching.

"The real 'fun' began in the evening, when the crowds poured in from Croydon, Tooting, Sutton, Wimbledon, and every other place within a few miles' radius. The main roads were kept clear for an hour or two by the care of the police, but when it became dark they were absolutely impassable. Then the fair was to be seen in all its glaring glory.

"To see the fair at its best it was not necessary to stop on the green. Going up the London-road a few yards you came to a notice on a fence welcoming you to the 'White City' and the 'Royal fast-travelling mountain cars.' This was where Thurston, the man who knows the best way to draw the pence from the pockets of the unwilling, had pitched his tent. He is nothing if not up-to-date, and for the price of a 'brown' one could have a ride in a real motor-car. The tyres were really pneumatic, and the machines were fitted with head and tail lights, letters, numbers, and steering wheel. To get the fullest enjoyment out of a ride one had only to imagine that one was doing a reliability trial over the Scotch mountains. Near by was a 'helter-skelter,' where you paid one penny admission and brought your own mat, if you liked. Sober and dignified-looking matrons could be seen climbing to the top of the tower, each carrying a door-mat, upon which they sat down and slid with some velocity to the ground. One humorist, we were told, tried the descent sitting on his pocket-handkerchief, and he wished he hadn't afterwards.

"All the devices imaginable for spending money could be seen in the 'White City,' and the takings must have run into hundreds of pounds. Across the road was the exhibition of the one and only Alf. Ball. There was nothing niggardly about this show. The handsomely-carved and gilded front was lit with coloured electric light, and in the centre was a fine orchestraphone playing tunes from grand opera. Dancing women and funny men thronged the stage, and the admiring crowd almost forgot that it was their money that was wanted."

The London Press on the Fair.

The Daily Telegraph gave an account of the fair a column in length, and said: "The annual fair has been taking place this week at Mitcham, for in spite of rumours to the contrary, the showmen were allowed to take up positions on the green, and the most remarkable feature of the proceeding has been the curious contrast to last year. Then, days beforehand, the question whether the fair should, or should not, be held was debated with the greatest keenness, excited crowds surrounded the platform from whence Parish Councillors and other local celebrities competed with each other in denouncing or upholding the fair, and an interest was added by the presence of representatives of the Showmen's Guild, including the Chaplain (the Rev. Mr. Horne), who explained the views of the showmen.

"This year hardly a word has been said on the subject, the champions of the showmen have been conspicuous by their absence, and there was merely a mild interest taken in the prophesies which were made with regard to the attitude of the Board of Conservators on the subject. The movements of this body have been 'wropt' in mystery. They have taken the greatest possible care to exclude the Press and to conduct their deliberations in private in order that the showmen should not get wind of their policy, with the result that they led the public to believe that they were going to take some important step which would tend to the real abolition of the fair, the better class of residents having hoped that something definite would be done. But in this they have been greatly disappointed, for although visits to the Home Secretary have been hinted at, they have apparently got very little encouragement from that gentleman, and have been obliged to fall back upon their action of the last two years, viz., the issuing of writs to the showmen. As has been proved in previous years, the showmen are backed by a very powerful Guild, which leaves no stone unturned to defend the rights of its members. They threaten to continue the fight indefinitely and as quickly as the Conservators obtain injunctions against its members, will bring up fresh battalions to continue the struggle for what they look upon as their rights. With the thousands of members at its back, the Guild says it will be able to do this for ten years."

The Morning Leader, in a vigorous leading article, took the popular side: "The Fun of the Fair. So far the Conservators of Mitcham Common appear to have taken the challenge of the Showmen's Guild lying down, and Mitcham Fair has been held as usual this year—much as it has been any time, if tradition speaks truly, since the days of Elizabeth. Last year the Conservators obtained injunctions in the High Court against forty-eight showmen, forbidding them to occupy pitches on the fair green; these men have this year found refuge on other parts of the common, and their places on the green have been taken by others. It is much to be hoped that the quarrel (which never ought to have been begun) will rest at that. There is altogether too much disposition nowadays to harry and bully these old-time institutions at the bidding of enterprising house agents or a few cantankerous householders. This spirit is not confined to Mitcham, and it is high time that a stand should be made against it. The fun of the fair may not be the most exalted or subtle form of humour; it is for the most part exceedingly innocent: it brings great pleasure to hundreds whose lives are not too familiar with pleasure of any sort; and to suggest that one or even three days of it once a year really destroys the amenities of the most severely aristocratic of villas is nonsense."

The Morning Post gave the following interesting note on the fair: "In Domesday Book the Mitcham of to-day with its sweet scent of grateful lavender figures as Michelham, which, being interpreted, means 'great village.' Thus we know that hundreds of years ago Mitcham was a place of importance, and a portentous encyclopædia describes it in its modern guise as famous for market gardens and plantations of aromatic herbs for the manufacture of scents and essences. But Mitcham also claims pride of prominence for its ancient fair. Far back in the misty epochs of merry Mediæval England this fair was metaphorically 'opened' by a gorgeously-caparisoned official armed with a golden key. The official and the golden key have long since vanished, but Mitcham still keeps up its fair. It does so amidst many 'alarums and excursions,' and even braves conflict with the law itself. There has arisen a flinty-hearted generation of men who are entitled to call themselves the Conservators of Mitcham Common, and who seek to drive forth from their midst the showmen who cater for those who fain would indulge in the harmless fun of the fair. Last year the ponderous machinery of the High Court of Justice was brought into play in order to crush the showmen. The fearsome word 'injunction' prevailed, and they were placed under the ban of his Majesty's Judges. The showmen, however, have not lost their tenacity, and the places of those who were 'injuncted' have this year been taken by men who are ready to take all risks rather than surrender what they conceive to be an ancient right."

We wish to correct a false statement that has gained credence in the public mind aided by the Press. We are officially asked by the executive officers of the Showmen's Guild to deny that either this year or at any previous fair has action been taken by the society to organise or to invite showmen to attend Mitcham Fair and to draw on the fair green. The attendance of showmen has been without any request or whip of their trade organisation. Last year the Rev. T. Horne attended the fair green when the shows were drawing on. His object was to persuade possible newcomers against occupying the pitches of the old tenants. This he was able to secure, and so obtain a preference to the old tenants.

The proceedings in the High Court led to the injunction of all the old tenants of the fair green, with the result that this year the fair green was open to any enterprising showman without being charged with "jumping" or seizing another man's pitch. We want it to be clearly understood that the custom of Mitcham Fair has always been "first come, first served." It is, however, to the credit of showmen as a body that they recognise the prior claim of the old tenants.

The Alleged Deterioration of the Fair.

Like all other highly-specialised industries, the business of the fair ground is subjected to loss and injury by the guesswork of writers in the Press who are destitute of expert knowledge. Whilst on the whole the Press has dealt in a sympathetic manner towards the showmen, there has been seen in some of the Press notices a deplorable lack of knowledge of the real conditions of the fair ground industry, the ever-increasing importance of the people's fairs, and open-air amusements.

Pessimism Run Mad.

One writer uttered the following lament: "Nearing the End. Yet with all its outward semblance of gaiety a pall of gloom hung over Mitcham and its fair yesterday. The shadow of the law lies heavy on those who, greatly daring, have defied constituted authority by erecting a pitch on the fair ground. Their names and addresses have all been taken by the police 'for future reference.' The Showmen's Guild presents a brave face in the upholding of showmen's rights, but when at eleven o'clock last night the din of the fair was ended and the lights went out it was impossible to resist the conclusion that this ending of the night is tragically symbolic of the passing of the showman."

Another writer expresses the opinion "that, judging from appearances, as injunctions are gradually obtained against the better class of showmen, the fair will steadily deteriorate and die a natural death, for in spite of the attitude of their Guild, the showmen have not turned up in particularly good numbers this year."

The official communication from the executive officers of the Guild given above completely dissipates this extraordinary maze of guesswork and fiction. London and Provincial showmen simply and only as a matter of business gathered at Mitcham to keep the fair. The people of Mitcham and their neighbours enjoy the fair. The Home Secretary has refused to abolish the fair. Hence the fair was held as usual, and there is no conspiracy, no mysterious plot to bring up the busy battalions of showland year by year. Except on the fair green itself, there has been no change of the character of the amusements provided. The change was rather in the size of the concerns than in the quality. Of course, men with big shows cannot take possession of ground as expeditiously as men with stalls and throwing games.

The Greatest Fair Ever Held at Mitcham.

We speak with expert knowledge, and we claim that the fair of 1908 was in point of number of shows and other amusements, big and little, the largest ever known in Mitcham. Look at the list of shows in the front rank: three high-class electric cinematograph theatres—these three shows alone would have crowded out the fair green; four immense sets of steam and electric-driven roundabouts; and a huge helter-skelter tower. Where on the green could these have been situated? Then consider the shows and amusements in the second rank. Ridley's variety theatre, Le Neve and Norah Sullivan's physical culture pavilion, Bailey's fine art gallery, and some six or more minor side shows, and in addition four sets of gem roundabouts, three sets of swings, six shooting concerns, &c. "Deterioration," forsooth! "Passing of the showman," indeed! Why, the Showmen's Guild could, if the necessity arose, bring together shows and roundabouts to fill Mitcham Common lands all the way from the fair green to Croydon, and then have enough shows left for an overflow gathering on Figg's Marsh.

What the Guild Has Done.

It has used all possible and pacific means to induce the Conservators to cease their efforts to hinder or to extinguish the fair.

It has laid before the Conservators and the various public bodies concerned well-considered proposals for the removal of the fair to a better site on the common lands. It has done its best to mediate between the Conservators and the old tenants of the fair. It has offered all reasonable guarantees for the betterment and full control of the amusements to be exhibited at the fair.

What the Guild is Ready to Do.

It is ready and anxious to reopen the negotiations so abruptly brought to an end at the beginning of this year. A full statement of these overtures is now in circulation amongst the people of Mitcham. It is ready to let the whole question go to the vote of the people. The Guild has no secret methods; it only works on constitutional lines. It is a legitimate trade union, and works on lawful and proper lines. We again express the earnest hope that wise and liberal counsels will prevail, and that both the Conservators and the showmen will unite in the laudable public work of conserving and improving, for all time, the people's fair at Mitcham.

South Wales Echoes.

At Barry Island Mr. John Studt's new bioscope is the chief attraction, also his No. 1 zoological roundabout and juvenile set; Mathew's juvenile set and shooters, &c.; also Messrs. James Scott and Fosset's rifle saloons, cokers, &c., complete the list. At Porthcawl Messrs. Dooner have paid a successful visit with their up-to-date bioscope; Mr. Hy. Studt also had his new racing motors and zoological circus on the same ground, accompanied by Messrs. John and Wm. North; Danter, Freeman, and others, with shooting ranges, mollies, strikers, cokernuts, &c. Messrs. Wadbrooke continue a successful run in the Rhondda Valley with their electrograph exhibition. Mr. Wm. Haggar has been on tour in the Carmarthenshire districts with his No. 2 Royal Bioscope. Mr. John Johnson's Victoria Theatre has opened in Ferndale, and is meeting with great success. The genial proprietor, who believes in everything being up to date, has lately received a magnificent motor engine, so that the theatre will travel by road in future. His beautifully fitted up Pullman car living van is a work of art and provided with all the latest improvements. It is a veritable palace on wheels.

Crieff, N.B., Highland Gathering.

This old and famous gathering took place in the Market Park there on Saturday last, Aug. 15. It was attended by thousands of people from a wide district, and passed off very successfully for all concerned. The shows, machines, and fair-ground novelties were arranged in two long avenues to the east of the park. They were under the management of Mr. J. Evans, of Portobello, who is lessee of the grounds, and included his splendid electric roundabouts; Biddall's new picture concern, with its grand new organ, the coloured pictures of this show being well received; and Mander's No. 1 American Coliseum, with pictures. This show had some very smart turns outside, and local pictures shown drew big houses. Johnson's Circus of Varieties had also very smart work on the front and a grand show inside. Professor Monroe's National Sporting Pavilion of male and female artists was well supported by the sport-loving people of the town. Shooting ranges and saloons were much in evidence, and included, amongst others, Palmer's, A. Horne's, C. Horne's, H. Dawson's, W. Thompson's, T. Wright's, Hughes', Strand's, &c. Cocoanut stalls forward included Palmer's, Dawson's, Thompson's, and others. Aunt Sallies and Emmas, Horne-Strand's (5), Wright's, Thompson's, Knowles', and Campbell's; swings, Palmer's. Thompson's pipe-breakers, Gemmel's midget ponies, and the American Dodger were all doing big business in the west avenue; also football boards, bottle and cup shies, wheels of fortune, weight-lifting, strikers, and many others. There were a very large number of gipsy queens forward, and photo, sweet, and fruit stalls. The day being fine a large number of people from a distance visited the grounds both during the day and the evening, and a good day's business was the result. The townspeople of Crieff are loud in their praise of all concerned with the different concerns in the grounds during their stay, and hope they all may return for another year with their different amusements.

The Spangelettis, with their original animal hippodrome, are running the Eastham Gardens Circus, which has been a big success this summer.

Mr. Steel Parry's electric bioscope and Messrs. Haggar and Son's electric bioscope have during the week been doing good business at the Carmarthen Corporation Fair Ground. On Wednesday Messrs. Haggar and Sons gave special performances in the afternoon and evening, the proceeds being devoted to the charitable institutions of the town.

INVENTIONS.

[The particulars furnished below of recent applications for patents are taken from the official records. Correspondence is invited with our readers on all matters relating to new ideas and inventions, with a view to affording them advice and assistance. Letters should be addressed to the Manager, Inventions Department, "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, London.]

Inventors and others who have no business representative are invited to communicate with the Manager of the Inventions Dept. as above.

APPLICATIONS.

16,375.—James Adam Stubbs, of Malton, Yorkshire. Stationary and disappearing target.

16,420.—Albert Arthur Lippold, of London. Improvements in automatic shutters for cinematographs.

16,611.—Jules Greenbaum, of London. Apparatus for synchronising kinematographs with talking-machines.

16,728.—Oscar Messter, of London. Improvements in the method of obtaining and reproduring speaking living pictures.

COMPLETE SPECIFICATIONS ACCEPTED.

18,053.—Sinclair (Welin). Automatic musical instruments.

25,150.—Taylor. Machines for public amusement.

27,160.—Richter. Talking machines.

28,704.—Gravity railways for recreation purposes.

1,238.—Hamley. Apparatus for performing an illusion or conjuring trick with a die or dice.

4,470.—Bontchev. Reproducing apparatus for talking machines.

12,549.—Opel. Needles for sound-reproducing machines.

SPECIFICATIONS OPEN TO INSPECTION.

16,272.—Belin. Apparatus for reproducing at a distance pictures or designs.

16,498.—Craven. New toy.

ABRIDGMENTS OF SPECIFICATIONS.

6,444.—Railways for recreation; electric switches. Marshall, P., Blackpool, Lancashire; Metcalfe, C.C., Sale, Cheshire; and Knowles, W., Bolton, Lancashire.

The speed of a vehicle on an amusement railway is controlled by the rider, and means are provided whereby, when a predetermined limit of speed is reached or exceeded, the speed of the vehicle is either retarded or almost arrested.

When the vehicle is propelled electrically, this is accomplished by means of the switch shown in Figs. 3, 4, and 6. A switch lever (*e*1), loosely mounted on a shaft (*e*2), has pivoted to it at *g*1 another switch lever (g). These levers travel over contact-pieces (e) and quadrants (*e*3). The shaft (*e*2) is rotated by a controlling-handle (*e*8), and has fixed to it a lever (f) carrying a catch-piece (*f*1), which engages with a piece (*e*5) fixed to the lever (e). When the handle (*e*8) is rotated in the direction of the arrow, resistance is cut out of the circuit and the speed of the vehicle increases. As the rider continues to rotate the handle, the inclined face (*f*2) of the piece (*f*1) comes in contact with the fixed projection (k), thus releasing the switch lever, which is drawn by the spring (*e*6) into the position shown in Fig. 6. The speed is thus reduced, and the user has to turn his handle back to allow the pieces *f*1 and *e*5 to engage. The levers are prevented from entirely cutting off the current by a stop (h), which forms the armature of an electro-magnet (Fig. 5). When the current is cut off from the conductors by the main switches, the piece (h) descends and allows the lever (*e*1) to rest against the stop (*e*7). Further, when the lever (*e*1) is released by the piece (k), the current traverses the coil (*m*1) of an electrically-operated brake (m), which acts on the tyre of one of the wheels (n) of the vehicle. When the vehicles are made in the form of horses, the switch device may be operated by means of the reins. A portion of the track on which the vehicles run may be without conductor, or may be connected to separate switches, so that the riders cannot start until the attendants permit them. If steam is the motive power, a device may be used to cut off steam when a certain speed is reached. A similar device may also be used to control the time of firing of an explosion motor.

6,373.—Targets. Williams, J., and Lawrence, E., both of Swansea.

A recording-target for air-gun or miniature-rifle shooting consists of a roll (e) of paper or the like behind the target plate (a), and a spring-controlled ram (c), which strikes a bell (i) when a bullet passes through the bulls-eye (b) and impinges on the head of the ram. The recording-strip is guided by a plate (f), having a hole in alinement with the hole (b), and supported by the bar (g), which also supports the ram. The target plate is sunk on the inside of the scoring rings (j), to prevent splashing of the bullets.

6,695.—Exhibitions, &c. Grave, T. H., of Nelson, Lancashire.

A cycle track is driven positively by machinery, such as an electric motor, while a motor-car or cycle is driven or ridden in either direction within the wheel. When the wheels of the vehicle are locked, it is carried round with the track.

FILM GOSSIP.

Showmen and Managers throughout the United Kingdom, and in every English-speaking country, will find in this column particulars of some of the best and newest Films in the Market. Many of these Films we have seen ourselves, and can confidently recommend showmen to add them to their list of attractions.

Pathé Frères.

"THERE IS A SMELL OF SMOKE HERE."—Some comic scenes occur in this film. The doorkeeper is made anxious by a thick smoke coming forth from every window in the building. He is very much alarmed and sends for the fire brigade. Yet everything is in perfect order everywhere. On the first floor a married couple are having their dinner, and the steam of the soup just brought in goes out of the window. On the second floor a lady with a sore throat is having a fumigation. On the third floor a gentleman is having a bath. On the fourth floor a man and a woman are trying to kindle the fire in a small stove, and on the fifth floor a dauber is doing his own cooking. From every window the steam issues and seems to become thicker every minute, until a cold and unexpected jet of water comes and disturbs everybody. The firemen are performing their duty. They have been told to subdue the smoke and steam, and they mean to do it.

THE ASPIRATOR is also a humorous series. Two jokers having stolen a street-cleaning aspirator they saw in the street, put it up at the next corner, and the passers-by disappear one after another into its mouth. A well-dressed lady, a nurse and baby, a parcel of delicacies, pieces of furniture, and several policemen go the same way down the monster. At last the street-cleaners come back, and seeing at a glance what is happening, they send the jokers down the pipe. Then working the apparatus backwards, they make everybody and everything come to light again, somewhat bruised perhaps, but complete.

A FATHER'S FAULT.—A poor young woman had been foolish enough to believe in the false promises of a man whom she loved dearly; but when he tells her that they must part she gathers up her courage, and works hard to earn her living and that of her small son. Now she is looking after their humble home while her boy is out working for her and for himself. One day she meets accidentally the man who has wrecked her life and who is now richly married and the father of a lovely daughter. In spite of her now comparatively smooth life, all her former despair and grief has weakened the poor woman, and this last meeting proves too much for her. She dies shortly afterwards, after revealing to her son the secret of his birth. Jack will have his mother avenged, but Fate selects for him a way he had not dreamed of, for he saves his half-sister from drowning, and, after all, forgiveness is sweeter than revenge.

GLUE-MAKING.—Extremely interesting and instructive are the pictures of various phases of this industry. Thus we witness the various processes, including the selection of the raw material, opening the steaming-pan, boiling the glue in a cauldron, straining the glue, placing the remains of the bones in the oven, and from the oven to the pounding room, sacks of bone powder, the moulded glue taken to the drying room, the blocks of glue cut into sheets and placed on racks, and the drying and packing.

FRANCO-BRITISH EXHIBITION.—Messrs. Pathé Frères have just issued an attractive film descriptive of the White City. The scenes include the entrance to the Exhibition, the Court of Honour, a trip by water, the flip-flap, Pharaoh's Daughter, the scenic railway, the spider's web, Paillard's Restaurant, fire cascades, and the Pathé Pavilion.

Charles Urban Trading Co., Ltd.

QUEBEC: THE TERCENTENARY CELEBRATION.—The Urban Company has secured a really magnificent series of pictures dealing with the visit of the Prince of Wales to Quebec. Many privileges and courtesies were extended to the operators of the company, and the result is that, from commanding positions, numerous photographs were taken. These afford fine views of the harbour at Quebec, the steaming in of H.M.S. Indomitable, the French and English warships, dressed rainbow fashion, firing a Royal salute, the landing of the Prince, inspection of the Guard of Honour, march of Canadian troops through the gaily-decorated streets, Champlain's ship, the Don de Dieu, fully manned, sailing down the harbour, a grand review of 20,000 troops by his Royal Highness on the Plains of Abraham, and the Wolfe-Montcalm procession. Altogether this film forms a brilliant production.

KING EDWARD AND THE GERMAN EMPEROR AT FRIEDRICHSCHOF.—These pictures, we are told, were taken through the granting of "Imperial favour," and the favour is one that the public will appreciate quite as much as the Urban Company. We are shown the Kaiser awaiting the arrival of our King, the meeting and greeting of the monarchs, introductions and salutations, a panorama of the prettily-decorated town and of Schloss Friedrichschof, the Royal party in the park, and their departure by motor for Homburg. It is an interesting and attractive series.

THE BLIND WOMAN'S DAUGHTER.—This pathetic drama of singular beauty, sympathetically treated and teeming with incident, will ensure to the exhibitor every mark of approval. A blind beggar woman is led to her pitch outside a public building by her daughter, who has excited the admiration of a gentleman of leisure. The girl listens to his protestations and allows herself to be led away by her admirer, leaving the helpless mother alone. Charitable passers-by give alms, and the satisfied beggar calls for her daughter to conduct her home. Receiving no response, she becomes alarmed and in groping about falls down. She is assisted by a kind-hearted lady, who tenderly cares for her in her rooms. Meanwhile the girl, torn between affection for her mother and love for her suitor, decides to stay in the luxurious quarters he has provided. Suitably attired, she accompanies him on a motor drive. The blind woman's grief is excessive, and after restlessly roaming about the room in which she has been left, she passes through an open window on to a balcony. The railings offer no protection, and she falls into the street below. Passers-by raise the old woman and a motor is summoned to convey her to a hospital. By a coincidence the car is the one in which her daughter is taking an airing. The scenes which follow are touching in their portrayal of the grief and remorse of the girl by the bedside of her mother, by the sympathy of her lover, and by the beautiful garden episode in which the convalescent old lady gives her blessing to the union of her daughter and the man of her choice.

THE EVER-LAUGHING GENTLEMAN.—Situations which usually cause chagrin, grief, anger, pity, or remorse, as they arise, only excite uncontrollable mirth in this exuberantly comic series. He makes endless mistakes, does much damage, tramples upon wounded feelings, injuring himself and others in the process, but always comes up smiling—nay, laughing—even when called upon to pay for breakages arising out of his own clumsiness.

AMATEUR BRIGANDS.—This is the amusing story of a love-smitten artist, and his ruse for securing the girl of his heart, after his suit had been scornfully rejected by her parents. Assembling his chums, he unfolds his plot, dresses them in conventional brigand costumes, and despatches the gang to waylay the girl's parents. This they do, holding up the old man's motor in a secluded forest glade. They are proceeding to bind their victims when the artist arrives and effects a rescue, scattering the brigands to right and left. The parents are so grateful that consent to the union is at once given, and a passing priest performs the ceremony. At subsequent family rejoicings to celebrate the nuptials the brigands appear as friends of the artist. They are recognised, and the angry father is only appeased after much feminine cajolery. The picturesque woodland scenery, the finished acting, and the general setting of this fascinating subject will commend themselves to every audience.

Jury's Imperial Pictures.

THE management of the Alhambra has entered into an arrangement for the exhibition nightly of Jury's Imperial Pictures. Nowadays so popular is the bioscope that great is the competition to obtain the latest and most up-to-date illustrations of incidents topical and otherwise, but the directors of the National Variety Theatre are confident that they will be able to give the public a constant change of interesting subjects gathered from every part of the world by means of Jury's Imperial Pictures.

Gaumont Company.

OUTWITTING THE ROBBER.—An amusing story is here told, the scene in which it is set being very beautiful and picturesque. An old man leaves a monastery to beg for alms. He is successful in his pleadings and collects a goodly sum. On the journey back he passes through exquisite woods and a fine view is seen of a river rushing along. He is stopped by a robber while in the wood, who relieves him of his money. He implores the robber to shoot bullets through his gown so that he can show he has been attacked and so get further alms. The robber, not seeing through the ruse, readily assents, and wastes all his bullets on the old man. Now comes the latter's opportunity. Springing on the robber, he half strangles him, and leaving him senseless, secures possession of the stolen money.

THE OLD SHEPHERD.—This is a very sensational and dramatic subject, and the views showing the old shepherd thrown over the cliffs by his would-be murderer, and the subsequent hazardous undertaking, which, happily, ends in his rescue by being hauled up the side of a precipice, cannot fail to thrill the spectator. Other capital Gaumont films are entitled PUT PA AMONGST THE GIRLS, THE LITTLE FLOWER SELLER, A SUPERINTENDENT'S NIGHT OUT, CHRIST AND THE WOMAN WHO SINNED, and THE APOSTLE OF LIBERTY.

ACCORDING to an American Consular report from Chemnitz, a German chemist has lately perfected a process which brings into competition with celluloid a new composition possessing similar plastic and elastic properties, but free from the easy and somewhat dangerous combustibility common to celluloid articles.

THE latest application, that with regard to cinematograph films, is amongst the most important. Its manifest superiority over celluloid for this purpose results from its non-combustibility. A film exposed for ten minutes to the concentrated light of an arc lamp does not exhibit the slightest alteration. A celluloid film, under the same conditions, bursts into flame after the lapse of only three seconds. The cinematograph has now entered so extensively into the category of popular entertainments that a film material will be most welcome which will obviate the serious danger thus far attendant upon the employment of the current mechanism, and already productive of several tragic catastrophes.

KINEMATOGRAPH REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE USE OF THE

KINEMATOGRAPH

IN

THEATRES & HALLS,

ALSO THE

REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE USE OF

LIMELIGHT

CAN BE HAD,

Price ONE PENNY (by post 1½d.)

FROM

"THE ERA" OFFICES,

5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, W.C.

Telephones No. 4747 and 1433 Central.

Telegraphic Address, "The Era, London.

All those who handle the Cinematograph or Limelight should possess a copy of these Regulations.

KINEMATOGRAPH COPYRIGHT.

THE LAW AFFECTING THE SAME.

BY

WILLIAM JAGO, F.I.C., F.C.S.,

BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

Price SIXPENCE.

Address, THE PUBLISHER.

"THE ERA" OFFICES,

5, TAVISTOCK-ST., LONDON, W.C.

Telephones: Nos. 4747 and 1433 Central.
Telegraphic Address, "The Era, London."

A JUVENILE EQUESTRIENNE.

LITTLE MONA CONNOR.

The delightful little artist above named is the daughter of Mr. F. J. Connor, the proprietor of the Circus, Douglas, which he has controlled since July 20, 1895. Mr. F. J. Connor is one of the cleverest managers in England's far-reaching Empire, and his dossier, which appeared in a recent issue of The Era, determines it. But the accentuated talent of the clever young artist who is the subject of the present sketch comes from the mother as well. Her mother made her first appearance as a Risley performer at the age of four years with her uncle, Herbert Lenton, of the celebrated Lenton Family, at Berlin, and then toured the Continent with success. Afterwards, under the tutorship of Mr. Johnny D'Auban, she became the principal in the celebrated Dorothy Quartet of vocalists and dancers. Little Mona has appeared before the public in Manchester, London, and Glasgow, in conjunction with her brother as the tiny cake-walkers. "What is bred in the bone comes out in the flesh," and Little Mona took to riding on her own account. Her love for horses is a passion. The happiest moments are when she is practising on her pretty pony Shamrock, and the supreme exaltation happens at night, when audiences applaud her dashing hurdle act at her father's circus in Douglas. So great has been Little Mona's success that artists and the public have, in conjunction, presented her with an illuminated address and a gold medal. The address is signed by, amongst others, Mr. Tom Shaw, the well-known agent, and Mr. Chas. Fox, jun., the manager of the Palace, Derby Castle, and the Gaiety Theatre. A gratifying compliment to a clever little lady. It should be added that her brilliant progress as an equestrienne was to a great extent owing to the care and pains of her tutors, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ernest, of the Ernest Troupe of equestrians, who are at present engaged in Mr. Connor's company.

LITTLE MONA CONNOR.

Humber's Waxwork.

The principal attraction at Humber's waxwork, Aberdeen, this week, is the appearance of the Mysterious Women of the East, who are expert mental telepathists. They thoroughly succeed in pleasing and mystifying the audiences.

THE Lancashire "Wakes" and holidays are sending trippers to New Brighton in numbers that make the Tower and grounds look like a perpetual picnic, and, consequently, every one of the many attractions in this popular park is doing exceptionally good business at present. The Cummins' Wild West Show has not enjoyed such popularity since the beginning of the season as it is now. The houses are constantly filled, and the performance really improves as the time goes on, and is altogether one of the best Wild West shows extant. The variety performance in the theatre has added very materially to the popularity of the park and to the financial gain of the management. For this week "Cestria," a comedy juggler and acrobatic waiter, is the principal feature, but he is forced to divide attention with such competent entertainers as Alma Curzon, singing comedienne and burlesque artiste, and Mr. Peter Lloyd, the mimetic comedian, with his marvellous imitations of birds, animals, and musical instruments. The Tower Bioscope naturally holds its own as a pleasing attraction.

FOR next week on the Bioscope the Marathon Race will be run over again for the special benefit of the patrons of the Tower, in addition to which Miss Rose Conroy, a most pleasing and pretty dancing and singing soubrette, will be the attraction, as will also the marvellous Days, in their second-sight readings, in which they are said to out the Danzics. In addition to these will be Monetta and Ford, comic knockabout artists. Every Thursday the management will provide dancing competitions, and the entire country in and about Liverpool is sending representatives to compete for the many prizes offered.

ON Aug. 31, for one week only, in the theatre, the Countess Romanoff will illustrate the perfection of poetry of motion in a series of classic dances, the principal of which will be the now famous dance of Salome before Herod, and in which she will introduce the famous head of John the Baptist scene. The Countess is a beautiful woman, highly finished in her art, and this engagement will be her only one for this season in or about Liverpool, as she leaves very shortly for a tour of Australia. On Sept. 19 the annual Eisteddfod will take place at New Brighton Tower, notwithstanding the fact that some interested party has started a rumour to the contrary. Already a larger number of entrances have been made than in years past, and everything indicates that a successful Eisteddfod will be held.

A HUMOROUS programme is presented this week at the Pier Pavilion, New Brighton, and business is satisfactory, the company including Mr. Fred Walmsley, Mr. Marriott Edgar, Messrs. Fielding and Hull, Miss Mildred Bryan, Miss Nell Emerald, and Miss Josey Leyton. Mr. Bernard Knox is a painstaking accompanist.

INDISPENSABLE! Rayne's Pocket Date Book. Price 1s. Contents: Map (19in. by 10in.), showing the distance betwixt the various music halls at a glance. Will tell if one hall is within the barring radius of the other, thus saving fears, worry, and anxiety. All about artists' luggage, list of clubs, information about stamping contracts, foreign money-table, London music halls and theatres, their telephone numbers, list of brougham proprietors, list and address of photographers, size of theatrical printing paper, names and addresses of theatrical railway managers, &c., &c. Send twelve stamps to the Publisher, The Era Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(Continued from page 16.)

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—GRAND.—Manager, Mr. H. E. Feather.—Mr. Hamilton Baines is presenting H. Keates-Hales's No. 1 company in His Lordship's Arrival. The cast includes Mr. J. M. Stringer as Lord Francis Hurstbury; Mr. Arthur Lenville as William J. Binks; Mr. J. Herbert Willis as Hon. Algernon Fitzderry; Mr. Johnnie Schofield, jun., as Billy; Miss May Lind as Vivienne; Miss Mabel Gregory as Estelle, and Miss Gladys Harvey as Countess de St. Ives.

PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. A. E. Dobney.—Houses packed in every available space is the result of the programme submitted this week. The premier turn is that contributed by Dave Samuels, the Hebrew comedian, whose song-parodies and patter keeps his audience in one continued roar of laughter; the Tossing Austins, comedy jugglers and dancers, evoke considerable applause; The Tramp in the Nursery is a conspicuous hit as performed by the Forsyths; Larola, "a clever man with funny ways, has a capital reception; for an all-round clever manipulator on a multitude of instruments, it would be difficult to beat Virto, whose performance was accorded rousing applause; other capital turns are provided by Rose Cabini, a captivating comedienne; Pearce and Ward, dancers and burlesque boxers; Goggin and Davies, acrobatic comedians, and Raymond's Bio-tableaux.

WEST STANLEY.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mark H. Lindon; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. Kelly.—Mr. W. H. Hallatt's company in the successful drama Two Little Sailor Boys is appearing here to crowded houses. A powerful company includes Mr. H. E. Herbert as Commander Noel Tregurthen and Miss Blanche Steele as Lola Grey. Miss Crawford and Miss Ivy Millars as the sailors boys are excellent.

VICTORIA THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. T. C. Rawes; Stage-Manager, Mr. George C. Montrose.—This popular place of entertainment opened to a crowded house on Monday after the summer vacation. Topping the bill are Harland and Rollison, the musical marvels, in their refined acts. Also in the bill are Cora Corina, vocalist; the Three Lancashire Colliers, in a singing act; Brothers Lavelle, society acrobats; and Millie Nora, instrumentalist, the Vicoscope concluding a capital programme.

WEYMOUTH.—ROYAL JUBILEE HALL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. J. Nobbs.—On Monday evening Mr. Robert Courtneidge's company appeared here in The Dairymaids, and met with a splendid reception. Miss Isa Bowman as Peggy received quite an ovation, and Mr. Edwin Dodds convulsed the house with his drollery as Joe Mivens; Miss Maud Lucy won rounds of applause as Eliza, and Dr. O'Byrne, as played by Mr. Frank Barclay, was in capable hands; Miss Dorothy Belmore was remarkably good as Lady Brudenell, and Winnie and Helen were charmingly represented by Miss Mora Hersee and Miss Connie Beaugarde; Sam Brudenell was capitally played by Mr. Sam Lysons, as also Lieut. Frank Meredith by Mr. Frank Manger, and Miss Kitty Kirwan was Miss Pyechase to the manner born; Mr. J. H. Bernard as Lieut. Brereton, Mr. Paul Smythe as Tim Capers, and Mr. E. L. Lawson as Todgers were all good in their respective parts. The Sandow Girls were encored again and again, and Peggy's song, "Put me into trousers," brought down the house.

WHITBY.—THE SPA THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Payne Seddon.—Miss Emma Hutchinson and Mr. Percy Hutchinson's company appeared here during the first three days of the week in Mrs. Ponderbury's Past, and attracted splendid houses. Mr. George Mudie gives a fine rendering of Mr. Ponderbury, and Mr. Drew Mackintosh cleverly portrays the rôle of Mr. Mervyn Thorpe; Mr. Chas. A. Staite is clever in the part of Mr. Hyacinth Grayling, whilst Mr. Geo. Child is a capable Capt. John Rumford, R.N. Miss Annie Stalman is powerful in the rôle of Mrs. Ponderbury, and gains the frequent applause of the audience; Miss Florence Wix is remarkably good as Mme. Polaca Modgeski; and Miss Florence Wellesley as Ethel Penniston gives a fine interpretation of the rôle. Mr. Alfred Ibberson as Peter keeps the company in continuous merriment. The remaining parts are in capable hands. On Thursday Mr. J. Bannister Howard's company opened in The Belle of Mayfair.

WIDNES.—ALEXANDER THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiddie.—A Country Girl in London is being presented here by Messrs. Alfred Northway and W. V. Garrod's company. Mr. W. V. Garrod as Frank Gordon makes a fine hero; Mr. John B. Sheridan is sound as John Hamilton; Mr. G. Moreton-Williams makes the part of Godfrey Clinton fairly reek with villainy; Mr. Clifford Marle plays forcibly as Job Smithers; Mr. E. W. Avery draws a clever and amusing portrait of Heinrich Oppenheim, a German; Mr. Seymour Perry is also very humorous as Wilberforce Puddyphat. Miss Josephine Colona is a sweet Gwendoline Gordon; the Adelaide Puddyphat of Miss Lesley Adair is a good performance; and Miss Bertha Kingston in the title-rôle plays with sympathy.

WIGAN.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co.—The Coal King is being accorded a splendid reception on the occasion of a return visit. Miss Winifred Love excels in her charming impersonation of Grace Shirley; Miss Joan Wellman as Mad Ann renders valuable assistance; Mr. A. C. Alderson is particularly successful in the rôle of Tom Roberts; and the character of the Coal King is in the capable hands of Mr. Ulick Burke. Mr. G. Banbury is a conspicuous success as Walter Hartford; Mr. F. Dalton is exceptionally good as Dick Shirley; and in his clever impersonation of Jim Williams, Mr. S. Roberts keeps the house convulsed with merriment.

THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co.—Some excellent feats of head-balancing are displayed by the Willo Brothers; the Martines, trampolin acrobats, contribute a very acceptable number; Alfred Chester makes a decided hit with his song "The Duke"; Nash and Noel are patter comedians of much merit; Mabel Mavis is responsible for a novel musical speciality, and her glassophone selections are highly appreciated. Ward and Davies introduce some good comedy and original dancing, and Nellie Walton appears with success as a singing mill-girl. Little Rene is an expert juggler; Dunn and Reano are excellent comedians; Roy Beavis mystifies the audience with his tricks; and the dancing of the Sisters Barnes is loudly applauded.

THE EMPIRE.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Co.; District-Manager, Mr. Gerald Hunt; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Marco.—An excellent series of pictures is shown this week, including the following subjects:—Saved by St. Bernard's, The Bargee's Daughter, A Death-bed Marriage, together with many humorous films. A. L. Guthrie is a versatile comedian, who introduces singing, dancing, and a musical pot-pourri act, and Miss Julia Spencer, ballad vocalist, is also well received.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, Wolverhampton Empire Palace Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Barnard; Resident-Manager, Mr. Gerald Spencer.—Messrs. Glenville and Osmond's company in A Soldier of France is proving a strong attraction here this week. Mr. Leonard Aardale does exceedingly well as Corporal Jean; Mr. Edward Hobart plays with sincerity and feeling as Capt. Louis Lorraine, and afterwards as Lieut. Louis. Judas Delara is skilfully interpreted by Mr. Albert Guyon. In the character of Duke D'Laval Mr. Milton C. Curtis shows marked ability; Miss Florence Zillwood, in the difficult part of Pauline Lorraine, gives an excellent performance; and Miss Dora Weber is very good as Rita. As Master Louis Lorraine Little Gertie Renaud shows cleverness. Mr. Freddie Edwards and Miss Jennie Clare cause plenty of amusement as Pollyputt Jollyboy and Margot respectively.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, The Wolverhampton Empire Palace, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Frank Weston.—An excellent programme is presented here. The bill is headed by Fred Ginnett and company, in the popular sketch Dick Turpin's Ride to York; Mr. Ernest Rees is well received, and causes much laughter. That excellent comedian Sammy Shields proves a strong favourite with his up-to-date patter and his football song; Will Van Allen, the the musical tramp, is really good; Ara, Zebra, and Vora's acrobatic performance is clever; Godfrey James, the tenor collier, and Jessie Merrilees each sing tunefully, and earn well-merited applause. The Two Clares also do well.

WORCESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. C. Wards.—Variety shows continue to find favour, and the high standard set by the esteemed lessee has been well maintained. This week the "star" turn is by Sears, described as "America's foremost illusionist," who successfully mystifies his audience by the ease with which he extricates himself from a closed cabinet, a strait waistcoat, and other impediments to freedom. Lozelle's gymnastic performance is wonderfully good; and the Lizette troupe of lady acrobats is most popular. The Grosvenor Trio of female voices finds considerable favour; Lomas, the manmonkey, does some clever feats on a rope and pole; and some clever tumbling by the Gentrys is a very welcome item. The Harrison Brothers as "the Golfing Johnnies" are very funny; and George Prince and Harry Bland contribute acceptable musical items.

WORTHING.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Herr C. Adolf Seebold.—Mr. George Edwardes's company was here for the first three nights of the week presenting The Merry Widow. Mr. Edward D'Arcy as Baron Popoff puts in some effective work, his quaint mannerisms causing roars of laughter; Mr. Ripley Evans as Viscomte Camille de Jolidon possesses a fine tenor voice and uses it to perfection; Mr. Fred Fowler funnily impersonates the part of Nisch; Mr. William Allison as the Marquis de Cascada is very good; Mr. Frank Greene as Prince Danilo combines a fine presence with an excellent voice, and carried all before him; Miss Lucy Donati is droll as Prascovia; Miss Mysie Devine soon installed herself a favourite as Sonia, the rendering of her musical numbers being very fine. She also dances well. The remainder of the cast were efficient. The company as a whole is a strong one, and success gained was evidenced by unstinted applause from crowded houses. For the rest of the week Mr. Mouillot's company were billed with The Girl Behind the Counter.

WINTER HALL.—Manager, Mr. Shanley.—The pictures here are of a high standard as usual. Aunt Maria's Tight-Rope, Boulter's Lock, Chemist's Mistake, Fun at the Fair, Faked Blind Man, Harmless Bull Fight, Vanderbilt's Coaches at Olympia, &c., are amongst the best.

WREXHAM.—EMPIRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Jno. J. Scott.—This week Edmund Caselli, a clever banjoist, has made a hit; McCarthy, in his speciality At the Bar, introducing six characters, is very smart; Miss Edna Francis is a pleasing characteristic vocalist and dancer; and Lena Page, a burlesque actress, is good.

YORK.—ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Waddington; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Dacre.—Hardie and Von Leer's company is once more producing Two Little Vagabonds with great success. Miss Denise Zaleski and Miss Alice Leon are capital representatives of Dick and Wally; and the many telling situations have full justice done to them. As George Thornton Mr. R. A. Greene plays a trying rôle with much skill; Miss Florence Dalton acts powerfully as Marion Thornton; and Miss Marie Pritchard is sufficiently repulsive as Biddy.

OPERA HOUSE AND EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sidney Brook.—The La Faille Troupe head the bill, and give a very smart performance; the Garganis, too, prove a popular turn; Rich. Taylor is a clever and amusing ventriloquist; and Flora Lumière, "the Human Butterfly," scores a distinct success. As of yore, Agnes Molteno in her scena is warmly received; Hearne and Palmer give a clever acrobatic act; Lucy Coventry, dances to the delight of all; and the Sisters Benson find much favour.

ST. GEORGE'S HALL, BELFAST.

A new addition to the places of entertainment in the Ulster capital was made on Monday, when the above building opened with a success that augurs well for the future. Many years ago this hall was a popular resort, and it has now been reopened under the most auspicious circumstances. Entertainments, Ltd., an enterprising company, who secured the hall some months ago, has certainly not been idle during the period of closure. Under the direct supervision of Mr. Robert Wilson, the general-manager, formerly manager of Messrs. David Allen and Son's London establishment, the hall has been entirely renovated and beautifully decorated, a new stage has been built, and commodious dressing-rooms fitted. Numerous exits have been provided, and the entire audience can be let out in less than three minutes. The programmes to be submitted will consist for the main part of the finest animated pictures and high-class variety entertainments. The Filmograph used is of the most up-to-date kind, being enclosed in fireproof iron casing and driven by electric motor. By an ingenious method all the electric lights in the house are controlled from the operator's box, so that simultaneously with the withdrawal of the pictures from the screen the hall is briliantly illuminated. Messrs. Dean, of Birmingham, had charge of the seating arrangements.

The programme submitted on the reopening night was certainly one to please the most fastidious. Among the films exhibited were Tyrolean Manners and Customs, The Dieppe Motor Races, 1908, a most exciting series, His First Frock-coat, The Matinée Hat, Blue Beard, Peggy's Portrait, Jack's Rival, &c. Mr. Vernon Harcourt appeared during the evening, and recited "The Dream of Eugene Aram," and Mme. Vernon Harcourt played a number of musical instruments cleverly. Prince Sehaboo, Hindu basso, was also accorded a good reception. The orchestra was under the skilful direction of Mr. Fred G. Bathurst. It should be added that Mr. Fred Arthur was most indefatigable in his efforts to please the crowd of patrons who assembled at the initial performance.

EARLY DELIVERY.

Special newspaper express services now running on the London and North-Western, Great Northern, Midland, and Great Central Railways carry The Era to the following important cities and towns at the times named. Newsvendors and subscribers obtain their papers at a much earlier hour than was previously possible:—Rugby, 4.39 a.m.; Coventry, 4.54 a.m.; Birmingham, 5.20 a.m.; Crewe, 6.5 a.m.; Manchester, 6.50 a.m.; Liverpool, 7 a.m.; Chester, 9.3 a.m.; Doncaster, 6.10 a.m.; York, 7 a.m.; Hull, 8.20 a.m.; Darlington, 8.58 a.m.; Scarborough, 10.5 a.m.; Newcastle, 10.10 a.m.; Leeds (Central), 6.58 a.m.; Huddersfield, 7.37 a.m.; Bradford (Exchange), 7.47 a.m.; Harrogate, 7.50 a.m.; Halifax, 8.17 a.m.; Burnley, 9.28 a.m.; Leicester, 4.36 a.m.; Nottingham, 5.10 a.m.; Derby, 5.35 a.m.

A COPY of "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

GARCIA AS A TEACHER.

"At the Academy weekly concerts," writes Mr. Sterling Mackinlay in "Garcia the Centenarian and His Times," "Garcia generally had a pupil singing, and would sit in front, nodding, waving his hand, and generally doing his best to establish telepathic communication with the vocalists, that he might inspire them with his spirit. At one of these Marie Tempest was due to sing with orchestra an air from 'Ernani,' which had been carefully studied under her master.

"The conductor waved his hand, and the aria was commenced. After a few bars Manuel Garcia began to fidget in his seat, then to frown, and to beat time with his feet. At last the veteran could stand it no longer. He rose from his seat, leapt on to the platform—approaching his eightieth year as he was,—and seized the bâton from the conductor's hand, exclaiming, 'Mon Dieu! you are ruining my pupil's song. I will conduct it myself.'

"Shortly after this episode Miss Tempest, as a member of the operatic class, took part in a mixed performance which included an act from Carmen and another from The Mock Doctor.

"Alberto Randegger was present at this, and came up to her afterwards, saying, 'Miss Etherington, you must undoubtedly go on the stage.'

"'After that,' said Miss Tempest, 'I seemed to be on the boards before I knew where I was.'

"'The first piece in which I appeared was Boccacio, at the Comedy Theatre; from that I went to the Opéra Comique for Fay o' Fire, and then came Dorothy, and—the rest.' What a record it has been, that series of triumphs in light opera, concert, and comedy, thus dismissed with a smile and a characteristic shrug of the shoulders as—'the rest'!

"Another pupil of Garcia at the Academy about this time was Mme. Agnes Larkcom.

"Arthur Oswald, now a professor at the Royal Academy of Music, tells me that at one of his lessons he was stopped by Señor Garcia with the word 'wrong!' He was surprised, because he felt sure that he had sung the right notes in time and tune, and with careful attention to the words and vocal phrasing. 'I will give you five minutes to find out,' said Garcia to the puzzled pupil when he asked to be told the fault. At the end of that time the master said, 'Voix blanche, voix ouverte, voix horrible.'

"Mr. Oswald recounted another episode which was very typical. His friend William Nicholl, after studying under various Continental and English masters, was anxious to have an interview with Garcia to make sure that he had assimilated correct ideas. A meeting was accordingly arranged, and he went up to 'Mon Abri,' expecting to be put through some sort of catechism as to the human voice and the principle of singing. Instead of this, Garcia, on learning his visitor wished to teach, motioned him to the piano-stool. 'Will you sit down, please? Merci. Now, you are the master, I am the pupil. I know absolutely nothing. Give me my first lesson.'

"Nicholl commenced to carry out this very practical test of his powers to the best of his ability. All went well till in an unlucky moment he mentioned the phrase 'voice-production,' which was the maestro's pet aversion. In an instant Garcia leapt to his feet and banged his fist on the piano. 'Mon Dieu! How can you produce a voice? Can you show it to me and say, "See, here it is. Examine it?" Non! Can you pour it out like molten lead into the sand? Non! There is no such thing as voice-production. Perhaps you mean voice-emission? You do? Eh, bien! Then say so, please.'

"'Through the good offices of a friend,' says another pupil, 'I found myself one day in Garcia's room at the London Academy of Music. He was just finishing a lesson, and I was struck at once by the extreme courtesy and patience with which he taught, the charm of his manner, the directness, the common-sense, and uncommon penetration of his remarks.

"'He welcomed me with a few graceful words, scrutinising me with a keen but friendly glance. Thus I sang to him with much confidence, losing all the nervousness with which I had looked forward to the examination by so famous a judge. He accompanied me gently, yet with firmness and rhythmical decision. When I had finished he looked straight at me, and to my utter astonishment remarked, "You are a philosopher, are you not?"

"'"Oh, I have studied philosophy to some extent," I replied.

"'"What do you think of your performance?"

"'"But I should like to know your opinion," I blurted out.

"'"No, no," he answered. "Tell me what you think of it?"

"'So I told him that I thought I had a voice and an ear, but I was afraid I did not succeed in making a strong appeal, and I was sure I did not know how to sing. He laughed. "Quite right, quite right; you do not sing," he said.'

"'Manuel Garcia's science and cleverness,' writes another, 'enabled him to know at once whether he had to deal with a pupil of promise or not; and unlikely aspirants were not allowed to waste his time and theirs.

"'I remember a notable case in point. A very rich lady offered the master any price if he would only teach her daughter. He refused, knowing well he could never obtain serious work from her; but as the mother persisted, he hit upon a compromise. He asked the ladies to be present during a lesson, and he undertook to teach her if the girl still wished to learn singing after hearing it taught. The lesson began. The pupil—who seemed to the listeners an already finished singer—had to repeat passage after passage of the most difficult exercises before the master was satisfied; he insisted upon the minutest attention to every detail of execution. Mother and daughter exchanged horrified glances, and looked on pityingly. The lesson was finished, the master bowed the ladies out, and in passing the pupil the young girl whispered to her, "It would kill me!" Señor Garcia, returning from the door, said contentedly, "They will not come again. Thank you, mon enfant, you sang well."

"'He was always careful to avoid making his pupils self-conscious by too many explanations. In one case he found a simple way of teaching chest-voice to a girl. "Do you know how a duck speaks?" Señor Garcia asked her. "Imitate it, please."

"'With much giggling, to which he listened patiently, she tried to obey: "Quack, quack."

"'"Good! Now turn this into a singing note; sing one tone lower in the same manner, and one more."'

"A simple enough device, which spared him and his pupil much vexation.

"His knowledge of the human voice and his power of detecting its faults were equally marvellous. He had a pupil who, by singing higher than her natural range, had strained her voice, and it was necessary that she should avoid singing anything in a high register. Once only she disobeyed him, and on entering his room the next day she was greatly surprised that the master's face was flushed with anger. At once he reproached her for having sung soprano. She pleaded guilty. 'But how did you know?'

"'I heard you speak, that is quite enough,' he said; and he told her that in ten years not a note would be left of her brilliant voice. However, on her promising not to disobey his instructions again, Garcia made up his mind to help the girl to come out under his auspices as an oratorio singer. 'But,' he told her, 'you will need one year's uninterrupted study before appearing in public.'

IBSEN'S IDIOSYNCRASIES.

Gregers Werle in The Wild Duck, writes Mr. William Archer in his preface to that play in Mr. Heinemann's fine edition, is unquestionably a piece of ironic self-portraiture. In his habit of "pestering people, in their poverty, with the claim of the ideal," the poet adumbrates his own conduct from Brand onwards, but especially in Ghosts and An Enemy of the People. Relling, again, is an embodiment of the mood which was dominant during the conception of the play—the mood of pitying contempt for that poor thing human nature, as embodied in Hialmar. An actor who, in playing the part of Relling, made up as Ibsen himself, has been blamed for having committed a fault not only of taste, but of interpretation, since Gregers (it is maintained) is the true Ibsen. But the fact is that both characters represent the poet. They embody the struggle in his mind between idealism and cynical despondency. There can be no doubt, however, that in some measure he consciously identified himself with Gregers. In a letter to Mr. Gosse, written in 1872, he had employed in his own person the very phrase, den ideale fordring—"the claim of the ideal"—which is Gregers' watchword. The use of this sufficiently obvious phrase, however, does not mean much. Far stronger evidence of identification is afforded by John Paulsen in some anecdotes he relates of Ibsen's habits of "self-help"—evidence which we may all the more safely accept, as Herr Paulsen seems to have been unconscious of its bearing upon the character of Gregers. "Ibsen," he says, "was always bent upon doing things himself, so as not to give trouble to servants. His ideal was 'the self-made man.' Thus, if a button came off one of his garments he would retire to his own room, lock the door, and, after many comical and unnecessary preliminaries, proceed to sew on the button himself, with the same care with which he wrote the fair copy of a new play. Such an important task he could not possibly entrust to anyone else, not even to his wife. One of his paradoxes was that 'a woman never knew how to sew on a button so that it would hold.' But if he himself sewed it on, it held to all eternity. Fru Ibsen smiled roguishly and subtly when the creator of Nora came out with such anti-feminist sentiments. Afterwards she told me in confidence, 'It is true that Ibsen himself sews on his vagrant buttons; but the fact that they hold so well is my doing, for, without his knowledge, I always "finish them off," which he forgets to do. But don't disturb his conviction; it makes him so happy.'"

"One winter day in Munich," Herr Paulsen continues, "Ibsen asked me with a serious and even anxious countenance, 'Tell me one thing, Paulsen—do you black your own boots every morning?' I was taken aback, and doubtless looked quite guilty as I answered, 'No.' I had a vaguely uncomfortable sense that I had failed in a duty to myself and to society. 'But you really ought to do so. It will make you feel a different man. One should never let others do what one can do oneself. If you begin with blacking your boots, you will get on to putting your room in order, laying the fire, &c. In this way you will at last find yourself an emancipated man, independent of Tom, Dick, or Harry.' I promised to follow his advice, but have unfortunately not kept my word." It is evident that Ibsen purposely transferred to Gregers this characteristic of his own; and the sentiments with which Gina regards it are probably not unlike those which Fru Ibsen may from time to time have manifested. We could scarcely demand clearer proof that in Gregers the poet was laughing at himself.

To Hedvig, Ibsen gave the name of his only sister, and in many respects she seems to have served as a model for the character. She was the poet's favourite among all his relatives. "You are certainly the best of us," he wrote to her in 1869. Björnstjerne Björnson said, after making her acquaintance, that he now understood what a large element of heredity there was in Ibsen's bent towards mysticism. We may be sure that Hedvig's researches among the books left by the old sea-captain, and her dislike for the frontispiece of Harrison's "History of London," are remembered traits from the home-life of the poet's childhood. It does not seem to be known who had the honour of "sitting for" the character of Hialmar. Probably he is a composite of many originals. Moreover, he is obviously a younger brother of Peer Gynt. Deprive Peer Gynt of his sense of humour, and clip the wings of his imagination, and you have Hialmar Ekdal.

I confess I do not know quite definitely what Ibsen had in mind when he spoke of The Wild Duck holding "a place apart" among his productions and exemplifying a technique (for he is evidently thinking of its technical development) "divergent" from that of its predecessors. I should rather say that it marked the continuation and consummation of the technical method which he had been elaborating from Pillars of Society onward. It is the first example of what we may term his retrospective method, in its full complexity. Pillars of Society and A Doll's House may be called semi-retrospective; something like half of the essential action takes place before the eyes of the audience. Ghosts is almost wholly retrospective; as soon as the past has been fully unravelled, the action is over, and only the catastrophe remains; but in this case the past to be unravelled is comparatively simple and easy of disentanglement. An Enemy of the People is scarcely retrospective at all; almost the whole of its action falls within the frame of the picture. In The Wild Duck, on the other hand, the unravelling of the past is a task of infinite subtlety and elaborate art. The execution of this task shows a marvellous and hitherto unexampled grasp of mind. Never before, certainly, had the poet displayed such an amazing power of fascinating and absorbing us by the gradual withdrawal of veil after veil from the past; and as every event was also a trait of character, it followed that never before had his dialogue been so saturated, as it were, with character-revelation. The development of the drama reminds one of the practice (in itself a very bad practice) of certain modern stage-managers, who are fond of raising their curtains on a dark scene, and then gradually lighting it up by a series of touches on the electric switchboard. First there comes a glimmer from the right, then a flash from the left; than the background is suffused with light, so that we see objects standing out against it in profile, but cannot as yet discern their details. Then comes a ray from this batten, a gleam from that; here a penetrating shaft of light, there a lambent glow; until at last the footlights are turned on at full, and every nook and cranny of the scene stands revealed in a blaze of luminosity. But Ibsen's switchboard is far more subtly subdivided than that of even the most modern theatre. At every touch upon it, some single, cunningly-placed, ingeniously-dissembled burner kindles, almost unnoticed save by the most watchful eye; so that the full light spreads over the scene as imperceptibly as dawn grows into day.

It seems to me, then, that The Wild Duck is a consummation rather than a new departure. Assuredly it marks the summit of the poet's achievement (in modern prose) up to that date. Its only possible rival is Ghosts; and who does not feel the greater richness, depth, suppleness, and variety of the later play? It gives us, in a word, a larger segment of life.

A Copy of "The Era" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps. The Era is posted on Saturday in time to reach London Subscribers by the first Town Delivery, and Country Subscribers should receive their Papers by the first London Post. Address, the Publisher, 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.

REVISED SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ARTISTS WANTING ENGAGEMENTS. MANAGERS WANTING ARTISTS,

TWENTY WORDS, ONE SHILLING. Each Additional Six Words, Sixpence.

This Scale does not apply to "Trade" Advertisements in these Columns

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION (Post Free).

	UNITED KINGDOM.	FOREIGN.
One Quarter	6s. 6d.	8s.
Half Year	13s. 0d.	16s.
One Year	26s. 0d.	32s.

The Offices of "The Era" are "THE ERA" BUILDINGS, 5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, STRAND, W.C. For the convenience of Advertisers, Replies to Advertisements are received. They can remain until called for, or be forwarded by Post if postage be arranged.

NO STAMPS.

Advertisers and subscribers are politely requested to forward Cheques or Postal Orders in payment of their Advertisements and Subscriptions, crossed "Lloyd's Bank, Ltd." Remittances should be made payable to "The Era," Limited, and addressed,

The Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C. "Wire," "The Era, London." "Ring-up," 4747 or 1433 Central.

IN case of the non-delivery of "THE ERA" by the First Post, the Publisher will be greatly obliged if Advertisers will forward their Postal Wrappers with the time of delivery marked upon them.

COMPANIES WANTED.

TWENTY WORDS, ONE SHILLING. Each Additional Six Words, Sixpence.

MILTON BODE AND EDWARD COMPTON'S THEATRES.

WANTED, First-Class Companies, for THEATRE ROYAL, BRIGHTON. Nov. 16, Dec. 7, 14, Feb. 8, 15, 22, on. DALSTON THEATRE, LONDON N.E., Dec. 14, Jan. 18, March 8, 29, April 5, 12, on. COUNTY THEATRE, READING, Nov. 16 (three nights), Dec. 7, Jan. 18, Feb. 8, 15, 22, on. OPERA HOUSE, LEICESTER, Feb. 22, March 8, 15, 22, April 5, 12, on. ROYALTY THEATRE, CHESTER, Nov. 9, 16. GRAND THEATRE, WOLVERHAMPTON, Sept. 21, Dec. 14, Jan. 18, Feb. 1, 15, March 1, on THEATRE ROYAL, HUDDERSFIELD, Nov. 30, Feb. 1, 15, 22, March 15, 22, on. OPERA HOUSE, NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 30, Xmas (seven nights), Feb. 22, March 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, April 5. THEATRE ROYAL, LEICESTER, Xmas (7 nights), March 15, 22 29, April 5, on. THEATRE ROYAL, LEAMINGTON, Oct. 5, Nov. 23, 30 Dec. 7, Jan. 4, 11, 25, on. Address, Milton Bode, Theatre, Reading.

WANTED, First-class Attractions for COUNTY THEATRE, BEDFORD, Sept. 14, 21, 28, Oct. 12, 19, Nov. 2, 9, onwards. GRAND THEATRE, LUTON, Aug. 31, Oct. 12, 19, 26, Dec. 14, 21, 28, onwards. THEATRE ROYAL, CANTERBURY, Aug. 31, Sept. 14, 21, 28 Oct. 12, 19, on (three nights only) Address, E. G. Falcon, County Theatre, Bedford

WANTED, First-class Attractions Aug. 31. Wire, Falcon, Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, First-class Attractions Only THEATRE ROYAL, DUBLIN Oct. 12, Nov. 2. OPERA HOUSE, TUNBRIDGE WELLS, Sept. 7, 8, 9 (?), Sept. 14, 15, 16. Apply, F. Mouillot, 1, King-street, Covent Garden, W.C.

BRIXTON THEATRE. WANTED, Important Attractions Musical Attractions preferred, Sept. 28, Oct. 5 Fredk. Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

METROPOLE, GLASGOW, Ltd., WANTED, Pay-Box Attractions Autumn, 1909. Coms., Arthur Jefferson.

THEATRE ROYAL, CARDIFF.

The flowing tide of prosperity would seem to have set in for the Theatre Royal, Cardiff, under the capable management of Mr. Rollo Balmain.—Western Mail, Aug. 18, 1908.

WANTED, Dates, for Premier Attractions only. Share or Certainty. Address, Rollo Balmain, T. R., Cardiff.

WANTED, Known, Sept. 21, 28 vacant, T. R., Cardiff, for the Biggest Attractions only. Address, Rollo Balmain.

THEATRE ROYAL, DARLINGTON. THEATRE ROYAL, DARLINGTON. WANTED, First-class Musical Attractions, Oct. 5, 19, 26. Oct. 5, 19, 26. Vacant to oblige Mr. Macdona. James Bell.

WANTED, First-class Companies, for PAISLEY THEATRE, Oct. 5, Feb. 1, 15, March 8, 29. PERTH THEATRE, Sept. 28, 29, 30 (three nights), Oct. 26, Nov. 30, Dec. 7 Jan. 18, Feb. 8. Address, J. H. Savile, Theatre, Paisley.

THEATRE ROYAL, HULL. WANTED, for Comedy, Musical Pieces, or Melodrama, Sept. 28, Oct. 12, Nov. 2, 9, and 16. Address, W. Morton.

OPERA HOUSE, KIDDERMINSTER. WANTED, Attractions, Vacant Sept. 10, 11, 12 Sept. 28, Oct. 26; holding capacity £100. Bookings, "Prince of Pilsen," "Merry Widow," "Florodora," "Dairymaids," "Knights Were Bold," &c. Address, J. P. Moore, King's Hall, Birmingham.

PALACE THEATRE, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE. WANTED, Strong Dramatic Attraction, Oct. 19 (through transfer), Newcastle Autumn Race Week. Apply, T. W. Rowe.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, WIDNES. WANTED, First-class Companies, for Oct. 12, Nov. 2. and onwards, with exceptions. Address, Thos. Swinton.

WANTED, High-class Companies, Sept. 21 (3), 28 (3 or 6), Oct. 12 (3), Nov. 2 (3 Dunfermline, 3 Paisley), 9 16, 23, 30. W. E. Potts, Opera House, Dunfermline.

IRVING THEATRE, SEACOMBE. WANTED, First-class Attractions, for Sept. 14, also Oct., one or two dates onward. Apply to Owner and Manager, Mr. James Kiernan.

WANTED, Company, five nights, Nov. 2 (Wednesday, Theatre Let for Concert). Address, M. Loader, Opera House, St. Helens.

WANTED, for Theatre Royal, Peterborough, good Companies. Sept. 3, 10, on. Wire, Vernon.

WANTED, First-class Attractions, for Sept. 7, Nov. 2, 16, 23, 30 Wire. Horner, Victoria Theatre, Burnley.

PRINCE OF WALES' THEATRE, GREAT GRIMSBY. WANTED, Company, for Oct. 12, through transfer; only vacancy this year. J. H. Curry, as above.

HOWARD and WYNDHAM, LIMITED. WANTED, First-class Attraction, October 12, Glasgow. All communications, Lyceum Theatre, Edinburgh.

WANTED, Wanted, Companies for present and future dates. James Elphinstone, Lyceum Theatre, Stafford.

COMPANIES WANTED.

WANTED, First-class Companies, ROYAL ARTILLERY THEATRE, WOOLWICH, Gen.-Mans., Arthur Carlton and Sam Duckworth. High-class Attractions only entertained. Vacant Oct. 19, 26, Nov. 2, onward with exceptions

All communications re dates, Arthur Carlton, Theatre Royal, Worcester.

GREENWICH THEATRE, S.E. Vacant Sept. 14, Oct. 5, 12, 26, Nov. 2, onward, with exceptions.

THEATRE ROYAL, WORCESTER. Vacant Nov. 9, Dec. 21, Feb. 22, onward, with exceptions.

THEATRE ROYAL, TON-Y-PANDY. Vacant Dec. 7, 21, 28, April 5, onward, with exceptions.

THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME, BARRY DOCK. Vacant April 12, May 31, June 7, onward, with exceptions.

KING'S THEATRE, GAINSBOROUGH. Vacant Aug. 24, 31, Sept. 7, onward, with exceptions. (First three nights best for Musical pieces; last three nights Drama).

Pantomime, "ALADDIN," Jan. 25, 1909, onward. Pantomime, "CINDERELLA," Jan. 18, 1909, onward. Pantomime, "BABES IN THE WOOD," Jan. 25, 1909, onward.

To Let, on Royalty, several good Dramas, with excellent Plants of Printing, with or without Scenery, including "In Sight of St. Paul's," "Prairie Flower," &c. Arthur Carlton, Theatre Royal, Worcester.

Telegrams, "Carlton, Worcester."

THE GRANVILLE THEATRES, LIMITED. Managing-Director, Mr. Fred Granville.

QUEEN'S THEATRE, LIVERPOOL. WANTED, Powerful Dramatic Attractions, Oct. 12, Nov. 2, Dec. 7, 14, 21, 28, and Spring Dates. GRAND THEATRE, WEST HARTLEPOOL. Wanted, First-class Musical and other London Attractions, Sept. 7, 21, 28, Oct. 12, 19, 26, Nov. 2, 9, 16, 23, 30. THEATRE ROYAL, HYDE. Wanted, Powerful Dramatic Attractions, Sept. 21, 28, Oct. 5, 12, 19, Nov. 2. GRAND THEATRE, RAWTENSTALL. Wanted, Good-class Attractions, Aug. 31 (wire), Sept. 21, 28, Oct. 19, 26. Re Dates, Fred Granville, Queen's Theatre, Liverpool.

ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS. Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson. The Premier Theatre in the Furness District, with a holding capacity of £90 at ordinary prices. WANTED, really First-class London Successes, for Oct. 5, 12, 26, on, with exceptions. Applications for dates to Hugh Robertson, Theatre Royal, Jarrow-on-Tyne.

WANTED, Wanted, Companies, NEW THEATRE ROYAL, BLYTH-BY-SEA. No Vacant Dates this year. 1909, Feb. 22, onwards, with exceptions. EDEN THEATRE, BISHOP AUCKLAND. Vacant Dates:— 1908, Oct. 26 and Nov. 16. 1909, April 5, onwards, with exceptions. The above Theatres are now booked in conjunction. First-class Companies, Musical and Dramatic, are invited to correspond with A. C. Moody, Lessee and Manager, Blyth; or J. Huntley, Manager, Bishop Auckland.

WANTED, First-class Companies, THEATRE ROYAL, LINCOLN. Sept. 17, 18, 19, and 28 (?). NEW THEATRE ROYAL, LOUGHBOROUGH. Only Vacancies, Nov. 16 and Dec. 7 (last three days of week only). NEW GAIETY THEATRE, WORKSOP. Opens Sept. 14; vacant Sept. 21, 28, Oct. 19, Nov. 2, and on (last three days of week only). OPERA HOUSE, LONDONDERRY. Vacant Aug. 31 and on. Wanted, Musical Attraction for Christmas. DUMFRIES AND HAWICK THEATRES. Vacant Oct. 12, 19, and 26, and New Year, for Musical Companies. SPA, WHITBY. All Engagements complete. W. Payne Seddon, Whitby.

QUEEN'S THEATRE, FARNWORTH. WANTED, Powerful Attractions, Oct. 19, Dec. 21, 28, Feb. 1, March 15, April 5. Morton Powell, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

QUEEN'S THEATRE, PEMBROKE DOCK, SOUTH WALES. WANTED, Good Companies, Drama, Musical and Farcical Comedies (those playing two or three pieces weekly preferred), Sept. 7, 28, Nov., onwards with exceptions. Particulars, Tom Barger.

CENTRAL PIER, MORECAMBE. WANTED, good Musical or Farcical Comedies, for Sept. 7 and 14. The finest Pier Pavilion in the World. E. Hill, Manager.

BASINGSTOKE.—CORN HALL. WANTED, Companies. Finest Hall in North Hampshire, now thoroughly restoring by Town Council, also decorating and re-seating, ready for re-opening, Aug. 31. Moderate rental, or shares. S. Walford, Lessee.

WANTED, Known, No Vacant Dates until Feb. 22, March 8 and 29, April 19, and onwards, exceptions. First-class Manager to Produce his own Pantomime, 1909. J. Maurice Clement.

ALNWICK CORN EXCHANGE (Licensed). WANTED, a few early Autumn Bookings; rental only. Apply, Proprietor.

CARLTON THEATRE, BIRMINGHAM. WANTED, Dramatic Company, Aug. 31. Address, James Alexander.

WANTED, First-class Company, T. R., Wednesbury, Aug. 31, through disappointment. Wire, Harry Battersby, T. R., Bilston.

WANTED, Attractions, Oct. 26, Nov. 30, on, Chorley; also Oct. 5, 26, on, Grand, Radcliffe. Address, Sante, Radcliffe.

WANTED, Sound Attractions, Oct. 12 (Musical), 19, and Nov. 9. Apply, Sherwood and Co., Opera House, Wakefield.

LYCEUM, NEWPORT. WANTED, Special Attraction, for Jan. 18, (owing to transfer), Feb. 1 (?), 8 (?), and Autumn, 1909. Sidney Cooper.

PRINCE'S THEATRE, LLANDUDNO. WANTED, Aug. 31, Sept. 3, 7 (three nights each). Apply, J. Ritson, Lessee and Manager.

SPA OPERA HOUSE, BRIDLINGTON. WANTED, through disappointment, First-class Company, three nights, Sept. 7, Musical Comedy preferred. Apply, Harry Tunbridge, Manager.

COMPANIES WANTED.

Booked by MOSS' EMPIRES, LIMITED. BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE, GRAND THEATRE, NOTTINGHAM, BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS, and GRAND THEATRE, GLASGOW.

WANTED, No. 1 Attractions only. BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS. Vacant Dates, Oct. 5, April 26, May 10, May 17, 24, 31. BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE. Vacant Dates, Nov. 23, April 5, May 24, June 7, 14, 21, 28. GRAND THEATRE, NOTTINGHAM. Vacant, Oct. 26, March 22, May 3, 10, 17. GRAND, GLASGOW. Vacant, April 12, 19, May 10, 24, 31, Re-opening Sept. 28, extra strong Attractions Wanted, Musical Comedy preferred. Address, with full particulars, terms, &c., where can be seen, to Moss' Empires, Limited, Cranbourn-mansions, Cranbourn-street, London, W.C. Envelopes marked "Theatres."

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS. Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge. The leading Theatre of the town and district. WANTED, Known, vacant through transfers, Oct. 19, Dec. 7 and 14, and a few onward. Future Bookings include: "The Thief," "A White Man," "Diana of Dobson's," "Jack Straw," "Mrs. Dot," "Lady Frederick," "Brewster's Millions," "With Edged Tools," and the leading Musical Comedies. Apply, Calvert Routledge, H. M. T., BARROW.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, MIDDLESBROUGH. Seating Capacity 3,500. Acknowledged to be one of the largest, best equipped, and most handsome Theatres in the Provinces. The Premier and Central Theatre of the District. WANTED, First-class Attraction, for Nov. 15. Will guarantee anything really big. Now Booking Spring and Autumn, 1909. Autumn Bookings include:—"The Merry Widow," No 1 Moody-Manners Opera Company, Mr. Martin Harvey, Mrs. Brown Potter, "Lady Frederick," Mr. George Alexander, "The Thief," "Merrie England," "A White Man," "Mrs. Ponderbury's Past," "The Sins of Society," J. F. Elliston's Grand Xmas Production, "Humpty Dumpty," &c. All communications, Jno. Ed. Jowsey, Grand Opera House, Middlesbrough. Telegrams, "Magnet." Telephones, 413, 426, 500.

THEATRES WANTED.

WALTER MELVILLE'S NEW PRODUCTION. WANTED, Nov. 23, Dec. 21, 28, Jan. 11. Walter Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"THE GIRL WHO WRECKED HIS HOME," By Walter Melville. WANTED, Nov. 23, Jan. 11. Walter Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"THE GIRL WHO TOOK THE WRONG TURNING," By Walter Melville. WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Dec. 21. Walter Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"THE SOLDIER'S WEDDING," By Walter Melville. WANTED, Theatres, Dec. 7, Feb. 22. Walter Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"A GIRL'S CROSS ROADS," By Walter Melville. WANTED, Theatres, Sept. 28, Oct. 26. Walter Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"HER FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE." WANTED, Theatres, Jan. 4, Feb. 8 (North). Frederick Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"THE UGLIEST WOMAN ON EARTH." WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Oct. 5, 12, Jan. 4, 11. Frederick Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"HER ROAD TO RUIN." WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Sept. 21, Jan. 18, 25. Frederick Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

FREDK. MELVILLE'S NEW PRODUCTION. "MARRIED TO THE WRONG MAN." WANTED, Sept. 28, Nov. 23, 30. Fredk. Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"THE WORST WOMAN IN LONDON." WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Nov. 2, 16, and Xmas. Tom H. Taylor, 14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

"IS LIFE WORTH LIVING?" WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Sept. 28, Oct. 19, 26, Nov. 2. Tom H. Taylor, 14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

"THE FEMALE SWINDLER." WANTED, Theatres, Nov. 9, 23, Dec. 1, and Xmas. Tom H. Taylor, 14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

"THE GIRL WHO LOST HER CHARACTER." WANTED, Oct. 5, Nov. 2, Dec. 14, 26 (Seven Nights). Douglas Bruce, Theatre Royal, Rochdale.

"DRIVEN FROM HOME." WANTED, Oct. 5, 12, 26, Nov. 16, onward. Andrew Melville, Mct. T., Birmingham.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN." WANTED, Theatres, Oct. 19, Nov. 2, 23, Dec. 7, Jan. 11. Charles Harrington, Hall, Blaenavon.

"A ROYAL DIVORCE." WANTED, for this Phenomenal Success, weeks of Oct. 5 and 19. Wire or write, W. W. Kelly, New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

"THE NEW EAST LYNNE." WANTED, weeks of Sept. 28 and Oct. 5, for this Remarkable Success, which, on its last visit to the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin, played to £717 on the week. Wire or write immediately to W. W. Kelly, New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

"DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY." WANTED, Oct. 5, 12, 26, Jan. 4, 18. Address, J. W. Cordiner, County Theatre, Reading.

HARRY NICHOLLS (Drury Lane, Adelphi, &c.), with own Company and Entire Production, in Romantic Costume Play, entitled "IF WE ONLY KNEW." WANTED, Theatres, Oct. 26, Nov. 2. Rupert Cottage, Bedford Park, W.

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY." EUGENE C. STAFFORD'S No. 1 CO. WANTED, Sept. 14, 21, Oct. 12, 19, Nov. 2, 9 16, Xmas week, 7 nights, also Spring, Farewell Tours. Address, 26, Southampton-street, Strand.

Mr. BRANDON THOMAS'S COMPANIES. "CHARLEY'S AUNT." WANTED, Sept. 28, Nov. 9 and 30, Sept. 28, Nov. 9 and 30. Address, Cecil Barth, Grand Theatre, Leeds.

Mr. MONCKTON HOFFE'S COMPANY, "IRENE WYCHERLEY" (by arrangement with Miss Lena Ashwell). Special Company in this Famous Kingsway Theatre Success. Elaborate scenery carried. WANTED, First-class Theatres Only, Sept. 28, and one or two later weeks. Address, M. Hoffe, 4, Duke-street, Adelphi, W.

WANTED, for "The Woman Pays," Jan. 4, 11, 18, Feb. 8, March 15 and 29. Frank M. Thorne, T. R., Leigh, Lancs.

THEATRES WANTED.

MORTON POWELL ENTERPRISES.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
"MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD,"
Oct. 12, 26, Nov. 9, 16.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"WHEN IT WAS DARK."
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
for this Gigantic Money-maker,
Oct. 5, Nov. 30, Dec. 7.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"THE WOMAN WHO GAMBLES."
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
for this still the Strongest Romantic Drama
Touring, Nov. 2, 9 16.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"GREED OF GOLD."
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
for this Wonderful Drama.
Playing to Big Business Everywhere.
Sept. 21 (3 nights), Nov. 16, 23, 30.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"HONOUR THY FATHER."
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
Oct. 12, 19, 26, Nov. 2.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"THE POWER OF THE CROSS."
"A FIGHT FOR A THRONE,"
by Geo. A. De Gray.
WANTED Dates, "The Power of the Cross," Sept. 28 (between Gateshead and Wales). Extracts from Aberdeen Press, Aug. 11, 1908: "The Power of the Cross," presented for the first time in Aberdeen last night, was received with cordial approval, and Mr. Carson's Company are to be congratulated on a highly effective performance. There is not a dull moment from beginning to end, and of the elaborate and tasteful manner in which the play is staged it is almost impossible to speak too favourably. "The Power of the Cross" is a remarkable production which affords exceptional opportunities for enjoyment. The scenery, dresses, and stage-management are beyond reproach, and the acting drew forth much applause. "A FIGHT FOR A THRONE." Wanted, Sept. 28 and Oct. 5, to oblige Stanley Rogers, Esq. (Lancs, Yorks, or North). This, Saltley; next, Alex., Hull. Re dates both plays, GEO. A. DE GRAY, Her Majesty's T., Dundee; next, Metropole, Glasgow.

MISS MARY NEIL
begs to inform Managers that her big Successes,
"FROM SHOP GIRL TO DUCHESS"
(by Charles Darrell)
and
"HER LUCK IN LONDON"
(by Charles Darrell)
are now Booked for two consecutive weeks at each of the following towns: Bradford, Sheffield, Oldham, Burnley, Grimsby, South Shields, Newcastle, Hull, &c.
WANTED, Theatres. Only vacant dates for 1908 are: Oct. 26, Nov. 9, 16 (?), 23, 30, Dec. 28 (?); also a few Spring Dates, 1909, vacant.
Communications to
GEORGE KIRK, Coach and Horses Hotel, Barnsley.

"BEAU BROCADE,"
The New Romantic Play by Baroness Orczy and Montague Barstow,
Authors of
"The Scarlet Pimpernel."
WANTED, Oct. 5, Nov. 2 and 30.
First-class Theatres Only Entertained.
Apply, AUGUSTUS BINGHAM,
10 and 11, Jermyn-street, London, S.W.

"MERELY MARY ANN,"
from the Duke of York's Theatre.
WANTED, Wanted, Theatres,
Vacant Sept. 28 (?), Oct. 5, Vacant.
H. GREVILLE, Lyceum Theatre, Edinburgh.

"IN THE RANKS."
Powerful Company.
New Plant of Printing by David Allen.
Entirely New Scenery and Effects.
WANTED, Good Theatres, Oct. 12,
Xmas, and Spring.
BERESFORD WHITCOMB, Star Theatre, Liverpool.

"FOR HER HUSBAND'S SAKE."
WANTED, Sept. 21, Oct. 5, and on, with exceptions. MULLAR ANDERSON, T.R., Castleford.

"LOVE RULES THE WORLD" CO.
WANTED, for Sidney Rennef's Co., Oct. 26, follow Junction, Manchester, Nov. 2 9, 16, 23, Christmas, and New Year. Strong cast, including Miss Gertrude Sterroll, Constance Medwyn, Kitty Russell, Annie Brunnette, Stephen Langton, Richard Vane, Walter Dale, A. Wilson Wynne, Matt Russell, and Mr. Sidney Rennef. Tour under the Personal Direction of G. M. COPPIN. Victoria T., Broughton (return).

By Arrangement with
Sir CHARLES WYNDHAM
and Miss MARY MOORE.
"CAPTAIN DREW ON LEAVE."
WANTED, Sept. 28, Oct. 12, and Oct. 19 (3 nights), to precede Harrogate.
Miss NORA CARTON,
Theatre Royal, Glasgow.

"10.30 DOWN EXPRESS"
and "GUILTY GOLD."
WANTED, Sept. 21, 28, Oct. 5, near London, Nov. 9, 16, London or South.
HORACE STANLEY, Theatre Royal, Exeter.

"THE LOVE OF THE PRINCESS,"
by C. Watson Mill.
WANTED, Feb. 1, March 22, Aug. 2, '09. Address, T. E. WARD, T. R., Bristol.

"SECOND TO NONE," by Walter Howard.
WANTED, Big Theatre, for Easter. Address, T. E. WARD, T. R., Bristol.

"WAS SHE TO BLAME?"
By Mrs. F. G. Kimberley.
Production, Easter, Junction, Manchester.
WANTED Theatres. Write for Dates,
KIMBERLEY, GREEN, HINTON,
Vauxhall, The Scotlands, Wolverhampton.

"THE BELLE OF NEW YORK."
WANTED, for J. Bannister Howard's No. 1 Company, good Theatre (Midlands or South), for Oct. 25 and Nov. 9. Address, 15, Clifford's-inn, Fleet-street.

WANTED, Theatre, Feb. 15; six nights, for Miss Edith St. Clair's Pantomime, "Aladdin." Splendid cast engaged.
Address, E. DOTTRIDGE, Empire, Oldham.

"A PRINCE OF ROGUES."
WANTED, three nights, Sept. 10, 11, 12. Wires, SIDNEY DENCH, T. R., Stockport; next, Queen's, Fleetwood.

WILLIAM A. ARMOUR'S COMPANY.
"THE BEST OF HER SEX."
Enormous success at Alexandra Theatre, Hull, this week. Please refer to William Morton, Esq.
WANTED, Sept. 7 (follow Stratford), Sept. 21, and onwards, with exceptions. Wire for Sept. 7. WILLIAM A. ARMOUR, to-day, Alexandra, Hull; next, T. R., Ilkeston.

M. RUSSELL ROSSE'S TOURS.
WANTED, Aug. 31 (to follow T. R., Newcastle) and Sept. 14 and 21 (between Dundee and Glasgow); extensive répertory of Modern Comedies by arrangement with S. French, Ltd. Next week "A Pair of Spectacles," David James as Benjamin Goldfinch. Wire, RUSSELL ROSSE, T. R., Newcastle.

MISS BONWIN CARLTON'S CO.
"THE OLD, OLD STORY."
WANTED, Sept. 21, 28, North, North, North.
EDWARD SURREY,
To-day, Theatre, Aberdare; next, Al., Stourbridge.

"MAN TO MAN,"
under the direction of
Frank Adair and Edward Lloyd.
WANTED, Sept. 14, Oct. 5 and 12.
FRANK ADAIR, East Oxford Theatre, Oxford.

WANTED, good Theatres, Sept. 7 and 14, for "A Gambler's Daughter."
Now in fourth year of Tour.
Wire,
HILL and AYRTON, T. R., North Shields.

J. W. TURNER'S ENGLISH OPERA COMPANY.
WANTED, Sept. 21 (North). TURNER, The Croft, Yardley, Worcestershire.

THEATRES WANTED.

FRED GRANVILLE'S TOURS.
FRED GRANVILLE'S TOURS.
WANTED, First-Class Theatres
"IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND."
Elaborate Revival. Success everywhere.
Vacant Sept. 21, 28, Oct. 5, 12,
and onwards with exceptions.

"THE BETTER LAND."
The Greatest Domestic Drama of the Day.
An Emphatic Success.
Gorgeous Production.
Every Scene and Property Carried.

The finest Printing on the road, consisting of 1 24-sheet, 3 18-sheets, 3 12-sheets, 4 6-sheets, 6 D.C. Lithos. All four-colour stuff.
Vacant Sept. 28, Oct. 5, 12, 19, and later.

FRED GRANVILLE'S PANTOMIMES.
"BABES IN THE WOOD,"
Vacant Jan. 18, 25, Feb. 1.

"BEAUTY AND THE BEAST,"
Vacant Jan. 11, 18.

"ALADDIN,"
Vacant Jan. 11, 18, 25, Feb. 5.

Managers note.—These Pantomimes are perfect in every detail. Beautifully mounted and dressed. Company of Star Artists, Specialities, Dancers, and full Chorus.

Re dates, FRED GRANVILLE, Queen's T., Liverpool.

ALFRED B. CROSS'S TOURS.
"THE MANXMAN,"
"THE MANXMAN,"
By Hall Caine and Wilson Barrett.
WANTED, Sept. 28 and Oct. 12,
"THE MONARCH OF THE WORLD,"
A Fine New Domestic Play, full of Human and Child Interest. Few Autumn Dates Vacant.
Aug. 24, T. R., Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. KIMBERLEY'S COS.
"TWO LITTLE DRUMMER BOYS."
WANTED, Sept. 21, to follow Middlesbrough.
"A SOLDIER'S HONOUR,"
Oct. 26, Xmas, and New Year's Week.
"A SISTER'S SIN,"
Sept. 14, Sept. 14, Sept. 14.
These plays are all well known,
and known, too, to draw the money.
Wire for them to
KIMBERLEY, King's T., Longsight, Manchester.

FRANK J. PITT'S COMPANY.
"£1,000 REWARD."
"£1,000 REWARD."
WANTED, Nov. 9, 16,
Dec. 21, 28,
Jan. 4, 11, 18, 25,
Feb. 1, 8, on.
Aug. 24, T. R., Colne.

MESSRS. ARMADALE AND WARREN'S CO.
"THE FACE AT THE WINDOW."
"THE FACE AT THE WINDOW."
WANTED, Theatres, Sept. 21, Nov. 9 and 16, Christmas, Jan. 11, 18, 25, onwards, for the above Attraction.
Add., ARMADALE and WARREN, Royalty T., Chester.

Mr. CHARLES M. BESTIC'S COMPANY,
"THE FLOWER GIRL."
The Musical Comedy Success of the Provinces.
The Edinburgh Dispatch says:—
Musical comedy at its brightest.
WANTED, all October, to precede return visits to Newcastle, Edinburgh, Glasgow, and Dates onward. Wire, F. MARTIN MORRIS, Prince of Wales's T., Birmingham.
Letters, Royalty Theatre, Morecambe.
See Companies Column.

MR. BULMER'S ENTERPRISES.
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
Vacant Oct. 12, 19, Nov. 9, 30.
"SENTENCED FOR LIFE."
"SENTENCED FOR LIFE."
Vacant Sept. 28, Oct. 5, 19, Xmas.
"FROM SCOTLAND YARD."
"FROM SCOTLAND YARD."
WANTED, Sept. 14, 21, Oct. 26, Nov. 16
FRED BULMER, T. R., North Shields.

MR. and MRS. EUSTACE DAY'S CO.
"FOR LOVE OF A WOMAN."
WANTED, Sept. 7, Sept. 7,
Refer T. Morton Powell.
Wire or write, EUSTACE DAY,
This, Grand T., Chorley; next, G. T., Radcliffe.

"THE DIVER'S LUCK."
WANTED, Sept. 7, 21, Oct. 5, 26.
ANDREW EMM, Metropole T., Birmingham.

"LOVE'S GOLDEN DREAM."
Frances Delaval's
Daringly Original Play.
A triumph at the Metropole, Birmingham.
A Passionate Love Drama.
WANTED, Sept. 14, 28, Xmas.
Now Booking Xmas. To-day, Metropole, Birmingham; Monday, O. H., Kidderminster.

MONTAGUE BEAUDYN'S COMPANIES.
"SEND HIM VICTORIOUS."
WANTED, Nov. 9, to oblige West Bromwich. Wanted, Dec. 28.
"A TRAITOR PRINCE,"
Gorgeous Revival, Co. of 15. Troupe of Dancers.
Vacant Nov. 2, Dec. 28, Jan. 4, 11.
"THE POWER OF A WICKED WOMAN,"
Vacant Nov. 16, 30, Dec. 7, 28.
"A BEAUTIFUL FIEND,"
Vacant July 12, 19, 26.
Wires, Sunderland. Letters, Spennymoor.

"THE MASTER CRIMINAL."
WANTED, good Theatres, Sept. 7 (three nights, follow Leicester), Oct. 12, 19 (precede Sheffield), Nov. 2, 9, and Dec. 21.
HENRY L. OSMOND, T. R., Bilston.

The Thrilling Melodrama, "CONVICT 99."
WANTED, Autumn Dates, Sept. 28, Oct. 5, 12, 26, Nov. 23 (North), 30, and on.

"SEXTON BLAKE, DETECTIVE."
Vacant for this Enormous Success: Oct. 12.
Now Booking Spring and Autumn, 1909.
Apply, ALFRED H. GRAHAME,
Aug. 24, Grand Theatre, Newcastle.

"HANDS ACROSS THE SEA."
WANTED, Good Theatres for the above Important Revival, Oct. 5 (to oblige a manager), Nov. 30 (between South Wales and Aldershot), Dec. 26 Jan. 4, Feb. 22 (precede Hammersmith), March 23 and April 12. WILLIAM MARTIN, 415, Strand, W.C.

WANTED, First-class Theatres only, for the enormously successful Musical Absurdity, "The Gay Deceivers," Sept. 28 (follow Ramsgate, return), and Oct. 5 (precede Aldershot). FRANK STANMORE, 4, Duke-street, Adelphi.

WANTED Aug. 31, "Beneath the Stars" and Répertoire (if required); Strong Co., special scenery, magnificent pictorials. COLEMAN DAVIES, Theatre, Wednesbury (return).

Mr. H. F. MALTBY and HIS PLAYS.
WANTED, Good Theatres, Oct. 26 (to precede O. H., Blackpool), Nov. 16 (to precede Gaiety, Manchester), and Spring, '09. WYN WEAVER, "Kylemore," Railway Approach, Worthing.

WANTED, good Theatre, for Feb. 22, Bliss and Bliss's Pantomime, "Mother Goose," Feb. 22, Feb. 22, only week vacant, to complete Tour. All coms. to GEORGE and LEO BLISS, Majestic Hotel, Barrow-in-Furness.

WANTED, Theatres, for my Company, Ten Stars, Alonzo Trio (Athletes), Marvellous Mora's Bar Act, Fern and Fawn (great Sketch, "Conqueror"), Sinclair (Electric Marionettes), Fred Mayne (Comedian). 3, Longley-st., Oldham.

WANTED, Halls and Theatres, suitable for the Britannia Bioscope and Concert Party. Proprietor, Mr. C. ST. JOHN MEDLEY, 6, Bath-street, Saltburn. Vacant Sept. 7 and on; shares or rental. Bankers: N.P. Bank of England.

WANTED, First-class Theatres, for Mlle. Lumiere and Strong Vaudeville Company, Sept. 7, 14, and 21. Wire or write this week, Empire, York. Monday, Palace, Burnley.

THEATRES WANTED.

"THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD."
By arrangement with Mr. H. Beerbohm Tree.
Specially re-written for the Provinces by Mr. H. Comyns Carr.
Mr. C. H. Croker-King as John Jasper.
Mr. Riddell Robinson as Edwin Drood.
Mr. Hy. Bute as Grewgious.
Mr. Lloyd Townrow as Durdles.
Mr. Chas. Bruce as Landless.
Mrs. Mallalieu, Miss Nita Charlton, Miss Eleanor Gilbart, Miss Irene Ross, and Choir Boys from Nolan's Academy.
WANTED, Sept. 28 (South), owing to transfer.
W. PAYNE SEDDON, The Spa, Whitby.

"THE IDOL OF PARIS."
"THE IDOL OF PARIS."
By Charles Darrell.
WANTED, First-class Theatres,
Sept. 7,
Sept. 7,
Oct. 5, 26,
Oct. 5, 26.
A brilliant success everywhere.
Miss Annie Bell as Flare-Flare.
Supported by a Star Company.
Wire,
JAMES BELL, T. R., Darlington.

Enormous success everywhere.
Refer to Managers where played.
A Real Novelty.
THE JAMAICANS.
The most Successful, Artistic, Novel, and Smartest Combination now before the Public.
Twelve Coloured Ladies and Gentlemen.
Evening Dress, Native Costume, or Camp Dress.
Royalty delighted. The Public delighted.
Managers want Return Dates.
A most Extensive and Varied Répertoire.
Real Coon Singers and Dancers.
WANTED, Known, first vacant date Sept. 14, and onwards, with exceptions.
Full particulars, terms, and dates from Sole Managers, H. E. JONES and A. DOUGLASS, 21, Water-street, Liverpool.
'Phones 2449 and 5650 Central.
Wires, "Motherland, Liverpool."

ARTISTS WANTED.

"HONOUR THY FATHER."
WANTED, First-class Heavy Lead, for Blyth, Character Lead for Garth, Juvenile Lead for Jack Halyard, Comedian for Ned and Mike, Leading Lady for Lillian, and Artists in various other lines. MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"WOMAN WHO GAMBLES."
WANTED, good responsible Actor, for Stambuloff, Chief of Police, and Stage-Management, must be robust actor, tall. Terms, references, MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

WANTED, Known, the Royal Carl Rosa Opera Co. has Vacancies for one First Tenor Chorister, must have a good répertoire; also a Second Bassoon (Continental Pitch). Apply (letters only), Mr. WALTER VAN NOORDEN, Ladbroke Hall, North Kensington, W.

WANTED, for the Elster Grime Opera Co., Prin. Tenor, Soprano, and Contralto, also Choristers, those able to play parts preferred, forward répertoire. Press opinions. Lowest terms, long tour to suitable people; also an experienced Fit-up Man, to assist with Baggage and generally useful. Box 6,874, "The Era."

WANTED, Artists to complete Cast, "Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace," one week, Sept. 7, Palace Pier, Brighton. Photos., full particulars, ELLIOTT, 64, Waterloo-street, Brighton.

IAN MACLAREN SHAKESPEAREAN OLD ENGLISH COMEDY COMPANY.
WANTED, Leading Lady, salary £4 to £6, must provide own wardrobe; rehearse Aug. 31. Photos., height, latest references imperative. J. HARRIS, Secretary, St. Leonards-on-Sea.

"WHEN OTHER LIPS."
WANTED, Heavy Lady, Comedian, Romantic Character, and Carpenter.
T. ARTHUR JONES, 32, Wightman-rd., Finsbury Park, N. Photos. absolutely imperative if unknown.

WANTED, Leading Lady, also Chambermaid. Address, with full particulars, and stamp for reply, MANAGER, 4, Alexandra-buildings, Pleasant-street, Swansea.

WANTED, Emotional Juvenile Lady, Special Week, Potteries. Photo., height, RESVE, Tivoli, Brierley Hill, Staffs.

WANTED, Juvenile Leading Gentleman, Aris., Old Man, and Responsible Lady, two weeks, probably longer.
Rehearse next week.
A. B. CROSS, R., Birkenhead; next, R., Halifax.

"A SOLDIER'S HONOUR."
WANTED, good Heavy Gentleman. Send full references, photos., absolute lowest terms for long tour, F. G. KIMBERLEY, King's T., Longsight, Manchester.

WANTED, Clever Heavy Man; young, good appearance, sound experienced Artist; also Character Comedian, Open at Once, London. All particulars, photo., and terms, address in first instance, SEC., 87, Brixton-road, S.W.

WANTED, Tall Leading Gentleman, for "Cripple Creek." State height, references, photo, terms, parts played, MARK BLOW, 11, St. Edmunds-terrace, Regents Park, London.

WANTED, Rehearse West Bromwich, next week. Character Actor, Fiery Major; fares paid. Particulars, SIDNEY BEDFORD, 45, Bull-street, West Bromwich.

WANTED, good Leading Lady and Responsible Gentlemen. Age, refs., and photos. essential. Address lowest terms, NEVILLE, Opera House, Fernale, Wales.

WANTED, as Understudy, Boy 4ft. 8in. to 4ft. 10in., aged 12 to 14, to play part of Gentlemanly Schoolboy; must speak and look well; no girls. Apply by letter to E. K., Kingsway Theatre, London.

WANTED, Artists for Sketch, "Three of a Kind," open at once. Preference given to those who have played in it before. Apply, GEORGE ABEL, care Denton's Agency, Maiden-lane.

WANTED, immediately, Carpenter, to play small Comedy Jew part. Wire lowest terms, ALEX GRANT, Theatre, Batley.

WANTED, Tenor Chorister, also Young Gentleman for Philodemus, Tenor preferred. Terms, photo., BOWES, Rose Villa, Watford.

WANTED, good Smart All-round Dancers.
SYDNEY RUSSELL,
4, Arthur-street, New Oxford-street, London, W.C.

WANTED, Known, The New Frances Club, 425, Strand, W.C., for Ladies. Subscription, 6d. weekly, yearly £1 1s.; no entrance fee. Members have use of cosy sitting-room, piano, circulating library, typewriter, sewing machine, daily and theatrical papers and address. Dining-rooms, exceptional tariff. Entrance in Harvey-buildings.

WANTED, Wanted, Known,
THE GREENFELL
LADIES' THEATRICAL AND RESIDENTIAL CLUB,
23, Bedford-street, Strand
Cosy Tea Rooms, Luncheons, Dinners, &c.
Open on Sundays.
No Entrance Fee.
Residential Terms, from 18s. 6d. inclusive.

WANTED, Dramatic Artists who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Sons' Bookstalls to kindly communicate with the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.

ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, an Actress of great experience, at present engaged in principal West End Theatre, gives private lessons in Acting and Elocution. Moderate terms. Address, Box 6,899, "The Era."

WANTED, by Lady, Engagement in West End Theatre, Drama, Comedy, to walk on, useful, tall, good figure, can dance and play piano; experienced in Touring Companies. B., 37, Rumford-street, Oxford-road, Manchester.

ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Engagement, by Harry Barlow, Principal Baritone, Troon, Scotland, also of Scarborough, Filey, Kingstown, Derby, Burton, Watford, Lichfield, Chorlton, and Leeds Pierrots; Valentine, Gounod's "Faust." At Liberty Aug. 28, onward; ten years' sound experience. Wire or write, address, 56, Temple-hill, Troon.

WANTED, Known, Young Versatile Elocutionist, desirous of entering Profession, offers his services for small remuneration to Shakespearean or Dramatic Company. Box 6,895, "The Era."

PANTOMIME ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, for next season's Pantomimes, good Chorus Ladies, height not less than 5ft. 6in. Last two references, lowest terms, age, and photo., ARTHUR CARLTON, Theatre, Worcester.

WANTED, Good Comedians, for next season's Pantomimes
Full particulars, ARTHUR CARLTON, T., Worcester.

WANTED, Chorus Ladies, Conductors, Comedian, for Pantomimes.
Address, E. DOTTRIDGE, Empire, Oldham.

WANTED, Pantomime Artists, in all Lines (including few Smart Chorus Ladies). All particulars, WILLIAM MARTIN, Darrell's Agency, 415, Strand, W.C.

PANTOMIME ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Little Zola, Vacant for Panto. Thanks for offers.
All coms., Empire, Newport.

WANTED, Known, Fred Hallam, at Liberty for Panto. Many thanks for Offers.
Monday next, Hippo., Margate.

WANTED, Known, Sue Brett, Principal Girl, George Hablem, Principal Comedian, in addition have big Musical Act for Specialité. For photos., particulars, for reference, to GEORGE HABLEM, 225, New Kent-road, London.

WANTED, Known, George Helm and Emmie Cozens, Ideal Principal Girl or Small Boy and Comedian. Address, Tivoli, Pentre.

WANTED, Known, Burdetti Brothers, Great Eccentric Acrobats, on Tour; Liberty for Panto., Parts and Speciality. All coms., 38, Merton-street, Burnley.

WANTED, by Rex and Ford, Eccentric Cross-talk Comedians, also Single Musical Speciality. Last season with J. Kiddie, Esq. Alexandra Hotel, Ramsgate.

WANTED, Pantomime, by Denby and Dent, Comedians, thoroughly experienced.
Monday, Alhambra Theatre, Belfast.

SCENIC ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, Scenic Artists, Theatre Managers, &c., to write for Leete's Catalogue of colours, varnishes, painting brushes, and every requisite for scene painting and theatre decoration. The fullest range of colours in the trade. A. LEETE and Co., 129, London-road, Southwark, S.E.

SCENIC ARTIST
WANTED First-class Man Required.
Only those who are qualified by training to do the finest class of work need apply.
Apply, Box 6,875, "The Era."

WANTED, good Scenic Artist, at once, for fortnight, probably longer. Leonard S. Hicks write. Lowest terms, NEVILLE, Opera House, Ferndale.

SCENIC ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Scenery Contracts, Productions, Our Paint Frames, 40 by 24; Theatres completely fitted with Scenery, Ropes, Blocks, Cleats, &c. Estimates and Designs submitted free. Scenery bought and exchanged. FRED WILKINS and BRO., LTD., 54, Whitechapel, Liverpool. Telegrams, "Theatrical."

WANTED, Contracts for Scenery, Cloths from 20s.; Chamber Sets, from £3. Price lists free. COOKE, Udimore, Rye.

WANTED, Contracts, Scenery, Properties, Pantomime, or Productions, good work. Reasonable prices. J. JACKS, Scenic Artist, 46, Holloway-road, London, N.

WANTED, Contracts for all kinds of Scenery and Properties, new or secondhand. Models and Estimates free. C. SHARP, 272, St. James'-road, Old Kent-road, S.E. Tel. 497 Hop.

WANTED, Known, A. W. Moore, First-class Scenic Artist. Arrangements temporarily complete. Liberty shortly for Autumn. Address, 29, Buckingham-street, York.

WANTED, Engagement, by Fred Stafford, Scenic Artist. Best references and best work. 24, Shearer-road, Portsmouth.

WANTED, Engagement or Contract, by DAVIES MASSEY, Scenic Artist.
4, Princess May-road, Stoke Newington, N.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED, Acting-Manager, about 35, conversant with Music Hall office routine, and able to book Artists if required; guarantee for £200 in approved office. No application entertained which does not state age, height, and salary. Enclose original testimonials, photo., and stamped addressed envelope for return. Address, J. A. EDWARDES, Temple House, Derby.

WANTED, an energetic Resident-Manager for small Music Hall, Pictures and Varieties, twice nightly, must be experienced and competent; smart, steady man only required; reference through guarantee society. Write fully, stating experience, age, salary required, &c., to CHARLES DARE, Proprietor, Empire Theatre, Douglas, Isle of Man.

WANTED, for a Premier Fully-licensed Theatre, Gentleman as Secretary and Treasurer £250 cash to be paid down by way of security.
All particulars,
MANAGER, Box 6,859, "The Era."

WANTED, Young Gentleman, as Articled Pupil to Managing-Director, Vaudeville and Theatrical experience, to assist in developing a Circuit; good opportunity for right character and credentials. Premium £250. Interview by appointment. Box 6,881, "The Era."

WANTED, an Expert Typist, one who has been used to Theatre work.
Apply, letters only, to K., 28, Vaughan-road, Camberwell, S.E.

WANTED, Gentleman, who has Considerable Influence with Proprietors, Managers, and Agents, to Book Immediate Dates for First-class Sketches Good Commission Given for Quick Business. Box 6,864, "The Era."

WANTED, good Working Agent immediately; must know Irish Fit-ups; salary and commission. Also Lady Pianist. References, particulars, EVENTIO, Theatre, Galway. Philip Herbert or Baldry wire.

WANTED, an Electrician, for a Provincial Music Hall; must be thoroughly experienced as an Electrician, and also a good Cinematograph Operator. State full particulars of qualification and salary required to Box 6,847, "Era" Office.

WANTED, Electrician, used all kinds installation; can work at bench, make or repair mechanical machine exhibits. State wages, experience. Box 6,877, "The Era."

WANTED, Electrician and Operator, thoroughly experienced. Apply, with full particulars, terms, &c., MANAGER, New Gaiety Theatre, Clydebank.

WANTED, steady, reliable Billposter; references. SHEFFIELD BILLPOSTING COMPANY, St. Mary's Gate, Chesterfield.

WANTED Known, Manager recently severed connection with large London Music Hall. Open to accept Offer, London or Provinces; aged 28; smart, comprehensive experience. Box 6,898, "The Era."

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED, Wanted, Known,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
ROBERT FORSYTH,
the Organiser and Originator
of the
Folkestone Beauty Shows
Folkestone Beauty Shows
Folkestone Beauty Shows that have been boomed so much by the London Press,
London Press,
London Press,
is at Liberty
after Sept. 19, to accept
Good Engagement
Good Engagement
Good Engagement to Manage
Large Place of Entertainment.
First-class Business Man and Initiator of Novel Shows and Competitions.
Novel Shows and Competitions.
Novel Shows and Competitions.
The very highest testimonials.
Refer, among others, to the Mayor of Folkestone.
Willing to accept a moderate salary and commission on results.
Victoria Pier Hippodrome, Folkestone.

WANTED, Engagement as Manager or Acting-Manager, Resident or on Tour; nearly ten years Manager for Messrs. Polini and Melford's "Silver King" Co.; or good Advance Agency. Disengaged Aug. 29, or sooner if necessary.
Reference, G. M. Polini.
S. BURTON,
This week, T. R., Edinboro'.
Next week, Tyne, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

WANTED, by Gentleman, Engagement as Resident Business or Assistant Business Manager or Secretary; energetic, courteous, and will find security if necessary. Bank and highest references. HARRY WALLIS, "Ixopo," Cranley-road, Westcliff-on-Sea.

WANTED, Wanted, Engagement, as Acting or Resident Manager, young, smart, energetic, thoroughly experienced Dramatic and Variety; expert Accountancy, Advertising, Bars, &c. Highest references. Box 6,897, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, Manager Disengaged shortly, experienced back and front, Theatre or Variety; thorough knowledge of Variety booking, with up-to-date prices and quality. Highly recommended. MANAGER, 112, Canterbury-road, Kilburn, N.W.

WANTED, by Young Man, smart and energetic, Re-engagement as Acting-Manager in Music-Hall or Theatre; thoroughly trustworthy. Security given if required, or would invest a small amount in a genuine concern. Particulars, Box 6,894, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement, by Young Gentleman as Assistant to Manager of Theatre or Music Hall; well educated, smart appearance; excellent references. Box 6,883, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, I can Run or Manage (smart), any Class of Show or Entertainment, or Lecture-Vocalist. HARRY DALE, 167, Knutsford-road, Warrington.

WANTED, Known Electrician desires Permanent Engagement; competent Mechanic, Theatre experience. H. W. L., 12, Varden-street, New-road, Whitechapel, London, E.

WANTED, Engagement, Practical Carpenter and Joiner, Theatres or Halls; age 26, ten years' experience. KENN, 8, Aylesford-st., Leeds.

WANTED, Engagement, as Property Master and Maker in the Provinces; 20 years' good reference, Theatre Royal, Brighton. E. BRIDGER, 9, Ashford-road, Preston-drove, Brighton.

WANTED, Situation as Billposter; 8 years' references from last situation as Branch-Manager. E. TURNER, 21, Bancroft-lane, Mansfield.

WANTED, Engagement, as Operator (Lime), Machine and Gas Accessories if required. BAILES, 97, Portman-buildings, Lisson-grove, London, N.W.

MUSICIANS WANTED.

WHITE STAR MEDITERRANEAN SERVICE.
WANTED, First-class Leader and Solo Violinist, Aug. 19 till Dec. 26; First-class Leader and Solo Violinist; also 'Cellist, Sept. 5 until end March or early April, 1909; vacancies for Violinists, Pianists, 'Cellists, and Contrabassists, for Cunard and White Star Lines Winter Services, Oct. to end of March next. Audition in London or Liverpool necessary before engagement. Applicants state age, experience, and give names and addresses of two references as to character to CHARLES WM. BLACK, 14, Castle-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, for Pavilion, Weymouth, commencing Dec. 21, 1908, week days 5½ hours, Sundays 1½ hours, good Leader, First Violin, Flute, Clarionet, Cornet, 'Cello, Basso, and Drums; must be good Musicians, and in applying state terms and also forward references as to character and ability and where at present engaged, to MUSICAL-DIRECTOR, 105, Grandison-road, Clapham Common, London, S.W. Letters only.

WANTED, Musical-Director, to play Violin, to open Sept. 7, at Palace, Derby; used to Variety; evening dress. State age, salary, and references. T. A. EDWARDES, Temple House, Derby.

WANTED, at Once, two-five weeks, Leader, First Violin, Clarionet, Cornet, Trombone. State age, refs., and lowest terms, Box 6,891, "The Era."

WANTED, First Violin, good, age, references; also Bass Trombone and others, permanent. Write, SWINGLER, Mus.-Dir., Post Office, Weston-super-Mare.

WANTED, Violin, Clarionet, Drums with Effects, &c., for Pavilion, Kirkcaldy. Open 31st. Absolute steadiness essential. G. W. WALKER, Manager.

WANTED, immediately, First Violin, for Empress, Brixton.
Apply, ALLINGTON, 35, Antill-road, Bow, E.

WANTED, Violinist, Clarionet, Cornet, for one day, Aug. 24, four hours afternoon, evening, fares paid. Wire lowest, DELIKAT, Pier, Great Yarmouth.

WANTED Violin and Trombone, for short term, open Aug. 31. State references, age, and lowest salary, FORD, Band Offices, Ilfracombe.

WANTED, Good Violins, commence at once. Terms, age, &c. High-class Concerts. RONALD, 23, Sea View-parade, West-End, Morecambe.

WANTED, First-class Violinist, to act as Conductor for Varieties; also Trombone and Cornet. Apply, C. B. FOUNTAIN, Royalty Theatre, Chester.

NEW HIPPODROME, DEVONPORT.
WANTED, Solo Cornet, to open Sept. 14. Apply, with terms and references, to GLENHORN, 5, Glenthorne-road, Roker, Sunderland.

WANTED, good Cornet.
Apply,
MANAGER, Prince's Theatre, Llandudno.

WANTED, good First Cornet, for Orchestral Band, to open Aug. 31 inst. State references, age, and lowest salary, FORD, Band Offices, Ilfracombe.

WANTED, First-class Solo Cornet, to open Aug. 31. State age and references to THOS. RICHARDSON, Conductor, Hippodrome, Rotherham.

JOHN H. TOMKINSON'S "ROYAL GIPSY" CO.
WANTED, for Tour, commence Sept. 7, good Cornet, and Flute and Piccolo (ladies preferred); used to Variety. J. H. TOMKINSON, 35, Albany-road, Kensington, Liverpool.

MUSICIANS WANTED.

WANTED, good Clarionet, also Double Drummer, for Hippo., Darlington, Variety. Apply with terms, refs., to Wm. Dobing, Mus.-Dir

WANTED, Contra Bass, First Oboe, First Clarionet, and First Horn, for the Pump Room Orchestra, Bath, to commence Sept. 26. It is requested that only players who have continually been employed in Concert work will apply to Max Heymann, Musical-Director, Bath.

WANTED, Double Bass, to open Monday, Aug. 31. Apply, King's Theatre, Manchester.

WANTED, for Sedgwick's Menagerie, Trombone, join at once. Terms, 30s. per week. Tonbridge, Saturday; Edenbridge, Mon.; Lingfield, Tues.; Horley, Wed.; Kent.

WANTED, Trombone and Drums, for Abertillery, join at once; also Flute and Piccolo and Drums, for Ebbw Vale, join Aug. 31. Terms and particulars. E. Pryce, Pavilion, Abertillery.

WANTED, 'Cellist, Violinist, Vocalist, join Adverticer, for Pitching, Sydney, Australia. Terms, Shares; little gold mine, proved. Further particulars, Box 6,873, "The Era."

WANTED, Young Lady 'Cellist, must be good, Musical Act, Halls. Particulars and lowest terms, Box 6,870, "The Era."

ROYALTY THEATRE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS. WANTED, Flute and Piccolo; must have first-class refs. Lowest terms, Hugh Robertson.

WANTED, Lady Pianist, first-class execution, able to sing (Contralto) preferred. Musical Act, Halls. Full particulars and terms, Box 6,871, "The Era."

WANTED, experienced Dramatic Pianist, sight reader; also Violinist; open Aug. 31; rehearse Belfast. Particulars, J. B. Carrickford, 22, Hamilton-street, Belfast.

WANTED, Instrumentalists (Ladies) for long Tour, commencing Sept. Full particulars and terms to Madame Levante, 15, Morgan-street, Scarborough.

WANTED, Wind Instrumentalists for a Fortnight at Clacton-on-Sea, commencing Sept. 18. Apply, stating salary, to Bandmaster, Weeley, R.S.O., Essex.

WANTED, Amateur Instrumentalists, Ladies, String, Wind, to Train under experienced Conductress for Professional Engagements. Letters, Madame, 75, Hollydale-road, Peckham.

WANTED, Musicians, before accepting Engagements in Scotland, to communicate with Mr. J. Bartley, 717, New City-road, Glasgow; Mr. W. Anderson, 18, Warrender Park-terrace, Edinburgh; or Mr. W. Davis, 76, Clepington-road, Dundee.

WANTED.—Musicians "Out of Shop" and Bandmasters requiring Instrumentalists will do well to try an advertisement in the "Wanted" Columns of "The Era." One Shilling expended on Twenty Words (each additional Six Words Sixpence) is likely to bring successful results, as explained in the following letters from grateful Advertisers:—

FROM A MUSICIAN:—
To the Manager of "The Era" Advert. Dept., "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.
"Re Advertisement "'WANTED, ENGAGEMENT BY CORNET.' "Thanks for inserting above in the last number of your paper. I have obtained a comfortable shop. Had seventeen replies. You need not put in the second insertion.
"Yours truly, 'A Grateful Musician.'"

FROM A BANDMASTER:—
"Re Advertisement, 'WANTED, DRUMMER.' "Please do not insert my advt. for the second insertion, as I am pleased to say I have had twenty replies, and secured a Drummer.
"Yours truly, Philip Germann, Bandmaster, "Littlehampton."

WANTED, Musicians who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Son's Bookstalls, or from any Newsagent in the United Kingdom, to kindly communicate with the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, J. Southworth, late Musical-Director Gaiety, Manchester, at Liberty Sept. 28, for First-class Theatre or Music Hall; highest references. Pier, Colwyn Bay.

WANTED, Known, Bandmaster, abstainer, is open to teach String, Reed or Brass Bands, juvenile or adult. B. M., Ivydene, Chase Side, Enfield.

WANTED, post, Repetiteur or First Violin, Variety or Drama, Manchester district preferred; could commence Wednesday next. Turnbull, Wigan-lane, Wigan.

WANTED, Engagement, by Solo Violinist and Pianist, Disengaged Sept. 12; abstainer, reader, transpose, memorise; experienced; highest references. Frank Nichols, 27, Plymouth-rd., Barry Island, S. Wales.

WANTED, Engagement, by Violinist, any business, can open at once; reliable and strictly sober; good refs. Address, R. Shipman, 91a, St. Martin's-lane, London, W.C.

WANTED, by good Second Violin, Re-engagement; good refs.; sober, reliable. E. W., 69, Culverden Park-road, Tunbridge Wells.

WANTED, Known, Jennie Murdoch, good First Violinist, Disengaged Sept. 21, completing three months' engagement. Conductress, The Pier, Clacton-on-Sea.

WANTED, London Engagement, by thoroughly good First Violin; young, strictly steady; Open at Once. Violinist, 5, Friar's-lane, Great Yarmouth.

WANTED, by Violinist, Engagement, experience all Lines; steady, age 30. Refs. Distance no object for perm. H. Phipps, 62 Priory Park-road, Kilburn, N.W.

WANTED, Engagement, First Violin, thoroughly experienced all Lines; sober and reliable; open now. Violinist, 11, Dunbar-road, Wood Green, N.

WANTED, Engagement, by Lady Cornet; experienced all Lines. Gwen Barbs, 70, Commercial-street, Aber Bargoed, South Wales.

WANTED, by Bass Clarionet Player, Engagement where work is found, Army experience, own instrument; total abstainer. 4, Badminton-street, Liverpool, South.

WANTED, by First-class Clarionet, sober, reliable, Permanent Engagement, Concert, Variety, or Theatre; willing for trial. Clarionet, 1, Oriel-st., Swindon.

WANTED, Engagement, for Clarionet. Address, W. E. Harrison, 14, Rockingham-street, Leeds.

WANTED, Engagement, by Double Bass; long experience in Theatre and Variety; good references; can open at once. J. Page, 70, Duncombe-street, Grimsby.

WANTED, by First-class Bass, Engagement, any business; first-class refs.; Variety or Theatre. Franks, Derby Castle, Douglas, I.O.M.

WANTED, String Bass, Situation, any district. J. Reeves, 133, Burrage-road, Plumstead, Kent.

WANTED, Known, competent Trombone, also Bombardon, Disengaged Sept.; String or Military; Seaside only. Address, T. W., 72, Alexandra-road, Windsor, Berks.

WANTED, Engagement, Trombone, sober and reliable. Apply, Wm. Smith, 116, Cemetery-road, Southport.

WANTED, by First-class Trombone, Re-engagement, at Liberty Sept. 14; thoroughly experienced. Address, Charlie McCallaugh, 9, Salisbury-terrace, Bridlington.

WANTED, Engagement, by Trombonist; can "play" Tenor and Bass Trombones; Military or Orchestral; good references. Box 6,864, "The Era."

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, Engagement, Trombone or Euphonium; eleventh season L.C.C. Band; any business, good performer. Hector Smith, 88, Moray-road, Finsbury Park, N.

WANTED, Engagement, as Trombonist; experienced and reliable, Theatre or Music Hall. Address, Fred Peel, Trombonist, Grand T., Halifax.

WANTED, Engagement, by First-class Euphonium Soloist, finishes season (shortly) at Rothesay; Military Band preferred. Wm. Maddock, sen., 26, Russell-street, Rothesay, N.B.

WANTED, Known, at Liberty Sept. 7, good Euphonium, Trombone, two Horns, two Cornets, Flute and Piccolo, together or separate; any Business. For terms and refs., apply, Bandmaster, Season Band, Matlock Bath.

WANTED, Known, French Horn, at Liberty for Engagement about Sept. 15, for First-class Theatre, Concert Orchestra, or Military Band; experienced, good testimonials and reliable. Apply Box 6,890, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement, by experienced Lady 'Cellist, in or near London; can Double Contra Bass. Address, W., 12, Heber-mansions, Queen's Club Gardens, Kensington, W.

WANTED, Engagement either as 'Cello or Clarionet; excellent refs. S. Irwin, 23, Chingford-road, Walthamstow.

WANTED, Engagement, Viola, to combine Bombardon, any business; young, experienced, and reliable; abstainer. Viola, 22, Wells-road, Bath.

WANTED, Known, Aeneas Gibson, Harpist and Pianist, Sept. or Oct., Variety Company on Tour to Australia please write. Abroad preferred, or first-class steamship. Grecian or Gothic Harp. Gibson Bros., Music Sellers, Ilkley.

WANTED, by Flute and Piccolo, Engagement, experienced, abstainer, age 26; any distance. F. Pithers, 130, May-street, Basingstoke.

WANTED, Known, shortly at Liberty, Flautist, experienced Theatre, Hall, and Ball Room. Rayner, Central Pier, Morecambe. Permanent address, Huddersfield.

WANTED, by Flute and Piccolo, competent, reliable, Re-engagement; Disengaged Sept. 5; well up in Variety, &c. Alexander, 33, Wilmot-road, Ilkley.

WANTED, Known, good Flute Player, also Bassoon Player, at Liberty Sept. 13. C/o Taylor 19 Carlton-street, Bridlington.

WANTED, by Flautist, immediate Engagement, London or near preferred, fifteen years' London Variety experience. Fowler, 71, Fernbrook-road, Lee, Kent.

WANTED, by Lady Pianist, regular Engagement to Vocalist or First-class Concert Party; good references. Pianiste, Bushey Cottage, Hampton Hill.

WANTED, Engagement, as Pianist, Orch. or Self, exper. Var. and Drama business, steady, reliable; excel. refs. N. Robinson, 25, Main-street, Cadoxton, Barry.

WANTED, Engagement, by Lady Pianiste, experienced accompanist, excellent sight reader, day or evening, London only. C. R., 6, Cromwell-avenue, Ravenscourt Park, W.

WANTED, by Double Drummer, Tympanist, &c., permanency, Theatre or Music Hall; at Lib. Sept. 14. Apply, Cryer, Alhambra Palace, Morecambe.

WANTED, Engagement, as Double Drummer, at Liberty Sept. 6. Cockrill, Central Pier, Morecambe.

WANTED, Known, the Grosvenor Ladies' Orchestra, now playing at Franco-British. Terms and vacant dates, Wilton Davis, Manager, 42, Linton-street, N.

WANTED, Known, Italian Lady Quartette, playing at "Pharaoh's Daughter" and "Johnstown Flood," Franco-British Exhibition. Open for Later Engagements, London, permanent preferred. Also Gentlemen's Band, at Liberty, evening work (Conductor, Signorina de Polo). 12, West Hill-road, Wandsworth.

WANTED, Engagements, by The Fairlie String Quartette, brilliant Soloists and Comedy Vocalists, for Concerts, Exhibitions, &c.; splendid répertoire. Fairlie, 31, Moreton-place, Belgravia.

WANTED, Known, Small Ladies' Orchestra, Disengaged; experienced Players, Tubular Bells, &c. Madame Nellie Baker, 114, Woodlands-road, Ilford.

WANTED, Known, to Café and Hotel Proprietors, good Trio Orchestra shortly Disengaged, with good répertoire. Address, Conductor, 16, Willesden-lane, Kilburn, N.W.

CIRCUS ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, Circus Artists, in all Lines, for Present and Future Dates. Address, H. Gilleno, Circus Caterer, Waterloo Theatre, Whitby.

WANTED, Experienced Contortionist (Girl), used to Ring work; must be good figure and good performer. Particulars to Box 6,872, "Era."

WANTED, a Young Girl, with knowledge of Acrobating, for Comedy Act. All particulars, Box 6,886, "The Era."

WANTED, a Smart Young Man, that can Tumble a little. Age, height, and salary to Box 6,887, "The Era."

WANTED, Circus Artists who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Son's Bookstalls, to kindly communicate with the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.

CIRCUS ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Neddy Yokes, World-known Musical Clown, New Act, Talking Knockabout Clown, Entrées Liberty. Address, 16, Moreton-st., Strangeways, Manchester.

WANTED, Known, Three Flying Arenuses (Lady and Gentlemen Gymnasts), Crystal Palace Aug. 31; at Liberty Mon., Sept. 7. 24, Salisbury-street, New North-road, N.

WANTED, Known, Etherdo, Pugh, and Olrac, with High-class Acts. Sanger's Hippodrome Tour.

WANTED, Known, Young Man wishes to join Comedy Triple Bar Act. Address, P. Elliott, 17, Belgrave-street, Sandyford, Glasgow.

WANTED, Known, Miss Ada Webb's Water Wonders, the World's Greatest Aquatic Act. Eastern Daily News says: There is the repeat performance by Miss Ada Webb and her clever young swimmers. This number gains in popularity nightly, and as Miss Webb introduces new swimming acts from time to time there is always something worth seeing. Vacant for next season, also Continent. Terms, &c., Hippodrome, Great Yarmouth.

WANTED, Engagements, for Airship Flights, Balloon Ascents, Captive Balloons, Balloon Races, Parachute Descents, gas or hot air Balloons, by Lady or Gentlemen Aeronauts. Spencer Bros., Ltd., 45b, Aberdeen-park, Highbury, London, N.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

HARMONIC ASSOCIATION.
WANTED, Variety Artists suitable for Concert Platforms, three Halls, one night only (Saturdays). Send vacant dates, lowest terms, to Wm. Biggam, 397, Paisley-road West, Glasgow.

WORCESTER PALACE OF VARIETIES.
WANTED, First-class Variety Artists, all Lines. No wires, please. Arthur Carlton, Palace, Worcester.

EMPIRE, YORK.
NEW HIPPODROME, SCARBOROUGH.
WANTED, First-class Variety Artists. Nothing too big. Apply, William Peacock, Theatre, Harrogate. Silence a polite negative.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

FRED J. LITTLE'S MUSICAL, DRAMATIC, AND VARIETY AGENCY,
4, Arthur-street, New Oxford-street, London W.C. Telegraphic Address, "Wontiod, London." P'hone, 1626 Gerrard. Manager, Harry Lane. Representative, Corliss Claflin.
WANTED, Big Specialities and Variety Artists in all Lines.
Pantomime Artists, Principal Boys, Principal Girls, Comedians, Knockabouts, Chorus Ladies and Gentlemen, and Dancers.
All communications as above.

WANTED, Variety Artists and Specialities, with showy posters, new to Falkirk. Pianist write. Address, with lowest terms, R. Silvester, Wallsend.

WANTED, Variety Artists all Lines, Brilliant Lady Pianist and Vocalist, one used to sing to pictures; a competent Assistant-Manager also a good Operator, with own Films may write in. Terms must be low. Send references, photos., &c., to Medley, late Lessee "No Wedding Bells" Co. Old friends may write for long tour and trustworthy. Only experienced people write, please. 6, Bath-street, Saltburn.

BRITANNIA, GLASGOW.
WANTED, Variety Artists, in all Lines, Aug. 30 and onwards. A. E. Pickard.

WANTED, Variety Artists all Lines, for immediate dates, North. Big Acts for France; nothing too big. Cliquot, 22, Union-street, Hyde.

WANTED, Variety Artists, Sentimentalists, Instrumentalists, and Comedians, to send vacant dates, terms, &c., to The Secretary, Dundee City Concerts, &c., Co., Ltd., 6, Panmure-street, Dundee.

WANTED, Monday Aug. 24, and onwards, Variety Artists all Lines, good Specialities. Particulars, Kitchingman, Aquarium, Scarborough.

OPERA HOUSE, WORKINGTON.
WANTED, Variety Artists in all Lines to send in Vacant Dates, with lowest terms, from Sept. 7, onwards. Apply, Stanley Rogers.

WANTED, Star Artists all Lines, for Immediate and Future Dates. William Mould, Central Palace, North Shields.

HARRY SKIVINGTON'S AGENCY,
48, Brisbane-street, Greenock.
WANTED, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Greenock, Kilmarnock, Alloa, Dundee, Aberdeen, Artists for immediate and future dates. Send Bookings. Artists vacant Monday wire "Contracts, Greenock."

VICTORIA THEATRE, STANLEY, Co. DURHAM.
WANTED, Star Artists, Sept. 14, and on, a good break going North. T. C. Rawes, Prop.

GAIETY MUSIC HALL, BLYTH.
WANTED.—Artists Required, Aug. 24, onwards. Lowest terms, Hall small. Address, W. Yates Gregory, The Tower, New Brighton.

STEPHENSON'S SUMMER CIRCUS.
WANTED, Artists all Lines (weekly) for finish of season up to end of Sept. Terms, Stephenson, 53, The Rake, Bromborough, Cheshire.

WANTED, Artists in all Lines, from now onwards. Apply, Mr. J. J. Scott, Empire, Wrexham.

WANTED, Music Hall Artists, all Lines, Big Specialities, Aug. 31, onwards, for Manchester, Dewsbury, Lancaster, Oldham, Bolton, Rochdale, Burnley, Barnsley, Sheffield, Dublin, Bury, Northampton. Lowest terms in first letter, Edgar Stebbings, 23, Egerton-street, Manchester. 'Phone 9261. Tels., "Stebbing, Manchester."

BEACH PAVILION, ABERDEEN.
Proprietor, David Thomson.

WANTED, Artists, from Aug. 31, onward. Must be clean, clever, and refined.

WANTED, Artists of all Description, for Aug. 31, onwards. Call or write, with full particulars, J. W. Johnson, Variety and Pantomime Agent, 66, Waterloo-road, S.E.

WANTED, Artists of every description, Oct. 5, on. Keeble's Agency, 9, Silvester-st., Hull. Cliff Owen, Musical Palmers write in.

VERNO'S AGENCY.
(under the direction of L. Verno and H. Arnold), 16, Elizabeth-street, Liverpool.
WANTED, Artists in all Lines, Aug. 24, on. Tele., "Merriment." 'Phone 2076 Royal.

FRED DURHAM'S AGENCY.
WANTED, Artists, in all Lines, Aug. 31 on. 1a, Loughboro'-rd., Brixton. 'Phone 15 Brixton.

WANTED, Artists, suitable for Picture Show, Illustrated Songs, &c., &c., Monday, on. Lowest terms (once nightly, twice Saturday) for Queen's T., Castleford (small town). Beanland and Emerson, Parade, Bridlington.

NEW PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, CHELTENHAM.
General-Manager, Mr. Edward B. Shenton.
Business-Manager, Mr. John Walters.
Architect, Mr. Winstanley, St. Anne's-on-Sea.
A magnificent new building, situated in High-st.

WANTED, Known, Plans have been approved by Magistrates. Due notice of opening date will be given.

EMPIRE, GREENOCK.
Re-opening for the Season, Aug. 17.
WANTED, Agents desirous of doing Business, Artists desiring Engagements, also Combinations and Travelling Pantomimes, to please communicate with Managing-Director.

WANTED, Big Stars and Big Specialities, for immediate dates and on; also High-class Turns for Seaside Towns. Send full list of bookings, with lithos., Barnard's Agency, Shaw-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, for Picture Tour, good Turns, Doubles doing Singles, comfortable Tour to right people; week in a town. State all in first letter. Steadiness essential. Curtis, Town Hall, Thurles, co. Tipperary.

WANTED, Single and Double Turns, for Inverness, Refined Musical Novelties. Write, Collinson, 27, Bridge-street, Inverness.

WANTED, Smart Double Turn, Al Fresco, must be good Patterers and Dancers, able to do Singles, open Thursday Aug. 27. Lowest terms, Kelley, Southport Pierrots, Southport.

WANTED, Best of Talent Only. in All Lines, for Temperance Hall, Merthyr, Aug. 31, onwards. Full Particulars, and Where Acts can be Seen, Cadle, 105 and 106, Strand, London.

DREW BAYLEY'S AGENCY.
170, Saltmarket, Glasgow. 'Phone 234Y5 Tron.
WANTED, Talent in every Line, Comedians, Double Acts, Sisters, Serios, and Specialities. I am on the Spot, and can Book you.

PALACE, KILMARNOCK.
Lessee and Manager, J. Cummings.
WANTED, Star Acts, all Lines, Aug. 31, onwards. Absolute lowest once nightly. J. Cummings, 97, Whitevale, Dennistown, Glasgow.

WANTED, Special Acts of all Kinds, Aug. 31, onward. Forward Bookings, &c., Martino's Agency, 125, Barcroft-street, Grimsby.

WANTED, Variety Acts, all Lines, for Sept. 14 and on. Apply, J. Brown and Co., Variety Agency. Tel. No. 1098 City. 58, Chicksand-st., N.E. Appointments only.

WANTED, Big Acts, all Lines. Very lowest, with complete list of bookings first letter, Delmar's Agency, Central Pier, Morecambe. Nina Gordon write. Important.

WANTED, for Bristol, Glasgow, S. Wales, Midlands. Variety, and Speciality Acts. Full Bookings imperative. Gannon, West-grove, Bristol.

WANTED, April 12, May 31, 1909. Star Speciality Acts. Price no object if right Act. Lithos., permanent address, Gannon, West-grove, Bristol.

WANTED, Greatest Acts in the Profession. Send full bookings, terms, lithos., William Ainsworth, Northern Amusement Bureau, 11, Baker-street, Middlesbrough

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, for Aug. 31, onwards. Star Acts in All Lines. Star Acts in All Lines. Full up for Smaller Items. Cadle's Agency, 105 and 106, Strand, W.C.

HIPPODROME, WEST BROMWICH.
WANTED, Top of Bill Specialities, for Sept. 7, 14, 21, 28, and Oct. 5, onwards.
Apply, Sites Limited, 57, Chancery-lane, W.C.

HENRY KEMBLE'S AGENCY, 233, Kennington-road.
WANTED, Big Specialities, First-class Comedians, Ballad Vocalists, for immediate and future dates.
Full particulars, with open time, terms, &c., to above.

WANTED, Specialities, Doubles doing Singles, must be new to Oldbury. Say if photo.-frames or lithos. Hall small. Lowest terms to Jas. Tyrer, The Palace, Oldbury.

WANTED, for Paris, good Specialities. In first instance, lowest terms and permanent address (ladies must include photos.), Floria, Alhambra, Morecambe.

STALYBRIDGE HIPPODROME.
WANTED, Wanted, Star Attractions, All Lines, Aug. 24, 31, later. James Fioni's Agency, 21, Norton-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, big Attractions, at once, for Norway, Denmark, and Sweden, but only very big. Guise, 25, Bonham-road, Brixton. Appointment only.

THE YARMOUTH and LOWESTOFT HIPPODROMES, THE PALACE, GORLESTON-ON-SEA and NEW HIPPO. PALACE, EXETER.
WANTED, Aug. 31, on First-class Numbers of every Description for Yarmouth, Lowestoft, and Gorleston.
Wanted, Big Top Liners, for Exeter, from Oct., on.
State lowest terms and give full bookings.
Geo. Zalva's Agency, The Palace, Gorleston-on-Sea.
Silence a polite negative pro tem.

WANTED, immediately, Tops, Bottoms, all kinds of Acts.
Full particulars to Ernest Edelsten, 17, Green-street, Leicester-square, W.C.

WANTED, for Worthing, Select Concert Parties and Troupes, for approved pitches on beach, 50 per cent. share, stage, chairs, piano, electric light, and attendants provided. State number of troupe and fullest particulars, to M. W. Shanly, 33, King Henry's-road, South Hampstead; or Local Office, Winter Hall, Worthing.

WANTED, for Immediate and Future Dates, High-class Concert Parties, Orchestras, Military Bands, Choirs, &c. Apply, Harry Esden, Empire, Sunderland.

GLOSSOP, DERBYSHIRE.
WANTED, for Gala, Sept. 5, Acrobats, Gymnasts, Comedians, Novelties, and First-class Outdoor Acts. Send terms, lithos., bills, and full particulars to Sydney Spenser, Proprietor, T. R., Glossop.

WANTED, Young Girls, good Coon Singers and Dancers, powerful voices, for renowned and respectable Troupe. Particulars to Box 6,896, "The Era."

WANTED, Comedians, Comediennes, and good Comedy Acts for the North. Send full bookings, &c., to Frank Lynne, 77, Angell-road, Brixton, S.W.

WANTED, by Harry Morris, Comedian and Mimic, &c., Aug. 24 and Sept. 7. Wire, 66, Dover-street, Crumpsall.

WANTED, a smart young Lady Mandolinist. Apply, by letter only, at once, with full particulars, Madame, 29, Holland-road, Brixton, S.W.

WANTED, good Bioscope, for two hours' show, for small tour; sharing terms, Aug. 31. Apply, Rosair, 46, South Island-place, Brixton, London.

WANTED, Operators, accustomed to gas and electric light. State references and wages required. Bendon Trading Co., 75, Jamaica-street, Glasgow.

WANTED, Wanted, Wanted, First-class Operators. Letters only, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux, 56, Great Queen-street, W.C.

WANTED, Music Hall Artists who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Sons' Bookstalls to kindly communicate with the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Aug. 31 and following, by Marie Colmore, the New Star Comedienne. Conclude, Emp., Hull; Monday, Hippo., Wakefield.

Travelling with Atlas and Vulcana is a girl of 14, by name Marie Colmore, who displays remarkable precocity as a comedienne. She is doing an extra turn at the Empire this week, and astonishes everybody by her cleverness in presenting extravagant humour.—Hull Daily Mail, Aug. 20, '08.

WANTED, Known, Mlle. Lumiere's Original Attraction unexpectedly Vacant, Sept. 7, 14. Wire or write, share or certainty, this, Empire, York. Aug. 24. Palace, Burnley.

WANTED, Monday next, also Sept. 7, by Zelda, the Novel Instrumental Lady, big Act; also Wal Owen, Novel Eccentric. Wire, The Tivoli, Dublin.

WANTED, by Sisters Beatrice, Duettists and Expert Dancers, Monday next. Wire, 23, St. George's-road, Southwark. Many thanks to J. Russell for offer.

WANTED, Known, Rubie and Elsie Redfern, in their New, Novel, and Refined Drawing room Piano Act, introducing Mimicry, Singing, Banjo Overture, Ragtime Dancing, &c. Vacant Aug. 31, Sept. 7, and 21. Hippo., Norwich; next, Hippo., Ipswich.

WANTED, Monday, and immediate Engagements, Dan Ashton, Lancashire Collier, in Original Up-to-date Collier's Song Scena, founded on fact, Wigan Colliery Explosion, Aug. 18, 1908. Interesting, Instructing, Entertaining, and Successful. Will Sley, or 26, Wood-street, Openshaw.

WANTED, Monday next, by Cambo, The Musical Monkey, big Act; can do two numbers if required. Wire, Tivoli, Barrow.

WANTED, by Walter Howard, Musical Comedian, Halls, Piers, Picture Tours, Sept. 28, on. Care of "The Era."

WANTED, Monday, also 31st, Sept. 7 (precede Belfast, Cork, &c.). Palette and Dog Max, in Artistic and Musical Pot-Pourri; also Grover, Eccentric Comedy Speciality; two people. Wire one or both. Empire, Grantham. Mon., 28, Amberley-street, Bradford.

WANTED, Aug. 31, by Ondra, the Juggling Gymnast. Monday, Hippodrome, Burslem.

WANTED, by Shavo, Juggler, Engagement, Aug. 31, Sept. 7. This, Mascots, Walsall; Monday, Mascots, Northampton. Wire.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Aug. 31 and Sept. 7, Volto, Man Monkey and Comedy Gymnast. Next week, Queen's Theatre, Dublin. Address all letters, 13, Westfield-terrace, Sheffield.

WANTED, Monday on, Jack Sheppard, World's Greatest Handcuff King and Prison Breaker; also Miss Ruby Vesta, in the Greatest Trunk Illusion Challenges, &c. Wire, 108, Kennington-road, London.

WANTED, Aug. 24 and Sept. 7, on, The Original Kyoto, Japanese Humourist, Contortionist, Conjurer, and Dog; also May Geraldine, Comedienne, Dancer. Success, South Pier, South sea. Wire, after Sat., 16, Repton-st., Manchester.

WANTED, Monday next, Aug. 24, also 31, Sardous, Illusionists, Mystifiers; also Marie Riviers, Comedienne, Songs Illustrated. Wire, Hippo., Aldershot. Wire.

WANTED Aug. 24, 31, Charley Dixon, Comedian, Dancer, &c.; Kate Lvnd, Comedienne. Two Single Star Turns. Wire, 126, Lambeth-road, London, S.E.

WANTED, Known, The Knotellas (Harry and Rose), Flexible Acrobats and Dancers, &c., Liberty Aug. 31, onward. Coms., 208, Wandsworth Bridge-road, Fulham.

WANTED, Monday next, by Fox and Fox (Harold and Nellie), real Comedy Duettists; Singles if required. James, Exhibition, Dublin.

WANTED, Aug. 31, on, the Original Musical Mintos, Lady and Gentleman, Smart, Eccentric Musical Act. Wire, 36, Booth-street East, Manchester.

WANTED, next week and Sept. 7, Miss Myria Lo-La and Jake, First-class Smart and Comedy Three-bar Act. Wire immediate, Llanelly, Hospital Fête Ground.

WANTED, Monday next, by Ward and Davis (Howard and Louie), Com. Duo. Real Comedy, Original Dancing. Wire, sure hit, Hippo., Wigan (return). Mon., 105, Grant-st., Birmingham.

WANTED, Monday next, by Fred and Lillie Monckton, in Screamingly Funny Farcical Episodes "Two in a Flat," "Are Wives Dummies?" "A Woman's Curiosity." Triple Bill if desired; 2 nights each. Wire, Empire, Barnsley.

WANTED, by Fred Wright, Comedian and Dancer, and Maud Garland, Comedienne, Monday next, Aug. 24 or 31. Address, 118, New North-road, London, N.

WANTED, Known, Vacant Aug., Adele Levey and Charles Leverton, in Sketchette, "Find the Lady First." Success, E., Brixton, &c. Wire, 97, New Kent-road, S.E.

WANTED, Aug. 31, Sept. 7, by the Two Le Bruns (Edgar and Edie), the Juggling Prodigy and Vocal Gem. The Only Child Juggler. Add., People's Palace, Portsmouth.

WANTED, Known, Hall and Wilson, vacant Aug. 31, Sept. 7, in new Act, Motor Trick Cycling, big success. Wire or write, Hall, next, Palace, Lake-road, Portsmouth.

WANTED, Known, Sword and Robb, "Captain and Idiotic Sailor," Comedians and Dancers, vac. Sept. 28, on; also Panto., best offers. Leeds Hotel, Cleethorpes.

WANTED, Known, Liberty Monday and 31st, Wills and Warlock, great Comedy and Dancing Act. Big Laughing Hit. Wire, Victoria Theatre, Stanley, Durham.

WANTED, Known, Blarney and Kennard, Comedians, Patterers, with Speciality, vacant Aug. 24 and 31. Hipp., Blackpool; Monday, 33, Stafford-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, by The Original Two Walonells, Great Eccentric Gymnasts, Sept. 14 and 21. Add., Jack Walonells, this, Hip., Hamilton; next, Pavilion, Glasgow.

WANTED, by Merry and Bright, Popular Comedians, Aug. 31, Sept. 7, Laughing Hit of Programme, Empire, Swindon. Next week, Hippo., Croydon. Coms., 106, Great Portland-st., London, W.

WANTED, Known, Four Cecilians, what a draw. This, Hippodrome, Bromwich; next, Palace, Oldbury. Don't want the earth. Vacant Aug. 31.

WANTED, Known, Ringling Trio, Comedy Acrobatic Act on Stilts, &c., Vacant Monday next, also Aug. 31. Wire, Hippo., Sheffield.

WANTED, Monday and Later, Cameo Troupe, Screamingly Funny Act, "Rustics at Play," Lightning Tumbling, &c. 8, Fenwick-street, Manchester; or Stebbings.

WANTED, Known, Ted Moxon's Trio, Acrobatic Eccentrics, vacant Sept. 7 and 14, through Alhambra, Edinburgh, closing. This, Palace, Tynemouth; next, Empire, York.

WANTED, Known, Attilla Bros., Grecian Gladiators New to London, Lib. Aug. 24; Big Draw. Wire, 113, Richmond-road, Islington.

WANTED, Known, Etherdo, Pugh, and Olrac, Aerial Gymnasts. Sanger's Hippodrome, Tour.

WANTED, Aug. 24, on, La Dor Troupe, six in number, Male and Female Acrobats, with three distinct Speciality Acts. 17, Marble Hall-road, Llanelly.

WANTED, Aug. 24, 31, by The Peps, Modern Comedy Gymnasts. Just the best. 64, Upper Sutton-street, Aston, Birmingham.

WANTED, for Walker's Would-be Acrobats, Globella, Juggling Speciality, now Vacant. Wire offers, 9, Woodford-road, Watford.

WANTED, Aug. 24, 31, and Sept. 7, by Bessie Travis, Queen of Ventriloquists, Starring last four weeks. Top or Bottom Liner, Top or Bottom Liner. Thanks for numerous offers. Must have my price. A Novelty. A Novelty. A Novelty. Wire, 174, Ecclesall-road, Sheffield.

WANTED, Known, Tom Garland stands pre-eminent as an Original Ventriloquist, and has made a big hit this week Empire, Camberwell. Wanted, few dates.

WANTED, Aug. 31, Sept. 7, to precede Ireland, by Gulliver, Ventriloquist. Address, 46, Derngate, Northampton.

WANTED, Monday next, by Adkin, Ventriloquist, "The Man and Doll"; also Bioscope, any length of Show. Wire, 49, Regent-road, Morecambe.

WANTED, Known, Gillin, Ventriloquist, vacant Aug. 24, between Morecambe and Portsmouth. Letters and wires, care of "The Era."

MISS DOREEN O'HARA presents "THE MONEY-LENDER."
The entire production by arrangement with M. Kyburn-Dellar, Esq., as played by him in London for over 300 nights.
French Dramatic Episode in two Scenes. Period 1790. Two Gentlemen, one Lady, and Auxiliaries. Magnificent Costumes by Baruch; Wigs and Shoes by Clarkson; Photo-frames by Hana; Picture Posters by Allens and Stafford.
WANTED, Sept. 7, to follow Empress, Brixton. Miss Doreen O'Hara, 32, Acre-lane, Brixton, or Agents.

WANTED, Sept. 28 and on, by Moon's Merry Mascots, in their latest Musical Burlesque, "The Porter and the Girls." Coms., Variety Pavilion, Lofthouse Park, Wakefield.

WANTED, Known, The Selbinis, the Most Wonderful and Artistic Bicycle Pot-Pourri Act before the Public. At Liberty one week only, Sept. 14, Halls, Fêtes, or Galas. Communications to 193, Brixton-hill, London.

WANTED, Known, The Dunlops (Comedy Cyclists) and Sivado (Lady Gymnast); two distinct Acts, two distinct Acts. Big success this week, Bedford, Camden Town. Four calls each house. We have several dates vacant. Monday, Hippodrome, Colchester.

WANTED, Aug. 31 and Sept. 7, Swift Duo, Comic Cycle Speciality. Monday next, Pavilion, Lodge-lane, Liverpool.

WANTED, Sept., on, for Le Clair's Electric Canine Picture Gallery, the biggest Novelty ever introduced with Troupe of Dogs. Aquarium, Scarborough.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Aug. 31, Sept. 7, Chard's Dogs. Empire, Bristol; next week, Empire, Barnsley.

WANTED, Engagement, Public or Private Carl Harmon's Royal Marionettes, also Punch and Judy, with Toby. 264, Queen's-road, Battersea Park.

SHOWMEN'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

WANTED, Known, .22 Cartridges, "R," "H," "D," "P" brands, Winchester Repeaters, 39s.; Globes, Targets, Water Balls. GREENE, 74, Falmouth-road, London, S.E.

WANTED, Known, to Auctioneers and Market-Workers, there's no mistake about it, I am giving the greatest value in Secondhand Watches in the Trade, and don't forget that my Watches are all in working order, and good condition. My Silver Alberts are splendid value at 2s. 6d. per oz. Write to-day for particulars, C. G. CLACHER, 22, Argyle-street, Glasgow.

TAYLOR, PLINSTON, BROTHERS, AND CO. Sole Makers of the only Patent Cake Walk Riding Machine in the World.
Royal Letters Patent, No. 17,402, July 30, 1907.
Improvements protected, No. 25,150, Nov. 13, 1907.
Improvements protected, No. 2,649, Feb. 6, 1908.
REGISTERED TRADE MARK, "CAKE WALK."

WANTED, Known, users as well as makers who infringe will be proceeded against. In the Chancery Court, July 3, Mr. Justice Swinfen Eady granted an injunction against defendants for infringement of our Patent, No. 17402, 1907.

This machine is a Triumph of Engineering Skill for simplicity, lightness, and durability. Appreciated by the Public everywhere. Write, or call on the Sole Makers, Farncombe-street, and 94 and 98, Bermondsey-wall, Bermondsey, London, S.E.

WANTED, Known, Original Stereoscopic Pictures of British Beauties, for Slots, &c.; most refined and bewitching. Send P.O. 1s. 6d. for 350 miniatures to select from.
MINERVA AUTOMATIC CO.,
14, Charterhouse-buildings, London, E.C.

WANTED, Wanted, Known.
Houp-La.
Large Packets
Butterscotch and Chocolate Toffee,
12s. gross. Sample 3 stamps.
A. BUNN, 16, Dagnall-place,
Brady-street, Bethnal Green, London, E.

WANTED, Known, important notice, Stacey's Showmen Stores, removed to 510, Kingsland-road, London, late Settles-street. Specialities, Guns, Cartridges, Targets, Swing Ropes, &c.

WANTED, Known, Greatest Novelty and Money-getter, the Hindu Spirit Writer and Fortune Teller, sure living, price £8 10s. STACEY, 510, Kingsland-road, London.

NORWICH AND EASTERN COUNTIES ARTS, CRAFTS, & INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION. Agricultural Hall, Norwich, Oct 10 to Nov. 7, 1908.
WANTED, for the Pastimes Annex to above, Side Shows, Games, Automatic Machines, Shooting Jungle, Novelty Stalls, &c., &c.
Address, MANAGER.

WANTED, good Quick-showing Novelties, with Good Flash for Sept. 7 and onwards. Shares. NORTH, 150, Seven Sisters-road, London.

WANTED, Novelties, with good Flash, wire for Monday; also want to buy Tilt, 24ft. by 30ft. NICHOLAS, Exhibition, 47, Surrey-st., Croydon.

WANTED, good Quick-showing Novelty, for Ground Booth; join at once; good terms to good people. Address, BLAKEY, Fair Ground, Yeadon, Yorkshire.

WANTED, Attractions for Bazaar, Oct. 27, 28, 29 next. Applications to Hon. Secs., Incorporated Church of Ireland, Cork Young Men's Association, 52, South-mall, Cork.

WANTED, Lady Palmist. Apply by letter, stating experience, terms, refs., &c., and enclose photo., if possible, A. E. PICKARD, Museum, Glasgow.

WANTED, a Man to take the full Management of my Circus for Fair and Private business. Mr. E. HODGES, SEN., 61, Cooksey-road, Small Heath, Birmingham.

WANTED, Known, Bailey's Punch and Judy, delighting the visitors daily at Buxton. The old firm. Chair up. Address, Buxton, Derbyshire.

WANTED, Known, to Exhibition-Managers requiring First-class Side-show, Meux's Marvellous Marionettes, at Liberty Aug. 31, on. Particulars, MEUX, Alexandra Palace.

WANTED, Known, at Lib. Sept., for Pictures, Trades Exhibits, or Shops, Elba's Mysterious Duchess, Human Spider, and Second Sight. Good money-taker. Write, 12, Row 60, M. P., Great Yarmouth.

WANTED, immediately, Male and Female Midgets, or any good Novelty for Ground Booth (shuttered), long and comfortable Engagement to suitable Exhibit. Apply, Exhibition, Allen Arms Yard, Lewes-road, Brighton.

WANTED, Known, Mme. de Para, Disengaged end Sept., Palmistry and Character Reading. Thanks Mrs. Steve Cook, comfortable summer season. Peggotty's Hut, Quay, Gorleston-on-Sea.

WANTED, Engagement, Miss L. Wainwright, at Fat Girl, at Liberty Monday next; can Join at Once; shares or salary; prefer wagon to live in. C/o Mrs. Marwood, 4, Infirmary-street, Edinburgh.

WANTED, Known, Chas. Mount, Lecturer or Doorsman, at Lib. Can describe a picture as it should be. Dress well; fluent. 38, Thanet, London, W.C.

WANTED, Known, George Mason, at Liberty shortly, as Planksman, Handseller, and competent Pianist, Brilliant Soloist, Sight-reader, and Accompanist, well up in all Gags, Sketches; 10 years' refs. Auctioneer or good Picture Show wire or write. 13, Waldegrave-terrace, Radstock.

WANTED, a Face Reader, grand opportunity for one well up in the business; could commence at once; plenty of people, in good-established business. Send all particulars, Box 6,880, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, Distorting Mirrors to Let, on Hire or Share, Exhibitions, &c. Add., MIRRORS, c/o Mrs. Hampshire, Church-lane, Outwood, Wakefield.

WANTED, Buy or Rent, few good Showy Athletic and other Slot Machines. Save time, send description, price, or terms, Box 6,882, "The Era."

WANTED, to Hire, for six months, a number of really First-class Slot Machines. Particulars, terms, &c., immediately, CALVERTO, Giffnock, Glasgow.

WANTED, to Rent or Lease, for First-class Slot Machine, Parlour, Shop, large, main thoroughfare, any large city. Send particulars. Box 6,807, "The Era."

WANTED, Wanted, Known,
PLEASURE BEACH, BLACKPOOL.
Greatest Combination of Open-air Attractions in the Country. For concessions for Real Novelties for Summer Season, 1909, address, PROPRIETORS, Pleasure Beach, Blackpool.

ROYAL AGRICULTURAL HALL.
BAKERS' EXHIBITION, Sept. 5 to 12, 1908.
GROCERS' EXHIBITION, Sept. 19 to 26, 1908.
BREWERS' EXHIBITION, Oct. 17 to 23, 1908.
WANTED, to Let, Spaces for Stalls in the Bazaar Section of these Exhibitions.
Handkerchief, Postcard, Scent, Photo., or any Novelty.
Apply, FRANK TURNER, Royal Agricultural Hall, London, N.; or Telephone, 2758 North.

WANTED, to Let, Ground, suit Auctioneer; main road; 40ft. front, 60ft. back; grand position.
Apply, E. MARTIN,
Fair Ground, Lake-road, Portsmouth.

WANTED, Known, now open, Kilburn White City, Spaces to Let, Side Shows, Stalls, Photos., &c. Apply, MANAGER, 244 and 246, High-road, Kilburn.

SHOWMEN'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

WANTED, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Spaces to Let,
Spaces to Let,
Spaces to Let,
Spaces to Let,
Spaces to Let,
Spaces to Let,
Spaces to Let,
for
Gloucester, Great Barton
Pleasure Fair,
Sept. 28 and 29,
and Hiring Mop,
Monday, Oct. 5.

All Persons
Requiring Ground must apply at once, as no Space will be kept until Deposit is paid.

Applications should be made at once to
JACOB STUDT,
Sole Lessee.
Address,
Flower Show Field,
Trowbridge, Wilts.
After Saturday, Flower Show Field, Chippenham

WANTED, Auctioneers and Market-workers to send for my new list with over 2,000 illustrations of Jewellery, Watches, Clocks, Field Glasses, Bazaar and Fancy Goods; every line right for price. SIMONS, 100, 101, 102A, Houndsditch, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Position for Cinematograph or Bazaar; good position, main road.
Box 6,885, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell, a bargain, massive carved Two-waggon Front, suitable for Bioscope. Ghost, or other Show, good living accommodation; part purchase-money can remain, or will exchange for first-class Rail Pullman Living Carriage. Exhibition, Allen Arms Yard, Lewes-rd., Brighton.

WANTED, to Sell, a Switchback Railway, with 8 Motor Cars, also Traction Engine, electric light, all complete. Part purchase money can remain on. Box 6,845, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell,
Steam Roundabout,
cheap, to carry 36; Savage's engine, Gaviola organ, &c., comprising four loads.
For full particulars, apply, 5, Gwynne-road, High-street, Battersea.

WANTED, to Sell, Collection 82 First-class Wax Figures, also Barrel Piano and four Penny Drops. Particulars, Box 6,833, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell,
Large Orchestrion, with Tunes, equal to full band, with water motor.
Wanting room, must sell quickly.
Grand Attraction for place of Amusement.
GULDMAN and Co., 7, Sugar-lane, Manchester.

WANTED, to Sell, Piano Organ and Reed Organ; Ethella, Tattooed Lady, at Liberty. IVORY, 150, Seven Sisters-road, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Automatic Machines, New and Second-hand, Card Delivery, Mother Shiptons, marvellous money-takers, enormous profits. MEURICE, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Gold-mounted Photos., Husbands, Wives, Babies, X-rays, latest sensation, marvellous value, your profits doubled. MEURICE, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Love Letters, Palmistry, Fair and Dark, Comic Cards, Eyes, Marriage, Liars', Lunatics' Licences. MEURICE, 39, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, several Automatic Machines, cheap, two Mills' ½d. in slot Punch Balls, good as new, £8 10s. each; also Looping the Loop Machines, made to take eight halfpennies, 3ft. by 3ft., handsome, £2 10s. each, brand new, cost £3 10s.; also Rosenfield Lifters and Strength Machines. Apply, MANAGER, 331A, Mare-street, Hackney.

WANTED, to Sell, Slot Machines of Every Description; the Best Money-takers Obtainable. WORMALD, 123, Blythe-road, West Kensington, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Slot Machines, Punch Ball, £10; Electric Phonographs, £5; Pleezall (Picture), 40s.; Loops, Electrics, Fortune, &c. ADVANCE, 510, Kingsland-road, London.

WANTED, to Sell, good Novelty, suitable for Exhibition; also small Bioscope and Films, complete, cheap. Box 6,869, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell, Large Distorting Mirrors, in good condition.
Box 6,878, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell, Waxworks, nice collection, about twenty good heads, bodies, cloths, &c. Giving away, price £15, bargain. STACEY, 510, Kingsland-road, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Stereoscopic Slides, Real Photograph, 2s. 6d. doz.; Transparent from 4s. 6d. AAS, 17, Bury-street, Bloomsbury, London.

WANTED, to Purchase, small Steam Roundabout, about 3 horse load. Write all particulars and price to 92, Stone-street, Maidstone.

WANTED, to Buy, Piano, Self-acting, Drums, Cymbals, &c., preferred. Write lowest cash, maker, tunes, and description, where seen, Box 6,876, "The Era."

WANTED, to Buy, Weighing Chair, in good condition, must be cheap. G. HILL, Exhibition, Mechanics' Institute, Nottingham.

WANTED, Known, the Seventy Thousand Showmen who use the Columns of "The Era" and are moving about should know that they can make "The Era" Offices their Permanent London Address. Letters received will be held till called for, or immediately re-addressed according to instructions. Address all communications respecting the Letter Department to the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

WANTED, every Showman who uses the railway to send to "The Era" for a copy of the article on the new Railway Rates. This will be sent on application, free of charge, to any Showman in the United Kingdom.

WANTED, Showmen who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any Railway Bookstall to kindly communicate with the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

WANTED TO SELL.

WANTED, to Sell,
ALBERT HALL and MINOR HALL, SWANSEA.
Seating capacity, Large Hall about 2,000.
Seating Capacity, Minor Hall, about 350.
Corner site, centre of town, by Tramway Junction.
Apply, EDWARD ROBERTS and SON, Auctioneers, 40, Oxford-street, Swansea.

WANTED, to Sell, Theatre, in Populous District, Lancashire. Reason for selling, with fullest particulars, on application.
Letters, Box 6,889, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell, Freehold Site for Empire or Theatre; the Finest in England.
Address, Box 6,879, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell,
cheap, Theatrical Fit-up,
with electric buttons, cloths, &c.;
also Revolving Table,
Perfect Motor-car for Dogs,
Dogs' Dresses.
Seen by appointment.
CON EGAN, Mulberry Bush, Twickenham.

WANTED, to Sell, large Production of "Dick Whittington."
ARTHUR CARLTON, Theatre, Worcester.

WANTED, to Sell, Back Cloth, 20 by 24, and two Flats, 9 by 6 (School Set), cheap.
Address, 42, Fentiman-road, Clapham-road.

WANTED TO SELL.

WANTED, to Sell, the following complete Productions: "Giddy Ostend," "The Golden Princess," "Zuyder Zee," "The Treasure Ship," "Among the Stars," "Butterflies in Fairyland." Address all communications to MOSS' EMPIRES, LTD., Cranbourn-mansions, Cranbourn-street, London, W.C. Envelopes marked "Productions."

WANTED, Known, rather than take back to the States at the conclusion of my Earl's Court Engagement, I have a number of Animals, Birds, and Reptiles for Disposal, including several Young Sea-Lions just ready for training.
Address, BOSTOCK, The Animal King,
Earl's Court Exhibition.

WANTED, to Sell, 500,000ft. Secondhand Film, all the Leading and Latest Subjects, in Excellent Condition, guaranteed lengths, from ½d. per foot.
WHISKER BROTHERS,
4-10, Wilde-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, to Sell, Cinématograph Films, Babes in Wood, 700, £4 10s.; Fatal Sneeze, 350, 40s.; Man of Straw, 400, 50s.; Cape to Cairo Railway, 400, 50s.; all splendid condition; the lot £10 10s. REYNOLDS, Victoria Hotel, Murton, Durham.

WANTED, to Sell, Films, carefully-selected, Private Stock; every Film guaranteed in perfect running condition, numerous subjects, from ½d. per foot.
REED, BROWN, and Co.,
148, Westgate-road, Newcastle.

WANTED, to Sell, Films, cheap, and Films for Hire, up-to-date.
THE BENDON TRADING CO., 75, Jamaica-st., Glasgow.

WANTED, to Sell, large quantities of Films, Comic, Dramatic, Travel subjects, Moir-Burns Fights, Moir-Palmer Fights, and Hackenschmidt and Rogers Wrestling Match; all bargains to clear. JURY'S IMPERIAL PICTURES, 142, Long Acre.

WANTED, to Sell, American Illustrated Song Slides, £1 per set; none better procurable anywhere. BOSTOCK, 56, Cowper-street, Chapeltown-road, Leeds.

WANTED, to Sell, large quantity of Panto. Dresses of every description, all in First-class condition.
State requirements.
FRED GRANVILLE, Queen's Theatre, Liverpool.

WANTED, to Sell, a Well-known Dramatic Production, complete with all scenery, properties, and printing. Address, Box 6,888, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell, Drummer's Orchestral Effects, including Glockenspiel, Xylophone, Bass Drum, &c. Death cause of sale. Apply, BALL, Winter Gardens, Blackpool.

WANTED, to Sell, Smart Set of Sleigh-Bells, eighteen straps, plush-covered, nickel stand. H. J., 83, Shortlands-road, Kingston-on-Thames.

WANTED, to Sell, Fire Balloons, cheap, from 6ft. to 30ft. circumference. Sample parcel 1s. 6d. AERONAUT, 23 Geere-road, West Ham.

WANTED, to Sell, Massive Gold Frame, platform and case included, £5; curtains if required. 36, Norfolk-road, Essex-road, N.

WANTED, to Sell, Typed Stock Dramas, Duos, Comedy, and Dramatic Sketches; Plays Rewritten and Produced. HAL COLLIER, 52, Stockwell-road, London, S.W.

The Publisher, "The Era."
5, Tavistock-street, Strand, London, W.C.
"Dear Sir,—I ordered the following advertisement to appear in your paper for two insertions:—

"'WANTED, to Sell, Self-acting Pianoforte, two barrels, twenty tunes, perfect condition. Cost £44; what offers? MEURICE, 39, Argyle-square, W.C.'

"Kindly do not insert my advertisement again, as the self-acting piano which I had to sell has been sold to Mr. Jack Woolf, of Wonderland fame, Whitechapel-road, E. I had also ten other applicants through my advertisement in 'The Era.'
Yours faithfully,
J. H. MEURICE.
"39, Argyle-square, W.C. Oct. 9, 1906."

WANTED TO BUY.

WANTED, to Purchase, the Lease of a good Provincial Theatre; must stand strictest investigation. Apply, Box 6,862, "The Era" Office.

WANTED, large Gramophone, suitable for open air; must be in perfect condition.
JOHN MASON, c/o Cestrian Hotel, Chester.

WANTED, to Purchase, good Pantomime Production; also sets of Pantomime Dresses. Full particulars, lowest price, ARTHUR CARLTON, Theatre, Worcester.

WANTED, to Buy, good Secondhand Cinematograph Booth, complete without Front. State full particulars, lowest cash price, to COOKE, 470, Dudley-road, Birmingham.

WANTED, Films, Wild West, Cowboys, &c., and "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Length, condition, lowest price, Mr. BIOSCOPE, P.O., Munslow, Salop.

WANTED, to Buy, Green Baize, 18 by 24, or larger; must be in good condition, cheap. NETHERLAND, Hippo., Bury.

WANTED, to Purchase, good reliable Typewriter. Full particulars, &c., to FRED PARR, Hippodrome, Hamilton.

WANTED, to Purchase, Brass Orchestral Rail and Supports; also Tableau Curtains. Full particulars, MANAGER, New Gaiety, Clydebank, N.B.

WANTED, to Buy, Several Square-cut Suits, Capes, and other Wardrobe of same period; full sizes; must be cheap. DAVIES, Theatre, Wednesbury.

WANTED, old Chambers, Flats, and Cloths, to Paint up; Cloths must be big.
J. S. BOON, 67A, Gaskell-street, Clapham.

WANTED TO LET OR HIRE.

CONSETT NEW TOWN HALL.
WANTED, to Let, the above-mentioned Hall, for Concert Parties and Cinematographs. Seating accommodation 1,000. Stage 24ft. by 12ft. Height 16ft. The above Hall has a Theatre Licence. Apply to T. W. WELFORD, Solicitor, Consett, Durham.

WANTED, to Let, on Yearly Tenancy, Theatre, Fully Licensed Bars.
Apply, Box 6,591, "The Era."

WANTED, to Let, the Rehearsal Theatre, 21, Maiden-lane, Strand, for Private Theatricals, Concerts, Meetings, Rehearsals, &c. Manager, Mr. J. HERBERT JAY. 'Phone, Gerrard 2633. Wires, "Managerial, London."

WANTED, to Let, Hall or Large Rooms, rehearsals with piano, 1s. per hour. Clapham Assembly Rooms, facing Clapham-road, Station.

WANTED, Known, I have room to store 100 loads of Scenery, &c., 2s. 6d. per week per load, Scenery carted to and from any part of London. C. SHARP, 272, St. James'-road, Old Kent-road. Tel., 497 Hop.

WANTED, to Let, three large Paint-frames (45ft., 35ft., and 30ft.), together or separately; every convenience. Moderate rental. Roy COCHRANE, Surrey Theatre, S.E.

CRYSTAL PALACE THEATRE ADVERTISING CURTAIN.
Lessee, J. BANNISTER HOWARD.
WANTED, Offers from Advertising Contractors to take over advertising curtain at the above Theatre for three years. Address, 15, Clifford's-inn, Fleet-street, E.C.

WANTED, to Hire or Purchase, a large quantity of Cocoanut Matting, must be at least 1½in. thick. Send particulars, J. F. PRESTON, Grand Theatre, Radcliffe, Lancs.

PARTNERS WANTED.

WANTED, Lady or Gentleman as Partner in Successful West-End Comedy, for Tour. Good Opening for First-class Amateur to Star in Leading Light Comedy Part. Apply, MANAGER, 14, Newport-house, Charing Cross-road, W.C. (opposite Hippodrome).

WANTED, £25, Partner, Lady or Gentleman, for half share in London Production of successful Sketch Episode, large profits, long tour of best Halls to follow. Young Lady Amateur with abilities entertained. Address, T. A. BELLAMY, 211, Upper Richmond-road, Putney.

WANTED, smart Young Lady Partner, good Music-Hall Sketch. Sure Success.
Coms., ASHER, Palace, Dudley.

WANTED, Known, join good Musical Act, immediate, Solo Saxophone, Trombone, Euphonium, own Instruments. JEAN SCHRAPFER, 31, Clifford-street, Oxford-road, Manchester.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TWENTY WORDS, ONE SHILLING.
Each Additional Six Words, Sixpence.

WANTED, Known, F. G. Wright, Gymnastic Apparatus Maker, Electrical Engineer, and Theatrical Blacksmith. 66 and 68, Kennington-road, S.E.

WANTED, Known, C. Kinch, Gymnastic Apparatus Maker, Theatrical and General Blacksmith. 17, St. Mary-square, Kennington-road, London, S.E. Large Hall for Practice.

WANTED, Known, for Ventriloquial and Marionette Figures and Specialities, LE MARE and SON, 28, Coupland-st., Oxford-rd., Manchester.

THE AMERICAN SHOW PRINTERS' AGENCY, 12, Cecil-court, Charing Cross-road, W.C.
WANTED, Managers, Requiring Novel and Up to-date Printing, to call and inspect the latest samples of printing, suitable for everything in the business. Fresh samples continually arriving; nothing old or antiquated submitted. Always a large stock of Posters on hand for Circus, Menagerie, Cinematograph, &c., &c. Address, A. DE FREECE, Manager. Telephone, 331, City.

WANTED, Known, for Artistic Lithos., EDWARD HARRISON,
The Litho Studio, 14, Regent-terrace, Sheffield, W.

WANTED, Owners for our Attractive Posters. Largest Selection of American and English Stock in Great Britain. Biograph, Rolle-Skating, Circus, Menagerie, Dramatic, &c.
THE JOHN MOORE CO., 8, Rupert-court, Piccadilly-circus, W. 'Phone, 4194 Gerrard.

WANTED, Known, Profile, Pine, Profile, 100 sheets in stock, 12ft. long, 33in. wide; if taken in quantities 9s. 6d. per sheet. Quantity of Secondhand Scenery for Sale. C. SHARP, 272, St. James'-road, Old Kent-road. Tel., 497 Hop.

WANTED, Known, Authors' MSS., Typewritten copies, 6d. per 1,000 words; Plays 2d. per page. Accuracy guaranteed. BUREAU, 64, Basinghall-street, London. 'Phone, 7522 Wall.

WANTED, Known, that we do Picture Postcards, genuine photos., 2s. 6d. per dozen; Collotype cards, 100 5s. 6d., 250 8s., 500 12s., 1,000 16s. Half-tone, 1,000 20/- Send photo. and cash. SENIOR and Co., Cotham Hill, Bristol.

WANTED, Known, Copper Blocks, 3s. 6d.; Artistic Memos, 1s. 100; D.C.'s, 15s. 1,000; Handbills, from 1/- 1,000. CARTER, Harper-place, Hulme.

WANTED, Known, Theatrical Framing and Properties Made. Estimates free. JOHN TILLER, Scenic Stores, Heald Grove, Rusholme, Manchester.

WANTED, Known, Frock Frills, Lino, plain, with ruche, 3s. 11d. per doz.; Accordion Pleated, 5s. 6d. Samples free. KIND, 2, Dysart-road, Grantham.

WANTED, Known, Cottle's Bureau, 229, Camberwell-road, Band Parts, 3s. 6d.; Composing, Copying, Band Books, 4s. 7d. (lists); rehearsal room, 1s. hour.

WANTED, Known, for Skating Rinks, everything supplied, Mechanics, Instructors, Champion Skaters, Skates, and Fittings, &c. Professional Skaters correspond. CHEVALIER CROWTHER, Frizinghall.

WANTED, Mr. J. C. Oliver, to communicate at once. Urgent. F. OLIVER, 21, Campbell-street, City-road, Bristol.

WANTED, Known, comfortable Home in country offered for child, temporary or permanent. Terms to suit requirements. Apply, Mrs. GIBBS, Broom Hill, Orpington.

WANTED, Known, that Fred Arenius has no connection with the late Flying Winskills whatever.

WANTED, Known, for his new Entertainment, Watt Moor will be the name assumed by Harry Wright.

WANTED, Known, owing to unprejudiced people copying name and Act, Reed and Lerne will in future be known as Folay and Francis.

WANTED Known, to Proprietors, Managers, Agents, &c. Notice. Owing to confusion in our name, The Abadaroffs will in future be known as The Cantabs.

WANTED.—The Musical Palmers thank James Fioni, Esq., and F. Mayer, Esq for nice offers, but had already fixed all immediate vacancies with Waller Jeffs, Esq.

WANTED, Known, Peter Adair during his 1,306 mile walk, London to Land's End, then to John o' Groats, will use only Coleman's Wincarnis.

WANTED, to Invest a Small Amount in a Genuine Music Hall or Theatre. Particulars, Box 6,893. "The Era."

Just Out. Price 1s., post free.

SHOWMAN'S YEAR BOOK, 1908.

Edited by the Rev. T. HORNE.

Entirely Re-arranged, Corrected and Enlarged. 100 pages.

Issued at "THE ERA" Publishing Offices,
5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

Telephones: 4,747 and 1,433 Central.
Telegraphic Address, "The Era, London."

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1908.
The Star, Jan. 16:—
Mr. Lennox Pawle's appearance in pantomime at Drury Lane gives point to some correspondence, now published by "The Era" Annual for the first time. As an example in brevity it should commend itself to managers and actors.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1908.
Sportsman, Jan. 17:—
"The Era" Dramatic and Musical Annual (5, Tavistock-street, Strand), has plenty of good reading and many portraits, as well as much useful information in matters theatrical. It is cheap at a shilling.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1908.
Daily Express:—
An interesting illustration of the proverb, "Brevity is the soul of wit," is given in some correspondence between Mr. Robert Arthur, the theatrical manager, and Mr. Lennox Pawle, published by the latter in "The Era" Annual for 1908.

INDISPENSABLE!

RAYNE'S
POCKET DATE BOOK

JUST PUBLISHED.
Price ONE SHILLING.

Five Shillings' worth of information for One Shilling. Purchasers of this work will not only be making a good investment, but will be also adding to the funds of two deserving charities. The above work, got up in a convenient size for the waistcoat pocket, should be in the possession of every Actor, every Music Hall Artist, and every Entertainer, in fact.

CONTENTS.

Map (19in. by 10in.), showing the distance betwixt the various Music Halls at a glance. Will tell if one Hall is within the barring radius of the other, thus saving fears, worry and anxiety.
All About Artists' Luggage.
List of Clubs.
Information about Stamping Contracts.
Foreign Money Table.
London Music Halls and Theatres.
Their Telephone Numbers.
List of Brougham Proprietors.
List and Address of Photographers.
Size of Theatrical Printing Paper.
Names and Addresses of Theatrical Railway Managers, &c., &c.

RAYNE'S
POCKET DATE BOOK

The Book will be Sold at ONE SHILLING, post free.

The proceeds from the Sale will be divided equally amongst the two great charities of the Dramatic and Musical Professions, THE ACTORS' BENEVOLENT FUND
AND THE
MUSIC HALL HOME FUND.

Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Garrick Theatre, writes:—
"I thank you for the little book, which I am sure will be very useful."
Mr. George Scott (Manager), Alhambra, W.C. writes:—
"Many thanks for the little book to hand, which will prove of valuable assistance to me.
Mr. Seymour Hicks, Aldwych Theatre, writes:—
"I thank you for the Telephone Book, which I find most useful."

Send 12 Stamps to the Publisher
"THE ERA" BUILDINGS,
5, TAVISTOCK ST., W.C.
'Phones: 4747 and 1433 Central.
Telegraphic Address: "The Era," London.

MOSS' EMPIRES, LTD. & STOLL COMPANIES SUBSEQUENT

(Moss, Stoll, Thornton & Allen Theatres, Amalgamated)

Chairman: SIR EDWARD MOSS

WORKING IN CONJUNCTION.
Capital £2,086,000.
Managing Director:
OSWALD STOLL.

Including the London Coliseum Ltd.

Chairman, OSWALD STOLL

Assistant Director and Chief of Staff: FRANK ALLEN.
Department Superintendents { W. S. Gordon Michie. / Alan W. Young.

CO-OPERATIVE OFFICES: CRANBOURN MANSIONS, CRANBOURN STREET, LONDON, W.C.

INTERVIEWS BY APPOINTMENT ONLY. CALLS FOR MONDAY, AUG. 24, 1908.

Telephone: 1050 and 1051 Gerrard.
Wires: "Twigsome, London."

THE LONDON HIPPODROME.

Loie Fuller's Ballet of Light, Pathégraph, Athlones, Vasilescu Troupe, Picchianis, W. C. Fields, Campbell and Barber, Watson's Dogs, Gaberel, Iben Obed Troupe, Fratellinis, Jackson Family, Georges, Madame Hanako.

EMPIRE PALACE, EDINBURGH.
Rehearsal at 1.30 for:—
Edward Clark and Winning Widows, Maud Rocher's Monkeys, Bessie Butt, Musical Schaffers, "Home from the Honeymoon," Harry Tate's Co. in "Motoring," Howe and Ardie, Bioscope, Dale and O'Malley, Laurie's Kindergarten.

EMPIRE THEATRE, GLASGOW.
Rehearsal at 12 for:—
Reano's Band, Will Poluski, jun., Bonnie Goodwin's Piccaninnies, Ian Colquhoun, Imperial Russian Troupe, The Lavails, Marie Empress, Bioscope, Julius Tannen, Celia Galley.

COLISEUM, GLASGOW.
Rehearsal at 12 for:—
Oswald Williams, Sidney Stern, Lee and Bentley, Les Martineks, Hymack, Six Æolians, Vanando, Carl Howard, Bioscope, Gertie Gitana.

ARDWICK EMPIRE, MANCHESTER.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Arnold Bell and Co., in "Paul Kauvar," Ludwig Amann, Bob Hamilton, C. J. Johnson, Bros. O'Brien, Spry and Austin, Bi Bo Bi, Grace Merton, Bioscope, May Mars.

HIPPODROME, MANCHESTER.
Rehearsal at 12 for:—
Louie Freear and Co., in "Snooks," Monie Mine, Cissie Curlette, Eight College Girls, Ritter Von Renroff, Will H. Fox, Northern Troupe, Illustrated Song and Glee, Bioscope, Callahan and St. George.

EMPIRE PALACE, LEEDS.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Elliott Savonas, Gus Le Clerq, Gracie Grahame, The Kirbys, "The Bo'sun's Mate," Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finden, Robb Gilmore, Lottie Govell, Bioscope, Poluski Bros.

EMPIRE PALACE, BIRMINGHAM.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Ernest Shand, Lester Bros., Lukushimas, Sid May, Three Meers, Frank Leon, Munro's Black and White Team, Blanche Vincent, Bioscope, Tom Edwards.

BORDESLEY PALACE, BIRMINGHAM.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
R. A. Roberts' Company, in "Straight from the Shoulder."

GRAND, BIRMINGHAM.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Bella and Bijou, Sados, Albert Letine, Alice Maydue, Anartos, Frank L. Gregory Troupe, Hilda Jacobson, Arthur Lloyd, Bioscope, Machnow.

EMPIRE THEATRE, BRADFORD.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Mark Sheridan, Frank Cass, Four Figaros, Lena Verdi, "The Little Stowaway," Twin Andersons, Russell Brandow, Aida Martine, Bioscope, Alexandre and Hughes.

EMPIRE, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
G. H. Elliott, Will Johnson, Brown and Le Clerq Co., Lady Mansel and Juveniles, Laurie and Beattie, Three Lloyds, Daisy Martell, Ralph and Nellie Howard, Bioscope, "The Brigands of Tarragona."

EMPIRE PALACE, LIVERPOOL.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Harry Lauder, Cassie Walmer, J. A. Wilson, Barton and Ashley, Pip Powell and Katie Vesey, George Ridgewell, Herald Comedy Four, Bioscope, Dunedin Troupe.

OLYMPIA, LIVERPOOL.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Neil Kenyon, Rex Fox, O'Malley and Brown, Arthur Playfair and Co., Marie Kendall, Little Ganty, Steve McCarthy, Madge May, Bioscope, Alice Raymond and Players.

EMPIRE, HACKNEY.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Walter Passmore and Co., La Danseuse, Boyd and Gilfain, Alf Gibson, Theo Boumeester, Hayes and Wynne, Chronomegaphone, Frank Couch, Bioscope, George Formby.

EMPIRE, HOLLOWAY.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Eugene Stratton, Hartley Wonders, Ross and Lewis, Herr Rousby, Maggie Walsh, George Rae, Maud Vera, Bioscope, Bros. Egbert.

EMPIRE, NEW CROSS.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
"The Organ Grinder," Ben Albert, Eight Lancashire Lads, Carney and Armstrong, Henry Coutts and Co., Duncan and Godfrey, Leo Teil, The Haytors, Madge Osmond, Bioscope, Cruikshank.

BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Fredk. Melville's Company, in "The Ugliest Woman on Earth."

EMPIRE, STRATFORD.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
"The Tea Shop," Three Cape Girls, McCann's Irish Terriers, Johnny Walker, Olgar and Elgar, Fred Keeton, Lumars, Dorothy Gould, Bioscope, Lil Hawthorne, Jack Pleasants.

EMPIRE, SWANSEA.
Rehearsal at 3 for:—
Laurence Irving, Mabel Hackney and Co., Crown Trio, Bros. Redmond, Herbert Shelley and Co., Tom Woottwell, The Maples, Marion Scott, Bioscope, Charlene and Charlene.

PALACE, LEICESTER.
Rehearsal at 2.30 for:—
"The Futurity Winner," Barlge and Smith, J. W. Rickaby, The Cecilias, Mason and Bart, Carlotta Levey, Phil and Nettie Peters, Bioscope, Hunt and Thomas.

EMPIRE, CARDIFF.
Rehearsal at 3 for:—
R. A. Roberts, The Leonards, Sisters Pine, Fred Wilkinson, Verno and Voyce, The Cumberlands, Happy Tom Parker, Andy Fagan, Bioscope, Ella Shields.

PHILHARMONIC HALL, CARDIFF.
Until Further Notice.
Rehearsal at 3 for:—
B. Maddison, Hetty Hocking, Gwilym Naish, Rose Stuart, Bert Williams. Bioscope.

EMPIRE, NEWPORT.
Rehearsal at 3 for:—
Chas. T. Aldrich, Sisters Grovini, Walker and Lake, Barry Lupino, Gus Garrick, Tennyson and Wallis, Maggie Rimmer, Bioscope, Russell Wallett.

EMPIRE, NOTTINGHAM.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Whit Cunliffe, Lizzie Glenroy, Marie Santoi and Co., George Newburn, "The Magic Carpet," Narow Bros., Les Marbas, Ray Maskell, Bioscope, Arthur Lennard.

EMPIRE PALACE, SHEFFIELD.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
George Robey, Jock Mills, Ethel Hayden, Five Olracs, R. H. Douglass, Hans and Lux, Rhoda Paul, Hugh Barclay, Bioscope, Lockhart's Elephants.

PALACE THEATRE, HULL.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Harry Randall, Harry May Hemsley, Barton and Franklyn Trio, Chronomegaphone, Billy McClain and Co., Mlle. Eldee, Cecilia Maude, Harry Marte, Bioscope, Sanford and Lyons.

EMPIRE, SHEPHERD'S BUSH.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
The Boissets, Carina Sisters, Edie King, Harold Thorley, Mabel Bardine and Co., Drew and Alders, Fred Elton, La Belle Nello, Chas. Stevens, Bioscope, George Bastow.

NOTICE.—No order or contract for goods or services must be accepted for any of the foregoing theatres except upon receipt of an Official Form, issued from the Co-operative Offices, London, and signed by either Mr. Oswald Stoll, Mr. Frank Allen, or the Chief Accountant, otherwise the Company concerned will not be responsible for same, and will refuse payment. In special cases, where goods are required at once, suppliers must look to the individual placing the order, who will be personally liable, unless an official confirmatory order, signed as above, is received within forty-eight hours. Invoices must be sent to the Theatre, but monthly statements should be sent to the Co-operative Offices. The individual Company on whose behalf orders are signed is solely responsible for payment. The Management will not hold themselves responsible in the event of loss of or damage to any MSS., Songs, &c., submitted for consideration.

THE LONDON COLISEUM.

Rehearsal at 10 a.m. for:—

Odette Valerie, Horace Goldin, Cyril Clensy Wood, Wells, and Wilkins, Joe Peterman's Co., in "Singing Servants," Automatos, Nita Jo, Hal Godfrey and Co., "An Outside Chance," Mollasso Quartette, Truly Shattuck, Tambo and Tambo, Rosalie Jacobi, Bioscope, Toft's Statuary.

THE FOLLOWING ARE BOOKED IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE ABOVE:

EMPIRE THEATRE, DUBLIN.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Fred Lindsay, Camille Feo Eugene Brandt, Kloof and Ramsey, Mayme Cannon, Bros. Weltman, Will Brockton, Pictures, Fieldman's Beau Ideals.

EMPIRE THEATRE, BELFAST.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Mike S. Whallen, Eily Adair, Harry Drew, Orpheus, McConnell Trio, Frances McNulty, Pictures, Daunton Shaw Troupe.

EMPIRE PALACE, SOUTH SHIELDS.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
The Gothams, Nellie Martell, Yorke Wilson, Arabella Allen, Jennie Johns, Johnson and Bert, Pictures, New York Nippers.

THE PALACE, CAMBERWELL.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Both Performances.
Mrs. John Lawson and Co., in "The Devil's Sunday," George Brooks, Amy Marsden, Maud Beaumont, Bioscope, Mendel, Kitts and Windrum, Herbert La Martine, Edie Endon, Lizzie Daniels, Allis and Cassatti, Will Evans.

EMPIRE, SUNDERLAND.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Ten Ji Troupe, Elsie Robey, Rich and Rich, Harry Rogers and Co., Seven Wulfrunas, Six Lancashire Lasses, Stewart and Morgan, Bioscope, Sammy Shields.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, WALSALL.
Rehearsal at 12 for:—
The Ten Loonies, Fred Curran, De Wynne Bros., Little Zola, Kent and Keith, The Simms, Bioscope, Dot Stephens.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Artists are requested to note that the Alexandra Theatre, Stoke Newington, comes within the area absolutely barred by us. Artists and Agents are requested to note that the Standard Theatre, Shoreditch, and the Terriss Theatre, Rotherhithe, also come within the area absolutely barred by us.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ARTISTS.

Artists must have Band Parts for at least Twelve different Instruments for the Orchestras. Matter for Bill, Blocks, and Specimens of Pictorials FOR ALL THE ABOVE THEATRES must be sent to CO-OPERATIVE OFFICES, at above address, THREE WEEKS before Opening, failing which Artists will run the risk of having their Engagements cancelled.

IMPORTANT.—Artists must forward Copies of Songs to the STAGE DEPARTMENT, ABOVE ADDRESS, TWO WEEKS previous to opening, with Assignments for same, which will be returned. Artists are requested to note carefully that the clause in their contracts relating to rehearsals will in future be strictly enforced.

NOTICE.—Artists' Scenery, Properties, &c., MUST be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Licensing Authorities.

ARTISTS WILL CLEARLY UNDERSTAND THAT THEIR BUSINESS MUST BE FREE FROM ALL VULGARITY.

N.B.—Silence in every case a polite negative. Artists are requested not to enclose a stamped envelope. Letters marked "Private" will be delayed.

Telephone, 1050 and 1051 Gerrard. Wires, "Twigsome, London."

The Greatest Aggregation of Variety Theatres in the World.

FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER'S SONG SUCCESSES.

"WE'VE ALL BEEN DOING A BIT"
(T. W. Connor).
Sung by Dan Crawley.

The Absolute Rage of the Isle of Man.
"OH! OH! ANTONIO!"
(Murphy and Lipton).
Sung with unparalleled Success by Miss Florrie Forde.

"TAKE ME ON THE FLIP-FLAP"
(Wilmott and Darewski),
Sung by Miss Ella Retford.

"WHEN I GET BACK AGAIN TAE BONNIE SCOTLAND" and "THE WEDDIN' O' SANDY MacNAB."
Written, composed, and sung by Harry Lauder.

"LET ME BUT HOPE."
(Percy Edgar and H. E. Pether),
Sung by Miss Ethel Hayden.

"IN THE TWI-TWI-TWILIGHT" (Wilmott and Darewski), "YOU'RE PROUD TO BE A SOLDIER" (Nairn and Mathews), "DEAR MR. ADMIRAL" (F. W. Leigh), and "HANG OUT THE FRONT-DOOR KEY" (B. H. Burt).
Sung with enormous success by George Lashwood.

"THE SIMPLE LITTLE MILLINER."
(Written and composed by Leslie Stiles).
Sung by Miss Millie Lindon.

"ALL DAY" and "LIMERICKS"
(F. Leo).
Sung by Wilkie Bard.

Dedicated by permission to M. Paul Cambon.
"THE FRANCO-BRITISH MARCH,"
composed by Little Max Darewski.

"I KNEW I'D GOT SOMETHING TO DO"
(Fred. Hastings).
Sung by Bernard Russell.

"ON THE CLIFFS OF NORMANDY"
(Lawrance, Mellor, and Gifford).
Sung by Miss May Mars.

"I NEVER REPLY"
(Pelham and Rule),
Sung by Miss Gladys Mavius.

"A HEART FULL OF LOVE AND A POCKET FULL OF MONEY"
(Lester Barrett and H. E. Darewski).
Sung by Miss Carlotta Levey and Miss Florrie Forde.

"SUE, SUE SUE, I'M VERY MUCH IN LOVE WITH YOU"
(Lester Barrett and H. E. Darewski), and
"I WANT TO GO TO IDAHO"
(Lawrance, Mellor, and Gifford),
Sung by G. H. Elliott.

Professionals and Entertainment Managers visiting America are cordially invited to avail themselves of the use of our New York Offices (Mr. FRED DAY, Manager), 1364, Broadway.

FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER,
142, CHARING CROSS ROAD, LONDON, W.C.

Telephone, 6428 Gerrard.
Telegraphic addresses, "Arpeggio, London," and "Playtime, New York."

BAND PARTS.

JUST PUBLISHED.

I'M NOT GOING TO LEAVE THIS LITTLE LAGOON FOR YOU.
CASTLING & GODFREY.

I WANT TO BE YOUR SWEETHEART.
MELLOR, LAWRANCE, & GIFFORD.

WHEN THE MOON PLAYS PEEK-A-BOO WITH YOU.
GARDENIER & FISCHER.

IN THE MERRY MONTH OF MAY
CASTLING & GODFREY.

WHAT YOU'VE GOT LOOK AFTER COLLINS & ROGERS.

IN MY SUBTERRANEAN HOME I'M GOING TO STAY.
FRED GODFREY.

IF YOU HAV'NT A GIRL IN THE WORLD.
CASTLING & GODFREY.

IF I SHOULD PLANT A TINY SEED OF LOVE (IN THE GARDEN OF YOUR HEART.)
MACDONALD & TATE.

Write for Piano Copy and Orchestration

1/- each set, and

SING THE SEASON'S SUCCESSES.

B. FELDMAN & CO.,

2 & 3, ARTHUR STREET, NEW OXFORD STREET, LONDON, W.C.

Telegrams, "Humfriv, London." Telephone, No. 4447 Gerrard.

MOSS' EMPIRES, LIMITED

(MOSS, STOLL, THORNTON, AND ALLEN THEATRES, AMALGAMATED).

AND

STOLL COMPANIES

(INCLUDING THE LONDON COLISEUM, LTD.).

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS

All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office.

Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns.

Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier.

Artists employing Agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents.

New Acts seeking Engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our District Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follow:

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, AND DISTRICT.
MR. S. GETHING,
Empire Theatre, Glasgow.

LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD AND DISTRICT.
MR. T. GERALD MORTON,
Empire Palace, Leeds.

BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, AND DISTRICT.
MR. HATTON WHARTON,
Empire Theatre, Nottingham.

LIVERPOOL, MANCHESTER, AND DISTRICT.
MR. ALBERT BULMER,
The Empire, Liverpool.

SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.
MR. ALBERT MITCHELL,
Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

LONDON DISTRICT.
MR. J. CHRISTIE,
Empire Theatre, Shepherd's Bush, W.

N.B.—Mr. OSWALD STOLL or Mr. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously.

Co-operative Offices:
CRANBOURN MANSIONS, CRANBOURN-ST., LONDON, W.C.

MONTE CARLO PUBLISHING CO.,

CHAMPION "SONG-PLACERS" OF THE WORLD.

MIDSUMMER MASCOTS for SENSIBLE SINGERS.

NOTE! A Few Free Music-Hall Permits will be Granted.

"ROSE, WITH HER SUNDAY SMILE."
Sung by Miss GLADYS MAVIUS, with Phenomenal Success.

"BILBAO."
The Legitimate Successor to "BAYOU," by the same Author.
Sung by Misses BIJOU RUSSELL and KITTY TIMS.

"HOW'D YOU LIKE TO FLOAT ME?"
Sung by Misses DOLLY DENTON and BARBARA BABINGTON.

"VALENTINE."
Sung by Misses MADOLINE REES and KATIE MARSH.

"PACK YOUR TRUNK TO-NIGHT."
Miss BIJOU RUSSELL'S Greatest Success.

Professional (Pierrot or Pantomime) Copies, 3 Stamps each.

Write for our Complete List of Popular Songs. Professionals in search of "FREE SONG HITS"—Write or Call! Write or Call!

THE MONTE CARLO PUBLISHING CO.,
3, Berners Street, Oxford Street, London, W.

Telephone: 12805 Central. Telegrams: "Lyrical, London."

THE STAR MUSIC CO., LTD.

6 SEASIDE HITS 6

I DON'T CARE IF THERE'S A GIRL THERE
(CHARLES WHITTLE'S GREAT SUCCESS).

CAROLINA BROWN.

WON'T YOU WALTZ THE MERRY WIDOW WALTZ?

OH! GEORGE, TELL THEM TO STOP THE FLIP-FLAP.

HAVE YOU GOT ANOTHER GIRL LIKE MARY?

OH! THOSE SEASIDE GIRLS.

PANTOMIME ARTISTES AND MANAGERS ARE REQUESTED TO MAKE A NOTE OF THE ABOVE WINNERS.

CALL OR WRITE FOR FULL LIST OF SUCCESSES.

9, Charing-cross-road, London, W.C.
'Phone 8446 Gerrard. (Facing Garrick Theatre). Tels., "Songonia, London."

WITMARK'S

The Home of Melody and Song.

ALWAYS SOMETHING NEW, NOVEL, AND ORIGINAL.

THE BOY WHO STUTTERED AND THE GIRL WHO LISPED.

An absolute sensation as sung by MISS LIL HAWTHORNE.
An immense success wherever sung.

NOTE.—Miss Lil Hawthorne has the exclusive singing rights for Music Halls of "The Boy Who Stuttered and the Girl, Who Lisped."

The present Song Hit in America is

JUST SOME ONE. JUST SOME ONE. JUST SOME ONE.

Do not overlook this charming chorus song. It will soon be heard everywhere in GREAT BRITAIN, as now in AMERICA.

WANTED, the Manager of every Pierrot Troupe and Al Fresco Entertainment in Great Britain to send Address and Programme.

ATTENTION.—Leaders of Bands and Orchestras, do not overlook the Instrumental Hit of the Year,

THE TEDDY BEARS' PICNIC.

Pronounced by all who have heard it our Greatest Instrumental success since THE MOSQUITO PARADE. Septette and Piano, 1/-. Full Orchestra and Piano, 1/6.

Send for latest LISTS. HITS FOR ALL.

Note to all.—Enclose 7 Stamps and Programme for Professional PIERROT PACKET. Otherwise silence a polite negative.

Address all Communications to the Firm

M. WITMARK & SONS

186 & 188, Shaftesbury Avenue, LONDON, W.C.
58, Rue du Faubourg Montmartre, PARIS.

Telegraphic Address, NUBECULA, London. Telephone, 1430 Gerrard. CHARLES WARNER—Manager.

THE MACNAGHTEN VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT.

Proprietor and Director General:
Mr. FRANK MACNAGHTEN.
Business Manager for the Circuit:
Mr. E. F. LAWTON.
Secretary:
Miss AMY ROBINSON.
Special Representative:
Mr. SYDNEY ARTHUR.
EXECUTIVE OFFICES:
KING'S CHAMBERS,
ANGEL STREET, SHEFFIELD,
where please address all communications in regard to FINANCIAL, COMMERCIAL, and GENERAL BUSINESS Matters.
Telephone, No. 3449.
Telegraphic address, "Macnaghten, Sheffield."

LONDON OFFICES:
Oakley House, Bloomsbury Street, W.C.,
where please address all communications in regard to the PROFESSIONAL and PUBLICITY DEPARTMENTS of the Circuit.
All applications for dates at the Theatres Royal, Rotherham, Chesterfield, and Leeds, to be addressed to the London Offices.
Telegraphic Address, "Cirvanmac, London."
Telephone, No. 9167 Gerrard.
General Manager, Mr. FREDERIC BAUGH.
Secretary ... Miss AGNES M. RUSTON

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

All billing matter and notification of appearance, accompanied by samples of pictorial printing, must be sent in to the London Offices fourteen clear days prior to opening, or contract may be cancelled at the option of the Management.
All Scene and Property Plots of Sketches, Scenas, &c., must be sent to Foresters' fourteen clear days before opening.
All Artists carrying scenery must have same fireproofed, in accordance with L.C.C. regulations, otherwise it will not be allowed in the Halls.
Artists please note that when stage staff are required on Sunday, according to the "award," their time must be reckoned from that given in "call."
In cases of emergency after office hours, Mr. Baugh may be consulted at the Foresters' Theatre, Cambridge-road, E.
Telephone 5954 Avenue.
Telegraphic address, "Stageyness, London."

CALLS

FOR WEEK COMMENCING
MONDAY, AUG. 24, 1908.

PALACE, BRADFORD.
Carlton, Alpho, Mysterious Cross, Sisters Cora, Taree, Chas. Banks and dog, Gold and Sterling, Hyde and Cody Trio, Dave Samuels, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE, BLACKBURN.
Proveanies Troupe, Nellie Lunelle, Floradoras, Marie Jones, "The Girl and the Tough," Chas. F. Best, Baker and Baife, Kremka Bros., Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE, HALIFAX.
Kelly and Agnas, Ethel Sheffer, Gravetta and Parr, Three Sisters Silcott, Margit and Lener, George James, Mlle. Bartenelli, Gibbon and Bell, Ferguson and Mack, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE, W. HARTLEPOOL.
Lillie Soutter, Scottie's Waifs, Zeta Grey and Co., Edwards and Dacre, Victor Travers, "Whizzing the Whirl," Thornbury, Violet Nunn, The Vyponds, Raymond's Bio-Tabelaux.

PALACE, SOUTHAMPTON.
Harry Roxbury and Co., Jessie Wilton, Harry Nelson, Mabel Thorne, Les Tafanos, Sisters Edwardes, Jessie Burnett, Niblo's Talking Birds, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PAVILION, LEICESTER.
Leonard Mortimer and Co., Babs Lloyd, Jacko, Pictures, Chas. Call, The Forsythes, Kitty Willis, The Roxbys.

THEATRE ROYAL, ROTHERHAM.
"Woman and Wine."

THEATRE ROYAL, CHESTERFIELD.
"Mystery of Edwin Drood."

THEATRE ROYAL, LEEDS.
"A False Wife."

THEATRE ROYAL, ATTERCLIFFE.
Picture Entertainment.

KING'S, NOTTINGHAM.
Picture Entertainment.

PALACE THEATRE, BATH.
Orbasany's Cockatoos, Kelly and Ashby, The Lannons, Irene and Morton, Madge Allan, Les Belles Americaine, Madge Field, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE THEATRE, LINCOLN.
Lennie and Hast, Three Alskarnos, Harry Cotton, Gregson Trio, Billy French, Georgina Middleton, Keith and Merson, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE & HIPPODROME, CARDIFF.
Rehearsal 1 o'clock.
Tom and Marie Motramo, Dolly and Elsie, Jock Walker, Ryder Slone, Billie Burford, Beaty and Blanche, Cullen and Carthy and Cluley, Raymond's Bio-Tableux.

PALACE & HIPPODROME, WARRINGTON.
Conway and Leland, Rose Cabani, Deans and Wilton, Glenroy Troupe, W. G. Wesley, Larola, Norah Noble, Howard and St. Clair, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE & HIPPODROME, BURNLEY.
Harry Weldon, Phern and Phern, Renee Grahame, Carr and Rose, Tally Ho! Trio, Harry Sims, Mlle. Lumiere, Tom Hearne, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PIER PAVILION, SOUTHPORT.
Matinée Monday.
Lizette Troupe, Reno, Molly Augarde, Wallace Whitney, Roy Beavis, Belle Braham, Beaty Foster, Alfonzo, Tossing Austins, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE, BOW.
Matinée every Monday.
Raymond, Sisters Belmoir, "Grip of Iron," Stuart and Evans, Happy Attwood, the Almas, Flo Burnett, Four Kellys, Leslie Bell and Co., Lew Towers, Broom and Broom.

FORESTERS'.
Matinées Monday and Thursday.
Dora Lyric, Raymond, Dancing Gilberts, Harrigan and Holt, Sisters Thurban, Chas. Resti, Jennie Grey, Leo Dryden, Mr. and Mrs. Lucas, Daisy Hurdle, Guest and Newlyn, Dolly Elsworthy and Co.

SADLER'S WELLS.
Matinée every Monday.
Fred Maxwell and Co., The Bensons, Raymond, Allsopp and Beckwith, Florence Inman, Akbar, Bella Leaburn, Quennie West, Augustin and Hartley, Chas. Ashdown.

PALACE, BATTERSEA.
Rehearsal, Monday 12 o'clock.
Matinée, Monday, at 2.30 o'clock.
Raymond, Bouncing Dillons, Geo. Porter, Harry Tomps, Sisters Jonghmans, Josephine Crook, Lennie and Gibson, Billy Ross and Co., Hilda Mascott, Ivy Dene, The Gelders, Sid Penna.

SURREY THEATRE.
All Artists engaged for Surrey Theatre must bring 14 Band Parts.
Matinée every Monday.
Ethel Arundel, Raymond, Frank Seeley, Tokio, Della Sisters, Sisters Darnton, Rosie Arther, Red Triangle, Bernard Mervyn and Co., Ruby Parsonage.

FRANCIS & DAY'S SONGS.

SONGS FOR THE SEA-SIDE.

THE RAGE OF THE COUNTRY.

"OH! OH! ANTONIO!"
Miss FLORRIE FORDE'S LATEST SENSATION.
Sung also by Miss EDITH FINK.

ENORMOUS SUCCESS OF

"HANG OUT THE FRONT DOOR KEY."
GEORGE LASHWOOD'S LATEST CHORUS SONG.

THE LATEST CRAZE.

"TAKE ME ON THE FLIP-FLAP."
Miss ELLA RETFORD is creating a Furore nightly with this Song.

"I'M AFRAID TO COME HOME IN THE DARK."
Sung by Miss HETTY KING and R. G. KNOWLES.

"MANDY LANE."
THE LATEST AMERICAN HIT. Featured by the PAVILION GIRLS.

"IT'S BETTER THAN BEING A CARNEGIE."
Sung by Miss WINIFRED HARE.

"JOHNNY MACINTYRE."
A GREAT MARCH CHORUS. Introduced by Miss MARIE BLYTHE.
Copies and Band Parts now ready.

"SWEETHEART DAYS."
THE BALLAD OF THE SEASON.
Sung with enormous success by HARRY CLAFF AND MISS ALICE TREMAINE.

"OVER THE HILLS AND FAR AWAY."
Miss ALICE LLOYD'S AMERICAN CHORUS HIT.

"WHO SAID HE DON'T LIKE GIRLS?"
Sung by HARRY SIMMS.

"FIFTY LONG YEARS AGO."
Sung by HARRY BANCROFT.

"ESAU, TAKE ME ON THE SEE-SAW."
Miss MADGE TEMPLE'S GREAT CHORUS HIT.

FRANCIS, DAY, & HUNTER,

142, CHARING CROSS ROAD, LONDON, W.C.
Telephone, 5425, Gerrard. Telegraphic Addresses: "Arpeggio, London," and "Playtime, New York."

ARTISTES PREPARE YOUR PROGRAMMES FOR THE "PANTO" SEASON,
And write for Thematic and Descriptive Booklet of

"THE FOLLIES REPERTOIRE" (Post-free 2d.)

"YPSILANTI." The Song of the Season.
(H. G. PELISSIER) For Boy or Girl.
"Pro." Copies (with card) post-free, 6d.

"THUMB-NAIL PLOTS."
Contain Complete Synopsis of each Piece, with particulars of Length of Performance, Costumes, &c.

PART I. Operas, Operettas, Sketches, Musical Plays, &c.
PART II. Plays, Duologues, &c. (without music), Post-free 2d. each part, or 3d. complete.

WATCH OUR NEXT WEEK'S ADVERT.!

London:
Dept. 6, JOSEPH WILLIAMS (Limited), 32, Great Portland Street, W.

CALLS for REHEARSALS.

BURTON-ON-TRENT, NEW HIPPODROME.
CALL, Monday, Aug. 24.
Rehearsal 12.30 Bennett and Martell, The Emson Girls, Brayne and Lloyd, Ethel Yorke, W. P. Dempsey, The Marathon Race, New Operascope, Mozzetto, Hamilton Hill.

CREWE HIPPODROME. Vaudeville Season.
CALL, Monday, Aug. 24.
Fred Karno's Co., in "His Majesty's Guests," New Operascope, &c.
Artists requiring Immediate Dates,
Apply, H. PERCIVAL YOUNG,
Sole Booking Representative, Shakespeare Theatre Offices, Clapham Junction, London, S.W.

HAYDEN COFFIN is DISPOSING OF his SINGLE BROUGHAM, built by the Coupé Company specially for him at a cost of £120; fitted for electric light, having rubber tyres, suspension wheels, very light and roomy, done up last year (bar tyres). No reasonable offer refused. Can be seen any week-day morning between 10 and 11 by presenting this notice at the stables, Campden-street, Kensington; or other hours by appointment. Letters to be addressed to L. G. SHARPE, 61, Regent-street, W.

Notice. Notice.
GREAT NOVELTY FOR SALE.
Two of the escaped Vultures, which were recaptured after a four days' hunt. These birds attracted thousands of people, and have received more Press notices and illustrations than any other living novelty during the present age.
Both for Sale, at a Reasonable Price.
Gerboas, Marmozets, Baboons, Cranes, Monkeys, Snakes, Bear, Hyenas, Armadilloes, Giant Rats,
Telephone, 6341, Avenue.
JOHN HAMLYN,
221, St. George's-street, London Docks.

THE THEATRES MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

Directors.
Mr. GEORGE ALEXANDER, Chairman.
Mr. J. F. ELLISTON, Vice-Chairman.
Mr. H. BEERBOHM TREE.
Mr. ARTHUR COLLINS.
Mr. J. MACREADY CHUTE.
Mr. JOHN HART.
Mr. FREDERICK MOUILLOT.
Mr. F. W. WYNDHAM.
Secretary,
Mr. E. W. BUCKLEY.

This Company being purely mutual, the whole of the Profits are apportioned amongst the Members, and, after building up substantial reserves and the Payment of Dividends upon the paid-up Capital, more than 50 per cent. of the total premiums paid has been apportioned amongst the Policy-holders, the actual cost of the Insurance thus being less than one-half of the premiums paid.
For Particulars apply to
E. W. BUCKLEY, Secretary,
The Theatres Mutual Insurance Co., Ltd.,
6, Bowlalley-lane, Hull.
Telegraphic Address, "Lynx, Hull."
Telephones: National, 417; Corporation, 517.

SCOTTISH NATIONAL EXHIBITION, EDINBURGH, 1908.
THE THOMPSON'S PATENT GRAVITY SWITCHBACK RAILWAY CO., Ltd., of 5, JOHN-STREET, ADELPHI, LONDON, W.C., hereby give Notice that they hold the Concession for the direct from the Executive of the above Exhibition, and not through any other party or parties.
FIGURE 8 RAILWAY

Telegraphic Address:
"PHONOFILM," London.

Telephones:
No. 3037 Central. 3239 Gerrard.

PATHÉ FRÈRES, LONDON.

31-33, CHARING CROSS ROAD, W.C.

THE LARGEST FILM MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD.

ACTUAL OUTPUT OF FILMS PER DAY, 80 MILES.

THIS WEEK'S NOVELTIES.

FRANCO-BRITISH EXHIBITION, LONDON, 1908.

Code Word, "FANTASSIN."

TITLES OF PICTURES:—ENTRANCE TO THE EXHIBITION.—THE COURT OF HONOUR.—A TRIP BY WATER.—THE FLIP-FLAP.—AT PHARAOH'S DAUGHTER.—THE SCENIC RAILWAY.—THE SPIDER'S WEB.—THE PAILLARD'S RESTAURANT.—FIRE CASCADES.—THE PATHÉ'S PAVILION.

773ft. £12 17s. 8d.

THERE IS A SMELL of SMOKE HERE

Code Word, "EPI."

The doorkeeper is made anxious by a thick smoke coming forth from every window in the building. He is so alarmed that he sends for the fire brigade. Yet everything is in perfect order everywhere. On the first floor Mr. and Mrs. Easygoing are having their dinner, and the steam of the soup just brought in goes out of the window; on the second floor a lady with a sore throat is having a fumigation; on the third floor a gentleman is having a bath; while on the upper storeys other people are busy doing their own cooking. From every window the steam issues, and seems to become thicker every minute, until a cold and unexpected jet of water comes and disturbs everybody. The firemen are performing their duty; they have been told to subdue the smoke and steam, and they mean to do it.

314ft. The Subject, £5 4s. 8d.

A POOR OFFICER.

Code Word, "ENFANCE."

Lieutenant Muller having married according to his heart, without troubling about money, sees poverty entering his home after a little baby has been born to him, and the usurers having sent in their claim to the military authorities the young father is ordered to pay his debts. Luckily, the major of his regiment has pity on the lieutenant, and everything ends happily, in spite of a rich fellow-officer trying in vain to make the young wife forget her duties in order to gratify his hate of the husband.

676ft. The Subject, £11 5s. 4d.

OSCAR IS KIDNAPPED.

Code Word, "DOUANIER."

Oscar, a boy of sixteen, is spending his holidays at the house of his aunt. Madge, the maid, who has never seen so good-looking a boy, takes a fancy to him, and she looks at him tenderly. Then follows a series of comical incidents, in which their trunk and a tricycle play a great part, and the end of it is that two policemen having been sent after the fugitives, they capture them and put them in their right places again.

396ft. The Subject, £6 12s. 0d.

A FATHER'S FAULT.

Code Word, "EPARGNE."

This poor young woman has been foolish enough to believe in the false promises of the man she loved; but when he tells her that they must part she gathers up her courage, and works hard to earn her living and that of her small son. Now she is looking after their humble home, while her boy is out working for her and for himself.

One day she meets accidentally the man who has wrecked her life, and who is now richly married and the father of a lovely daughter.

In spite of her now comparatively smooth life, all her former despair and grief has weakened the poor woman, and this last meeting proves too much for her. She dies shortly afterwards, after discovering to her son the secret of his birth. Jack will have his mother avenged, but Fate selects for him a way he had not dreamed of, for he saves his half-sister from drowning, and, after all, forgiveness is sweeter than revenge.

595ft. The Subject, £9 18s. 4d. Toning, 18/-

OH! THE RED TAPISM.

Code Word, "EPAGNEUL."

This punctual gentleman arrives at his office every morning to the minute, but he does not mind leaving the public waiting for him outside. He very often indulges in a little nap, dreaming the while that he has won a reward from the Government for his good services. But one fine morning he is suddenly torn away from all these sweet things by the customers outside trying to break into his office, and it would not have fared well with him had not his chiefs come to his aid, ready to uphold the privileges of the Administration.

460ft. The Subject, £7 13s. 4d.

THE ASPIRATOR.

Code word, "EPINE."

Two scamps, having stolen a street-cleaning apparatus, put it up at the next corner, and make all passers-by disappear into its mouth. A well-dressed lady, a nurse and baby, a parcel of delicacies, several policemen, &c., go the same way down the monster. Presently the street cleaners come back, and, seeing at a glance what has happened, they send the jokers down the pipe; then, working the apparatus backward, they make everybody and everything come to light again, somewhat bruised perhaps, but complete.

428ft. The Subject, £7 2s. 8d.

PUSS-IN-BOOTS.

Code Word, "EPAVE."

Puss-in-Boots (the hero and title of one of Perrault's tales) is a cat, which by his skill and craftiness makes the fortune of his master, the famous Mr. A. Miller. The lesson one can draw from this tale is that work and perseverance go very far in this world.

740ft. The Subject, £12 6s. 8d. Colouring and Toning, £8 15s.

GLUE MAKING.

Code Word, "EUPHONIE."

TITLES OF PICTURES:—THE ARRIVAL OF THE RAW MATERIAL.—VARIOUS SPECIMENS OF BONES.—SELECTING THE BONES.—OPENING THE STEAMING-PAN.—BOILING THE GLUE IN A CAULDRON.—STRAINING THE GLUE.—THE REMAINS OF THE BONES ARE PUT IN THE OVEN.—FROM THE OVEN TO THE POUNDING-ROOM.—SACKS OF BONE POWDER.—THE MOULDED GLUE IS TAKEN TO THE DRYING-ROOM.—THE BLOCKS OF GLUE ARE CUT INTO SHEETS AND PLACED ON RACKS.—AFTER THEY ARE DRIED THEY ARE TAKEN TO THE PACKING-ROOM.—PACKING.

379ft. The Subject, £6 6s. 4d.

Pathé's Films

UNEQUALLED THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

PATHÉ FRÈRES AHEAD OF ALL OTHER FIRMS.

LAST WEEK'S NOVELTIES.

THE BORDER LIMIT.

Code Word "EPITRE."

They had been on bad terms for some time, these two neighbours, on account of a border limit which Roval always replaced a little further into Rochin's property; of this the latter was certain. As ill-luck would have it, the ox-drover was in love with Roval's daughter, and a rival to Rochin's son, with whom he picked a quarrel; but, instead of killing the young man, it was the father who received the fatal blow, and everybody in the village said it was Roval who did it. When the police came to arrest him, his daughter went straight to the river in search of oblivion. But the ox-drover having followed her, confesses to his crime, and young Rochin, who happens to be near, throws the murderer into the water. Then he opens his arms to the girl, who is now ready to face life again and its sorrows and joys.

676ft. The Subject, £11 5s. 4d. Toning, £1 1s.

ANIMATED POSTERS.

Code Word, "EPOPEE."

The bill-sticker spreads his posters on the wall, and they all change into animated pictures, all very comical and charming.

198ft. The Subject, £3 6s.

WANTED, A SON-IN-LAW ON TRIAL

Code Word, "EPICERIE."

Now that every girl wants to get a position outside her home, as a barrister, or a doctor, &c., a mother, when she wants to choose her son-in-law, must make sure that he is domesticated. Mrs. Solid wants for her daughter a perfect husband, so she asks for one who knows how to do washing-up, carpet-beating, floor-cleaning, &c. Mrs. Solid is delighted with her future son-in-law, and she gives him her daughter in marriage; but the next day poor Mrs. Solid has a hard time, for he makes her do the housework for him.

577ft. The Subject, £9 12s. 4d.

PATHÉ'S FILMS ARE EXCLUSIVELY EXHIBITED AT THE LONDON HIPPODROME, and at THE PATHÉ BUILDING, FRANCO-BRITISH EXHIBITION.

WORKS AND STUDIOS.

VINCENNES.
JOINVILLE LE PONT.
MONTREUIL s/BOIS.

BRANCHES.

BRUSSELS. NEW YORK. BERLIN. MOSCOW. VIENNA. MILAN. AMSTERDAM. CALCUTTA. ALEXANDRIA. BUENOS AYRES. RIO DE JANEIRO. MEXICO. SINGAPORE. SHANGHAI. TOKIO. SYDNEY. BARCELONA

NEW BIOSCOPE PICTURES

Telephone: 6473 Central.

FILMS FOR HIRE

FILMS FOR HIRE

Our Speciality is

LONG PICTURE SHOWS.

All Our Customers are Doing Well. The Pick of ALL Manufacturers' Films.

We do not push any Firm's Films in particular; but we buy the CHOICE of the WORLD'S PRODUCTIONS.

You may leave your Billing to us.

WE ARE SHOWMEN.

YOUR SUCCESS IS OURS.

DO NOT RUSH TO THE WASTE BUTT TO SAVE 5/- —IT IS NOT POLICY.

How can you expect the same result from an Inferior Programme as you would a First Class one?

You would not expect the same result from a £2 a week Comedian as you would a £60 one. This class of saving is PENNY WISE and POUND FOOLISH.

Repeating Our Motto:

THE BEST IS NOT TOO GOOD FOR YOU.

Please Note

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE address:
65, Thornton Street, Westgate Road.

LONDON address:
1 TO 5, CECIL COURT, W.C.

Telegrams: "Newbio, London."

NEW BIOSCOPE PICTURES

RUFFELL'S PICTURES

Hold your Audience.

RUFFELL'S PICTURES
Hold their Own.

RUFFELL'S PICTURES
Hold the Name.

Try "Ruffell's" in your Billing, and the result will be a Success and a Draw.
Place your Date with us, the Reliable

STAR PICTURE EXHIBITORS.

We collect and use nothing but the very best Films of the highest photographic quality of all the leading British and Continental Manufacturers, besides Original Subjects of our own, hence our standard of efficiency is always TIP-TOP.

Complete Weekly Changes.
Terms Moderate.

RUFFELL'S IMPERIAL BIOSCOPE SYNDICATE, LTD.,
12, LITTLE NEWPORT-STREET, W.C.
(Opposite the Hippodrome.)
New Second-Hand List now Ready.

FILMS FOR HIRE.

SPECIAL HIRE DEPARTMENTS.

FIRST-CLASS FILMS ONLY.

R. R. BEARD'S

Improved Type
RHEOSTAT or RESISTANCE

Fitted with Six Switch Contacts, Off Position, and Terminals for 200 and 120 Volt Circuit, and Fuse Terminals, giving 25 to 60 Amps.

Patent Perfect & Imperial BIOSCOPE.

ARC LAMPS, CARBONS, AUTOMATIC REGULATOR JETS, LIMES, and Every Requisite for Cinematograph work. Full Catalogues post free. 'Phone Hop 1964.

R. R. BEARD,
10, TRAFALGAR ROAD, OLD KENT ROAD, LONDON, S.E.

TO SHOWMEN, ENTREPRENEURS, AND CINEMATOGRAPH SHOW EXPLOITERS.

A CINEMATOGRAPH SHOW.

ALFRED WEST'S

"OUR NAVY."

ONE THOUSAND POUNDS

FOR

TWENTY-FIVE SHILLINGS.

TO THE PUBLISHER, "THE ERA."

Sir,—
It may possibly interest you to learn that a Quarter-Column Advertisement in "The Era" (One Insertion) resulted in over £1,000 Bookings for an Entertainment with which I was connected some little time ago. The Entertainment was entitled and the Bookings were effected within a week.

ALFRED WEST'S "OUR NAVY,"

Yours faithfully,
H. GOLDSMITH-WHITTON,

Late Manager, West's "Our Navy," Ltd. &c.
London, May 19, 1904.

CRAVEN'S Famous HAMPERS.

The World's Strongest and Best, as used by the Elite of the Profession, all of whom speak highly in their praise.

RELIABLE TRAVELLING HAMPER.

Fig. 400.

Sizes and Prices as under—

Inside Measurements. Long.	Wide.	Deep.	PRICE.	Lining	Tray bottom	Rollers on G.P.O.
21 x	14 x	14 ..	6/10 ..	3/2 ..	3/0 ..	2/0
25 x	16 x	16 ..	7/9 ..	3/6 ..	3/0 ..	2/3
28 x	18 x	18 ..	8/9 ..	4/0 ..	3/3 ..	2/6
30 x	20 x	20 ..	10/6 ..	4 6 ..	3/6 ..	2/6
33 x	21 x	21 ..	12/6 ..	5/3 ..	4/0 ..	3/0
36 x	22 x	22 ..	14/6 ..	6/0 ..	4/6 ..	3/0

The Largest Theatrical Hamper Establishment in the World.

Illustrated Catalogues Post Free.

LARGE STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND. ORDERS CAN BE DISPATCHED SAME DAY AS RECEIVED. TERMS: NETT CASH.

T. CRAVEN & SONS,
(T. DEPT.), 15, Marsden Court, Fennel Street, MANCHESTER.
Branch, 8, Queen Street, BELFAST.

PHOTOS

with Individuality, with Style, and with Distinction

MEAN SUCCESS.

MODERN PHOTOGRAPHIC WORK FOR ARTISTES.

The well-known establishment of THE Hana STUDIOS, Ltd., place at your service a thorough knowledge and experience of artistes' requirements.

WE CAN PLEASE YOU AND OUR PRICES WILL SATISFY YOU TOO.

We gladly answer any inquiries.

THE HANA STUDIOS, Ltd.,
22, Bedford-street, Strand.

URBAN FILMS. 4d. per foot.

QUEBEC: THE TERCENTENARY CELEBRATION.

PRINCIPAL INCIDENTS OF A PAGEANT WITHOUT PARALLEL.

A Brilliant Series of Pictures secured from unique positions on the occasion of the Visit of H.R.H the Prince of Wales to Quebec. The occasion and the surroundings lent themselves to vigorous and magnificent Kinematographic Reproduction, and the Urban Operators took every advantage of the privileges and courtesy extended to them.

ORDER OF PICTURES.*—The Harbour at Quebec. Arrival of H.M.S. "Indomitable." Royal Salute, fired by English and French warships dressed Rainbow fashion. Landing of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales at the King's Wharf. Inspection of the Guard of Honour. March of Canadian Troops through the gaily-decorated streets. Champlain's Ship, the "Don de Dieu," fully manned, sailing down the Harbour—lovely panoramic views. Grand Review of 20,000 Troops by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales on the Plains of Abraham: Comprehensive views of the whole body as they march in battery and battalion formation. The Wolfe-Montcalm Procession through the streets of Quebec.

A STIRRING, GORGEOUS, AND THRILLING SPECTACULAR SUBJECT.

Code "Champlain." Length 505ft. Price, 4d. per foot (£8 8s. 4d.).

King Edward and the German Emperor at Friedrichshof.

A BRILLIANT PICTURE SECURED BY IMPERIAL FAVOUR. The German Emperor awaits the Arrival of King Edward. MEETING AND GREETING OF THE MONARCHS. Introductions. Departure. Panorama of the prettily-decorated town and of Schloss Friedrichshof. Arrival at the Schloss. THE ROYAL QUARTETTE WALK IN THE PARK. The King, Emperor, and Guests leave by Motor for Homburg.

No. 04. Code "Schloss." Length 355ft. Price £5 18s. 4d.

AMATEUR BRIGANDS.

Amusing Ruse of a Love-smitten Artist.

His suit scornfully rejected by the girl's father. He assembles his chums and attires them as brigands. They waylay and bind the parents. "Rescue" by the lover. Gratitude. United in Wedlock. Rejoicings. Brigands recognised. Anger. Cajolery. Appeasement.

PICTURESQUE, ROMANTIC, CHARMINGLY PRODUCED.

No. 3335. Code "Plot." Length 400ft. Price £6 13s. 4d.

THE WRONG LOTTERY NUMBER.

The story, based upon an official mistake in the publication of a lottery number, is most comically depicted.

The owner of the declared winning number makes merry with his friends, borrows money and buys clothes in anticipation, holds high revel, and finally arrives at the lottery office, to be plunged into despair by the statement that the winning number is 5866, not, as originally stated, 5899.

No. 3327. Code "Sold." Length 350ft. Price £5 16s. 8d.

THE EVER-LAUGHING GENTLEMAN.

Situations which usually cause chagrin, grief, anger, pity, or remorse, only excite uncontrollable mirth in the chief character of this exuberantly comic series.

He makes endless mistakes, does much damage, tramples upon wounded feelings, injuring himself and others in the process, but always comes up smiling—nay, laughing—even when undergoing undignified punishment. No. 3329. Code "Fun." Length 180ft. Price £3.

THE SIGNALMAN'S SWEETHEART.

An Intensely Thrilling Railway Drama.

Love scene in a signal cabin. The girl on leaving is robbed and maltreated within sight of her lover, who dares not go to her assistance. Express signalled. Torn between love and duty. Telegraphs for help, which arrives just in time. Signalmen faints, but express saved. Touching meeting between convalescent lovers.

An Absorbing and Exciting Series.

No. 3319. Code "Noble." Length 300ft. Price £5.

TERMS: CASH WITH ORDER. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR TINTING AND TONING.

CHARLES URBAN TRADING COMPANY, Ltd.

Kinematograph Specialists and Film Publishers,

URBANORA HOUSE, WARDOUR STREET, LONDON, W.

Telegrams: "BIOSCOPE, LONDON." ——— DISTRIBUTING BRANCHES IN EVERY COUNTRY. ——— Telephone: 3118 CENTRAL.

ROLLER SKATING ALL THE RAGE

IN EVERY AMERICAN CITY.

Over 5000 Rinks in successful operation. RICHARDSON Cushion Frame Anti-Jar ROLLER SKATES are used exclusively in all prominent American rinks, and by all the leading skaters of the world. The scientific and simplified construction of Richardson skates makes them the most economical on the market. Write for New Catalogue. Tells how to open and operate roller rinks. Address:

FRED. W. NALL, European Manager, 10, JAMES STREET, LIVERPOOL.

RICHARDSON BALL - BEARING SKATE CO.,

(Cable Address: "Levant.") 501, Wells St., CHICAGO, Ill., U.S.A. European Branch: NEW BRIGHTON, CHESHIRE.

PROFESSIONAL APARTMENTS.

Three Lines, ONE SHILLING.
Thirteen Insertions, TWELVE SHILLINGS.
Address, PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

BIRKENHEAD.—Mrs. Howell, 52, Bridge-street. Two sitting, two combined, three bedrooms, piano, bath, w.c., five minutes from Theatre and Argyle.

BRIGHTON.—Marine Hotel, Market-st., the Pro.'s House. Special Terms to Artists. Prop., Harry Stuart (the Old Pantomimist).

GLASGOW.—Buchanan-street Station Hotel. Recommended. Terms, 36s. Near Empire, Pavilion, Zoo, Royal, Royalty, and Grand.

LONDON.—21, Guilford-street, Russell-square, W.C. Apartments, superior house, with electric light and 'phone; board, if required.

LONDON, N.E.—Central Paragon, Foresters', Empire, trams to Shoreditch 1d.; piano, gas. Mrs. Hallen, 18, Beck-road, Hackney.

LONDON, S.E.—240, Kennington Park-road (facing park). Hall floor, vacant 26th, and large combined, piano, gas; single c., 5/-; double from 7/-

LONDON, S.E.—Comfortable combined rooms, highly recommended, near Elephant and Surrey Theatres. Mackinnon, 41, Gladstone-st.

LONDON, S.W.—Brixton. Good apartments, every comfort, bath, good cooking, 1d. fare to all bridges. 139, Stockwell Park-road.

LONDON, S.W.—Bed and sitting room, well furnished; piano, gas, bath; good attendance; extra bedroom. F. C., 85, Clapham-road.

LONDON, S.W.—Furnished dining-rooms, piano, gas, bath, h. c., good cooking and attendance. E. H., 12, Benedict-road, Brixton.

LONDON, S.W.—145, Brixton-road. Well-furnished apartments; good cooking and attendance; pianos, gas; trams and 'bus pass door, 1d. to W.-E. and City. Vacant Aug. 29.

LONDON, W.C.—119, Gower-st. Well-furnished Apartments, also comfortable Bed-Sit. Rooms; bath (h. and c.), good cooking; close 'bus, Tube; four languages spoken; terms mod.

LONDON, W.C.—Comfortably furnished Sitting-room and Bedroom, also combined rooms. Now Vacant. 36, Guildford-street. Bath (h. and c.).

MANCHESTER.—Mrs. Gray, 36, Booth-st. East (near Palace).—Two Bedrooms and Sitting. Large Front Comb. Bath; w.c. Highly recommended.

MANCHESTER.—Bed-sitting and combined rooms, pianos, bath, &c.; moderate. Near halls. Mrs. Prince, 37, Rumford-st., Oxford-st.

NOTTINGHAM.—Flint's Temperance Hotel, 20, London-road. Moderate Charges. 3 minutes from Mid. and G.N.R. Trams pass door.

PLYMOUTH.—Mrs. Johnston, 7, King-gardens. 3 bedrooms, 2 sitting, or combined, piano, &c.; 3 minutes T. R.: Pro. refs.

EDINBURGH. — BRAID HILLS HOTEL, MORNINGSIDE.
Charmingly situated hotel, completely appointed. Every modern luxury. Uninterrupted views of the City and the surrounding district. 450ft. above sea-level. Pure mountain air. Splendid public golf course adjoining hotel. Also ladies' course. Cable cars to and from City every three minutes up to 11.30 p.m. Terms moderate.
For descriptive brochure apply to Manager.

PLYMOUTH.
Mr. J. LANGDON LEE, Theatre Royal, Plymouth, begs to recommend very highly the CONTINENTAL HOTEL, PLYMOUTH. Close to Theatre and Millbay Station. Excellent accommodation, baths, piano, &c.
Mr. J. Langdon Lee has made arrangements with the Management of the above Hotel, by which artists may be most comfortably catered for, and charged prices not exceeding ordinary lodging-house fees. Full information can be obtained from the manageress.

THREE ACRES of MEADOW and an ideal Modern House FOR SALE, FREEHOLD; quite in country, but twenty minutes' walk from four stations; motor house, garden, well planted with fruit trees, summer-house, &c.; 2 reception, 5 bed, bath (h. and c.), 2 w.c.'s, usual offices, near Chipstead Golf Links, 325ft. above sea level. Wood View, Woodstock-rd., Woodmansterne, Surrey. Train to Chipstead, S.E. Railway. Postal address, Wood View, Woodstock-road, Coulsdon.

TELEPHONE CALL OFFICE.

"THE ERA" BUILDINGS.

FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF ADVERTISERS AND MEMBERS OF THE AMUSEMENT PROFESSIONS

A

PUBLIC TELEPHONE CALL OFFICE . . .

HAS NOW BEEN INSTALLED AT

"THE ERA" OFFICES,

5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, W.C.

TELEPHONE CALL OFFICE.

MORECAMBE, NORTH LANCASHIRE.

IMPORTANT TO ENTERTAINMENT CATERERS, COMPANY PROMOTERS, CAPITALISTS, AND OTHERS.

THE MORECAMBE WINTER GARDENS AND VICTORIA PAVILION.

TO BE SOLD BY AUCTION

(by order of the Chancery of the County Palatine of Lancaster), by Mr. G. H. Petty, at the MIDLAND HOTEL, MORECAMBE, on Tuesday, the 25th day of August, 1908, at Three o'clock in the Afternoon precisely, all that extensive and valuable block of Freehold Property, comprising the Morecambe Winter Gardens and Ballroom, the Theatre or Music Hall known as the Victoria Pavilion, six Lock-up Shops, large Billiard Saloon with six Tables, Refreshment Bars, Lavatories, Store Rooms, Offices, Boiler House, Engine and Dynamo Room, &c., situate in Marine-road, Morecambe, adjoining the Midland Railway Station and fronting the Sea, in one of the best and most commanding positions in the town.

The Winter Gardens and Pavilion premises are fully licensed for the sale of intoxicating liquors.

The site of the Property contains 5,025 square yards or thereabouts, and has a frontage to Marine-road of 206 feet, and a like frontage to Bath-street.

The Property is substantially built and in good condition, and forms one of the finest and most up-to-date properties of its kind in the Provinces, and is the most popular place of Entertainment in Morecambe.

The Property will be offered in one Lot, together with the whole of the valuable Furnishings, Fittings, fast and loose Trade Effects, Billiard Saloon Furnishings, the whole of the costly Scenery, Stage Property and Effects, and the valuable Steam and Electric Lighting Plant.

Particulars and conditions of Sale may be obtained at the Offices of the Auctioneer, 62, Market-street, Lancaster; Messrs. Davies and Crane, Chartered Accountants, 5, Winckley-street, Preston; Messrs. Waters and Atkinson, Incorporated Accountants, Euston-road, Morecambe; or from

J. G. WRIGHT,
Solicitor, Church-street, Lancaster.

By Order of the Receiver.

PETERBOROUGH.

THE NEW HIPPODROME

BROADWAY.

Having a frontage of about 63ft., and an average depth of about 108ft.
Superficial area about 6,100 square ft.
Situate in a prominent position in the main thoroughfare, and close to electric trams. Substantially erected about a year ago on modern principles, complying with the requirements of the Local Authorities. Excellent Stage, 21ft. deep by 45ft. (Proscenium opening 22ft. wide and 19ft. high), good Dressing-room Accommodation, Large Hall, Box, and Manager's Offices, and the usual conveniences. The seating is made up of Stalls, Circle, Pit, and Gallery, with accommodation for 800. Fitted throughout with Electric Light, and heated with Radiators; the whole of the capital contents including Electric Light Fittings, Seats, Carpets, Furniture, Stage Properties, Cloths and Drop Scenes, Orchestral Fittings, Uniforms, Bill Boards, &c., &c., will be included in the sale. It is therefore

READY FOR IMMEDIATE OPENING.

Held on direct lease from the Corporation of the City of Peterborough for a term of ten years from the 25th March, 1907, at the low ground rent of £100 per annum.

Messrs. WILLDER & WILLDER.

are favoured with instructions

TO SELL THE ABOVE BY AUCTION.

at the Angel Hotel, Peterborough, on Wednesday, Sept. 9, 1908, at 3 o'clock. Particulars and conditions of sale may be obtained at the Angel Hotel; of the Receiver, Howard Button, Esq., 49, Queen Victoria-street, E.C.; of the Solicitors, Messrs. W. M. Tayler, Son, and Priest, 27, Great James-street, Bedford Row, W.C., T. H. Walker, Esq., Museum Court, Queen-street, Peterborough, and Messrs. Langford and Redfern, Moorgate Station Chambers, E.C.; or of the Auctioneers, 240, High Holborn, W.C. Tele. 4529, Holborn.

PRELIMINARY ADVERTISEMENT.
By Order of the High Court of Justice, Chancery Division (Liverpool District Registry).
By Mr. PETER DAVIES, F.A.I.
On Thursday, Sept. 24 next, at Three o'clock p.m., at the Law Association Rooms, 14, Cook-street, Liverpool.
The following Important and Valuable

LICENSED THEATRES & MUSIC HALLS—

The TIVOLI THEATRE, Lime-st., Liverpool;
The PARK PALACE, Mill-st., Liverpool;
The PADDINGTON PALACE, Paddington, Liverpool.

For further particulars apply to the Auctioneer, 8, Cook-street, Liverpool; Messrs. G. E. Holt and Sons, Chartered Accountants, 8, Cook-street, Liverpool; Messrs. Oliver Jones, Billson, and Co., Solicitors, 5, Cook-street, Liverpool; or to Messrs. Grundy, Kershaw, Samson, and Co., Solicitors, 31, Booth-street, Manchester, and 69, Gresham-street, London, E.C.

FOR SALE.—PAVILION THEATRE, WALSINGHAM, CO. DURHAM.
Fully licensed, newly erected; capacity 500; well fitted.
Price £450; £300 can remain at 4%.
Apply, AMOS HUNT, Walsingham.

UNLESS THE SCENERY
Deposited with Heyes and Sons, Cazneau-street, Liverpool, on Feb. 6, 1905, is removed within seven days it will be sold.

FAIRS, SHOWS, WAKES.

70,000 SHOWMEN OF THE UNITED KINGDOM

Required to send for

THE SHOWMEN'S YEAR - - - - BOOK

FOR 1908.

JUST OUT.

EDITED BY THE

Rev. T. HORNE.

ENTIRELY RE-ARRANGED, CORRECTED AND ENLARGED.

100 Pages.

PRICE - - ONE SHILLING.

PRINCIPAL CONTENTS.

The Passion for Pageantry.
Constitution and Rules of the "Showmen's Guilds."
Lists of Fairs.
Local Feasts and Wakes.
Synopsis of Bye Laws, &c., &c.

INVALUABLE TO ALL WHO FOLLOW THE FAIR.

Address—
The Publisher of "THE ERA,"
THE ERA BUILDINGS,
5, TAVISTOCK-STREET,
LONDON, W.C.
'Phones: 4747 and 1433 Central.

ILFRACOMBE URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL.

USE OF VICTORIA PAVILION AT AND PROVISION OF BAND FOR ILFRACOMBE.

Mr. G. R. R. SYMONS

Has received instructions to offer by Public Auction or Competition, at the TOWN HALL, ILFRACOMBE, on

THURSDAY, SEPT. 3rd, 1908,

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the

RIGHT AND PRIVILEGE

Of USING THE BANDSTAND for Concerts and other Entertainments, and Providing

Chairs in the Victoria Pavilion, Ilfracombe

Also the Right and Obligation of Providing a

BAND for ILFRACOMBE

The whole for a Period of THREE YEARS from 1st NOVEMBER, 1903.

Conditions and Forms of Agreement and all other particulars can be obtained at the Office of the Council.

BY ORDER.

R. M. ROWE, Clerk to the Council.

Dated 13th August, 1908, Town Hall, Ilfracombe.

HOTEL PROPRIETORS.
To Hotel Proprietors who regularly file "The Era."
HANDSOME ILLUMINATED METAL TABLETS of
"THE ERA"
will be supplied gratis on application to the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

PIERROT POSTERS

Also for Cadet and all Alfresco shows.

STAFFORD & CO., LTD., NETHERFIELD, NOTTS.

WILLSONS
Supply STREAMER LETTERS, Mammoth Posters, Day Bills, in First-class Style, and the General Run of Show Printing. Streamers—the largest Assortment in the United Kingdom—
Day Bills, &c., at our Usual Low Rates.

NEW-WALK PRINTING WORKS, LEICESTER.

MOODY BROTHERS, Birmingham, for PICTORIALS.
New Machinery to print 60 by 40. Write for Illustrated Catalogues, containing illustrations of all Mackenzie's Pictorials, which we have lately bought.
Telephone, 1206 Central.
Telegrams, "Moody's, Birmingham."

TROEDEL & CO.
THEATRICAL PRINTERS,
MELBOURNE, VICTORIA, AUSTRALIA.
COMPANIES TOURING THE COMMONWEALTH AND NEW ZEALAND CAN GET ALL PICTORIAL PRINTING THEY REQUIRE SPECIALLY PREPARED AT ABOVE ADDRESS, AND SAVE ALL EXPENSES OF FREIGHT AND HEAVY DUTIES.

ADMISSION TICKETS In ROLLS or PACKETS for Checking the Drawings.
Printed & Numbered to suit all requirements.
THE GLASGOW NUMERICAL TICKET AND CHECK BOOK PRINTING CO.,
Write Dept. "E" for Prices.
31, Finnieston Street, GLASGOW.

SPENCER BROS., Ltd.,
Aeronauts to the Crystal Palace, &c.

45a, Aberdeen Park, Highbury, N.
Terms upon Application.
C. G. SPENCER & SONS,
Airship, Balloon, and Parachute Manufacturers,
66A, Highbury Grove, London, N.
Price List, one Stamp.
Telegrams, "Aeronaut, London."
'Phone, 1893 Dalston.

DRAMATIC and MUSICAL CALENDAR.
See THE ERA ANNUAL, 1908.

THEATRICAL, MUSICAL, AND EQUESTRIAN OBITUARY FOR 1907.
See THE ERA ANNUAL, 1908.

"THE ERA" ORDER FORMS.

ORDER FORM TO PUBLISHER

SUBSCRIPTIONS.

12 Months..	£1 6s. 0d.
6 ,, ...	13s. 0d.
3 ,, ...	6s. 6d.

Fill up and send, with remittance, to—
THE PUBLISHER, "The Era,"
5, TAVISTOCK STREET, LONDON, W.C.

SIR,—Please place my name on your list of Subcribers, and send copy of "The Era" every Saturday until Countermanded. I enclose remittance for £ s. d.

Name _____

Address _____

_____

Date _____

Cheques, &c., should be made payable to "The Era," Ltd.

ORDER FORM TO NEWSAGENTS

EVERY SATURDAY. Price 6d.

Fill up and forward to local Bookstall or Newsagent.

To Mr. _____

Please supply me every Saturday, until countermanded, with one copy of "The Era," published at 5, Tavistock Street, London, W.C.

Name _____

Address _____

_____

Date _____

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

EARLY TRAINS.

The Railway Companies are despatching many morning trains earlier than hitherto. This will enable subscribers and advertisers in the provincial towns to get copies of "The Era" in time for the breakfast table. Advertisers are requested to forward their advertisements as early in the week as possible, and not later than 7 p.m. on Thursday.

Address:
THE PUBLISHER, The Era Buildings, 5, Tavistock Street, W.C.

MR. TRUEMAN TOWERS and MISS FLORENCE MELVILLE.
Mr. George Edwardes' Co. H. M., Aberdeen

MR. and MRS. HOWARD L. TRACY
(Miss Babs Stuart), "What the Butler Saw" Co. Llandudno (3), Kendal (3).

MR. GEORGE TRAILL,
"The Breed of the Treshams" Tour.
Theatre Royal, Dewsbury.

MR. FREDERICK TYRRELL,
"The Private Secretary" Co.
Aug. 31, Prince of Wales' Theatre, Birmingham.

MR. EDWARD VALENTINE,
Management and Dr. Weston, "A Girl's Cross Roads" Co. Theatre Royal, Barnsley.

MR. CHARLES VANE,
Jack Straw, Paradine Fouldes, Wilfred Denver. C/o Thomas Cook and Sons, Cairo, Egypt.

MR. and MRS. CHAS. B. VAUGHAN
(Miss Lewes). Mr. Vaughan at Liberty.
Atlas Club, Newman-street, Oxford-street, W.

MR. PERCY H. VERNON,
Talleyrand, "A Royal Divorce" Co.
Theatre Royal, West Bromwich.

MR. FREDERICK VICTOR.
Disengaged Sept. 14.
71, St. George's-road, Southwark, S.E.

MR. HAROLD WAGNER,
Acting-Manager, Walter Melville's Co., "A Girl's Cross Roads," Aug. 31, T. R., Barnsley.

MR. ALBERT WARD,
as the Prodigal Son, and Stage-Manager, Mr. George D. Day's Co. Aug. 31, R. T., Morecambe.

MR. HYLTON WARDE, Spec. Engaged by Crofton and Salisbury, Prin. Comedian, Tour, S.A. 17, Doris-road, Norwich, or A.A.

MR. W. LEMMON WARDE,
On tour with Miss Ashwell.

MR. HENRY WATSON,
Mr. Martin Harvey's Co.
Adelphi Theatre, W.C.

MR. FRANK WEATHERSBY.
Theatrical Agency, 3, Bedford-st., Strand. 'Phone 3781 Central. Tel., "Frivolous, London."

MR. WYN WEAVER.
In plays by H. F. Maltby.
134, Great Portland-street, W.

MR. CHARLES WEIR,
At Liberty.
45, Powis-square, Bayswater, W.

MR. C. A. WHITE,
Disengaged, Comedy, Character, or Stage-Manage. Address, 1, Harewood-road, Merton, S.W.

MR. WILL WHITE, F.O.S.,
General Manager,
Alhambra, Belfast.

MR. HERBERT WILLIAMS
Address, De Silva's, Bee, American Bar. Birkenhead Club, and Lyric, Liverpool.

MR. LEONARD WILLIAMS,
Lead, "Second to None."
Lyric T., Hammersmith, W.

MR. FENTON WINGATE,
"The Girl with the Angel Face."
Aug. 31, Empire Theatre, Oldham.

MR. and MRS. DICK WINSLOW
(Evelyn Shaw), "Two Lancashire Lasses in London" Co. Aug. 31, Prince's T., Bradford.

MR. F. B. WOULFE,
as Ronjarre,
Prince's Theatre, Preston.

APPLICATIONS FOR POSITIONS on the FRONT PAGE of "The Era" should be addressed to the PUBLISHER.

"THE ERA" IN AMERICA.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS & SUBSCRIBERS

NEW YORK.

"THE ERA" IS ON SALE
OUTSIDE THE
KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE BUILDING,
1402 BROADWAY,
AND AT BRENTANO'S,
FIFTH AVENUE,
CORNER TWENTY-SEVENTH-ST.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
1 Year, 32/-; 6 Months, 16/-; 3 Months, 8/-

INQUIRIES & COMMUNICATIONS MAY BE SENT TO
"THE ERA," P.O. BOX 492, NEW YORK CITY.

American Artistes visiting the Metropolis use The Era Offices as their Permanent London Address.

"THE ERA" IN AUSTRALIA.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS AND SUBSCRIBERS.

MESSRS.
GORDON AND GOTCH.

SINGLE COPIES ON SALE.
SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED.
ADVERTISEMENTS ACCEPTED.

Australian Artistes visiting the Metropolis use The Era Offices as their Permanent London Address.

Apply or Address,
MELBOURNE—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH, QUEEN-STREET.
SYDNEY—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH, PITT-STREET.
BRISBANE—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH, QUEEN-STREET.
PERTH—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH.

'Phones: 3923 Gerrard & 1911 Gerrard. Telegrams: "Cleaning, London."

SPECIAL NOTE.

At the cost of many Thousands of Pounds, we have installed an entirely New Plant for Spirit or Dry Cleaning, which has proved an IMMENSE SUCCESS.

AUTUMN TOURS AND PANTOMIME.

By Special Arrangement, TOURING MANAGERS can have their Wardrobes Cleaned between Shows by the CHEMICAL CLEANING & DYEING CO.,

(T. HARRIS, Manager),
Original Theatrical Cleaners and Dyers,
6, ARGYLL STREET, REGENT STREET, W.

COPY OF TESTIMONIAL.

Princes Theatre, Preston, August 11th, 1908.

To Chemical Cleaning and Dyeing Co., 6, Argyll Street, W.

Dear Mr. HARRIS,—Coat beautifully cleaned; fur looks better than it has done since it was new.

Yours truly, MARIE CLAVERING
("Shop Girl to Duchess" Co.).

THE "EXCELSIOR"
HALF-SOVEREIGN
TIP-UP CHAIRS.

NEW MARVEL
TIP-UPS
from 4s. 3d.
First-class Seats for PIT and BIOSCOPE SHOWS.

Mr. WILLIAM PEACOCK writes that the 500 "Marvel" Pit Seats supplied to the New Hippodrome, Scarborough, are most comfortable, and give entire satisfaction.

Write for "EXAMPLES OF SEATING," Post Free.

H. LAZARUS & SON
UP-TO-DATE THEATRICAL UPHOLSTERERS
21, GREAT EASTERN ST., LONDON, E.C.

Telegraphic Address "Malleable, London."
Telephone, Nine-one-five-three London Wall.

MARY and CO., 19, GREEN-ST., LEICESTER-SQUARE, W.C. THEATRICAL WIGMAKERS and COSTUMIERS. Special Designs for Fancy Balls, Designs and Estimates for Pantos., Free. Amateur Performances Attended by Competent Assistants. Completed Orders this year for the following Gentlemen: Mr. Beerbohm Tree, Mr. Payne Seddon, Mr. Robert Arthur, Mr. Morton Powell, Mr. Sidney Cooper, Mr. J. D. MacKenzie, and Mr. J. D. Hunter. Getting on, you see.

FRED WILKINS & BROTHER, LTD.

Theatre Furnishers, Decorators, . .
Scenery Manufacturers & Electricians,
54, WHITECHAPEL, LIVERPOOL

Telegrams: "Theatrical." Telephone; 3117 Royal.

Specifications and Estimates submitted on Architects' rough plans for

FIBROUS PLASTER,
PAINTING & DECORATING,
ELECTRICAL INSTALLATIONS,
FIRE CURTAINS & SCENERY,
CARPETS & LINOLEUMS, TABLEAUX CURTAINS & DRAPERIES,
TIP-UP & ALL KINDS OF SEATING.

Write for Prices.

MME. JULIA BEAUMONT,
THEATRICAL COSTUMIER to the Principal Music Hall and Theatrical Artists, 111, WESTMINSTER BRIDGE-ROAD, LONDON.

COSTUMES. — C. and W. MAY (Sons of the late Samuel May, of Bow-street). COSTUMES on HIRE for Amateur Performances, FANCY BALLS, Tableaux Vivants, &c. The Newest Stock of Historical and Fancy Costumes. 9 and 11, GARRICK-ST., COVENT GARDEN, W.C. Tel., "Shakespearian, London." 'Phone 6525 Ger.

The Leading American Theatrical Weekly.

THE NEW YORK DRAMATIC MIRROR.

HARRISON GREY FISKE, Editor and President.
121, WEST FORTY-SECOND-STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y., U.S.A.

All the American Theatrical News.

For Sale in London at PALL MALL AMERICAN EXCHANGE; Carlton-street; Regent street; Daw's S.S. Agency, Green St., Leicester-square, W.C.; and Murray's Exchange, 3, Northumberland-avenue, W.C.

"THE OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE AMERICAN THEATRICAL PROFESSION."
ON SALE WHEREVER THERE IS A PLACE OF AMUSEMENT.

NEW YORK DRAMATIC NEWS.

ISSUED WEEKLY with from 24 to 28 Pages, handsomely Illustrated, with Reports from over 1,000 Cities and Towns in the United States and the Foreign Stage, covered by Special Correspondents.

Has the exclusive patronage of Messrs. CHARLES FROHMAN, KLAW and ERLANGER, LIEBLER and CO., WILLIAM GILLETTE, NIXON and ZIMMERMAN, GEORGE EDWARDES, NAT C. GOODWIN, HENRY W. SAVAGE, and, in fact, every prominent Theatrical Manager.

Foreign Subscription, ONE POUND A YEAR. Advertising Rates, One Shilling per Line.

London Office, Clarence House, King William-street, E.C. JOHN PARKER, Manager.

Communications may be addressed to MAX ELIOT, Special London Correspondent, 3, Queen's Gate Terrace, S.W.

NEW YORK DRAMATIC NEWS,
BROADWAY THEATRE BUILDINGS, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

EARLY TRAINS.

The Railway Companies are despatching many morning trains earlier than hitherto. This will enable subscribers and advertisers in the provincial towns to get copies of "The Era" in time for the breakfast table. Advertisers are requested to forward their advertisements as early in the week as possible, and not later than 7 p.m. on Thursday.

Address:
THE PUBLISHER, The Era Buildings, 5, Tavistock Street, W.C.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERDARE.—NEW THEATRE.—Proprietors, the Aberdare Public Hall, Theatre, and Billposting Co., Ltd.; Manager and Secretary, Mr. Z. Andrews; Acting-Manager, Mr. B. Richards.—Mr. Alfred Northway and Mr. W. V. Garrod's company is here this week with The Prodigal Parson. Mr. L. Darra gives a very fine impersonation of the Rev. Tom Godley; Mr. Alfred Northway plays the part of the villainous Enoch Jaggins with marked ability; Mr. Charles Ashwell is successful as Ben Jaggins; while Mr. Owen Redmonde does excellent work as Phil Drive. Miss Enid Edoni was quite at home as Gretchen; Miss Violet Hammersley fulfils the part of Fern Godley in a most realistic manner; and Miss Madge Gillard is pretty and effective as Myrtle Godley.

ABERDEEN.—H. M. THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Adair Nelson.—That interesting drama The Village Blacksmith is well received this week. The title-part is most realistically acted by Mr. Sam Livesey; Captain Leo, the athletic villain, is well played by Mr. Albert Sinclair; Miss Maggie Edwards most creditably represents the smith's wife; Miss Leicester is an excellent child actress; Mr. Fred Haming supplies most of the fun as Billy Twigg, the apprentice; and other characters are well presented by Mr. Thomas E. Marshall as Jeremiah Parkins, and Mrs. T. C. Livesey as Sal Parkins. The piece is admirably staged, and the scenic representation of the village smithy is particularly pretty. In the course of the music hall interlude Miss Cissie Le Grande contributes a song, which was greatly appreciated by the audience.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessees, the United County Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Walter Gilbert.—Mr. Fred Karno's sketch company is exceedingly popular this week. Indeed, the theatre has not been so crowded as it was on Monday for some time. The sketches played are London Suburbia and The Mumming Birds. The acting and staging of the pieces are alike admirable. Mr. Alfred Graham's Juveniles, in International and part songs, are heartily received; and Les Ruebens give a first-class vocal scena; Miss Daisy Watt, the champion lady piper of Scotland, is enthusiastically applauded; the Sisters Brand are successful as comediennes and dancers; and the Brothers Brooks appear in a clever comedy act.

BEACH PAVILION.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. David Thomson.—The Downes Family, who have been exceptionally popular, conclude their engagement this week; Miss Violet Davidson and Mr. Thomson delight the audience with their humorous duets; the Two Real Mackays dance with remarkable dexterity and grace; Vulcaris gives some amusing interludes on the piano; and Mr. Dan Williams is genuinely humorous as a comedian.

ALHAMBRA MUSIC HALL. — Proprietor, Mr. John Sinclair; General-Manager, Mr. George B. Lee.—The programme continues to attract large audiences. Principal among the artists are Miss Rosie Kell, a very clever and graceful comedienne; Mr. Albert Harper, coloured American comedian, who makes a hit with his singing and dancing; Miss Lottie Bell and Mr. Dick Bright, a pair of bright and resourceful comedy entertainers; and Mr. Dave Paterson, with his admirable cinematographic display.

ABERTILLERY.—THEATRE METROPOLE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. J. Seaborne.—Messrs. Travis Green and Hinton are presenting this week the popular "human drama" Home, Sweet Home. Mr. Arthur Hinton enacts the part of Stephen Armitage with considerable power and versatility; Mr. Fred G. Kay deserves praise for his portrayal of David Armitage, the father; and Mr. David Beattie as Lucas Lyle shows much dramatic power. Sybil Fay, a music-hall artist, is prettily played by Miss Laura Wright; Miss Lydia Audre is both engaging and dignified, and gives an effective rendering of Joan; little Josephine Melbourne is natural and realistic as Dora. Minor parts are in capable hands, and the mounting of the piece is decidedly good.

PAVILION.—Lessees, Messrs. E. and H. Tilney; Manager, Mr. E. Pryce.—The Musical Jees head the bill at this up-to-date house in their musical sketch The Smithy, in which they produce melody from the anvil, and never fail to amuse; Bert Bowen, a comedian, proves popular; Fraser and French are capable vocalists and expert dancers; and Harry Wedburn delights the house with good songs. Percival and Morley, comedy duologue artists, are highly applauded for their production of The Turtle Doves; Clarice Sefton is a good comedienne; Flo Banks is quite a success as a vaudeville artist; Alfonso Silvano mystifies the house in his wonderful balancing act; and the Bioscope again shows some interesting pictures.

ACCRINGTON.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—A cordial reception was given to Mr. Allan Wilkie and his company by a large and enthusiastic audience here on Monday, when The Merchant of Venice was the play presented. Mr. Wilkie gave an artistic and well-studied performance of Shylock; Miss Carrie Baillie as Portia showed much dramatic ability; Mr. Alexander Marsh played Bassanio with subdued power and repose; Mr. John Paley deserves praise for his capital portrayal of Antonio; and Mr. Frank Royde sustained the part of Gratiano creditably. As Lorenzo Mr. Ernest Digges played well, and Lancelot was made very amusing by Mr. Ian Fleming. Miss Maud Gill gave an exceedingly charming interpretation of Jessica, and Miss Mildred Surrey renders valuable assistance as Nerissa. For the remainder of the week Hamlet, The Sleigh Bells, David Garrick, Julius Cæsar, She Stoops to Conquer, and Othello are billed.

ALDERSHOT.—ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Gladwin.—The chief attraction at this house of amusement is the ju-jitsu exponent, Tarro Myaki, who is not without opponents this week, for Aldershot is the right place for a wrestler to find champions. The Smart Brothers are funny with their acrobatic feats; Chas. Wilson as a jumper excites considerable interest; Gene Selby, the negro bone soloist and delineator, is good; Ben Jackson plays the banjo in a skilful manner; and Minnie Wheaton and Gracie Dare entertain with capital songs and effective dances. The extra turn, who gives a burlesque of The Misses' Party, is a born artist, and deserves praise.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—The Midnight Mail is being presented here for the week by Messrs. Dottridge, Longden, and Willard's company. The vagaries of the drunken reprobate, Bill Brewer, are portrayed with skill by Mr. Chas. Carte; Mr. Geo. Harvard gives a bold interpretation of Harry Steyne; and the acting of Miss Trissie Humphreys as the engine-driver's wife, Mary Steyne, is wonderfully touching. Notable impersonations of character, too, are those of Leonard Boyle by Mr. Chas. H. Longden, Hassan Padisha by Mr. C. P. Wentworth, and minor parts by Messrs. Banks, Wilkinson, Mann, Warburton, Glenville, and others. Miss Jeannie Weston as Lady Phyllis Eustace, Miss Daisy Clifford as Nancy Brewer, Miss Marie Longden as Miss Mildmay, and Miss Prim and Miss Ethel North are also satisfactory exponents of character.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H Broadhead and Son.—Daleno and Stream have the premier position on the programme. They are capital singing comedians, dancers, and comic cross-talkers. George Young is a blind musician, the concertinist, who plays with artistic effect; Mme. Louise is his attendant. Victor Courtney is most amusing as "Boots at the Piano," and he is an expert executant of the instrument. Mlle. Edythe and Toto produce a "speciality"; she is unique as a lady posturer, and Toto is a modern Grimaldi. Harry Blake is a good singing comedian; Patrick Playfair, assisted by Miss Vera Davis, is a remarkable papierographist; some really remarkable and artistic specimens are manipulated by the fingers. A good comedy gymnast is seen in Picquo, and Rose and Wold are acrobatic bounding wire performers extraordinary. Cabon's French Circus brings to their arena built on the stage some really intelligent performing ponies, donkeys, goats, and dogs; they are a collection of highly-trained animals. The Bioscope shows some wonderful vagaries by a rebellious walking-stick.

ATTERCLIFFE.—PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Pease; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harry Sanders.—The principal attraction here is Mr. Frank E. Burdett's company, in the dramatic military sketch Mutiny, the chief characters being well undertaken by Mr. George Dalper (Lieut. Manley), Mr. Villiers Stanley (Nebu Singh), Mr. Michael Madden (Terry O'Brien), Miss Marion Mayne (Kitty), and Miss Agnes Burdett (Ghuznah). The sketch, which is lavishly mounted, had a good reception on the opening night. Harrison Brothers, comedians and dancers, are once more proving their popularity; Miss Tiny Arnold, comedienne, gives an attractive turn; Kinnard introduces some clever tricks in his conjuring act; hearty applause greeted Miss Lauaine for her instrumental selections; Mr. Horace Jones is a good comedian; the efforts of the Sisters Selwyn, vocalists and dancers, met with hearty recognition; and the "Attergraph" pictures A Pirate's Honour completes the bill.

AYR.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry W. Day.—This week the theatre is occupied by Mr. Beresford Whitcombe's company, in the military drama In the Ranks. Mr. Jerrold Heather and Miss Violet E. Lawson have the principal characters to portray, and they give admirable interpretations; Mr. Wilton Reed and Mr. T. Weldon Atherstone are the rascals of the piece, and they make the characters sufficiently hateful; Mr. Walter Thornton is an admirable "toff"; Mr. Ern Carlton introduces no end of humour into the part of Joe Buzzard; while the Mrs. Buzzard of Miss Eleanor Papera was made appropriately fussy. The Barbara of Miss Doris Whyte is lightsome and bright. The other members of the cast give good support. The piece is beautifully staged.

BARNSTAPLE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Bridge Trustees; Manager, Mr. Harry Ashton.—Mr. Bernard Shaw's farcical comedy You Never Can Tell was presented here on Monday and Tuesday. Mr. F. Cremlin showed ability as Fergus Crampton; Mr. Leslie Hamer sustained with effect the part of the prodigal Valentine; Mr. Trevor Lowe carefully embodied the family lawyer, Finch McComas; Mr. Donald Calthrop made the most of Philip Clandon; the eminent K.C. was admirably placed in Mr. George Howard's hands; and much unctuous humour was displayed by Mr. Chas. Daly as the waiter; successful in every way was Miss Katherine Stuart as Mrs. Clandon; Miss Gladys Morris's portrayal of Gloria Clandon showed care; and Miss Clare Earle made a vivacious Dolly Clandon.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS.—ROYALTY THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Geo. Stone.—Mr. A. Clifton Alderson's company is here in The Coal King. Mr. Alderson is a capital and dignified Tom Roberts, and Mr. Ulick Burke a good Sir Reginald Harford, J.P.; Mr. George Hanbury is a sufficiently villainous Walter Harford, and Mr. Frank Dalton a capital Dick Sliveley; Mr. Sam Roberts is an amusing and humorous Jim Williams, and the difficult part of Mad Ann is safe with Miss Joan Wellman; Miss Winifred Love is a graceful and winning Grace Shirley, and Miss M. Hinton a bright and vivacious Araminta Green.

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—Mr. Eugene C. Stafford's company is here with The Private Secretary. Mr. Donald Price Evans is humorous as the Rev. Robert Spalding, and Mr. W. Hargreaves is a vehemently irascible Mr. Cattermole; Mr. Frank Stanley is good as Mr. Marshland, M.F.H., and Mr. Andrew Wright is capital as Harry Marshland; Miss Florence Tresilian is a charming Edith Marshland, and Miss Dorothy Ripley, Miss Cecily Wade, and Mrs. Alfred Davis are successful in minor rôles, acting with much charm.

TIVOLI.—Lessee and Manager, Signor Pepi; Acting-Manager, Edgar G. Laban.—Pat Rafferty is here this week at the top of the bill, and his songs are highly appreciated; Harry and Elsie Mayville, with their Lilliputian entertainment, have a capital reception; Nellie Lawrence is a pleasing vocalist and a dancer of very considerable merit; and the Fimans give a very humorous comedy scena, entitled The Fire Station. Dunningarto, sleight-of-hand performer, E. Rutland, comedian, and Two Clares, specialty artists, are turns worthy of praise. Vernon's Bioscope concludes.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Owners and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.— Amost successful Hipposcope entertainment is being given here this week. The programme is very pleasantly interspersed with songs by Miss May Sinclair, and Henthall and Forster.

BATH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—On Monday the regular autumn season opened with A White Man, presented by Mr. Herbert Sleath's company. Mr. Frank E. Petley as Jim Carston takes hold of the audience in no uncertain manner by the firmness and ability with which he enacts the character; a prime favourite is Mr. R. A. Brandon as Big Bill, his companions, with their varied peculiarities, being faithfully portrayed by Mr. Thomas Swen, Mr. Henry Moss, and Mr. T. W. H. Sarll; Mr. Lewis Broughton tackles the rôle of the Earl of Kerhill with a proud and haughty demeanour; Taby-y-Wana, the Utah chief, and Bino White, the interpreter, are wonderfully well enacted by Mr. Eric Hudson and Mr. F. Thornton; Mr. John Wilmer is well cast as Bud Hardy; the pathetic figure of Nat-u-Ritch is admirably conveyed by Miss Rhoda Ray; Miss Gertrude Price sustains with womanly feeling the aristocratic anxiety of Dowager Lady Kerhill; the heaviest female rôle is that Diana Kerhill, and in the representation Miss Eleanor May scores an undoubted success.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Charles Schuberth.—Kelly and Ashby are in the forefront of this week's bill, and their speciality act, Fun in a Billiard Saloon, is meeting with the same favour and success here as elsewhere; Irma Orbasany is exhibiting her wonderful performing cockatoos; while the Laimons are renewing acquaintance with local audiences with their excellent pedestal and step-dancing; a quartette of agile dancers are Les Belles Americaine, who meet with a cordial reception; as do Irene and Morton in their comedy interlude, The Hobo and the Maid; Madge Allan is a comedienne who puts plenty of animation into her songs and dances; Madge Field, comedienne and dancer, also appears. Raymond's Biotableau include a big subject, entitled The Wreckers."

BEDFORD. — ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Graham Falcon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter R. Wilson.—Mr. Frederick Melville's company is this week presenting Her Forbidden Marriage. Mr. Henry Lonsdale is an ideal hero, and Miss Geraldine Le Sage tenderly portrays Lucy. Mr. Louis Hector is very clever in the sinister rôle of Charles Devereux; he finds a worthy partner in crime in the unscrupulous Lady Lucretia Lancaster, ably impersonated by Miss Grace Lester. Mr. Fred De Vere is extremely funny as Timothy Tuttutt, and Miss Maude Merrick as Patty is vivacious and pretty. Mr. H. Gomer May is an excellent Sir George, and Miss Agnes Imlay is well fitted for the part of the Mother Superior.

BELFAST.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James M. McCann.—Mr. H. B. Irving and Miss Dorothea Baird with their talented company opened here on Monday in The Lyons Mail. Mr. Irving appeared in the dual rôle of Joseph Lesurques and Dubosc with great success, the contrast in the two parts being very clearly and cleverly delineated, and the enthusiasm with which his acting was greeted was certainly deserved. Miss Dorothea Baird, a delightful actress, acted with rare charm as Janette; and a graceful impersonation of Julie was submitted by Miss Phyllis Embury. Mr. Frank Tyars deserves special commendation for his skilful impersonation of Jerome Lesurques; Mr. Eric Moxon was all that could possibly be desired as Courriol; and the rôle of Choppard was in the safe hands of Mr. C. Dodsworth. Mr. Tom Reynolds (who is also responsible for the arduous duties of stage-management) was excellent as Fouinard; and Mr. Frank Randell furnished a manly impersonation of Didier. Other rôles were represented by Miss E. Frances Davis and Messrs. C. Stephens, Frank Cochrane, B. R. Pittar, A. Curtis, Stanley Holwell, &c. The Sergeant of Hussars was an acceptable curtain-raiser. On Wednesday The Bells was the attraction, and in addition King Rene's Daughter was performed, in which Miss Dorothea Baird appeared as Iolanthe. During the week Hamlet and Louis XI. have also been performed, and to-night (Saturday) The Lyons Mail will be repeated. It should be added that the reception at the close of the performance on Monday was so enthusiastic that Mr. Irving was compelled to appear and make a speech.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; General-Manager, Mr. J. De Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. A. Salmond.—Mr. John Tiller's company again occupies the chief position on the programme, and this week presents with every element of success A Trip to Paris. The leading rôles have been capitally filled by Miss May Sharples, Miss Marie Brian, Miss Lizzie Hay, and Messrs. Bob Selvidge, Barney Dixon, Teddy Gibbs, J. Whiteside, &c. Some remarkable feats have been performed by Morimura, described as a Japanese magician, and an unmistakable greeting has been extended to Miss Gladys Mavius, the Canadian girl, whose songs have been vociferously encored. The acrobatic feats of the Three Seabornes have created quite a sensation; and the programme is completed by the Palace Pictures, which are always up to date.

Royal Hippodrome.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Will Sley and Fred Willmott; Resident-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—Herbert Cottesmore and company top the bill, and produce with great éclat the thrilling Sicilian drama, entitled Her Princely Betrayer. Mooney and Holbein return with their exceedingly funny sketch Oysters, and their capital act has been accorded a great reception. The Three Sisters Tree appear in their refined act, entitled Hunting, in which they exhibit their versatility; and the Five Juanitos appear to great advantage in their speciality act, which is certainly one of the features of the programme. Mr. Jack Hayworth is a droll Scotch comedian; and Miss Ivey Aberdare is a brisk comedian and clever sand dancer. The Delomes are exceedingly smart dancers; and a hit was made on Monday by Mr. Bert Terrell, Dutch comedian and vocalist. The Hipposcope completes the programme.

Empire Theatre of Varieties, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. John A. Walker.—A pleasing return visit is being paid to this theatre by that droll comedian, Mr. Mike S. Whallen, whose patter is always amusing, and he again has been very successful. The trick cycling feats of the Daunton-Shaw Troupe are certainly wonderful, and they are loudly recalled. The McConnell Trio, who are always welcome, produce one of their mirth-provoking sketches, in which their capital vocalism forms an important part; and Orpheus manipulates a number of musical instruments most skilfully. Miss Eily Adair is a fine dancer; and also appearing are Mr. Harry Drew, the famous Welch basso; Miss Florence McNulty, comedienne; and the Bioscope.

New Alhambra Theatre.—General-Manager, Mr. Will White.—The phenomenal business at this hall continues, and this week, under the direction of Mr. Cecil Wilson, the following films have been exhibited: The Marathon Race, Motor Smugglers, The Music Teacher, A Bird of Freedom, Wrongly Accused, The Shrimper, The Pirate's Honour, &c. In addition, Denby and Dent, comedians, appear with much success; and Mr. Frank Boyce, a good vocalist.

St. George's Hall.—General-Manager, Mr. Robert Wilson.—This week, under the direction of Mr. Hugh Beckett, a great variety of animated pictures are exhibited, including the Marathon Race from Start to Finish, The Legend of the Ghost, Apple of Discord, Physician of the Castle, The Rivals, The Determined Lover. A great treat is also afforded by the superb vocalism of Mme. Sims Reeves, who has been accorded a great reception; and the banjo selections of Mr. Edmund Casselli quite bring down the house.

BILSTON.—New Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry Battersby; Musical-Director, Mr. J. E. Machin.—Miss Winifred Chalmers and her capable company opened to a good house on Monday with The Master Criminal. Mr. Henry L. Osmond scores a most pronounced success as Telford Lestage, the master criminal; Mr. J. C. Carlyle also meets with general approval as Ben Beaudy of Scotland Yard; Miss Winifred Chalmers, with a fine stage presence and a clear voice, makes a capital Cecile, alias Lady Travennes; Mr. Harry Cooke is very amusing as Tommy Dale; and Miss Mabel Tremere gives able support as Peggy Perks. Mr. Edward Avinal is good as Philip Manners, and Miss Francis Carlyle does well as his wife. Mr. Chas. Tolcher introduces considerable humour into the character of Gentleman Jim. The piece is well staged and mounted. On Thursday and Friday Oliver Twist is to occupy the boards.

BIRKENHEAD.—New Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant; Secretary, Miss Isabel Morris.—Messrs. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company in With Edged Tools, being an adaptation of Mr. Henry Seton Merriman's novel, presents an attractive entertainment. In the course of a fine performance Mr. William F. Grant attains great prominence by a really faultless rendering of Jack Meredith; Guy Oscard is carefully and effectively played by Mr. Henry Nunn; Mr. Campbell Goldsmid's highly interesting and thrilling impersonation of Victor Durnovo is impressive; and Mr. J. A. Rosier displays a thorough grasp of the important rôle of Sir John Meredith. Miss Phyllis Relph wins all hearts with an admirable portrayal of Jocelyn Gordon; Miss Marie Leonhard displays consummate ability as Millicent Chyne; and Miss Isabel Grey is a thoroughly efficient Lady Cantourne; Mr. Charles Hartopp is a good Maurice Gordon; Miss Frances Woolviston is a picturesque Marie; Miss Violet Thorold is successful as Lady Herries; and Mr. J. Pockett a capable Lieut. Conynghame. Subordinate parts are all ably filled, and the piece is elaborately staged.

Argyle Theatre of Varieties.—Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke.—Binns and Binns, exceptionally clever and versatile variety artists and a sure card at this hall, head an excellent company, which also includes Alcide Capitaine, a clever and graceful gymnast; Ted Karno and his amusing company in The Merry Carpenters are a prominent success; Miss Kitty Wager, a charming and accomplished comedienne, is an immense favourite; and Miss Minnie Cunningham is a winsome Irish comedienne. Other attractive turns are also given by Mr. Fred Poplar, comedian; Athas and Collins, clever acrobats and dancers; Mr. Harry Bedford, comedian; and Mr. Frank Hartley, an expert young juggler. Brown's Royal Bioscope is an acquisition.

Olympian Gardens, Rock Ferry.—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler and Sutton; Manager, Mr. Edwin Adeler.—This week a delightful entertainment is contributed to by the Anglo-Indian Concert Party, which includes Mr. Harrison Brockbank, Miss Lillian Wesson, Miss Joan Maxse, Miss Kitty Kennedy Allen, Mr. Alf Johnson, Mr. H. Uzielli, Mr. F. Dillon, Mr. Kennedy Allen, Casa Crawford, Miss Ethel Bryant, and Mr. Jas. A. Lowe, accompanist.

BIRMINGHAM.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—Idols, Miss Evelyn Millard's new play, is described in another column.

Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Rodgers, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnston.—Sherlock Holmes is exercising all its old fascination on its return this week. Mr. H. Hamilton Stewart as the redoubtable detective acts with refreshing coolness under the most trying circumstances, and carries the audience thrilled and enthusiastic to the end. Mr. Robert Gilbert as that "Napoleon of crime," Professor Moriarty, compels admiration for his cleverness and resource; Mr. Mark D. Draper as James Larabee and Miss Edith Vogne as Madge both play up strongly; Mr. Arthur Shelton is a sympathetic Dr. Watson; Miss Betty Fairfax as Alice Faulkner gives a portrayal of much merit; other clever characters being John Forman by Mr. Walter A. Chetham, Sydney Prince by Mr. Douglas Murray, and Billy by Master Thomas Russell.

Alexandra Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Lester Collingwood; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. T. Guest.—Her Nameless Child has been well received here this week with Mrs. Sam Duckworth's company. Mr J. W. Evelyn's acting as Anthony Ford calls for nothing but praise, being full of good points; Miss Pattie Hastings puts plenty of charm and ability into the character of Phyllis; Mr. Sidney C. Cranston acts finely as the younger Ford, Arthur; Mr. Arthur E. Pringle is an able impersonator of Lord Henry Woodville, whose catpaw, Mongrole, is cleverly portrayed by Mr. Frank Thompson; the Misses Mona Grey and Renie Douglas shine as Lady Sybil and Bessie Brookes respectively. Mr. Larry Clements could hardly be excelled for his humour as Tom Rivers; and Miss Geraldine makes an admirable maid.

Metropole Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Andrew Melville; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hindle Taylor.—A Wrecker of Men is pursuing its prosperous career in the neighbourhood of where it was first produced. Mr. Eric Campbell again proves a capital exponent of the rôle of Jim Murley; Miss Florence Melrose Millett has taken up the part of "the wrecker," Risca Mallison, with excellent results; Mr. Milner Noble is still associated with the character of the Egyptian, Pharosaphus, in which he excels; Mr. Arthur Robinson retains his successful rôle of Guise Strange; Mr. J. Ansdell is still a powerful force as the "silent witness," Railton; Miss Gwendoline Talbot is again a most sympathetic Doris Melville; and Messrs. Charles Lovell, Douglas Campbell, Thompson Carruthers, and Miss Beatrice Reynolds continue to shine in their respective rôles of Isaacs, Verincourt, Melville, and Slopper.

Carlton Theatre, Saltley.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—London with the Lid Off has proved particularly alluring, its presentation here so soon after its successful London production being undoubtedly much appreciated. Mr. Stanley Carlton's company have by this time got into their parts well. Miss Ruby Maude makes an engrossing rôle of Astra Bell, playing with a fine sympathetic touch; Miss Amy Ellam as the "good angel" of the piece, Madge Rendall, gets right to the heart of the audience; Mr. Stanley Carlton is convincing as the Rev. Allen Gordon; Mr. William G. Marshall is very comprehensive as the blind burglar; the Misses R. Hamilton Balesco and Charlotte B. Bellinger submit telling portrayals of Mrs. Glendale and Sarah Shafto respectively; and the others, to mention Mr. Lancelot Usher and Miss Emily Lewis specially, are in fine trim for their parts.

Theatre Royal, Aston.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. B. Hewitson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Lake.—When London Sleeps is appearing here to the biggest business of the year. Mr. Lester Collingwood's company is very strong in every part, and the play has never gone better. Mr. Harry Wren scores as the sinister, evil-designing Captain Rodney Haynes; Mr. Edward E. Ashby gets full admiration for the good qualities of David Engleheart; Miss Mabel Scudamore is both intrepid and sympathetic as Queenie Carruthers; Miss Lilla Wilde dominates much of the play with her powerful acting as Hilda Carode; Mr. Harry Emmerson does well as the all-important Mark Blackwood; and full praise can be meted out to Mr. Frank Howard, Mr. Douglas Campbell, Mr. Ernest C. Edwards, Mr. F. E. Thomas, Mr. Fred Bernardo, Miss Mona Hall, Miss Bella Power, Miss Christine Middleton, Miss Ida Lovett, and Miss Helen Holmes.

Palace Theatre, Bordesley.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward.—Straight from the Shoulder received a hearty welcome here, where the author, Mr. R. A. Roberts, is well known, and his name one to conjure with. Apart from Mr. Roberts's personal popularity, the play has undoubted merit, and catches the sympathy of the house instantly. Mr. Matthew Boulton as Bedford plays in a vigorous, earnest vein that arouses the utmost interest; Mr. Leonard Clarke acts powerfully as the villainous Gleeson; Miss Beatrice Burdett gives charm and pathos to the heroine's rôle (Millicent Grant); and the company, which is an excellent all-round one, includes Mr. G. H. Child as the Rev. John Armitage, Mr. Fred Beck as Jim Green, Miss Edie Casson as Miss Brittle, Miss Beatrice Moore as the romping niece, and Miss Frances Bruce as Mary Gleeson.

Grand Theatre of Varieties.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Edward Foster.—Bella and Bijou are paying a return visit, which has been looked forward to by many, their latest sketch, The Suffragette, taking the house by storm; Machnow, the Russian giant, attracts; the Two Anartos are humorous musicians, and create laughter. Other big turns include Frank L. Gregory's troupe of keep jugglers, Sados, Arthur Lloyd, Alice Maydue, Hilda Jacobsen, and Albert Lentine.

Empire Palace.—Resident-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham.—Ernest Shand, the star turn here, is more amusing than ever; Tom Edwards presents his clever ventriloquial turn; Sid May is a comedian and mimic of considerable skill; the Lukushimas in their Japanese entertainment; the Three Meers; Blanche Vincent; Munroe's Black and White Comedy Team; and the Lester Bros. complete the bill.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Lyons.—Francini, Ollams, and Page have a remarkable musical entertainment, which won loud applause; Clara Reid and John Power's sketch, The Chambermaid, is bright; and a dancing episode, The Magic Vase, is provided by Enid Errol and company. Sims and Sims, Dan Whitley, Lily Black, Tom E. Hughes, the Three Rubeys, and T. Edmonds and company in a sketch, The Lady Jockey, are all good turns.

Gaiety Theatre.—Proprietors, The Gaiety Co., Ltd.—The Maritana Operatic Co. is proving an attraction this week. Irve Hayman and Marie Montague present their sketch Christmas Eve; the Three Delaris, the Sisters St. Julian, Jack Lane, the Gentrys, Mr. Henderson, and the Corcoran Bros. complete an excellent programme.

BISHOP AUCKLAND. — Eden Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. Huntley. — Miss Violet Osmund's company opened here to a crowded house in The Belle of the Ball. Mr. Johnny Schofield as Tibbs was once more cordially welcomed, and his drollery kept the house in screams of laughter. Mr. Robert Hyett was never found wanting as Sir Francis Lake; and every credit is due due to Mr. C. Hughes for his impersonation of Bobbie Fletcher. Another comedian who kept the fun alive was Mr. Chas. Adeson as Farmer Jones; Mr. E. W. Chewd (James Foster) and Mr. Frank Collins (Showman Jack) were capable; Miss Gertrude Melville, though suffering from a severe cold, gave a delightful rendition of the title-rôle; and as her step-sisters, Mary and Alice, Misses Ethel Bertram and L'Estrange were admirable. Miss Florence Watson was pleasing in her presentation of Queenie Trevor, her songs being well received; Missos Penryn and Cartwright as the Directoire Girls deserve mention; and the strong chorus is in the capable hands of Mr. Joseph D. Rogers.

BLACKPOOL.—Her Majesty's Opera House.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—A White Man, very cleverly enacted by Mr. Herbert Sleath and company, is meeting with a most favourable reception here this week. Mr. Sleath's impersonation of Jim Carston calls forth warm praise, whilst Miss Ellis Jeffreys contributes an excellent delineation of the Countess of Kerhill. Mr. George Fawcett appears with great success in his original part of Big Bill, and Miss Dorothy Dix repeats her admirable presentation of Nat-u-ritch, the Indian girl. Mr. Harold Weston as the Earl of Kerhill, Mr. A. G. Poulton as Sir John Applegate, and Miss Enid Sass as Lady Mabel Wynnegate also play their parts with unquestionable ability. The excellent staging adds no little to the success of the production.

Grand Theatre.—Owner and Manager, Mr. T. Sergenson.—Mr. George Edwardes's company is paying still another visit here this week with The Girls of Gottenberg. There are several important changes in the cast since the last visit of the company a few weeks ago. Max Moddlekoff is now played by Mr. Edmund Payne, and needless to say he carries all before him, whilst Mitzi is in the capable hands of Happy Fanny Fields, whose success was instantaneous. Miss Thelma Raye makes a charming Elsa, and Miss Maisie Gay plays Clementine with credit and distinction. Mr. Leslie Holland is well placed as Otto, and Mr. Fred Payne proves himself to be a clever comedian in the part of Brittlbottl. Mr. Jocelyn Hope as the General, and Mr. Fred Allendale as Albrecht, also merit commendation.

Palace.—General-Manager, Mr. G. H. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Waller.—Vesta Tilley once again heads a big bill here, and the business is enormous. She sings half a dozen songs nightly and the audience clamours for more. Her popularity appears to increase at every visit, the streets leading from the theatre and her hotel being lined with her admirers every night after the show. Jock Whiteford, the clever Scotch comedian, is also a favourite turn, whilst round after round of applause is accorded to the Vernon Ladies' Quartette, whose vocal efforts are very fine indeed. Howard and Harris are seen to advantage in their clever sketch The Adventures of a Happy Tramp; Lillie Langtry sings in her well-known style; and the Lombards appear with success in their "gladiatorial act"; concertina playing is done to perfection by Alexander Prince; the Columbia Comedy Trio are capital vocalists; and Ted Waite is a good comedian.

Hippodrome.—Manageress, Mrs. Fioni.—The International Pictures is the turn that tops the bill here this week. Lisbon and Barker, comedians; the Monte Carlo Girls, singers and dancers; and Marie Elsie, comedienne, also make a successful appearance.

BLYTH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur C. Moody.—Mr. T. Morton Powell's company has paid a successful visit with the evergreen drama Greed of Gold. In the leading rôle of Tom Welstead (otherwise the "dumb man") Mr. James Jarrett submits a powerful performance; Harry Hood is made sufficiently villainous in the hands of Mr. Walter H. Domoney; and the Arthur Errol of Mr. Charles Stafford gives satisfaction. Mr. Sidney Bryant as the "tipster" gives a good character rendition; Mr. J. P. Marsden is a humorous Conn Creamer; and Miss S. Bryant as Patty wins favour. The Dora of Miss Elma C. Turner is a charming figure of the play. The minor parts are well played throughout. The staging and scenic effects add much to the success of the production.

Gaiety.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Yates Gregory; Resident-Manager, Mr. Thomas Baugh.—A most attractive programme has been submitted for the enjoyment of large numbers of patrons, the first item being supplied by Herr Listen, a Dutch warbler, who at once proved a success. R. C. Note rendered several good songs; the Musical Morrells had a hearty reception; Harl gave a good juggling act; Marvelle's cockatoos were very attractive; Mag Milbo was well received in coon song and dance, and the Bioscope strengthened the bill of fare.

Hippodrome.—Lessees, Messrs. Doyle and O'Connell; General-Manager, Mr. Tom Doyle.—The series of pictures, together with good varieties, maintain the popularity of the "Drome."

BOLTON. — Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Moncur.—Miss Ida Molesworth's and Mr. Mark Blow's company is here on a return visit with the American drama At Cripple Creek. Mr. Wernham Ryott gives a clever impersonation of the part of Joe Mayfield; Miss Daisy Carlton is highly successful as Maggie Mason; Mr. Will Hook makes a droll Reggie Harwood; Wahketah, the faithful Indian, receives excellent treatment at the hands of Mr. Reginald Harley West; Mr. Charles E. Johnson does well in the character of Martin Mason; and the same may be said of Mr. Roy Jackson as Manuel Alvarez. Miss Dorothy Lart is good in the part of Belle Gordon; the "Dynamite Ann" of Miss Marie Housley and Miss Norah Dillon's Sarah Lively merit praise, whilst other parts are ably filled.

Grand Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon.—The renowned Sears, America's foremost illusionist, is appearing here in a series of brilliant and bewildering illusions, assisted by Miss Edythe Vernon; and is supported by Monty Walker, laughing mimetic swell-comedian; Mount Stephens and Harry Rennior, comedians and eccentric rag-time dancers; the San Remo Girls, comediennes and speciality dancers; Dave O'Toole, comedian; Mabel Bright, novelty entertainer; Walter Wade, in his mimetic monologue Patsy Burke; Joe Conway, pocket comedian; Matthews and Cowper in their original comedy sketch, entitled When the Clock Went Wrong; and Vernon's Imperial Bioscope.

BOOTLE. — Muncaster Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Pennington; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Fred Wilmott; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Young.—The stock company is this week playing the old mystic drama, The Corsican Brothers, the principal parts being capably presented by Messrs. Albert Sember, Stanley S. Gordon, Alfred D. Adams, Cyril Grier, Tom H. Solly, and Misses Nina Vaughton, Kathleen Magee, and Effie Macintosh.

BOSCOMBE. — Hippodrome.—General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Ball.—Peggy Pryde is heading the bill this week, and in her successful scena, entitled "Mr. Moon," is a great favourite. An excellent turn is provided by the Three Sisters Sprightly, the versatile trio; Lena Wylie, South American soprano, receives tremendous applause for the admirable rendering of her songs; little Jenny Alexander, child comedienne and mimic, is very successful; Gicardo, boy juggler, is exceedingly smart; Leo Stormont, baritone, is much appreciated; Wright and Elton, comedy artists, provide a pleasant turn; and the Hippo. pictures are up to date.

BOURNEMOUTH.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Proprietors, Messrs. David Allen and Sons; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Manager, Mr. Herbert Dunbar.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company is drawing crowded houses in Lady Frederick, with Mrs. Brown Potter in the title-rôle. The talented actress played the part admirably, and had a hearty reception. Mr. Philip Cuningham, with his fine appearance and good acting, was a great success as Paradine Fouldes; Lady Mereston was sustained in capable fashion by the clever actress Miss Audrey Campbell; Mr. Herbert Garthorne as Lord Mereston was an excellent and convincing lover; and Mr. Cecil Bevan did some good work as Capt. Montgomerie. Miss Phyllis Manners was good as the dressmaker, Madame Claude; and Miss E. Nolan O'Connor made a charming French maid. Among the cast were also Mr. R. Van Ramsey as Sir Gerald O'Mara; Mr. Shirley Lea as Admiral Carlisle; Miss Edith Deverell as Rose; and Mr. C. T. Roe as the waiter.

BRADFORD.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—A return visit is being paid this week by Mrs. Bandmann-Palmer in a repertory of plays, which includes Mary Queen of Scots, presented on Monday. Mrs. Bandmann-Palmer, as the unhappy prisoner of Fotheringay, stirred the audience visibly; Mr. F. Skein's Earl of Leicester was a well studied and able effort; Miss Alice O'Dea played Elizabeth well; Miss Maud Garth was excellent as the lovable Hannah Kennedy; as Lord Burleigh Mr. Bernard Merefield stood out prominently, and the other parts were competently filled. Sapho was the play on Tuesday night; and Mrs. Bandmann-Palmer is billed to appear during the engagement as Hamlet, Leah, Nell Gwynne, and Jane Shore.

Prince's Theatre. — Lessee, Councillor Francis Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. N. Hepworth.—Mr. Walter Melville is this week presenting for the first time here The Girl Who Wrecked his Home. Its reception has been very cordial. In the part of Jack Marshall, the wronged husband of the story, Mr. J. W. Goddard is effective in his acting; with pathos and much distinction Miss Louise Hampton fills the part of his erring wife Bertha; Mr. P. B. Lewes as the scoundrel Leonard Kenyon, her betrayer, is distinctly forcible; his accomplice, Val Raymond, is cleverly represented by Miss George de Lara; Miss Lulu Bowes daintily fills the part of Winifred Marshall; and the other characters are all filled in a manner which serves well to maintain the keen interest in the play.

The Empire.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Mark Sheridan, the comedian, irresistible as ever, is here on a return visit; Alexandre and Hughes are again vastly entertaining; Ada Martine submits a dainty turn as a comedienne; a smart skipping rope dance by the twin Sisters Anderson wins applause; the Four Figaros give a bright turn of "Ten minutes of Continental character impersonations and dancing"; Marjory Armstrong as The Little Stowaway is well supported in a well-staged dramatic sketch. Frank Cass gives an acceptable vocal comedy turn; Lena Verdi, comedienne, is eccentric in style; with clever dancing and originality, Russell Brandow wins hearty applause; and amusing pictures are shown by the Bioscope.

Palace Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. E. Harrison.—Carlton, the clever comedy card manipulator, is again eliciting hearty laughter here; he also introduces his smart illusion, "The Mysterious Cross," and subsequently he greatly interests his audience by exposing the trick; Alpho gives a clever turn as a ventriloquist; the Sisters Cora win favour as smart duettists and dancers; with an auto-harp and a mouth organ, Taree submits an original and clever turn; in his own quaint style Dave Samuels, the Hebrew comedian, elicits much laughter; the Hyde and Cody Trio, in a novel and funny acrobatic turn, are smart; with his intelligent dog Woof and some smart patter, Charles Banks is amusing; The Welsh Girl and the Artist is a capital musical comedy scena submitted by Gold and Sterling; and the Raymond's Bio-Tableaux interest and amuse the audience greatly.

BRIDLINGTON.—Royal Prince's Parade. — Manager, Mr. Charles Palmer.—The Sunday evening concerts are very popular, and Mr. Norfolk Megone is frequently introducing new pieces for the enjoyment of his audiences. On Sunday "Victory and Thanksgiving," a fine descriptive scena composed by Partridge, was admirably rendered. The vocalist this week is Mr. Fowler Burton, a popular baritone, who possesses a rich voice of great range. On Wednesday the famous Black Dyke Band gave two performances in the Floral Pavilion. The special turn in the Grand Pavilion this week is Captain Devereux and his clever dogs. The Flockton-Foster Entertainers continue their capital programme of songs and sketches, and the Loyal Dominion Animated Pictures are always very fine.

New Spa Gardens. — General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. Harry Tunbridge. — The new manager, who has so quickly made himself popular with both residents and visitors, was accorded his first complimentary benefit on Monday, when the large crowd who gathered in the various parts were regailed with plenty of entertainment. Under the glass dome the programme was contributed to by a host of talent, including the smart little company from the garden of a thousand lights, the Brownies, comprising Miss Maidie Field, Miss Maud Gardner, Miss Dorothy Webb, Mr. Crampton Bryant, and Mr. Charles Heslop. Mr. H. Flockton-Foster and his entertainers came over from the Parade and gave some of their choicest items. Mr. Surrie Lindon and his vaudevilles were very successful, Misses Olga Gray and Bertha Frey, and Messrs. Lindon, Bob White, and Percy Stanhope singing some of their most popular pieces; Miss Ethel Walker gave a clever turn at the piano; Mr. Alexander Tucker's song was very good; and Herr Simon Wurm and his Viennese band gave numerous items. In the theatre, which was packed, Mr. Gus Elen and his variety company contributed their share to the success of the benefit. In the grounds a successful confetti carnival took place, and was concluded by a fine display of fireworks by Messrs. Brock and Co. Mr. Harry Tunbridge received an ovation when he appeared on the stage to thank his patrons. He had, he said, given them the best of entertainments, and a proof of the popularity of what he had provided was the fact that on three occasions this season they had "broken the record" of attendance on the Spa. The theatre orchestra struck up "He's a jolly good fellow," and it was heartily taken up by the crowded house.

Spa Opera House.—Mr. Gus Elen and his talented variety company are here this week, and are giving some excellent programmes. The Elite Harmony Boys, five capital vocalists, present a high-class musical act; Messmates Ashore; George Phillips is a good vocalist and eccentric dancer; Miss Lilian Rigby gives a smart dancing act; and Mlle. Rossini introduces a well-trained troupe of performing dogs; Gus Hindell, as a comedian and teller of quaint stories, gains applause; and the Ernest Montefiore company represent The Little Colonel cleverly; Georgina Leno, daughter of the late famous comedian, proves herself a clever comedienne and dancer; the Westbrooks give a novelty dancing scena, Two Little Maids from School; and Sterling and Love in A Domestic Musical Squabble, combine melody and mirth effectively; Mr. Gus Elen sings some of his best songs to the great delight of the audience. "Wait till the work comes round" in particular being given with all those delicate touches of humour and effect to which Mr. Elen has accustomed us.

Summer Gardens.—Lessees, Messrs. Beanland, Bath, and Danton; Manager, Mr. Chas. Beanland.—Mr. Charles Danton had his annual benefit on Thursday, Aug. 20, when he had a full house, and presented a big programme, which was highly appreciated. Mr. Danton had the assistance of many of the artists who are appearing at the various places of amusement in the town, and "Charlie" introduced one of his choicest song and dance turns, to the delight of the great crowd which was present to testify to the popularity of this esteemed member of the trio who control the destinies of the popular Gardens.

BRIGHTON. — Grand Theatre. — Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ben Court.—Mr. T. E. Ward's company is here this week with Second to None, and is attracting good houses. Mr. Theo. Balfour achieves great success as Col. Sir Reginald Greystone; Miss Dorothy Clifton gives an admirable portrayal of Nell Greystone; Miss Mary Mallalieu is a great favourite as May Greystone; Mr. Frederick F. Loyd is highly effective as Captain Philip Mannering; Mr. Arthur D. Layland's Lieut. Archer Ballater, Mr. F. G. Maine's Sergeant Jack Horseman and Mr. Charles Halling's Frank Wilding merit praise; and much amusement is afforded by Mr. Louis Edmonde (Private Flutter), Miss Clarrie Yandell (Norah), and Mr. Allan Carruthers (Joe Ruggles). The remaining characters are ably sustained.

Alhambra.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. Ernest Lepard.—There is a good company here this week. George Lashwood, comedian, is as popular and successful as ever; Lily Burnand charms the audience with her delightful songs; John Grün Mark, "a modern Hercules," is warmly received; Belle Green is highly effective with her songs and imitations at the piano; Cestina is a clever comedy juggler and acrobat; C. H. Charlton is a capital conjuror; Percy Hannon, American baritone, sings in good style; Dot Hardy is a pleasing character comedienne; and the Alhambrascope pictures are excellent.

Hippodrome Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—An attractive programme is sustained here this week. Walter C. Kelly (the Virginian Judge), the American raconteur, gives a very enjoyable turn; the Permane Brothers, eccentric clowns, introduce with success Nightingales' Courtship; Picitt and Lizette, illusionists and pantomimists, are warmly applauded in The Crazy Cook; the Brothers Martin are clever xylophone artists; the Three Donals, herculean gymnasts, submit a good turn; Arthur Croxon is a clever mimetic comedian; Susie and Protti are skilful Parisian dancers; Thomas and Taylor are capital in the quick-change scena, Fun on the Midland; George Antill is a pleasing comedian; and the Barrascope pictures are amusing.

West Pier.—Secretary and Entertainment Manager, Mr. A. D. Norman.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company is here this week with Mrs. Ponderbury's Past. Mr. George Mudie merits unstinted praise for his excellent impersonation of Mr. Ponderbury; Miss Annie Stalman submits a splendid character study as Mrs. Ponderbury; Miss Florence Wix is a dainty Stella; Mr. Alfred Ibberson is an admirable Peter; and Mr. Drew Mackintosh is highly successful as Mervyn Thorpe.

Palace Pier Theatre.—Continuing their engagement here, Miss Annie Hughes and company are repeating Miss Tommy this week. Miss Annie Hughes gives a charming representation of the title-rôle; Mr. J. E. Cowell is admirable as Peter Hope; and others meriting commendation include Mr. Alex. Chumley (Wm. Cloud), Mr. Wylie A. Thompson (Flipp), Mr. Athol Stewart (Dick Danvers), Miss Elinor Foster (Mr. Morison), and Miss Vera Pole (Honour).

Court Theatre.—Lessee and Manageress, Mrs M. Barrasford; Secretary and Manager, Mr. Fred Bauer.—The animated pictures here attract large houses. A highly dramatic story is conveyed in The Child's Prayer and the Prodigal's Return is intensely moving and sympathetic in character. Ascot Sunday on the Thames is very interesting, and other admirable films include Useful Presents for a Child, Spot, the Dog Thief, The Music Master, Each in His Turn, The Cracksman, and A Kind-hearted Tramp.

BRISTOL.—Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—Mr. F. W. Bolam's company is here with The Sins of Society, the play being staged elaborately. Miss Grace E. Leslie plays in a very effective manner as Lady Marion; Miss Pattie Browne is pleasingly vivacious as Lady Goldbury; Mr. E. Vassall-Vaughan acts in good manly style as Sir Dorian March; Mr. C. F. Collings is sharp and consistent as Noel Ferrers; Miss Dorothy Giles is interesting as Lady Gwendolen Ashley; Mr. Frederick Annerley acts admirably as the gentlemanly pawnbroker, Mr. Morris; and Mr. Blake Adams presents an amusing exposition of James Hogg. All the remaining parts are in excellent hands.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. C. Alty.—The Love of the Princess is admirably staged here, the several heavy sets of interiors being most effective. The costumes and uniforms are all exceptionally good, the mounting generally is all that can be desired, and the play is both interesting and well performed. Miss Maud E. Ward and Mr. Wilson Coleman are both highly successful in their respective parts of the Princess Idalia and Prince Conrad Ramona; Miss Nellie Garside is pleasing as Lady Irene Ramona; Mr. Ernest E. Imeson is excellent as the traitor, Count Nicholas Danillo; Mr. W. F. Stirling is both dignified and impressive as the Prince Regent; Mr. George Antley is "too funny" as Duke Scarfe; Mr. Becket Bould and Mr. Graham Winsford do well as Lieut. Orlans and Zaroff; Miss Ellen Elmore is effective as Constantia; and Mr. E. H. Dobell is a little too demonstrative in the difficult part of the King of Illarnia.

Palace.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Treasurer, Mr. F. J. V. Welchman.—Fred Karno's company is here with the musical pantomimical extravaganza in three scenes entitled Saturday to Monday, the sketch obtaining much applause. Coram, ventriloquist, does an effective turn; Hayes and Merritt, trampolinists, are expert in their line; Victor and Louis, speciality comedians, are appreciated; Harry Zetter, comedian and dancer, is successful; Henry Hilton is a smart conjurer; and Les Zelovas are decidedly clever as acrobatic equilibrists. The performance concludes with interesting animated pictures by Vernon's Bioscope.

Empire. — Managing-Director, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Sid Macaire.—Hayman and Franklin, American Hebrew impersonators, amuse immensely with their farcical skit, A Suit for Divorce. Charles R. Whittle, comedian, is always a favourite here, his quaint style being very effective; Dick Kendall, comedian, obtains applause; Allen and Hall, cross-talk comedians and dancers, are appreciated; Lallie Brooke, comedienne, scores with her new scena, Girls, Past and Present; the Zampas, vaudeville artists and dancers, do an exceptionally smart turn; James Stewart is amusing as the "tramp at the piano"; and Ida Brophy is a pleasing sustained by Mr. Walter Dale as Billy Binks and Miss Kitty Russell as Kitty Snowdrop; Harold Kingston, the victim of the villainous machinations of Stephen Blight, is admirably played by Mr. Richard Vane; and Stephen Blight is in the capable hands of Mr. Stephen Langton; the accomplice of Blight, Flo Morton, is a good presentation by Miss Constance Médwyn; Miss Gertrude Sterroll cleverly portrays the unfortunate Maud Carruthers; Mr. Alex. Wilson Wynne as Paul Carruthers commands the full sympathy of the audience in his trials; Mr. Sidney Rennef as Jim Dixey and Miss Annie Brunnette as Mother Cable give good studies; and the small work of Mr. Matt Russell (Farmer Carruthers), Mr. G. H. Langley (Sir Edward Whybrow), and Mr. Fred Astley (Inspector Ferritt) is well done.

BURNLEY.—VICTORIA OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Hearty laughter is caused by the performance of Mr. John Leopold's company in The New Frivolity and The Houseboat. Mr. Watson Hume as Oliver Buckwheat is irresistible, and is capitally seconded by Mr. Willie Leopold as Sammy; Miss Amy Hall is very good as Lucy; and Daniel Teething is capably undertaken by Mr. John Leopold, jun. Jules Vermiglio is aptly portrayed by Mr. Chas. Goff; and other parts are in capable hands.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—An interesting feature of the programme here this week is a picture of the Burnley Flower Show being shown by the New Empire Theatroscope. The views were taken by the Empire operator, and are excellent work. The Bamboo Wille Brothers fully deserve their place at the head of the bill for their sensational hand and head balancing; on bicycles the Selbinis are perfectly at home, and perform novel and neat tricks; Martinett and Wallace thoroughly please with musical selections on Japanese bells, &c.; and the Greys (Adah and Lucien) delight the audience with operatic duets. Phyllis Seymore is a first-class dancer; Pete and Juno, coloured comedians, are very humorous; and Barney Noble sings songs with catchy choruses.

PALACE THEATRE AND HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Julius Simpson.—Mr. Harry Weldon's songs and patter quite convulse the audience; Tom Hearn, the laziest juggler on earth, maintains his reputation, and in addition keeps the audience laughing from start to finish; the Tally-Ho Trio, in a musical farce, The Three Buttercups, prove themselves a most pleasing harmonising trio; and Pheon and Pheon give selections on a variety of peculiar instruments. Mlle. Flora Lumière presents a turn of beautiful colour and clever dancing; and Renee Graham as a character-vocalist is well received, as also is Harry Sims, vocalist. Carr and Rose provide much amusement and good singing; Sladene, an aeronaut who made a parachute descent on Saturday last from the local flower show, gives a good turn on the trapeze. The Black Princess is shown by Raymond's Bio-tableaux.

BURTON-ON-TRENT.—NEW OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. H. G. Dudley Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. de Hague Body.—Mr. Hamilton Hill, Australian baritone, the possessor of a splendid voice, meets with instant success, and is heartily applauded Mozzetto, assisted by Button, gives a marvellous jugglery turn; Ethel Yorke, comedienne and singer, also shines. A refined and pleasing show is presented by the Emerson Girls; and a screaming absurdity, entitled The Tree of Truth, in which Braine and Lloyd appear, convulses the house. Mr. W. P. Dempsey is screamingly funny; and Bennett and Martell as the "shipwrecked mariners" score heavily. The Operascope is in evidence with some of the latest films.

BUXTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, The Buxton Gardens Co., Ltd.; Secretary and Manager, Mr. Arthur Willoughby.—For the first three nights this week Mr. Bannister Howard's company in The Belle of Mayfair occupied the Opera House stage. For the remainder of the week we had Miss Mabel Love in Lady Frederick.

CARDIFF.—NEW THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Robt. Redford.—Mr. J. Bannister Howard's company is here in Floradora.—Mr. Fred Eastman is seen once more in the rôle of Anthony Tweedlepunch, and a more intensely humorous impersonation could not be desired. Mr. Stanley White as Cyrus W. Gilfain displays great ability; and Mr. Savill Foster sings with much spirit and energy as Frank Abercoed. Mr. Herbert St. John as Captain Arthur Donegal is thoroughly well suited; and the character of Leandro loses nothing in the hands of Mr. Edwin Oxlee. Miss Edith Housley as Lady Holyrood is exceptionally good, her charming manner combined with her catchy songs making her part most pleasing. Miss Maisie Ellinger as Dolores has a wonderful soprano voice. Miss Lily Guillie as Angela Gilfain is also worthy of mention. The chorus is well looked after, and the staging is effective.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. S. Dring.—On Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, Mr. R. A. Roberts presented his stirring sketch, Dick Turpin, in which the five characters are cleverly undertaken by himself, and it is difficult to determine which is the most wonderful, the quick-changes are exceptionally fine acting. For the remaining nights, Ringing the Changes, is billed. Ella Shields is now quite a favourite here, her special style and quaint voice combining to make her rendering of Walking round the World most pleasing. A novel skit on the Aeroplane is introduced by Verno and Voyce, a couple who possess exceptionally fine voices; while the Cumberlands are marvels at trick cycling. Tom Parker is a merry comedian and expert dancer; a most mystifying turn is given by Fred Wilkinson, assisted by Miss Betty Wallar, their performance being extremely clever. The Leonards (Bob and Jennie) are smart in a comedy singing act; and Andy Fagan, comedian, gains much applause for his songs and able dancing. The Sisters Pine contribute a pleasant musical comedy act The Golf Girl and the Caddie. The bioscope as usual completes.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Rollo Balmain.—For the first time in Cardiff Mr. Hamilton Baines presents the stirring drama, Dark Deeds of the Night. The deep-scheming Dr. Mortimer Caine is impersonated by Mr. Frank Eaglesfield with assiduous care, the part being enacted with just the necessary intentness. As the mis-used Jack Brandon, Mr. Lewis De Burgh is capital and makes a manly hero. Mr. Fred Richards does well as Nicholas Pickles. A specially pleasing delineation of Dora Bardsley is submitted by Miss Hilda Merrilise, who imparts a gentle reading of the character. Miss Gwen Stewart is excellent as Ruth Maitland, and Mrs. Brandon is in the capable hands of Miss Jennie Bostock. Relieving comedy is supplied by Mr. Albert Hayzen (Tim O'Mallorey) and Miss Edith Bottomley (Polly Prince), the combination causing endless laughter.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Arthur Burton.—Tom and Marie Montramo appear in a refined drawing-room sketch, Do You Reverse, and the pair are accorded a hearty reception. Ryder Slone gained much applause on his last visit for the rendering of his well-known song "Sing-Sing," and with new numbers his popularity is now greater than ever. Old favourites also are Cullen and Carthy and little Cluley, comedians who cause unbounded merriment. Jock Walker is a good Scottish comedian and expert whistler; while Beattie and Blanche are smart vocalists and dancers. Dolly and Elsie, duettists and dancers; Billie Burford, chic comedienne, and a screaming absurdity on the bioscope complete.

CARLISLE.—H.M. THEATRE.—Lessees, Mr. Thos. Courtice and Mrs. R. Stowart M'Kim; Manager, Mr. Thos. Courtice.—For the tennis tournament week the enterprising manager, Mr. Thos. Courtice, has booked an attractive and highly-popular engagement in Miss Horniman's Répertoire Company. The company's previous appearance here in February last, when a flying matinée of Candida was given, proved a big success, and the remembrance of their fine performance has created intense interest in the present engagement. On Monday the house was packed in every part when Mr. Charles McEvoy's amusing comedy David Ballard was performed, and the excellent impersonations of the principal characters gave the greatest satisfaction to a delighted audience. In the title-rôle Mr. Iden Payne again proved himself an artist of unusual ability; his handling of this difficult and complex character left nothing to be desired, and he was warmly applauded. Miss Ada King was no less successful as Mrs. Ballard, her portrayal meeting with well-deserved approval. Mr. Charles Bibby's Percy Ballard was a careful and well-played study, and Mr. Lewis Casson and Mr. Jules Shaw contributed performances in which their sterling abilities were put to effective use. As Gladys Ballard Miss Penelope Wheeler scored an immediate success, and Miss Louise Holbrook as Louisa, and Miss Hilda Bruce Potter as Mercy, gave capital sketches of their respective characters. The piece was preceded by The Subjection of Kezia, in which Messrs. Charles Bibby and Lewis Casson and Miss Sybil Thorndike were seen to advantage. Candida, Widowers' Houses, and The Return of the Prodigal are also billed. A new comedy by Charles McEvoy, entitled When the Devil Was Ill, is also billed for production.

THE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Signor Rino Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. F. Morgan.—Miss Daisy Dormer had a most cordial reception on Monday, and her delightful style, excellent songs, and lively dancing soon made her a big favourite. Mr. J. W. Winton offers something novel in the way of ventriloquism, and well-deserved applause and roars of laughter greeted his efforts; Bert Woodward, the coon cyclist, Walter Emerson, the long comedian, and Barrett and Knowles, funny patterers and comedians, are all on return visits, and new songs and business make their turns more popular than ever. Wilman proves himself an expert and artistic performer on a variety of musical instruments, his cornet solos being perhaps the most appreciated. Yolande Noble, a charming singer of good songs, and some fine pictures by the Pepiscope complete the programme.

NEW PUBLIC HALL.—Lessee, Mr. Sydney Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Thomas France; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Uden.—Capital fare is provided here this week by the Animated Picture Co. The Blind Woman arouses keen interest, and the reproduction of the Marathon Race elicits hearty applause. Mike and Lena, in their Dutch speciality act, are a clever and amusing couple, the dancing of Mike being greatly appreciated.

CASTLEFORD.—ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor and Licensee, Mr. Chas. Gadsby; Business-Manager, Councillor Hy. Masterman, J.P.—Mr. Millar Anderson's company occupy the boards here this week with the drama For Her Husband's Sake. Mr. Robert Faulkner makes a capable Lieutenant Jack Seymour; Mr. Millar Anderson acts powerfully in the heavy part of Herbert Grey; in the part of Estelle Beaudet Miss Enid Ross leaves nothing to be desired. It is a good all-round company.

CHATHAM.—BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—Here we have Master Clark, billed as the pocket Vance, who sings clearly, and makes quite a hit; Bert and Dally give a duologue entitled The Variety Agent; Les Trippellos contribute an enjoyable musical entertainment; Miss Gladys Hooby and company present a sketch, The Violin Girl, which serves for the introduction of some melodious violin solos by Miss Hooby; Massona is a decidedly smart juggler; Sid Bandon scores with "I knew I was to blame"; Astley's American Circus is a complete little show, and roars of laughter are created by the equestrian efforts of the local lads; The Gentleman Burglar and There's a Smell of Smoke Here are admirably projected by means of Lacey's Erascope.

GAIETY THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Capt. H. E. Davis.—Gwennie Yeo is a neat dancer; Percy Maye is to be commended for his smart female impersonations; Tom Kelso and company score with their absurdity entitled The Yorkshire Servant; Florence Preis is appreciated in "Angus Macdonald" and "The Lost Chord"; Walter King is always well worth hearing; William Garland and Fred Douglas's company of coloured ladies and gentlemen make plenty of fun in A Trip to Coontown; The Adventures of Dolly is an interesting film; and special mention must be made of the appearance of Max Gruber and Miss Adela with their cleverly-trained elephant, horse, and pony.

CHESTER.—ROYALTY THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. B. Fountaine.—Another change in the bill of fare at this house is furnished by Messrs. Armadale and Warren's company, in F. Brooke Warren's sensational drama The Face at the Window. Owing to the illness of Mr. B. Hoggan-Armadale, the part of Le Loup was taken at short notice on Monday evening by Mr. Gilbert Hall, who is to be congratulated on his finished performance. Paul Gouffet has an admirable representative in Mr. Scott Leighton; Miss Elsie Marriott-Watson wins sympathy by her portrayal of Marie de Brisson. The comedy relief is safe in the hands of Mr. Henri Stewart as Peter Pottleberry, and Miss Louie Lonora as Babette.

COLCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Charles Macdona; Lessee and Manager, Mr. F. Graham Macdona.—Mr. Walter Melville's company, in The Soldier's Wedding, drew a very large house on Monday. Mr. Wingold Lawrence made a stalwart hero of Jack Brown; and Mr. Fredk. Biron very strongly presented the rôle of David Monroe. Mr. Beresford Whitcomb as Colonel Graham was both characteristic and clever; Mr. Johnny Chippendale as Tommy Spratt and Little Albert as Teddy Monroe introduced a touch of humour; a like remark applying to Miss Mattie Everett as Watchful Lizzie. Miss Marie McAulay gave a powerful portrayal of Julie de Beauvrais; and her accomplice in crime, Chas. Courteney, was capitally presented by Mr. Gerald Jordan. Miss Dorothy Richardson was a pleasing Nancy; Miss Mabel Lowe was true to life as Peggy; and Mr. Fred Yarnold made a nimble old Nat Lee.

HIPPODROME.—Joint Proprietors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. Jack de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ben de Frece.—"Electra's Bower," an electrically illuminated spectacle by Abdullah and La Superbe, is an uncommon and delightfully-staged novelty; mysterious Mr. C. sings agreeably, and his patter is smart; Maud Courtney goes uncommonly well, and in the duet with Mr. C. (who stands in the circle) gets an ovation; Winnie Stanhope sings a couple of well-written songs; Lillian Sivado is a pronounced success as a gymnast; the Dunlops are capital trick cyclists; and W. A. Harvie completes the bill.

CONSETT.—NEW THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lloyd Clarance.—Mr. Harry Foxwell's company, with An Abandoned Woman, is here. Mr. Herbert M. King and Mr. Frederick Hendry, as Captain Herbert Seaton and Sir Marmaduke Seaton, do full justice to their respective parts. Robert Saunders is well played by Mr. Herbert H. Young, and as Philip Malvoisin Mr. Wm. Fraser Brunner is all that can be desired. Mr. Freddy Myles as Paddy Boyle is excessively funny, keeping the house in roars of laughter. Miss Nellie Thorne Hallam is good as Eleanor Deane, and as Ninon Malvoisin Miss Ruth Zillwood is excellent.

CORK.—OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. John Horgan.—Mr. Leslie Faber's company opened here on Monday in Mr. H. A. Jones's play, The Liars, which was well received by a large audience. The Lady Jessica of Miss Winifred Arthur-Jones, daughter of the distingnished author, was a study, instinct with freshness and charm. As Edward Falkner, Mr. Lewis Willoughby was very effective; Mr. Leslie Faber, as Col. Sir Christopher Deering, afforded one of the best characterisations in the play; Miss Ethelwyn Arthur-Jones filled the minor rôle of Lady Rosamond Tatton with grace and spirit; Miss May Saker, as Dolly Coke, was altogether acceptable; Mr. Frank Bickley was an appealing Gilbert Nepean, and Frank Lathom, as the French Waiter, acquitted himself creditably. The staging and setting were excellent. On Tuesday The Manœuvres of Jane was given. Miss Winifred Arthur-Jones, as Jane Nangle, excelled herself; Mr. Leslie Faber, as Lord Bapchild, was very droll; Mr. Richard Neville gave a good study of Jervis; Mr. Lewis Willoughby, as George Langton, filled the part with distinction; Mr. Nange was well taken by Mr. Victor Widdicombe; Miss Ethelwyne Arthur-Jones made a capital Constantia Gage; and Mrs. Beechiner was capably enacted by Miss Elizabeth Watson.

COVENTRY.—THE OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm. Bennett.—A first visit of the musical comedy, The New Girl, is being paid to the above house. Miss Rosa Bennett gives a charming interpretation of the leading rôle, and is responsible for some pleasing musical numbers. Mr. Edgar McIntyre appears as Harry Harrow, and shows that he possesses a fine voice. Mr. Edward Colman gives a characteristic impersonation of Col. Buller, V.C.; and Miss Victoria Douglas is successful in the rôle of Martha Grimm. Humour, too, is not lacking in the impersonations of Mr. Ralph Lynn (Bertie Holbrook), Mr. Kenneth Black, jun. (Brown, a butler), and Miss Ivy Leighton (Cerise, a French girl).

HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. Lennox Barry.—Ischernoff presents an attractive act with a number of well-trained animals, including ponies, dogs, and pigeons, who perform the most astounding tricks. Another very good turn is presented by Fred Kitchin and Frank Lister's company, and introduces an episode of Australian life, entitled The Sundowner. An acceptable performance is given by Slippere, the blind entertainer; and other items are submitted by Arthur Gallimore Trio, Chant and Chant, Ross and Grayson, Minnie D'Aubyn, and May Martin.

THE EMPIRE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. George Dance; Manager, Mr. K. Draco.—Mr. Fred Ginnett's company is again here with the well-known story of Dick Turpin's Ride, in which the marvellous performance of the horse Black Bess is displayed. Mitchell and Cain are comedians of a very entertaining order. The Four Jumels are very clever instrumental musicians. Mr. Fred Lincoln appears with his scena, My Pal Jemmy, with success. Other artistes who capably contribute are Mena Brae in a répertoire of songs; Charles Chard, comedian; Annie Casey, comedienne, the programme concluding with animated pictures.

CREWE.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. G. Dudley Bennett; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chas. Howard.—Mr. Fred Karno's company in His Majesty's Guests, is drawing good houses here this week. Mr. George Hestor is the Sergt. Lightning, and his appearance was always the signal for an outburst of merriment; Mr. Rupert Stutfield makes a capital Lord Easem; Mr. Chas. Usher is suitably placed as Mr. Miffin; Mr. Sid Kearns is exceedingly funny as the Rev. Minks; and Mr. J. Richardson is good as Bunker. As Lady Maud Easem, Miss Aggie Morris establishes herself a favourite; and Miss Edith Ager is a dainty Dolly Miffin. Miss Kitty Brunton as Miss Manley is quite the regulation type of a new woman.

CROOK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Wallace Davidson, Ltd.; Resident-Manageress, Mrs. Wallace Davidson.—As a special attraction here this week Mr. W. Graham Arthurs and company occupy the boards with the drama, Every Inch a Man. As Dick Barnet, Mr. W. Graham Arthurs is excellent, and well merits the applause bestowed; Miss Mabel Liston is very pleasing as Vera Maxwell; Mr. Sylvester Stuart as Daniel Barnet makes a capital villain; whilst Alderman Barnet is capably represented by Mr. Ralph A. Armfield. The part of Teddy Edwards falls to Mr. Frank Masters, who carries it through with great humour; Miss Kate Raby Hughes is good as Mrs. Edwards.

CROYDON.—HIPPODROME AND NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Joint-Managers, Messrs. Samuel James and Newman Maurice.—The programme here is above the average. Mr. J. Wright Aitken gives a vivid and capable rendering of the rôle of Victor Margo in the dramatic sketch The Devil's Hand, and is supported by an admirable company; the Sisters Harcourt are captivating duettists and dancers; Cissy Esdalle, comedienne, makes her songs go with a swing; Harry Bent is an entertaining comedian; Merry and Bright, comedians, submit a smart patter turn; the animated picture The Professor's Discovery is very amusing; and Winnie Scott, comedienne and dancer, is well received. The one-act drama Beneath a Mask affords scope for commendable acting by Mr. J. Wright Aitken as Gilbert Harrington; Mr. Herbert Claremont deserves praise as Jack Saunders; Miss Millie Silvestre as a lively servant, Jane; and Miss Uno Linlee scores in the dual rôle of Madge Harrington and May Saunders. Mr. Frank Bradsell is an able musical director.

PUBLIC HALL.—Messrs. Gale and Polden's fine series of animated pictures, exhibited here by Mr. Ernest Mansell, is greatly appreciated by large audiences. The pictures are exceptionally clear and steady, and the subjects are selected with care and judgment. Miss Maude Evelyn sings illustrated songs with excellent effect, and Miss Madge White proves herself a mimic of ability in her impersonations of Miss Zena Dare, Miss May Henderson, and Mr. Geo. D'Albert.

DARLINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Bell; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hal Cummings.—Miss Maud Hildyard and company are here with The Great Awakening. Miss Maud Hildyard, who appears at the above for the first time since her return from her Australian tour—and she is supported by a talented company—as Lola Selby alias Lady Merton, plays engagingly and with judgment; Mr. Wallis Clark as James Selby plays with power; Captain Harry Lambert is ably rendered by Mr. Dudley Wynton; Miss Fay Garnet-Vagulen as Molly Merton, distinguishes herself; Mr. Cecil Gray as Sir Henry Merton fill the rôle in able manner; Miss Cissie Podmore and Mr. J. Bancroft are both well to the front in their respective rôles of Selina Worts and Gibbs, added to whom are Mr. Herbert Robinson as Guy Rogan, Mr. Rule Pyott as Billy Brass.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Theatre, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Signor Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Hersee.—The dominating element of this week's bill is furnished by Miss Florrie Forde, who has an enthusiastic reception; Adams and Ward, comedy acrobats, provide much mirth in their work; Harry Class, assisted by Miss Alice Tremayne, in their burlesque, The Demon and the Fairy, are an excellent turn; other attractions are Minnie Mace, comedienne and dancer; the Bohemians, instrumentalists and comedy artists; J. G. Aitkens, Scotch comedian; Spencer and Marks, comedians; and the Pepiscope with new series of pictures.

DARWEN.—PUBLIC HALL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Lessees, Messrs. Thomson, Leivers, and Bennett; Residential-Manager, Mr. J. B. Thomson; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. Kerrigan.—This popular palace reopened on Saturday last, after alterations and renovations, with three benefit performances for the Darwen Football Club and Children's Christmas Treat, when, in addition to excellent pictures from the Bioscope, several well-known local amateurs gave their services. Monday evening and during the week capital turns have been given by Edie Camm and Will Andrews, American comedy artists; Joe Atkin, eccentric comedian; Ben Grey, banjoist; Gracie Hunt, chorus vocalist; and Tommy Vaughan, a clever clog dancer.

DERBY.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Denley; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Langley Wyatt.—An excellent programme here this week is headed by Tom Costello, whose well-rendered songs earn him unstinted applause; Ernest Charles Gittins' company present a condensed version of The Daughter of the Regiment, in which Mlle. Adele Prescott scores heavily, her singing being greatly admired; Duncan and Brasque appear to advantage in a neat little sketch, entitled Bluff; Laurie Bros. are responsible for a clever acrobatic turn; Lord, Murray and Lord give an amusing boxing and speciality act; the Lovelaces are agreeable American song illustrators; Sisters Florenci are pleasing duettists and dancers; and George Willard's marionettes are also entertaining. The Bioscope concludes with a dramatic picture, entitled "Driven by Hunger."

DONCASTER.—NEW GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. W. Chapman.—Mr. Edward Compton made his appearance here on Monday, when he and his company gave a representation of The School for Scandal. Mr. Compton himself enacted the rôle of Charles Surface (with his song, "Here's to the maiden," for the 1,023rd time), and his fine rendering and cultured enunciation enhanced the reputation the popular actor already enjoys; Mr. Henry Croker was warmly received as Sir Peter Teazle, and gave proof of rare acting abilities; Mr. Henry Worrall was quite equal to the demands of the rôle of Joseph Surface, and made a lasting impression; the assumption of Lady Sneerwell by Miss Kathleen Leigh was a triumph, and she, with Miss Marie Hassall as Mrs. Candour and Miss Constance Merton as Maria, constituted a trio of exceptional charm. Miss Viola Compton portrayed Lady Teazle with daintiness and delightful femininity. On Tuesday the company staged The Gentleman in Grey, and Wednesday Davy Garrick, the theatre being packed from floor to ceiling.

DOUGLAS.—THE GRAND THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Hemming; Business-Manager, Mr. T. R. Wood.—Miss Ellen Terry has been welcomed this week by houses large and appreciative. The stage work of Mr. George Bernard Shaw read in the study would at first outlook appear caviare to the general, but illumined by Miss Terry's talent and experience, Captain Brassbound's Conversion has proved irresistible. It is an exquisite impact of comedy, pathos, humanity, and observation. Miss Terry's superb impersonation of Lady Cicely Waynfleete has charmed visitors and residents alike. The support given by her company is admirable. Mr. James Carew as Captain Brassbound has caught the author's whimsical intention exactly; the Rev. Leslie Rankin of Mr. Story Gofton is impressive; other characters are remarkably well enacted by Mr. George Fitzgerald, Mr. Max Montesole, Mr. Guy Addison, Mr. Herbert Lomas, Mr. David Hallam, Mr. Sydney Travers, and the members of the company. The scenery is entirely satisfying, and the stage-management of Mr. Frank Powell all that could be desired.

GAIETY, LTD.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Gray.—The attraction here this week is The Dairymaids, played by Mr. Robert Courtneidge's principal company. Miss Phyllis Dare makes a great popular success, and she sings her numbers with vivacity; Miss Edith Blanche as Lady Brudenell is quite an up-to-date lady of fashion; Mr. F. Stalham Staple is all there as Sam Brudenell; Mr. Percy Marshall revels in the part of Dr. O'Byrne; and Mr. Harry Dent exhibits his qualities as a comedian in the character of Joe Mivens.

PALACE, LTD.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brittain.—The attendances here this week have almost beaten the record. Mr. Bransby Williams, the Dickensian character-actor, has made a pronounced hit; Mr. Wilson Hallett's juvenile imitations are greatly appreciated; the Delavones have a quaint comedy act, Flipp and Flopp, in which they shine; Mr. Ernie Myers is a capital raconteur and patterer, his japes being funny without being vulgar. Other turns, and clever ones, are Ouida Macdermott, vocal actress; Lillie Lonsdale, ballad singer; and Selbo, a graceful juggler with Indian clubs. In the ball room, dancing, with an interval for animated pictures, is greatly appreciated. Mr. Harry Wood's orchestra and Deutschlanders entertainers give popular alfresco entertainments in the afternoon.

MISS HETTY KING is the great draw at Derby Castle, where she appears in the Ball Room to enthusiastic applause. In the Opera House also there is a strong programme. Miss Edi and Ramsden appear very successfully in a musical duologue, Charley's Visit; Burley and Burley are clever acrobatic fun-makers; the Violas puzzle the more serious-minded with their exhibition of the physical possibilities of mental telepathy; Mr. W. B. Raby is a laughter-maker who causes genuine hilarity by legitimate means; Miss Jennie Hartley is a soubrette who possesses chic; and Professor Norton is a dexterous slight-of-hand exploiter. There are dance competitions on Wednesday and Friday, and the well-laid-out gardens are specially illuminated.

OTHER amusements in Douglas are Mr. F. I. Connor's Hippodrome. Here Litle Mona Connor, equestrienne, and Whimsical Walker still add to their popularity. The programme also contains Josie Morney, character impersonator, animated pictures, clowns, jugglers, acrobats. Mr. Fred Buxton's Parrots and Tea Village; the programme is sustained by twenty artists, all of whom have distinct value. Messrs. Adeler and Sutton's Minstrels on Onchan Head draw crowded audiences to their refined and clever show. Mr. Charles Dare's variety programme and animated pictures and his Burnt Cork Comedians are on Douglas Head.

DOVER.—ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Sidney W. Winter; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. T. G. Whitelock.—The top of the bill is taken by Miss Beaumont Collins and company, in the very dramatic sketch, The House of Terror; Mr. Leonard Teel is an eccentric comedian, who meets with due recognition; the Four Spanish Goldenis are warmly applauded for their effective electrical speciality act; Miss Marie Goodwin is a refined and pretty comedienne, who finds great favour; J. W. Young is an entertaining knock-about comedian; Dacey and Lewis contribute a combined vocal and acrobatic act; and the Denebos appear in a musical turn.

DUBLIN.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mrs. Michael Gunn; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Hyland.—A large and fashionable audience was present here on Monday night to welcome The Merry Widow, presented by Mr. George Edwardes' company, with Miss Lily Elsie in the title-rôle. The charming comedienne won the admiration of the audience by her charming and captivating portrayal of Sonia, and was loudly applauded. Mr. Leonard Mackey acted and sung with considerable skill as Prince Danilo; Vicomte Camille had a capital representative in Mr. W. Tailleur Andrews; and Miss Ethel Cadman was particularly good in the rôle of Natalie. Mr. Eric Thorne gave an exceedingly funny impersonation of Baron Popoff; and Olga was capitally portrayed by Miss Sylvia May. Mr. W. H. Rawlins gave a good account of himself as Nisch; as the Marquis De Cascada and General Novakovitch Messrs. Somers Bellamy and Theodore Leonard were both successful; and Miss Kathleen Courtney deserves credit as Sylvaine. The chorus, dresses, and scenery were excellent.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Parrington.—The Gay Gordons, which entered on its second week here on Monday, is proving as strong an attraction as on the opening night, Miss Ellaline Terriss and Mr. Seymour Hicks adding materially to their laurels in the chief rôles. Mr. Johnny Danvers continues to amuse as Nervy Nat, and is well supported by Mr. George Carroll as Edmund Siddons. Mis Dorothy Ward is as engaging as ever as Victoria Siddons; Mr. E. Lugg is a capital Edward Quainton; and Miss Sydney Fairbrother makes an excellent Charlotte Siddons. The cast as a whole is a strong one, and the mounting of the piece elegant and picturesque.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. W. S. Pearce; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Hereford Jones.—A change of pictures, which have caught on thoroughly, includes The Poisoner, Always Too Late, Tommy's Torch, The Interrupted Courtship, The Burglar and the Clock, The Pirates, and The Little Cripple. The turns presented by Melford and Mars, vocal comedy entertainers; Volta, comedy gymnast; and Bob Pearson, humorist and guide, are highly appreciated.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. Marsh.—The chief attraction here this week is Mr. Fred Lindsay, whose remarkably clever feats with the whip are loudly applauded; the Beau Ideal Troupe of Juveniles, in a pretty garden scena combining mimicry, songs, and dances, score a decided success; Kloof and Ramsay, in a smart comedy act, keep the audience in excellent humour; Mayme Cannon, a refined comedienne, is an acknowledged favourite; and Camillo Feo, a dainty song and dance artist, meets with a warm reception. The Brothers Weltman present a smart acrobatic and dancing act, which is well received; Eugene Brandt, eccentric comedian, is an amusing turn; and the Empire pictures continue to add to the evening's enjoyment.

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Secretary, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—At the head of a good all-round programme here is Vasco, "the mad musician," who scores an immense and well-deserved success; Blake and Amber are entertaining as burlesque artists; and Miss Helen Charles in her drawing-room act is well received. Pete and Minnie Lee cause great amusement in a musical-comedy act entitled The Scotchman in London; and some dainty dancing and pleasant singing come from the Sisters Brooke. Excellent also are Alexander and Bertie in a clever gymnastic display. Les Ados, Herculean marvels; Lozelle, in a novel speciality act; and the Bioscope depicting The Braggart.

ROUND ROOM.—The Irish Animated Photo Company have entered on their third week, and are doing excellent business. The pictures form a powerful attraction, and include the Franco-British Exhibition, London, Wild Birds at Home, The Marathon Race, Over the Sticks, and The Dieppe Motor Car Races. The vocal items contributed by Miss Daisy Buckley, Mr. Patrick O'Shea, Miss Dorothy Hall, and Mr. William Sheehan are also keenly appreciated.

ANTIENT CONCERT ROOMS.—Jack Johnson, "the boxing star," is appearing here and giving exhibitions of the noble art to full houses nightly. He is supported by a capital vaudeville company, including Lena Lewis, a charming sentimental vocalist; Gilroy and Gross, an amusing pair of comedians; James Dunne, in a smart musical comedy act; Rosie Young, a pleasing comedienne; and Will Yew and Ella Dear, comedy artists.

PAVILION (KINGSTOWN).—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler and Sutton; Manager, Mr. Jack Macdermot.—Mr. Malcolm Scott, in his refined and laughable entertainment, is paying a return visit here this week, and his reception has been very cordial. In addition there are Miss Lulu Gillespie, a charming soprano, who is accorded a hearty reception; Mr. Claude Gardiner, a capital vocal comedian; Mr. Albert Chapman, a baritone vocalist of more than ordinary merit; and Mr. Forshaw Kennedy, solo pianist.

TOWN HALL (KINGSTOWN).—Poole's Myriorama is here this week, and the varied and interesting entertainment is visited by large audiences nightly. Foremost amongst the variety artists appearing are George French's Troupe of acrobatic cyclists; Harry Dowsett, a diverting comedian; Learto and his dog "Babs" in a smart musical comedy act; Miss Phyllis St. Clare, a pleasing operatic vocalist; and the Snow Family, eccentric knockabout skaters.

World's Fair and Music Hall.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The programme here this week is a good one, and includes The Percys, speciality performers; W. H. Rollason, baritone vocalist; Harry Rose, comedian and dancer; Marion Blake, descriptive vocalist; Josephine McEvoy, serio and dancer; Will Sitman, versatile comedian; and the Cinematograph.

DUDLEY.—Opera House.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. Maurice Clement; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. Tilley.—Juno, a three-act musical play, is creating excitement here. The principal work centres round the part of Timothy Twinkle, played by Mr. Charles Leverton, who is the life and soul of the piece; he is ably supported by Miss Kate Graham Beck, the possessor of a commanding figure and a good voice, who plays the title-rôle; Miss Marie Beresford is a vivacious and charming Priscilla Strong. Both of these ladies receive well-merited encores. Miss Lena Howard as Lottie Stimson proves to be a cultured little actress; Mr. Fred Carrington as Samuel Strong gives a good character study; Miss Fanny Morse is thoroughly at home as Mrs. Marie Strong; the continental dances of Les Papillions are well applauded.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred H. Anderson; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. H. Waters.—Crowded houses are patronising the excellent programme here this week. The head of the bill is occupied by Yamamoto and Miss Koyoshi, equilibrists, who are responsible for a performance that is clever, neat, and graceful; a welcome return visit is paid by the Watson Family in their clever and amusing vocal and musical mélange; Matt Wilkinson and Co. introduce good comedy in their sketch, On the Flip Flap; Violet Beatrice is a pleasing boy impersonator; Mike Asher, comedian and dancer, is one of the best; and Bert and Dora, favourite comedy artists, are much appreciated; Percy Parrimond, Lancashire singing collier, is also good. The Empire pictures are always up-to-date.

EASTBOURNE.—Devonshire Park Theatre.—Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Murray, King, and Clark.—Mr. F. Mouillot's company began a three nights' stay on Monday with The Girl Behind the Counter. Miss Grace Moore looked the part of Winnie Willoughby to perfection, and her acting and singing left nothing to be desired; Mr. Sam Lockridge was an eminently suitable representative of Charles Chetwyn, his songs being much appreciated; Mr. Ferris Pounds was responsible for a particularly clever dude impersonation as Viscount Gushington; Mr. Clarke Chadwick was an immensely funny General Sir Wilkie Willoughby; Mons. Claude Dampier was capital as the volatile Monsieur Duval; Mr. Geoffery Allsop made an excellent Rudolph, and Mr. Frederick Park was an untiring worker as Adolphus Dodds; and Mr. A. M. Moore furnished a neat sketch of a waiter at the Baron's Court Exhibition; Miss Irene Vere was an especially charming Millie Mostyn; Miss Irene Lavington was seen to advantage as Susie; Miss Eileen Clanford did well the little allotted her as Ninette, and Miss Winifred Knightly was a sufficiently dignified Lady Willoughby. Zena Dare and Stanley Brett in The Gay Gordons provide the week-end attraction.

Royal Hippodrome.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Sidney W. Winter; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Holloway.—This week's bill is headed by the Stella Girls, whose smart marches and dances, combined with their particularly attractive appearance, render their turn very popular; an Indian scena, Black Eagle, in which T. W. Watts, H. Scadden, and Agnes Tayler appear, provides an exciting quarter of an hour; Flo Challis is very popular with her songs and mimicry; Esmonde and Evelyn's comedy sketch, The Express Baby, evokes hearty laughter; Charles Gardiner's songs and patter are keenly enjoyed, and the entertainment further includes Harry Cook, comedian; the Nic-Knacks, in a comedy act including much clever dancing, and the Hippodrome pictures.

Pier Pavilion Theatre.—Manager, Mr. G. Hayes.—Mr. Robert Courtneidge's production of The Dairymaids commenced a three nights' engagement on Monday. Miss Clara Marsden's Peggy was a veritable tower of strength to the performance, her various vocal numbers being loudly applauded; Miss Clarice Lockstone's Winifred merits the highest commendation, her acting and singing being alike excellent; Messrs. Nelson Keys and A. Wykes Ashdowne were admirable representatives of Lieuts. Sam Brudenell and Frank Meredith respectively, the former's methods being especially mirth-provoking; a clever pair are Mr. Johnny Osborne (who never spared himself as Joe Mivens) and Miss Gladys Silvani (a particularly good Eliza)—their duet in the second act was one of the most popular features of the performance; Mr. J. A. Warden was in every respect excellent as the genial Dr. O'Byrne; Miss Mabel Younge's was a quite suitable portrayal of Lady Brudenell; and Mr. Harry Cottell as Tim Capus, Miss Madge Avery as Miss Penelopé Pyechase, and Miss Dorothy Laine as Helen were satisfactory. The Thief now holds the boards.

EDINBURGH.—Royal Lyceum Theatre, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Minshull; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. M. Downie.—Mr. Herbert Greville's company, in Merely Mary Anne, give a successful interpretation of a difficult play. In the name-part, Miss Jessica Solomon shows aptitude and versatility, which obtain for her hearty recognition and appreciation all through the piece; Mrs. Leadbatter, the lodging-house keeper, and her daughter, Rosie, are typically presented by Miss Violet Greville and Miss Florence Radcliffe; and the aristocratic ladies who appear in the last act find suitable exponents in Miss Lester Stephen, Miss Ethel Carlyle, Miss Stella Farmer, Miss Grace Lovell, and Miss Mary Colquhoun. The leading male rôle of Lancelot is effectively rendered by Mr. Martin Roland, who is ably seconded by Mr. Stanley Logan, in the part of Peter; and both the Vicar and the music publisher are amusingly sketched by Mr. Robert Entwhistle and Mr. Herbert Smale; while the characteristics of various types of men and women are capably indicated by Mr. Arthur Foster as the journalist, Mr. Harold Everard as the medical student, Mr. H. Montagu Love as a member of the Automobile Club, and Miss Enid Hall and Miss Vera Lisle as a pair of music hall dancers.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Whitehead.—Mr. Leigh Lovel's company, with a répertoire of Ibsen's plays, has afforded interesting opportunities for those who are curious about, or admirers of, the works of the famous dramatist. The series presented here during the week included The Master Builder, A Doll's House, Hedda Gabler, and Rosmersholm, in the interpretation of all of which a gratifying measure of success was attained. In the first-named piece Mr. Lovel's rendering of Halvard Solness was effective and praiseworthy, and the Hilda Wangel of Miss Octavia Kenmore was a charming and meritorious impersonation; while Miss Katherine Maynard as the master builder's wife, Miss Gladys Morris as the attractive clerkess, and Mr. Claud W. Sykes as the old architect, with Mr. E. Stanley Yorke as his son, were all satisfactory in their respective rôles. In A Doll's House, Miss Kenmore gave an artistic portrait of Nora Helmer; Mr. Lovel played Jervald Helmer with reserve and discretion; and careful study marked the acting of the rest of the players already mentioned. The same commendable characteristics were further indicated by all the performers in the production of Hedda Gabler and Rosmersholm.

Empire Palace Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Aynsley Cook.—Although no very prominent stars are engaged here this week, an exceedingly pleasant two hours' entertainment has been provided. Carrie Laurie's Juveniles, in The Model School speciality, contribute a very bright and enjoyable turn of songs and dances, the youthful comedian of the troupe affording much amusement. The racing and musical sketch submitted by Edward Clark and his six winning widows is made attractive by good singing and dancing, and some quaint philosophising. Spectators are instructed in the antics of remote ancestors in watching the interesting and clever performance of Maud Rochez and a theatrical company of monkeys; and Harry Tate's combination in Motoring, and Arthur Jefferson and company in Home from the Honeymoon produce sketches brimful of merriment. Bessie Butt is a lively soubrette and smart dancer; the Musical Schafers give a somewhat unusual but very melodious turn; Howe and Ardie show great skill in their gymnastic act; Dale and O'Malley are very amusing singers and patterers; and the Bioscope pictures are of the usual high standard of excellence.

EXETER.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Dr. E. Domville, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy M. Dunsford.—Mr. Horace Stanley and company, in The 10.30 Down Express, were welcomed on Monday evening on their return visit. Miss Cora Linda's personation of Bessie Leigh was most realistic, whilst the Jack O'Malley of Mr. T. Arthur Plummer appealed in a very forcible manner to the playgoers. Mr. F. W. Wilberforce as James Inderwick sustained the character of the villain to perfection. Both Mr. Chauncey Morris as Huntly Mason from Scotland Yard and Mr. A. Burton as Bessie's father were exceedingly good; Miss Kate Kilpack was very taking in the lighter part of the drama as Peggy Potts, and she was smartly supported by Mr. Horace Stanley as Sam Wagstaffe.

FALKIRK.—Grand Theatre and Opera House, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace W. Ebbutt.—Mr. J. Rice Cassidy's company is here with In Holy (!) Russia. Mr. J. Rice Cassidy appears in the rôle of Micky Nolan, the humorous servant, and he acts the part well; Mrs. J. Rice Cassidy gives a capable representation of Renée Rubinoff; the rôle of Colonel Richard Forrest is ably filled by Mr. Henry Compton, while Mr. Jerold E. Reed cleverly acts as Michael Natolski (captain of the Russian Guards); as Laurice Steragoff (a Nihilist leader) Mr. Carl Rovinelli does well.

FARNWORTH.—Queen's Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. T. Morton Powell.—This week Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company in The Power of the King is here. Mr. Travis Green is entrusted with the responsible part of the Crown Prince Oscar, and proves himself a finished actor; Mr. Charles Whitlock as the King of Vallambrosa gives a sound rendering of a by no means easy character; Captain Rupert Langrage has an excellent representative in Mr. Gerald Blake; Mr. J. H. Firman does all possible with the part of General Stenovie; Miss Lelia Zillwood as Lady Annastasia gives a capital and well-thought-out impersonation; whilst Miss Georgina V. France as Lady Glorina is to be complimented on her rendering of the part.

FLEETWOOD.—Queen's Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. J. Snelson.—Rich and Poor of London is occupying the boards this week. Miss Dora Dench as May Braithwaite, a hospital nurse, is decidedly clever, and her scenes with Mr. T. Ronald (Dr. Leonard Morton) are very well done; Mr. S. Dench, who takes the part of Spider Jack, "a one-man band," is the life and soul of the piece.

Co-operative Hall.—The Loyal British Empire Animated Picture Co. are now in their fifteenth week. On Wednesday Mr. Thos. Robinson, the popular manager, took a well-earned benefit.

FOLKESTONE.—Pleasure Gardens Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland.—Mr. George Edwardes's company in The Merry Widow drew large houses during the first three nights of the week. A very clever impersonation of Prince Danilo was given by Mr. Frank Greene, who sang and acted with great success; Miss Mysie Devine played the title-rôle most effectively; Miss Ada Thomas as Natalie was heard to advantage in her vocal efforts; Mr. Edward D'Arcy was responsible for a humorous rendering of Baron Popoff, and Mr. Fred Fowler as Nisch was all that could be desired. Mr. Robert Courtneidge's company in The Dairymaids were due the second half of the week.

Victoria Pier.—Manager, Mr. Robert Forsyth.—Taka, the champion Japanese wrestler, is paying a return visit here this week, and some very exciting bouts are gone through; Mr. Ernest E. Neale, tenor, renders some good songs; Old Kildare is a musical comedy sketch, in which Mr. George Kirk and Miss Flo Kennedy cause much amusement; Mr. Charles Leighton, at the piano, displays his ability as a comedian and entertainer; Salida and Vone, American Creole dancers, are exceedingly clever; Miss Eva Rosslyn is a chic comedienne; Miss Gertie Rothenbury, assisted by Mr. Charles Shildon, mystify the audience with their performance, entitled The Master Mystery.

GATESHEAD.—King's Theatre.—Lessees, The United County Theatres, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harold Arnold.—The Mirthful Mariners, a musical burlesque, by Will Probyne, Brooklyn, and company, is quite a refreshing act; McDonald and Huntingdon have a bright American speciality; the Wood-Bee Wonders present a clever acrobatic novelty; Lily Flexmore is an "extraordinary" girl; Cliff Ryland indulges in some quaint story-telling; and Maud Prenton, comedienne, Jimmy Shields, one-legged comedian, and the usual pictures make up a good programme.

Metropole Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. F. W. Bolam; General-Manager, Mr. R. G. Elder.—Lingford Carson's novelty drama The Great White Chief has pleased good audiences here this week. Notable features are the impersonations of Leo Stanley, Reindeer, and Latika by Mr. Mansell Fane, Mr. Carson, and Miss Pollie Denville respectively.

GLASGOW.—King's, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Macfarlane.—Considerable pleasure is being derived from the return visit of Mr. Lionel Rignold and Miss Ada Blanche and their company with What the Butler Saw. In the part of Pink Mr. Rignold gives an exceedingly clever and humorous portrayal, the various mirth-provoking scenes being carried out in fine style. Mrs. Barrington has an able exponent in Miss Ada Blanche, who wins applause for an admirable representation. Mr. Charles Fawcett has a good opportunity of displaying his abilities in the part of Jack Barrington. Abram Wiensten is ably handled by Mr. Harry H. Rignold, and the Sir Charles Foden of Mr. Raymond Dudley is a fine interpretation.

Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Humphrys.—A good audience on Monday heartily enjoyed the humour and sentiment of Captain Drew on Leave as presented by Miss Nora Carton's company. Mr. Claude King is excellent as Captain Drew, and gave a very fine performance throughout. Equally good is the Mrs. Moxon of Miss Cynthia Brooke, who was particularly strong in the striking scene which concludes the third act. Miss Nora Carton acted with much animation as the heiress, Miss Mills, and her somewhat dull fiancé was humorously played by Mr. Willox Cadogan. Mr. Gerald Venning as the scheming Chester Hassell, and Mr. Tom Mowbray as the staid husband, George Moxon, gave able support. Miss Lydia Hayward as the maid completed the cast. The comedy was preceded by the favourite old farce Cut Off with a Shilling.

Princess's.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch.—Miss Lois Edmond and her company opened here on Monday with a good sound representation of their well-known play The Sorrows of Satan. Mr. Edward Neville as Prince Lucio is as strikingly effective as ever; Miss Edmond repeats her characteristic impersonation of the American girl Diana Chesney; the part of Geoffrey Tempest is still played by Mr. F. Douglas Howard with excellent results; as Mrs. Grimes Miss Cecil Byrne displays acute perception of character; in the part of Lady Sybil the bearing of Miss Rosie Neville is admirable; and a refined portrayal of Mavis Clare is given by Miss Hilary Burleigh. The play is preceded by the farcical sketch The Green-Eyed Monster. The Sarah Bernhardt play Nana was billed for Thursday and Friday evenings, along with a curtain-raiser, Two Soft.

Metropole, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Gordon Jefferson.—Mr. Lingford Carson's company is here this week, presenting The Power of the Cross, in which the author, Mr. George A. De Gray, plays the weird character of Baron Wolfe Curzola. Miss Stella Carmichael gives a good rendering of the adventuress Rita, while the part of her accomplice is well presented by Mr. Francis Serle as Benjamin Hawke. Plentiful comedy is supplied by Miss Etta Turner as Dolly Gray and Mr. Tyrone Power as Timothy O'Dowd. Miss Annie Hylton gives an excellent impersonation of a much tried wife, the erring husband being ably played by Mr. Robert Hall. Mr. Alexander J. Haviland gives a natural rendering of Dr. Leslie Fairfax.

Lyceum.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. H. Oakden.—This week the patrons have been served up with an entertainment to their taste by Tom H. Taylor's company in the sensational drama entitled Is Life Worth Living? in which Mr. Ernest Owttrim (Lionel Roy) sustains his rôle with dignity and manliness, Miss Lilian Earle (Madge Roxton) acts with refinement and sympathy, Miss Jeanne Burgoyne (Isabel Crosbie) does well in a trying part, and Mr. Herbert Hollister (Randolph Kerr) and Mr. Harry Belford (Roland Roxton) present convincing character studies.

Empire.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Manners.—Most prominent on the programme here is Reano with his band. Bonnie Goodwin's Piccaninnies, assisted by Miss Lily Vine, are quite prime favourites; Seener and Fridkins' Russian troupe of vocalists and dancers provide an excellent turn; Mlle. Celia Galley is responsible for a clever show, her impersonation of Mme. Sarah Bernhardt perhaps being best; Will Poluski, jun., dances well; the Lavails as trapeze and ring performers are excellent; Ian Colquhoun, in his Scotch and other songs, has to respond to an encore; and Julius Tannen, the American monologue artist, is exceedingly witty; Marie Empress is a bright comedienne with good songs. The Bioscope films are also items of interest.

Zoo-Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Councillor E. H. Bostock; Assistant-Manager, Mr. E. H. A. Bostock.—The star turn this week is that of Mr. Chas. Seymour's comic opera company in The Queen of the Adriatic, in which Miss Frances Drew sings pleasingly in the title-part, and a quartette of lady dancers disport gracefully. Gustavo Fasola, the Indian Fakir, performs several marvellous feats; Will Walton as a suffragette expresses contempt for mere men; Welda and Wynne present an amusing combination of juggling, dancing, and tumbling; Webb and Branston sing duets for baritone and soprano; J. H. M'Cann does several difficult feats of dancing on roller skates; Mysticus mystifies with his astonishing quick changes of gloves, ties, &c.; Sid Cotterell and company keep the fun going in The Substitute; Cliff and Kean provide a happy combination of comedy, song, and dance. The Bioscope fills up any interval.

Pavilion, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. Samuel Lloyd; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Evan Good.—Arthur Prince, the clever ventriloquist, is here; Jack and Evelyn, the clever comedy duo, are given a most enthusiastic recall for their varied pot pourri of song, dances, and patter; Fred Sinclair and Gracie Whiteford again make a hit with their smart sketch Getting Even; Crissie Cross is a sweet singer and a neat dancer; Violet King gives an enjoyable turn at the piano, and is a violin player of special merit; Roze and Calvert contribute a lively comedy turn; the Two Walonells are amusing as comedy gymnasts; Woolmer Young's songs are well rendered; and Talberto and Douglas complete a varied bill.

Palace.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Richard Waldon; General-Manager, Mr. Harry McKelvie.—The principal item here is provided by W. Fullbrook and company in the comedy concoction Astronomy. The Millionaire is well portrayed by Johnny Holland and company. Other notable turns include Austin and Cowan, vocal artists; Janette Hall, lady baritone; Lillie Lassah, comedienne and dancer; Jack Chambers, negro entertainer; Johnson and Pelham, pot-pourri artists; Phil Bransby, coster comedian; and Will and Alice Vokes, comedy dancers.

Coliseum.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Burdette.—Oswald Williams tops the bill here, and his illusions are cleverly done and very mystifying; Gertie Gitana scores a big success in her song and dance act; Mr. Hymack, the chameleon comedian, again astonishes the audience with his clever turn; Lee and Bentley take well in the sporting sketch A Sure Thing, and later in the week gave The King's Counsel; Carl Howard, comic conjurer, is most amusing, and was heartily applauded; Les Martineks give an ingenious "doll" act, cleverly carried out; Sidney Stern in illustrated songs; Vanando, a first-rate ventriloquist; Charles Parker's Six Æolians in a song and dance turn; and the Bioscope pictures of the Dieppe Motor Circuit complete an excellent programme.

Gaiety, Ltd.—Manager, Mr. Harry Bowerman.—Barney Armstrong, who is well known in this hall, meets with a capital reception. His "Why do they call me an extra turn?" evidently catches on. Chas. M. Daly and company are responsible for a capital farcical comedy, entitled I Must Have It. Bert Kemble is a comedian with smart patter; Grace Darling has a most pleasing voice; the Four Louberts are seen to advantage in their comedy act Uninvited; Lillie Hales, comedienne, dances well; and the Bioscope is amusing.

Panopticon.—Proprietor, Mr. A. E. Pickard.—Several new artists had a hearty reception on the opening night. J. H. Harvey, comedian and dancer, gave a capital display; Nellie Bly is an exponent of low comedy; and Milly Milton is a good singer with good songs. One of the most entertaining items is the Bioscope, with a fresh series of interesting and amusing pictures.

GLOUCESTER.—Palace.—Messrs. Poole's Theatres, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. C. W. Poole.—The Clement Trio, in a smart flying trapeze act, is at the head of affairs; Baby Vi Davis, a clever child performer, goes well, as does also Clarke and Glenney's evergreen sketch The Haunted House. Charles Grantley, comedian, amuses, and the Three Behans are applauded for a quick-change dancing performance. Maxey and Pete are a smart and clever pair of tricky cyclists, and Dolly Denton, soubrette, sings cleverly. Hampton and Baumann are an excellent pair of negro entertainers. The Palacescope, as usual, interests.

GRAVESEND.—New Public Hall and Theatre.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. R. Feaver Clarke.—On Friday and Saturday Mr. Harry Bennet's company, under the management of Mr. Wilfred Marshall, presented Sergeant Brue here. The title-rôle was well enacted by Mr. Denis Lyndon, the son and daughter of the Sergeant were in the hands of Mr. Lister Morrah and Miss Daisie Dale, Daisy the servant, Mabel Widget, and Vivienne Russell were most capably sustained by the Misses Stella Millar, Mabel Davis, and Kate Sabine; as Lena Dare Miss Sybil O'Brien did well, as Louisa Clare Miss Daisy May scored, whilst the Eva Graham of Miss Dora Rose and the Lady Bickenhall of Miss Ray Anderson were most effectively portrayed. Gerald Treherne was cleverly represented by Mr. Frank Farrant, and the Inspector skilfully handled by Mr. Langdon Guy. Mr. F. Lionel as Matthew Habisham was admirable, Mr. E. B. Davies as Mr. Lamb and Mr. Jones Spencer as Captain Bay worked well and happily. Mr. Edward Lancaster as Mr. Crank was extremely good, and Mr. Harry Bennet as Crookie Scrubbs was admirable.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—Royal Aquarium Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—The patrons here have a musical treat this week in the return visit of the Moody-Manners Opera Company. Faust was chosen for the opening performance, and was witnessed by a large audience. Miss O'Farrell made a charming Marguerite, singing and acting in the most engaging style; Miss Victoria Siever's rendering of her songs was well received; Mr. John Child's excellent tenor voice was heard to great advantage; Mr. Marshall Vincent possesses a good voice; Mr. Anderson's fine bass voice was heard to advantage in "The Calf of Gold." A special word of praise is due to Mr. J. C. Hepher, the conductor.

Theatre Royal.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—Miss Emma and Mr. Percy Hutchinson's company is appearing here this week in Brewster's Millions. Mr. Percy Hutchinson as Monty Brewster is the life of this delightful play, and keeps the audience in a continual roar. Miss Cicely Stuckey is charming as Margaret Grey; Charlie Harrison has an excellent exponent in Mr. Cyril Rawdon; Mr. A. P. Kaye gives a clever sketch of Monsieur Bargie.

Hippodrome.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. George Gilbert.—A fine spectacular scena is being presented here this week, entitled the King's Garden Party, in which 250 children appear. Miss Ada Webb and troupe of swimmers give an excellent aquatic display; Haley's Garden of Girls delight everyone with their clever songs and dances; Hinton and Wooton appear in a very effective football match on bicycles; the Russian troupe of whirlwind dancers give an attractive performance; Prilles' bijou circus of cleverly-trained dogs is very amusing. A series of beauty shows have been inaugurated each week and are proving a huge draw.

Britannia Pier Pavilion.—Managing Director, Mr. J. W. Nightingale; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edward Gray.—The Bros. Howard are mystifying everyone by their "Marconigraphy," and proving a big draw; Nat Travers is a favourite with his cockney songs; the Sisters Clare are very pleasing comediennes and dancers; Nelson Hardy is an exceptionally clever ventriloquist; Mlle Pollo gives a fine gymnastic display; Miss Maud Esmond is a clever artist, and the Garden Quintette appear in some interesting dances.

Wellington Pier Pavilion.—Proprietors, the Great Yarmouth Corporation; Manager, Mr. Arthur Cash.—A bright and sparkling programme is being presented here by The Gems; Mr. Kenna Lawson's topical songs and sketches are much appreciated; Mr. Wallace Kennedy's excellent tenor voice is heard to advantage; Miss Nessie Walker's songs are very pleasing; Miss Oliver Mortimer also has some good ditties; Mr. David Norton is a capital accompanist.

Chappell's Promenade Concerts.—Proprietress, Mrs. S. Lawton; Manager, Mr. Harry Barker.—An excellent programme is presented by the same artists as appeared last week.

The Gem.—Proprietors, the Yarmouth Amusement Centre, Ltd.; Resident-Director, Mr. C. B. Cochran.—A fine variety of films is presented here this week. A prize of £5 has been offered for the best essay on the film illustrating the "Salomé Dance."

Minstrel Arena.—The Dandy Darkies are doing good business with their refined minstrel show.

GREENOCK.—Alexandra Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Directors and Managers, Messrs. A. B. and J. J. Wright.—The Harmony Four, who occupy chief place on the bill this week, are warmly welcomed and enthusiastically applauded; the Hopkins appear in a delightful musical scenic novelty, The Maid and the Moon; Lambeth and Robertson are much appreciated in their sketch, Yae Hogmanay Nicht; and good entertainment is also afforded by Alman Correze, assisted by Droll Keith, in a juggling act; the Ellimans, refined musical entertainers; and Miss Marguerite Broadfoote, burlesque actress. The Alexandrascope shows the latest pictures.

Empire.—Lessees, the Greenock Empire Syndicate; Responsible-Manager, Mr. Edward McCormick; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. J. Colquhoun.—The Cattaneo Troupe of acrobats receive much applause for their clever and daring performance; Jack Easy highly amuses with his funny songs; Silvo's selections on the musical glasses and the silvochimes are much appreciated; and other good turns are provided by Ingram and Irvine, in their absurdity, The New Office Boy; Phillips and Merritt, society entertainers; the Prinellas, in an amusing turn; and the Bioscope, with some excellent pictures.

Hippodrome.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry L. Skivington.—Mr. Sidney Dooley and Mr. Charles Seymour's company, in A King for a Day, a complete musical comedy in thirty minutes, provide good entertainment, the leading rôles being ably sustained by Mr. Will Letters as Signor Carrara and Miss Polly Atherton as the Suffragette. Derenda and Green, juggling comedians, make a hit; Alice Golding renders vocal items in accomplished style; Les Valdons give a dexterous and daring display as cannon-ball manipulators; the Wedburns, a clever comedy couple; Jack Arnold, Scotch comedian; and the Dromoscope pictures, also add to the enjoyment of the audience.

GRIMSBY.—Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. North.—The domestic drama, Two Lancashire Lasses in London, is being favourably received. Mr. Herbert Pearson plays John Edmunds very effectively; and Miss Marguerite Trevosper is equally good as Bessie Edmunds. The two sisters, Constance and Nelly, are capitally represented by Miss Rosslyn Vayne and Miss Alice Defoe; Mr. E. Rayson-Cousens is a popular figure as the Rev. Frank Selby; Mr. Fred Morgan is successful as Jonas Deane; Mr. Jack Miller realises the part of Jim Price admirably; Mr. Chris Mason as Sam Hallett and Miss Evelyn Shaw as Jane Adelaide Hallett provide an abundance of humour; and the part of the child, Lucy Edmunds, is pleasingly played by Miss Mary Corri.

The Palace.—General-Manager, Mr. G. Rhodes Parry.—A cycle speciality of a decidedly novel character is presented by the Merrills, their performance being principally upon single wheels, upon which they display much skill; Hall and Earle, as the Chinaman and the tramp, accomplish smart acrobatic business, introducing several new feats; Chimes appears in an instrumental act, which combines excellent music with really good burlesque; Queenie Essex wins much favour, her impersonations and general vocal work being excellent; Olive and Owen appear in an amusing comedietta; Ethel Donna sings and dances pleasingly; and Master Clifford is a successful young comedian and dancer.

GUERNSEY.—Theatre St. Julians.—Lessee, Mr. Ed. Marris.—This week the vaudeville entertainments are resumed, and the bill of fare provided includes Mina Green, burlesque comedian; Jack Roland, the happy cowboy; Idalia May, danseuse; Stuart and Stuart, comedy entertainers and dancers; Frank Leslie, vocal comedian; Mary Ambrose, the Scottish lassie; much interest was centred in the Franco Midgets, conjurers; a clever and artistic military episode, entitled Sniped, was vividly portrayed by Messrs. Nelson, Watts, Phillips, and James A. Story.

HALIFAX.—Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Mr. Alfred B. Cross's company is at the Royal this week with The Manxman. Mr. Cross takes the part of Pete, and acts the well-drawn character with rare feeling and effect; Miss Minnie Watersford as Kate Cregeen wins equal merit; Nancy finds an able exponent in Miss Nancy Mitchell; Mr. Harold B. Lewis does well as Philip Christian; Mr. Fred Mace's Cæsar Cregeen is a well-played study. The smaller parts are all in capable hands.

Palace and Hippodrome, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Reg. H. Foster.—Ferguson and Mack, eccentric comedians, are scoring a big success at this house in a laughable absurdity, The Dimple Sisters, Acrobatic Ballet Girls. Gibbon and Bell meet with general approval for their clever acrobatic and dancing act; Margit and Lener are marvellous tumblers; Mlle. Bartenelli is a pretty and graceful contortionist, and does her work cleverly; Kelly and Agnas are responsible for a lot of hearty laughter in an acrobatic comedy turn; Gravetta and Garr, American novelty artists, are a versatile pair; Three Sisters Silcott are successful in song and dance; Ethel Sheffer, with illustrated songs, introduces a decided novelty, the "Faceograph." George James, comedian, and the Palace picutres complete.

Grand Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. S. Winks.—Miss Maud Mortimer is creating unbounded enthusiasm at the Grand this week, singing four of her popular songs at each performance. Master Edmund Kershaw is a boy soprano with a pleasing voice of good range. Pictures fill up the bill.

HAMILTON, N.B.—Hippodrome.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; Resident-Manager, Mr. René Clayton.—The star turn here this week is The Kleptomaniacs, a farcical sketch by Fred Edwards and company. This very amusing sketch, by reason of the clever acting of Mr. Edwards and that of the lady by whom he is assisted, is heartily applauded; Sinclair and Parr sing several Irish airs, and their voices blend harmoniously; Princess Pauline is a comedienne whose breezy style takes very well; the Sages, comedy and burlesque artists, are successful in their novel turn, If You're Coming In I'm Going Out; Maud Marshall, character vocalist, is appreciated; the songs of Larry Lewis are very quaint; Ruhart's performance is varied and amusing; the dancing of Violet Stockelle is very prettily executed; Avalo and Hurst appear in a comedy act. The pictures shown by the Bioscope this week are of a very amusing nature.

HANLEY.—Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. G. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Douglas Elphinstone.—The Belle of Mayfair pays a second visit this week in charge of Mr. Milton Bode's capital company. The principals have been well selected, and the chorus and scenery are excellent. Miss Queenie Finnis as Julia is charming both in acting and singing; Miss Blanche Astley is a most engaging Pincott; Miss Agnes Tandy as Princess Carl has a fine voice and acts vivaciously; Miss Nellie Cozens as Lady Chaldicott has a difficult rôle, which she plays with infinite skill; Miss Aurelia De Loriere as the Gibson Girl is well suited; Miss Nan Holmes and Miss Paula Fernau give clever renderings; Mr. Percy Yorke as Earl Highgate sings well, and looks the part, too; Mr. Harry Parker as Sir John causes fun to flow merrily; Mr. Lauri Lisle as De Perrier exhibits admirable qualities as a character comedian; Mr. G. McLoskie as the Bishop is good, and also undertakes the stage management; Mr. Lawrence Wensley sings with great success; and Mr. Edward Hugounet as Raymond is worthy of special commendation; Mr. Hugh Nolan is general manager, and Mr. Frank Seddon directs the enlarged orchestra.

Grand, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. G. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Arthur Rand.—Tony Black, a Scotch comedian, is enthusiastically recalled. L. B. Athol, actor-vocalist, has a clever and original song-scena; Edwin Barwick makes his usual hit; Effie White, with clever lantern effects, presents The Spirit of the Cave; the Brothers Martine return with their original act; the Villions have some clever tricks on cycles; the Three Pirmans have a novel gymnastic comedy act; the Five Vernons make a success with their xylophone playing; and a Raymond's Bio-tableaux displays the Quebec Pageant.

King's.—Lessees, Messrs. Moore and Kennedy; Acting-Manager and Operator, Capt. F. Shaw.—Many are unable to gain admission to this theatre at every performance. Superb films are exhibited, the chief being Romeo and Juliet, Mysterious Barrels, The Counterfeiter, A Case for Sherlock Holmes, Married for Nothing, A Gipsy's Revenge, A Chase for a Bike, and Lost Pants. Mr. Harry Bent supplies the vaudeville item with clever impersonations of prominent artists, and also makes a hit as a comedian.

HARROGATE.—Grand Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. F. Smith.—Mr. Martin Harvey and his company are here for the week, and on Monday night played The Breed of the Treshams. Mr. Martin Harvey as Rat Reresby repeated his clever performance to the usual thunders of applause. Mr. Charles Glenney was in his old part of Colonel Hungerford, and was as good as ever. Mr. Leonard Craske was excellent as Francis Tresham, and Miss Madge Fabian was all that could be desired as the Hon. Margaret Hungerford. Mr. Charles J. Cameron gave a dignified performance of Viscount Dorsington; Miss N. de Silva as Batty was an excellent performance. The smaller parts were in safe hands, and the play was mounted with Mr. Harvey's usual care. A Cigarette-maker's Romance, Eugene Aram, and The Only Way are also in the bill for the week.

The Kursaal.—General-Manager and Musical-Director, Mr. Julian Clifford; Assistant-Manager and Secretary, Mr. R. Eldrid.—Miss Dorothy Watson is the entertainer, and Mr. Gwlym Wigley, tenor, is the vocalist. On Wednesday there is a special concert, when Mr. Clyde Twelvetrees will play the 'cello and Miss Maude Wilby will sing. There is a special rush of flying matinees, including Miss Denise Orme, the inimitable George Robey, and the one and only Arthur Roberts, the last named to appear in his well-known sketch The Girl Who Took the Wrong (Towing) Path.

HARTLEPOOL.—Empress.—Proprietors, Messrs. Councillor Everton and J. W. Cragg; Manager, Mr. Harry Burns; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Charlie Ferrier.—Admirers of good pictures are well catered for this week. A Broken Heart is the title of a film which is meeting with general approval; and others worthy of praise are The Hypnotised Policeman, Dieppe Motor Races, Grotesque Figures, Whaling, and Aladdin; and an illustrated song, "Daddy," is being considerably enjoyed.

Market Hall.—It was pleasing to see such a huge audience assemble at the complimentary benefit to Fred T. Carrol by his fellow Premier Pierrots on Wednesday night, when an excellent entertainment was provided and immensely enjoyed. The artists were May Thorne, Will Smith, Geo. Derricke, and Fred T. Carrol, of the Premier Pierrot troupe, and the entertainment was supplemented by Harold Mitschke, elocutionist, who was exceedingly popular; Robert Mallet, a capital instrumentalist; Harold Hudson, a clever young vocalist; and Mabel Eden, soprano. A special feature of the programme was a dramatic sketch, A Traitor's Reward, by Fred J.

Græme was an excellent impersonation by Mr. Stanley Brett. His scenes with Peggy were admirably played, and the pair came in for well deserved applause. Miss Ada Fraser was finely pathetic as Mary McLeod; Mr. Paul Plunkett as Corporal John Smith was responsible for an eccentric dance which was greatly enjoyed. There was much comedy in the performance of Mr. Edward Lewis as Nervy Nat and Miss Nellie Dade as Charlotte (his wife). Miss Madge Vincent as Victoria Siddons contributed a much appreciated song and dance, and Mr. Wilfrid Norman submitted a clever study as Edmund Siddons, the showman's assistant. The remainder of the cast distinguished themselves in lesser rôles. The dresses were smart and handsome, and the ladies of the chorus were attractive. The play was musically directed by Mr. Arthur Spittle, who secured an excellent ensemble, and Mr. Mervyn Dene stage-managed. For Thursday and remainder of the week Mr. George Edwardes' company (playing The Merry Widow) was announced.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Vivian-Fisher; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Walter Norman.—A strong programme is opened by the quaint comedian A. T. Bute; an interesting musical absurdity is enacted by Tracey and Roy; the Dieppe Motor Race and other subjects are effectively depicted on the Bioscope; an amusing sketch, entitled A Clerical Complication, is given by Edith and Hubert; in Burlesque Moments Probyn and Bates introduce some humorous characteristics; Miss Esme Gordon is a vocalist of marked ability; the well-known comedian, Alf Chester, is a special favourite, his songs and business being most amusing; Muir and Bartlett and company, in their tabloid comedy, The Collar Stud, create great laughter.

PIER PAVILION. — Entertainment-Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter. — Stuart Alexander's Entertainers indulge in a variety of songs, dances, and recitations, and gain great applause; Payne's Bioscope is as attractive as ever; Primavesi provides a remarkably clever turn as a juggler; a popular gymnastic performance is given by Craig, Rose, and Craig. Mr. Hunter's twenty-ninth annual benefit is announced for Tuesday next.

BEACH CONCERT PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. George Blackmore.—Entertaining turns are contributed by Messrs. Frank Wood and George Blackmore, and by Miss Marie Schultz, whose refined comedy songs find ready approval. Miss Edith Blanchard and Mr. H. V. Cropton's well rendered ballads are also greatly appreciated.

PUBLIC HALL.—The People's Picture Palace Company, under the management of Mr. F. R. Griffiths, opened here on Monday. A varied exhibition of cinematograph pictures of exciting and realistic events included stirring episodes of the American War of Independence.

ALEXANDRA PARK.—The illuminated Carnival and Fancy Dress Dance arranged by the Borough Entertainments Association to be held on Monday was, owing to the inclemency of the weather, postponed to Thursday. Among the attractions were an alfresco exhibition of Payne's Bio-Photoscope Animated Pictures, and Mr. Wallett Scott's Concert Party.

HORWICH.—NEW PRINCES'.—Lessees, The Horwich Theatre Co.; Manager, Mr. R. H. White.—After several alterations, the above theatre was re-opened under the new management on Monday night, the new staircase and entrance to gallery and the refreshment bar in the foyer proving an attraction to the audience. Miss Grace Warner provided the bill of fare, The Scarlet Clue proving a very acceptable and thrilling entertainment. The piece is admirably staged. Miss Grace Warner's portrayal of Sal Scarlet is a powerful portrayal. Mr. George Gordon, as the unscrupulous Michael Stanton, also acted well. Mr. Terence O'Brien plays the Twin Brothers, Jack and Harry Esmond, with great skill and feeling. Mr. A. B. Lyons as Edward Croker, Stanton's Catspaw, makes the most of a very unsavoury part. Mr. W. Black plays the part of Billy the Rotter with gusto, his singing and dancing being highly appreciated. Mr. J. E. Tomlinson's Crazy Jim, a waif, is a fine study, characteristic in its intensity, and very acceptable to the audience. Miss Phyllis Massey makes a very typical Reggie Carstairs, an Eton boy of lofty ideas. Miss E. Conway as Elsie Dane, a Sister of Mercy, is most sympathetic. Miss Ana Corri plays Miss Tabitha Esmond with much feeling. Little Norah Bretton, as Little Polly, gives promise of becoming a most talented actress, her singing and dancing being very smart. East Lynne is booked for Wednesday and Thursday.

HUDDERSFIELD. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. T. J. Phillips.—Nothing finer has been seen here for a long time than the acting in The Thief, as played by Mr. George Alexander's company. Mr. Stephen T. Ewart is the Richard Chelford, and his masterly acting, whether tender or passionate, holds the house enthralled; Miss May Congdon plays Marise Chelford with an irresistible power, the great scene in Act 2 fairly taking the house by storm; Mr. Gerald Ames as Raymond Leyton is easy and dignified; Miss Mary Dibley appears to advantage as Mrs. Leyton; Mr. Alfred Lugg plays with conspicuous ability the exacting part of Harry Leyton; and Mr. Cyril Cattley is the precise Mr. Protheroe to the life. Too Happy by Half acts as curtain-raiser. The complete and lavish mounting of the play is highly commendable.

HIPPODROME, LTD.—Resident-Manager, Mr. N. M. Robinson.—The top of the bill is taken by Marcel and Boris, who give one of the finest acrobatic turns ever seen here. Others are Wilfred Burnand, clever character impersonator; Miss Ella Dean, an old favourite here; George Doughty and company in the amusing sketch Captain Cupid; Stanley Waller in his tricks at the piano; Ryde and Beeman, acrobats; and the old favourite J. W. Rowley, whose drolleries are fully appreciated. A fine steeplechasing film on the Bioscope completes an interesting programme.

HULL.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, MORTON'S, LTD.—Manager, Mr. W. F. Morton.—The Old Firm, which met with so favourable a reception on its first presentation in this country last week at Newcastle, has largely repeated that success in Hull. Mr. Richard Golden has made a very favourable impression as Rich Hake, the old inventor. He plays the part with softness and a reserve, and creates a clever character study. The lady commercial affords Miss Florence Lloyd her opportunity; whilst Miss Alice Beet plays the part of the inventor's wife with considerable skill; as the visitor from the nether land Mr. Jerrold Robertshaw just catches the author's idea, and is at one in carrying it through, which in less capable hands might fall to the ground; Miss Beatrice Ferrar is a very pleasing Rosalie; adequate and efficient support is given by Miss Gladys Mason (Lila) and Miss Constance Hyem (Lucy Upton). The play should reflect, when taken to London, the favourable reception it has received in the provinces.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. Morton; Manager, Mr. Tom Bogue.—The present is the last week of the summer season, and the pictures give way next to the legitimate. A pleasant little sketch is effectively rendered by Miss M. Brereton and Mr. Lawrence Derrick. The programme is one that meets with public approval.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Morton's, Ltd; Manager, Mr. Geo. Morton.—A new play to the city is that this week presented by Mr. Lingford Carson's company, A Fight for a Throne, by Mr. Geo. A. de Grey. It is full of strong situations and is one that seems destined to a long and successful run. Mr. W. H. Burton is a figure that catches the audience, and his Lieut. Paul Rodna is one that stands out in the picture; the Capt. Fortesque of Mr. John Millward carries conviction; as the Princess Esmee Miss Dora Hammersley has a rôle that captures the goodwill and sympathy of the audience. The Countess Valeska and Miss Margaret Tueskie is a fine piece of work. On Thursday the Black Dike Band gave a very successful matinée concert at this house.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Graham; Manager, Mr. Harry Dunford.—The popular Florrie Gallimore brings a fresh répertoire of catchy songs, singing no less than eight nightly. The Mezettis, horizontal bar experts, are a very talented duo; Rosie Reval bids fair to become a star; Clack and Clack give a clever barrel jumping performance; Pick Tholl and Taylor make a big hit, and the violin solos of Louie Goodofsky are much appreciated; Joe Flynn completes a capital company.

THE EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. Harry Slingsby.—Appearing here are the Whitworth Cycling Girls and Campkin, Gwen Francis, Harry Keeble, Yorkshire Mill Girls, Will Willis, Adee Melloc, Cynthia Carrington, and the Three Comedy Chanters.

THE CIRCUS.—Resident-Manager, Mr. E. Emerson.—Animated pictures are drawing crowded audiences.

ILKESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers.—The Best of Her Sex is played here this week. Mr. Percy Horton displays ability as Philip Faringdon, and Mr. Henry Lloyd and Miss Dora Price deserve mention as Leslie Verney and Vera Delorme. Miss Alvina Mining makes a pleasing Ruth Raeburn, and Mr. William A. Armour is successful. The heavy part of Jake Smith is in the capable hands of Mr. Herbert de Ville; the comedy of Messrs. J. W. Hooper and Dan Mining and Miss Alice Buckland is greatly to the liking of the audience; Miss Dorothy Love as Little Phil is much above the average.

IPSWICH. — LYCEUM THEATRE. — Miss Lena Ashwell's company has been winning enthusiastic applause during the week with Diana of Dobson's. The name-part is sustained by Miss Emelie Polini, whose acting secures approval by reason of its effective contrasts. The plain-spoken shop girl who determines to have a month of glorious life on her £300 legacy is vividly portrayed, and the audiences have been delighted with Miss Polini's skilful transitions from gay to grave; Mr. E. C. Villiers has obtained abundance of applause as Capt. Victor Bretherton, and Mr. W. Kingsford Pearce has impersonated Sir Jabez Grinlay, bart., to the admiration of all. The part of Mrs. Cantelupe has been efficiently filled by Miss Gwynneth Galton; Miss Daisy England has been prominent as Dobson's forewoman; and the characters of Diana's fellow-shopgirls have been satisfactorily taken by Misses Violet Gould, Eva Lonsdale, Dorothy Garth, and Olga Esme; while Miss Clarissa Selwynne has appeared as Mrs. White-Fraser. The curtain-raiser is The Bishop's Candlesticks, which has been pleasantly presented.

THE HIPPODROME.—Mr. Alec Hurley is the principal turn at this popular place of resort, and his characteristic ditties afford satisfaction to good audiences. In combination with a small company of costers and their "donahs," he gives The Coster's Friendly Lead, the familiar songs which it introduces being highly acceptable. Shirley and Ransome present another coster episode; and a third sketch (Ferdie's Ma-in-law) is played by Mr. Arnold Richardson, Mr. Gordon Laws, and Miss Ethel Lonsdale. A drawing-room act by Rubie and Elsie Redfern proves acceptable; the Brothers Dean are good dancers and whistlers; Dolly Ross is a comedienne of considerable merit; and Lawrence Barclay contributes comic songs with acceptance.

JARROW.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Rex Sugden.—Messrs. Armitage and Leigh's company is here with the late Wilson Barrett's play Lucky Durham, which is scoring a success. Mr. S. Herbert Humber gives a clever performance of John Durham, and Mr. T. Renaud Lockwood forcibly enacts the part of Lord Mountfallon. Mr. Arthur Leigh is seen to advantage as the Hon. Reginald Steighton, and Mr. William Heilbronn is equally praiseworthy as Mr. Vallerton. Miss A. E. Belmore is a charming exponent of Helen Vallerton, and Miss B. Sinclair gives an excellent rendering of Mrs. Durham. Miss Rosabel Dodd does full justice to the rôle of Lady Mountfallon, and her daughter is presented to perfection by Miss F. Dulhunty. The mounting is excellent.

JERSEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. E. Marris.—The star turn of this week's vaudeville is provided by the Franco Midget Conjurers, said to be the smallest conjurers in the world. Other turns include Mina Green, an engaging comedienne; Jack Roland as a typical cowboy; Idalia May, a speciality dancer; Frank Leslie, a vocal comedian; and Mary Ambrose as a Scotch lassie; whilst there is a smart military sketch, entitled Sniped, founded on a story by General Baden-Powell which appeared in the Windsor Magazine.

ODDFELLOWS' HALL.—That popular and hardy annual Poole's Myriorama opened here on Monday night, and includes some good variety turns. Funny Johnny O'Rourke is a mirth-provoking cicerone; the Tissots are amusing miniature marionettes; the pretty Sisters Eileen and Mayne appear in Dutch costume; the Seddons create much laughter; Loudon Cameron and Maude Dunham are effective mystifiers; and Miss Frederica introduces a clever pony and twenty terriers.

TRIANGLE PARK.—The Æolians conclude their visit here this week.

LEEDS.—GRAND THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. Wynn Miller.—The evergreen Charley's Aunt is once more provoking much merriment. Mr. Brandon Thomas's company includes Mr. G. A. Seager as Lord Fancourt Babberley, Mr. Hastings Lynn as Jack Chesney, and Mr. Basil Lynton as Charley Wykeham; and all will bear comparison with the best of their many predecessors. Mr. Roy Byford does excellent work as Spettigue; the part of Colonel Chesney is well played by Mr. T. M. Stewart; and Mr. Sydney Compton is clever as Brasset. Miss Vera Gerald, Miss Olivia Glynn, Miss Grace Russell, and Miss E. Gray are in the leading feminine parts, and very satisfactory.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General-Manager, Mr. R. Ernest Liston.—The melodrama A False Wife is in evidence at this theatre. Miss E. Florence gives evidence of much talent in her portrayal of Estelle de Lussan; Mr. Sanderson Moffat is a manly and heroic figure as Lieut. Mansfield; the adventurer Beraud is presented in really clever style by Mr. Reg. Kloop; and a pleasing conception of the heroine, Agnes Weyland, goes to the credit of Miss Phyllis Hamilton.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. T. Gerald Morton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Alex Galley.—The Elliott-Savonas provide the leading turn this week, their impressive musical act arousing vast enthusiasm. There is a warm welcome for that amusing pair the Poluski Bros.; a capital sketch, The Boatswain's Mate, is cleverly presented by Vaughan and Lawson's company; the Kirbys stand high in popular favour with a humorous speciality; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finden repeat the success achieved on a previous visit; and of the rest, Gracie Grahame, Lottie Govell, Gus Le Clercq, and Robb Gilmore merit special mention.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Bush.—Will Douglas's troupe, the Five Jolly Bakers, in a clever acrobatic speciality, are a feature of the week's programme here; popular Ada Fawn gets a great reception nightly; a pleasing vocal turn by the Three Royal Temples is as successful as anything in the bill; and the well-known Sisters Warwick are doing their expert trick-cycling speciality with success. Steve Bartlo scores with a musical novelty, and a coster sketch by Vaughan and Hyde goes extremely well.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Thos. Barrasford.—A "Tiller" speciality occupies a big place in the week's bill here, the theme being Jolly Jack, a nautical ballet; a new comedian, Shaun Glenville, takes extremely well, and popular Sam Mayo is also having a good week; Addie Dorina is exceedingly clever in a quick-change speciality; Rosie Elliott contributes a popular turn; Clown Barker again raises many laughs; whilst May Brilliant and Miss Rosika are also successful.

CITY VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Wood; General-Manager, Mr. J. C. Whiteman; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. Jones.—That popular pair Ike and Will Scott head the list of entertainers here, and their clever turn is generously applauded; Gus Harris again presents his character sketch Primrose Day with good success; Bertha Winder scores heavily with a dancing speciality; the Whitakers, in a comedy sketch, get a good reception; and an ovation nightly greets Pearce and Ward, in dancing and burlesque boxing.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business-Manager, Mr. Charles Hermann.—A return visit is being paid of the successful play The Walls of Jericho, admirably enacted and staged by Mr. Arthur Bourchier's principal company, presented by Messrs. Silvanus Dauncey and M. V. Leveaux. A pronounced and well-deserved success is scored by Mr. Alfred Goddard as Jack Frobisher and Miss Nancy Beresford as Lady Alethea Frobisher; Mr. Russell Barry plays exceedingly well as Hankey Bannister; Mr. Ben Lewin makes an excellent Marquis of Steventon; and Miss Elsie Ross as Lady Lucy Derenham; Miss Pauline Strauss as Miss Mornington; Miss Ormonde Wynne as Lady Westerby; Mr. A. W. Tyrer as Harry Dallas; Mr. George Percy as Bertram Hannaford; Miss Millie Emden as the Duchess of Skye; and Miss Gladys Meyrick as Lady Parchester, deserve praise for the capable manner in which they play their parts.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business Manager, Mr. E. R. Beaumont.—The boards are held this week by Mrs. Frank Bateman and Stuart Lomath's company in No Wedding Bells for Her and Sapho, the former being capitally presented on Monday. Miss Lizzie Montague displays her well-known ability with a clever performance as the actress, Lola Delasperre; and Mr. Stuart Lomath as Frank Hatherleigh is conspicuously successful; Mr. Percy Shaw is very good as Dick Delver; Miss Cicily Clutterbuck plays well as Doris Fane; Mr. Edward Vivian is capital as Dick Delver; Mr. Harry G. Momber is amusing as Simpkins, and renders two songs with much acceptance; Mr. G. Harvey deserves praise as Montague Blair; and Mr. George Herbert is a success as Horatio Fane. The play is well mounted. On Thursday and Friday Sapho was played, with Miss Lizzie Montague in the title-rôle.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. S. Buccleuch.—The American racing playlet The Futurity Winner is being presented here this week by Joseph Hart's company. The sketch is of a sensational and interesting character, and is well staged. Mr. Kingsley Benedict is eminently successful as Tom Chambers; and Miss Marion Ripley is also good as Miss Betty Shackleton. The other parts are in capable hands. Hunt and Thomas are very popular in their delightful comedy sketch Her Birthday; Phil W. and Nettie Peters, comedy entertainers, create plenty of merriment; Mason and Bart are particularly smart and humorous in their gymnastic act on the bars; Carlotta Levey repeats her usual success; the Cecilias are lady instrumentalists of marked ability; Barlee and Smith display much versatility as comedy duologue artists; J. W. Rickaby well maintains his popularity as a thoroughly mirth-provoking comedian. The Bioscope has a comic subject in The Runaway Ma-in-Law.

PAVILION THEATRE. — Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Joe Lawrence.—Owing to the success achieved last week Leonard Mortimer and company have been retained, and are presenting two sketches, viz., A Secret of the State and Spectres, which are both admirably staged, and are meeting with well-deserved success. The Forsyths, comedy duettists and sketch artists, are responsible for a most enjoyable turn; The Roxbys make a hit in their item, The Old Man's Garden; Babs Lloyd is a smart comedienne and dancer; Jacko gives an excellent performance as a monkey; and Kitty Willis, a refined comedienne, and Chas. Coll, a capital light comedian, are also entertaining. Walter H. Pallister's Bioscope continues to be a successful feature with Tommy's Trip to Morocco.

THE EMPIRE.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Company; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. A. Hurley.—The leading films in a good array of dramatic and comedy subjects this week include Quebec (the Tercentenary Celebrations), Saved by St. Bernards, The Bargee's Daughter, Bicycles Repaired, Schoolboy Jokes, Deathbed Marriage, and Madam Disagrees. Jack Monks, the popular tenor vocalist, with catchy songs, and Amandus and Rosina, in their entertaining facial mimic and musical specialty, also appear with success. The tenth singing competition is taking place, and Charles Beresford, the winner of the last contest, is rewarded with a week's salaried engagement.

LEIGH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Cragg; Resident-Manager, Mr. Wallace Childs.—Mr. Frank M. Thorne's company is occupying the boards here this week in the emotional play, The Woman Pays. Mr. Phil Warper makes a great impression as the hero, Sid Armstrong; as the scheming Roger Marchant, Mr. John Davidson gives a skilful presentation; Miss Maud Russell supplies a sympathetic rendering of Madge Armstrong, the wronged woman; Nell Morland is capably portrayed by Miss Kate Blair; Mr. Dunlop Steward vigorously interprets Luke Morland; Mr. Frank M. Thorne is highly amusing as Micky Maloney; Miss Anena Walton makes an excellent Polly Stokes; and George Butler played reputably as Cyrus Treadgold.

LIVERPOOL.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Lawrence.—Miss Lena Ashwell and her own company paid a welcome visit here during the week, and were received with the utmost cordiality by large audiences. The stay opened with Diana of Dobson's, in which Miss Ashwell's rich histrionic gifts were seen to great advantage as the shop slave. She was compelled to respond to several "curtains." Miss Frances Lyor depicted the match-making Mrs. Cantelupe to the life; Mr. Dennis Eadie was delightfully amusing as the conceited Sir Jabez Grinley; and the somewhat heroic rôle of Captain Bretherton found in Mr. C. M. Hallard a worthy exponent. The minor characters were in excellent keeping, particularly those of the old woman on the Embankment (Miss Beryl Mercer) and P.-C. Fellowes (Mr. Norman McKinnell). Irene Wycherley was given later in the week; and each evening a neat little curtain-raiser, The Likes o' Me, found general favour, the parts being undertaken by Messrs. W. Lemmon Warde, T. A. Shannon, Master Philip Tonge, and the Misses Beryl Mercer and Dorothy Brunt.

SHAKESPEARE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wentworth Croke; Manager and Secretary, Mr. John Gaffney.—Here this week we have had the new version of The Christian, presented in most artistic style by Mr. Wentworth Croke's capable company. Mr. Henry Renouf is to be congratulated upon his fine portrait of John Storm, a part he played with a feeling and force which impressed his audience very much; Miss Doris Gilham's Glory Quayle was characterised by a true artistic touch; Mr. Edwin Ling made a dignified Father Lamplugh; Mr. George R. Montford distinguished himself in the rôle of Lord Robert Ure; Miss Margaret Brodie did every justice to Polly Love; and Miss Sinna St. Clair was a humorous Mrs. Callender.

ROTUNDA THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery.—Messrs. Armitage and Leigh's companies are always welcome in Liverpool, and whichever of their plays is submitted, public appreciation is great. Such has been the case here this week, when Leah Kleschna was staged. Miss Bessie Rignold charmed everybody with her thoughful study of Leah; Mr. William Clayton made a powerful Kleschna; Mr. Hamilton Deane was again Paul Sylvaine; Raoul Berton was carefully held by Mr. Algernon J. Hicks; an able Schram came from Mr. Gilbert Heron; and the minor rôles were favourably presented by Messrs. Charles Barrett (General Berton), Bert Gunther (Anton Plaff), Miss Dorrie Turner (Sophie), and Miss Edith Summers (Charlotte).

STAR THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg.—Moths, given by Messrs. Sutton and Raynor's combination, did good business here during the week. Mr. Raynor handled the part of Lord Jura with distinction; Mr. Cecil Wynne earned honours as Prince Sergius; Mr. J. C. Lodge-Percy and Mr. Conrad Heywood were entirely acceptable as the Duke of Mull and Raphael de Correze; Miss Cecilia Dare proved a powerful Duchess de Sounay; Miss Henrietta Schrier afforded every satisfaction in the character of Fuchsia Leach; and good support also came from Miss Nellie Statham (Lady Dolly) and Dorothy West-Symes (Vere). The drama was well staged and handsomely dressed.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace Cole.—Harry Lauder topped the programme here this week; some remarkable cycling was executed by the famous Dunedin troupe, who were loudly applauded; Barton and Ashley caused endless laughter with their absurdity, Adam the Second; J. A. Wilson and his well-trained whistling dog, "Private Towser," had a funny trifle, The Troubles of a Recruiting Sergeant; an amusing duologue entitled A Perfect Woman was submitted by Pip Powell and Katie Vesey; George Ridgwell exhibited much skill as a cornet player; the Herald Comedy Four had a diverting comedy and dancing act, The Indians and the Sailor; and Cassie Walmer pleased with her singing and dancing.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred Granville.—Here during the week Mr. Tom Taylor's company have played The Worst Woman in London, with Miss Sidney Crowe in the title-rôle.

LYRIC.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold.—Foremost here this week have been Mr. J. C. Piddock's company with the amusing musical fantasy, The Capture of Venus, Mr. Piddock being Mars, and Mr. Gus Oxley making a funny Jeremiah Jolliboy. Another big draw was the eccentric work of Humpsti and Bumpsti; Mike Cray and his dog caused great laughter with smart comedy juggling; Cavalli had a novel ventriloquial turn; the Kimberley boys proved as amusing as ever; a refined musical and dancing act was contributed by the Raymond Trio; an acceptable and diverting trifle, entitled Mixtures, was provided by Sivroni, assisted by Miss Gladys Hicks; and Ethel Dove sang and danced tastefully.

ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Walter Hassan.—A big attraction here this week has been Lafayette, an American entertainer, who introduced some really wonderful illusions and conjuring tricks. He certainly mystified his audiences in a remarkable degree. Beatie and Babs, a smart couple of juvenile entertainers, delighted everyone with their neat little trifle, A Pavement Rehearsal; Cummin and Seaham went through a very funny acrobatic novelty, The Ragman and the Postman; the Lyons Trio of pantomimists and dancers were received with satisfaction; some able work was done on the trapeze by Botello and Virginia; and the following comedians also amused greatly:—Tom Yorke, Fred Land, and L. W. Harris.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole.—Good business continues to be done by the stock dramatic company here. This week Fallen Amongst Thieves, from the pen of W. R. Waldron, was given, the principal parts being in the hands of Messrs. Sydney Grant (Coningsby), E. D. Allen (Aaron), Harry Tresham (John Morgan), Robb Wilton (Nubbles), Cecil Ravenswood (Winthorp), Leo Montgomery (Danvers), and the Misses Lilian Radbourne, Florence Palmer, and Florence Cameron. Mr. Anthony Brown's Bioscope showed some excellent films.

WESTMINSTER.—Lessee, Mr. Fred E. Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Montgomery.—In addition to the Bioscope pictures shown here the following artists appeared during the week:—Helen Martin, vocalist; the Melroses, comedy duo.

OLYMPIA.—District-Manager, Mr. Albert Bulmer; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Wighton.—Neil Kenyon has been topliner here this week, and had a hearty reception; another excellent turn was given by Alice Raymond and company, who were seen to advantage in a pretty musical act, A Night in Egypt; Marie Kendal brought her latest successes, including "The Taximeter Car"; Arthur Playfair and Eily Helene presented their merry racing sketch, 387, Finsbury; O'Malley and Brown had an uproariously funny act, You're Still a Friend of Mine; Little Ganty proved as diverting as ever; Rex Fox went through a clever ventriloquial and musical act on the wire; and also in the list were Steve McCarthy, comedian and dancer; and Madge May, comedienne.

PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Manager, Mr. Henry Hearn.—Crowded houses are the rule at this new place of amusement. This week the big attraction has been Harry Roxbury's No. 1 company in The Prince of Monte Carlo, including the lively Tubby Edlin; some remarkable comedy tumbling and leaping was shown by the two Erolls; a clever gymnastic turn, with new features, was presented by the Zedoras; Ada Whitton, male impersonator, rendered some popular chorus songs; roars of laughter followed the work of Marcus Boyle, comedian; Rousby and Rene (Harry and Nell) had a taking character study of Lancashire life, entitled Fine Feathers; France and Francis proved a couple of amusing acrobatic comedians; and also in the list were George Griffin, comedian, and the Swift duo.

LLANDUDNO.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. Ritson.—On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday Mr. Gilbert Payne's company appeared in The Honeymoon. Mr. Payne as Nathaniel Noodle keeps the audience in good humour from start to finish, and he is capitally supported by Mr. Fred Fulton as Archie Mashington; Mr. Chris Ainslie (Col. Vandyke Brown) and Mr. Leslie Eric (Jack Armstrong) are well placed; Miss Celestine Brandon (Madge Armstrong), Miss Myra Douglas (Stella le Bruno), and Miss Rosie Kearns (Emeratta Noodle) perform creditably; whilst the Godfrey Girls contribute some good dances. The Compton Comedy Co. was announced for the remainder of the week.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. A. G. Pugh.—Mr. George Dance's company occupy the boards here in The Girls of Gottenberg. Mr. Bertie Wright as Max Moddelkopf is a good comedian and dancer, Mr. Tom Shelford as Otto being excellent in song and dance; Mr. Hugh Henson (Albrecht), Mr. Howard Cridland (Britti Bottl), and Mr. David Miller (Col. Finkhausen) all do well. Miss May Marshall as Clementine is above the ordinary, and Miss Gladys Guy as Elsa is dainty, and especially well-placed; Miss Ellaline Thorne as Mitzi is commendable, and Miss Susie Raymond as Lucille is a clever dancer.

PIER HEAD VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. A. R. Sutcliffe.—The Old Virginia company is here for the week, and Messrs. Adeler and Sutton are to be congratulated upon providing a really good cast. Mr. H. Buckland as the Colonel is well received; Miss Lillian Page as Sadie finds favour; Miss Odeyne Spark as Mamie May dances capitally; Miss Joey Ellis as Lallie Potts is chic; Miss Nellie Sheffield is a typical Chloe; Mr. Kit Keen as Rastus scores heavily; Mr. Leonard Russell as Graham Rossiter has an excellent voice; Mr. Wm. Pringle as Hiram P. Dooley is smart with Yankee witticisms; and Mr. Bert Erroll is all that could be wished for as a lady impersonator.

PIER PAVILION.—Secretary, Mr. Sam Hughes.—Crowded audiences attend the orchestra nightly, under the conductorship of Mr. Arthur Payne, F.R.C.M. Mr. Herbert Brown is the vocalist for this week, and Mr. Ben Davies is announced for Saturday.

LOWESTOFT.—MARINA.—Manager, Mr. E. A. Smith.—Mr. Frank Curzon's company occupy the boards for the first part of the week in My Mimosa Maid, in which Miss Marie Studholme as Paulette presents a really charming and delightful piece of acting. This lady had a very fine reception on this, her first appearance locally. Others deserving of special mention are Miss Ruby Gray, Mr. Chas. McNaughton, and Mr. John H. Goldsworthy.

HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Gilbert; Manager, Mr. Frank Freeland. This popular house was packed to overflowing on Monday, when another excellent variety bill was presented, including Leo and Roland, equilibrists; the De Breans, in their World of Mystery; Two Rivers, in pleasing vocal melodies; and Patty Yole, comedienne and dancer. The British Biograph company are again to the fore with some beautiful specimens of animated subjects, of which mention must be made of the highly-instructive and interesting picture Wild Birds at Home.

LUTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. E. Graham Falcon; Manager, Mr. Louis J. Beard.—Mr. Lewis Waller's company, in Robin Hood, under the direction of Mr. F. Clive Ross, opened here to a good house on Monday. The play was received with the utmost enthusiasm. Mr. Ethelbert Edwards appeared in the title-rôle with conspicuous success; Mr. Ernest Gray did well as the obese Sheriff; and Mr. Elliot Ball well portrayed the oiliness of Prince John; Miss Lilian Stevens was absolutely charming as the high-born Lady Marian; Miss Flapper Flockton added another success to her list in the part of Adela; Mr. C. Bruce Winston gave a good all-round performance of Friar Tuck; Miss Gertie de Burgh made much of Alison; and Mr. Beguie was a fierce Tracy.

MACCLESFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager and Proprietor, Mr. W. K. Gatley.—Mrs. Sam Duckworth's company, under the direction of Mr. Frank Eden, is appearing here this week in the

WE LEAD. OTHERS FOLLOW.

LUSH & COOK LTD

LUSH & COOK, Ltd.,

THE PREMIER THEATRICAL

CHEMICAL CLEANERS

— AND DYERS. —

THE VOICE OF THE PROFESSION.

J. B. MULHOLLAND, Esq., writes from King's Theatre, Hammersmith—"I beg to say that your work in connection with my Pantomime Dresses this year was done most satisfactorily."

WENTWORTH CROKE, Esq., writes "I am delighted with the way you have cleaned my furniture."

A SERVICE OF OUR FAST MOTOR VANS is now running to and from our Works, which are amongst the Largest and Best Equipped in the United Kingdom.—Vide "The Era."

LOWEST TERMS FOR CLEANING DRESSES FOR AUTUMN TOURS.

THE SECRET OF OUR EXTRAORDINARY SUCCESS.
Lowest Charges. Best Work. Punctuality and Courteous Treatment.

ARTISTS' PRIVATE WORK A SPECIALITY.

Enterprise reaps its own Reward. Ensure satisfaction and send all your Cleaning and Dyeing to

LUSH & COOK, Ltd.,

JOHN BELL, Manager, Theatrical Department,

29, Charing Cross Road, W.C

ADJOINING THE ALHAMBRA. TELEPHONE 95 Central.

29 CHARING CROSS RD

new play, The Conscience of a Judge. Mr. Kenyon Musgrave filled the part of Herbert Granstone in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired. As the heroine, Jessica Draycott, Miss Nellie Howitt gives a convincing conception of her rôle; Sir Edward Mervin is ably played by Mr. Sam Courtney, and a capital study of Cecil Bentley is given by Mr. Reginald Maurice; Mr. Walter Clarke acquits himself admirably as Geoffrey Granstone; Miss Mabel Coleman is a pleasing Ethel Vaughan; and as Mary Wilson, Miss Madge Seymour is very amusing. Miss Elsie Isaacs is excellent as the child Little Kitty; and Mr. Frank Ayrton as John Summers and Mr. Fred Graham as Horatio Winters are both well received.

MAIDENHEAD.—Pavilion Pleasure Gardens.—Proprietor, Mr. George Gude.—This week's bill contains benefit performances for Miss Adelaide Twort and Mr. Alec Tyson. Miss Twort makes a judicious selection of ballads, which she invariably sings with much taste and expression; of Mr. Alec Tyson's work at the piano it is impossible to speak too highly. His pianoforte solos are of a bright and popular character. Special engagements for these benefits include Carl Lento, who gives a clever and entertaining musical turn; and Robert Fitzgerald, who contributes a smart set of conjuring tricks.

MAIDSTONE.—Palace.—Proprietors, Maidstone Palace of Varieties, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. S. Baskerville.—A good bill this week includes Devon and Earle, expert dancers; Edwardes and Espinosa, smart banjoists; Marjutti, contortionist in a novel scena, From Devon to Fairyland; George Camp, a favourite comedian; May Lilian Levey, who has some good songs and is as popular as ever; Clive Watts, comedian and dancer; Violet Leslie, comedienne; and the Palace pictures.

MANCHESTER.—Theatre Royal.—Lessees, The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edmondstone Shirra.—Mr. Charles Hawtrey's company opened here on Monday in that well-known player's great London success, Dear Old Charlie, and were accorded a hearty reception. The play is distinctly amusing, and is admirably developed by the cast. Mr. George Lestocq plays Charlie with considerable success; Messrs. C. Douglas Cox and R. S. Trelawney render capital support as Peploe and Dumphie; Miss Marjorie Chard quite easily succeeds as Agnes; and Mr. Duncan Young plays the Colonel in excellent spirit. A trio of minor rôles are correspondingly well handled by Mr. Stanley Arthur, Mr. G. Smythe, and Miss Begbie. The piece was followed by a version of Salome, in which Miss Mabilla Daniell danced the title-part in distinguished style.

Prince's Theatre.—Proprietors, The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Lee.—Mr. Milton Bode's company once more demonstrated here on Monday (when the theatre was reopened after the recess) that A Chinese Honeymoon has still the power to attract and entertain large audiences. The piece is in the hands of a capable combination, among whom Mr. Will Harman played Mr. Pineapple with remarkable comic ability, and especially hearty receptions were accorded to Miss Veronica Brady as Mrs. Pineapple, Miss Hilda Stewart as Mi-Mi, and Miss Elsie Skillings as Soo-Soo. Subsidiary parts are cleverly played by others in the cast, and the chorus and general staging are deserving of high praise.

Metropole Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. Andrew.—Mr. J. A. Campbell's company, in The Old Folks at Home, are here this week. Prominent in the cast are Mr. Aidan Lovett as Andrew Ross, Mr. Henry Nelson as Christopher Robin, Mr. Vernon Proctor as Hugh Lovell, and Miss Maud Warburton as Dorothy Robin (afterwards Lady Kenilworth); while the villainy is divided between Mr. Frank Liston as Lord Kenilworth and Miss Kate Froude as Patricia Bathurst. All these parts are vigorously played, and much enjoyable humour is added by Mr. Frank Caffery as Ben Jolly and Miss Nelly Hook as Susan Giles. The scenery is much above the average.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall. — The places of honour here this week are occupied by Arnold Bell and company (including Frances Campbell), in the sensational episode Paul Kauvar; and May Mars, the popular songstress, in several successful items. Will H. Fox takes the place of Spry and Austin (indisposed), and is well received; G. J. Johnson, the Black Diamond, sings and dances in typical coon style; the Brothers O'Brien provide a remarkably daring and successful bar act; Ludwig Amann, the living "Who's Who?" gives a series of lifelike impersonations; and other smart turns are added by Grace Merton, the original street singer; Bab Hamilton, Scotch comedian; and Bi-Bo-Bi, eccentric musical artist. The Bioscope is good, as usual.

Hippodrome. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—At the top of the bill here is Louie Freear, who is seen to advantage as Jemima, the slavey, in Soane Roby's farcical absurdity, Snooks; Callahan and St. George do well in a musical duologue, The Old Neighbourhood; and Will H. Fox is highly successful in his bright, comic act at the piano. Other pleasing turns are added by Monie Mina, dainty comedienne and dancer; the Great Northern Troupe of international dancers; the Eight College Girls, in Schoolgirls at Play; Cissie Curlette, mimetic vocalist; Ritter von Renroff and his wonderful dancing horse; and the choir, who give two nice selections; while the Bioscope shows a laughable subject in A Runaway Ma-in-Law.

King's, Longsight.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. James R. Trippett.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company are here this week in A Soldier's Honour. The attraction is a potent one, already well tried in Manchester, and it is in the hands of a capable cast, headed by Mr. Jerrold Ord. It is played twice nightly with complete success.

Palace.—General-Manager, Mr Walter de Frece; Manager, Mr. Fred Leighton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. J. Carter.—The well-known quaint comedian, George Mozart, is to the front here this week, and, as usual, is highly successful. Sidney Bacon's company, including Stephen Adeson as Fitz, is seen to advantage in that amusing sketch, The Duchess of Tooting; and Fred Earle, the popular eccentric comedian, makes his usual hit. Arthur Reece, a capital light comedian, is deservedly well received; Marie Blythe, vocal comedienne, has a strong voice, and knows how to use it; Ethel Whiteside and Piccaninnies provide an excellent turn; and other enjoyable items are A Ba Be's Picture Post-card Album; Marlo, a clever juggler; Texas Hattie, tight-rope artist; Tiger Lily, acrobatic dancer; and Amy Sullivan, comedienne. The Palace pictures are up to their usual high standard.

Tivoli. — Managing-Director, Mr. Charles A. Wilkes; Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—Carrie Swain, soubrette and vocalist, is the chief attraction here this week, and is enthusiastically received; Mona Garrick, a clever young character actress, is also popular; H. V. Surrey and company introduce an amusing sketch, Physical Culture; Joad Heteb, wizard, is seen in new Egyptian mysteries; and other capital turns are Edie Coolville, vocalist and dancer; the Cameo Troupe of comedy acrobats; Florence Somers, picture post-card girl; Lily Maxwell, dainty soubrette; and Gus Brown, eccentric comedian. The pictures, Scenes in Holland, are entertaining.

Queen's Park Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Meek.—Les Rallis, in The Artist and His Monkey, provide a fine top turn here this week; D'Artigan performs sensationally in the Devil's wheel; George Edney is a very popular character vocalist; and other smart turns are Fritz Kornau, siffleur; an unnamed deputy for Ida Barr; Edith St. Clare, comedienne; Moon and Morris, expert simultaneous dancers; De Lil, a clever illusionist; Hulbert, comedy ventriloquist; and the pictures, which show a wonderful series, Romeo and Juliet.

Hulme Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Dry.—At the top of the bill here the Six Brothers Luck are playing The Hermit with great success; and the Colonials are also popular in their musical comedy scena, Unexpected Guests. Burke, Andrus, and Frisco in Trafalgar-square at 4 a.m., are very smart and funny; Gala and Norris, coon singers, are well received; and good turns are added by Henri Vernon Harcourt, protean actor; Frances Hanlon, dainty comedienne and dancer; George Leavern, comedian; Angelina, expert lady juggler; and the Bros. Ford, accomplished musical dancers.

Rusholme Pavilion.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Leslie; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Phillips.—A smart programme here is provided by Adeler and Sutton's entertainers, comprising Tommy Isherwood, a refined and successful comedian; Tom Stuart, an accomplished impersonator; Tom Evans, a cultured baritone vocalist; Josey Leyton, chic comedienne in popular numbers; Clifford Grey, raconteur; and Fred Thomson, solo pianist and accompanist.

MANSFIELD.—Grand Theatre.—Proprietors, Mansfield, Sutton, and District Theatres, Ltd.; Managing Director, Capt. Cecil Clayton.—The Rogues of the Turf, presented by Mr. John F. Preston's company, is drawing good houses here this week; Miss Mabelle F. Barlow, as Lady Heathcote, proves herself an artist of first-rate ability; Miss Ethel Rainworth portrays the part of Nellie Flaxman with grace; Mr. F. Churchill is well placed as Sir Gerald Heathcote; as Arthur Somerton, Mr. Leslie Hawkins displays great ability; Mr. W. Howard Barlow in the rôle of Capt. Dudley Clifton, acts the villain to the life; and Mr. Hardy Macro is a typical Jew as Moses Solomon. Mr. John F. Preston gives a powerful rendition of the rôle of Joe Flaxman. The comedy element is in very capable hands, Miss Hettie Yale as Phyllis Wurzel and Mr. Horace Custens as Sammy Flaxman causing great merriment. The staging is praiseworthy.

MARGATE.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Edward Michael; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. R. Hardy.—Mr. George Alexander's company, with The Thief, attracted good houses on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings. Richard Chelford was well played by Mr. Rupert Lister; Miss Marie Polini presenting the character of Marise Chelford with convincing force. Miss Jean Cadell was good as Isabel Leyton; Mr. Cyril Harcourt gave a capable presentment of Raymond Leyton; Mr. Owen Nares as Harry Leyton and Mr. Luke Forster as Detective Protheroe were satisfactory. The play was preceded each evening by the one-act play Too Happy by Half, in which the parts were taken by Miss Eileen Kerin and Messrs. Charles King, Owen Nares, and Bernard Stevens. The bill was changed on Thursday, for the remainder of the week, to The Girl Behind the Counter.

Hippodrome. — Managing-Directors, Messrs. F. Mouillot and W. de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. F. Bawtree.—John Lawson has been appearing with his company this week in his famous sketches, which have included, on Monday, Pigs in Clover, on Tuesday The Monkey's Paw, Wednesday and Thursday The King's Minister, to be followed on Friday night with a repetition of Pigs in Clover, and to conclude to-night with Humanity. Needless to say, the different little pieces have been well played. On the programme there are in addition Fred Hallam, comedian; Selby and Myers, comedians and intricate dancers; Rosie Lloyd, a versatile comedienne; the Westwoods, premier sensational cyclists, who are highly amusing and clever trick riders; Kitty Taylor, comedienne; and Charles Austin, eccentric comedian.

Hall-by-the-Sea.—Sole Proprietor, Lord George Sanger; General-Manager, Mr. Charles Evans.—One of the most unique turns given at this place of entertainment for a long time is Maurin's Marvellous Fountains, which provide a constant series of beautiful kaleidoscopic and prismatic effects; Mlle. A. Loserno's performing cats make an interesting show; and Mlle. Rouletta, lady juggler, on the rolling globe; Smith and Johnson, coloured duettists; the Leonas, in their musical mélange; and E. J. Sheldon, a study in black and white, are also appreciated contributors to the programme.

METHIL.—Gaiety Theatre.—Proprietors, the Methil Theatre Co., Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. Sydney Arnold.—On Monday Miss Winifred Maude's company opened the week with The Convict. Mr. J. M. Olivert played in earnest, manly fashion as Jack Britton, his clear and crisp delivery being much appreciated; Mr. Arthur Denmead was excellent as the elderly Mr. Renshawe; the scheming Captain Hurley was depicted in repulsive colours by Mr. St. Clair Forbes; Mr. Victor Du Cane cleverly doubled the parts of Freddy Freckles and Alphonse Godin, his Frenchman being very funny; Harry Seaforth was well and carefully played by Mr. Rupert Talbot, a promising young actor; as the adventuress Olga Brandon, Mrs. Wingold Laurence presented a careful study of a woman callous until dormant sympathy is roused by the call of a sister in need; Miss Amy Maitland was a pert and lively Jenny Perkins, whose presence was always acceptable; and Miss Winifred Maude was eminently successful in the trying part of Dora Renshawe, the romance and pathos surrounding her appealing equally to the sympathies of the audience. Several smaller parts were in capable hands. The scenic effects were excellent. Mr. Tom Craven's The Stowaway was billed for the last three nights of the week by the same company. The Gaietyscope continues a popular feature of the evening's entertainment.

MEXBOROUGH.—Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Manager, Mr. W. H. Melton.—Ed. J. Garside and J. Forbes Knowles' company is this week presenting Her Marriage Vow. Mr. Chas. B. Bedells portrays in vigorous style the villainous Gilbert Carlton; his accomplice, Hester Norton, is powerfully delineated by Miss Nellie Shirley; Miss Helena Walbran submits an artistic and thoughtful rendering of the part of Kate Walters; Mr. J. Forbes Knowles plays exceptionally well as Ned Benton; Mr. Dan Ryan possesses an irresistible fund of humour as Larry Leary, and receives much assistance from Miss Winifred Barton as Maggie Clare, and Mr. Wilford Bailey as Eben Chubb. Mr. Edwin J. Collins give a fine character study as Daffy Dan.

New Picture Hall.—Proprietor, Mr. Will Hunter; Manager, Mr. E. H. Jones.—Leading items in a capital programme here this week are: Engulphed in the Quicksands (a fine military picture), Cossacks of the Don at Moscow; The Lady Barrister, The Little Flower Girl, Poisoned Pills, The Bewitched Boots, and a splendid picture illustrating life in Tangiers (Morocco).

MIDDLESBROUGH.—Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. Jno. Ed. Jowsey; Manager, Mr. W. Ker Chatto.—Mr. Walter Melville's combination presents A Girl's Cross Roads. Miss Hilda Beverley takes the part of Barbara Wade, the heroine, and gives a capital rendition of it; Miss Nita Langford as Nellie Meadows, the farmer's daughter, has a rôle which suits her nicely; Miss Gibbons as Fay Dudley, Miss Nellie Noble as Gertie Seemton, and Miss Kate Walton as Jessie Wilson also give a good account of themselves. Mr. Charles Franmore as an old farmer, Mr. Jack Fortesque as "the man who married the wrong girl," Mr. Fred Hodson as "anything under the sun," and Mr. Edward Chester as "a queer card" all play their parts with marked ability.

Theatre Royal. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Charles Imeson.—Why Men Love Women is being presented here by Miss Ellen Snow and her company. Miss Snow is a clever actress, and gives a charming impersonation in the part of Violet Livingstone; Mr. Oliver Rogers is admirably suited to the rôle of Gerald Fielding; and Mr. Lionel Gadsden takes the character of Captain Staniloff in splendid style, Mr. N. Carter Slaughter as Lieut. Fitzherbert acting with vigour.

Empire Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Brill; Manager, Mr. Chas. G. Rembges. — The McBans provide the star turn here this week, and give an exceptionally smart display of juggling; while John Le Hay and company score a distinct success in a musical sketch entitled Poor Beggar. Viviana and company provide a delightful dancing scena; Madge Berresford is a charming vocalist; while some amusement is caused by Hearne and Palmer. Carl Lynn is a clever animal mimic; and other turns are given by Tom Lloyd, eccentric comedian; Florence Esdale, vocalist; and the Empirescope.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Signor R. Pepi; Manager, Mr. A. E. Nicholls.—The chief attraction here this week is the wonderful Chinese illusionist, Chung Ling Soo. He is a master of the magic of the Orient. Clarke and Hayden score a success in a comedy duologue; and the Le Crens are clever burlesque artists and dancers. Farr and Farland are amusing; and a clever gymnastic performance is given by the Denano Bros. May Brilliant, comedienne; Cumminger and Colonna, in a singing and dancing act; and George Acre, comedian, also do well.

Oxford Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Alf. Graham; Manager, Mr. R. L. Griffiths. — Fred Bamford astounds all by his skill in whistling; Claude Ginnett and company's sketch, Rejected Remounts, is very amusing; and the Ganney Bros. provoke much laughter. Some excellent pictures, both of a dramatic and humorous nature, are shown.

MOTHERWELL.—New Century Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Hales. — Mr. Edward Marris's company, in The Dandy Doctor, is appearing here this week. The part of Jane, the general, is taken by Miss Florence Smithers, and she is responsible for a great part of the fun; a good appearance is made by Miss Mollie Wynne as Ivy Pendred, the daughter of Colonel Pendred, whose part is well taken by Mr. Herbert Pearce; the part of Melchisadek Brown is in the capable hands of Mr. George Brentwood; smart and manly is Mr. C. Burrunston Williams as Arthur Vandyke, M.D.; the part of Bertie Bolingbroke is ably taken by Mr. A. Leslie Martin; a pleasing feature in the performance is the clever dancing, especially a charming Dutch dance.

NELSON.—Grand Theatre.—Proprietress, Mrs. T. Greenwood Croft; Business-Manager, Mr. Geo. E. Mudd.—The boards are occupied this week by Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company in the military drama Two Little Drummer Boys. Mr. Edward Bikker makes an admirable General Kingsley; Captain Carsdale is well presented by Mr. Harry Scott; and Mr. O. Douglas displays powerful acting in portraying the machinations of Captain Darrell. Mr. A. Knight is a good Lieutenant Kingsley, and Mr. Will Percy and Mr. C. Gallier are very humorous in the respective characters of Quiney O'Quirk and Timothy Trimmer. As the two drummer boys, Miss Maggie English and Miss Maudie Douglas do justice to their respective parts; Miss Mary Ainslie is a charming and accomplished heroine; Miss Nesta Sandford gives a clever depiction of Drunken Meg; and Miss P. Connaughton proves a gay Molly Meadows. There have been capital houses during the week.

NEW BRIGHTON.—Winter Gardens.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Jones and Douglass.—The crowds nightly assembling outside this popular place of amusement testify to the excellence of the programmes submitted by the management. The star turn this week is the Wakeman Quintette, who render medleys and solos in their humorous sketch; the Vanderbilts are excellent actors, and give a clever series of impersonations of character studies; M. Alfred Eugene proves himself a juggler and vaulter of ability; whilst the Milfords, comedians and dancers, and Mr. and Miss Lyndon, vocalists, give satisfaction. Herr A. Spiegler plays violin solos in first-class style, and conducts the capital band. The animated pictures deal chiefly with educational and travel subjects, and are beautiful in the extreme. Altogether a refined and sparkling programme.

Pier Pavilion.—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler and Sutton; Manager, Mr. W. G. Sutton.—A return visit of The Saucy Arethusa company is very welcome, and good audiences have greatly enjoyed the performances. The company includes Mr. K. Scott Barrie, Mr. Dick Tubb, Mr. J. W. Hughes, Mr. Norman Osborne, Miss Mabel Danby, Miss Jennie Buckle, and Miss Elaine Reed.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE. — Theatre Royal. — Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—Sydney Grundy's charming comedy A Pair of Spectacles is presented by Mr. Russell Rosse's company, with Mr. David James in the principal part. Mr. James is a comedian with qualities eminently suited to such a rôle as old Goldfinch. The company also includes Miss Ida Chapman, who finds scope for her ability as Mrs. Goldfinch; and Mr. Fred Dobell as Uncle Gregory is capital. Other parts are well filled by Miss Lilian Densmore (Lucy Lorimer), Mr. Robert Noble (Dick), Mr. George Marrott, jun. as Percy, and Mr. Robert Rivers as Lorimer. A racy little play, His Last Legs, follows the principal production, and Mr. David James in the part of an Irishman keeps the house in a state of merriment throughout the piece.

Tyne Theatre and Opera House.—Lessees, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham; Manager, Mr. Fred C. Sutcliffe. — This week we have Messrs. G. M. Polini and Austin Melford's company in The Silver King. In the part of Wilfred Denver Mr. Fred D. Daviss finds ample scope for his great abilities, and is well supported by Miss Edyth Goodall as Nellie Denver. Mr. Stanton Sharp as Captain Herbert Skinner proves a genuine stage villain, and earns unstinted appreciation; while Mr. Edward J. George, the veteran exponent of Daniel Jaikes, is as finely effective as ever. Mr. Arthur Wright does well as Elijah Coombe; Mr. E. Stidwell makes a good detective; and other rôles are ably played by Master Eric Dene, Mr. George Belmore, Miss Kathleen Maude, and Miss Flossie Hale Daviss.

Palace Theatre.—Manager, Mr. T. W. Rowe.—Messrs. O. Silverstone and H. Wright's company are presenting The Nihilist. Mr. Walter Bentley as Ivan Novasky sustains a very difficult character with skill and ease; while Mr. Leo R. Neilson as Prince Alexander gives an excellent impersonation. Good characterisations are also furnished by Miss Edna Clare, Miss Florrie Kelsey, Miss Jessica Ford, Miss May Ediss, Mr. J. Brunette Harvey, and Mr. Henry Wright.

Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. F. W. Bolam.—The detective drama Sexton Blake is presented this week for the first time in Newcastle. The work is admirably staged, and the cast includes many good artists. The rôle of the astute detective is splendidly portrayed by Mr. Horace Hunter, and he is ably supported by the other members of the company.

Pavilion Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Will H. Boardman.—The usual hearty reception was accorded that versatile couple Whitaker and Hill on their appearance on Monday evening, and their turn is as pleasing as ever. Another excellent act is provided by the Piccolinos. Other artists contributing towards a night's enjoyment are Bellman and Moore, Ajax and George, Diana Hope and company, The Brilliants, Charlie Carr and Jack Rae, the Barrascope concluding.

Empire Theatre.—Resident-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Manager, Mr. W. Parham Wells.—Mr. G. H. Elliott is the star turn, and delights everyone with his clever coon delineations, artistic dancing, and pleasing songs. The Brigands of Tarragona, by H. Darnley's company, affords a merry half-hour, including as it does some very smart comedy; Ralph and Nellie Howard prove very acceptable in a novel musical act, and evoke unstinted applause; whilst Lauri and Beatty score heavily in a musical comedy protean mélange, In Her Boudoir, which causes no end of amusement; Brown and Le Clerq, in Black Justice, still maintain their ability to amuse; and other capital turns are the Three Lloyds on "the bounding cables," who show some clever feats in rope-walking; Daisy Martell, comedienne; Will Johnson, the popular lively one; and Lady Mansell's Juveniles. Some splendid pictures on the Bioscope complete an interesting bill.

NEWPORT.—Lyceum.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sidney Cooper.—The Little Breadwinner is being played here this week. As Lord William Dorrington Mr. H. B. Peppin acts with quaint dignity; Mr. Reginald Brown's Richard Lawrence is a manly interpretation; and Mr. Sidney Lynn as Charles Prior combined humour and sympathy; while the Joseph Prior of Mr. Alfred Maurice was a little overdrawn. Mr. Wallace Carey and Mr. Edward Alderson do well in the small parts of Dr. Chadwick and Monty respectively; Miss May Richardson makes a sweet Margaret Dorntry, and Miss Clara Hunt's Bridget O'Flannagan is breezy and humorous. Miss Millie Lord and Miss Kitty Melville do capitally as the sisters Kate and Ruth Cherry; Miss Lissa Young is bright as Bobby Trott; and little Winnie Crisp is a winsome Little Breadwinner, Meg.

Empire.—Moss Empires, Ltd.; Manager, Major Gallagher.—Chas. T. Aldrich leads the bill here with one of the most entertaining turns; Russell Wallett, in a wonderful make-up as a lady, causes much merriment; and Barry Lupina gives something new in dancing. The Sisters Grovini, drawing-room acrobats, provide an excellent turn; Gus Garrick gives a number of imitations in dancing that are both clever and amusing; and Walker and Lake, with their "extemporania," are exceedingly good; while Maggie Rimener, in song and dance, is well received. Tennyson and Wallis, a smart pair of patter comedians, and the Bioscope, showing a series of coloured pictures, complete the bill.

NORTHAMPTON.—Opera House.—Proprietors and Managers, Mr. Milton Bode and Mr. Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. E. Barnett.—The Royal Tokio Troupe of Japanese performers are the star turn this week, and their leading feature is the wonderful three-ladder act; Sergeant Brennan, a smart, well-set-up type of a military man, gives a novel and pretty entertainment with his gyroscopic spools, à la Diabolo; Siems provides some clever conjuring tricks; Dorma Morgan, refined American comedienne, sings with taste; Mint and Mart are a saucy pair of cross-patterers and paper-tearing manipulators; Dick Bradley is a comic tramp trick cyclist; and Jim E. James, "one-man-minstrel troupe," performs on the tambourine, banjo, and bones in turns; the Premier Imperial Pictures show the recent Marathon Race. The dramatic season commences on Monday next with the advent of Mr. Edmund Tearle and company.

The New Palace Theatre.—Sole Proprietor and Director, Fred H. Anderson; Manager, Thos. A. Evans; Musical Director, Mr. Walter Ashton.—The Great Albos, wire equilibrist, concludes his performance with a sensational descent on his head along a wire stretched from stage to balcony; Lee and Kingston present an American comedy, A Resourceful Lover, which is full of comic surprises; Dan Thomas, a favourite comedian here, is heartily welcomed; another return visitor is Mona Vivian, juvenile actress, vocalist, and dancer, who also is well received; Mueller and Coyne, comedy artists; Barle and Hylton, comedians, &c.; Margaret Payne, contralto vocalist; and Forest and King, in a dancing act, also find favour. The Palace Pictures provide a pathetic sketch, Will Grandfather Forgive?

NORTH SHIELDS. — Theatre Royal. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—The boards here this week are occupied by Mr. Bulmer's capable company with The Girl Who Went Astray, which has been cordially greeted by large audiences. As Madge Harvey Miss Twynne Warren furnishes a clever impersonation of the character, and Mr. John B. Shinton presents a finished performance of Captain Frank Julian. Mr. Alf. Stretton creates a favourable impression as Rupert Murdock; Mr. Evan Roland is good as Adolphus Boomer; and Mr. Edgar P. Melrose is an effective Sergeant John Harvey, V.C. Mr. Tod Squires is smart as James Yellowsocks, and Mr. Edwin Williams puts in some good work as Gussie Seymour. Violet Harvey finds an excellent exponent in Miss Ada M. Ryder, and Miss Sybil Haughton is well suited as Eleanor Merton. Miss Freda Fredericks is a pleasing Flo Fortesque, and Miss Mary Dalby as Molly Smart is deservedly applauded.

Central Palace.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Wm. Mould.—The star here is Shawlene, the Man Bird, who meets with a warm reception. The Three Peros, sketch artists, cause much hearty laughter, and Mr. Will Mitcham, comedian, who is a great local favourite, is as popular as ever. Miss Katie King, comedienne and dancer, makes a great hit; Messrs. Holles and Colings, with their sketch The Workhouse Van, are much appreciated; Mr. Fred Roman, character comedian, is well received; and the Mouldoscope is as much enjoyed as ever.

NORTHWICH.—Central Theatre.—Proprietress, Mrs. S. Golden; Secretary, Miss Golden.—Messrs. Levy and Cardwell's juvenile company forms the reopening attraction, and are proving a big draw, the theatre being crowded. The first half of the programme is devoted to miscellaneous songs, duets, &c., and the second half to a comedy operetta, entitled The Saucy Spree. Wee Macgregor, with her quaint humour, delights the audience, and her dancing, singing, and clever acting has a charming freshness that wins all hearts; Miss Dolly Dodds, who has a captivating manner and good voice, submits a finished performance; Miss Olive Purcell, with an excellent voice, is distinctly good; Miss Daisy Wood is particularly charming and lively; Miss Jennie Hughes is the possessor of a pure and sweet soprano, which she uses to great advantage; Jack Harrison evokes the laughter of all with his clever and humorous songs; the Brothers Armstrong are decidedly good; and Messrs. Graham and Barron score heavily with their wonderfully clever dancing. The combination all round is of a high-class order.

NORWICH.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Fred Morgan.—Mr. Seymour Hicks' powerful company, in The Gay Gordons, is much appreciated here this week. Mr. Frank Lincoln gives an excellent representation of Angus Graeme; Mr. Tom Graves is humorous as Nervy Nat, and the same may be said of Mr. Edward Namby as Edmund Siddons. Mr. Edward Beecher as Andrew Quainton, Mr. Norman Forrest as Corporal John Smith, Mr. J. Cranstoun Nevill as Marquis of Dalesbury, Mr. W. Terris as Viscount Belstairs, and Mr. Arthur Bravo as Lord Merstham were all good in their respective parts; Mr. Herbert Cannon as Archibald Speedy made the most of a small part; Miss Maie Ash was irresistibly charming as Peggy Quainton, her acting, singing, and dancing being heartily applauded; Miss Nellie Lonnen as Victoria Siddons and Miss Ida Laurie as Charlotte Siddons were also much appreciated; Miss Gladys Deane as Mary McLoud was good; Miss Emily Mellon as Janet McLeod also deserves mention; Miss Katie Butler as Lady Millicent Graeme, and Miss Ida Mann as Lady Graeme were well received. The piece is excellently staged and the dresses effective.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. Councillor F. W. Fitt.—A rich treat is given by Jan Rudenyi, the Hungarian actor-violinist, in a musical romance entitled The Power of Music. His performance is unique. He is ably assisted in the romance by Mr. John D. Saunders and Miss Dora De Winton. The Five Whiteleys give their clever turn and obtain appreciation; Ritter and Foster are clever eccentric dancers; Jimson's Pets at Home, or the Burglar's Surprise, furnish a capital display of animal training. Other turns are given by Harry Taylor, versatile Hebrew vocalist; Charles Vincent, comedian; Ernest Rees, droll comedian; and Henry Curwen and Marie Belle in the sketch entitled The International Club. The Hippo-Bio's pictures make up a pleasing entertainment.

Thorpe Gardens.—This is an attractive outdoor entertainment. The artists comprising the pierrot troupe are Jack Cromo, comedian; Meg Hamilton, soubrette; Neville Delmar, comedian; Ruby Gwynne, mezzo-soprano; F. J. Clarke, solo pianist and accompanist; Evan Jones, bass vocalist; with Baildon's animated pictures. The gardens are most attractive, and, approached by river, rail, or road, form a centre of attraction.

NOTTINGHAM. — Theatre Royal. — Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—The Hypocrites was presented here on Monday last. Mr. H. Lawrence Leyton played with considerable power and restraint as the Rev. Edgar Linnell, and frequently evoked applause; Miss Laura Graves supplied an admirable portraiture of Mrs. Wilmore; Mr. Wilmore became a pugnacious, dictatorial bully in the hands of Mr. E. H. Rushton; while Mr. F. G. Thurstan well described the unctuous vicar. Miss Muriel Pope sustained the rôle of Rachel Neve with the requisite pathos, while Miss Muriel Mason made an attractive and thoughtful Helen Plugenet. The Leonard Wilmore of Mr. John Dennys was an entirely convincing embodiment, and Mr. Fredk. Morland capitally assumed the wily lawyer; Mr. Charles Tyrel made the most of his small opportunities as Sir John Plugenet, and Mr. F. Lake was good as the doctor. Much amusement followed the prying movements and shrewish tongue of Miss Sybil Brooke as Mrs. Blaney.

Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Harry Upton.—The Assassin makes welcome fare at this house, as played by Mr. Augustine Knight's company. As Prince Demetri, Mr. Knight shows dramatic power and skill; Miss Ella Vane acquits herself with credit in the trying rôle of Countess Wanda, being always realistic and convincing; Mr. H. B. Wilson enacts Ivan in commendable style; and Mr. Edwin Lever looks exactly the soldierly Duke Carl. Mr. Edward Swinton provides plenty of fun as the vivacious Alphonse, and Miss Hettie Senior also adds to the merriment by her capital representation of the American girl. Mr. Edwin Jenner quickly becomes a favourite as the kind-hearted Captain O'Neil; Miss Eva Trevenna acts with touching pathos as Nita; and Katrina is well sustained by Miss Marie Robertson.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert C. Duncan.—Although suffering from a cold, Whit Cunliffe sang on Monday night with spirit, and roused the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm. As trick cyclists, the Narow Brothers are marvellous exponents, and the comedy element is smartly introduced; John Warren submits a dexterous and attractive item entitled The Magic Carpet, for which he is given a vigorous and well-merited reception. The character vocalism of Arthur Lennard is much appreciated, as also is the mimicry of George Newburn. Marie San Toi and her merry Japs sing themselves into favour, and Les Marbas prove entertaining humorists. Lizzie Glenroy and Ray Maskell are dancers of no mean order, and films by the American Bioscope complete a capital programme.

NUNEATON.—Prince of Wales's.—Theatre and Entertainments Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter J. R. Bryan.—Mr. Geoffrey Fulton's company is drawing good houses with A Girl Redeemed from Sin. Mr. Phillippe Orr is well placed as Robert Danham; Will May finds a capital exponent in Mr. Jo. Monkhouse; Mr. Victor Knight infuses an amount of humour into the part of Jim Jakes; Mr. Gifforde Reynolds is good as Samuel Lee; Miss Ada Oxley gives an excellent interpretation of Peggy Gray; Miss Gertie Pawle is deserving of praise as Mrs. Mac; and Miss Olive Fulton is good as Nancy. The remaining parts are all capably filled.

OLDBURY.—Palace.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Tyrer.—A programme of more than average merit is being supplied by the company of artists. The Four Cecilians are capital entertainers; the Sisters Clancy are remarkable dancers; Darwin, the man monkey, is a good performer on the trapeze; Miss Edie Greene has a good style; Miss May Paul sings and dances well; Sam Shipley, eccentric comedian, is very amusing; the Bioscope depicts scenes of the Hamstead Colliery disaster.

OLDHAM.—Empire Theatre.—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—Mr. James Bell's company is here with The Idol of Paris. Miss Annie Bell appears as Flare Flare, and acts with success in the various moods of the variety artist; Miss Grace Noble is excellent as Olympe Sosage; Miss Beatrice Fitzhugh as Mme. Sancterre does well as the bigoted philanthropist; Miss Annie Megson as Ann is delightful; and along with Mr. Ellis Carlyle as Latave are responsible for some good comedy; Miss Pharo Anderson is capital as Rachael Bernhardt; Mr. Chas. Stafford acts in a manly style as Victor Cashelle; and the man about town, Phillipe d'Esterre, is ably portrayed by Mr. Wilson Howard.

Colosseum Theatre.—General-Manager, Mr. Wm. Eastwood.—Man and Wife is being played by Messrs. Van Biene and Trayner's company. Mr. John F. Trayner as Paul Revere acts forcibly with good effect, and his enemy, Capt. d'Esparre, is most despicable as played by Mr. E. M. Hamilton. Mr. George Overs was clever as Jean, a cripple; Miss Millie Doris is capital as Rosette; and the twins, Bimbo and Bambo, are played in a very amusing manner by Mr. E. Hall Eldon and Mr. G. Vinning; Miss Kate Hallam acts as Marcelle in a way which elicits hearty applause; Miss Violet Temple is capital as Ruth Revere; and Mr. George Rammell makes a capable Col. Latour; whilst Mr. Ambrose Horton is excellent as Sergt. Jacques.

Royal Theatre of Varieties.—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kilsow.—Mr. H. O. Wills' songs cause hearty laughter; James Willard and company present with success The Ace of Hearts, a dramatic episode; the Lafaille Troupe give a clever gymnastic performance; and Mme. Roma's Six Juggling Girls are very smart in a dainty turn; the Three Orras receive much applause for their act on the silver rings; Mabel K are smart comedians with cross-talk and dances; while Jimmy Laurie is a capital comedian. The Wreckers is depicted on the Dottoscope.

OXFORD.—East Oxford Theatre.—Lessees, Miss Winifred Stuart and Mr. C. Watson Mill; Manager, Mr. Frank Stuart; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Thompson.—Messrs. Edward Lloyd and Frank Adair's company opened on Monday in Man to Man. As the hero, George Gordon, Mr. Edward Lloyd was inimitable, and met with a most enthusiastic reception, while Mr. Frank Adair, an experienced actor, gave a very powerful and robust rendering of the villain, Richard Ellerton. Mr. Clifford Bown was very droll and convincing as the convict, Bill Burkley, causing great amusement in the prison scene; Mr. A. Val Shane was seen to advantage as Rev. Philip Ormond; and Mr. H. Bruce Williams won favour as Samuel Plumtree. Mr. Bryce Methven was well placed as Turner. Miss Evelyn Warde gave a very praiseworthy interpretation of Gipsy Madge; Miss Ada Martin was very successful as Mary; and Miss Adeline Lester was a prime favourite with her humorous rendering of Miss Lavinia Dove. Miss Louie Adair may be congratulated on sustaining Ethel Maythorne with great charm and undoubted ability, while Miss Phyllis Oakley was very effective as Ned Doyle.

PAISLEY.—Paisley Theatre.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile.—In possession here this week is Mr. Harry Tilbury's company in His Dishonoured Wife. Mr. Victor Rae essays with conspicuous success the part of Frank Lindon; Mr. Horatio Sinclair as Lord Devant plays skilfully; a capital representative of Neil Locksley is Mr. Fred Owen; as Tom Redman Mr. Bernard Webb acquits himself well; Mr. Edward Brown as Geoffrey Harvey is praiseworthy; and Mr. Harry Tilbury is responsible for a vast amount of humour as Micky Doolan; Miss Belle Tilbury embodies with marked ability the part of Florence Lindon; Miss Arline T. George as Alice Harvey acts capably; as Mabel Lindon Miss Annie Newhall does creditably; Miss Etta Spalding humorously portrays the character of Araminta Dustpan; and as a child actress Little Phyllis is to be commended for her capable work.

Hippodrome.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. B. H. Bostock; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Douglas F. Bostock.—Joe Peterman's company in The Belle of the Orient has chief place on the programme this week, and this smart musical comedy sketch provides plenty of mirth; Walter Bellonini, juggler, wins enthusiastic applause for an undoubtedly clever performance; the Sisters Terry are warmly greeted for their singing, mimicry, and dancing; Flo Cecil is a pleasing comedienne and dancer; Otta and Olga submit an excellent musical comedy entertainment; Mark Henton proves himself a very funny comedian; Dallas and Varden appear in an amusing poetic fantasy, entitled The Heirloom; or, a Christmas Dream, which is well received; George Rapley, comedian, scores with his songs and patter; a clever turn is that submitted by Almon in his hand-walking and hand-jumping feats; and the Bioscope is this week intensely interesting, The Great Motor Race at Dieppe, showing numerous accidents and many exciting adventures.

PENTRE.—Tivoli Palace and Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. C. W. Poole; Acting-Manager, Mr. James Gunn.—Topping the bill this week is the Derrington family in a marvellous cycling act, which is deservedly applauded; a refined, speciality comedy entitled A Promising Pupil, is contributed by Ben Harris and his nippers; Eva Lumley and Freda Ettrick's company is responsible for first-class comedy in Jimmy All-of-a-Twist; humour is prominent in the work of Helen and Cozens in The Doctor and the Patient; Louie Hurman, the Macdonald Trio, Jack Foley, Agnese and Arthur Lynch, together wtih the Tivoliscope add to an excellent bill of fare.

PENZANCE.—St. John's Hall.—Mr. J. Bannister Howard's When Knights were Bold company appeared here on Monday and Tuesday evenings, playing to record houses. Mr. Howard's company fully realised all expectations. Mr. Bert Bestwick as Sir Guy de Vere worked hard and successfully; Miss Edith Anton Laing ably supported him as Lady Rowena, and the numerous other rôles were capably acted. The tour is under the direction of Mr. Arthur Howard, and the local arrangements were in the hands of Messrs. A. J. Rogers and Son, who have booked a number of first-class companies for the coming autumn and winter season.

PETERBOROUGH.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. A. Darville Vernon.—This week we have Clarence C. Corri's company in The Dandy Fifth. The Colonel is admirably depicted by Mr. Percy Baverstock; Mr. J. Edward Fraser is successful as Dick Darville; Mr. George Beverley is a capital Sergt.-Major Milligan; Mr. Jack Crichton as Brown keeps the house in continuous laughter; Miss Pauline Hague as Kate Lorimer has a charming appearance and a rich, sweet-toned voice. Her songs are greatly appreciated. Miss Florence Spurgeon does well as Antoinette; and Miss Maud Nichols is well placed as Mrs. Von Blitzen. Other parts are ably taken by Miss Nora Morra, Miss Edie Burton, Miss Lois Stanton, Mr. Frank Haylett, Mr. Harry Edward Ray, and Mr. Phil Hart.

PLYMOUTH.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch is being presented here. In the title-rôle Miss Gertrude Irving is superb, her conception of the charitably-disposed, though somewhat simple, mother being splendid; Miss Rita Carlyle as Miss Hazy, the nervous bride, is indescribably funny, her matrimonial vicissitudes evoking roars of laughter; Miss Violet Vivian as Mrs. Shultz, a portly German, is immense in more ways than one; and Miss Mabel Durrant as Mrs. Eichorn adds an additional touch of comedy to a piece brimful of humour. Miss Christine Rayner is touchingly pathetic as Lovey Mary, and Miss Mary Deverell is smart as Miss Lucy. Mr. Fred Forrest as Stubbins furnishes a realistic impersonation of a slow, heavy American.

Palace of Varieties.—Manager, Mr. Jack Field.—Park's Eton Boys and Girton Girls form a strong attraction, and testify to the finished training they have evidently received. The Kurios have a very amusing sketch, the attractiveness of which is enhanced by some trick scenery; Irene Rose is a smart comedienne, and scores in the sketch Her First Engagement; and Lowenwirth and Cohan have something decidedly original in the patter line. The Austral Trio, in A Musical Evening, prove themselves instrumentalists of ability; and Alfred Wellesley is entertaining in his sketch Uncle's Courtship. Lade Henderson, vocalist, Tom Leo, comedian, and Vernon's Bioscope complete the bill.

PONTEFRACT.—Alexandra Theatre of Varieties.—Manager, Mr. Tom Diacoff.—This week Harwood's Juveniles head the bill in a dainty and quaintly-conceived scena, A Children's Christmas Eve. The children sing and dance well, and the whole performance carries an air of naturalness that is charming. Mlle. Ada Gatley is a daring slack wire walker and a clever equilibrist; whilst Major Arnold gets in some bewildering conjuring tricks. The Sisters Hula quickly danced into public favour, and seem likely to stop there; Harry Luck is properly styled a comedian, and kept the house decidedly alive with his really funny songs. Renson and Waite also contribute to the comedy element of the programme, and cause no end of mirth with their smart repartee and jokes; Harry Greener, the singing pit lad, sang a song, amongst others, introducing incidents connected with the recent Maypole pit disaster, and, as may be imagined, scored especially amongst the mining portion of the audience. The Alexandra Bioscope shows a series of new and excellent pictures.

PONTYPRIDD.—Royal Clarence Theatre.—Owners and Proprietors, Messrs. Trenchard and Jones; Manager, Mr. Charles Trenchard.—A very attractive programme this week includes the Trix Troupe, singers and dancers; Jack Henry and Will B. Tyler, in sensational cycling; Edward Caselli, banjo player; Charles Desmond, comedian; Queenie Dell, comedienne and dancer; Jack Jerome, comedian and dancer; Russell Carr, ventriloquist; and the Theatrescope.

PORTH.—The Palace, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. C. W. Poole; Manager, Mr. Walter Bynorth.—Topping an excellent bill this week the Ibrahim Arab Troupe score an unbounded success in their marvellous acrobatic performance; Charlie Deane makes a big hit with his song "Follow the tramlines"; Murray, as the Roman gladiator, is a fine specimen of physical culture; Nancy Renshaw, laughing negro comedienne, gives entire satisfaction; the Musical Keiths, novelty instrumentalists, are big favourites; Staffo, the comedy juggling butcher boy, delights the audience with his comicalities; and Adey Spencer, "the girl from the hat shop," sings and plays well. A notable turn is that of Mlle. Haydées, who introduces a miniature vaudeville theatre and is greatly appreciated. The Palascope, with latest films, concludes.

PORTSMOUTH.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—The Beloved Vagabond is being presented here this week to highly-appreciative audiences by Mr. Fred Mouillot's No. 1 Company. Mr. Arthur Royston enacts the name-part, Gaston de Nerac, with consummate ease and resourcefulness. The part of Astlcot is extremely well taken by Mr. Ramsay Macbeth; Lord Rushworth is fittingly sustained by Mr. Alfred Drayton; Mr. Warburton Gamble distinguishes himself as the Comte de Verneuil; and the Curé is ably portrayed by Mr. Howard Leslie. Miss Kathleen Harrington enacts the trying rôle of Joanna Rushworth with becoming dignity and great histrionic finish; Miss Nita as Blanquette de Veau is excellent, the lights and shades of the part being strongly marked; Miss Edith Hunter makes a capital Lady Rushworth; Miss Ruby Wyndham as Madame La Blanc is successful; and Miss Hetty Kenyon is well suited as Louisette.

Prince's Theatre.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Agate.—Mr. Frederick Melville's drama Her Road to Ruin is being played here this week by Miss Eva Moss, Mr. Henry Wolston, and company. Miss Moss as Jess Willoughby is forcefully dramatic and convincing; Miss Nellie Bonser in the triple rôle of Mary Dawson, Marie de Vaune, and 'Orrible Mary does good work. Miss Alice Bowes makes a winsome and charming May Willoughby; Miss Lottie Coleman as Sal Briggs and Miss Marie Wright as Jennie Crackling do very well indeed. Mr. Henry Wolston gives a vigorous and manly delineation of the curate, Frank Temple; Mr. Heaton Gray as the wronged journalist is capital; Mr. Alex Bradley plays with all the necessary brutal frankness in the rôle of Philip Hardy; Mr. Dane Clarke is a dignified Bishop; Mr. William Lynton does capable work as Mr. Derwent, the solicitor; Billy Boots is amusingly acted by Mr. Harry Talbot; and Messrs. Victor Moor (Charles Cholmondeley), Frank Powell (Sir John Lewis), and F. C. Brooke (Dicky Gerald) are well placed in their several parts.

King's Theatre.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Claude Marner; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—This house is going strong since the adoption of the two-houses-a-night system. Nellie Wallace, the popular comedy artist, heads the bill for the week, submitting her most attractive numbers, and gaining much approval. Benson and Rose, in bright and brisk duologue, Elizabeth and Baby, are much liked; the Primrose Quartette of male vocalists warble most tunefully; Clotilda and Musto, with marvellous flock of performing cockatoos, furnish a pleasing entertainment; Gladys Huxley is a most capable and chic comedienne; Harry Lemore, American comedy juggler, submits a smart and clever turn, his wire-balancing being a notable feature; Brinn, in his expert and sensational act, Pastimes on a Battleship, is well received; Frank Hardie and company in The Man in Possession gain applause for a very sympathetic presentation; and the animated pictures by the Barrascope complete the programme.

Empire Palace.—Managing-Director, Captain Warren Wright; Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—The Mystery of the Red Web, an Anarchist episode, is ably portrayed by Messrs. Percy Yorke, Cooper Willis, George Martin, and the Misses Elizabeth Crome and Florence Nelson. The Cheers, with the well-trained cats, give a well-appreciated performance; the Saletos are daring in their head-balancing feats; Bert Brantford, comedian, gets a good hearing for his two amusing efforts; the Smythsons, in their ludicrous and diverting sketch Love Germs, are much applauded; Robins and Collier score in the sketch The Lady and the Porter; Bert Danson, eccentric comedian, with up-to-date and quaint songs, proves most acceptable; Payne's Biograph, with very humorous pictures; and Agnes Asher, a praiseworthy soubrette, complete the bill.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Harris.—Mr. Jake Friedman, in an artistic Dutch operetta, Happy Holland, tops the programme here for the week. The Ladderites give a clever display of fancy balancing on moval ladders; Miss Jose Gallimore is a sprightly vocalist and dancer; the Three Zaracs are seen in a smart comedy bar act; Mr. Nat Clifford is highly entertaining as a comedian and capable as a dancer; Miss Clara Beck, comedienne, has an engaging style that secures for her an enthusiastic encore; Mr. Henry Champion contributes four capital songs; Mr. Leonard Gautier, in novel scena, The Animated Toy Shop, gives an admirable performance with his docile ponies and dogs. The Hippo Pictures conclude.

PRESTON.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, The Executors of the late Mr. W. Johnson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Stephen Pritt.—Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Mackey's company are appearing here in their Irish musical play, Rollicking Rory. Mr. Chalmers Mackey displays much humour as the light-hearted Irishman; Mr. Fred W. Leonard as the unprincipled Stephen D'Arcy gives a careful presentation; Mr. Richard Hutton is a capable Captain Ashleigh; Mr. St. John Stuart portrays very effectively Shaun Brady; and Mr. Henry Sainsbury as Mr. Callagan is good; Miss Nana Flensberg is a bewitching Rosie Callagan; Miss Constance Bellamy is successful in the dual rôle of Peggy O'More and the Queen of the Fairies; Miss Adele Liddon and Nellie O'Mara as the Widow O'Donohoe and Mary Maloney are both good in their respective parts; and Little Dorothy is a clever little Rosaline; as Mrs. Ashleigh in Act I., and Rosaline in Acts II. and III. Mrs. Chalmers Mackey succeeds in winning well-deserved applause. There are capitally-rendered vocal numbers for which Madame Constance Bellamy, Miss Nana Flensberg, Mr. Charles Homer, and Mr. Chalmers Mackey are responsible.

Prince's Theatre. — Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Sawyer and Woodruff.—Mr. Charles H. Lester's capable company, including Miss Beatrice Anderson, is paying a welcome return visit here in A Life for a Life. Mr. Charles H. Lester gives a powerful rendering of Josh Harker; Mr. Harry T. Wood is a manly Kit Oswald; as Pedro Li Celci Mr. Richard Bosco portrays the unscrupulous villain with power; Mr. Charles Osborne is capital as the Sheriff; Mr. Horace Buckley raises many a laugh as Tim McCarthy; and he receives excellent support from Miss Lydia Hart as Nancy Dorn, her laugh appearing to be contagious; Miss Dorothy Riddell is charmingly sweet as Kate Evelyn; and little Irene is decidedly clever as Venetta; Miss Beatrice Anderson as Aulalia has a heavy part to play, and succeeds in obtaining loud and prolonged applause for the really clever manner in which she enacts the part. The rest of the characters are all in able hands, who one and all work well to make the play the thorough success it undoubtedly is. The scenery is very realistic throughout.

Royal Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank E. Burdett.—Tom Foy and company in The Yorkshire Lad in London is as big a success as ever, and simply convulses the house with drolleries.; Hilda de Grey, burlesque actress and tyrolean vocalist, gives a pleasing turn; J. W. Gallagher is an eccentric comedian with a style decidedly his own, and proves a good turn; the Farrows (Harry and Louie) have a capital sketch which is decidedly well received; Kingstone Trollope gives a clever dramatic monologue, entitled Only a Dream, with much ability and effect; Leo D'Alvar has a very novel gymnastic act, which is highly appreciated; a most talented troupe are the Szarvasi Ferencz troupe of acrobats, with their songs and dances, and the audience are not slow in showing their appreciation of this clever and artistic turn; the old favourite, F. V. St. Clair, in his latest songs and local topical allusions, is as deservedly popular as ever, and is loudly encored; the Cameross have a clever duologue, which is funny and smart; Pat O'Connor is a comedian and dancer whose clog dancing is much above the ordinary; The Ship Wreckers, on the Bioscope, concludes a really excellent all-round show.

RADCLIFFE. — Grand Opera House.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Sante; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Boothman.—Miss Nita Rae's drama For Love of a Woman is being played by Mr. Eustace Day's company. The story centres around a child of tender years, Nance Nanor, a part naturally but effectively taken by Miss May Day. Mr. Arthur Chisholm is successful as Ned Merrick, the hero, and Mr. F. Lloyd acts with the necessary power as the scheming husband, the villain of the piece. Mr. Day is good as the old grandfather, and Messrs. C. Ninian, L. S. Harrison, F. Ramsdale, and Miss E. Shelton do well in humorous parts.

RAMSGATE.—Royal Victoria Theatre.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Jules Richeux.—The well-known musical comedy Sergeant Brue has been staged at the above place of entertainment during the past week, and has attracted capital audiences. The show goes with a fine swing, and is as lively and fresh as when first produced. The production is by Mr. Harry Benet's company, and this gentleman gives a fine impersonation of Crookie Scrubbs, the criminal. Mr. Dennis Lyndon is seen to much advantage in the title-rôle; and Mr. Lister Morrah makes a good son, Michael Brue. Miss Daise Dale is capital as Aurora Brue; while Miss Ray Anderson is a great success as the smart Lady Bickenhall.

Marina Theatre.—This comfortable place of amusement is, under the supervision of Mr. F. C. Dew, being extensively patronised. The animated pictures exhibited are excellent, and the same description befits the variety turns which are given incidentally at the twice-nightly performances. Tiny and Mite, the clever child artists, continue to be great favourites. The construction of the new East Cliff lift near the Marina Theatre has made the building much more accessible from the eastern portion of Ramsgate.

Royal Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Lord George Sanger; Resident-Manager, Mr. Dan Forrest.—On the first three evenings of the week Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's clever company staged Somerset Maugham's three-act comedy Mrs. Dot. The whole of the production bore the hall-mark of excellence. Miss Decima Moore charmed audiences by the manner in which she sustained the part of Mrs. Worthley (Mrs. Dot); and Miss Emma Hutchison was also brilliantly successful in the character of Lady Sellinger. James Blenkinsop found a most capable exponent in Mr. Frank Lacey, who proved himself a thoroughly talented actor; and all the remaining parts were handled with distinct skill by those to whom their representation had been entrusted. On Thursday the famous Follies commenced a three nights' engagement with a fine programme, including Pellissier's Potted Plays and Everybody's Benefit (a burlesque of a benefit matinée).

RAWTENSTALL.—Grand Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. Fred Granville; General Business-Manager, Mr. A. B. Feather.—This week sees the re-opening for the season of this charming theatre, which has during the vacation been repainted and decorated throughout. The attraction for the opening is a decided one, being Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Levy and Mr. J. E. Cardwell's company, in the new musical comedy burlesque A Merry Maid, which was received with great enthusiasm on Monday by a very good audience. Miss May Gibson as Peggy O'Hooligan proved herself a charming actress, her portrayal being artistic and her singing exceptionally good. Miss F. Adamson as Angelina Vere de Vere was also most successful, and she also scored well for her fine rendering of her musical numbers. Mr. W. Shaw Hutchinson made an exceptionally good Biddy O'Hooligan, and his songs were also well received; Mr Vivian Wakeman as Larry O'Hooligan was everything desirable in a character that suits him to the ground, and his contributions to the musical programme were greatly enjoyed; Mr. Neil Hardy gave a clever impersonation of the Hon. Cecil Taft; Wee George Wood again delighted his audience with his exposition of the part of Bertie Vere de Vere, and his songs were enthusiastically encored; Mr. Howard Lawrence was a successful Thadey Claney, his songs being well sung; Mr. Phil Goldie and Mr. Horace Hillerby were thoroughly capable as Von Swank and Scrivener; and Miss Ray Watson was an excellent Flossie Kixie. The chorus is exceptionally good, the music bright and sparkling, whilst the scenery and dresses are beautiful.

READING.—Royal County Theatre.—Proprietors and Managers, Mr. Milton Bode and Mr. Edward Compton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Benton.—Mr. Henry Swinerd's No. 1 company is here this week with the popular musical comedy Dare-Devil Dorothy, which is put on the stage in capital style. Mr. Harry Ugar is exceedingly diverting as Silas Crump; Mr. Walter Ashley gives a good impersonation of the villain, Captain Fielding; Mr. Walter B. Ungent is effective as Captain Dudley; Miss Nellie Valentine appears to advantage as Ruth Montrose; Miss Dorothy Desmond acts with much chic and vivacity as Dorothy Montrose. All the other characters are satisfactorily sustained. The piece abounds with tuneful musical numbers, all of which are well rendered. Seven distinct turns are given in the grand variety scene in the last act, comprising specialities by Miss Dorothy Desmond, contralto, Miss Nellie Harcourt, American soubrette, Miss Nellie Valentine, soprano, Miss Florence Corrie and Miss Daisy Holbrook, dancers, and Mr. Harry Ugar, comedian. Mr. George Encyl Lewis is an efficient musical director.

The Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Howard Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. E. Draco.—Johnson and Devene, comedy cyclists, go through a clever and amusing performance; Graham, the human marionette, gives a novel turn, in which he gives clever imitations of popular music-hall celebrities, and also appears as a resuscitated prehistoric man; Maud and Sydney Wood give a very pleasing sketch, entitled Tennis Courtship, in which they introduce some graceful dancing; Harry Harris and Mona Williams give some good music-hall impersonations in their sketch A Night at the Halls; Clare and Postor appear to advantage in a comedy acrobatic and dancing act; Harry Marris is an entertaining comedian; May Fayre, comedienne, sings with ability; Joe Peterson's company of comedians produce a capital sketch, The Pawnbroker; and an amusing scene is depicted on the Bioscope.

The Royal Pierrots continue their popular al-fresco concerts on the Thames Promenade. Alf. Brooks and George Green, comedians, are great favourites. Miss Ethel Dunford is the special artist at the Sunday Sacred Concert.

ROCHDALE.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, The Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Hague.—The Girl Who Lost Her Character occupies the boards here this week. The play is well staged, and the scene in which the wronged girl smashes the furniture is intensely realistic, and is deservedly appreciated. Mr. Ed. McLean is admirable in his impersonation of the Rev. Robert Everton; the dual rôle of Jack England and Private Johnson is capably sustained by Mr. Harold Macartney; Mr. Richard Ferris cleverly portrays the unscrupulous Captain Caversham; and Mr. G. Mitchell is all that could be desired as James Sutton. The humorous element is in the excellent hands of Mr. Geo. H. Asquin as Dick Punch and Miss Amy Poulton as Isabella Jones; Miss Sybil Hare sweetly enacts the part of Rose Seymour; and Miss Madge Morley acts with distinction the title-rôle Molly Vernon.

Empire.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Thomas Hargreaves; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Hargreaves.—My Fancy, described as the queen of sand dancers, tops the bill here this week; her performance deserves the unstinted appreciation accorded. David Poole is a clever ventriloquist; there is not a dull moment during his stay on the boards. Spangles and Sawdust, in their comedy aerial act, are both clever and amusing; the Sisters Wingrove are smart and dashing vocalists and dancers; Will Musgrave, comedian; Alex. Loston, negro comedian; and the Empire Bioscope complete the bill of fare.

ROTHERHAM.—Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Holbery Hardy.—Miss Mary Austin and Mr. E. Vivian Edmonds' company are here this week with Woman and Wine. Miss C. St. Elmo gives a highly-finished portrayal of the part of Marcel Rigadout; and Miss Violet Sims is pleasing as Mary Andrews. Miss Ethel Vinroy scores as Janet Marlow; and Miss Octavia De Noel has a strong rôle as La Colombe. Mr. E. Vivian Edmonds is seen to great advantage as Dick Seymour; and Mr. J. Milne Taylor is deserving of mention as Hugh Seymour. Mr. R. Foullis scores as Alphonse Beaudet; and Mr. W. Manning, a local favourite, gives a clever representation of Professor Sauter, F.R.G.S. Mr. Edwin T. Kisby as Pierre Cruoru and Mr. Ashmore Vincent as Phineas Collins are deserving of mention.

Hippodrome, Ltd.—Lessee, Mr. Edwin J. Fox; Resident-Manager, Mr. Claude Shayler.—Messrs. Elton and Elma give a finished triple bar act; and the Prince Milner Trio are deservedly applauded in their wire-walking display. Messrs. Conan and Doyle create much amusement with their patter and jokes; the Brothers Ashley are responsible for a very laughable sketch, Next, Please; the Two St. Johns give a musical turn and dance which is highly appreciated; Mr. J. G. Grahame and Miss Zerlina Harrington give a highly finished performance of the sketch A Daughter of Pleasure. The highly-trained baboons of Mr. E. H. Bostock, under the guidance of Captain Grahame, do some very clever things; the Sisters Lytton complete the bill with well-rendered duets. The orchestra, under Mr. T. Richardson, continues to give immense pleasure to the patrons.

RUNCORN.—Public Hall Theatre.—The Public Hall Co., Ltd.; Manager, Mr. E. S. Lea.—This place reopened for the season this week with the Royal Pierrot Troupe in a miscellaneous proogramme of sterling merit. The troupe consists of artists who possess fine voices for the songs, duets, and choruses rendered before the interval, and are ably seconded by the Three Sisters Johnson, smart vocalists and dancers; Eugene Maccabe, tuneful song artist; Smith and Travis, in a taking illustrated song-scena; La Belle Mars, in beautiful kaleidoscopic dancing; a sketch of a good rollicing nature; and up-to-date Bioscope and pictures which do not fail to interest.

SALFORD.—Prince of Wales.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—It's Never Too Late to Mend is presented by Mr. Fred Granville's company, which had a good reception on Monday, when Tom Robinson was well represented by Mr. E. H. Templeton; Miss G. Entwistle was a charming Susan Merton; Mr. Lawrence Marshall makes a lot of fun as Jackey; George Fielding is well sustained by Mr. V. W. Carlyle; Mr. C. F. Johnson as Rev. Francis Eden, Mr. Harry Cave as Peter Crawley, Mr. Edwin Davies as Isaac Levi, Mr. W. R. Wilson as the Governor, and Miss M. Wilton as Josephs give adequate support in their various characters.

Regent Theatre of Varieties, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Secretary, Mr. J. C. Patterson.—Chris Richards, eccentric comedian and dancer, causes much amusement with his antics; Harry Rogerson, the tired comedian, is a very clever tumbler, and his dramatic skit is most laughable; May Moore-Duprez, "the jolly Dutch girl," is full of fun, and gains much applause for her merry wit and dancing; the Two Kays give a very interesting vocal act. Other very satisfying turns are provided by Daley and Collins, comic patterers; Chummie La Mara, comedienne; Sadie Seymour, comedienne; the Balsamos, in comedy gymnastic act; and Adeline Yohle, charming songstress.

Royal Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; General-Manager, Mr. H. Winstanley; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Wentworth.—The Hypocrite is an exciting episode, which is well performed by Fred S. Peake, Edwin Morton, and Dora Davis; Iky Moe is a clever little Hebrew singer and dancer; Fanny Robina has some pleasing songs; Martin Conway's business is very comical; Wyndham and Waters have an amusing sketch The Professor and His Pupil. The well-varied programme also includes Celest, wire-walker and baton juggler; Kendrick and Laura, in song and dance; Billie Bint; Florry Cooper, a pleasing vocalist; Petro and Leon (Hattie and Pete), comedy gymnasts; and Shavo, expert comedy juggler.

Opera House and Assembly Rooms, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Lester King.—Wanted, a Son-in-Law is a screamingly comic picture, and twice nightly that and the following are shown to good houses: Two Savants, The Cabby Sweetheart, Free Pardon, Need of Gold, Paper-tearing, Craze of Microbes, Just My Luck, &c.

SALISBURY. — Victoria Park. — Director of Entertainments, Mr. F. D'Alton Tebby; Manageress, Miss Jessie D'Alton.—Miss Lilian Ramsdale dances in a highly attractive manner; Miss Beatrice Witham has a budget of good songs and secures rounds of applause nightly; Miss Edna Lyne has a capital voice, and is very successful; Mr. Albert Laurence delights everyone with his comic songs and patter; other members of the company acquit themselves creditably, and an amusing sketch concludes the programme.

SCARBOROUGH.—Londesborough Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Waddington and Son; Manager, Mr. J. T. Carpenter.—Miss Hook of Holland is the attraction here. Marie Wilson, in the title-rôle, achieved considerable success; as Mina Miss Mabel Sealby received a most flattering reception, having to answer repeated encores; Mr. Fred Lyne as Simon Slinks kept the fun going throughout; Mr. Arthur Reynolds as Mr. Hook was good; and Mr. Powys Pinder as the bandmaster was decidedly good.

Spa Theatre.—Proprietors, Cliff Bridge Co.; Manager, Mr. Francis Goodricke.—On Monday Mr. Edward Terry and company opened their week's visit with The Magistrate. Mr. Terry, in the character of Mr. Posket, was the backbone of the whole performance. He had good support from Miss Agnes Knights as Agetha. During the week Liberty Hall, Fiander's Widow, and Sweet Lavender were also played.

Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Garside; Manager, Mr. Fred. P. Morgan.—Mr. W. Hallat's Company opened on Monday in Two Little Drummer Boys. As the hero, Mr. Herbert dealt most satisfactorily with his part; Miss Blanche Steele, as Lola Gray, did exceedingly well, and showed much ability; and Miss Effie O. Crawford and Miss Ivy Millais, as the two little drummer boys, were delightful.

The Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. Fielding Smith.—Maestro and Mdlle. Orstia contribute a wonderful juggling turn; the Solo Trio in the vocal efforts soon found favour with the audience; Daisy Jerome has many ways of pleasing the audience with her impersonations; Prof. Dubois and his baboon also appear; with Lucy Coventry, in coon songs, Decima Brooke, dancer, Richardson Taylor, silfleur, George French, comedian, and Garganes, clever acrobats.

The Aquarium.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. Walter Kitchingman; Assistant-Manager, Mr. E. L. Holland.—Heading the bill here are the Scottish Maisters, who present an exceedingly good vocal turn; Kahn and Kahn are mystifying illusionists; the Brothers Babusio show considerable ability as acrobats; Sim Maree, contortionist, is well up in his business; the Brothers Curran create much fun in their comedy boxing act; Prof. Dunning, in a ventriloquial turn, is full of variety; Andy Burns, the Gasgoines (jugglers), and Gwllym Jones (Welsh tenor) also appear, with Mdlle. Marie Levante's orchestra of ladies.

SEACOMBE.—Irving Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. James Kiernan; Lessees, The Excelsior Animated Picture Co.; Manager, Mr. George Barry.—The films shown here fully maintain their high standard of excellence, in addition to which a capital variety company includes Ray Lester, in a smart selection of American illustrated songs; Tiny and Mite, the wonderful child vocalists and dancers, who pay a welcome return visit; The Dixie Boys, a trio of clever patterers and vocal comedians; and The Bijou Juveniles, in a refined and highly-appreciated musical scena, Pussy's Birthday.

SHEFFIELD.—Lyceum Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—The screamingly farcical comedy The Lady of Ostend has frequently amused large audiences here, and on Monday the house was filled with a delighted audience, when the favourite comedian Mr. Lawrence Brough and his excellent company began their farewell visit. The funny situations again caused roars of laughter, and all the artists were repeatedly applauded. The piece was luxuriously mounted.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—The Temptations of London is being played to large houses, and proves to the taste of the Royal clientèle.

Alexandra Theatre. — Managing-Director, Mr. William D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—Messrs. Dottridge, Longden, and Millard's company opened to a crowded house on Monday in the new and original drama The Girl with the Angel Face. In the morally repulsive character of the beautiful young lady who gives the title to the play Miss Florrie Green cleverly depicted the conflicting emotions of a modern Delilah; Miss Mildred Carr made a delightfully vivacious Mollie Maitland; Mr. C. Mannering was good as the Rev. Gordon Cross; Mr. Naylor Grimshaw showed talent and versatility in the dual part of the Wentworths, père et fils; a fine character study was the Jasper Death of Mr. Fred G. Evison; and other characters were well played by Miss Winifred Delevanti as Nellie Bly, Miss Phyllis Bailley, Mr. Allen Charles, Mr. Forbes Leighton, and Mr. Austin Mortimer. The drama was staged in Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's usual perfect manner, and its reception was of a cordial nature.

Empire Palace Theatre.—The Moss' Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar.—The great comic star Mr. George Robey is the leading artist in the Empire programme this week; and other popular performers scheduled are Mr. Jock Mills, a pleasing Caledonian entertainer; the Five Olracs, in a smart and novel act; Miss Ethel Haydon, a pretty and accomplished comedienne; Hans and Lux, in a novel turn; Mr. Hugh Barclay; Mr. R. H. Douglas, in his clever and amusing mimetic and burlesque interlude; Miss Rhoda Paul, in a refined vocal and dramatic sketch; the Bioscope, with new films; and Lockhart's famous elephants, in diverting tricks.

The Hippodrome. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. P. D. Elbourne.—A first-class bill of fare is again provided here, and good business is the rule. The star of the week is the beautiful and elegant Mlle. Renée, in her unique entertainment; the Three Braggs are talented and graceful performers; and others who win deserved approbation are Starr and Leslie, comedy artists, &c.; Miss Nell Cotter; the Schiavonis, Continental experts; Miss Evelyn Taylor; Burns and Bentley, local favourites; Miss Henre, &c. Some artistic animated pictures are loudly applauded.

Grand Theatre.—Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Turpin.—Raymond's Bio-Tableaux, with the latest films by the most noted firms, and a smart variety company are drawing big houses to this cosy and well-conducted "down-town" theatre.

Central Theatre.—Lessees, The Jasper Redfern Co., Ltd.—The newcomers here on Monday were Mr. W. G. Webber, Li Chang-Hi, and Mr. J. H. Carroll. The Salome Dance and other films were well received.

(Continued on page 16.)

SALADS are rendered very appetizing by the addition of

LEA & PERRINS' SAUCE.

It much improves their flavour and enhances their "freshness."

By Royal Warrant to H.M. the King.

LONDON & SUBURBAN THEATRES.

KING'S THEATRE, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, Aug. 24,
the Comic Opera, by R. Courtneidge and A. M. Thompson and Edward German, entitled
"TOM JONES."

Very welcome was the return visit to this theatre of Tom Jones, and the large audience present on Monday evening fully voiced its enthusiastic appreciation of the opera so admirably written by Messrs. Courtneidge and Thompson, with its music composed by Mr. Edward German. The latter has completely caught the spirit of the times of "Tom Jones" in his melodies, and undoubtedly the opera gains in strength by the assistance of Mr. German. The company organised by Mr. Robert Courtneidge is as attractive as could be desired, and a successful tour should result. Mr. Harry Welchman undertakes the title-rôle with much feeling, and his singing is of extremely good quality; as Mr. Allworthy Mr. John Morley acts well; and Mr. Deane Percival makes a characteristically unpleasant Blifil. Most of the fun is provided by Mr. Dan Rolyat, who as Benjamin Partridge keeps the audience in excellent humour by his very mirthful antics. In Squire Western Mr. Ambrose Manning is well fitted, and his picture of the bibulous old English gentleman is simply perfect; a most humorous exponent of Gregory is Mr. John T. Macmillan; while Grizzle and Dobbin are admirably rendered by Messrs. Walter L. Rignold and Lionel Braham. Miss Florence Smithson now essays the part of Sophia, and both in singing and acting there can be no hesitation in saying that the character could not be in better hands. Miss Western is worthily played by Miss Mary Southwell; a brilliant success is won by Miss Isabelle Dillon as Honour, whose sprightly acting is one of the gems of the production. Lady Bellaston is capitally portrayed by Miss Alice Oppitz; and Miss Cecilia Wilman acts capably as the hostess of the inn at Upton. The chorus is a particularly pretty and animated one; and the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Edwin Thornton, ably perform their duties. The costumes and appointments are most elaborate and effective, and the scenery is a feast of artistic colouring.

THE MARLBOROUGH.

On Monday, Aug. 24, the Play, entitled
"THE ADVENTURE OF LADY URSULA."

Mr. Norman is this week presenting three popular plays, The Adventure of Lady Ursula, David Garrick, and Nell Gwynne. The play under notice is the first named, and Mr. Norman V. Norman as Sir George Sylvester has a part which presents many opportunities, of which this artist makes the most. He is fortunate in having the co-operation of Miss Beatrice Wilson in the part of Lady Ursula. Miss Wilson showed excellently at the outset the lighter side of the character, and acted with feeling, passion, and intensity in the more important part of the play. Miss M. Barnett was properly austere as the old aristocrat Mrs. Fenton. Miss Sybil Ruskin has considerable talent, and she portrayed Dorothy Fenton exceedingly well. Mr. Alfred Gray acts with much spirit as the impetuous Earl of Hassenden, and Mr. Sam Wilkinson is in every way commendable as the Rev. Mr. Blimboe, being especially good in the last act. The eccentricities, one might say, of Mr. Dent were shown very consistently and without undue exaggeration by Mr. R. P. Lambe; and Mr. Norman Leslie, in addition to the arduous duties of stage-management, successfully portrayed the part of Mr. Castleton. Preceding the comedy an interesting novelty was quite unexpectedly prepared for the Marlborough patrons by the presentation of the Balcony Scene from Romeo and Juliet, with Miss Beatrice Wilson in the part of Romeo, as played by her at the Shakespearean Festival at Tunbridge Wells. In her treatment of the rôle Miss Wilson displayed her usual histrionic power. She has a thorough grasp of the part, which is admirably treated by her. Miss Sybil Ruskin gave an artistic representation of Juliet, and Mercutio and Benvolio receive efficient treatment at the hands of Messrs. Alfred Gray and Cyril Percy. In conjunction with Mr. H. Murray Herriott, resident-manager, Mr. Chas. Barstow, Mr. Norman's business-manager, was courteously solicitous for the comfort of the numerous patrons in front.

KENNINGTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 24, the Play, by Hall Caine, entitled
"THE BONDMAN."

Hall Caine's celebrated play The Bondman is this week attracting large audiences to welcome its return visit to the Kennington Theatre, where Mr. Wentworth Croke's talented company does full justice to the work of the author. The production is magnificently staged, the new and elaborate scenery by Ernest Howard being very fine indeed; while the Kennington orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Jullien H. Wilson, give an excellent rendering of the incidental music by J. M. Glover. The action of the play takes place about the middle of the nineteenth century, and as Adam Fairbrother, a prosperous farmer of that period, Mr. Oswald Lingard is seen to distinct advantage; Jason is undoubtedly the most difficult of all the male parts, but Mr. R. Scrope Quentin shows himself quite equal to his task, his masterly acting gaining him several curtain calls. The part of Michael Sunlocks, Jason's half-brother, is ably sustained by Mr. Lionel Atwill. A special word of praise must be said in favour of Mr. W. H. Rotheram, who fills the double rôle of Father Ferrati and Grandfather in splendid style. Messrs. Alfred Fisher as Governor Testa, F. J. Waller as Doctor Boni, and William Evans as Marshal of the Police are excellent in their respective parts. Miss Madge Lanerton's impersonation of Mrs. Fairbrother is decidedly good. The rôle of Greeba is filled by Miss Georgina Wynter, whose fine acting wins her the admiration and the applause of the entire audience. Miss Gertrude Helene as Mona and Master Walter Neville as Danny are juveniles of great promise. Misses Emilie Mayhew as Christian Anne, Bessie West as Marie, and Hilda Grey as Nattalina are all admirably suited to their different parts; while numerous minor characters leave nothing to be desired.

CORONET THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 24,
the Drama, adapted from Ouida's Novel,
"UNDER TWO FLAGS."

Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company is appearing this week in Edwin Elsner's capital dramatisation of Ouida's celebrated novel, and very thrilling and exciting is this short story of intrigue, love, and passion, culminating in the tragic death of the vivandière in order to save the life of the man she loves. As the warm-hearted, hot-blooded, courageous little warrior Cigarette Miss Agnes Verity wins golden opinions, and nothing could be more convincing and heart-stirring than her frantic endeavour to gain a reprieve for the haughty aristocrat "Beauty." Miss Verity secures all the interest and engrossment which this splendid story of heroic self-sacrifice deserves. Mr. Mark Blow is a great favourite as the reserved and haughty aristocrat, Bertie Cecil Royellieu, who in order to save a woman's honour and a brother's good name goes into voluntary banishment with the chasseurs in Africa. His struggle against overwhelming odds of misfortune and persecution is keenly watched by the audience. Mr. Austen Milroy as his friend Rockingham imparts quite an air of distinction and significance to the rôle. Miss Minnie Grey as Princess Venetia Corona, "the silver pheasant," acts agreeably. Miss Elsa Anderson is a sprightly Lavinia, maid to the Princess, and in the duet and dance, "Belgravia," with Mr. Harry Benson, who is a devil of a fellow as the valet Rake, and keeps the ball of fun rolling throughout, great praise is due to the comic ability of both artists. Rake's song, "Come out, come out, come out," in Act II. is very drolly delivered. Mr. Arthur Elwyn makes a fittingly saturnine figure of Colonel Chanteroy, "the Black Hawk"; and Mr. A. Holmes is good in the small part of Captain Claude de Chanrellon. Other minor rôles are satisfactorily rendered. Mr. Johnny Leoni, besides doing good work as Ezry Baroni, a money-lender, is assistant stage-manager; and Mr. Wallace Stranack assists Mr. Eade Montefiore at the front of the house.

THE DALSTON.

On Monday, Aug. 24, for the first time in London, the Romantic Venetian Drama, by Fred C. Somerfield, entitled
"THE TYRANT."

Homodei	Mr. Fred C. Somerfield
Angelo, the Tyrant	Mr. Roy Fortescue
Rudolph	Mr. Edward E. Louis
Pan	Mr. T. Ashmore
Victor	Mr. Frank Etheridge
Nobbo	Mr. Willie Barrett
Lieut. Taska	Mr. James Sherwin
Arch Priest	Mr. Stanley Whyte
Doctor	Mr. Kurson Proctor
Rev. Dean of St. Anthony	Mr. Geo. Rathbone
Abrossi	Mr. Rowland Wade
Roderic	Mr. C. E. Geary
Usher	Mr. Sidney
First Night Watchman	Mr. Graham Bynge
Second Night Watchman	Mr. Cope Williams
Lady Katherine	Miss Margaret Frame
Eulie	Miss Cherry Vehenye
Daphne	Miss Vida Halsewood
Reginella	Miss Nellie Freeland
Tisbe	Miss Marie Dagmar

Founded on one of Victor Hugo's works, the romantic Venetian drama above alluded to was originally produced at the Osborne, Manchester, on Dec. 17, 1906, and found its way to London on Monday. The play forms one of those stage stories which enthrall those who have a relish for love, mystery, hate, and revenge. The interest is sustained to the end, for it is not until the piece is actually nearing completion that the true inwardness of the plot is revealed, the audience being thus kept in a state of expectancy the greater part of the time they are in the theatre. The personage of the title is Angelo, Governor of Padua, whose tyrannical rule includes the keeping of his wife, Lady Katherine, a prisoner within his palace. Therein, in due course, appears Tisbe, a famous actress, whose beauty has captivated the brutal Angelo. He yearns for her love, but she is deeply enamoured of the young Prince, Rudolph, who, in his turn, is infatuated with Lady Katherine, whom he has met before she was wedded to the tyrant. With the connivance of Homodei, described as "the avenger," the Prince is lured to the palace, but is enabled to escape by Tisbe, who discovers that Lady Katherine is the possessor of a cross belonging to her (Tisbe's) late mother, which proves that her ladyship, when a girl, had aided the woman long since deceased. Angelo proposes to kill his wife, and Tisbe suggests poison. This idea being acceded to by Angelo, Tisbe contrives to substitute a sleeping draught for the deadly mixture, with the result that while Lady Katherine is taken to Tisbe's house, where she ultimately recovers, Angelo is enticed to the home of Homodei, where the latter, in revenge for the tyrant having disgraced his sister, poisons him. Rudolph, believing Lady Katherine to have been done to death by Tisbe, repairs to the house of the latter with the object of killing her, but the discovery of her ladyship still alive, causes a happy ending, and Homodei arriving finally on the scene with his sister, the latter is taken under Tisbe's care, in view of the probable death of the brother for the part he has taken in despatching the tyrant.

The representation of the piece is in every way efficient. The author, Mr. Fred C. Somerfield, has allotted himself the part of Homodei, the avenger, and in sustaining that rôle he proves himself as capable an actor as he is an adaptor of a thrilling story. The character is by no means an easy one, but at the hands of Mr. Somerfield every trait is carefully elaborated. Angelo, the tyrant, is another rôle that bristles with difficulties. There are two sides to the character, and in the reproduction of both Mr. Roy Fortescue succeeds admirably. He cleverly throws up the despotic and cruel nature of the man, but when evincing fear that those whom he has oppressed so relentlessly, Mr. Fortescue displays sufficient apprehensiveness to show that the feeling of cowardice is strong within him. Miss Marie Dagmar scores a distinct success as Tisbe. To the actress, in this instance, falls the unthankful task of pretending to love when she really hates, and the illusion is made complete. By a clever assumption of a trying rôle, Miss Dagmar fully merits the hearty applause accorded her. Mr. E. E. Louis imparts a good deal of elegance to his representation of Rudolph. Mr. James Sherwin as Lieut. Taska makes an imposing officer, and Mr. T. Ashmore is alert as Pan, the faithful friend of Rudolph. Miss Margaret Frame is graceful and impressive as Lady Katherine, wife of Angelo, and Miss Cherry Vehenye acts cleverly as Eulie, Homodei's sister. Considerable merriment is caused by the humorous acting of Mr. Frank Etheridge as Victor, Mr. Willie Barrett as Nobbo, and Miss Nellie Freeland as Reginella.

BROADWAY THEATRE, S.E.

On Monday, Aug. 24, the Drama, in Four Acts, by Frederick Melville,
"THE UGLIEST WOMAN ON EARTH."

Melville drama is highly popular here, and always draws good business. The Ugliest Woman on Earth is proving that strong drama, well acted and well mounted, is as attractive as any other form of entertainment. Miss Beatrice Homer is an excellent actress, and makes the title-rôle very interesting; Miss Gertrude Harrison, always earnest and sympathetic, plays Rose Courtenay with all the necessary power and effect; Miss Violet Macaree as Marita is well suited to the character, and wins much sympathy; Miss Nellie Jackson is a bright and clever Aggie Brown; Mr. Philip Darian is a manly and earnest Jack Merryman; Mr. Leyton Cancellor is very good indeed as Herbert Gold; Mr. Leonard Thackeray is a picturesque Antonio Luchesi; Mr. William de Brigord is well suited to the part of Tom Redvers; and Mr. Freddie Bentley is a richly humorous Tubby Herrick. Other well-played parts are Griffiths (Mr. J. H. Dartley), Dr. Carr (Mr. Gerald Nolan), Raggles (Mr. Harry Leyton), Gendarme (Mr. Edgar Leeds), White (Mr. George Potter), Grab (Mr. Jack Edwards), Quick (Mr. Tom Sawyer), Bullock (Mr. Fred Newton), Green (Mr. George Burton), and Lameral, Paolo, and Fritz (Messrs. Wilton Boyne, Stuart Roberts, and Henry Williams). Mr. Leyton Cancellor is general-manager, Mr. Leonard Thackeray stage-manager, and Mr. Cecil de Lee acting-manager for Mr. Melville; while Mr. Bertram Iles looks well after the interests of the resident-management.

LYRIC, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, Aug. 24,
the Comedy, by Richard Ganthony, entitled
"A MESSAGE FROM MARS."

The members of Mr. F. Mouillot's company—or, rather, the majority of them—should surely be able to congratulate themselves on the fact that they have been together with A Message from Mars for nearly nine years on tour. That is a good record. The reception of the play and of the actors this week at the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith, has been everything that could be desired. In the leading rôle of Horace Parker Mr. Wallace Widdicombe was, we learn, seen for the first time in this country. Previously he had played it all over the States and Canada. And we can say, without unduly eulogising Mr. Widdecombe's portrayal, that it is distinguished by an easy naturalness of speech and demeanour that go far to stamp him as an actor who is considerably gifted. Whether as the selfish, niggardly commercial man of the first act, or as the victim of a dream in the second, in which he receives the lesson he needs, or as the ultra-generous individual in the third, he succeeds in bringing before us a characterisation that is convincing in every way. Mr. William H. Brougham furnishes a capital account of himself as the mysterious Messenger from Mars, and Mr. Norman Clark plays with fidelity to life the part of the tramp. Miss Flora Hastings gives an altogether charming study of Horace's aunt. She is as dignified and graceful a middle-aged lady as one could wish to meet. Miss Rose Helene is fresh, winsome, and engaging as Minnie Templer, and Mr. Harold M. Davidson is a capital Sir Roland Wright. Miss Peggy E. Yeoman is quite an attractive personage as Bella, and Mr. R. E. Bevans appropriately enacts the rôle of the American. Miss Mary Glenbrane as Mrs. Clarence, Mr. Eric Fowler as the solicitor, Mr. Eustace French as the astronomer, Mr. J. B. Sunderland as Dr. Chapman, Mr. Louis Cabaret as Mr. Shillingford, and Mr. J. H. McCarthy as a coster all submit able impersonations. The piece is extremely well staged, and the mysterious electrical illusions and effects are wonderfully well arranged and worked.

GREENWICH THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 24, the Drama, adapted from Mrs. Henry Wood's novel, and entitled
"THE NEW EAST LYNNE."

The engagement of Mr. W. W. Kelly's New East Lynne company has proved a huge success, and it is evident that Greenwich playgoers are prepared to support really good entertainments. Miss Laura Hansen is a skilful actress, and one of the very best Lady Isabels of recent times. Her death scene was deeply impressive. Little Willie has a charming representative in Miss Doris Denville. Miss Nellie Lucas is an attractive Barbara Hare; Miss Sophy Shenton an amusing and characteristic Corney; and Miss Guinevere Shilton plays well as Afy and Joyce. Mr. Frederic Harker is a clever and manly Archibald Carlyle; Mr. W. H. Garbois plays Francis Levison on conventional lines; Mr. Richard Nugent is amusing as Murty O'Flynn; Mr. M. Talbot is a dignified Lord Mountsevern; Mr. William Lowe brings his ripe experience and proved ability to bear on Justice Hare with excellent effect; Mr. V. Barker is good as Otway Bethell; as is Mr. Cole Aspinall in the part of Richard Hare; and Mr. Byron Pedley is very good indeed as Lawyer Dill. Mr. Walter Manfree as George Hallijohn, Mr. W. Clarke as Farmer Joul, Mr. W. Long as Daddy Pinder, Mr. H. Dean as Luke Brown, Mr. E. Joist as Rueben Raeburn, Mr. R. Myrtle as Tom Rabbits, and Mr. R. Lane as Peter all do well, and add to the general excellence of the production.

COUNTY THEATRE, KINGSTON.

On Monday, Aug. 24, the Comedy, entitled
"SUNDAY."

Despite out-of-door attractions, there continue to be good houses nightly at the Kingston Theatre, where Sunday has been drawing many admirers during the week. It was the first visit of the play to Kingston, and the breezy story of life in the backwoods was received with genuine appreciation. Sunday, the heroine of the piece, is portrayed by Miss Marjorie Murray, who invests the part with a human interest that appeals to all parts of the house. Mr. T. Norman Walter plays Tom Oxley, and does ample justice to the task imposed upon him. The "boys" of the backwoods—Towzer, Jacky, Lively, and Davy—are excellently represented by Messrs. James Skea, Alec Alves, James Hussey, and A. C. Holmes, and a fine picture of Colonel Brinthorpe is drawn by Mr. Wm. Giffard. Others in the cast who deserve notice are Mr. Wilson Blake as Arthur Brinthorpe; Mr. Thos. Nixon as the valet; Mr. Harry Lenten as the manservant; Miss Helen G. Edwins as Mrs. Naresby; and Miss Lila Barclay as the nun. The play was admirably produced under the direction of Mr. T. Norman Walter.

THE SHAKESPEARE.

On Monday, Aug. 24,
the Drama in Four Acts, entitled
"MARRIED TO THE WRONG MAN."

The attraction here this week is the new drama, Married to the Wrong Man, a play that fulfils all the requirements of lovers of sensational melodrama. Written and produced by Mr. Frederick Melville, and enacted by a talented company, no fault could be found with the production, and a large audience on Monday evening expressed their emphatic satisfaction, the curtain falling amidst a scene of great enthusiasm. The cast was in all respects praiseworthy. Mr. O. Gray played the part of Jack Gladwin with manliness and ease, which, together with his effective delivery, made the character stand out prominently, and practically ensured the success of the piece. Mr. H. Lane Bayliff ruthlessly revealed the despicable qualities of the evil-minded Captain Deering, and his delineation was thoroughly satisfactory. A capital character sketch was that of Mr. Joe Livesey, who enacted Sergeant Manners with a resolute force that carried conviction. Mr. Charles Vivian capably sustained the rôle of the scheming Jasper Skinner, and quite realised the repulsive nature of the character. Mr. Paige Lawrence handled the part of Archie Bird with considerable tact and skill, and warm praise must be given to Mr. Syd Claydon, who kept the house in continuous good humour by his clever delineation of Timothy Clinker. Miss Gertrude Boswell made a deep impression by her pathetic impersonation of the dumb girl Ruth. Her pantomime in the last scene was one of the most telling incidents in the piece, and at its close she was accorded great applause. Miss Maisie Hanbury made a prepossessing Rose O'Connor, playing with confidence and skill throughout. An excellent exponent of comedy was found in Miss May Davis, whose impersonation of Dolly Fritter, a barmaid, was all that could be desired. As Mother Snaggs Miss Violet Vincent contributed a clever study of a drunken hag, and Miss Rosalie Notrelle made the most of her opportunities as Nurse Manners. The minor parts were all in safe hands, and the scenery and effects were excellent.

THEATRE ROYAL, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, Aug. 24,
the Drama, entitled
"THE STILL ALARM."

This ever-popular American drama is making a welcome reappearance in this town, and, as usual, is attracting large audiences. The well-managed scene in Act 3, the Central Fire Station, New York, in which the two highly-trained horses Pegasus and Bucephalus appear, is the principal feature, and has a fascination of its own, and contributes in no small degree to the success of the play, which is accorded an enthusiastic reception from every part of the house. Mr. Mathew H. Glenville gives a powerful rendering of the part of the intrepid fireman Jack Manley which appeals to the audience, and is the recipient of flattering applause. Mr. Gerald Kennedy is entirely successful as the villain John Bird, and offers a good representation; Doc Wilber is most amusingly portrayed by Mr. Fred Osmond, who is a talented comedian; Mr. Tom Beasley as Willie Manley is also mirth-provoking, and lends valuable assistance; Mr. Lewis Gordon gives a good delineation of the part of Franklyn Fordham; Joe Jones is a quaintly-humorous individual in the capable hands of Mr. J. Sutton Pateman; Miss Beatrice Shirley as Elinor Fordham infuses sincerity and pathos into her characterisation; Miss Hettie Zillwood makes a piquant and attractive Carrie Wilber, and acts with ease and charm; Miss Mabel Veriton in the character of Mrs. Manley supplies a clever study of an old lady, which is naturally undertaken; the Lyric Comedy Four gain approval for their harmonious contributions.

ROYAL ARTILLERY THEATRE, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, Aug. 24,
the Play entitled
"A ROYAL DIVORCE."

Under the joint management of Messrs. Arthur Carlton and Sam Duckworth, this handsomely-appointed theatre was reopened on Monday, when a hearty reception was accorded the play chosen for this auspicious occasion. A Royal Divorce, besides being excellently mounted and most capably presented by Mr. W. W. Kelly's efficient company, has stood the test of time, and has in no whit lost any of its former attractiveness, but still maintains its interesting features of human emotions and an impression of historical value. Mr. Keith Fraser gives a very clever impersonation of the self-willed and ambitious Napoleon, the character being boldly depicted; Miss Margaret Watson submits an excellent rendering of the part of the Empress Josephine, her acting being characterised by delicacy and feeling, obtains a hold on the audience, who accord her a flattering reception; Talleyrand is judiciously undertaken by Mr. Percy H. Vernon, who contributes an interesting study; Mr. Stanley Harrison as the Marquis de Beaumont delivers his lines with marked effect, and infuses dramatic power into his characterisation; Mr. Walter T. Clifford makes an acceptable General Augereau; and the same may be said for Mr. Harold S. Standing as Marshal Murat. An amusing interlude is supplied by Mr. Geo. Hudson as Grimaud, the drunken innkeeper of Genappe; Miss Maude Lacy shows aptness and command of comedy in the character of Stephanie de Beauharnais, and gains distinction; Marie Louise is carefully represented by Miss Winnie Tempest, Miss Ethel Love essays the part of the little King of Rome with much ability and charm.

ELEPHANT AND CASTLE THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 24, the Drama, by Hall Caine, entitled
"THE PRODIGAL SON."

A great attraction here this week has been Mr. Hall Caine's fine play The Prodigal Son, presented by Mr. Wentworth Croke's very adequate company. Mr. Charles Cooper gives a realistic impersonation of the sorely-tried father, Stephen Magnusson, and Miss Barbara Gott is consistent throughout as Anna, the wife. In the character of Magnus Stephensson Mr. Hugh Montgomery is very impressive, acting with much power, while the trying character of Oscar Stephensson is portrayed with much feeling by Mr. Gordon Macintosh. Mr. Philip Renouf is seen to advantage as the Factor, Oscar Neilson, and Miss Marie Harcourt gives a humorous impression of Margaret, his sister. In the unsympathetic rôle of Helga Neilson Miss Mildred Cottell acts with considerable force, and Miss Valerie Crespin gives a pathetic rendering of the suffering wife, Thora. This lady successfully doubles this character with that of Elin, her daughter, and in the latter character is responsible for a bright and taking performance. The many minor characters are all admirably placed, and the staging leaves nothing to be desired. The incidental music is supplied by the capable little orchestra under the direction of Mr. William Stephenson.

THE WEST LONDON.

On Monday, Aug. 24, the Drama, written and adapted by Dora Deane and Fred G. Brooke, entitled,
"TODD, FLEET STREET."

This sensational drama, in seven scenes, has afforded the West Londoners plenty of thrills, in which they revelled accordingly. As Sweeney Todd, the demon barber, Mr. Fred G. Brooke worked with grim determination and energy, the avaricious cupidity of the character being well emphasised; Mr. Dudman Bromwich looked every inch a soldier as Colonel Jeffery, in addition to which he gave his lines with particularly clear enunciation; Mr. George O'Brien proffered a life-like representation of the asylum keeper, Jonas Fogg; Mr. W. H. Perrette did the little he had to do as Mark Ingestre satisfactorily; and Mr. Harry Barford enacted Jimmy Jarvis with all his wonted force and tireless energy. Miss Clarice Shirley impersonated Toby Ragg in a telling and painstaking way; Miss Lena Flowerdew deserves every credit for her rendering of Mercy Ingestre; Miss Georgie White scored as Mrs. Lovitt; whilst Miss Beatrice May came in for a full share of applause for her bright and convincing rendering of Brenda Watson. The play was followed by a capital display of animated pictures, and concluded with a new drama-farce, written by Brien McCullough, entitled The Tramps, in which Mr. McCullough was well to the fore as Jerry Joskins.

CRICKET.

Played at Huddersfield, Aug. 19.

"The Breed of the Treshams" Team.—Winning, b Brook, 0; Rennior, c Parker, b Hurst, 17; Benjamin, b Hirst, 3; Eldred, b Brook, 5; Hill, b Brook, 7; Johnson, b Brook, 0; Walters, b Brook, 4; Brennan, b Hirst, 5; Dane, c Ewing, b Hirst, 3; Gunnell, c Ewing, b Hirst, 0; J. Walters, not out, 0; extras, 6; total, 50.

Huddersfield Wednesday.—Halstead, b Walters, 13; Parker, run out, 0; Hirst, b Walters, 2; Brook, c and b Benjamin, 2; Lee, c and b Benjamin, 0; Pilling, b Rennior, 4; Ranstage, c and b Benjamin, 17; Ewing, c and b Rennior, 11; Kaye, c Benjamin, b Rennior, 8; Bates, c Benjamin, b Rennior, 1; Moss, not out, 4; extras, 0; total, 62.

Played at Huddersfield, Aug. 20.

Hippodrome Artists.—H. J. Rennior, b Benjamin, 57; F. Eldred, c Benjamin, b Gunnell, 25; G. Kaye, run out, 2; F. Wilde, b Walters, 10; Bob Mezzetti, b Benjamin, 1; A. Saunders, b Benjamin, 4; A. Dyson, not out, 20; F. Carrell, b Benjamin, 0; extras, 5; total (for seven wickets, innings declared closed), 134.

"Breed of the Treshams Co.—Winning, c Eldred, b Rennior, 0; Walters, b Rennior, 9; Benjamin, b Rennior, 15; Moss, c and b Dyson, 16; Walters, b Dyson, 0; L. Gunnell, b Rennior, 6; Johnson, c Eldred, b Rennior, 6; Hill, b Dyson, 4; France, b Rennior, 0; Smith, not out, 0; extras, 16; total, 73.

"Way of the World" Co. v. Ayr.

Played at Ayr on Thursday last, the town team proving far too strong for the actors, and winning easily. Scores:—

"Way of the World" Co.—H. Sherwood Martin, b Cocrane, 2; Darcy Kelway, st Parkes, b Drinner, 2; Underwood, b Dewer, 8; Feggers, b Dewer, 0; Casey, b Drinner, 5; Sourbutts, c Parker, b Drinner, 0; Browse, c Drinner, b Stevens, 2; J. P. McBride, b Cocrane, 0; H. W. Day, not out, 14; Maybrain, c Drinner, b Montgomery, 21; Pat Quinn, b Drinner, 3; extras, 5; total, 69.

Ayr.—Parker, retired, 72; Dewer, c Feggers, b Sherwood Martin, 23; Montgomery, b Sherwood Martin, 4; Morton, retired, 58; J. E. Drinner, c Underwood, b Browse, 12; W. R. Drinner, b Browse, 6; J. W. Large, not out, 36; W. Stevens, b Browse, 0; Reid, b Sherwood Martin, 15; extras, 9; total, 235. R. G. Cocrane and Bramner did not bat.

Mr. Editor,—Sir, In last week's number of The Era it is stated that Miss Gertrude Le Sage took the part of Lucy in Her Forbidden Marriage at the Brixton Theatre. It should have been yours faithfully, Geraldine Le Sage, County Theatre, Bedford, Aug. 25, 1908.

A Copy of "The Era" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

"DARK DEEDS OF THE NIGHT."

Drama, in Four Acts, by Edward Thane, produced for the First Time at the Theatre Royal, Stratford, on Monday, Aug. 17.

Dr. Mortimer Caine	Mr. Frank Eaglesfield
Philip Bardsley	Mr. Victor Rowlands
Jack Brandon	Mr. Juan D'Alberti
Capt. Tom Cornish	Mr. Alfred Terris
Nicholas Pickles	Mr. Johnny MacIlroy
Joe Norton	Mr. W. Treloar
Tim O'Mallory	Mr. T. Conweigh
P.-C. Tom Norton	Mr. Cyril Havens
Mrs. Brandon	Miss Marie French
Ruth Maitland	Miss Gwen Stewart
Pollie Prince	Miss Gertie Reid
Dora Bardsley	Miss Corisande Hamilton

A visit to the Theatre Royal, Stratford, late last week found the audience deep in the enjoyment of the new piece with the above startling title. The play abounds with exciting situations, and is a story of mesmerism and crime, relieved here and there by the romantic element and real Irish humour, thus giving balance and brightness to the production.

The first scene shows the yacht of Philip Bardsley, a rich retired merchant, whose daughter, Dora, Dr. Mortimer Caine, a brain specialist, is determined to make his bride in order to secure her money, despite the fact that he is already married to a nurse named Ruth Maitland, whom he had cruelly deserted. Caine's purpose accomplished, he persuades Bardsley to make his will, making him (Caine) the sole trustee. This done, he murders Bardsley with a stiletto belonging to Jack Brandon, a young naval officer, and then proceeds to get his newly-found wife under his mesmeric influence. Dr. Caine tries to father the crime upon Jack Brandon, who had been Dora's accepted lover.

Jack seeks refuge in flight, and after many hardships next appears at Dr. Caine's London establishment in a destitute condition. Tim O'Mallory, his faithful friend, who has taken service with Dr. Caine to spy on him, assists him in masquerading as a keeper in Dr. Caine's private asylum for the insane. The doctor gets Ruth into his clutches, and does his utmost to render her hopelessly insane. In a scene which rouses the audience to the highest pitch of enthusiasm, Jack and Tim get the nurse safely away, and leave the doctor to "enjoy" a taste of his own torture. Driven to desperation, he murders his accomplice, and sets out for Miss Bardsley's yacht, now lying off Rotherhithe. Again he hypnotises his wife and suggests that she shall shoot Dora Bardsley at a given signal. At the critical moment Jack rushes forward and seizes the woman's hand. The revolver is fired, but the doctor receives the bullet he had intended for Dora Bardsley. There are other scenes, which are full of excitement, and the laughter at the comedy is almost continuous.

The piece received capable interpretation at the hands of Mr. H. Keates Hales' company, which is under the direction of Mr. C. Hamilton Baines. Dr. Caine's villainies were ruthlessly laid bare by Mr. Frank Eaglesfield, the actor coming through his difficult task with every credit. Mr. Juan D'Alberti made Jack Brandon an agreeably prominent figure of the cast, securing unbounded popularity by the breezy manner in which the part was taken. Mr. Victor Rowlands was good as Philip Bardsley, a retired merchant; Miss Corisande Hamilton played Dora Bardsley, the lass who loves a sailor, in winsome fashion and with dramatic skill; and her friend, Ruth Maitland, was adequately represented by Miss Gwen Stewart. Mr. Johnny MacIlroy contributed to the success of the piece as Nicholas Pickles; and Tim O'Mallory, in the hands of Mr. T. Conweigh and Polly Prince in those of Miss Gertie Reid proved amusing. The piece was admirably mounted, some of the sets being elaborately staged.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

The first novelty of the season produced at the Promenade Concert at Queen's Hall on Thursday, Aug. 20, was M. Henri Duparc's aria "Phidyle." M. Duparc is a French composer of the modern school who has studied composition under César Franck. A symphonic poem, "Lénore," "Invitation au Voyage" and "Extase," two songs, are among his most important works. Owing to illness, "Phidyle" is the only composition produced by M. Duparc for many years, and although not particularly original in thought, the new aria contains pleasing melody, and is most ably scored for the orchestra. Miss Elyda Russell sang the solo part gracefully, and the new work had a favourable reception from the audience. Included also in the programme were Hadyn's early Symphony in D, Tschaikowsky's Symphonic Fantasia, "The Tempest," the charming overture to A Midsummer Night's Dream, and the graceful "Rouet d'Omphale," by Saint-Saëns. Mr. Arthur Catterall gave an excellent account of Tschaikowsky's Violin Concerto in D, and in the vocal department Mr. Noel Fleming, in the air "Come, Margarita, come," from Sullivan's Martyr of Antioch, achieved distinct success.

The fine orchestral programme of the Promenade Concert given on Saturday, August 22, commenced with Rossini's William Tell overture, of which a most spirited account was given. The orchestra also were particularly happy in their interpretation of Mr. Coleridge-Taylor's Ballade in A Minor, Op. 33, first heard at the Gloucester Festival of 1898. Other excellent performances of the orchestra were in Haydn's Symphony in D No. 6 "Le Matin," the No. 4 in D of Elgar's march "Pomp and Circumstance," the Slavonic Dances No. 5 in A and No. 6 in D by Dvorák, and the concluding overture "Ruler of the Spirits" (Weber). Miss Caroline Hatchard sang "Ah! fors è lui," from Traviata, effectively, and Mr. Peter Dawson was heard to great advantage in Vulcan's air from Gounod's Philemon et Baucis. Mr. M. Wolthers gave a finished performance of Vieuxtemps' Violin Concerto in D Minor No. 4, and Mr. Wilfred James greatly pleased the audience with his bassoon solo "Humoresque," by E. Solomon.

The programme of Tuesday's Promenade Concert at Queen's Hall contained a large proportion of modern compositions. Sibelius's En Aarga was admirably interpreted by Mr. Wood's orchestra, and an excellent performance was also given on Strauss's extraordinary work, the Symphonia Domestica. The orchestra played Prelude to Act 3 of Wagner's Die Meistersinger, Weber's Preciosa overture, and gave a refined version of Gounod's Hymne à Sainte Cécile. In the "Wanderer Fantasia in C," for piano and orchestra, of Schubert, the brilliant playing of Miss Emily Suart in Liszt's difficult arrangement roused the audience to great enthusiasm. Miss Edith Clegg sang Mr. Granville Bantock's "Hymn to Aphrodite" with much expression, and Mr. Frank Dickinson gave an effective rendering of the once-popular song "I'm a Roamer," from Mendelssohn's Son and Stranger.

The dreams of Mr. F. Frankfort Moore, as described by himself in an article in the August Pearson's Magazine, are of a distinctly alarming character. He says: "I dream of being an actor, and going on in a play without knowing a word of my part; of being once more the editor of a daily newspaper, and seeing midnight arrive without having found a subject for my leader; of steering a yacht in a splendid breeze and finding it impossible to put the helm hard over to go about; of riding a horse that has taken the bit in his teeth; or of driving a motor that will not answer to the suggestion of the lever that retards the sparking, although a policeman with a gigantic stop-watch is plainly visible on the road."

STAGE CHILDREN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—I am glad that "Playgoer," in his letter published in your journal last week on the subject of the salaries of stage children, confesses himself a "somewhat old-fashioned individual." His own designation, to my mind, places him out of court in a discussion as to the use to which the earnings of child performers should be put. Let me remind him—if, indeed, he is not already aware of the fact—that we have advanced considerably since the days when boys and girls of tender years were abducted by some wicked travelling mummer as they were returning home from school and made to assist in earning a livelihood for an itinerant rogue and vagabond! At that period, perchance, the only reward for the labours of the child was the bits of dry bread and the cuffs which formed his daily menu. Surely even "Playgoer" will admit that this is the age of the children—the age in which every exertion is put forth by the "grown-ups" to ensure their moral, physical, and educational welfare. New laws have been within recent years passed by Parliament to better the conditions of their upbringing and to make happier their school and home life. By the tone of "Playgoer's" letter I judge that he regards the children who perform on a stage as the modern successors of the Oliver Twists of Dickens' time!

The application which was brought before Mr. Mead at the Marlborough-street Police-court last week clearly demonstrated that the parents of the little actress for whom a licence was required had fully realised their duty towards their offspring. The girl had appeared in public on previous occasions, and had earned what I suppose would be described in professional language as "good money." Fifteen pounds of that money had been placed in a savings bank—we can doubt not for the future benefit of the child. But circumstances were overwhemingly against the parents. The father fell out of work. What was to be done? Was the family to starve on the ground of an exaggerated or absurd notion of honour? Such moral rectitude as this, and under these circumstances, becomes a wicked thing. The only sensible, the only right course that was open to the family in its poverty was to withdraw the savings of the child, and this is what the mother did. And we may be charitable enough to believe that she did it with the intention of returning the money at some future time if opportunity permitted.

In saying this I have not referred to the question of the expenses which we can well imagine the parents must have incurred in the theatrical training of the girl, not to mention her general education and upbringing. Whether the child earned money or not, the responsibility of the parents for the provision of a home and physical requirements, such as food, and medicine, and clothing, could not be neglected. And, surely, if the child did gain a few pounds by the employment of her talents, is there nothing to be said for the natural affection which in itself, and even assuming the coming of the wolf to the door of the parents, would under any circumstances be the very first consideration in the little home, at whatever sacrifice to the elders?

But what is the position of the acrobats whose children inherit a predilection for the profession their parents follow? What chance have they of becoming efficient in their work unless by partaking in actual exhibitions on a public stage? Even admitting that they contribute, by their efforts, to the earnings of those who have brought them into the world, the very fact that the latter are constantly at pains and expense to improve the training of the youngsters so as to place in their hands an honest and possibly lucrative means of livelihood is surely adequate return for whatever increment the children may bring to the family exchequer. And while this is going on the children have to be maintained in a perfect bodily condition.

No, I think that neither Mr. Mead nor "Playgoer" is justified in the demand that only ten per cent. of the stage child's wages should be handed to the parents. As to the appointment of a trustee to control these small earnings—this implies legal expenditure—that is a suggestion which is too ridiculous to merit serious consideration.—Yours faithfully,

COMMON SENSE.

SIR,—Everyone possessed of the faintest trace of common-sense must have read with a feeling of nausea the report of the maudlin sentimentalities indulged in by the Magistrate at Marlborough-street Police Court when hearing an application for permission for the appearance of a child of twelve years of age at two performances of Madame Butterfly. Magistrates administering law and justice in the Police Courts are generally supposed to be gifted with a considerable knowledge of the actualities of human life, especially among the lower classes; and, accordingly, the public, I feel sure, would rather peruse the elephantine pleasantries of another of our magistrates than tolerate the Pecksniffian platitudes of Mr. Mead.

It is really intolerable that a magistrate should avail himself of his position to inculcate such truisms as that "parents should support their children," &c. But the facts in this particular case should have acted as a deterrent to judicial ineptitudes. The permission to perform was to be for two performances only, one of them a matinée. The sum the child would earn was to be £2, and over this plethoric hoard the sapient oracle of Marlborough-street suggested to the solicitor appearing in the case the drawing up of a short deed of trust vesting the money in some independent person.

Solicitors are not, as a rule, philanthropists, and the most modest fee for such a transaction would about equal the whole sum involved. But there is a deeper issue involved in this matter. It suggests that the parents of a child should not act as the guardians of any moneys earned or accruing to children. Surely the magistrate must be cognisant of the immense sums of money lying in savings banks in parents' names for the benefit of children. And if at a time of necessity such sums could not be drawn upon for the upkeep of the household, wherein would the children benefit? As a matter of fact, they would be the greatest sufferers: If the wage-earner-in-chief should fall out of work, is it not better that any little money that the children may earn should be used for present needs than be hoarded at the discretion of some trustee for the future use of the children? As a matter of fact, in the present case such a contingency had occurred, and no suggestion was made that any misuse had been made of the child's earnings.

The sordid picture of the gin-soddened ghouls battening upon the hard-earned wages of their offspring may, perhaps, be still found in the pages of the trashy novelette, but its receiving the hallmark of judicial credence is no less than an outrage upon the respectability of the large class of parents whose children are able to earn money either in a pantomime or on the Queen's Hall platform. Into the general question of the appearance of such children I do not propose to go. Whether such experience is likely or not to be more or less baneful than their ordinary surroundings in our great cities is very much an open one. But certainly in this case the public has been treated to an exhibition of grandmotherly interference which would be ludicrous if it were not execrable in taste.—Yours, &c.

CITIZEN.

"THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT," for actor and composer, by Albert A. Strong, LL.B. (Lond.). Price 3s. 6d., post free 3s. 10d. Published at The Era Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

CHAT WITH MR. HARRY PHYDORA.

Mr. Harry Phydora, the well-known comedian, has just returned from a nineteen months' tour in Australia, and he has come back enamoured of our Antipodean colony. "Everything there seems to be going merrily," he says, "and I am going there again towards Christmas next year, probably for a long engagement. I only played two parts during the year and seven months I was in Australia and New Zealand—the title-rôle in the pantomime of Mother Goose, which we played under Mr. Williamson's management thirteen and a half weeks in Melbourne, and for eleven weeks in Sydney, and the rôle of Martha Dumpty in Humpty Dumpty. The playgoers out there demand the best of everything, and the productions, in order to secure any measure of success, have to be put on in the West-end style. Musical comedy seems to be the staple form of entertainment."

Mr. Phydora speaks of his various trips in Australasia from one part to another with all the enthusiasm of a schoolboy who has just returned from an enjoyable holiday. He possesses the power of description in no small degree. Take the following:—

"We had a lovely passage from Wellington to Lyttelton, and from there to Dunedin. The country simply unwrapped itself, and showed its wonderful variety. On one side it is practically Switzerland. A long range of mountains was covered with snow from peak to base—mountains, mind, not hills—and they looked so lovely and felt so cold, for if you opened the door an icy blast soon addressed itself to you. But until you reach what looks like the foot of these same mountains it is all grazing for cattle and under cultivation. On the other side of the carriage you look and see nothing but open sea and cliffs full of shrubbery, with an occasional quarry of beautiful white stone, from which some of the most modern and beautiful buildings in the South Island are being built. The stone has the property of hardening by exposure, so you may guess its value.

"One day I went about a hundred miles on a motor, 30 horse-power, and capable of sixty-five miles an hour, and she was tested occasionally. Again one can only say the scenery was lovely—up, up, over the hills, down to the sea, a run along the natural esplanade, and up again amongst the gorse and shadows, and down again. I shall never forget those mountains and views of the bays and sea, and tints of the shrubs, and the thousands of rabbits scurrying across the road to their burrows, frightened to death by the motor's announcement of its approach, which was not a horn, by the way, but a musical arrangement of three notes, gradually intensifying itself from a religious chant to a most unearthly shriek, if necessary." A travel book from Mr. Phydora would be fascinating reading.

Photo by Wilson.

MR. HARRY PHYDORA.

The earlier years of Mr. Phydora's career were spent on the music-hall stage in various lines of business, but later he appeared on the "legitimate" boards in drama and burlesque. It was a fortunate evening for him when Messrs. J. T. Tanner and Herbert Blackmore came to the little theatre at Stratford, E., about seventeen years ago to see the principal girl in the pantomime. Mr. Phydora, playing a page part, was thus accidentally brought under their notice, and a three and a half years' contract with M. Van Biene was the result of the incident. It brought M. Phydora in touch with the class of work he considers himself most fitted for. He played the Doctor in Ruy Blas, the Sister in Cinder-Ellen Up too Late, and Lilias Pasta in Carmen Up to Data. This engagement seemed to pave the way for what followed. Mr. Phydora played Wun-Hi in The Geisha, at Daly's, at half an hour's notice. The management offered him the position of principal comedian for a South African musical comedy répertoire company, which he accepted, and "sailed away" on March 20, 1897, for the Cape. He had plenty of work, playing Biggs, in Circus Girl; Pompier, The Gay Parisienne; Wun-Hi, in The Geisha; Bertie White, in The New Barmaid; and Moses M'Gregor, in My Girl. How they yelled at this part in Johannesburg! Mr. Phydora returned, after fifteen months of most interesting travelling through Africa, over the battlefields up to Buluwayo (visiting the late Hon. C. Rhodes's tomb on the Matoppos), playing at such historical places as Worcester (the day peace was declared), De Aar, Beaufort West, Bloemfontein (where he was introduced to General Cronje on the platform), Mafeking (the hero of which, General Baden-Powell, painted a water-colour sketch of Mr. Phydora as Tweedlepunch, and personally presented it to him with two lines of appreciation and autograph, the same hanging in the place of honour in his Brixton flat), and Buluwayo. Another Johannesburg season followed, including all the large towns, Durban, Pietermaritzburg, Port Elizabeth, East London, finishing at the Cape again. After his first return from South Africa (November, 1897) Mr. Phydora was Geo. Edwardes's principal comedian in his No. 1 companies of The Runaway Girl, and played the part for two and a half years. Then Li, in San Toy, until he returned to Africa two months before the war finished to play Wun-Hi, The Geisha; Li, San Toy; Sammy Gigg, The Toreador, which he stage-managed and produced; Flipper, A Runaway Girl; Tweedlepunch, Florodora; and Endle S. Bounce, in All at Sea.

MR. CHAS. H. BOWMAKER, who for the past three and a half years has held the position as manager for Moss' Empires at Nottingham and Holloway, has booked a short seaside tour of The Morals of Marcus and a West End répertoire. The company has been organised by Mr. Ernest E. Norris, the well-known actor, who for some years ran the Elephant and Castle with much success. The tour opened in Herne Bay on Thursday.

THE MOODY-MANNERS COMPANY.

On Thursday last week was given the first performance this season of Aïda, the opera produced by order of the Viceroy at Cairo in 1871, and which was seen for the first time at Covent Garden under the Gye management on June 22, 1876, when Mme. Patti played the title-rôle, and her second husband, Signor Nicolini, appeared as Radamès—by no means a fortunate choice. The opera was supposed, in the day of its first production, to mark a new departure in the style of Verdi, but the veteran composer was to surprise his admirers with more modern tendencies in the score of Othello. In that of Aïda he was practically the same Verdi—with slight modifications—as had captured the ear of the musical world with the scores of Il Trovatore and Rigoletto. There is plenty of delightful melody in Aïda, and the Moody-Manners corps of artists did the opera full justice. Mr. Philip Brozel, by his impersonation of the impassioned warrior, Radamès, deepened the favourable impression he had made as Lohengrin, and his cultured voice and fervent style were heartily appreciated. Mme. De Vere Sapio's charm and sympathy were of great value in the part of Aïda, and she showed dramatic feeling throughout. Especially was this the case in the last act, when her acting realised completely the poignancy of the situation. Miss Toni Seiter repeated her successful impersonation of the Princess, and depicted the jealousy of the part with notable power. Mr. William Dever made a picturesque King of Ethiopia; Mr. Charles Magrath did well as the King of Egypt; and Mr. Charles Manners was a sonorous Ramphiz.

Tannhäuser was presented on Friday for the début of Mr. Louis Laurier. Mme. De Vere Sapio as Elizabeth, Mr. William Dever as Wolfram, and Mr. Charles Magrath as the King scored most unmistakably in these familiar parts; and the volume of tone produced by the Pilgrims showed the excellence of the chorus. The performance was under the direction of Herr Richard Eckhold, who secured a fine ensemble.

On Saturday afternoon Mme. Fanny Moody repeated her most interesting impersonation of Madame Butterfly in Puccini's opera, the new Pinkerton being Mr. Seth Hughes, who made an excellent impression. Miss Toni Seiter was again associated advantageously with the character of the faithful Suzuki.

An exceptionally fine performance of Cavalleria Rusticana was given on Saturday evening, when Mascagni's opera, with Leoncavallo's masterpiece, Pagliacci, filled the bill for the first time this season. Both works, dealing as they do with the elemental passions, are primitive but undeniably powerful; but it is strange that a better contrast is not secured by the presentation, with either of them, of Gounod's one-act opera, Philémon et Baucis, with its idyllic plot and fascinating music. The twin tragedies, however, were enthusiastically received, and it seemed, from the passion and power with which both were given, as if something of the spirit of the Sicilian players at the Shaftesbury had been imbibed by the performers. The casts were as follow:—

"CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA."

Turridu	MR. SETH HUGHES
Alfio	MR. LEWYS JAMES
Lucia	MISS M. BAKER
Lola	MISS M. RIGBY
Santuzza	MISS ENRIQUETA CRICHTON

"PAGLIACCI."

Canio	MR. PHILIP BROZEL
Tonio	MR. WILLIAM DEVER
Beppo	MR. DAVIS
Silvio	MR. LEWYS JAMES
Nedda	MISS KATE ANDERSON

Miss Enriqueta Crichton gave an intense individuality to the part of Santuzza, and her unrestrained acting imparted a powerful significance to the character; and Mr. Seth Hughes and Mr. Lewys James, in their passionate warmth and spirit, did not allow any of the tragic nature of the scenes to escape them, both singing finely. In the subsidiary parts of Lucia and Lola Miss M. Baker and Miss M. Rigby added much to the efficiency of the ensemble. The chorus sang exceedingly well, and Signor Romnaldo Sapio conducted con amore. In Pagliacci praise may be unreservedly bestowed upon Mr. Philip Brozel, whose Canio, if at times presented with too heavy a touch, was sincere and telling. He treated the monologue, "On with the motley," with an appealing dignity that went home. Mr. Lewys James makes great strides in his acting, and the young Welsh baritone made a fervent and emotional Silvio. Mr. William Dever was duly mercurial as Tonio, and sang the Prologue with much beauty of tone. Miss Kate Anderson cleverly realised the girlish frivolity and thoughtlessness of Nedda; and Mr. Davis was effective as Beppo. Signor Sapio again conducted. The house was packed and most enthusiastic.

The production of Tristan and Isolda on Tuesday marked the point of highest artistic achievement of the Moody-Manners' lyrical and orchestral forces. The wonderful skill, the dramatic feeling, and the creative power of Wagner were recognised by us when the opera was produced for the first time in England by a German company at Drury Lane in 1882, but our critic at the time expressed considerable doubt as to whether it would ever become popular. But the cult of Wagner has advanced by leaps and bounds since then, and the story of the box-office at Covent Garden last season is a proof that Tristan and Isolda grows in favour. Its interpretation bristles with difficulties for the principals, the tenor rôle especially being beset by them; and the passion and fervour of the love scenes demands greater acting abilities than are generally to be found in conjunction with the necessary vocal endowment. The audience, a sympathetic and cultured one, found much to admire in the rendering, and enthusiastically acclaimed the powerful and finished representation of the Irish heroine by Miss Enriqueta Crichton, whose artistic endowment and dramatic instinct enabled her to present a wholly satisfying realisation of Isolda's romantic temperament and passionate impulse. She found in Mr. Philip Brozel a coadjutor who in the great love duet of the second act rose to the occasion, and met every demand of the part, displaying considerable warmth. In Brangäne's scene with Isolda Miss Toni Seiter treated the vividly dramatic passages with the necessary breadth. Mr. Charles Magrath made an imposing and dramatic figure of King Mark; Mr. William Dever more than adequately sustained the musical and histrionic responsibilities of the rôle of Kurwenal; and Mr. T. C. Fairbairn was the Melot. The orchestra was under the direction of Herr Richard Eckhold, whose skill in controlling his forces cannot be too highly praised.

Gounod's Faust was given on Wednesday morning, and the same evening Lohengrin was repeated with a cast that differed almost entirely from that of the opening night. Mme. de Vere-Sapio's Elsa is well known, and the purity of the character and its dreamy self-absorption and devotion were again well emphasised, the beautiful music being also well sung. Mr. Charles Carter's Lohengrin is a considerable improvement on his Tannhäuser, and Mr. William Dever again showed his ability as an actor and his power as a singer in the exacting rôle of Tetramund. In the rôle of Ortrude Miss Roger did her abilities greater justice than was possible on the opening night, when she made her début in the character—a very trying ordeal. Mr. F. Cliffe was the Herald, and Herr Eckhald conducted.

"THE ERA" can be obtained at the principal bookstalls throughout the provinces.

OUR MUSICAL DIRECTORS.

A CHAT WITH MR. DAN GODFREY.

(BY OUR ROVING COMMISSIONER.)

That stately queen of South-coast watering places, Bournemouth, tackled the problem of music for its visitors some fifteen years ago in a much more broad-minded fashion than might have been expected at a time when municipal enterprise was more or less in the clouds. These pioneers of music for those seeking health "by the sad sea waves" not only had initiative but patriotism; for to slightly alter the words of Sir William Schwenk Gilbert, "In spité of all temptations to choose from other nations, they chose an Englishman." They did not search the Conservatoires of Paris, Berlin, Leipzig, or Prague for a foreigner, but selected a former student of the Royal College of Music—none other than Dan Godfrey, jun., the clever son of a celebrated father, whose fame as a military bandmaster is not likely to be forgotten.

It was in 1893 that the Bournemouth Corporation decided to lease the Winter Gardens, and to engage Mr. Godfrey, whose natural gifts had been carefully fostered, and whose youthful enthusiasm for Continental composers did not obscure his appreciation of the beauties of the somewhat neglected orchestral works of his own countrymen. The names of Edward Elgar, A. C. Mackenzie, F. H. Cowen, Arthur Sullivan, Edward German, Charles V. Stanford, Sterndale Bennett, Hamilton Harty, W. H. Speer, Arthur Hervey (recently the musical critic of the Morning Post), and others figured in the list of composers for the Monday classical concerts commencing in October last year. At these Monday "Pops" at Bournemouth, indeed, much encouragement is given to incogniti among young English composers, who are often invited to conduct their own works. The representative works of the "moderns" of the Continental schools have also their proper place in the schemes of Mr. Godfrey. The "scarlet" and "purple" tonal effects of Richard Strauss, the weird imaginings of the Finnish composer, Jean Sibelius, and the unusual harmonic progressions of Claud Debussy (whose opera founded on Maeterlinck's Pelléas et Mélisande, was produced at the Opera-Comique, Paris, April 30, 1902) have all been heard and appreciated at Bournemouth, whose visitors and residents have excellent taste, if we may judge by the comprehensive scheme of last winter's concerts. At these the total number of works performed were 243. Of the new numbers, British composers supplied thirty-two, and the compositions, old and new, of British musicians totalled sixty-two. A musical contemporary, therefore, in speaking of Mr. Godfrey's work, is completely justified in saying that he "has done the most singularly remarkable work in musical England, in rapidly traversing the whole field of musical literature. Indomitable energy in seeking out new domains to conquer, and the will to make the best of small things and of difficulties, have brought about unique results."

[Photo by Miell and Miell.

MR. DAN GODFREY.

We have been writing of the more serious side of Mr. Godfrey as a musical pioneer. It must be remembered, however, that he is not only orchestral director, but general manager, and in this last capacity is responsible for all that concerns the business side of Bournemouth's municipal catering. He has a nice discrimination in his selection of "varieties," and the best concert parties of the country are heard not only in the Winter Gardens, but on the Pier and other popular rendezvous. In fact, the visitor to Bournemouth has music and entertainment wherever he or she goes; and the magnificent tram service brings visitors from Poole, Southbourne, and the rapidly-growing districts of Parkstone and Pokesdown, so that the responsibilties of such a post as that held by Mr. Godfrey are becoming more onerous every year.

Mr. Godfrey, whom we found busy rehearsing, is enthusiastic when he talks of music, but of himself he modestly says very little. We glean the following facts concerning his career from a local magazine. Born in 1868, he was educated at King's College, and afterwards pursued his studies in Germany. He studied the clarionet under Lazarus, and played this instrument as a student at the Royal College of Music, where he remained for three years.

He afterwards passed the examination of licentiate in bandmastership at the Royal Academy in 1890, and was nominated for the bandmastership of the First Life Guards by His Majesty (then Prince of Wales), but was unable to take up the appointment owing to the Kneller Hall regulations as to enlistment in the ranks and a long course of training at Kneller Hall, which Mr. Godfrey did not care to go through, as he had already important appointments securing a good income even at the age of twenty. Subsequently he became conductor of the London Military Band, but relinquished that after a short while to go to South Africa as director of an opera company.

On his return, as the result of negotiations with the Bournemouth Town Council in 1893, he undertook, as we have previously intimated, to provide a band for Bournemouth—of thirty artists in the summer and fourteen in the winter. Later the Council decided to make the winter band one of twenty-three instead of fourteen. Mr. Godfrey did not then give his whole time to Bournemouth, and, as a matter of fact, except during August and September, he conducted the band himself on two days a week only. But the value of his services was plainly evident, and in 1894 he was appointed by the Corporation resident musical director and adviser and entertainment manager. The band remained at the same strength during the summer of 1894, and numbered twenty-five during most of the winter months.

In the year 1895 the Bournemouth Winter Orchestra was increased to thirty-one, and with this small number, augmented as circumstances permitted by local musicians, Mr. Godfrey began his famous series of Symphony Concerts. In 1896 the Town Council, after much consideration, came to the important decision to themselves "engage and pay" the band, and to secure Mr. Godfrey as their adviser at a stated salary. And so Mr. Godfrey gave up his London connection, and became musical director to the corporation and conductor of the first and finest permanent municipal orchestra in the kingdom.

THE DRAMA IN PARIS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, AUG. 27.—I have the regret to announce the death of Louis Varney, who passed away at the age of sixty-four, after a short illness. Varney had his hour of glory when he brought out Les Mousquetaires au Convent, his chef d'œuvre, which is still being produced with great success. In one of his operettas, L'Amour Mouillé, which was given in London at the Lyric in 1898, Miss Evie Greene made a hit that immediately secured her a position as a London actress in musical comedy. Mr. W. Yardley adapted it for the English stage. Varney's music is very tuneful, but he stuck to the old methods, and was violently opposed to the new school. Fortunately for him, he had some strong backers, who, for the last few years, have monopolised many of our theatres, and as he formed part of their clique, it was always he who was entrusted with the task of supplying the necessary music. He was a kind-hearted, amiable man, who will be much regretted by his friends; but his death may open a new field for young composers, who hitherto have been kept in the background.

Israël is the title of the new piece, by M. Henry Bernstein, with which Mme. Réjane will inaugurate the new season. The rehearsals will begin the first days in September, and the première has been fixed for October 6. There will be only one woman's rôle. It will of course be played by Mme. Réjane, who, if we can believe rumours, will score a decided hit. Altogether, the cast will be exceptionally strong, and will comprise that excellent actor M. de Max, M. Armand Baur, M. Louis Gauthier, M. Signoret, M. Duquesne, and M. Tréville.

The new regulations as regards the Paris theatres—proposed by our eminent colleague, M. Henri Turot—will be put into force in the beginning of the coming season. The document, signed by M. Lépine, the Police Prefect, is too long to reproduce here, but I hereby give a few clauses that are particularly interesting. M. Turot having drawn the attention of the authorities to the fact that from an hygienic point of view the dressing-rooms of the "supers" are in a disgraceful condition, stringent orders are now given to put these in proper repair and to have them well ventilated. It is also specially stipulated that all costumes, wigs, &c., are to be cleaned and disinfected before they are worn by another person. All chandeliers to be suspended by two powerful chains, each of which strong enough to support ten times the weight of the chandelier.

An important clause in the new regulations is the one relating to the sale of tickets. Henceforth it is forbidden to sell these in the streets, and any person transgressing this rule will be severely punished. Nor will ticket sellers be allowed—as was hitherto the case—to accost people in the streets and take them to a neighbouring café to negotiate the sale. Clause 214 allows the authorities to close any establishment where a performance is given likely to injure public morality or lead to a breach of the peace.

Another clause that will be hailed with delight by artists in small provincial music-halls is the one prohibiting managers from compelling them to enter the hall in order to accept drinks from customers or offer tickets for sale, &c.

For years this disgraceful practice has been going on with impunity in small towns, a practice degrading in every way to the unfortunate artists. It is quite time that it should be stopped.

Clause 220 will rouse the ire of the fair sex. It deals with the terrible theatre hat. "Henceforth," says the clause, "it will be strictly prohibited to disturb systematically a performance or to prevent persons from 'seeing' or 'hearing' what goes on on the stage." And, for fear of being misunderstood, it is added that this prohibition specially refers to persons whose hats are a nuisance to those seated behind them. The former, therefore, are bound to remove their headgear at the first request, failing which they are liable to prosecution. In future, too, all performances—theatres or variety entertainments—must not last longer than midnight.

Some of the clauses will rouse protests on the part of managers, and it is not unlikely that a few of them will be slightly modified. On the whole, however, they are the outcome of common sense, and, as such, are likely to give general satisfaction.

One of our confrères has taken the trouble of drawing up a list to see whether those to whom first prizes were awarded at the Conservatoire afterwards became celebrated in their theatrical career. Until 1870 we find among them the names of Samson, the Brohans, Got, Delaunay, Prudhon, Coquelin cadet, Mlle. Reichemberg, and Mlle. Croizette; but it is curious to note that in 1868 Mme. Sarah Bernhardt and Coquelin aîné only received second prizes. M. Léautaud, who had a second prize in 1859, left the boards and became prompter. Next we have, in 1875, Mlle. Samary; in 1878 Mme. Sisos and M. Lucien Guitry; in 1879 M. Le Bargy; in 1880 M. de Féraudy; in 1881 M. Galipaux and Mme. Marguerite Durand, who afterwards founded the feminist journal La Fronde; in 1882 M. Raphaël Duflos; in 1883 Mlle. Brandès and M. Albert Lambert fils; in 1885 Mme. Segond-Weber; in 1886 Mlle. Du Minil, Mme. Panot (the mother of Mlle. Piérat, the youngest Sociétaire in the Comédie-Française); in 1887 M. Desjardins; in 1889 M. Tarride and M. Abel Deval, now manager of the Athénée; in 1890 Mlle. Moreno, Mme. Silvain, Mlle. Duluc, M. Fordyce; in 1893 Mlle. Grumbart and M. Fenoux; in 1894 M. Magnier; in 1895 MM. Siblot, Lara, and Coste; in 1896 M. Prince; in 1897 Mlle. Suzanne Desprès and Mlle. Henriot, the unfortunate actress who lost her life in the great fire at the Comédie-Francaise; in 1898 M. Talrick and Mlle. Parny; in 1899 Mlle. Marthe Regnier, M. Signoret, M. Séverin; in 1900 Mlle. Garrick, Mlle. Madeleine Aubry.

Those who received awards during the last seven years have hardly had time to distinguish themselves; but the foregoing list shows that the Paris Conservatoire has produced many splendid actors and actresses, although it is but fair to add that some great artists, like Antoine, Paul Mounet, Gémier, and Marie Leconte never passed through our great national school. But they are the exceptions.

AN International Theatrical Exhibition is to be held at Milan in 1913, on the initiative of the Società Esposizione Industriale Permanente, to celebrate the first centenary of the birth of Giuseppe Verdi. The exhibition will be divided into three chief sections:—(1) The theatre (buildings and representations); (2) Music (instruments and musical interpretations); (3) artists and theatrical literature (works of art, biographies, manuscripts, &c.).

MME. MELBA, in common with many other artists who visit America, has experienced much discomfort through the overheated state of her dressing-room. She has accordingly addressed an "ultimatum" to Mr. Hammerstein, proprietor of the Manhattan Opera, New York, where she is to open in December. After praising the entrepreneur for his skill and courage, the diva concludes: "If my dressing-room is too hot again, I'll run away and you will never catch me again."

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

Sir Charles Wyndham, still in the enjoyment of his invigorating holiday at Ems, has secured a new play by Mr. Clyde Fitch, called The Happy Marriage, for production in the course of his London season. The play, it is stated, is to be produced this autumn in America.

First nights follow each other in regular succession from this evening onwards up to and including the 9th prox. The season begins to-night with Pete at the Lyceum, and The Early Worm will be brought out at Wyndham's on Monday. September starts on Tuesday with The Passing of the Third Floor Back at the St. James's, and Idols will be set up at the Garrick on Wednesday. Attention will be divided on Thursday between The King of Cadonia at the Prince of Wales's and What Every Woman Knows at the Duke of York's, a triple clash having been averted by postponing the production of The Old Firm at the Queen's from Thursday to the following evening.

A brilliant finish to the week will be given by Mr. Tree's production of Faust at His Majesty's on Saturday. The second week of the season will start with a suburban production, namely, that of The Sailor's Wedding at the Marlborough; but the West End will again exact attention on the following day, for which both The Duke's Motto at the Lyric and Paid in Full at the Aldwych are underlined. Wednesday will welcome Mr. Martin Harvey at the Adelphi, where he will revive his interesting production of The Corsican Brothers. After that there is a lull for a whole week.

Mr. H. B. Irving has secured a lease of the Shaftesbury, where he will begin a season in October with The Lyons Mail, which was so closely associated with the popularity of his distinguished father. The piece, it will be remembered, is the work of the late Charles Reade, and is an adaptation of Le Courrier de Lyons, brought out at the Gaîté, Paris, in 1850. It was first produced four years later under the title of The Courier of Lyons at the Princess's, with Charles Kean as Dubosc and Lesurques, Miss Caroline Heath as Jeanette, Miss Carlotta Leclercq as Julie, and Miss Kate Terry as Joliquette. Sir Henry Irving's production at the Lyceum was made on May 19, 1877, under the altered title of The Lyons Mail, when Miss Isabel Bateman played Jeanette.

Mr. Irving is appearing successfully on tour in the double rôle, Jeanette being embodied by Miss Dorothea Baird (Mrs. Irving). The Lyons Mail is intended to fill in the interval required for rehearsing Mr. Justin Huntly McCarthy's new play, Cæsar Borgia, which has already won the approval of the provinces, and it is probable that Mr. Irving will revive Mr. W. G. Wills's historical drama, Charles I., another of Sir Henry's triumphs.

The tour on which Mr. Irving is now engaged lasts till October 10. Great enthusiasm was aroused during his visit to the Gaiety, Dublin, last week. At the conclusion of Saturday's performance the popular actor had to make a speech, and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I can very honestly say that I find it impossible to find words with which to adequately express my heartfelt thanks on my own behalf, and on behalf of my wife, for your generous appreciation of our work this week. It has been a week of arduous work, but I cannot tell you how it has been lightened by your sympathetic appreciation, and we look forward with sincere pleasure to the time when we shall again have the pleasure of appearing before a Dublin audience."

Miss Lottie Venne on Monday returned from a short holiday, and resumed her part of Mrs. Parker Jennings in Jack Straw at the Vaudeville Theatre. The comedy, which is now being represented by the original cast, will run right through the autumn and winter.

Mr. Oscar Asche and Miss Lily Brayton authorise us to state that there is no foundation whatever for the rumour that they are contemplating an engagement in connection with the new Millionaires' Theatre in New York. Their autumn plans have already been announced in this column, and if a suitable theatre is forthcoming their tour will be followed by the production of Count Hannibal in London, while, in addition, a late spring tour has been booked. There is a possibility of these gifted artists visiting the United States in the autumn of 1909 under the auspices of Mr. Frohman.

Mr. Courtice Pounds, who has been enjoying a very successful tour in the halls with his comedy and vocal sketch Charles, His Friend, will shortly be added to the cast of Havana at the Gaiety. The part designed for Mr. Pounds is being specially written up.

The fate of the matinée hat in Paris seems at length to have been sealed. The Prefect of Police has issued a stringent rule enacting that any person whose hat obstructs the view of members of the audience shall be required to comply with any request having for its object the cessation of the nuisance. If anyone therefore finds that a hat worn by someone in front interferes with his or her view of the performance, and if the wearer refuses to remove it, the person making the complaint can refer the matter to one of the policemen stationed in the theatre, when if the complaint is well founded the officer will insist on the hat being removed.

The regulations have aroused considerable interest on this side of the Channel. London managers can detect a slight abatement of the hat nuisance. They say that when a lady is asked to remove her hat the request is generally at once complied with.

Miss Lena Ashwell is very tactful. With a feminine insight into the sense of humour possessed by her sex, she has a notice printed on the curtain of the Kingsway Theatre thanking her lady patrons for having removed their hats and thus enabling everyone to see the play in comfort. The hint has had wonderful results. Mr. Tree would like to see it a universal practice for ladies to remove their hats in theatres; Mr. Frederick Harrison is of a similar opinion; and Mr. Cyril Maude says: "Voluntary reform on the subject, if introduced by the ladies, would be a splendid thing for audiences and managers."

Mr. Granville Barker will be the hon. examiner at the twenty-fourth annual examination recital in connection with the Polytechnic School of Elocution presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Hasluck, which will be held in the Great Hall, Regent-street, on Tuesday next at eight.

Mr. Charles Frohman's day is a busy one. From interesting details supplied it is found that on one eventful day in New York the enterprising manager reached his office at 8.30. After going through his correspondence, and conferring with his various managers, he proceeded at 10.30 to the Empire, where he started the rehearsal of a new play. The practice ended at one o'clock, and a quarter of an hour later found him directing the preparations for Jack Straw. At four o'clock he went to the Savoy Theatre to conduct Diana of Dobson's, and at 7.30 he was in the thick of rehearsals of Fluffy Ruffles at the Criterion. This task occupied him until 11.30 p.m., by which time it will hardly be disputed that, like the village blacksmith, he had earned a night's repose.

Mr. Seymour Hicks is lamenting the loss of another of the ladies of his company. He is playing in Dublin this week, and was meditating over the success of The Gay Gordons at the Theatre Royal, when his agreeable reflections were interrupted by the arrival of the following brief telegram:—"Shall not be back. So sorry. Am married." The message announced the wedding of Miss Elsie Kay, a member of the cast of The Gay Gordons, and one of the original "Gibson Girls." The bridegroom is Mr. Ronald McAndrew, a young man of about twenty-four, and the only son of Mr. McAndrew, a partner in the great shipbuilding firm of Laird and McAndrew, of Liverpool and Glasgow.

The story of the marriage is attended by the customary features. Miss Kay arrived in Dublin last Monday week with Mr. Seymour Hicks and his company to fulfil a fortnight's engagement. She had met Mr. Ronald McAndrew shortly before, and became engaged to him. When the lady left Liverpool for Dublin Mr. McAndrew travelled by the same boat. For a week he occupied each night a front seat in the stalls of the Theatre Royal. Last Monday Miss Kay obtained a day's leave from Mr. Seymour Hicks, and, with her fiancé set out for London, where the marriage took place the day after arrival.

Mr. Hicks takes a philosophic view of his loss. "I am awfully glad Miss Kay is happy," he said, "but it is a bit rough on me. Really, I don't see how I am going to come back to Dublin; I am always losing girls here. There was Miss Gates. She left me in Dublin, to marry Baron von Ditten. Then there was Miss Eva Carrington. It was in Dublin that she met Lord de Clifford, who promptly robbed us of her. Now there's Miss Kay. And was not Dublin responsible for Miss Rosie Boote's matrimonial fate? Seriously, I think it's due to the fact that our 'show girls,' as the stage phrase goes, are really nice people—ladies, you know. One hates the word for a description of nice women, but you know what I mean—and all these marriages have turned out really well."

Miss Ellis Jeffreys met with a painful mishap while travelling with Mr. Herbert Sleath to Blackpool, where they were to appear in A White Man. She was struck on the shoulder and badly bruised by a piece of coal from a passing express.

Mr. Percy Hutchison and company, in Brewster's Millions, have established another record, this time at Yarmouth. Mr. Nightingale's charming theatre has been crowded every evening, hundreds being turned away nightly. So great, indeed, has been the demand for seats that it was necessary to close the ordinary entrances and admit the crowds waiting for admission by early door only. Mr. Hutchison plays the young financier Monty Brewster whose efforts to rid himself of a cumbersome fortune prove so enthralling, and as his escapades form the pith and marrow of the play, the young actor has a formidable task in the discharge of which he becomes manifestly responsible for the success achieved.

The continued success that is attending Lady Frederick on tour, with Mrs. Brown-Potter in the title-rôle, is gratifying to the energetic Hutchison management, whose roll of records is increasing week by week. At Harrogate last week the performance was witnessed by H.R.H. Prince Francis of Teck, Lady Helen Vincent, Lady Julia Duff, Lady de Gray, and Mrs. Cornwallis West. This is the fifth occasion on which the Hutchison management have been honoured by the presence of Royalty at their various productions. Mrs. Brown-Potter is breaking records wherever she goes, and the advance booking is enormous. Next week Mrs. Potter will appear at Folkestone and Eastbourne, where the demand for seats has been so great that prices have been raised.

The servant question will be attacked by Mr. Jerome K. Jerome in a new comedy which he has designed for Miss Fannie Ward on her return from America in a few weeks' time. The piece is in four acts and has the title of Fanny and the Servant Problem. Miss Ward will appear in it at a West End theatre, for which arrangements are yet to be made.

Mr. Wentworth Croke has returned to London fit and well after a very health-giving and most interesting motor tour from London to John-o'-Groats. He is already busy making preparations for his coming winter season with established enterprises and new ventures.

We cordially congratulate Mr. Charles Boult, general manager for Mr. R. A. Roberts, on his forthcoming marriage with Miss Dora L. Hampson, third daughter of Mr. Charles G. Hampson, of Newcastle-on-Tyne. The ceremony will take place at Leeds on Oct. 6 quite quietly owing to the recent death of Miss Hampson's brother. Our readers will, we are sure, join us in wishing Mr. Boult and his bride a long and prosperous married life.

St. Saviour's Church, St. George's-square, S.W., was the scene on Tuesday last of the wedding of Mr. W. Howard Ashley (Mr. Norman V. Norman's business-manager) and Miss Etta Hyslop, the niece of Mr. Walter Hyslop. The ceremony took place at noon, before a large number of guests. Mr. Ashley was the gratified recipient of a handsome engraved gold-mounted cigar-case from the company, an engraved silver cardcase from Mr. Norman, and an elegant writing-case, also engraved, from Miss Beatrice Wilson, Mr. Norman's leading lady. The bride and bridegroom left the same day for Southsea, where they stay a week, and afterwards depart for the New Forest for a month.

As Miss Julia Neilson is still recuperating, the leading parts with Mr. Fred Terry on his tour will be played by Miss Miriam Lewes, who has sustained similar responsibilities with much distinction in London and the provinces.

Mr. Kenneth Blackmore, general secretary of the Actors' Union, returns from his vacation on Monday. At the weekly meeting at the Hummums Hotel next Tuesday Miss Amy Coleman will take the chair.

Miss Rose Moncrieff will produce at the Globe Theatre, Deal, on Sept. 17 a new play entitled The Bells of Old York, by Rass Challis, with music by Frank Bradsell. Mr. Challis, it may be added, is the author of The Curate, which for so many years enjoyed a prosperous tour of the provinces.

The death took place on Saturday of the Rev. T. H. Simon, curate of Holy Trinity Church, Shaw, Lancashire, who will be remembered as an actor under the name of St. Bernard Wyntour. He entered the dramatic profession at the age of nineteen, and played leading parts for six years, creating amongst others the title-rôle in Mr. Alfred C. Calmour's play Jevan the Prodigal, produced at the Queen's Theatre, Manchester, in the October of 1905. Mr. Simon, who was only twenty-seven, was ordained by the Bishop of Manchester last June.

Alluding to the death of the young cleric, Mr. Alfred C. Calmour, the author of Jevan the Prodigal, writes: "It was in consequence of the devotional aspect of the character in my play that the young actor turned his thoughts towards the Church. This is perhaps the only instance of a player being moved to take up the work of a priest from the character he nightly portrayed on the stage."

Mr. Martin Harvey will furnish an interesting variant during his season at the Adelphi, which commences on Wednesday, Sept. 9, with The Corsican Brothers. The play will fill the bill for four weeks; but it will be preceded each week by a different one-act piece, in all of which Mr. Harvey will himself appear. The first will be The Conspiracy; the second The House of Pierre, in which Miss N. de Silva will reappear; and the third Ib and Little Christina; the quartet being completed by A Tragedy of Truth.

All the playlets mentioned have already been seen either in London or the provinces. The last-named piece, with musical accompaniment, it will be remembered, created a very favourable impression when produced at the Adelphi in the summer of 1907. Mr. Harvey will play the part of Michael, which was previously sustained by Mr. Henry Ainley. Miss N. De Silva and Miss Kate Rorke will also be in the cast, and, in fact, the chief actor will be supported by the leading ladies and gentlemen of his company in all these one-act plays.

The popular actor is just finishing his short provincial tour, in the course of which he is visiting Llandudno, Buxton, Harrogate, and Middlesbrough. A conspicuous success has been won with the revival at Harrogate of After All, the play by Messrs. Freeman Wills and Langbridge, founded on Lord Lytton's novel "Eugene Aram." In the West Riding interest in the powerful story of Knaresborough is still vigorous, and Mr. Harvey's Eugene was accorded a great reception this week.

Miss Barbara Glyn, who is playing Dorothy in The Lady from Ostend at Sheffield this week, has found a congenial outlet for her talents, and gives a charmingly natural rendering of the young wife. It is a performance cast in a comedy mould rather than that of broad farce, but the amusing character of the part is by no means impaired by the artistic colouring which Miss Glyn gives to it.

Mr. C. H. Workman is now enjoying a well-earned holiday, and his place at the Savoy is being filled by Mr. Henry A. Lytton, who has been appearing as Dick Deadeye in Pinafore. Mr. Workman returns to the Savoy on Friday, Sept. 4.

"His House in Order" is to be brought out at the Paris Vaudeville in the course of the coming season. The French translation of Mr. Pinero's great play is to be entitled La Maison est en Ordre.

The run of The Mollusc, which, with Mr. Yorke Stephens in Sir Charles Wyndham's rôle, is nearing its 300th performance at the Criterion, will be continued until the production of the new play. The Saturday matinées will be resumed on Sept. 5.

Mr. J. A. Cave, the octogenarian actor, who is spending the evening of a busy life at the Charterhouse, has been suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism, which has kept him in bed for three weeks. Thanks to the kind treatment of the resident doctor and matron and their nurses, Mr. Cave is rapidly regaining his health.

Miss Fanny Moody, the popular prima-donna of the Moody-Manners company, has received from a Somerset schoolboy a rhymed request for her autograph. The lines are neatly turned, and run as follows:—

"Of autographs of those of fame
I've gathered not a few,
But one illustrious name I miss,
And, madam, that is you.

So kindly send one little line
A schoolboy's heart to cheer,
And make his autographic book
A thousand times more dear.

And as we cannot see what time
May have for us in store,
For I may be Lord Chancellor
(Or even something more);
When that event takes place I'll see
That you shall have a line from me."

In granting the request, Miss Moody also made a poetic but practical reply:—

"My friend, you make me feel quite shy,
You praise so very neatly.
To meet your wishes I will try,
But I must ask, discreetly,
That you will also grant my wish,
Now do not think you're dunned,
Just kindly send me half-a-crown
'Tis for the Actors' Fund."

An eminently suitable answer which might well be, and very often is, copied by members of the profession in so far as the fund is concerned.

The Moody-Manners Opera Company will next week bring their short but highly-successful season of Grand Opera in English to a close. The works selected are: Monday, Tannhäuser; Tuesday and Friday, Madame Butterfly; Wednesday afternoon, Lohengrin; Wednesday evening, Faust; Thursday, Cavalleria Rusticana, to be followed by Pagliacci; and Saturday afternoon, Aïda. In response to numerous and repeated requests Mr. Manners has decided to end the season by giving Benedict's beautiful opera, The Lily of Killarney. Before commencing their provincial tour the company will appear for a week at the Kennington Theatre, starting Sept. 7.

The latest embellishment to Butterflies at the Apollo is a new song for Mr. Louis Bradfield, entitled "Puck," written by Mr. Ralph Roberts and set to music by Mr. Harold Lonsdale. A casual remark by Mr. W. J. Locke gave the idea for the new lyric, which explains in humorous rhyme the attitude of Puck throughout the play.

Mr. Leonard Shepherd, who has been holiday-making in Wales and Devonshire, recalls for the States to-day, together with his wife, Miss Helena Head, by s.s. Grampian, Miss Head to resume her part of Florence Trenchard with Mr. E. H. Sothern in his revival of Lord Dundreary.

Mr. Norman Bowyer has been engaged to play the part of Reginald Racket in The Flower Girl. The new musical comedy is making a gratifying success in every town, the fine and elaborate scenery and beautiful dresses being particularly admired. The production is under the capable direction of Mr. F. Martin Morris.

The well-known operatic tenor Carl Burrian, who came specially from Bayreuth to sing before King Edward at Marienbad, was arrested under dramatic circumstances after the performance on Saturday night. Bailiffs entered the theatre to arrest Herr Burrian for a debt of £160 as he was preparing to go on the stage to sing Siegfried. It was pointed out to them that if they took the artist it was impossible to replace him, and that the opera was being given at the King's special request. The bailiffs agreed that the King's enjoyment should not be disturbed, and Herr Burrian was allowed to sing.

When the curtain fell the bailiffs stepped on the stage and arrested him. Herr Burrian contracted the debt as a penalty for failing to appear at Graetz when under engagement. He states that Herr Dippel, director of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, and Herr Weingartner, director of the Vienna Opera House, had promised to pay the amount for him.

"The Marriages of Mayfair" is the euphonistic and comprehensive title that has been finally decided upon for the new Drury Lane drama, the first performance of which is fixed for Thursday, Sept. 17. The principal members of the company are Messrs. Albert Chevalier, Lyn Harding, Basil Gill, Charles V. France, Vincent Clive, Oscar Adye, Fred Grove, Arthur Poole, Miss Eva Moore, Miss Marie George, Mrs. Lancaster Wallis, Miss Lucy Sibley, Miss M. Pera, Miss Muriel Langley, and Miss Olive Palmer.

A dozen different sets are employed in the working out of the piece, which opens at Rumpelmayer's, in St. James's, and then proceeds to Jermyn-street, with a third remove to Deerminster Chase. Act 2 is laid entirely at the Tower, of which Tower Green, Bloody Gate, Wakefield Tower, and Tower Wharf are depicted. Opportunities for picturesque display are further provided in Act 3, which includes in its scenes the Home Coverts, By the Lake, The Hospice, and The Pass; while in Act 4 a return is made to Deerminster and to Tower Green.

The first rehearsal on the new stage was conducted by Mr. Arthur Collins and Mr. Cecil Raleigh on Monday, when the improvements gained under the new conditions were made manifest. By pulling down a dividing wall the stage has been enlarged to almost double its original size, the distance from the footlights to the back wall being 80ft. as against 50ft. formerly. 80ft. also constitutes the width of the stage, which is thus made exactly square. There is a depth of 70ft. from the stage to the "grid," which will allow all the scenery to be drawn high into the flies without being rolled. These scenes will all be hung from wire ropes, and will be raised or lowered by means of counterweights.

Ten thousand superficial feet of teak have been used in rebuilding the flooring, which is a regular honeycomb of lifts and traps, so that it can be lifted, turned, and made to sink in sections. Another improvement is that of the glass roof, which will allow rehearsals to be conducted in the day time without the help of artificial light. The dynamos and the huge hydraulic and electric lifts below the stage fortunately escaped damage in the fire, and after being overhauled are as good as ever. Steel is everywhere—steel girders, steel galleries running round the flies—and fire-proof ropes, fire-proof woodwork, and fire-proof scenery will reduce the risk of another disaster to a minimum.

Mr. M. R. Morand, the well-known comedian, is about to take up the reins of management, and will, by arrangement with Mr. Robert Arthur, produce on Sept. 7 at the Theatre Royal, Newcastle, a new farce or tragic comedy by Mr. Eardley Turner entitled Next Door. A first-class company is engaged, and the author will play a part and assist Mr. Morand in the production. The comedy will be seen in London in the late autumn.

"Her Love Against the World" is this week paying a return visit to the Brixton Theatre, and is repeating its former triumphs. Messrs. W. H. Hallatt and Walter Howard's company is responsible for the production. Mr. Walter Howard himself plays the hero, and is supported by a capable company.

Sir Edward Elgar at Ostend last week conducted a musical festival entirely composed of his own works. The occasion was a conspicuous one for English musical art, as it was the first time in Belgium that an English musician had been thus honoured. Sir Edward, it is agreeable to note, is engaged upon the composition of an opera, and has returned to his home at Hereford for the purpose of setting seriously to work.

"The Belle of the Ball," which now seems to have settled down into a genuine financial success, will be seen for the first time in London at the Crown Theatre, Peckham, on Oct. 19. The tour is under the personal direction of Mr. Alexander Loftus.

Mr. Wellesley Draper has been re-engaged by Mr. and Mrs. Kendal for their autumn tour, commencing Monday next at the Grand Theatre, Douglas.

"The Melting Pot," a four-act drama by Israel Zangwill, was produced for copyright purposes at the Terminus Hall, Littlehampton, on the 21st inst. In place of the usual "Admission one guinea" on the announcement appeared the phrase "Free list entirely suspended."

His Majesty's Theatre, Barrow-in-Furness, under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge, started on a prosperous autumn season on August Bank Holiday. Last week Messrs. Armitage and Leigh's fine production of With Edged Tools met with such liberal support that the play has been rebooked to appear within a few months' time. The future bookings at His Majesty's include all the recent London successes, among others being Mr. Percy Hutchison's companies and those of Miss Lena Ashwell. A White Man, and Mr. George Alexander's company in The Thief, as well as his next St. James's Theatre production, are also secured. Such an attractive list speaks volumes for the success and enterprise of the management.

The Play Actors, who have indulged in a rest during the summer, will re-commence operations on Sunday, Sept. 27, at the Court, at which theatre they have arranged to give all their performances during the autumn season. The opening production will be a new comedy, entitled The Success of Sentiment, by Hugh Cranmer-Byng, a writer fresh to the dramatic arena, and further performances are announced for Oct. 18, Nov. 8 and 29, Dec. 20, and Jan. 10.

In the prosperity of their enterprise the Play Actors have discovered one cause for regret, and it lies in the fact that, owing to the increase in the number of subscribers, the committee are compelled to withdraw the offer of two seats in pit or upper circle for 10s. 6d. The subscription for the season will be £1 1s., entitling the holder to two seats for every performance in stalls, dress circle, or upper circle, to be allotted in turn; and 10s. 6d. for one seat under the same conditions. Miss Winifred Mayo is again the secretary.

The Todmorden Hippodrome, as the new theatre now nearing completion in that town is to be called, will be opened on Oct. 5 with Two Lancashire Lasses in London. The building is handsome and commodious, and is within three minutes' walk of the railway station. Everything has been admirably planned. In the stalls there are comfortable tip-up chairs, and tip-up seats in other parts of the area; and the best seats of the house will be specially upholstered. The upper part of the house is graded as circle, upper circle, and gallery, the whole having been so arranged that a perfect and uninterrupted view of the stage is commanded from every part. There are to be special ventilating and heating devices, with electric lighting throughout. Mr. Richard Dewhirst is the manager.

Mr. Norman V. Norman gave a special performance of David Garrick and the Balcony Scene from Romeo and Juliet, with Miss Beatrice Wilson in the part of Juliet, at the Marlborough Theatre on Thursday. The house was crowded, and the enthusiasm shown by the audience very great. Mr. Norman and Miss Wilson being called before the curtain no less than eighteen times.

Pete on the posters promises well for the popularity of the hero of Messrs. Hall Caine and Louis N. Parker's play, which is to be produced at the Lyceum this evening. The young fisherman makes a brave appearance in the picture, with his stalwart figure and his sunburnt face, surmounted by curly locks, while in his arms he fondles the infant around which the most dramatic incidents of the play revolve. As Pete Mr. Matheson Lang is bound to add to his conquests at the Lyceum.

Miss Helena Millais has been engaged to understudy the part of Kate Cregeen in Pete at the Lyceum.

The play by Hall Caine in which his son Derwent Hall Caine is to appear, is to be called The Unwritten Law, a title by the way that was used by Mr. John Lawson for one of his later sketches on the halls. The title suggests the subject with which it deals, and part of the action is laid at Sevenoaks, a district to which sad associations have during the last few days attached. The locale of the play, however, was decided upon some weeks ago. The second act takes place in Northern seas, thus giving opportunity for picturesque effect.

"Go to 53, South-street, and prevent the murder of ——" These words form the most striking feature of a poster which is this week adorning the hoardings of South London. They are chalked on the wall of a dingy-looking attic by a young lady evidently in a state of great agitation, while a colour-sergeant of the British Army points to the startling inscription with an expression of horror and astonishment. It is the great scene in Mr. Walter Melville's latest melodrama, Married to the Wrong Man, recently produced at the Elephant and Castle, and this week being played to absorbed audiences at the Shakespeare. The inditer of the fateful words is a dumb girl named Ruth, who adopts the device of writing on the wall in order to get Sergeant Manners to save her husband, whom the villain of the play has tried to decoy to an empty house.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beresford (Miss Dorothy Milne) have been engaged to play the leading parts in the forthcoming tour of Convict 99, starting on Sept. 14, Mr. Beresford appearing as Lawrence Gray (the title-rôle), and Miss Milne as Geraldine Lucas. Mr. Beresford, it will be remembered, created the title-rôle in the original production at the Crown Theatre, Peckham.

"The Fighting Hope," a play in three acts, by William J. Hurlbut, was produced for copyright purposes at the Elephant and Castle Theatre on Wednesday morning.

Apropos of the coming season, Mr. James Wright, the theatrical traffic agent of the London and North-Western Railway, has given an Evening News representative some interesting particulars of the growth of theatrical touring in recent years. "In 1894," he said, "we carried over the whole system 1,192 companies, comprising 524 first-class and 39,632 third-class passengers, with 2,651 trucks of scenery. In 1907 we carried 4,397 companies, comprising 1,443 first-class and 83,847 third-class passengers."

One of the heaviest companies on the road, according to Mr. Wright, is The Girls of Gottenberg. The company travels ninety strong, with about twelve vans of scenery. Mr. Seymour Hicks's company of eighty, with a great weight of scenery, comes second in the list of those already started. Probably the heaviest will be the Moody-Manners company, which will start shortly with a company of about 130 and many trucks of luggage. Mr. Arthur Bourchier, who opens at Douglas, Isle of Man, on Sept. 7, has also a very large company.

To the late Sir Henry Irving is to be credited one of the most brilliant theatrical rushes on record. "It was," says Mr. Wright, "on his last great tour, when he went from Belfast to Sandringham by the King's command. Sir Henry and his company left Belfast immediately after the performance on Monday night. They crossed by special steamer to Liverpool, proceeded by the ordinary express to Rugby, and by special from thence to Sandringham, performing that night after the King's dinner. At one a.m. on Tuesday, immediately he had received his Majesty's congratulations, Sir Henry left with his company, and by means of special trains and special steamers was able to perform at Belfast the same evening."

At Old-street Police Court on Thursday, Morris Segelman, a shopman, of Turner-street, Commercial-road, was charged with wilful damage at the Pavilion Theatre, Mile End-road, and further with assaulting and causing grievous bodily harm to Police-constable Betts (210 H) on the evening of the 13th inst. According to the evidence of two of the attendants of the theatre, the trouble began by the prisoner resisting an attendant who tried to prevent him from passing from one part of the theatre to the other. When prisoner was, after some struggling, put outside the doors into a passage of the theatre, he was alleged to have dashed his elbow and arm through a glass panel in the door.

He was then seized, and, in the course of a violent struggle that followed (in which he struck the attendants), the prisoner appeared to have been severely mauled, and a constable was violently kicked. The defence was that the prisoner found his wife being roughly used, and acted almost unconsciously. The magistrates accepted this view, and, dismissing the charge of wilful damage, fined the prisoner £10 and two guineas costs for the assault on the police-constable.

No novelties are included in the programmes of the Promenade Concerts for the forthcoming week, beginning on Monday. The one new work—a Concerto for Violoncello and Orchestra by Mr. Percy H. Miles, which was down for Thursday, Sept. 3, has had to be withdrawn because the composer's departure for Australia has made it impossible to get the parts in order for performance this season. In its place Mr. Herbert Withers will play Dvorak's B minor Concerto for Violoncello.

There is no lack of interest, however, in the week's scheme. Monday presents the customary Wagner programme, with the added attraction of the popular tenor, Mr. Lloyd Chandos. The principal item on Tuesday evening will be Strauss's symphonic poem, Ein Heldenleben, the violin solo part being played by Mr. M. Wolters. On Wednesday Tchaikovsky's Fourth Symphony and Dvorak's Carnival Overture are included in the programme. The Russian master's graceful "Mozartiana" Suite, Haydn's Symphony No. 11, and Sibelius's tone-poem, En Saga, are the chief orchestral attractions for Thursday. On Friday the first part of the programme is devoted to Beethoven, and includes the "Eroica" Symphony.

A feature of next week's programmes is the number of first appearances among the soloists. On Tuesday the two vocalists, Miss Barwell-Holbrook and Mr. Philip Simons, will both be newcomers at these concerts. On Wednesday Miss Catherine Aulsebrook will be heard in Handel's "Lascia ch'io pianga," and the clever young pianiste, Miss Myra Hess, makes her début at the Promenades in Liszt's E flat Concerto. On Thursday Miss Mabel Nelson will sing Verdi's aria, "Pace, pace, mio Dio." The list of newcomers for the week closes with the first appearance of Mr. Vivian Hamilton, who will play Beethoven's "Emperor" Concerto on Friday evening.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The Name of Melba.

MME. MELBA owes her professional name to the happy inspiration of her Paris teacher, Mme. Marchesi. When the training of her beautiful voice was approaching completion a question arose as to the name under which the young Australian was to make her début, Miss Nellie Mitchell or Mrs. Armstrong (her maiden and married names) being obviously impossible for a prima donna. After various suggestions had been considered and dismissed, Mme. Marchesi exclaimed, "Why not pay a compliment to your native city of Melbourne by calling yourself after it? Melba would make a capital name." The proposal was adopted, and, as Mme. Melba, a most successful début was made in the part of Gilda (Rigoletto) at the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, on October 15, 1887. For this first engagement Mme. Melba received a salary of £240 per month. For the second engagement in Paris her salary was £400 per month, and—as the result of Parisian triumphs—she was soon receiving £2,000 a month in Madrid and Berlin.

Cowboy and Actor.

As one watches Mr. Oscar Asche on the stage it is difficult to imagine the popular actor earning a livelihood by rounding up cattle in the Australian bush. Yet two years of his life were spent on an Australian cattle station after leaving the Melbourne Grammar School, where he was educated. Afterwards Mr. Asche tried to settle down to the humdrum life of a clerk in a wine office in Sydney. Two weeks of this was sufficient, and it is probable that he would have gone back to the cowboy's saddle had not his mother, who was a Norwegian, allowed him to go to Norway to study for the stage under Hansen, the producer of Ibsen plays. From there Mr. Asche found his way into Mr. Benson's company, where he first met his charming wife, Miss Lily Brayton.

Church and Stage.

MR. MATHESON LANG, who is to play Pete in the latest adaptation of The Manxman at the Lyceum, is a son of the manse, as they say in Scotland. His father is the Rev. Gavin Lang, one of the most popular Presbyterian ministers in Inverness. He made his first professional appearance in 1897 at Wolverhampton with Mr. Louis Calvert's répertoire company, and afterwards joined Mr. F. R. Benson. When the Bensonians played in Inverness Mr. Matheson Lang, who was for some years a member of Mr. Benson's company, used to receive a Highland welcome from his own and his father's friends. He is a cousin of the Bishop of Stepney, Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, whose father is the Very Rev. Dr. Marshall Lang, the Principal of Aberdeen University.

Edward Terry's "Policy."

MANY amusing stories are recorded of Mr. Edward Terry, the eminent comedian. Mr. Terry, who has travelled widely, is a keen Alpine enthusiast. Once when climbing Mont Blanc he met trouble at a dangerous point, and, turning to another climber to whom he was roped, said, "Well, the only thing that troubles me is whether the insurance company will pay up if I get killed!" "What company are you in?" asked the other climber. Mr. Terry mentioned the name of a well-known insurance office. "I know the company will pay," said the other climber; "I'm the company's London agent, and your policy is in my safe." "Well, well," said Mr. Terry, "isn't the world small, after all? Fancy meeting you here!"

The Turn of the Tide.

THINGS were unusually bad with "Jimmy" Welch on one occasion in his early youth, and he was at his wits' end to furnish the wherewithal for the day's entertainment. The only course open to him was to pawn his watch. This he did, and, feeling reckless, at once made for a well-known restaurant, and, as he himself phrases it, "blued the lot" down to the last sixpence. "Now," said he, as he gave the ultimate coin to the waiter, and once more walked into the street, "something must turn up, for I am 'broke.'" At that moment he felt a touch on his shoulder, and, looking round, recognised a professional friend, who apologised, but explained that on seeing Welch he was reminded that a small part that would suit him was then going at the Olympic. Then and there the direction of the walk was changed, and half an hour later Mr. Welch was engaged by Mr. Wilson Barrett (who remembered his Perkins in The Golden Ladder at the Globe) at a salary of £3 a week, an engagement which led to continued good fortune.

Fanny Moody's Joke.

MRS. FANNY MOODY confesses to a weakness for practical joking. "One day," she says, "disguised in a wig and pair of spectacles, I applied to have my voice tried by the manager of our company—my own husband. Neither he nor the conductor had the faintest suspicion of my bonâ-fides when I pleaded that, my home being many miles away, they would hear me before a number of others who were waiting. I took the conductor's hand, and, imprinting upon it a devout kiss, called him 'The dear Master.' He did try my voice, and, as I indulged in the most excruciating shrieks ever heard as 'music,' he told me, gently but firmly, to go back to keeping cows, or any other occupation within my limited capacity. My husband confirmed this judgment, with much concern for my misapplied enthusiasm, when suddenly I threw off my disguise and revealed my real character."

A Bunch of Violets.

"WHEN I was playing in The Prisoner of Zenda," writes Mr. George Alexander in the September number of the Royal Magazine, "I was the recipient of a gift the remembrance of which I shall always cherish. During the interval I heard a quiet, nervous tap at my door, and a minute afterwards a little girl—she could not have been more than eleven or twelve—was shown in. She carried in her hand a small bunch of sweet-scented violets, which she laid on my dressing-table, remarking, as she shyly looked in my face, 'Please, sir, will you have these—do, please, have these, because I liked to hear you talk so gallantly on the stage of your mother.' Then, without another word, my strange little visitor ran away, leaving me quite in ignorance as to her identity."

A TELEGRAM announcing the intention of a party of Swedish scientists to explore the island of Juan Fernandez appears in a contemporary headed "Robinson Crusoe's Island." That Alexander Selkirk lived on Juan Fernandez for several years is now well established—many relics of his weary exile have of late years been discovered there, and by permission of the Chilian Government a tablet to his memory has been placed on the island; but, apart from the fact that the doings of Defoe's "Crusoe" bear little resemblance to Selkirk's account of his lonely life in the Pacific, the local of the former's island is in the Atlantic. Before the wreck "Crusoe's" vessel was near the mouth of the Orinoco, and Defoe's hero afterwards calculated the latitude of "this horrid island" to be 9deg. 22min. north. Robinson Crusoe's Island must, therefore, have been off the coast of Venezuela.

We shall be obliged if our readers will send us any amusing anecdotes they may hear, or accounts of any quaint incidents they may witness while acting or rehearsing.

"IDOLS."

A Play, in Four Acts, Adapted by Roy Horniman from the Novel by J. W. Locke, and produced at the Theatre Royal, Birmingham, on Monday, Aug. 24.

Irene Merriam	MISS EVELYN MILLARD
Minna Hart	MISS EDITH LATIMER
Mrs. Harroway	MISS AUGUSTA HAVILAND
Anna Josephs	MRS. HARRY CANE
Maid	MISS ETHEL INGRAM
Gerard Merriam	MR. HERBERT WARING
Saunders	MR. C. W. SOMERSET
Jacob Hart	MR. ALFRED BRYDONE
Counsel for the Prosecution	MR. CHARLES ROCK
Counsel for the Defence	MR. ARTHUR WONTNER
Mr. Harroway	MR. C. LEVESON-LANE
The Judge	MR. EVELYN VERNON
Dr. Fenwick	MR. HEATH HAVILAND
The Clerk of Assize	MR. GUY FLETCHER
An Usher	MR. FRANK DANBY
Police-constable Rivington	MR. ALBERT SIMS
Hugh Colman	MR. ALLAN AYNESWORTH

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Miss Millard's popularity was the means of drawing a big house last Monday, when the play was produced for the first time, the spacious Theatre Royal being filled from floor to ceiling. In this adaptation of Idols the curtain rises at the home of the Merriams, where the Harroways are just making "a call." The servant having departed to notify her mistress of their presence, they fall to discussing their hostess, her projects, and her predilection for her husband's friend, Colman. Irene, who has just returned from her mission of rescue work among some "dreadful people" in the cottages close by, enters full upon their confabulation, and learns for the first time that Colman had years ago saved her husband's life in a mountaineering expedition. Why it has been kept secret is not made very clear, but it happened "many years ago," before the marriage of the Merriams, and here, it appears, Hugh Colman was a suitor for the hand of Irene, who, however, preferred his friend, Gerard Merriam. Being a paragon among wives, Irene, from no other reason than the best, sets herself to preserve the friendship between the two men, and in point of fact affects the singularity among women that no wife should seek to break her husband of his bachelordom friends. In this case she reckons without her host, or rather her husband, who, we notice, makes furtive demonstrations of disapproval at his wife's panegyrics on Colman's virtues; and when she, in the softest and sweetest manner, refers to the little incident of the life-saving—he flies into a perfect fury, excusing himself anon by saying that there are some things that men keep to themselves. But not in the slightest manner has she a suspicion of his jealousy, and Colman's appearance is hailed by her with sweet cordiality, while in the husband we see jealousy rampant. The arrival of Jacob Hart, the moneylender, with a cheque for five hundred pounds for Irene's pet project is effusively welcomed. It is here that the plot begins to quicken, for Hart is accompanied by his daughter, Minna; and from her lowering looks in Colman's direction it is easy to see that there is "something between them." Being left alone on the matter of the cheque, we learn that they are no less than married, she having attached herself to him on the strength of his prospects as his uncle's heir. These prospects have, however, vanished, in the arrival of a baby-heir, and nothing remains but to ask the moneylender for the hand of his already secretly-married daughter and go through the ceremony again in propria forma. This it is agreed he shall do at the Harts, where he is to dine that night, and on the return to the room of Hart himself with the Merriams, father and daughter take their leave. Colman, after being rallied, ever so gently, by his hostess on the life-saving incident, and mentioning a little trouble of his own, also takes his leave, and Gerrard Merriam, who is about to depart on a fishing expedition, is left with his wife. She has picked up a book of poems by Colman, and Merriam, taking it from her, is about to throw it on the floor, but thinking better of it, takes up his fishing creel. He bids her good-bye, and she is left murmuring, "Dear Hugh, he saved Gerrard's life!"

The next act takes place at the Harts', where Hugh Colman is at dinner, and in the drawing-room are Minna and Anna Josephs, Minna's confidante, and the only person who knows of the secret marriage. With flashing eye and impatient mien Minna is repenting her of her marriage, though she herself was the main and confessed cause of it, for motives of social advancement, for she is craving for "a bigger world." They are joined by the men, Hart and Colman, and anon retire, Minna having first required of Colman that he apprise her of the result of his suit at her chamber later, and where, it seems, as her husband, and in secret, he has the entrée. Colman, who is indebted to Hart for five thousand pounds—which the latter, on account of the fall in Colman's fortunes, handsomely excuses and forgoes—now asks his host for his daughter's hand, and is refused in a fury. Not that he objects to him personally; it is a question of religion, and the old Jew moneylender solemnly threatens to "curse his daughter after the manner of his people" if the suit be persisted in or consummated. Colman goes, and Hart, fetching papers, destroys one—Colman's debt, in fact; but Hart, hearing a noise, summons the eavesdropper forth. This proves to be Saunders, the butler, a former client of Hart's who is now obliged to take service under him. Drunken and moody, he has taken to spying, and in an altercation with his master, Hart, he blurts out the truth concerning Colman's visits to his daughter's chamber. The infuriated Hart takes him by the throat, and Saunders, to save himself, knocks him over the head with a heavy candlestick. The murderer leaving his victim prone, we next see Colman and Minna in the latter's chamber discussing the situation. Minna is furious and distracted at the unexpected refusal of her hand to Colman, and eventually proposes, as the only way out of the trouble, that Colman shall renounce her and keep their marriage secret for ever. This is in order to preserve her inheritance, which her father has threatened he will dispossess her of if she marries against his will. Colman agrees and departs, and Minna, bursting into wild, distraught laughter, calls on Anna Josephs to fetch brandy. The latter goes down, and so comes across the dead body of Hart in the drawing-room, and shrieks out the dreadful truth, Minna rushing from the scene to her father's dead body.

In the third act, at the Assizes, Colman is arraigned for the crime, and the counsel for the Prosecution is demolishing remorselessly the plea that the prisoner is sheltering a woman's name under his silence. "He was in no woman's arms," cries the counsel. "It's a lie! He was in mine," comes the startling and self-sacrificing avowal from the lips of the gentle and chaste Irene Merriam. The sensation was great, if not altogether unexpected. Irene's evidence being unshaken, the prisoner goes free, and the former is followed by the now firmly-convinced Gerrard home, where his feelings break out into uncontrollable wrath at his wife's "perfidy." He refuses to believe in his wife's plea that it was only to save "dear Hugh," and that she is guilty only of "heroic perjury." The appearance of Colman further incenses the infuriated Gerrard, who hurls his invectives at both. In the midst of his girdings a messenger arrives from the hitherto silent Minna (who was a witness at the trial, and scrupled not to hold her tongue on Colman's presence with her at the very time her father was murdered), allowing him to divulge the truth. Thus the three are reconciled. What becomes of the shuffling, despicable murderer himself we learn not.

The play is constructed in a clear and concise manner, there being nothing crude or cramped about the adaptation. Both adaptor and author were called for loudly at the conclusion, together with Miss Millard, with whom they acknowledged the ovation. Miss Millard herself gave a subtle and analytical study of a woman with a capacity for making ideals and idols, and in the trial scene held the audience transfixed with her rigid, tense acting under the fire of cross-examination. In the later scene, with her husband, she was superb and infinitely tender withal. Mr. Herbert Waring gave all the signs and tokens of the "idol" who is not up to his wife's making, his impatience of Irene's admiration for his friend and his utter tiredness of him being admirably shown; while in the last scene he made a very powerful display. Mr. Allan Aynesworth as the friend, Hugh Colman, was polished and nonchalant most times. Whether in monetary troubles, in his attitude towards his friend's wife, or under his own wife's overweening reproaches and invective, he preserved the fine manner of the chivalrous man of the world, only breaking out into passion, and that very effectively, under Merriam's accusations. A finely rendered part was Minna Hart, by Miss Edyth Latimer, who played the opportunist, disappointed woman and wife grandly. Mr. Alfred Brydone gave a finished piece of acting as the Jew moneylender, Jacob Hart, and provided one of the best things in the performance. Mr. C. W. Somerset as the butler, Saunders, was also very good. With shifty look, dull-eyed, and fearful under examination at the trial, he gave the fullest significance to the part. The Harroways were properly represented by Mr. C. Leveson-Lane and Miss Augusta Haviland; Mrs. Harry Cane was quite in touch with the rôle of Anna Josephs; and Messrs. Chas. Rock and Arthur Wontner spoke well as Prosecuting and Defending Counsel respectively.

"HIS LIFE FOR HER LOVE."

Play, in Four Acts, by George S. King, Produced at the Metropole Theatre, Devonport, on Monday, Aug. 24.

Jacob Trewitt	MR. DOUGLAS C. PHELPS
Seth Shaw	MR. FRANCIS ROBERTS
Abel Trewitt	MR. HERBERT LAWRENCE
Jimmy Newsome	MR. SYDNEY HUMPHREYS
Mattie Corncraike	MR. FRED WATSON
Rev. Stephen Addison	MR. GEO. GESSOP
Betty Crawley	MISS HAZEL HOOD
Dolly Newsome	MISS DOLLY GILROY
Ruth Tempt	MISS PHYLLIS GIBSON
Lena Shaw	MISS HELEN LOWTHER

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The above new play, which saw the light on Monday, is the work of Mr. G. S. King, the manager of the Metropole Theatre. It is a play of an emotional type, and while it has few sensational episodes, it tells in a convincing manner the story of a passionate romance in humble life, and presents a series of engrossing situations, which won much applause. Lena Vaughan, a refined village girl, the daughter of a Quaker, is betrayed and deserted by Jimmy Newsome, and, returning to the neighbourhood of her old home, eventually marries Seth Shaw, on condition that he also gives her child a home. The match proves a very unhappy one, and the climax is reached when Shaw brings home his own wife's betrayer. Unable to endure the presence of the man, Lena, whose child has died, leaves him and her husband to sleep off the effects of a drinking bout, and seeks shelter from a raging storm at the cottage of Jacob Trewitt, a gardener. Jacob has loved Lena for years, but never had the courage to declare his affection when she was free to accept him. Learning how cruelly she has been treated, he visits her home, and finding Seth still under the influence of his debauch, stabs him to the heart. Newsome, who is left asleep by his side, is arrested for the murder and sentenced to death.

Then follows for Jacob a terrible struggle with himself. Lena discovers who really committed the terrible deed, and though she loves Jacob, prevails upon him to give himself up. As the result of a second trial he is sentenced to be hanged, but on the circumstances being brought to the notice of the Home Secretary the death sentence is commuted to penal servitude for life. Fifteen years later Jacob is released, and seeks the woman for love of whom he has suffered. Eventually Jacob and Lena are brought together again, and the curtain falls on the betrothal of Jacob and the woman for love of whom he has offered his life.

Allowing for the disadvantages of a "first night," the play went excellently on Monday, and ought to be very successful. To Mr. Douglas C. Phelps who impersonates Jacob Trewitt, is entrusted the lion's share of the work, and a better choice could scarcely have been made, this capable actor being quite at home in the many difficult situations incident to the part. Miss Helen Lowther as Lena gave a performance to which much praise is due. Mr. Francis Roberts's rendering of Seth Shaw was a vigorous and sound enactment, Mr. Herbert Lawrence gave a skilful characterisation of Abel, Jacob's younger brother, and Mr. Sydney Humphreys was grim and forcible as Newsome. Miss Phyllis Gibbon gave a touching rendering of Ruth Tempt, to whom Lena confides her child. As Dolly Newsome, to whom Abel makes love, Miss Dolly Gilroy acts with freshness and charm, Miss Hazel Hood is a vivacious Betty, and the other parts are in safe hands. Mr. King was accorded a well-earned benefit on Friday, when the Mayor and Mayoress of Devonport gave their patronage.

"THOUGH I doubt it will be a vain labour to offer you a just likeness of Mrs. Mountford's action," writes Colley Cibber in a fine example of laudatory description, "yet the fantastic impression is still so strong in my memory that I cannot help saying something, though fantastically, about it. The first ridiculous airs that break from her are upon a gallant never seen before, who delivers her a letter from her father, recommending him to her good graces, as an honourable lover. Here now, one would think, she might naturally show a little of the sex's decent reserve, though never so slightly covered. No, sir, not a tittle of it; modesty is the virtue of a poor-souled country gentlewoman; she is too much a court lady to be under so vulgar a confusion: she reads the letter therefore with a careless dropping lip, and an erected brow, humming it hastily over as if she were impatient to outgo her father's commands, by making a complete conquest of him at once; and that the latter might not embarrass her attack, crack! She scrambles it at once into her palm, and pours upon him her whole artillery of airs, eyes, and motion. Down goes her dainty diving body to the ground, as if she were sinking under the conscious load of her own attractions; then launches into a flood of fine language and compliment, still playing her chest forward in fifty falls and risings, like a swan upon waving water; and to complete her impertinence, she is so rapidly fond of her own wit, that she will not give her lover leave to praise it. Silent assenting bows and vain endeavours to speak are all the share of the conversation he is admitted to: which at last he is relieved from by her engagements to half a score visits, which she swims from him to make, with a promise to return in a twinkling."

THE CENSORSHIP AGAIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—When stage plays are brought into controversy, it is a fact most pronounced that certain individuals take the opportunity of assailing musical comedy and light comic opera, merely, it would seem, because they have some fault to find with it, or they do not personally accept it in the same spirit as that in which it is put before the public.

For my own part, I can say that musical comedy appears to me to supply one important spoke in the wheel of civilisation, inasmuch as it is constructed primarily with the one object of temporarily relieving humanity from the monotonies of everyday worries. It is not my intention in this short letter to make any personal reference to my own work as an actress—I merely at all times try to do my best, and I perforce leave the appreciation—or the reverse—of my endeavours to my public, whose servant it is my lot in life to be.

That is, however, all beside the mark. The real point of the argument is, Why should certain prejudiced and self-constituted critics use such strenuous exertions to denounce a form of entertainment which the great majority of people favour?

In my most recent enterprise, i.e., Butterflies, at the Apollo Theatre, I have used all my experience and best efforts to place before the public an entertainment with a moral tone and effect which should have some influence on those who witness it. Herein it is plainly set out that life should be accepted as it is, and that if one or the other of us have ideas warped and influenced by the surroundings in which Fate has cast us, we should at least consider that the world was not made for "Number One" only. The excellently-drawn characters of Christopher Podmore and his family in Butterflies typify the point of my argument in that this said Podmore makes the vital, but very human, mistake of shutting his eyes to the real blessings of life, and in his blind obstinacy expects everybody in his immediate sphere to do ditto.

In conclusion, I can only say—and I say it with the most implicit confidence—that light musical plays will always be affectionately received (providing, of course, they are properly placed on the stage) by the great British Public by reason of the exhilarating arts employed in the preparation and exploitation of such works.

Trusting you will be able to find space for this letter in justice to musical comedy, &c., and with a hope that it may to some extent nullify the many attacks which have recently been made upon this class of entertainment, I am, yours faithfully,

ADA REEVE.

Apollo Theatre, London, Aug. 21.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—It certainly seems strange that plays to be produced on the theatrical stage should have to pass a Censor, while shorter plays of—more or less—very similar construction in effect should be permitted production at the variety theatres without let or hindrance. To the lay mind this appears a comical state of affairs so far as the English laws and customs are concerned, which laws and customs seem to go on from one generation to another irrespective of progress in enterprise and education.

It would appear that the Censor is a most necessary person for maintaining wholesomeness on the British stage, and were it not for this public official many people—in the position to express an opinion—aver that the stage would not be quite so much above reproach as it is at the immediate moment, as, in the absence of the Censor, the ad libitum method would most likely become a general vogue.

Whatever may be said to the contrary, we at least know that to-day the theatres submit entertainments to which we can take young people with every confidence, and although some persons continually abuse the lighter form of theatrical fare, namely, musical comedy or light comic opera, I have never yet seen anything in either of them, from the Savoy operas downwards, to offend the most refined senses, and during the recent outcry against the Danse du Papillon in Butterflies I went to the Apollo Theatre to satisfy myself as to this and the whole entertainment, and must cordially endorse the verdict of the Press that this play is as clean and merry as any entertainment which has ever received the official licence of the Censor.

It is to be hoped that dramatic Censorship will never be discontinued, but at the same time it would seem that every sort of play, farce, sketch, or "trifle" written for theatre or music-hall should go through the Censor's hands.—Yours truly,

PLAYGOER.

London, E.C., Aug. 22.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—I have read with some interest the various letters dealing with the prohibition of Mr. Courtney's version of Œdipus. May I express an opinion? To my way of thinking, the tragedy is in itself too great to give offence. There is a grandeur and impressiveness about it which raises it above criticism.

The theme is difficult of treatment, but delicately handled would not be objectionable, particularly with the rather painfully drawn character of Jocasta kept well in the background. It all depends on the handling of the subject. If the prohibition of the play is based upon the fear of tawdry imitations it is a different matter.—I am, sir, faithfully yours,

EDITH SLACK.

7, Craignish-avenue, Norbury, Aug. 25.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

DEAR SIR,—In a letter to the editor of the Daily Telegraph published on Wednesday last Mr. Cecil Raleigh would seem to desire the extinction of the Censor, but it would appear that "what is good cannot be bad," and the practical letter of "Playgoer" in the same paper on Tuesday covered the whole ground.

Mr. Raleigh deems it wise to argue that the Press, the poet, the preacher, &c., are free to air their opinions ad libitum, but this theory does not in any way touch the controversy. So far as the Press is concerned, would it not be safe to say that every newspaper has a most arbitrary censor in its own editor, whose wise control and blue pencil tend to inspire confidence in his readers and considerably to aid circulation?

Everybody admits that the theatre is—in the main, at least—a commercial pursuit, and, as such, must necessarily be dominated by some legislation. Up to the present our theatres seem to have prospered under the "terrible ban" of the Censor, whose chief "faults" (?) would appear to lie in the direction of saving the British stage and the British public from unsavoury details which really and truly do not constitute entertainment in the true sense of the word.

The public have always been, and always will be, the best judges of genuine entertainment, and the "doubtful numbers" have never yet been financial successes. Therefore, after all is said and done, there can be no possible doubt that the manager who first aims to pass the Censor and then to pass the public never goes very far wrong, and he can afford to ignore that which the excellent diction of the said Censor judges to be hazardous to the best interests of the community.

When we take the broad view of the situation we seem to be influenced—by those in a position to theorise—to the verdict that the Censor has always done his work conscientiously and well, and our occasional "rebellious" compatriots, who seek to strike new ground in their moral writings, are decidedly in the minority, and generally touch upon subjects which are wholly unsuited for exploitation in the theatres.—Yours faithfully,

W. SCOTT PHIPP,
Acting-Manager, Butterflies.

Apollo Theatre, W., Aug. 26.

Mr. Frederick Whelen writes:—"Our modern music-halls are not under the tyranny of Saint James's Palace, and they can produce plays—unlicensed plays—without the fear of the Lord Chamberlain's interdict. With their greater freedom they have not degenerated into licentiousness, as supporters of the Censor fear would be the case with theatres if they were equally free. The reverse is the case; the advance of the music-halls is upward, and not downward."

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.

The Council of the Actors' Association held their usual weekly meeting at 409, Strand, on Tuesday, when there were present: Mr. Robson Paige (in the chair), Mr. H. W. Mote (Hon. Solicitor), Mr. Clarence Derwent, Mr. Sebastian Smith, and Mr. Hubert Blount (Secretary). The numbers in attendance being insufficient to form a quorum, those present constituted themselves into a committee and the work of the agenda was proceeded with.

The minutes of the previous meetings, held on Aug. 18 and 22, were read and confirmed.

A letter was read from Mr. Vedrenne stating that the communication to him with reference to standard contract would be placed before the committee of the Society of West End Managers in September. A communication from Mr. Storey-Gofton with regard to a letter which appeared in the Referee of Aug. 16, signed "An Actor," was read, and the Secretary was instructed to write to Mr. Storey-Gofton referring him to last week's published minutes.

A letter was also read from Mr. Kenneth Blackmore saying that he had heard from the Secretary of the Touring Managers' Association with regard to the draft contract sent to them for approval, and which is to come up before them on Sept. 4. He further stated that the wife of a member of the Actors' Union had been with a company and had not received any salary, and that the manager was advertising for a fresh company. The Secretary was instructed to write to Mr. Blackmore thanking him for placing the matter before the Council of the Actors' Association.

The Hon. Solicitor reported that he had written two letters to a member, and that he had had another interview with a lady member and had advised her. He also pointed out that several articles had appeared in the Press as to licensing stage children and the condition imposed by a magistrate of appointing a trustee before granting a licence. He thought this was a matter in which the voice of the Association might be heard.

The Secretary was instructed to put up a notice informing those members who are still in arrear with their subscriptions that if the money is not paid by the last day of September the Council will be compelled to post their names.

Miss Mignon Clifford, Miss Evelyn Cecil, Miss Valerie Salberg, and Mr. E. Comberbach were elected members.

ACTORS' UNION.

LONDON.

The weekly meeting of the Actors' Union was held on Tuesday at Hummum's Hotel, the chair being occupied by Mr. Rowson Buckley. Others present were Messrs. J. W. Braithwaite, A. J. May, M. E. MacCabe, E. Y. Rae, W. H. Vernon, and Edwin Wyl'e; and Mesdames Bessie Armytage, May C rade, Amy Coleman, Florence Creagh, Ma ret Densmore, Hylda Denison, Gladys ard, Maud Henley, Maud Kirwan, Geraldine Montrose, Kitty Marion, and Mildred Silvestre. The chairman mentioned the cases of two members of the Union who had just died, but whose subscriptions were unfortunately so much in arrear that a death levy would not be made. He also informed the meeting that the agency in Northampton had been transferred to the North-Western Hotel.

At the usual weekly meeting of the committee of the Actors' Union, held on the 20th inst., the following were present:—Messrs. Frank Gerald (chair), D. Lewin Mannering, Orlando Barnett, Cecil G. Calvert, and F. Rawson Buckley. Letters were received from the following committeemen:—Messrs. Frederick Loyd, J. Hastings Batson, Geo. H. Child, Geo. P. Lester, Jerrold Heather, Edwin J. Collins, and Edward Chester.

The Secretary reported the death of a member, Miss Rose Suell. He was instructed to write to Mrs. Suell expressing the sympathy of the committee in her recent bereavement, and regretting that she has no call on the death levy fund as her daughter was much out of benefit.

It was reported that letters had been received from the Actors' Association and the Sketch Managers' Association according their support to the resolution standing in the joint names of the Artists' Protection League and the Actors' Union at the forthcoming Trades Union Congress in favour of "Free Trade in Amusements." The N.A.T.E. had also notified their intention of supporting the resolution.

The Secretary read a letter from the Actors' Association asking if the Actors' Union had received any communication from the Touring Managers' Association with regard to the contract which had been drafted and submitted for their approval. The Secretary was instructed to write to the Actors' Association and state that a reply had been received from the Secretary of the Touring Managers' Association saying that the matter was under consideration and would be dealt with at their next committee meeting on Sept. 4.

It was decided to appoint Mr. Harry Dent, proprietor of the Wheatsheaf Hotel, Upperhead-row, Leeds, agent for the Union.

Three new members were elected.

The Secretary reported that seven engagements had been secured through the agency during the past week.

DRAMATIC AGENTS.

DEAR SIR,—May I be allowed to suggest an improvement in the prevailing methods of agents? At present you call, as at a registry office for servants, to inquire if there is "anything going." You are either kept waiting a considerable time whilst the gentleman is engaged, and then condescendingly allowed to reach his presence. This waiting is to many sensitive people a perfect nightmare. Why do not managers advertise their wants in The Era or other recognised organ of the profession, or the agents themselves advertise, and do away with this present system of undignified waste of time to all concerned?

Many a capable man, who lacks bold assurance, dreads this daily haunting the offices, and consequently rarely hears of positions his capacity and experience entitle him to occupy. The great problem is how to hear in a business-like manner of engagements likely to be made. No one begrudges the agent his fees, but let some improvement be made in the present method of acquainting clients of prospective work.—Yours very truly,

HENRY TWEEDIE.

4, St. James-place, Brighton.

A COPY of "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(Continued from page 11.)

SEAHAM HARBOUR.—New Theatre Royal.—Proprietor, Mr. A. C. Harrison; Manager, Mr. H. D. Lyle.—The programme for this week is supplied by Campbell's Royal Scottish Lads and Lasses, who had a warm reception on Monday. The first half of the entertainment is confined to song and dance, and each of the items are smartly and pleasingly rendered. In the other portion Mr. Bert Elmore, a very popular comedian, pleases immensely, and obtains encores; Archie Campbell, a pocket edition of Harry Lauder, sings Scotch humorous songs in a taking manner; Master Herbert Clark is a capable player of several musical instruments, and an excellent violin solo is given by Jack Terresfield; Jock Ramsay pleases with a capital dancing turn; Rita Evans is a sweet vocalist; and the Sisters Mais give a pretty parasol dance. A sketch, Away on Tour, by Elmore and Evans, concludes the entertainment.

SHEERNESS. — Hippodrome. — Proprietors, Sheerness Hippodrome Co.—A Mother's Salvation paid a first visit here during the week, being presented in admirable style by Miss Maud Western's company. Mr. Terence Nerrey as Leslie Mervyne is successful in depicting an unmitigated scoundrel; Mr. J. O. Stevenson is seen to advantage in the part of Reuben Smith; Mr. Carl Vallender is highly amusing as Bill Bumpkin; Miss Maud Western ably assists Mr. Vallender as Beckey, and is very diverting; Miss Ada Hender in the dual rôle of Naomi Lester and Miriam Mervyne displays exceptional histrionic ability; Miss Mabel Hall is to be congratulated on her capable acting as Little Paul; an excellent character study is given by Miss Kate Newton as Mother Turntail, and mention is due of Mr. T. Chapman, who ably delineates the part of Joe Turntail, the Old 'Un; and Mr. John Levey as Lynton Desmond, the detective, is successful. The drama is well mounted.

Co-operative Hall.—Lessees, the New Bioscope Trading Co.; Manager, Mr. F. R. Griffiths; Local Representative, Mr. Cyril Parks.—The animated pictures shown here are up to date and continue to be highly attractive. Worthy of special mention is Don Juan, a thrilling and dramatic film, and other subjects shown are An Abduction in the Reign of Louis XVI., Clog Making in Brittany, The Lazy Man, The Tempter, The Bond, and The Bank Note Forger.

SOUTHAMPTON. — Grand Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Weston.—Mr. George Dance's company is giving a delightful rendering of Miss Hook of Holland, which is paying its first visit here. Miss Alice Coverick makes a decided hit in the title-rôle, singing and acting in excellent style; Miss Cissie Sephton is a most amusing Mina, and her songs "No wonder the Dutchman flew" and "The petticoat" ditty simply bring down the house; Mr. Tom A. Shale, with his quiet, unforced humour, makes himself a prime favourite as Mr. Hook, and scores all along the line; and Mr. Tom Seymour is a capital Simon Slinks. These two comedians keep the house in roars of laughter. Mr. Frank Crimp looks and sings well as the bandmaster, Mr. George Ide does well as Captain Paap, and Mr. George Mudie, jun., is a humorous Ludwig Schnapps.

Palace. — Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Wm. Trussell.—Harry Roxbury and company provide the star attraction in The Cowboy Millionaire, which is punctuated with frequent applause; Victor Niblo's Talking Birds are wonderful; Mabel Thorne sings a number of catchy chorus ditties; Harry Nelson excels as a comedian; Les Tafanos, speciality duettists and dancers; the Sisters Edwardes, vocalists, dancers, and drummers; Jessie Burnett and Jessie Wilton, a couple of comedy comediennes, also do well.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and W. de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. P. Howell.—Mr. Fred Russell and his clever ventriloquial automatum Coster Joe tops the list here; Jack Lorimer, the versatile Scotchman, excels in song and dance; Kitty Colyer is a dainty singer and dancer; Ted Curtis and his pics are very smart; Edie Veno, character comedienne; Mark Leslie, swell coon; Onda and Artell, gymnasts; and Rosie Bartlett, comedienne, also win golden opinions.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA.—Empire Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Conquest; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Lingham Power.—The three nights' performance of the comic opera Tom Jones has entertained large audiences. Costumes and dresses made an imposing combination, and a full chorus, under the direction of Mr. Ernest K. Irving, rendered their parts with credit. Mr. Cyril Thompson merited hearty appreciation for his delightful singing and masterly acting in the title-rôle. Miss Margaret Stonor possesses a strong voice well adapted to her songs, which were rendered with equal success, while her characterisation of Sophia was eminently satisfactory. Mr. George Elton provoked immense fun in his inimitable portrayal of Benjamin Partridge, his dancing being also remarkable. Miss Florrie Saunders, who dances well and has a sweet voice, made a pleasing, winsome character of Honour, Sophia's maid. Mr. A. J. Nicholls as Mr. Allworthy, Mr. Arthur Radcliffe as Blifil, Mr. Chas. McLagan as Squire Western, Mr. Michael Dwyer as Gregory, and Miss Clive Eltone as Lady Bellaston, were also worthy members of a strong cast. For the remainder of the week My Mimosa Maid officiated.

Kursaal.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. P. T. J. Bacon.—The Theatre programme, containing an excellent variety of enjoyable items, submitted twice daily, is received in encouraging manner by appreciative audiences, the management being well satisfied with the support accorded. A musical act by Messrs. Ford and Hanson provides a capital entertainment; Gilbert's cats and dogs give a pleasing performance and show careful training; Mr. Reginald Wishard, in his sensational escape from a great bottle and double box tricks, is decidedly interesting; Mr. W. H. Stevenson, baritone, is most successful in his renderings of first-class songs; Miss Madge Bryce is a comedienne who delights with her utilisation of a good voice; as also do the Misses Barrie as duettists and character vocalists; Mr. Harry Edwards is a pleasing comedian and dancer. The Bioscope shows six series of new pictures, as usual, most interesting and up-to-date. Another programme has good support in the Café Chantant, where the Kursaal Belles Concert Party meet with a favourable reception. The usual grand costume ball and carnival took place on Wednesday evening, Mr. Alec Cater being M.C. and Mr. Harry Read the musical director.

Pier Pavilion.—Lessee, Mr. H. E. Angless; Manager, Mr. Stanley E. Angless.—The return visit of the London Animated Picture Company is a popular attraction this week, the two daily entertainments being very well supported. A large series of pictures is depicted with a steadiness that greatly enhances their enjoyment, and the beautifully-coloured views relating to the Arabian Nights give intense delight. Many humorous series also get heartily appreciated.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—Theatre Royal.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. John and Fred Coulson.—Baron H. Harris's company is appearing here to good houses in The Prince of Pilsen. Miss Sophie Harris as the American widow is as charming and entertaining as ever, and was recalled for many of her vocal efforts; Mr. Harry Kilburn is a host in himself, his mirth being contagious. The comedy is enhanced by Mr. Ernest Gifford and Miss Mabel Dent as François and Sidonie; Miss Dora Christian as Edith Adams and Miss Nellie Lomas as Nellie Wagner are both very successful; Carl Otto is well accounted for by Mr. L. Owen, and Mr. A. Geary is good as Tom Wagner. The dresses and mounting are magnificent.

Empire Palace Theatre.—Proprietors, The South Shields Empire Palace, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—The chief item is the Gothams, whose antics are curious; the New York Nippers are well received; Miss Jennie Johns, in a couple of good songs, is a neat and popular turn; Arabella Allen, in characters from Dickens, creates a favourable impression; Johnson and Bert contribute a novel act, A Queer Customer; and other good items are Nellie Martell, comedienne, Yorke Wilson, eccentric comedian, and the Bioscope.

Tivoli, Laygate-lane. — Proprietor, Councillor J. K. Hall.—A new scena is presented by Miss Agnes Molteno, the artists also including T. T. Edwards and Little Dolly; Sandy and Carl, comedians and acrobats, and the Tivoloscope.

Cosy Corner, Sea Front.—Mr. George Burton's lively comedians still continue to do good business. Pattie Burton and May Tudor sing interesting songs; laughable patter and comedy items are introduced by Ray and Ross and George Russell. A good sketch completes the entertainment.

STALYBRIDGE. — Hippodrome. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Fioni; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. A. Jackson.—The Peverils are an excellent quartette of vocalists, musicians, and dancers; the two Bostons, comedians, and George Prince, character vocalist, are fulfilling return engagements, and their antics and drolleries are extremely diverting; Terry and Bentley are very amusing; whilst Sill and Sillcott introduce a speciality act which has the merit of being original and laughable; Rhodes, the singing collier, has a warm greeting; and Lizzie Shaw, a local artist who has won some renown, is also fulfilling an engagement.

ST. HELENS.—Theatre and Opera House.—Proprietors, St. Helens Theatre, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. A. McLeod Loader.—A welcome visit is being paid this week by Messrs. Alfred Paumier and Walter Howard's excellent company in The Midnight Wedding, and well-filled houses nightly attest their appreciation of a really beautiful drama. Paul Valmer is played by Mr. A. E. Winnington Barnes in a manner which gains for himself well-merited applause; Mr. John Nesbitt is most dignified as the Crown Prince; and Mr. Forbes Harrison gives a good portrait of the weak-willed Lieut. Eugene Von Strelsburg. Mr. Mayor Cooke as Capt. Rudolf Von Scarisbruck plays with a fine appreciation of the part; Miss Yvonne Orchardson, who appears as Princess Astrea Von Strelsburg, is sweet and womanly, and is to be congratulated upon a really fine impersonation. Much fun is occasioned by Messrs. James E. Page, Harry Richardson, and Algie Spalding as Sergt. Max, Corporal Otto, and Private Bobo; and as their sweetheart Kathie Miss Ada Champion is splendid. The other characters are equally well filled, and special mention should be made of the beautiful scenery and effects.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford, Sley, and Willmot; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. Vic. Carnell.—The Six Brothers Luck, with a new and screamingly-funny sketch, top the bill this week; Silbon's novelty circus, introducing exceedingly clever animals, is highly enjoyed; Clarke's Nippers give a smart performance with the clubs and ball-punching; and Foy Brothers and company produce a most amusing sketch, Pat in China. Maudie Ford looks pretty and dances daintily; Woodhouse and Wells' patter gives occasion for laughter; the Haverleys are applauded for song and picture; and Nash and Noel sing and dance well.

ST. LEONARDS. — Pier Pavilion.—Entertainment-Manager, Mr. Elvey Thomas.—Mr. Ian Maclaren and his smart and clever company are securing good and appreciative audiences, and the principal characters achieve distinct success in Old English comedy and Shakespearean plays. In The School for Scandal Mr. Murray Hathorn gives a fine and well-studied performance of Sir Peter Teazle; as Sir Oliver Surface Mr. Gordon Philliott submits an impersonation of high merit; and the villainies of Joseph Surface are outlined by Mr. George Relph with a firm and decisive hand. The Charles Surface of Mr. Ian Maclaren is a capital sketch, finished in every phase; Mr. Dawson Mills represents Moses, the Jew, to perfection; Miss Claire Townshend makes the sweetest figure possible of Maria; Miss Marguerite Cellier gives a perfectly admirable sketch of Lady Teazle; the author's idea of Lady Sneerwell is truthfully realised by Miss Gertrude Littlewood; and a lively representative of Mrs. Candour is found in Miss Muriel Dole. Other plays announced for the week are The Merchant of Venice, Twelfth Night, Romeo and Juliet, Hamlet, She Stoops to Conquer, As You Like It, Othello, Taming of the Shrew, and The Rivals.

STOCKPORT.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill, jun.—Though quite familiar here, the popularity of the Two Little Vagabonds has been fully maintained, judged by the large audiences and the close interest displayed in the capital representations given by Messrs. Hardie and Von Leer's company. Humour and pathos are pleasingly exemplified by Miss Denise Pritchard as Dick, and Miss Alice Leon as Wally; Mr. Richard A. Green acts ably as George Thornton; Capt. Darville is effectively portrayed by Mr. Arthur E. Melborne; Mr. Martin Sands makes a capital Bill Mullins; Miss Florence Dalton gives a meritorious impersonation of Marion Thornton; Miss Marie Pritchard acts the part of Biddy Mullins with ability, and Miss Ida Drayton is charming as Sister Randall.

Empire. — Proprietors, The Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Black. —The Enemy of Man, by W. J. Mackey, is thoroughly interesting, and has had a gratifying reception; the Four Regals give a marvellous display of strength; the evergreen Sam Redfern, with his amusing patter, is pleasingly received; Fred Herbert's songs are appreciated; the Three Coopers, comedy and harmonising vocalists, are highly entertaining; King and Queen, comedy duo, are successful; the Varleys sing delightfully; whilst the statuary act of the Four Edmunds commands much applause.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES.—Castle Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. Imeson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Cecil Imeson.—Mr. George D. Day's company presents here The Prodigal Son. Mr. Albert Ward's clever rendering of the part of Oscar Stephensson is marked by real dramatic skill; Miss Pauline Emeric figures in the dual rôle of Thora and Elin with charm and delicacy; Mr. H. J. Crane as Magnus Stephensson, is an effort of subdued strength; Miss Pearla Gardner acts consistently and with power as Helga Neilsson; Mr. Jackson Hayes as Stephen Magnuason, is good; Mr. James English as Oscar Neilsson, Miss Violet Carrington as Mme. Pindhu, and Miss Florence Lovell as Anna Magnusson also contributed largely to the success.

Hippodrome.—Lessee, Mr. Harry Burns; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. Stainton.—Rosie's Birthday Party head the bill here this week in a scena entitled A South American Cotton Plantation, their singing and dancing being well received; J. W. Hall, comedian, on a return visit, is as popular as ever; the Ormesby Quartette sing well; Harris and Worth, comedians, have some good patter; Maston, the Yorkshire mimic, wins favour; and other amusing turns are Harland and Rollinson in a novel musical act, Ida Bell, comedienne, and Royston and Royce, comedy artists. The Bioscope concludes.

Grand Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. John Batty; Manager, Mr. Walter Batty.—Mr. M. Montgomery's stock company presents here this week a drama entitled The Bellringer. Mr. Fred Terris, in the title-rôle, acts with distinction, and is well assisted by Miss Lilian Beaumont.

STOKE-ON-TRENT.—The Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; General-Manager, Mr. H. F. Miller.—Miss Lydia Yeamans, assisted by Fred J. Titus, submits her well-known vocal selections and impersonations, and is accorded a pleasing reception; the Pasquali Brothers' equilibristic work is most smartly executed; Fraser and Haley are charming contralto vocalists, their rendering of "Love me and the world is mine" being excellent; and Natalia and Diana, aerial gymnasts, give a good exhibition. A sketch entitled A Daughter of the Revolution is played with much success; Miss Georgette Thierry, a capable actress, sustains the pricipal part forcibly, and is ably seconded by Mr. Bernard Liell. Also here are the Musical Lynnes, Chas. Rowen, and Dot Stanley. The Bioscope shows Over the Sticks, &c.

SUNDERLAND.—King's Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. S. F. Davidson; General-Manager, Mr. Alexander Telford; Assistant-Manager, Mr. James Wighton.—After being closed for some months this comparatively new theatre reopened on Monday under its new regime, having the additional honour of Mr. George Alexander's first visit to the Wearside borough. The piece chosen for representation was Mr. Cosmo Gordon Lennox's adaptation of M. Henry Bernstein's The Thief. Mr. Alexander's enaction of Richard Chelford was most thoroughly appreciated by the large audience. Mr. Alexander is supported by Miss Irene Vanbrugh, whose Marise Chelford captivated the whole house. Mr. Dawson Milward is fully adequate as Raymond Leyton; Mr. Reginald Owen as Harry Leyton comes in for a round of applause; Mr. E. Vivian Reynolds carefully portrays Mr. Protheral; and Mr. Montague Wigan is excellent as a servant. Miss Nina Sevening's rendition of Isabel Leyton is also highly commendable. The piece is dressed and staged with the usual elegance and splendour that always characterises the productions of the manager of the St. James's Theatre. The piece de resistance is preceded by the playlet The Nursery Governess, in which Mr. Ashton Pearse is seen to advantage as Mr. Simpson Brigge; and Mr. Harcourt Williams makes the most of his chance as Captain Trent. Miss Jean Sterling Mackinlay as Mrs. Trent and Miss Barbara Hannay as Wilson leave little to be desired. The interior of the theatre has been thoroughly cleaned and renovated, and the parterre seats have now been converted into pit accommodation, resulting in increased seating facilities. The new musical director is Mr. Frank Barnard.

Theatre Royal.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Grierson.—The Love that Women Desire is being submitted here this week. Mr. J. O. Stewart appears as Squire Abingdon, and Mr. Morris Maud enacts the son Richard; Mr. Sidney Leyton is seen to advantage as Philip Carnaby; Mr. Gilbert Elvin is good as Dr. Brandeth; Mr. Sydney Rudge appears as Arnold Gathorne; and Mr. Hugh Wallace is responsible for Frank Hardy; whilst Mr. John Hignett enacts Dennis O'Rourke. Miss A. G. Clynde's impersonation of Sybil Thorburn is excellent, and Miss Jessie Elvin praiseworthily accounts for Madge Abingdon. Miss May Neilson as Patty Swift, Miss V. Young as Molly, and Miss D. Northmore as Marquisha are each adequate to the respective demands made upon them.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—The Ten-Ji Troupe of mystical conjurors and tricksters, in their marvellous entertainment, head the programme. Other turns include Elsie Roby, the comedienne pianist, whose novel act The Slavey goes as well as ever; Richard Rich, comedian; Harry Rogers and company in the dramatic comedy Told in a Flat; the Seven Wulfrunas in their acrobatic creation Fun in a Café; the Six Lancashire Lasses, vocalists and dancers; Stewart and Morgan, vocalists; Cadwell and Verne, in Early Closing Day sketch; and an excellent show of Bioscope pictures.

SWANSEA.—The Grand.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Oswald Brooks; Acting-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. Walter Dean.—Miss Lena Ashwell's company introduce Diana of Dobson's for the first time to a Swansea audience this week. In the title-rôle Miss Dorothy Green, by her sprightliness, makes a most fascinating Diana, and is excellently supported by Mr. H. Grendon Bentley, who, as Captain the Hon. Victor Bretherton, plays with great success. Sir Jabez Grindley, Bart., receives careful attention from Mr. Alfred Harris. Miss Helen Vicary as Miss Pringle is good; Miss Mary Stewart is clever as Mrs. Cantelupe; and Mrs. Whyte Fraser is well portrayed by Miss Georgette de Serville. Diana is preceded by a dramatic sketch of merit, entitled The Bishop's Candlestick, in which Misses Vicary, and De Serville, and Messrs. Harris, Wainwright, and Pauncefoot are seen to advantage.

The Star.—Manager, Mr. William Coutts; Assistant-Manager, Mr. S. J. Powell.—At Duty's Call is being presented by Mr. John Gerant's company. Mr. Ernest St. John's portrayal of General Gordon is a particularly pleasing one, and Mr. John Gerant as Harold Alison could not be bettered; Miss Ada Roscoe plays feelingly as Salome; Messrs. T. Tilly Dillson and Walter P. Carr provide good humour.

Empires, Ltd.—Manager, Mr. P. C. Rowe; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. H. Lennon.—A delightfully simple duologue The Dog Between gives Mr. Lawrence Irving and Miss Mabel Hackney abundant opportunities for exercising their talents, which they make the fullest use of; Charlene and Charlene, who combine the businesses of jugglers and instrumentalists, give an original and highly pleasing turn; Herbert S. Kelly is a quick-change artist, and the clever manner in which he impersonated the different characters in Dan the Outlaw is astonishing; The Maples present very successfully a skit How to Treat a Burglar; and the Brothers Redmond, acrobatic comedians, are most entertaining; Tom Woottwell, in his vocal character studies, goes high; and the Crown Trio deserve the reception they get; Marion Scott sings daintily; and the Bioscope pictures maintain their excellence.

TORQUAY.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. W. H. Mortimer; Secretary, Mr. Arthur Pearse.—After being closed for the regatta the theatre opened here on Thursday night with Mr. Bernard Shaw's famous play You Never Can Tell by Mr. Taylor Platt and Mr. Trevor Lowe's company, and an excellent performance was much appreciated.

Princess Pier Concert Hall.—An excellent attraction is being provided here for the regatta by The Nonentities, whose entertainment is both refined and amusing. Miss Louie Counsell has a pleasing and fascinating manner, and is frequently encored, and Miss Madeline Stone also does remarkably well; Mr. Fred Evered gives some clever lady impersonations, and Mr. Roland Foster renders some good songs acceptably; Mr. L. F. Sumner is a talented tenor, and Mr. Oscar Mills is much in evidence with his amusing patter.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS.—Opera House.—Lessee, Mr. Welton Dale; Manager, Mr. A. H. Burdett.—Miss Mabel Love, in the title-rôle of Lady Frederick, has had a most enthusiastic reception at Tunbridge Wells this week, the curtain being raised again and again. Her impersonation of the Irish temperament and delicious brogue were simply inimitable. She was well supported by Mr. Robert Minster as the blasé Paradine Fouldes, who is sent for to circumvent, but remains to wed, the charming but terribly embarrassed Irish heroine. Mr. E. F. Mead imitates to perfection the calf-love and disillusionment of Lord Mereston, whose angry sister is admirably portrayed by Miss Eleanor Delaporte; while the secondary love interest is well maintained by Mr. Patrick Quill and Miss Lynn Fontanne. Capt. Gerald Gambier is excellent as the bluff old Admiral; and Mr. Edward Bonfield as the scheming discounter of bills; while Miss Beatrice Grosvenor as Lady Frederick's dressmaker and Miss Rita Ward as Angelique are admirable bourgeoise studies. As a curtain-raiser The Peacemaker is excellently performed by Miss Delaporte, Miss Fontanne, Miss Rita Ward, Mr. Patrick Quill, and Mr. E. Bonfield.

TYLDESLEY. — Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. W. Brierley, A. Brierley, and W. German; Manager, Mr. W. W. Brierley.—Messrs. Elliman's capable company is presenting here A Heart's Desire. Mr. R. F. Stacey gives a powerful and effective portrayal of Lord St. Ives; Mr. Eddie Vane is seen to advantage as Eric May; Messrs. Edward Leroy and Charles King admirably sustain the parts of two gipsy outlaws; Mr. John Hames supplies a clever study of Coombes, the butler; Mr. Charles Clark is capital as Bardsley, the gamekeeper; and Mr. Arthur Jones is good as a gendarme. Miss Lily Prescott wins much favour by her rendering of Oiya, a native half-caste; Miss Gertrude Gilman is successful as Hon. Elsie Beresford; Miss Nora Malone is a lively Julie; and Mr. Julien Mitchell as Hon. Bertie and Miss Hilda May as Gwendoline Ross are responsible for much amusement.

TYNEMOUTH.— Palace-by-the-Sea. — Proprietor and Director, Mr. J. H. Graham; Manager, Mr. Lindon Travers.—On Sunday the famous Black Dyke Band drew a couple of crowded houses. During the remainder of the week an excellent entertainment is being provided, including a high-class concert party, under the guidance of Mr. Leslie Harris, who is a warm favourite at this resort; Miss A. Backsheen Wood is a solo violinist who is quite a treat to listen to, her execution being exceptionally skilful and delightful; Miss Ida Kahn, soprano;Mr. Cuthbert Allan, a baritone artist who wins immediate favour; and Leslie Harris, whose items at the piano and efforts as a raconteur are highly amusing. Then, as a change, comes Albert le Fre, who submits his smart and diversified mélange What One Sees at the Halls, and whose bright and lively patter is heartily applauded. There is, as usual, an up-to-date show of pictures. On Wednesday an additional attraction was the visit of Mr. John McCormack, the well-known Irish tenor.

Spanish City (Whitley Bay).—Manager, Mr. Charles Elderton.—The Toreadors continue to hold full sway here, the enclosure being the evening rendezvous for the many visitors to the popular Newcastle-by-the-Sea resort.

WAKEFIELD. — Opera House.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Mr. Bert Coote's company in The Fatal Wedding occupies the stage this week. Mr. Cecil A. Melton contributes an earnest and manly presentment of Howard Wilson; Mr. Frank Harrison is effective as the villainous Mr. Curtis; Mr. Charles Locke is exceedingly comic as Toto; Mr. Cyril Melton is good as Peter Schwartz; Miss Ethel Kay is tender and sympathetic as Mabel Wilson; Miss Elaine Vanbrugh is excellent as Cora Williams; Bridget is amusingly portrayed by Miss Ethel Serjeant; and Miss Lulu Wohlmann is sweet and natural as Jessie. A capital entertainment of singing and dancing is provided in Act 3 by the juvenile members of the company, which receives well-earned applause.

Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—Atlas and Vulcana, assisted by the Sisters Atlas, give a fine exhibition of strength, Miss Vulcana also appearing in artistic poses which merit appreciation; Arthur Alexander and company, sketch artists, prove very popular; the Brothers Durant, comedians, are amusing; Shrillo, whistler, delights; other interesting items are Wragg and Wragg, who perform clever feats of swordsmanship, Marie Colmore, comedienne, and Arthur Albert, vocal comedian.

WARRINGTON.—Royal Court.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred J. Reece.—Mr. Percy Norman's company is here this week in the Russian drama A Woman Worth Winning. The various settings are exceptionally good. Mr. A. B. Mackay, the author of the play, gives a realistic portrayal of the remorseless General Brobinski, and a manly interpretation of Fergus Lovinsky is that of Mr. Gilbert Standing. Mr. George Edwin Clive is good as Fergus Lovinsky; Mr. Sidney Barton is a dignified Czar Nicholas; a particularly clever sketch of Ivan Baroff is that of Mr. Carthage Caldcleugh; plenty of humour is extracted from the parts of Bertie Scribbles by Mr. Louis Newman, Peter Popples by Mr. Ernest Kendrick, and Katerina Kloss by Miss Ida Mackay. Miss Chrissie Dunbar enacts the part of Roma Pauloff faithfully, and in the dramatic phases she displays great histrionic ability. The minor parts are all well sustained.

Royal Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jack Waters.—Princess Pocahontas scores with her charming singing, her rich soprano voice being of remarkable range; the Jackson also win favour with a musical act; the pictures are good, and include a Gentleman Burglar and Quebec to Magra.

Palace and Hippodrome. — Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. G. D. Bradbury.—Larola is a great favourite, and his versatility appears to have no limit; Conway and Leland are a clever pair of eccentrics; the Glenroy Troupe are highly applauded for their series of dancers, the tableau "Sons of Britannia's Empire" being very picturesque; Rose Cabini is an effective vocalist and chic comedienne; James Howard and Fanny St. Clair cause endless laughter with their sketch Do You Want Any Coke? W. G. Wesley sings his songs in a quaint way; Deans and Wilton are expert comedy acrobats; and Norah Noble a dainty comedienne. The pictures are good.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—Grand.—Manager, Mr. Herbert E. Feather.—Shrieks of laughter greet the performance of Mr. Charles Macdona's company in Are You a Mason? The company is an excellent one all round, but special praise should be accorded Mr. H. Langdon Bruce for his splendid character acting in the rôle of George Fisher and to Messrs. H. E. Paterson and Erskholm E. Clive for their excellent play as Amos Bloodgood and Hamilton Travers respectively. Eva has a splendid exponent in Miss Rita Narcelli; and considerable amusement is caused by the play of Miss Mary Kilpack as Lottie, the Irish servant; and others who were entirely satisfactory in their respective rôles were Miss Adelaide Grace as Mrs. Bloodgood, Misses Rita Johnson and Dulcey Verney as the sisters Annie and Lulu, Mr. Francis J. Bithell as Frank Perry, and Mr. Milton Rass as Ernest Morrison.

Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. A. E. Dobney.—The programme is headed by Lillie Soutter, comedienne, whose quaint style earns for her abundance of applause and persistent recalls; the Whizzing the Whirl competition is productive of shrieks of laughter; that clever artist in sand, smoke, and oil, Thornbury, has already popularised himself in this district; as also have Zeta Grey and Co. in their performance, The Lancashire Lass, and the reception accorded them is most gratifying; Violet Nunn's coon songs are much appreciated; Scottie's Operatic Waifs and Strays, in their "pathetic appeal," The Cry of the Children, are well appreciated; the comedy duologue What a Life is smart as done by Edwards and Dacre; and Victor Travers, comedian, and Raymond's Bio-tableaux are attractions.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE. — Knightstone Pavilion and Opera House.—Manager, Mr. W. Payne.—Mr. Ernest Dare's In the Soup company have been here for the first three nights of the week. Mr. Louis Palgrave was successful as Horace Gillibrand, while Mr. A. Field Fisher was a capital Abernethy Rappershaw; as Paul Hemming Mr. E. Beerbohm did well, as did Mr. James C. Taylor as Mons. Moppert. The clever acting of Mr. Willie Wardo, jun., made the part of Bates stand out conspicuously; Miss M. Lowe-Dare was vivacious as Judith Gillibrand; as Mme. Moppert Miss Vera Wallace was praiseworthy; Miss Mabel Harley was an excellent Delphine; and Mrs. Edgar Colona as Mrs. Bates was all that could be desired. Mr. Cecil A. Collins's company is here for the remainder of the week in Hands across the Sea.

Grand Pier Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. John H. Stevenson.—The Scarlet Mr. Es are proving very popular here, and on Monday provided a most attractive programme. Mr. Walter Dowling as the Jester is the life and soul of the entertainment, his very humorous songs being vociferously encored; Miss Teree sings most artistically "My Dear Soul"; and the four gentlemen whose names do not appear in the programme are all remarkably good in their respective items. A new set of pictures by Pathé Frères is shown on the Fioscope by Mr. John Lambert.

Assembly Rooms.—Manager, Mr. W. Forth.—Mr. Will Stone's Bioscope and Variety Company are doing big business here twice nightly. The pictures shown are of the finest, especially one entitled "The Sleeping Beauty," by Pathé Frères. Amongst the variety turns Mr. Antonio Medcalfe's song "Rose of the Desert" is entitled to special eulogy.

WEST STANLEY. — Theatre Royal, Ltd. — Manager, Mr. Mark H. Lindon.—Mr. Wilson Benge and company are here this week in The Eve of Her Wedding. Mr. Arthur Keand gives a fine rendering of the part of Squire Leverton; Mr. Harry Sanson does full justice to the part of Dick Leverton; Mr. Wilson Benge gives a most manly portrayal of the part of George Fremaine; while Mr. C. Digby causes amusement as Rudolph Earle. Mr. Wilson Campbell plays with force and skill the part of Dean Clifton; Miss Sadie Smith is charming in the part of Mavis Leverton; and Miss Daisy Cook handles Gwendoline Younger with skill.

Victoria Theatre. — Proprietor, Mr. T. C. Rawes.—Topping the bill here is Agnes Spadoni and her highly-trained troupe of horses. Leo King, actor and vocalist; the Godfreys, musical comedietta artists; George Bernard, actor-vocalist, in "The Last of the Light Brigade"; Virto and Venita, in their clever musical show, with new and novel instruments, are others who appear; and the Vicoscope concludes a good programme.

WIGAN.—Royal Court Theatre.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co.—Dickie Clare's Company of Comedians appear in the musical farcical absurdity Lucky Liza. Mr. Dickie Clare, in a three-part character of Silas Slim, &c., and Miss Madge Brownie, as Eliza Bird, or Lucky Liza, are the outstanding features of the piece. The play, on the whole, is well received.

The Hippodrome.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co.—Variety shows continue to find favour, and the high standard set by the management has been well maintained. John Lemm, champion wrestler, and his opponents, many of them local men, aroused the enthusiasm of a packed house on Monday; the Three Huxters, America's greatest leapers, are much appreciated; Josh Dixon is a popular comedian and dancer, and meets with a good reception; the Four McBreens are clever and entertaining jugglers; Mdlle. Sybil, lady baritone, sings with good effect; and Van Bern, peculiar patterer and mirthful mystifier, Fremel and Fremel, patter comedians, N. C. Bostock, the comic king, The Mackenzies, favourite vocalists, Tennis and Laune, in their original vocal scena, and the Hippodrome pictures, including scenes from the Maypole Pit disaster, conclude a very entertaining programme.

The Empire.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Co.; District-Manager, Mr. Gerald Hunt; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred. Marco.—Last week-end the three survivors of the Maypole Colliery disaster appeared on the stage and recounted their experiences in the mine on the day of the explosion. A fine series of pictures are shown to overflow audiences; and "Empress," the lady Houdini, "the only lady handcuff manipulator in the world," lends variety to the entertainment.

WORTHING.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Herr C. Adolf Seebold.—Messrs. Dudley Bennett and T. C. Wray's company are here to good business for the first three nights, presenting Miss Hook of Holland. Mr. Edmund Russell, as Mr. Hook, is very fine, his droll treatment of the character meeting with the greatest approval; Mr. Fred. Dark, as Simon Slinks, causes roars of laughter; Mr. Adrian Burgon, as Bandmaster Van Vruft, possesses a fine voice, his songs being greatly admired; Mr. J. B. Fox is extremely good as Captain Adrian Paap; Miss Muff Carewe, as Mina, deserves unstinted praise, her singing and quaint mannerisms arousing the enthusiasm of the house; Miss Amy Grey, who takes the title-rôle, possesses a fine presence and sings to perfection. The chorus is under the able direction of Mr. Harry Richardson. On Thursday Tom Jones was presented. On Friday Marie Brema appeared at a special matinée.

YORK.—Royal.—Lessees, Messrs. Waddington; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Dacre.—The Belle of New York, presented by Mr. J. Bannister Howard, has lost none of its attractiveness, and has been the means of filling the theatre during the past week. In the title-rôle Miss Hebe Kneller could hardly be surpassed; her rendition is marked by much charm, and she sings tunefully. Mr. Frank Lawton is more popular than ever in his old part of Blinky Bill, his whistling being as usual a special feature; as the polite lunatic, Mr. Jos. R. Tate causes roars of laughter; and Mr. Arthur Ricketts is quaintly amusing as Bronson. One of the best-played parts is the Fifi Tricott of Miss Dorothy Doria; it is tasteful and winsome to a degree. Miss Florence Hersee dances herself into favour in the rôle of Mamy Clancy; Mr. J. A. Watts is particularly smart as Harry Bronson; and Miss Winnie Brown is an imposing Cora Angelique.

Opera House and Empire. — Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sidney Brooke.—For the Race Week a decidedly strong programme is being presented. Queenie Leighton, who is the principal attraction, is drawing crowded houses; the Fitzroys, society gymnasts, are clean, neat, and daring in their feats; Walton and Lester are a couple of clever comedians who cause roars of laughter; Will 'E Stop It? excels as a comedian and acrobat. A popular feature is the Waldrons in their laughable absurdity, entitled The Silly Burglar; Amos Howard is a clever dancer; the Ted Moxon Trio are seen to great advantage in their acrobatic turn; Macintosh and Royal, clog and big boot dancers, are a great success; Les Currys excel as musical specialists. The pictures shown by the Bioscope are up-to-date, bright, and cheerful,

ANCHOR LINE.

GLASGOW to NEW YORK
EVERY SATURDAY.

Twin Screw Steamers.
MODERATE FARES.
Passage 7½ days.
ANCHOR LINE,
4, St. Mary Axe, London.

ON THE ROAD, AUG. 31.

AN ABANDONED WOMAN.—T. R., Jarrow.
AN UNWEDDED WIFE.—T. R., Batley.
ASHWELL'S, MISS LENA.—O. H., Southport.
AT CRIPPLE CREEK.—Star T., Liverpool.
AT DUTY'S CALL.—Clarence T., Pontypridd.
AT THE WORLD'S MERCY.—Victoria T., Cowes.
BELLE OF MAYFAIR (BODE).—T. R., Newcastle.
BELLE OF NEW YORK (HOWARD).—Prince's T., Manchester.
BEST OF HER SEX.—T. R., Stratford.
BONDMAN, THE (CROKE).—T. R., Brighton.
BRED OF THE TRESHAMS.—T. R., Dewsbury.
BREWSTER'S MILLIONS.—O. H., Harrogate.
BULMER, MR.—Grand T., Nottingham.
CAPTAIN DREW ON LEAVE.—T. R., Edinburgh.
CARL ROSA OPERA.—Broadway T., Deptford.
CHARLEY'S AUNT.—Court T., Warrington.
CHARLEY'S AUNT (No. 2.)—Paignton and Newton Abbot.
CHINESE HONEYMOON (BODE).—T. R., Birkenhead.
CHRISTIAN, THE (CROKE, N.).—Tyne T., Newcastle.
CHRISTIAN, THE (CROKE, S.).—Grand T., Southampton.
CHRISTIAN, THE (CROKE, No. 3).—Lewes and Sittingbourne.
CLAUDIAN.—Irving T., Seacombe.
COAL KING.—Queen's T., Manchester.
COMPTON COMEDY CO.—O. H., Buxton and Seacombe.
CONVICT'S DAUGHTER.—County T., Bedford.
COUNTRY GIRL IN LONDON.—Queen's T., Farnworth.
DAIRYMAIDS, THE (COURTNEIDGE).—Hastings and Tunbridge Wells.
DAIRYMAIDS, THE (MACDONALD'S).—Ipswich.
DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY.—New T. R., Goole.
DIANA OF DOBSON'S (N.).—Grand T., Wolverhampton.
DIANA OF DOBSON'S (M.).—Shrewsbury and Aberystwyth.
DIANA OF DOBSON'S (S.).—O. H., Cork.
DIVER'S LUCK.—Metropole Theatre, Birmingham.
DONOVAN, LYDIA.—O. H., Middlesbrough.
DRIVEN FROM HOME.—T. R., Batley.
EAST LYNNE (KELLY).—T. R., Norwich.
EVE OF HER WEDDING.—Miners' T., Ashington.
FABER, MR. LESLIE.—Gaiety T., Dublin.
FATAL WEDDING.—Eden T., Bishop Auckland.
FIGHT FOR A THRONE.—T. R., Hyde.
FLAG LIEUTENANT.—Lyceum T., Newport.
FLOWER GIRL.—T. R., Preston.
FOR LOVE AND THE KING.—T. R., Bristol
GEOFFREY LANGDON'S WIFE.—Grand T., Newcastle.
GIRL REDEEMED FROM SIN.—T. R., West Bromwich.
GIRL WITH THE ANGEL FACE.—Empire T., Oldham.
GREAT AWAKENING.—County T., Reading.
GREED OF GOLD.—New T., Consett.
HANDS ACROSS THE SEA.—T. R., Bath.
HER LOVE AGAINST THE WORLD.—Grand T., Croydon.
HER MARRIAGE VOW.—T. R., Castleford.
HER NAMELESS CHILD.—T. R., Smethwick.
HONEYMOON, THE.—Alhambra, Stourbridge.
HORNIMAN'S, MISS, CO.—King's T., Glasgow.
HUGHES, ANNIE.—T. R., Great Yarmouth.
HYPOCRITES, THE (N.).—Spa T., Scarborough.
KNIGHT IN ARMOUR.—Metropole T., Devonport.
LADY FREDERICK.—T. R., Nottingham.
LADY FREDERICK (POTTER).—Eastbourne & Filkest'ne.
LA COMEDIE ANGLAISE.—Dalkeith and Linlithgow.
LANCASHIRE LAD.—T. R., Middlesbrough.
LEAH KLESCHNA.—Merthyr Tydvil.
LITTLE BREADWINNER.—Ferndale and Pontycymmer.
LONDON WITH THE LID OFF.—Lyceum T., Govan.
LOVE OF THE PRINCESS.—T. R., Stockport.
LOVE RULES THE WORLD.—Metropole T., Gateshead.
LOVE THAT WOMEN DESIRE.—Cambridge T., Spennymoor.
LOVE'S GOLDEN DREAM.—Bordon Camp.
LUCKY LIZA.—Pier, St. Anne's-on-Sea.
MANXMAN, THE (CLYDE).—Kilbirne & Cowdenbeath.
MANXMAN, THE.—T. R., Rochdale and Halifax.
MAN AND WIFE.—Alexandra T., Sheffield.
MAUDE'S, MISS WINIFRED.—O. H., Perth.
MERELY MARY ANN.—T. R., Darlington.
MERRY WIDOW.—T. R., Belfast.
MIDNIGHT MAIL.—P.O.W., Nuneaton.
MOODY-MANNERS OPERA (A.).—Lyric T., Hammersmith.
MOODY-MANNERS OPERA (B.).—T. R., Worthing.
MOTHER'S SALVATION, A.—Carlton T., Greenwich.
MRS. DOT.—Aquarium, Yarmouth.
MRS. PONDERBURY'S PAST.—Ramsgate and Cromer.
MY MIMOSA MAID.—Pier Pavilion, Eastbourne.
MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.—Grand T., Walsall.
NEW GIRL, THE.—O. H., Burton-on-Trent.
NORMAN V. NORMAN.—Marlboro' Theatre, N.
OLD FOLKS AT HOME.—Hippodrome, Salford.
OLD HOME, THE.—P. O. W., Mexborough.
OLD, OLD STORY.—Avenue T., Kettering.
PETER'S MOTHER.—Opera House, Leicester.
POWER OF THE CROSS.—Gaiety T., Methil.
POWER OF THE KING.—King's T., Longsight.
PRIVATE SECRETARY.—P.O.W., Birmingham.
PRODIGAL PARSON.—Mountain Ash and Ferndale.
PRODIGAL SON (CROKE).—T. R., Margate.
PRODIGAL SON (DAY).—T. R., Morecambe.
PRODIGAL SON (WESTERN).—Carlton T., Greenwich.
ROYAL DIVORCE.—T. R., West Bromwich.
SECOND TO NONE.—Lyric T., Hammersmith, W.
SEXTON BLAKE.—Princess's T., Glasgow.
SHERLOCK HOLMES.—Grand T., Leeds.
SIGN OF THE CROSS.—T. R., Glasgow.
SILVER KING.—Lyceum T., Sheffield.
SOLDIER OF FRANCE.—T. R., Aston.
STILL ALARM.—Crown T., Peckham.
STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER.—T. R., West Stanley.
SUNDAY.—King's T., Hammersmith, W.
TERRY, EDWARD.—Lyceum T., Edinboro'.
THIEF, THE (N.).—T. R., Hanley.
THIEF, THE (S.).—T. R., Portsmouth.
THIEF, THE.—Grand T., Blackpool.
TOM JONES.—P. O. W., Grimsby.
TWO LANCASHIRE LASSES IN LONDON.—P. T., Bradford.
TWO LITTLE DRUMMER BOYS.—Grand T., Burnley.
TWO LITTLE VAGABONDS (N.).—T. R., Ashton.
TWO LITTLE VAGABONDS (S.).—Dalston Theatre, N.E.
TYRANT, THE.—T. R., Woolwich.
UNDER TWO FLAGS.—T. R., Bolton.
VILLAGE BLACKSMITH.—H. M. T., Dundee.
WARNER, GRACE.—T. R., Tyldesley.
WHAT THE BUTLER SAW.—Llandudno and Kendal.
WHEN LONDON SLEEPS.—T. R., Wolverhampton.
WHITE MAN, A.—New Theatre, Cardiff.
WHY MEN LOVE WOMEN.—Victoria T., Burnley.
WILKIE, ALLAN, AND CO.—T. R., Bolton.
WOMAN AND WINE.—T. R., Leeds.
WOMAN PAYS.—Victoria T., Broughton.
WOMAN WORTH WINNING.—T. R., Cardiff.
WORST WOMAN IN LONDON.—Court T., Bacup.
WRECKER OF MEN.—Prince's T., Portsmouth.
£1,000 REWARD.—Palace T., Newcastle.

"THE ERA" NEWSPAPER.

Notice to Contributors.

All communications intended for publication should be sent to "THE EDITOR," and be accompanied by the Writer's Name and Address, not necessarily for insertion, but as a guarantee of good faith.

The Editor will not undertake to be responsible for any rejected MSS., nor to return any Contribution unaccompanied by a stamped and directed envelope.

Notice to Subscribers.

"The Era" is sold by all Newsagents in all the leading English, Irish, and Scotch towns, every Saturday Morning. Price Sixpence.

TERMS, POSTAGE FREE.

Home Subscriptions.		Foreign Subscriptions.
One Year	£1 6 0	One Year	£1 12 0
Six Months	0 13 0	Six Months	0 16 0
Three Months	0 6 6	Three Months	0 8 0

Cash must accompany order.

Notice to Advertisers.

Advertisements should reach the Office early in the week, and not later than Thursday, 7 p.m. Remittances, payable to "THE ERA," LTD., and crossed Lloyd's Bank.

Communications.

Business Communications should be addressed to The MANAGER,
"THE ERA" BUILDINGS,
5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.
(two doors off Wellington-street).
Telegrams, "The Era, London." Telephones, 4747 and 1433, Central.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

[We do not answer inquiries by post. In all letters the names and addresses of inquirers must be given as a guarantee of good faith. Initials only or pseudonyms will be used in the answers if so desired.]

E. VORLEY.—Born Feb. 12, 1870. See notice above.

DOUGLAS BLAIR.—Sir Squire Bancroft was knighted at Osborne on Aug. 18, 1902. Sir Henry Irving, May 25, 1895.

SERGEANT BRUCE (Portsmouth).—The number of turns appearing at the Tivoli during the first and second weeks in August was under twenty. The number mentioned by your friend must have been on a special occasion, such as an anniversary or charity matinée. See notice abpve.

MRS. BARLOW (Wolverhampton).—We believe Mr. F. R. Benson includes the comedy you mention in his repertoire. But you might set any doubt at rest by writing to the Benson Offices, 11, Henrietta-street, Covent Garden, W.C. See notice above.

HARRY ELLIS.—Much obliged for your letter. You do not quite realise our idea of what a correspondent should be.

WILCOX-RHODES (Southend-on-Sea).—Dr. Nikola was adapted from Guy Boothby's novel by Ben Landeck and Oswald Brand, and produced at the Princess's on March 29, 1902, with Mr. F. Joynsen-Powell in the title-rôle. That part on the first tour was played by Mr. C. Pitt-Jackson.

ERIC ALBURY.—(1) Charley's Aunt was first produced on February 29, 1892, at the Theatre Royal, Bury St. Edmunds. (2) It first saw the London footlights at the Royalty on December 21, 1892, running there until January 30, 1893, when it was presented at the Globe. We have no record of any transference from that theatre. (3) The piece ran for four years—1460 times. Our Boys, the comedy with the next longest run, was played 1362 times.

BIRTHDAYS OF THE WEEK.

We wish Many Happy Returns of the Day to the following ladies and gentlemen:—

Kate Santley—Saturday, Aug. 29.
Grace Henderson—Saturday, Aug. 29.
Charles Dalton—Saturday, Aug. 29.
Keith Fraser—Sunday, Aug. 30.
Frank Lawton—Sunday, Aug. 30.
Kitty Lofting—Monday, Aug. 31.
Harry Pleon—Monday, Aug. 31.
Walter Joyce—Tuesday, Sept. 1.
George P. Lester—Tuesday, Sept. 1.
Isa Bowman—Wednesday, Sept. 2.
Rose Nesbitt.—Wednesday, Sept. 2.
Edna May—Wednesday, Sept. 2.
George R. Sims—Wednesday, Sept. 2.
Vernon Bland—Thursday, Sept. 3.
Princess Pauline—Thursday, Sept. 3.
Mike S. Whallen—Thursday, Sept. 3.
B. W. Vaughan—Thursday, Sept. 3.
Rozel—Thursday, Sept. 3.
Ellis Carlyle—Thursday, Sept. 3.
Esmé Beringer—Friday, Sept. 4.
Kate Forster—Friday, Sept. 4.
Lester Collingwood—Friday, Sept. 4.
Harry Brayne—Friday, Sept. 4.
F. Bulmer—Friday, Sept. 4.

"THE name of the actress who played Desdemona under Killigrew's management in 1660 has," says Dutton Cook, "not been discovered. Who, then, was the first English actress, assuming that she was the Desdemona of the Vere-street Theatre? She must be looked for in Killigrew's company. His 'leading lady' was Mrs. Ann Marshall, of whom Pepys makes frequent mention, who is known to have obtained distinction alike in tragedy and in comedy, and to have personated such characters as the heroine of Beaumont and Fletcher's Scornful Lady, Roxana in Alexander the Great, Calphurnia in Julius Cæsar, Evadne in The Maid's Tragedy, and so on; there is no record, however, of her having appeared in the part of Desdemona. Indeed, this part is not invariably assumed by 'leading ladies'; it has occasionally devolved upon the seconda donna of the company. And in a representation of Othello on Feb. 6, 1669, at the Theatre Royal in Drury Lane (to which establishment Killigrew and his troop had removed from Vere-street in April, 1663), it is certain, on the evidence of Downes's 'Roscius Anglicanus,' that a Mrs. Hughes played the part of Desdemona to the Othello of Burt, the Iago of Mohun, and the Cassio of Hart. Now, was this Mrs. Hughes, who had been a member of Killigrew's company from the first, the Desdemona on whose behalf, nine years before, Mr. Thomas Jordan wrote his apologetic prologue? It seems not unlikely. At the same time, it must be stated that there are other claimants to the distinction."

"THE ERA" LETTER-BOX.

A Stamped Envelope, plainly addressed, must be enclosed with application for each Letter. Letters, after lying at this Office for One Month, are forwarded to the Postal Authorities, to be returned to the Senders.

No Circulars or Parcels admitted to this list.

Aldrich, Mrs. Chas.
Alexander, Mr. S. K.
Anthony, Mr. Harry
Anton, Mr. W. Holmes
Armitage, Mr. Harry
Arnold, Miss T.
Artois, Mr. J.
Barrett, Mr. Medley
Barry, Mr. Leonard
Bernhardt, Mme. Sarah
Bevan, Miss Flossie
Biddall, Mr. W.
Blakey, Mr. R.
Blunt, Mr. G.
Boggetti, Mr. E.
Boissett, Mr. Herbert
Bramley, Mr. Bee
Brookes, Miss E.
Burford, Mr. Watty
Campbell, Mr. D.
Carver, Mr. Geo.
Carver, Mr. Cecil A.
Carver, Mr. P.
Caselli, Miss Cora
Caselli, Mr. E.
Cash, Mr. Morny
Cecilians, The Four
Clark, Miss D. H.
Clark, Col. W.
Cliquot, Chevalier
Cochrane, Mr. Frank
Connor, Miss A.
Conynghame, Mr. F. L.
Coop, Mr. Colin
Coram,
Correze, Mrs
Corri, Mr. Clarence
Costello, Mr. Tom
Cottesmore, Mr. E.
Courtney, Miss Maud
Cuthbert, Mr. Alfred
Darrell, Mr. Chas.
Davis, Mr. Tom
Doody, Mrs. Sid
Doreen, Miss Lilian
Dowd, Mr. A. P.
Draycott, Mr. Chas.
Druce, Mr. Hubert
Duncan, Mr. Albert C.
Eastbury, Mrs. S.
Elliott, Miss Beth
Elliott, Miss Violet
Evans, Mr. Wash
Field, Mr. Penfold
Forrester, Miss Marion
Fox, Mr. Bob
Fox, Mr. George
Franklyn, Miss Eugene
Franklin, Miss Jenny
Fyne, Mr. Fred
Ghalom, Miss Celia
Glennie, Mrs.
Golden, Mr. Horace
Gordon, Mr. S.
Graham, Mrs. N. D.
Grey, Miss Minnie
Grey, Miss Mona
Halna, Mrs.
Hamiltons, Messrs. W.
Harcourt, Miss Enid
Harrison, Mr. W.
Hartley, Mr. Chas.
Harwood, Mr. Frank
Hearn, Mr. James
Hemingway, Mr. Jack
Henson, Mr. J. W.
Hesslewood, Mr. Tom
Housley, Miss Marie
Hubbard, Miss Ida
Hyde, Mr. Arthur
Imray, Mr. Chas.
Ireland, Mr. Ian
Jessett, Mr. Fred
Johnson, Mr. Kid
Johnson, Mr. Mike
Jones, Mr. Henry A.
King, Mr. H.
King, Mr. Leo.
Lant, Mr. William
Latona, Mr. Frank
Le Breton, Mrs.
Leslie, Mr. Alfred
Levaine, Mr. Harry
Ling, Mr. T. P.
Linwood, Mr. Lance
Lockart's Elephants.
Loftus, Mr. A.
Loftus, Miss Cecilia
Loftus, Miss K.
Lorett, Mr. and Mrs.
Lupino, Mr. George
Macdonald, Mr. Jack
Mackay, Mr. W. J.
March, Miss T.
Mascard, Mr. A.
May, Miss Alice
McCarthy, Mr. D.
McCulloch, Mr. A.
McNab, Mr. Sandy
Michelena, Miss Vera
Mick, Little
Mildare, Mr. C.
Millian, Mr. Max
Miniature Marie
Mitchell, Mr. Geo.
Morison, Capt. R.
Neilson, Mr. H. V.
New York Comedy Four
Odell, Miss Maude
Oliver, Mr. J. C.
Pettigrove, Mr. Britton
Pitt, Mr. C. H.
Powell, Mr. Frank
Ray, Miss G.
Ray, Miss M. L.
Rayburn, Miss Kittie
Reeves, Mr. George
Relph, Miss Mary
Rich and Rare
Rignold, Miss Bessie
Rivers, Miss Kate
Roscoe, Miss Ada
Rose, Mr. Howard
Rubens, Mr. H.
Sachs, Mr. J. L.
Saxon, Mr. Arthur
Scott, Mr. Malcolm
Searelle, Mrs. L.
Selkirk, Mr.
Serony, Mrs.
Seymour, Mr. Harry
Shine, Mr. John L.
Shrapnel, Mr. L.
Smith and Beaumont
Stoker, Mr. Bram
Stratten, Mrs. Jack
Studt, Mr. J.
Thompson, Mr. C. W.
Thora, Miss
Tilbury, Mr. Walter
Ulrick, Mr. Chas.
Valentine, Mr. H. E.
Venus, Miss Mab
Walford, Mr. Archie
Warren, Mr. Ross
Whittier, Mr. Robert
Williams, Mr. Chas. H.
Willie Brothers
Wood, Mr. Alf.
Yorke, Mr. Percy
York, Mr. Philip
Zerbinis, Mr. Victor
Zolas, The Four

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, & DEATHS.

The charge for inserting in "The Era" an announcement of a Birth, a Marriage, or a Death, or an "In Memoriam" notice, not exceeding twenty-four words, is One Shilling and Sixpence.

As a guarantee of good faith, the name and address of the sender must accompany each notice.

BIRTHS.

LE BRUN.—On Aug. 21, at 21, Shirley-street, Hove, Mrs. Irene Le Brun (Brown), of a fine daughter. Both going on well.

OSBORNE.—On Saturday, Aug. 22, at 31, Ridgmount-gardens, Gower-street, Lottie Albert (comedienne), wife of Oscar Osborne, solicitor, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

PARKER—LANGLEY.—On Sunday, Aug. 23, at St. Michael's Church, Stockwell, Miss Grace Langley, comedienne, to Mr. T. E. Parker.

SAVERY—DEW.—On Aug. 24, at Trinity Church, Ramsgate, William Hubert Savery, of Exmouth, to Irene Constance Dew, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Dew, of Ramsgate, late of the Theatre Royal, Dover.

FORTHCOMING MARRIAGE.

BROCK—MOHR.—A marriage has been arranged, and will take place next spring, between Dorothy Brock (Doris Brookes), youngest daughter of George Frederick Brock, of Aintree, Liverpool, and Oliver Bernard Mohr (Richard Ferris), youngest son of Charles Mohr, of Birmingham.

DEATHS.

JARVIS.—On Aug. 21, at Colly Istra Cottages, Bedlinog, South Wales, of meningitis, Ernest Herbert Jarvis, aged 27, showman's manager, husband of Alice Gertrude Alexandra Jarvis, and eldest and beloved son of Frances and George Oscar Prosser Jarvis, of 113, Fairfield-street, East Park-road, Leicester, for many years the local correspondent of "The Era." Interred at Bedlinog, on Tuesday, Aug. 25.

O'FLYNN.—On Aug. 21, 1908, at his residence, 32, Houghton-place, Bradford, Michael O'Flynn, aged 60, father of Francis O'Flynn, banjoist. R.I.P.

SIMON.—Aug. 22, the Rev. T. H. Simon, curate of Holy Trinity Church, Shaw, Lancashire, formerly actor (St. Bernard Wyntour), aged 27.

PASTOR.—Aug. 27, at New York, of paralysis, Tony Pastor, American entrepreneur, in his 71st year.

IN MEMORIAM.

ALDRIDGE.—In loving memory of my darling beloved wife, Carrie Aldridge, who to our unutterable grief died Aug. 30, 1907. Only those who knew her can realise our terrible loss.—FRANK and WEE IVY PERTH.

DRESCHER.—In loving remembrance of our darling mother and loving wife, who departed this life Aug. 9, 1904, at Johannesburg, Transvaal, of enteric fever.
Gone and forgotten by many you may be;
But dear to our memory forever you'll be.
If the grave were to open, what changes you'd see,
But eternal rest is far better for thee.

MACDONA.—In loving memory of William Macdona, who passed away Aug. 31, 1892, father of Charles and F. Graham Macdona. Peace, perfect peace.

SAKER.—To the loved memory of Maria Saker, who passed away Sept. 1, 1902. Mama, beloved ever.

SQUIRE.—In memory of my dear daddy (R. Cowley Squire), Cowley Polhill, died Aug. 29, 1906.
Oh, for the touch of a vanished hand,
The sound of a voice that is still.
Never forgotten by his daughter EVE.

BUREAU DE CHANGE

SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED. HANDS and CO., 16, STRAND, CHARING-CROSS RAILWAY STATION, LONDON, W.C.

"I'll swear upon that bottle."—TEMPEST, Act ii.; Scene ii.

WHITBREAD'S

BOTTLED BEERS

maintain their popularity because they are brought into condition by

MATURING IN BOTTLE,

the Natural method,

without the aid of carbonating or other artificial process.

The largest Beer Bottlers in the World.

APPLY TO CHIEF OFFICES,

BRITANNIA ST., KING'S CROSS, LONDON, W.C.

(Telephone No. 366 North. Telegraphic Address, "Bearseller, London.")

FOR NAME OF NEAREST AGENT.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES.

For Sustaining the Voice.
Invaluable for ACTORS and SINGERS.
Indispensable for PUBLIC SPEAKERS

GENTLEMEN,—For sudden affections of the Bronchial Organs I use and most cheerfully recommend "Brown's Troches." They are regarded as most eligible, convenient, and indispensable by numerous artists of my acquaintance, BOTH IN EUROPE AND AMERICA. They seem to act specially on the organs of the voice, and produce a clear enunciation.—Yours truly (Signed), MARIE ROZE MAPLESON.

SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 1/1½ PER BOX.

During the last half-century everyone travelling in Hot Climes has made a point of carrying some

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE

so as to stop immediately an attack of

DIARRHŒA, CHOLERA, or DYSENTERY.

Hot weather in the British Isles strikes suddenly, and everyone should take a little precaution. Don't wait until you actually need the Chlorodyne, but always keep it by you.

Avoid disappointment. Insist on having DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE—it ACTS LIKE A CHARM IN STOMACH TROUBLES.

Convincing Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.

Of all Chemists, 1/1½, 2/9, and 4/6.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.

The Best Remedy for Acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Gout, and Indigestion. A Safe and most effective Aperient for regular use.

A. BLACKFORD.

the BEST HOUSE in LONDON.
For LADIES' and GENTLEMEN'S
High Grade BOOTS and SHOES.
The FINEST ENGLISH and FOREIGN MAKES.
At Cutting Prices.
3, 4, and 5, KING-STREET, COVENT GARDEN, W.C.
Telephone, P.O. Central, 5,014.

INDIGESTION

Is the primary cause of most of the ills to which we are subject. WHELPTON'S VEGETABLE PURIFYING PILLS arouse the stomach to action. Headache flies away, Biliousness, Kidney Disorders, and Skin Complaints disappear.

ASK FOR WHELPTON'S PURIFYING PILLS,

And remember there is NO PILL "JUST AS GOOD." 1s. 1½d. of all Chemists.

DRESS CLOTHES LENT.—BLACKFORD has for SALE or HIRE the Finest of CLOTHES for Theatres, Balls, Parties, Weddings, Dinners, Funerals, &c. Clothes sent to any part of England. Perfect Fit guaranteed. 3, 4, and 5, KING-STREET, COVENT GARDEN (one door from Market), and 31, WELLINGTON-STREET, STRAND. Telegraphic Address, "Misfits, London." Telephone, P.O. Central, 5,014.

BIRKBECK BANK.

ESTABLISHED 1851.
SOUTHAMPTON BUILDINGS, HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.
2½ PER CENT. INTEREST allowed on Deposit Accounts.
2 PER CENT. INTEREST on Drawing Acounts with Cheque Book.
All general Banking Business transacted.
ALMANACK, with full particulars, POST FREE.
C. F. RAVENSCROFT, Secretary.

FRESH AS A ROSE!

Add a Little "CONDY'S FLUID" to your Bath or Footbath.

It invigorates the body and braces the Nerves. The Strengthening & Health giving effects are Simply Magical. Tired, Aching or Tender Feet are instantly relieved. All feeling of fatigue or discomfort and every trace of Offensive Odour immediately disappear. Of all Chemists at 1s. Insist on having "Condy's Fluid." Contains NO Permanganate of Potash.

CONDY'S FLUID CO., 65, GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

The H.W. Velvet Grip STOCKING SUPPORTERS.

The only "GRIP" that "GRIPS" SECURELY without Injury to the HOSE.

No. 45. Cotton Frilled, 1 Grip, New Clip Top..... 1/- pair
" 75. Cotton Frilled, 2 Grips, New Clip Top ..... 1/6 pair
" 10. Frilled Silk Elastic, 1 Grip, Safety Pin Top 1/6 pair
" 40. Frilled Silk Elastic, 2 Grips, New Clip Top 2/6 pair
Postage 1d. pair extra.

If unable to procure from your Draper, apply to the VELVET GRIP MANUFACTORY, Hackney Road Works, London, N.E.

LONDON THEATRES.

GAIETY THEATRE.
Manager, Mr. George Edwardes.
Every Evening at 8,
Mr. George Edwardes's New Production,
"HAVANA."
a Musical Play.
Box Office Open Daily, 10 to 10.

DALY'S THEATRE,
LEICESTER-SQUARE.
Every Evening at 8.15.
Matinée Every Saturday at 2.30.
A New Play, with Music,
entitled
"THE MERRY WIDOW"
("Die lustige witwe").
Produced by Mr. GEORGE EDWARDES.

LYCEUM THEATRE.
To-night (Saturday), at eight,
Messrs. Smith and Carpenter's Autumn Production,
"PETE,"
By Hall Caine and Louis N. Parker.
MATHESON LANG as PETE.
HUTIN BRITTON as KATE.
Box-office 10 to 7. Stalls, 5s. and 3s.; Dress Circle, 4s. and 2s. 6d. Tele., 7617 and 7618 Gerrard.

LYRIC.
MOODY-MANNERS OPERA CO., LTD.
Lessee, Mr. William Greet,
Under the management of Mr. Tom B. Davis.
Grand Opera in English (last week). Every evening at 8, Matinées, Wed. and Sat., at 2. Mon., "Tannhauser," Mdme. De Vere-Sapio, Mr. Louis Laurier; Tues., "Madame Butterfly," Mdme. Fanny Moody, Mr. Seth Hughes; Wed., Mat., "Lohengrin," Mdme. De Vere-Sapio, Mr. Philip Brozel; Wed., Eve., "Faust," Miss Kate Anderson, Mr. Seth Hughes; Thurs., "Cavalleria Rusticana," Miss Toni Seiter, Mr. Seth Hughes; and "Pagliacci," Miss Kate Anderson, Mr. Philip Brozel; Fri., "Madame Butterfly," Mdme. Fanny Moody, Mr. Louis Laurier; Sat., Mat., "Aida," Mdme. De Vere-Sapio, Mr. Philip Brozel; Sat., Eve., "The Lily of Killarney," Mdme. Fanny Moody, Messrs. John Child, Seth Hughes.

KING'S THEATRE, W.
'Phone 119 Hammersmith.
Owner and Resident-Manager, J. B. Mulholland.
Nightly at 8. Thursday Matinée at 2.30.
"SUNDAY."
All communications re dates at Marlborough and King's Theatres; also as to performing "The New Magdalen," address Mr. Mulholland, KING'S THEATRE, HAMMERSMITH, W.

MARLBOROUGH THEATRE.
Managing-Directors,
Mr. Ernest Stevens and Mr. R. C. Buchanan.
Aug. 31,
"THE SINS OF SOCIETY."
Address all communications re dates to Mr. J. B. Mulholland, King's Theatre, Hammersmith, W. All other communications to Messrs. Stevens and Buchanan, Marlborough T., N. 'Phone 131 North.

LYRIC OPERA HOUSE,
HAMMERSMITH.
Proprietor and Manager, WENTWORTH CROKE.
Enormous Success of Re-opening.
Aug. 31, "SECOND TO NONE."
Sept. 7, "TWO LANCASHIRE LASSES IN LONDON."
Add., Wentworth Croke, 17, Shaftesbury-av., W.

ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE,
KINGSTON-ON-THAMES.
Re-opened for the Season after Complete Reconstruction, Redecoration, and Refurnishing. Monday, Aug. 31, for Six Nights. Matinée on Wednesday, "HER SECOND TIME ON EARTH." The First County Variety Season (twice nightly) will commence shortly

CRYSTAL PALACE.

MEXICO VILLAGE. GENUINE NATIVES.	GREAT VARIETY EXHIBITION IN CENTRE TRANSEPT.	MEXICO. BABY ELEPHANTS MANY HUNDRED NOVELTIES.
BANDS.

MASKELYNE and DEVANT'S MYSTERIES,
St. George's Hall, W.
Daily, at 3 and 8.
Grand Programme, replete with new, startling mysteries, including Mr. Maskelyne's Comedy of Marvels, "THE PHILOSOPHER'S DIAMOND."
The Times says: The fun is, in truth, delightful.
Seats, 1s. to 5s. Children half-price. 'Phone, 1545 Mayfair.

QUEEN'S HALL PROMENADE CONCERTS.
Nightly at 8 till Oct. 24.
THE QUEEN'S HALL ORCHESTRA.
Conductor, Mr. Henry J. Wood.
1s., 2s., 3s., 5s.
Full Programmes for the Entire Season from the Queen's Hall Orchestra, Ltd., 320, Regent-street, W.
Robert Newman, Manager.

HENGLER'S CIRCUS,
Argyll-street, Oxford Circus, W.
Twice Daily, at 2.30 and 8.
Grand Circus Combination.
Lessee and Manager, Austin Fryers.

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

ROYAL STANDARD MUSIC HALL
(facing Victoria Station).—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. T. S. DICKIE. One House Nightly. (Half-time 9.30, except Saturdays and Holidays). Monday, Aug. 31, Henry Doughty and Co. in "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," Michael Nolan, Dora Lyric, Violet Gibson and Coons, "Amurat," Mlle. Pollo, Tray and Rich, Maud Esmond, Percy Dalton, Nellie Nestle, Frank Jester, Edisonograph. Rehearsal Monday 1 o'clock. Doors open 7.30 (Saturdays 7.0), commence 7.40 (Saturdays 7.15, with augmented programme). Tele., 503 Westminster. Assist.-Manager, Mr. MAURICE VOLNY.

QUEEN'S PALACE OF VARIETIES,
HIGH-STREET, POPLAR. Tel. 714 East.
Proprietors, Messrs. F. and M. ABRAHAMS.
Joint Managers, M. Abrahams and C. Hector.
Twice Nightly, at 6.30 and 9.10. Matinée Thursday. W. Purcell's Co., in "That Brute Simmons," Ruby Bijou, Frank Cass, Leslie Lynn and Willro, Flo Schuberth, Ernie Myers, Lily Lonsdale, Onda and Artel, and Dutch Daly.
Bill matter must be sent in fourteen days before opening, in accordance with Clause 18; same to be sent to Manager, Queen's. Artists please note rehearsal must be attended Mondays, 1.0 o'clock, according to contract.

THE NEW BEDFORD
PALACE OF VARIETIES, LTD.
Twice Nightly, at 6.10 and 9.0.
Monday, Aug. 31.—The Book of Life, Grace Tree, James Stewart, Jack Crawley, Margaret Radcliffe, Maurice H. Hoffman and Co., in "The Martyrdom of Michael," Les Belles Americaines, the Bioscope, the Ramsey Trio, Calile and Walker, Jenny Lynn, Griffiin and Ardell.
Artists are notified that they must send their full Bill Matter in two clear weeks before opening. Rehearsal, 1 o'clock Mondays. All must attend. Artists not complying with the above rules are subject to having their contracts cancelled at option of Management.

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

ALHAMBRA.
MDLLE. LEONORA, in
"SAL, OH MY!" UP TO DATE.
THE MASTER MYSTERY, LIST'S BEARS, MLLE. BRESSINA, TOM NAWN and CO., THE THREE DONALS, MDLLE. POMPONNETTE, in "THE TWO FLAGS," &c.

EMPIRE (Leicester-square).
ADELINE GENEE
in
"COPPELIA."
"AFTER THE OPERA,"
a Dramatic Episode.
Lydia Kyaksht, Ray Wallace, Velanche's Dogs, Warren and Brockway, Emma Francis, Les Souloffs, Battle of Salisbury on the Bioscope, &c. Every Evening at 8. Man., Mr. H. J. HITCHINS.

PALACE.
Maud Allan, in her Wonderful Classical Dances, Arthur Prince, Palace Girls, Juliette's Sea Lions, Spissel Bros. and Mack, &c., Marathon Race, &c., on Urbanora Bioscope.
Matinée, Full Programme, Saturdays, at 2.0.
MAUD ALLAN MATINEE, WEDNESDAYS, at 3.0
Managing-Director, Mr. ALFRED BUTT.

OXFORD.
Little Tich (10.30), Wilkie Bard (10), Victoria Monks (9.20), Joe Elvin (9), Cinquevalli, Jordan and Harvey, Chas. Fisher's Opera Co., Dan Crawley, Ernest Shand, Signor and Madame Borelli, The Whittakers, Daisy Jerome, Mr. and Mrs. Kemp in a Pictorial Novelty, "Tales of the Wild." (10.20), Ida Barr, Maidie Scott, Daisy Wood Phil Rees' Stable Lads, Rita Rhylle, Ruffell's Bioscope. Open 7.20, Saturday Matinées 2.15. Manager, Mr. BLYTH PRATT.

TIVOLI.
Marie Lloyd, R. G. Knowles, Wilkie Bard, Harry Tate and Co., The Bensons, Ernest Shand, Sam Mayo, Adrienne Augarde and Co., Millie Lindon, John Le Hay and Co., Leonard Barry, Margaret Ashton, Les Frasettis, Will Evans.
Open 7.30; Saturday Matinées, 2.15.

MIDDLESEX.
Monday, Aug. 31. Elmore, Brewerton, and Co., Lily Burnand, Lupino Bros., H. A. Moore, Julia Gilbert, Four Sisters Victoria, Frank Maura, Raynor and Reece, George Antill, Sisters Belmont, Lazern the Mystic, Mulvey and Miriam, Flo Cromer, Graydon's Programme of New Bioscope Pictures. Doors Open at 6.45; Saturdays and Holidays One Hour Earlier. A Change Every Week.

EMPIRE, Camberwell Green.
Managing-Director, JESSE SPARROW.
Manager, PERCY FORD.
Harriet Vernon, in "Sunshine and Shadow," Harry Pleon, interviewing Napoleon, Tray and Rich, Molly Maguire, Fields and Lewis, Arthur Harris, Mack Olive and Daisy Baldry, in "The Candy Store," Enger, The Saletos, Jeapes' Animated Graphic, Ryde and Beeman, and Tatten Hall and Pauline Hall, in new burlesque, "Bertie and the Barmaid."

CHELSEA PALACE.
At 6.40 and 9.10.
Holles and Goldman's Co. in "The Stepmother," Bessie Slaughter, The Donatos, Roxborough and Wright, Edie Reynolds and Co. in "The Girl in Grey," Daisy Wood, Henri Bekker, Allis and Cassati, Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope, and James Fawn.

HAMMERSMITH PALACE.
Proprietor, Mr. J. C. COE.
Manager, LEWIS VINCENT.
Monday, Aug. 31, 1908, Harry Tate, in an entirely new production, by J. Hickory Wood and Wal Pink, "Billiards," Dora Lyric, Kenneth and Kane, Rosie Bartlett, Billy Williams, The Three Panamas, Eileen Douglas, Lauderdale Maitland and Janet Alexander, Orleans Trio, Luigi Salvino, Griffin and Ardell, Four Spanish Goldinis, The Edisonograph, Fred Reedam, Edwin Boyde.

FUNDS, &c.

ROYAL GENERAL THEATRICAL FUND.
FOR MEMBERS BECOMING INCAPACITATED EITHER BY OLD AGE OR INFIRMITY.
Hon. Treasurer, Edward Terry, Esq., J.P.
Charles J. Davies, Secretary, Savoy House, Strand.

ACTORS' BENEVOLENT FUND.
8, ADAM-STREET, STRAND.
C. I. Colyson, Secretary.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION
Telegrams, "Actoris, London."
Telephone, 1753 Gerrard.
409, STRAND, W.C.
Subscriptions, 4s. 6d. Quarterly, or 15s. Annually.
Entrance Fee, 5s.

ACTORS' UNION.
Telephone 3714 Gerrard.
Entrance fee, 2s. 6d.;
Weekly Subscriptions, 6d.
Open Meetings every Tuesday at 2.30 precisely at Hummums Hotel, Covent Garden.
Kenneth Blackmore,
Secretary.

MUSIC HALL SICK FUND.
Founded in 1867.
Committee Meetings second Wednesday in the month at 2 p.m.
Sick Payments—£1 for 6d. per week, £1 10s. for 9d. per week. £10 paid to nearest relative on death of member. President, Mr. FRED KARNO. Hon. Auditors, Messrs. H. E. High and W. Brisco; Trustees, Messrs. H. Jennings, Jesse Sparrow, and Douglas White; Vice-President, Mr. W. J. Wainratta; Treasurer, Mr. Frank Heath; Secretary, Mr. R. T. Baines. Address all communications, the Crown Hotel, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

TOURING MANAGERS' ASSOCIATION
LTD.,
AND THE MANAGERS' CLUB,
SAVOY-MANSIONS, STRAND, W.C.
For particulars of Membership, apply to The Secretary. Telegraphic address, "Playwright, London." Telephone, 8458 Gerrard.

Price 1s., post free 1s. 1d.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT
FOR
ACTOR AND COMPOSER,
By ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).
Copyright confusion is, like the poor, always with us, and as it seems likely to remain so until at least the crack of doom, it were well for all concerned, or likely to be concerned, to take immediate steps to secure a copy of Mr. Albert A. Strong's new work, entitled "The Law of Copyright." Mr. Strong is already favourably known to the profession for his textbook on "Dramatic and Musical Law," which, like his latest production, is published at "The Era" Office. "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer" essays to make clear to the non-legal mind what is—or, in some cases what probably is—the law as to musical and dramatic copyright. The chapters on the Berne Convention and on the Chase Act, passed by the United States Congress last March, are full of interest.—Referee.
Published at "The Era" Buildings,
5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

COLONIAL THEATRES.

AUSTRALIA.
MELBOURNE, SYDNEY, BRISBANE, WELLINGTON, N.Z.
Mr. J. C. Williamson,
Manager of the Leading Australasian Theatres,
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, MELBOURNE;
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, SYDNEY;
THEATRE ROYAL, SYDNEY;
HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, BRISBANE.
London Representative,
J. A. E. Malone, Daly's Theatre.

AUSTRALIA.
MR. HARRY RICKARDS,
Sole Proprietor and Manager,
TIVOLI THEATRE, SYDNEY.
TIVOLI HOTEL, SYDNEY.
GRAND OPERA HOUSE, MELBOURNE.
PRINCE OF WALES' HOTEL, MELBOURNE.
TIVOLI THEATRE, ADELAIDE.
PALACE THEATRE AND GARDENS, PERTH.
Business Manager, John C. Lees.
Private Secretary, Edward Maas.

AUSTRALIA.
THE HERBERT FLEMMING COMEDY CO.
Under the Sole Direction of
Mr. HERBERT FLEMMING.
All arrangements complete for 1908.
Australian address,
c/o Blake and Riggall, 120, William-st., Melbourne.
London Representative,
R. Golding Bright, 20, Green-st., Leicester-sq.

NEW ZEALAND.
VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT.
Proprietors, JOHN FULLER AND SONS.

AUCKLAND.	Open	OPERA HOUSE.
WELLINGTON.	all the	THEATRE R.
CHRISTCHURCH.	year	OPERA HOUSE.
DUNEDIN.	round.	PRINCESS'S T.

Proprietors, HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, ALHAMBRA THEATRE, PROVINCIAL HOTEL, DUNEDIN; HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, CLUB HOTEL, WELLINGTON.
All coms., Ben Fuller, T. R., Wellington.

THE ABERDEEN DIRECT LINE
offers Special Low Rates
to Theatrical or Concert Companies going on Tour in
SOUTH AFRICA.
Full information can be obtained from
JOHN T. RENNIE, SON, AND CO.,
4, East India-avenue, E.C.

INDIA AND THE FAR EAST.
BANDMANN'S EASTERN CIRCUIT.
Maurice B. Bandmann
Controls the only Circuit of Theatres in the East.
Proprietor and Joint-Proprietor of the Albany Hotel, Calcutta,
Empire Theatre
Empire Rink and Hippodrome,
Calcutta.
Empire Buildings, Calcutta,
Theatre Royal, Calcutta,
Bandmann's Theatre, Bombay,
Empire Theatre, Malta.
Maurice E. Bandmann
Holds for the West Indies, Mediterranean, India, and the Far East
the Sole and Exclusive Rights of all
Mr. George Edwardes's
and the Gaiety Theatre Company's Plays,
the Gilbert and Sullivan Operas,
and all other Leading London Productions.
Companies Touring,
The Bandmann Opera Co.,
The Bandmann Comedy Co.,
The Ellis Opera Co.,
The London Frivolity Co.,
Alfred West's "Our Navy,"
The London Bioscope Co.,
The Marvellous Grossi.
Required, Companies, Artists, Novelties, and Attractions of all Descriptions,
Rent, Share, or Certainty.
Address all Communications,
Maurice E. Bandmann,
Theatre Royal, Calcutta.
Cables, "Svengali, Calcutta";
or to Sole London Agent,
Alfred Dove,
28, Gerrard-street, W.

INDIA, CALCUTTA.
PART OF BANDMANN'S EASTERN CIRCUIT.
EMPIRE THEATRE, CALCUTTA.
Sole Proprietors,
Maurice B. Bandmann and A. Stephen.
Will open on Nov. 1.
The Premier Theatre of the East.
A perfect and most elegantly-equipped Four-Tier House, built on the cantilever principle, absolutely up to date. Stage capable of any production. Holding capacity, £350
THEATRE ROYAL, CALCUTTA.
Sole Proprietors,
Maurice E. Bandmann and A. Stephen.
Run on strictly first-class lines. Patronised by the Viceroy and élite of India. Holds at ordinary prices £250. The largest stage in the East.
At both Theatres Resident Scenic Artists,
Full Band, and Permanent Staff.
Required, Companies, Novelties, and Attractions of all Descriptions.
Address all Communications,
Theatre Royal, Calcutta.
Cables, "Svengali, Calcutta";
or to Sole London Agent,
Alfred Dove,
28, Gerrard-street, W.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

BOW and POPLAR.—Correspondents Required to Supply Music-hall Reports Weekly.—Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

CAMBRIDGE.—NEW THEATRE (Ltd.)
Man. Director, Mr. W. B. Rapper, J.P., D.L.
A theatre among the most beautiful in England.—Sunday Times.
All Autumn Dates Filled.
Now Booking Spring, 1909, and onwards.
Silence a polite negative.

CORK. — OPERA HOUSE.
Vacant Dates.
Sept. 7, Oct. 12, 19, 26, Nov. 2, 23, 30, Dec. 7.
Wanted, Musical Comedy Attraction for Xmas, 1908 (13 nights and matinées, commencing Boxing Day), Jan. 18, March 1, 8, and onwards, with various exceptions.
Applications to Mr. John Horgan, Manager.

DUNFERMLINE.—OPERA HOUSE.
The most Popular Theatre in Fife. Visited only by Companies of the highest repute. Vacant Aug. 24, on. Can be booked in conjunction with Perth, with exceptions. W. E. Potts.

GREAT MALVERN. — Correspondent
Required to Supply Theatrical and Music-Hall Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE, LTD.
Established 1884.
Managing-Director, Joseph H. Curry.
Open all the Year Round.
Telegraphic add., "Curry, Grimsby." Tel. No. 240.

HANLEY.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.
The Staffordshire Potteries for all Dramatic Purposes must be considered as one large town.
Hanley has undoubtedly the Largest Theatre and Stage in Staffordshire.
Lighted by Electricity. Electric trams and Trains after Performance to ends of the District.
This year's Bookings include:—
"Earl and the Girl," "See-See," Moody-Manners, "Prodigal Son," H. B. Irving, "Tom Jones," "Hypocrites," "Gay Gordons," (Zena Dare), "Hook of Holland" (Marie Studholme), "Maid and the Motor-man," "The Thief," Ellen Terry, F. R. Benson, Oscar Asche and Lily Brayton, Mrs. Brown Potter, "Brewster's Millions," "Merry Widow," Sir John Hare for Full Week, &c.
Vacant Oct. 19, Nov. 16, Feb. 1 and 8, onwards.
Chas. G. Elphinstone, Managing-Director.

HULL.—ASSEMBLY ROOMS and LECTURE HALL.—To Let, for Entertainments, Concerts, &c.
Good Vacant Dates.
Apply, G. Peacock and Sons, Managers.

HULL. — THE CIRCUS.
General-Manager, Edward Emerson.
One of the Finest and Largest Halls, Large Stage, suit Circus, Minstrels, Concert, Choir Parties, &c. Rental, share, or salary. Only a Few Vacant Dates.

HULL. — GRAND THEATRE.
Under the Management of William Morton.
This year's bookings include—
Martin Harvey, "Tom Jones" (two weeks), D'Oyly Carte Répertoire Co., Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, "The Girls of Gottenberg," Zena Dare and Co. in "The Gay Gordons," "Diana of Dobson's," "Miss Hook of Holland," Mr. Forbes Robertson, Moody-Manners Opera Co., Gertrude Elliott and Co., "Mollentravo on Women," "The Sign of the Cross," Mr. Oscar Asche, Miss Lily Brayton and Co., including Mr. Courtice Pounds, in "The Taming of the Shrew," "As You Like It," and "Othello," H. B. Irving, Dorothea Baird and Co. in Répertoire, "The Christian," "Belle of New York," "The Beauty of Bath," "Florodora," "The Girl Behind the Counter," George Edwardes' Co., "The Merry Widow," &c., George Alexander's "The Thief," Mr. James Welch and Co. in "When Knights Were Bold," &c., &c.
Applications for Dates, also for the Theatre Royal, Hull, and the Alexandra,
Please address, Wm. Morton.

LIVERPOOL. — SHAKESPEARE THEATRE. Man.-Dir. Wentworth Croke.
First-class Companies Only.
For Vacant Dates, Address, Wentworth Croke, Piccadilly-mansions, 17, Shaftesbury-av., W.

MANCHESTER.
GAIETY THEATRE.
Sole Proprietor, Miss A. E. F. Horniman.
General-Manager, Mr. B. Iden Payne.
Closed during Summer for partial reconstruction and other improvements. Every seat bookable. One of the most beautiful and best-equipped Theatres in the Provinces.
Few Dates for No. 1 Companies only.

NORWICH. — THEATRE ROYAL.
Enlarged, Re-decorated, Lighted throughout by Electricity. Upholstered by Dean and Co.
Weekly Matinées for Country Visitors.
Silence a polite negative.
Fred Morgan, as above.

NOTTINGHAM.—GRAND THEATRE.
For Vacant Dates,
Address,
Cranbourn-mansions,
Cranbourn-street, London.

OLDHAM.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
Will be Opened next Xmas.
Only the Biggest Companies Entertained.
Vacancies in the Spring.
EMPIRE THEATRE.
Note.—From Xmas the Empire will be run as a Variety House, Twice Nightly.
ROYAL VARIETIES, Twice Nightly.
HIPPODROME VARIETIES, Twice Nightly.
All communications to Ernest Dottridge.

OXFORD. — NEW THEATRE.
Managers of First-class Companies are invited to apply for Dates to
Mr. C. C. Dorrill,
Managing-Director.
Silence a polite negative.

PLYMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.
Proprietors, Royal and Grand Theatres, Ltd.
Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.
Wanted, Big Musical Attraction for Easter week. Vacant Dates, March 8, 15, 22, April 5 and 19.

PORTSMOUTH. — NEW THEATRE ROYAL.
Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton.
Open throughout the year.
First-class Companies.
Weekly Matinées.

REDRUTH, CORNWALL.—DRUID'S HALL. Population of district, 20,000. Hall seats 700. Stage 36ft. by 16ft.; electric light. Dates and terms, apply Owen Hill, Secretary, Public Rooms Co., Ltd., Redruth.

RICHMOND, S.W. — CASTLE THEATRE. Manager, Percy Twitchin. Fine Commodious Theatre, Seating Capacity about 600. Stage lighted by Electricity. Dates can now be booked, on rental or sharing terms. Add., Manager.

STOCKPORT. — THEATRE ROYAL.
Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill.
Fast Booking Autumn, 1909.
Vacant Dec. 14 and April 5.
Address, Charles Revill.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

WEYMOUTH. — NEW PAVILION THEATRE.
This building, which is being erected by the Corporation on the sea-front, at a cost of £15,000, will be in every respect an up to date Theatre, and will be opened on Boxing-Day with pantomime, "Mother Goose."
Wanted, first-class companies musical and first-class variety preferred, January on, including Easter.
Walter R. Wallis, Municipal-buildings, Weymouth.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—Correspondent Required to Supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

WREXHAM.
THE PALACE THEATRE.
Managing-Director, W. Yates Gregory.
Architect, Thomas A. Price.
77a, Lord-street, Liverpool.
A Most Central Site has been Secured.
Building operations will shortly commence.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR PROVINCIAL THEATRES AND PROVINCIAL MUSIC HALLS.
Five Lines, TWO and SIXPENCE.
Thirteen Insertions (Including a Copy of "The Era" Weekly), THIRTY SHILLINGS.
For Each Additional Line, Sixpence.
Address, the Publisher,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.
"Wire," "The Era, London."
"Ring-up," 4,747, Central.

ACADEMIES AND SCHOOLS.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
TENTERDEN-STREET, W.
Instituted 1822 Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.
The Academy offers to Pupils of both sexes an opportunity of receiving a thorough education in Music in all its branches, the Drama, and Dramatic Elocution under the most eminent Professors.
For terms and all other information, apply to
F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC
(Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883).
Prince Consort-road, South Kensington, S.W.
Patron: HIS MAJESTY THE KING.
President, H.R.H. the PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.
Director, Sir C. Hubert H. Parry, Bart., C.V.O., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec., Charles Morley, Esq.
The next Term will Commence on Monday, Sept. 28.
Syllabus and Official Entry Forms may be obtained from FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.
The only School in London for
OPERATIC and THEATRICAL TRAINING which possesses a completely equipped Theatre.
Public Performances periodically given.
Stagecraft, Elocution, Fencing, Gesture, and Deportment Taught by Eminent Professors.
New Pupils can enter at any time.
FEES MODERATE. Prospectus on application to H. SAXE-WYNDHAM, Sec., Victoria-embankment, E.C Tel No. 1943 Holborn.

ROYAL ALBERT HALL.
MISS ELSIE FOGERTY.
SPEECH TRAINING SECTION, Breath Management and Physical Development, Voice Training, Cure of Speech Defects and Faults of Pronunciation, Singers' Diction. The latest application of Scientific Principles to the Treatment of Stammering. Private Lessons only. RECITATION CLASSES, making a Special Feature of perfect Diction for Drawing-room Recitation. DEBATING CLASSES, for the Training of Public Speakers, in connection with well-known Political and Educational Institutions. ARTIST SECTION, SCHOOL OF DRAMA. President and Examiner, Mr. F. R. Benson. A complete Stage Training, including Fencing, Dancing, and Physical Training, under the best Professors, with constant opportunities for Public performance.
Course for Professional Students and Teachers of Speech Training.
For particulars apply,
11, Wetherby-mansions, Earl's Court, S.W.

NEW COLLEGE, HERNE BAY.
—Professional, Commercial, and Engineering sides; handsome buildings in 17 acres of grounds; thorough education with individual attention; University masters; separate bedroom; Cadet corps; good diet and moderate fees.
For illustrated prospectus apply,
J. W. Thurnham, M.A.

ALPHABETICAL LIST
OF
ILLUSTRATED BIOGRAPHIES.

Abrahams, jun., Mr. Morris	Aug. 10, 1907
Adeson, Mr. Charles	April 25, 1908
Alexandra, Late Miss Ada	March 23, 1907
Allen, Mr. Frank	Feb. 22, 1908
Ames, Miss Emmie	Jan. 4, 1908
Anson, Miss Carlotta	June 13, 1908
Armstrong, Mr. Barney	Nov. 30, 1907
Atwill, Mr. Lionel	June 27, 1908
Bailey, Mr. Gordon	May 30, 1908
Bandurria, Late Mr. George	Dec. 14, 1907
Barrasford, Mr. Thomas	Feb. 29, 1908
Barwell, Miss Edith	April 11, 1908
Bateman, Miss	March 14, 1908
Beck, Mr. Fred	April 4, 1908
Bentley, Mrs. Walter	July 20, 1907
Beresford, Mr. Frank	July 18, 1908
Bernard, Mr. Albert	Oct. 5, 1907
Berte, Late Mr. Charles	May 30, 1908
Bolder, Mr. Robert	July 20, 1907
Booker, Late Mr. George A.	April 4, 1908
Boulton, Mr. Matthew	April 4, 1908
Brett, Mr. Edwin	Feb. 22, 1908
Brittain, Mr. Arthur	Oct. 19, 1907
Brodie, late Mr. Matthew	Jan. 11, 1908
Brooking, Mr. Cecil	Nov. 2, 1907
Brooks, Mr. E. Oswald	Nov. 16, 1907
Brydon-Phillips, Mr. G.	Jan. 4, 1908
Buxton, Mr. Fred.	June 27, 1908
Camp, Late Mr. Jack	April 6, 1907
Cannon, Miss Mayme	July 13, 1907
Carnegy, Miss Mary	March 7, 1908
Carpenter, Mr. Ernest	Feb. 22, 1908
Carter, Late Mr. John	July 13, 1907
Chambers, Miss Lizzie	June 6, 1908
Cole, Mr. E. W. Maule	Feb. 1, 1908
Collins, Mr. George	March 21, 1908
Collins, Mr. Patrick Ross	March 16, 1907
Collins-Rolfe, Mr. Arthur	April 13, 1907
Connor, Mr. J. F.	Oct. 12, 1907
Cooke Mr. Stanley	March 30, 1907
Cookson, Mr. S. A.	April 11, 1908
Cooper, Miss Florry	Aug. 10, 1907
Corri, Mr. William	July 25, 1908
Craven, Late Mrs. H. T	March 28, 1908
Crawford, Miss Alice	Nov. 9, 1907
Crewe, Mr. Bertie	March 28, 1908
Croke, Mr. Wentworth	Sept. 7, 1907
Cromwell, Mr. William	Jan. 25, 1908
Curry, Late Mr. H. J.	April 27, 1907
Darnley, Mr. Herbert	Aug. 17, 1907
Dashwood, Mr. Arthur	July 20, 1907
Davis, Miss Lallah	March 7, 1908
Day, Mr. David	Nov. 30, 1907
Dean, Mr. Walter	May 16, 1908
Denton, Mr. C. St. John	Jan. 4, 1908
Derry, Miss Joan	Feb. 8, 1908
Dexter, Miss Elizabeth	Feb. 15, 1908
Dickeson, Mr. Herbert	June 13, 1908
Donegan, Mr. James B.	July 11, 1908
Dorgere, Mlle. Arlette	May 30, 1908
Draycott, Mr. Charles	June 13, 1908
Drewry, Miss Maude Stewart	April 4, 1908
Danville, Mr. T. H.	April 11, 1908
Dyas, Late Miss Ada	March 21, 1908

Copies of the above can be obtained, price 6d. each for any issue 1908; other dates double price.
Address, The Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

TO HOLIDAY MAKERS.

PUT ENO'S
IN YOUR TRAVELLING BAG.

ENO'S 'FRUIT SALT'
prevents any over-acid state of the blood, and should be kept in every bedroom in readiness for any emergency.

It is Pleasant, Cooling, Health-giving, Refreshing, and Invigorating.

You cannot overstate its great value in keeping the blood Pure and Free from Disease.

CAUTION.—Examine the Capsule and see that it is marked ENO'S 'FRUIT SALT.' Otherwise you have the sincerest form of flattery—IMITATION.

THEATRICAL SHOE AND HOSIERY MANUFACTURERS.
MAKERS TO THE PRINCIPAL LONDON THEATRES.

Louis Heel Dancing Shoes a Speciality.
Sixty Art Shades of Linen Back Satin, Specially Woven for the Manufacture of Dancing Shoes, kept in Stock.
This Satin has a Fine Lustre, and is almost as Strong as Leather.

Large Stock of Pure and Spun Silk Tights, Worsted and Cotton tights, Opera Hose, Stockings, &c.
A Special Study made of Symmetrical Paddings.
The most Up-to-Date Stock of Stage Requisites and Sundries.
Everything of the Best and at Store Prices.
H. and M. RAYNE,
115, 117, and 119, WATERLOO-ROAD, LONDON, S.E.
(Opposite Electric Tram Terminus).
Tel. 7,978 Central.
And at 49, Charing Cross-rd., W.C., nr. Hippodrome.

ACTORS' DAY.
TRUSTEES:—
Sir George Lewis, Bart., Sir Squire Bancroft, George R. Sims.
ADVISORY BOARD, Elected 1908
Chairman: Sydney Valentine.
Deputy-Chairman: Henry Ainley.
Blake Adams, George Alexander, Allan Aynesworth, Cecil Barth, A. E. Bishop, Arthur Bourchier, Miss Fanny Brough, C. Hayden Coffin, Burton Cook, Alfred Denville, Kenneth Douglas, Miss Vane Featherston, C. T. H. Helmsley, Laurence Irving, Walter Maxwell, W. H. Rotheram, H. A. Saintsbury, E. Lyall Swete, Brandon Thomas, H. Beerbohm Tree, Miss Beatrice Wilson.
Hon. Secretary: A. E. Drinkwater.
The object of ACTORS' DAY is MUTUAL HELP in case of need. No one will be eligible to benefit who is not on the REGISTER as a Contributor.
By the unanimous resolution of the Advisory Board, confirmed at the last Annual General Meeting, ACTORS' DAY in 1908, and FUTURE YEARS, will be ABSOLUTELY CONFINED TO THIS OBJECT, and the FUND will be ADMINISTERED EXCLUSIVELY ON THIS CONDITION.
ACTORS' DAY is the THIRD THURSDAY IN OCTOBER in each year.
To be on the REGISTER, it is required:—
That a Manager, Actor, or Actress shall contribute not less than one night's salary.
That an Author shall contribute not less than one night's fees.
On Aug. 1, 1908, the Trustees had £876 11s. 7d. to their credit at Messrs. Coutts and Co.'s Bank.
ONLY THOSE WHO ARE ON THE REGISTER AS CONTRIBUTORS ARE ELIGIBLE TO APPLY FOR BENEFIT.
Any further information may be obtained by applying by letter to the Hon. Secretary, at the Office of the Fund,
DUDLEY HOUSE,
37, Southampton-street, Strand, W.C.
August, 1908.

ACCIDENTS OF ALL KINDS.
SICKNESS, EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY, BURGLARY & FIDELITY GUARANTEE RISKS, Insured against by the RAILWAY PASSENGERS' ASSURANCE CO.
Capital (fully subscribed), £1,000,000.
Claims paid, £5,400,000.
64, CORNHILL, LONDON.
A. VIAN, Secretary.

TEETH!! TEETH!!
A COMPLETE SET ONE POUND.
Single teeth from 2s. 6d. each. Painless Gas Extraction, 3s. 6d. American Crown and Bridge Work at equally reasonable prices. American Bridge Work is very suitable for those on the stage, being fixed in the mouth and made absolutely unmovable
Our Speciality—Dainty Teeth for Actresses.
THE PEOPLE'S TEETH ASSOCIATION,
138, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.
Also at 177 WESTMINSTER BRIDGE-RD., S.E.

TO OUR READERS.
A SINGLE COPY OF "THE ERA."
Post-free to any Address in the United Kingdom for SIX STAMPS.
Telegraphic Address, "The Era," London."
Address, The Publisher,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1908.

NOVELS OF THE STAGE.

The Press has been pretty fertile of late in novels dealing with stage life—more fertile, indeed, than in the last generation. The novelists of that epoch usually elected to take a humorous view of the stage; though in Dickens's case this smiling contempt may be attributed to a sneaking kindness for the actor's career. Dickens, early in life, wanted to go on the stage, and solicited an engagement at Covent Garden Theatre, and for three years the future novelist went to a theatre every night to study acting, and practised in his own room or in the fields for five or six hours a day. There may have been a little of the "sour grapes" feeling in Dickens's trick of poking fun at the profession. The last epoch, however, produced a novel which treated the actor's career seriously. Pierce Egan's "Life of an Actor," published in 1834, is the epitome of a histrionic career of the period. The curious engraved and coloured frontispiece depicts a hill which is being stormed by parties of actors eager to mount the ladder of fame at the top. At the foot are the wastrels and unfortunates of the profession; higher up is a dark arch leading to Poverty; Content and Mediocrity are on the second story; and, at the summit of the picture, the "Actor's Climax" is shown—"Royalty witnessing the efforts of Genius." Two Beefeaters stand outside the Royal box, and Royalty glumly watches the efforts of a pair of armoured warriors who are engaged in deadly combat. Egan began with the aspirations of his hero, "Proteus," from a compositors' room to the stage, showed him "purchasing a private night at the Haymarket Theatre," and taking a benefit; going with Mr. Plausible Screw's company in the country; playing second to a London star at a fashionable watering-place; and finally, after "ups and downs" in the provinces, becoming a first-rate actor in London, and manager of one of the "Great Houses." Proteus is finally elected "Treasurer of the Theatrical Fund," and performs by command of His Majesty. The force of success in those days could no further go.

The merit of Pierce Egan's book was that it dealt with the career of an actor as the main point, disregarding minor details. Proteus does, indeed, at one point of his career, fall beneath the spell of an unprincipled enchantress, and runs into debt; but the incident is sketched in the background, not dwelt upon and elaborated. We have had a good many novels of the stage of late years, and the picture drawn by their authors collectively is a very painful and despairing one. Of course, it is merely a question of the point of view; and the talent displayed in developing the pessimistic thesis is admirable. Most of these books are written by ladies, who apparently have "gone through the mill" so thoroughly as to be completely disgusted with their experience. Mournful reflections on the base and sordid nature of the stage as a profession are enlivened by Chaucerian descriptions, not always of the most delicate nature. One-sided as they are, these novels do a great deal of good in one way in discouraging young ladies from "adopting the stage as a profession." No young woman of the upper middle-class is likely to take too rosy a view of the life after reading a modern novel of the stage.

What strikes one about these books is that they are mostly written for the point of view of the hopeless failure, and not from that of the ambitious artist. The personages seem to be in earnest about their love affairs, their combats with landladies, about everything, in short, except their business. Throughout the whole of the career of Pierce Egan's Mr. Proteus, the hero is a hero; that is to say, an unusual individual with a high aim who pursues it to the end. Of course, the middle-class outsider can have little sympathy with the actor and actress's view of life. The ordinary reader is best pleased to read of the distresses and humiliations of the stage. It raises him in his own estimation, and consoles him for the occasional "stodginess" of his own existence. There is only one instance in modern fiction of the writer taking the poetic and not the sordid view of the stage; and that is Mr. Davidson's remarkable poem "The Theatrocrat." It is an extraordinary mixture of free-thought philosophy, wild and daring imagination, and acute observation and understanding of the actor's career. It is a book that is neither widely read nor well known; but it is will repay perusal by any actor or actress of ambition and intelligence. It deals with the romance of great theatrical achievement. In some of its details it is absurd; but there is a force and conviction about its demonstrations which extorts respect. A great London actor-manager sees bankruptcy staring him in the face. All depends on his next grand production, which happens—rather strangely—to be Troilus and Cressida. It is difficult to imagine any manager redeeming his fortunes by a production of this unpopular play; but Mr. Davidson probably wished to select one of Shakespeare's dramas of which anything could be affirmed or denied. The "Theatrocrat," Sir Tristram Sumner, and his wife—who is also his leading lady—have resolved to commit suicide rather than face bankrupcty; and they keep poison for the purpose. Then the "Theatrocrat's" brother-in-law, an unbelieving Bishop, writes an atheistical play, and gets Sir Tristram to produce it. The indignant audience storm the stage, smash up the scenery, and kill the Bishop in the midst of his speech in response to calls for the author. Finally, a disappointed actor, a defeated rival of Sir Tristram's, who has taken to drink, stabs him dead. "The Theatrocrat" is crazy in conception, but remarkably shrewd in parts; and it does at least admit the possibility of "playing the great game" in matters theatrical, and raises the reader above the dull and somewhat dirty level of frowsy provincial lodgings and unhealthy dressing-rooms. Of course, however, one side of the picture is not complete without the other.

"The most ancient of the country or peasants' dances," says the Musical Home Journal, "was known as Sellinger's (or St. Leger's) Round. Queen Elizabeth was much enamoured of this dance, and was accustomed to play the melody on the virginal, a kind of primitive piano, which emitted a sound akin to the modern mandoline. Popular, too, was the Morris Dance, so great a feature of May Day festivities in bygone times. It seems to have travelled hither from Spain, its resemblance to the spirited Spanish fandango being striking, and the name, no doubt, is derived from Morisco, a Moor. The Gaillard was another lively and intricate movement in three-four time, and has been described by a contemporary author, of a Puritanical turn of mind, as 'an invention of the devil' and other uncomplimentary names."

One of the most interesting exhibitions held at the Crystal Palace during the year is the annual show of the Surrey Bee-keepers' Association. This will take place on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday next (Sept. 3, 4, and 5).

Mme. Bassano, the famous oratorio singer, who frequently sang before the late Queen Victoria at Windsor and Buckingham Palace, has just died at her residence in Upper Tooting.

MASONS AT WORK.

The Chelsea Lodge of Freemasons, No. 3098, held their regular meeting on Friday last at the Town Hall, Chelsea, when, although there was a good muster of the lay brethren, the regular officers, with the exception of the W.M. Mr. H. Coutts, J.W. Mr. H. Bawn, and J.D. Mr. G. H. Dyball, were conspicuous by their absence, in each case fulfilling engagements at too great a distance from London to enable them to return in time for their professional duties. The lodge was formed as follows:—Messrs. H. Coutts W.M., D. M. Trytel acting S.W., H. Bawn, J.W., G. H. Dyball S.D., Valazzi J.D., Douglas White I.G., Leo Tell organist, Wolfe S. Lyon treasurer, C. J. Doughty secretary, and J. Worth, A.G.P., I.P.M. After the lodge was opened a ballot was taken for Messrs. Harry Webber, Leon Zeitlin, Ernie Warsaw, and Sydney Chaplin, which proved unanimous. The W.M. completed the ceremony with Messrs. Joe Robins, Henry Crocker, and Ernie Foster, and then vacated the chair in favour of Mr. W. S. Lyon, who initiated Messrs. Webber, Zeitlin, Warsaw, and Chaplin into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry, at the close of which Mr. J. Worth delivered the charge to those gentlemen in a most impressive manner. The W.M. then resumed the chair and advanced Messrs. Bowker Andrews and Paul Murray, and also, at the request of the W.M. of the Liverpool Dramatic Lodge, 1609, Mr. W. Agnew, and at the request of the W.M. of the Royal Jubilee Lodge, No. 72, Mr. Thomas D. Turnbull. The members present included Messrs. H. E. Nicklin, J. H. McNaughton, Dan Lipton, J. Grant, Douglas White, Paul Murray, Bowker Andrews, Ernie Foster, Valazzi, Ted E. Box, Fred Keeton, Frank Hardy, Spot, Geo. Grahame, Albert Christian, Clive Watts, Albert Felino, Geo. Gilbey, R. E. Wilding, Monte Bayly, and W. Gray Moseley.

As usual with this lodge, there was a considerable number of visitors, including Messrs. Alex. Warsaw, St. Elith, 1488; F. O. Bond, 1609; W. L. Murray, Ancient Dundee, 49; D. M. Trytel, Prince Frederick William, 763; W. Agnew, Dramatic, 609; H. J. Swan, Gatwick, 2502; Chas. Cohan, Star, Glasgow, 219; W. R. Cooper, Royal Jubilee, 72; T. D. Turnbull, Royal Jubilee, 72; J. Worth, A.G.P.; H. Acschlimann Fallet, Grand Lodge, Switzerland.

The members and visitors adjourned, as usual, to the Six Bells Hotel for refreshments, when, in response to the toast of "The Visitors," Mr. Worth expressed the great pleasure it always gave him to attend the Chelsea Lodge, and the additional pleasure, if possible, that he had that day derived from being permitted to participate in the active duties of the lodge. Mr. D. M. Trytel stated that it also afforded him great pleasure to be permitted to occupy an office in the lodge, and it was only in accordance with the teaching that he had received from their esteemed brother J. W. Mathews, the first Master of the Chelsea Lodge, in his capacity as preceptor to the Genesis Club of Instruction, that, when called upon to be of assistance, he readily complied. Mr. H. Acshlimann Fallet, through Mr. Felino, who acted as interpreter, said that although he could not, unfortunately, understand the words that had been used, still he had been deeply impressed with the manner in which the ceremonies had been performed and by the reception which the members had given him, which he took as a very great compliment to the Grand Lodge of Switzerland, of which he had the honour to be a member.

BATTERSEA EMPIRE.

Bouncing at Battersea is the current craze in South London, and it is being heartily enjoyed at the local Empire, which now forms part of the Macnaghten circuit. The pastime is provided by the Bouncing Dillons, who head the programme at the Empire with astounding feats on a spring board, by the aid of which the chief performer executes a number of tricks, including a difficult double somersault, while his lady partner varies the performance with some gymnastic evolutions on the trapeze. A competition is carried out in connection with the entertainment, cash prizes being offered by the management to the extent of 30s. The task set the competitors seemed simple enough, and consisted of jumping up and dropping in a sitting posture, and then leaping to the feet without holding. Lads of Battersea in all sorts and sizes have essayed the feat, and have cut the most ridiculous capers on the unstable surface to the untold delight of the audience. The final was reached on Thursday, when the excitement was redoubled, the following evening being reserved for lady competitors, to whom the same amount of prize money was offered.

The Hot Member serves for the introduction of a comedy boxing act, in which Mr. Billy Ross, the retired 9st champion of England, figures. He gives evidence of the possession of genuine comedy talent as an old Irishman who engages in a fistic encounter with his trainer, but afterwards he changes into approved pugilistic costume, and goes through a smart exhibition spar with Albert Ross. A comely maiden, who does a neat dance, acts as M.C. during the fight, and mounts guard over a number of silver cups, presumably the result of many a hard-won effort on the part of Mr. Ross, who is loudly cheered. A Hebrew comedian of a distinctly comic cast is found in Mr. George Porter, whose Yiddisher "wheezes" are the cause of loud and genuine laughter. Unbounded mirth is also aroused by Mr. Harry Tomps, a raconteur of much volubility. His patter is often fresh and amusing, if at times highly spiced.

Well-tried favourites are forthcoming in the Sisters Jonghmanns, the trio of ladies who were among the first to popularise concerted singing on the variety stage. Their rendering of "Honey Boy" is very exhilarating, but still more popular is the trio "A heart full of love," with which they bring the whole audience figuratively to their feet. Mr. Lew Towers affects a suit of brown of the most up-to-date cut in which to sing "Boys Without Girls." The song boasts a catchy chorus, which the comedian managed to impart so thoroughly to the house that they re-echoed it with pleasing unanimity. Miss Josephine Crook has a similar agreeable experience in her illustrated ballads, which are thoroughly enjoyed; the Gelders indulge in the "black art," and succeed completely in mystifying the audience; and contributions to the liberal programme are also made by Hilda Mascott, serio and dancer; Ivy Dene, comedienne; Sid Penna, musical eccentric; and Raymond's Bio-Tableaux. Mr. James McCarthy, the resident manager, is adding to his popularity by the constant exercise of courtesy and tact.

On Saturday Earl's Court was visited by a large number of members of the Territorial Army, who were invited to the Hungarian Exhibition by the directors of London Exhibitions (Limited), to celebrate the first year of the force's existence. Units comprising nearly 30,000 men in London, Middlesex, Surrey, Essex, and Kent accepted the invitation, and 60,000 tickets were issued, each member of the force having the privilege of taking a lady.

The musical programme had a strong military and patriotic flavour, while the dances held in the summer ballroom included the "Territorial Two-Step" and other equally appropriate items. Mr. R. H. Brade, C.B., Assistant-Secretary to the War Office, attended to represent Mr. Haldane, who wrote regretting his inability to attend. Among other visitors were Colonel Oughterson, secretary of the London County Territorial Association, and Sir Hugh Gilzean Reid.

THE TOTTENHAM PALACE.

This beautiful new home of variety is situated in the High-road, Tottenham, about midway between Bruce Grove and High Cross. Its position is well chosen, as in addition to drawing its audiences from the rapidly increasing population of the surrounding district, it is within easy reach of Bruce Grove and Seven Sisters Stations on the Great Eastern, and St. Ann's-road and South Tottenham Stations on the Midland. Two excellent services of the Middlesex Council electric trams also pass the door, running from Finsbury Park and Stamford Hill to Edmonton and Waltham Cross. A special stopping-place for these cars has been arranged, and passengers will be set down and picked up immediately outside the theatre.

The building itself is of imposing proportions. The façade is principally of Bath stone with red brick relief, in the style of the Georgian Renaissance. On either side are two projecting bays, containing the staircases, the central portion of the front between being recessed at the first-floor level, and architecturally treated with Ionic columns and crowned with a bold pediment and balustrade. The lower part of the building is surrounded by an ornamental projecting glass shelter for the comfort of audiences entering and leaving on wet nights.

The main entrances to the house are in the High-road. The entrance hall is reached through a vestibule with domed ceiling, decorated in the French Renaissance style, in cream and gold, with Norwegian green marble pilasters, and a high panelled dado of polished oak. The floor is of white and inlaid green mother-of-pearl marble mosaic. On either side are the box-office and pay-box for stalls, balcony, and boxes, which are approached by wide staircases with dark red marble mosaic steps, the lower part of the walls being cream panels on a pink ground, with a new material closely resembling marble, the resulting effect being extremely rich. On the first floor is a large waiting-room, nicely decorated in cream and green, for the use of the early visitors. Adjoining this are the offices of the management.

Tottenham's Palace is a two-tier house with the sight-lines as near perfection as possible. It is 60ft. between the walls and nearly 50ft. from floor to ceiling. The seatings, floors, and roof are of fireproof construction throughout. It has been decorated in strict accord with architectural precepts, the details being of excellent Renaissance character. The ceiling, almost flat, is enriched with two large painted panels. The cove surmounting the proscenium is filled in with a painted panel en suite with those of the ceiling. Over the proscenium is a large shield displaying the Middlesex county arms, and on either side in an alcove is a finely modelled emblematical group carrying flambeaux. These groups were specially modelled by a prominent exhibitor at this year's Royal Academy. The sides of the auditorium and box fronts are divided into three bays with Ionic columns and interposed arches, the whole feature terminating in a large cove and elliptical arch.

The predominating colour scheme is cream and gold, enriched with shades of salmon pink and turquoise blue, with backgrounds of carmine to afford relief. The draperies of the boxes, of which there are four, and the tableau curtains are of dark crimson velvet, in strong contrast to the general colour scheme. The upper parts of the walls are covered with paper of a somewhat lighter and warmer shade, the lower parts being lined with "Marbella" dadoes of light red marble with cream panels. The seating and carpets are of dark crimson tones, the whole combining to give the interior an effect which is entirely comfortable and pleasing.

The ground floor, divided into stalls and pit, will accommodate nearly 1,000 persons, the whole of the pit being furnished with tip-up armchairs. There are five independent exits to this floor, there being also a refreshment saloon and the usual cloak-room provided.

The balcony will seat almost 500, and the gallery a good many more. The balcony is carpeted with the finest Wilton pile of dark red colours similar to the stalls. There are tip-up seats throughout, and at the back is an excellent saloon for light refreshments. The Biograph chamber on this tier has been specially constructed to safeguard the audience from any risk. There are three entirely separate exits from this part of the house. The gallery is similarly provided with three exits, each of them not less than 5ft. at any part. The seats to the gallery are upholstered, and the view of the stage perfect (matinée hats barred).

In addition to adopting fire-resisting construction wherever possible, two hydrants are fitted on each floor, each connected to two separate high-pressure mains of the Metropolitan Water Board. In the event of these failing, a large tank, some 10ft. by 20ft. and holding 3,000 gallons, has been erected on the roof. Pressure from the failing mains automatically supplies the hydrants from this source. The building is also in direct communication by private wire with the local Fire Brigade station.

The stage is capable of being completely shut off from the auditorium by a smoke and fire proof screen of the most approved type. The supply of electricity is on somewhat novel lines. There is a completely equipped sub-station within the building, where the pressure is reduced from 3,000 volts to a safe working voltage. Part of the current is used to drive a motor, which in turn works a dynamo, and the resulting current of low voltage is used for lighting purposes.

The building is thoroughly warmed by radiators heated on the low-pressure hot-water system. These are so arranged as to work in conjunction with the ventilation system, which is worked by electric fans. These are installed in different parts of the building, and draw off the vitiated air as required.

The stage, which is over 30ft. deep, 60ft. wide, and nearly 60ft. high to the grille, is fitted with everything that experience can suggest. It is entirely electrically-lighted, no gas being allowed. The numerous dressing-rooms are of ample size, and fitted with every convenience for the artists.

The staff of the Nottingham Empire held their annual outing on Sunday, and the excursion proved to be one of the best and happiest on record. The party left by the Midland Railway at 9.15 a.m., travelling in special Pullman cars, and arrived at Matlock about eleven o'clock. The guests included, among others, Mr. Howard Finney, of the Royal, Dr. Edwards, of the Nottingham Hospital (a great and valued professional friend), and Mr. Edgar O. Waller, of the King's. A pleasant walk brought the party to Matlock Bath, where, at the Temple Hotel, at 12.30, an excellent dinner was served and thoroughly enjoyed. At 1.45 a start was made in char-à-bancs for Bakewell.

A return was made to the Temple Hotel at 5.30, when an excellent tea was done justice to. At the finish of tea Mr. A. C. Duncan, the manager, expressed the entire staff's thanks to Mr. W. W. Austin, the assistant-manager, and Mr. J. Winfield, the advertising manager, for the work which had been so excellently carried out. The return train left at 7.45, and Nottingham was reached shortly before 10 p.m.

Mr. Charles B. Cochran, manager of the Gem, Marine Parade, Great Yarmouth, and his solicitor, Mr. J. A. H. Ferrier, attended on Tuesday to go through certain formalities in connection with the appeal against the recent conviction by the magistrates. The Chairman: Is there any suggestion of a compromise?—The Magistrates' Clerk: No, sir. Mr. Cochran was then formally bound over in the sum of £25, and gave security as to costs. The appeal will be heard at the next quarter sessions.

METROPOLITAN REOPENING.

Resplendent in its redecoration, the new Metropolitan presented a brilliant appearance on Monday evening, when it reopened after a closure of four months, during which the builders have been at work. An exhaustive description of the reconstruction and alterations was given in our last issue, and the eulogy of the new hall then expressed was heartily endorsed on Monday by the public, who were loud in admiration of the beauties of the interior. The embellishments do not stop at the auditorium, for the stage has been provided with entirely new scenery, a palatial garden set being conspicuous among a number of elegant cloths.

Mr. Henri Gros, who has for upwards of sixteen years directed the fortunes of the Metropolitan, has made a concession to the prevailing two-houses-a-night system, and it was under those conditions that the reopening was made on Monday. The popular parts of the house overflowed at the first entertainment, but the second audience must have overwhelmed every part of the house, for the queue extended far along the Edgware-road, seriously threatening the traffic in that spacious thoroughfare, while the opposite pavement was thronged with a huge crowd, who if they could not gain admittance were determined to support the enterprise by cheering outside.

The opening programme includes an elaborate production, taxing all the resources of the stage, in that of The Bailiff, played by Mr. Fred Karno's company with all their customary smartness. Mr. Fred Kitchen as the man-in-possession was in his drollest form, and uproarious laughter followed the progress of the sketch. Cordial welcome was given to Miss Winifred Hare, an artist high in favour in Marylebone. Clothed in a captivating costume, she told in a few musical phrases how much better than being a millionaire it was to have a loving wife, a sentiment that was heartily echoed by the audience. In her newest number, "All sorts of songs," Miss Hare's fresh and tuneful voice found agreeable exercise, the "shake" in a cadenza at the conclusion being exquisite. Mr. Cyrus Dare's child stories, realistically intoned, aroused merriment, which was greatly increased by his imitation of a couple of street-singers—less in the nature of a travesty than of a faithful copy of the originals. Though described as a comedienne, Miss Eleanor Lorraine is really a ballad vocalist of distinct merit. She has a cultured and melodious mezzo-soprano voice, and her rendering of "For All Eternity" was heartily cheered. A still more popular item was forthcoming in "Will you love me in December as you do in May?" which was rendered with a feeling that communicated itself to all parts of the house, who joined heartily in the refrain. Mr. Jack Neil is among the latest additions to the "Scotch brigade," and his eccentricities as a comedian and patterer won many laughs. A dainty and youthful singer is Miss Leonie Dixon, who added some skilful step-dancing to her songs, winning great favour. The Dardinis furnish an entertaining comedy-juggling act, the neat balancing feats of the chief performer and the funny antics of his nigger assistant being effective in an equal degree. The art of the sifleur is expertly practised by Mr. Arthur Slater, whose imitations of birds were greatly admired; Faning and Faning display varied eccentricity in "A little bit of everything"; and Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope portrays a series of comic episodes.

Mr. Henri Gros was early in attendance to welcome his guests on Monday, aided by Mr. Jack Edgar, who has for such a long period acted as manager, and by Mr. W. Leslie Gooch, who has been appointed acting-manager. Mr. H. V. Garrick, the Press representative to the syndicate halls, was also in attendance. Mr. D. M. Trytel retains his position at the head of the orchestra, which both began and ended the programme with special selections.

HACKNEY EMPIRE.

The current week's programme is full of good things, and public support is accordingly well up to the usual standard. Walter Passmore and company top the bill in the musical playlet entitled The Constable and the Pictures, which is meeting with great success. The plot is simple and quaint, and the music, by Miss Marjorie Slaughter, dainty and cleverly scored. Miss May Fraser as the Lady Lavinia Mostyn possesses both a very attractive stage presence and a good voice, and both these factors proved of great service in her altogether attractive performance. Mr. Charles Childerstone as Sir Roland Stone looked well and sang and acted excellently; Mr. Walter Passmore as the constable had of course much of the burden on his shoulders, and made light of the responsibility, his antics keeping the house in a roar. Needless to say, the reception at the end was very enthusiastic. Mr. Austin Boyd and Miss Trixie Gilfain submitted their well-known act, the gentleman's singing and the lady's manipulation of the bagpipes evoking hearty applause. La Danseuse, a youthful artist, in a scena entitled Santa Claus, gave an exhibition of her skill, her dances comprising a hornpipe, Scottish, and a sand dance, all of them gaining much applause. Alf Gibson, in a couple of songs, "Like a dream it passed away" and "Some of the old brigade," scored a hit, the effect of the former being heightened by an amusing piece of business with a pair of dummy arms. Eddie Hayes and Mona Wynne, two artists from America who are making their first appearance on an English music-hall stage this week, give quite a remarkable turn. Their business, which comprises singing and dancing, is smart, more particularly the latter, which is of the "hurricane" order, and must rank as one of the best exhibitions ever seen at this hall. The audience speedily recognises the sterling merit of their performance, and they gained a big reception.

Theo Bouwmeester, the well-known protean actor, and company, are presenting Who is Guilty? a clever and effective little piece, written round a coroner's inquest. The tragic story proved interesting by reason of the great skill with which Mr. Bouwmeester impersonated the seven witnesses. He was capitally supported by Mr. J. Montague as the Coroner, and much applause greeted him at the fall of the curtain. The Chronomegaphone is here again, this time depicting George Robey and Victoria Monks in popular numbers, and it still remains a clever and entertaining item in the programme. Frank Couch, patter comedian, does very well; and the Bioscope is good. George Formby, comedian, is at the bottom of the bill, and has established himself a great favourite. He sang three songs, all of them quaint, and the audience were induced to let him depart with difficulty. Mr. Greco's capital orchestra gave a selection from Carmen as the overture, which was very warmly applauded. Mr. Percival, the acting-manager, is most attentive and courteous in the front of the house.

The staff of the Empire, Leicester—which has been reopened with so much success by the New Bioscope Trading Company of London, after being closed for so many years—had their first outing on Sunday, the rendezvous selected being Skegness, so easy of access from Leicester. The party, to the number of twenty, left Leicester at 8.25, arriving at their destination at eleven o'clock. The weather in the morning was not all that could be desired, but cleared up after dinner, and thus enabled the party to spend the rest of the day in yachting, &c. The party, who were accompanied by Mr. C. A. Hurley, the esteemed manager, and Mrs. Hurley, reached Leicester in safety at nine o'clock.

VARIETY GOSSIP.

THE new Tottenham Palace, the latest addition to that combination which is still known as the "Payne" circuit, will be opened on Monday next. Mr. Mayne, formerly connected with the Stoll suburban circuit as the resident-manager of the Stratford Empire, is to be the manager.

THE house is owned by the United Varieties Syndicate, Ltd., which also control the East Ham Palace, which since its opening last year has proved a great success. The latter hall was considered to be the last word in design and fitting, but the new house, with the various improvements that have been introduced, will compare favourably with it. The Palace entertainment will consist of two performances nightly, at 6.40 and 9.0. Popular prices will prevail. There will be a threepenny gallery, a sixpenny pit, a shilling balcony, and 1s. 6d. or 2s. will secure a luxurious stall.

A TELEGRAM from New York announces the death of Mr. Tony Pastor, the veteran vaudeville manager, whose serious illness was reported a few days ago. A native of New York, he opened the first music-hall there nearly fifty years ago. He first appeared on the stage with a minstrel troupe when he was only nine years old, and afterwards frequently acted as clown with various circus companies.

IN 1861 he commenced as a comic singer, and in 1865 started his most successful venture as a music-hall manager. After ten years in the Bowery district, he opened the Metropolitan Theatre, and there he remained until 1881. It was at this house that Lilian Russell, Nat Goodwin, Francis Wilson, May Irwin, and others made their first successes. From the Metropolitan he migrated to Tony Pastor's Theatre in Fourteenth-street, over the fortunes of which he presided at the time of his death. He was the pioneer of English variety artists in America, and introduced Jenny Hill to the New York public. His death will be sincerely regretted by many proprietors and artists on this side, especially by his old chum Pony Moore.

MLLE. ADELINA GENÉE'S present engagement at the Empire terminates in another fortnight. One learns with pleasure, however, that before leaving for America she is to be seen in a part that is, practically speaking, a new one. It was on the afternoon of March 26 last year that Mlle. Genée appeared at the Playhouse at a matinée, given by the Duchess of Somerset, in a pantomime play named The Dryad, by Miss Dora Bright (Mrs. Knatchbull), and the promise to revive the piece at the earliest possible moment is to be fulfilled on Monday, Sept. 8.

"THE DRYAD" is a dance play, in two tableaux. The story sets forth the love disappointment of a wood nymph. A certain Dryad who queens it beneath the slumbering moon, has subdued all mortals to her loveliness and the magic of her dancing, thus arousing the envy of the implacable Aphrodite, who causes her to be imprisoned in an oak tree, only granting her freedom to come forth once in every ten years, between sunset and sunrise, until she should find a mortal faithful to her during the allotted term. A shepherd passing through the wood on the night of her freedom sees her dancing beneath the moon, falls in love, and vows eternal constancy.

WHEN the dawn breaks she bids him farewell, and shuts herself from the world and love in the tree. After ten years she again comes forth to see the shepherd wandering with another maid in the wood. He has forgotten a passing fantasy, and the wood nymph's charms have faded from his memory. The Dryad, apart from its story, is quite a pastoral symphony in its way. Mr. Gordon Cleather will again play the shepherd and sing a pretty melody.

MME. LYDIA KYAKHT, the Russian dancer, who made a very successful first London appearance at the Empire on Monday, is to succeed Mlle. Genée. The new dancer possesses not only a complete knowledge of technique, but a real sense of the beauty of motion, and she should prove a distinct acquisition to the Empire.

MR. ALFRED BUTT has determined on the revival of the "Danse des Jambes en l'Air," which was first produced in this country at the Palace in 1905, and caused an immediate sensation. The dance is in two sections, and terminates with the octet of Palace Girls lying prone on the stage and keeping time with the orchestra with their feet in the air. New Parisian dresses and bright songs will also be distinctive features of this sparkling item.

MISS DAISY WOOD, another of the celebrated Lloyd family, sails for America with her husband, Mr. Donald Munro, on Sept. 12. Her sister, Miss Alice Lloyd, is also sailing shortly to appear in the musical comedy The Bonnie Belles of Scotland.

MISS AGNES MOLTENO, the fascinating operatic artist, scored a brilliant success on her first return to the York Empire last week. She is booking up well for 1909, having settled the Barrasford and Pepi tours and others. She comes to London for three weeks during September, then goes on tour right to the end of December.

GRIFF, accompanied by his son, left Waterloo at 11.40 yesterday for Southampton, en route for America per s.s. New York, to fulfil thirty-five weeks' engagement on the B. F. Keith circuit. The Terriers, of which society he has been a vice-president, rallied round to give him a good send-off. Their anthem was sung with gusto. There were present Miss Florence Raynor, Messrs. Joe Lawrence, Brothers Obo, J. Rich, G. Nyman, J. Brady, T. C. Callaghan, Horace Wheatley, S. N. Salter, C. May, H. Lester, Joe Burrett, C. Cornish, and H. Cory Woodrow. Mr. G. P. R. Burgess, the Terriers' solicitor, arrived just too late to add his farewell wishes.

MR. G. H. ELLIOTT, the chocolate-coloured coon, who has just finished a most successful London season, has been entertaining the Novocastrians at the Empire, in Newgate-street, where his pretty melodies, so tunefully given, and neat dancing have made him an immense favourite. Mr. Oswald Stoll has secured Mr. Elliott until the end of 1916. He goes at Christmas to Mr. John Hart for the fifth year.

MISS MINNIE PALMER, who sailed on Tuesday for the United States, where she will appear in her musical sketch by George Unwin, entitled Little Miss Mischief, which she produced so successfully here, has engaged Mr. Legal Robinson to support her and to manage for her on the other side. Mr. Robinson will sail from England on Sept. 12 by the s.s. Philadelphia.

THE case in which Mr. Harry Relph (Little Tich) asked for an injunction restraining the London Animated Picture Company from "billing" him in such a manner as to make it appear he was appearing personally at their entertainments at certain seaside resorts, again came before Mr. Justice Eve in the Vacation Court on Thursday. Mr. J. F. Carr, for plaintiff, said the posters were a fraud on the public, and reacted on the popularity and reputation of the plaintiff, by causing a feeling of resentment to grow in the minds of those who had gone to the entertainments. His Lordship ordered Little Tich to have his costs up to the date of his first application.

THE new Hippodrome, Devonport has been erected at a cost of £20,000, and will, it is hoped, be opened on Sept. 14. It is to be inspected on the 10th, and a mural tablet will be unveiled on the 12th, and the house will start on its public career two days later. The building, a two-tier house, is situated in the centre of the town, has a façade built of red brick, with terra-cotta facing, and is supplied with an abundance of exits. The handsome interior will accommodate 1,594 persons.

THE house has been designed by Mr. Bertie Crewe, who planned the new Lyceum, London, and Mr. Alfred Moul, chairman of the Alhambra, is the chairman of the proprietary, the Devonport Hippodrome, Ltd. Mr. J. Field, of the New Palace Theatre, Plymouth, will be the responsible manager and licensee, with Mr. B. Taylor as local manager.

THE Theatre Royal, Peterborough, will open as a variety house on Aug. 31, and the bookings have been placed in the hands of that enterprising variety agent, Dan Noble.

TO Mr. Lennox Barry, general-manager of the Hippodrome, Coventry, will be accorded a complimentary matinée at that hall to-day. It will be under the patronage of the Mayor of Coventry. Several of the artists from Birmingham, Walsall, Leicester, and Wolverhampton halls will contribute.

MR. GEORGE OWEN, late stage-manager at the Palace Theatre, Tottenham, also with John Lawson of Humanity fame, has been appointed stage-manager at the Royal Theatre of Varieties, Oldham. He commenced his new duties with the re-opening of the theatre after the vacation, in succession to Mr. Harry T. Crane, who has resigned.

AFTER being closed for seven weeks for renovation the Hippodrome, Oldham, opened on Monday, and the directorate are to be complimented on the results of their labours. The circle has been re-seated and upholstered in red leather, and electric light has been installed. New scenery has been painted by Mr. H. O. Richardson, and Mr. J. Taylor, the able stage-manager, is to be congratulated.

THE Peterborough Hippodrome is to be offered at auction at the Argyll Hotel, Peterborough, on Sept. 9, by Messrs. Wilder and Wilder, of High Holborn, W.C. The hall seats 809 persons, and has a ground rent of £100 per annum, the lease only having 8½ years to run. The company owning it has gone into voluntary liquidation.

MR. A. V. CARNELL, manager of the Hippodrome, St. Helens, has been appointed to the management of the new Hippodrome, Nottingham, due to the Barrasford enterprise, which was to have been opened on Sept. 14. The date will probably be in October.

THE freehold premises comprising 5,025 square yards, with a frontage of 206 feet, known as the Winter Gardens, Morecambe, were offered for sale on Tuesday, Mr. G. H. Petty being the auctioneer. It was stated that the building had cost £97,000, and had been considered good as security for a debenture issue of £55,000. The gross receipts from all sources during the past five years were stated to have been £44,000. There was no offer forthcoming, and the property was withdrawn. The sale was under an order of the Court of Chancery.

MR. WALTER MOULD, the late manager of the Hippodrome, Accrington, which was recently destroyed by fire, and who for the last few weeks has been running the Town Hall as a temporary variety house until the construction of a large new stone edifice on the site of the old one, has decided to abandon the idea, and has accepted the offer of Mr. Wilmott as resident-manager at the Hippodrome, St. Helens, and Mr. Vic Carnell is promoted to the position of manager to the Empire, Nottingham. We understand that the arrangements are only temporary, and that Mr. Mould will return to Accrington when the building now in course of erection is ready for opening.

THE first annual meeting of the Sunderland Empire Palace, Limited, was held at the theatre, Sunderland, on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Richard Thornton, managing-director, who presided, in moving the adoption of the directors' report and annual accounts, congratulated the shareholders on the successful year's working. Notwithstanding bad trade in Sunderland, the company had been able to pay a dividend of 5 per cent., to write off £979 13s. 1d. for depreciation, and £500 for preliminary expenses, carrying forward a respectable balance to next year's accounts. Referring to the future, the chairman intimated that he was most sanguine, as the attractions engaged were of an exceptional character. The report was seconded by Mr. Frank Allen and carried unanimously. The retiring directors, Messrs. F. Allen, T. Gillespie, and S. Stone, were re-elected.

AFTER the summer vacation the Palace, Cork, reopens on Monday next. There is an excellent programme provided. The theatre internally and externally has undergone a complete redecoration, and presents a very attractive appearance. The management seems to leave nothing undone for the comfort and amusement of their patrons, and spare no expense in providing high-class entertainment at popular prices. The manager, Mr. Thomas F. O'Brien, who is back from a holiday in London and the Continent, has negotiated some good things, and bookings for the coming season are the best in the history of the establishment. A record season is expected.

FRESH from his triumphs at the Empire, Vasco, the mad musician, will open on Monday at the Palace Theatre, Cork. Though billed as a "human brainstorm in harmony," he will ask for no solution of physiological or psychological problems, but just minister to the pleasure of his Irish admirers. Vasco's entertainment is decidedly "phoney," for he plays the doublephone, the saxophone, and the sopranophone. Mr. Thomas F. O'Brien in securing him has retained a trump card for the opening night of the season.

MR. HERBERT TAYLOR is to be the manager of the New Hippodrome, Devonport. Mr. Taylor some years ago was identified with Mr. Chas. F. Williams in the management of the Theatre Royal, Plymouth, but for the last five years has been manager of the Palace Theatre, Derby, for Mr. T. Allan Edwards. He has had a wide experience in music-hall management, and a few weeks since was given a benefit performance at the Grand Theatre, Derby, one of Mr. Edwards' theatres. When Mr. Taylor was at Plymouth he made a host of friends, and the announcement of his return will be received with much satisfaction.

MR. LEONARD BARRY, who at the end of last year made such a decided success at the Tivoli, having returned from his Continental tour, will open at the same hall on Monday in his unique Anglo-French entertainment, in which he excels as a vocal comedian and entertainer in both languages. He will repeat his English and French dude impersonations in a song entitled "How do, little girlie," in English, and "Bon jour, chichinette," in French. In a new number, "The Hansom Cabby of London," he will contrast that interesting personage with the "Cocher de Paris." He will also give his imitation of that great French comedian Polin in his famous success, "La Petite Tonquinoise."

MR. HARRY RANDALL is engaged by Mr. Robert Arthur to appear at a West End theatre this Christmas.

MR. GEO. SCOTT'S three years' contract as manager of the Alhambra expires at the end of this month. Mr. Scott will probably be secured by an important West-end directorate.

MR. JOHN E. COYLE, whose illness is not so serious as at first supposed, for the next month will be recuperating at Church Hill House, Ventnor.

MESSRS. CHARLES BEECHAM AND WORLAND S. WHEELER, the new agents, are now both installed in their new offices at 12 and 13 Henrietta-street, Covent Garden.

MR. JOHN DONALD, on his return to town, has scored an unmistakable success at the Empress. Although engaged for one week, he was at once retained to continue with Mr. Walter Gibbons.

MR. JACK LOTTO, one of the original Water Rats, has joined with Mr. Charles Pratt, late of the Rodney, Westminster Bridge-road, and the two sports are now tenants of the Rose and Crown, Charing Cross-road, near the premises of the Vaudeville Club.

MR. HARRY PLEON will produce on Monday at the Camberwell Empire a new and original skit, entitled Interviewing Napoleon, with himself as Nap. Walter Macnamara will be the Daily Mail interviewer.

MR. LAUDERDALE MAITLAND, who has recently been playing Prince Olaf in The Prince and the Beggar Maid at the Lyceum, will produce on Monday at the Hammersmith Palace his sketch The Black Devil, translated from the Italian.

MISS GRACE LANGLEY, comedienne, was married to Mr. T. E. Parker at St. Michael's Church, Stockwell, on Sunday. The bride was given away by Mr. Tom Pacey, and her niece, Miss Hilda Pacey, acted as bridesmaid. The happy couple immediately after the ceremony journeyed by motor to Margate, where the honeymoon is being spent.

ENZER, the soldier juggler, sword expert, &c., assisted by Mlle. Clarice, the lady ju-jitsu expert, is making his first visit to London on Monday next at the Empire, Camberwell.

MR. JOHN PERCIVAL HYATT, who will be remembered as the agent for Blondin and Barnum's great show, has retired, and now leads the life of a country gentleman at Bexley Heath. He occasionally runs up to town to shake hands with his old friends. The initials of his two front names suggest that he should be raised to the Bench.

THE new ballet at the Alhambra is due early in October. It will be romantic in character, with a stage setting of the seventeenth century or thereabouts. Mlle. Petersen, the new seventeen-year-old Danish prima ballerina, is to make her London début.

MISS BERTHA STUART, owing to loss of voice, has been compelled to relinquish her present engagement at the Tivoli and Clapham, and will not appear next week. She hopes, however, with a few days' rest at Blackpool, to return on Monday week in the best of health.

OWING to slight heart trouble, which we hope is temporary, Miss Freda Sharlotte has had to cease playing her sketch, Kindred Ties, owing to the sword fight taxing her strength, and she is presenting her comedy sketch, Three in a Pickle, for the remainder of the week at the Euston by kind permission of Mr. Collins and Mr. McEvoy.

MR. CHARLES COLLETTE will repeat his famous impersonation of Micawber in his dramatic sketch of that name at Bourne End to-night on the occasion of a benefit performance for a local charity. The programme will include other interesting items, and will be under the direction of Mr. Frank Jackson.

MR. FRANCIS O'FLYNN, the well known and popular banjoist, is receiving many messages of sympathy in the severe loss he has sustained in the death of his father, Mr. Michael O'Flynn, who for many years loomed large in local affairs as a Councillor and Alderman of Bradford. Mr. O'Flynn will postpone some immediate dates, and will be sure of the consideration of managers in so doing.

MR. JAMES WRIGHT, the theatrical traffic manager of the London and North-Western Railway, points out that the music-hall traffic has grown considerably of late years. In the year 1902, when the music halls began to "boom," they booked over their system 150 first-class and 6,753 third-class music-hall passengers. In 1907 they carried ninety-three first-class and 16,072 third-class passengers for the music halls. These figures refer only to the members of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association, who are entitled to a rebate on the ordinary fare.

MR. GEORGE WOMACK, the popular stage-manager of the Oxford, was married on Wednesday to Miss Kitty Marsh (sister of the Harvey Boys) at St. Wilfred's Catholic Church, Lorrimore-road, Walworth. After the ceremony there was a reception at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Gold, 25, Faunce-street. Misses Marjory Womack and Minnie Glenn were the bridesmaids. Mr. George B. Richter acted as best man, the bride being given away by by Mr. Walter Keen.

AMONG the valuable presents were a beautiful marble clock and side pieces from the staff of the Oxford, a silver tea and coffee service from Mr. G. H. Elliott, silver forks and spoons from Mr. Blyth-Pratt, a case of silver salts from Little Tich, a manicure set and a set of waistcoat buttons from Joe Elvin, and a silver gong from Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Roberts. Mr. and Mrs. Womack left for Bournemouth in the afternoon for the honeymoon.

THE management of the Blackpool Hippodrome deserve the highest praise for their noble efforts in organising an immensely successful concert in aid of the families of the victims of the Abram Colliery disaster on Sunday, whereby a sum of over £55 will be handed over to the Mayor of Wigan for the relief fund. Excellent contributions to a capital programme were given by Madame Hirst, Misses Decima Troughton, B. Kenyon, and Blanche Vale, and Messrs. Dan Gill, Robert Parkinson, R. Lonsdale, J. Berry, Lomax, Percy Hodge, J. H. Greener, Charles Stafford, James Greene, and Master John Purdy. Mr. Harry Bowkett, a typical collier, who is employed at the mine where the catastrophe occurred, proved an interesting contributor to the programme. Mr. Clifford Higgin was an efficient accompanist.

AMONGST the persons present were the Mayor and Mayoress (Ald. and Mrs. Battersby). During the evening the Mayor sympathetically referred to the affliction caused by so terrible a disaster, and expressed his hearty appreciation of the generous support given. Mrs. Pioni, the lessee, who generously undertook to defray expenses, and Mr. Rosebery, the manager, are to be congratulated on a great success.

MR. JOHN LAWSON'S sketches have proved to be a great attraction this week at the Hippodrome, Margate, and excellent impressions were made with Pigs in Clover and The Monkey's Paw. Mr. W. W. Jacobs's story was listened to by especially crowded houses, all booked seats being sold out the day before.

ON his return to town, Mr. Lawson will produce Pigs in Clover, the feature of which will be the big Carnival scene. Mr. Lawson has two other productions in active rehearsal, which he hopes to produce before the end of the year. Both are by well-known authors, and quite away from Mr. Lawson's style.

MRS. JOHN LAWSON is making a second visit to the Palace, Camberwell, this week with The Devil's Sunday. Mrs. Lawson's impersonation of the pleasure-loving wife remains as vivid as ever. There is every possibility of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson appearing together in a new playlet, that is, if Mrs. Lawson's dates can be arranged.

ONE of the most pathetic "turns" ever witnessed on the stage of the London halls was the appearance on Monday of two of the three survivors of the recent colliery disaster at Wigan. For the purpose of raising money for the widows and children of the victims the colliers exhibited themselves at the Middlesex, at the Public Hall (Holloway), and at the Crown (Peckham).

THE two survivors were Wm. Doran and "Dick" Fairhurst. Edward Farrell was the other, but on account of his mental derangement Wm. Towyn, one of the rescue party, was substituted for him. Coatless and hatless, with bare arms and legs, and carrying their lanterns and picks, their faces still showing traces of their bitter experience, the miners bowed to the audience as Towyn, in the homely Lancashire dialect, described the ordeal through which they had passed to reach the survivors. "There were five others," they said, Towyn remarked, "but when we were searching for them a roof, 120 yards long, fell and buried them beneath it, and we had to leave them to their fate. We scoured the ruins, but failed to find another living soul." Bioscope pictures were then shown illustrating scenes at the pit-head, and subsequently two little children whose fathers were killed in the explosion took collection boxes round for the relief fund, which were generously patronised.

MR. GRAYDON, of the Middlesex, and Mr. Griffiths, of the New Bioscope Company, are defraying the travelling and hotel expenses of the miners, and all the money collected will be given wholly to the fund being raised for the widows and children.

THE executive committee of the Mayor of Wigan's relief fund has passed the following resolution: "That this committee strongly disapproves of the miners and children appearing at music-halls, and that the proprietors be respectfully asked not to allow the miners and children to appear again on the stage." The Mayor has wired to the London music-halls the terms of the resolution. The relief fund on Thursday amounted to £6928.

MR. JULIUS HAGEN, who for some years has been a member of the dramatic profession, and, among others, has been under the managements of Miss Julia Neilson and Mr. Fred Terry and Mr. Tom B. Davis, will for the present join the ranks of the variety stage. He purposes producing on Monday, at the Canterbury, a new historical dramatic episode, entitled After Waterloo, written by Mr. Walter Pearce. The action of the playlet takes place on the night of the famous battle. Napoleon will be played by Mr. Hagen himself, and Mr. Douglas Imbert, a member of Mr. Arthur Bourchier's company, will represent a young English cavalry officer.

FOR the twelvemonth to July 26 the Palace directors report that the total receipts amounted to £105,305, and the total expenditure, including interest on mortgage, to £65,100, showing £40,204 profit. Extraordinary expenditure, &c., absorbed £5,077, leaving £35,126, to which is added the balance brought forward (after deducting additional remuneration to directors) of £15,250, giving £50,376 available balance. It is proposed to pay a final dividend of 15 per cent. (making in all 20 per cent. for the year), carrying £32,376 forward.

THE directors have charged against the profits for this year the sum of £5,077 in respect of the items which appeared in the last balance-sheet under the headings of furniture and fittings, production account and stock of plate, glass, &c., also the extraordinary expenditure in connection with the further London County Council requisitions, and the writing down of the company's investment in Consols.

THE Palace gallery is at present closed, in order to carry out the requisitions of the London County Council. The re-seating of this portion of the house, and that of the upper circle, will be carried through at an early date.

AT a little informal dinner given to Mr. Orlando Powell at one of the principal Bedford hotels last week, Mr. John P. Harrington presented his musical partner with a handsome gold watch-chain, to commemorate the first anniversary of their reunion as song-writers. Mr. Powell, after returning thanks in a few humorous phrases, "retaliated" by presenting Mr. Harrington with a magnificent cowhide travelling case, which, as the donor put it, "might come in useful" for the latter's projected journey to sunny Margate, where he purposes spending the next fortnight, accumulating ozone and new ideas. The proceedings terminated with a selection of Harrington and Powell's popular songs, rendered by a local string band of surpassing excellence.

"THOSE CULU'D PUSSONS," a new American act, made a most successful début at the Palace, Hammersmith, on Monday evening. A strong feature of the show is George Pearce, the counter tenor, who made such a hit in Chicago this spring with "Meet me, sweet Kathleen, in honeysuckle time." Tom Birchmore does some fine work as Uncle Zep, the darkey, and Basil Hart's fine bass is heard to great advantage. The music deserves special mention as being the last arranged by the late J. C. Shattuck, one of America's finest arrangers.

MR. HARRY EVANS, who was for many years manager of Gatti's halls of varieties, has met with two serious accidents, one immediately following upon the other, and his health is considerably shattered thereby. An opportunity occurs to him of settling down in Canada, and he appeals through our columns to the older members of the profession who knew him in his managerial days to assist him in defraying the expenses of the voyage out for himself and his wife. Mr. Joe Elvin has kindly promised to subscribe. Mr. Gus Elen has already done so. Mr. Evans's address is 38, Dalwood-street, Camberwell, S.E.

MR. FRED EVANS-TRICK (of Trick and Trixie) writes:—"We arrived at New York after a splendid voyage on Aug. 1. We gave a concert in the first and second-class saloons, and collected for the Seamen's Institute of Southampton and New York 150 dollars. We are busy rehearsing for the Rentz-Santley Co., which starts at Chicago on Aug. 29 with The Married Widow and The Girl with the Golden Vest. Beattie Trixie is playing principal boy in the first-named and second boy in the second piece. We do our musical speciality between the acts."

MR. GEORGE HELM, of Helm and Cozens, and "Mr. C.," raconteur, were initiated into the mysteries of the Terriers' Association on Sunday last. Mr. Albert Voyce, who was in the chair, performed the ceremony.

MR. HERBERT DARNLEY will present at the Hackney Empire on Monday a spectacular Spanish musical comedy entitled The Brigands of Tarragona. The sketch, which will be in four scenes, has been written by the producer, and special music has been composed by J. H. Cleve, Dudley Powell, and Herbert Darnley. Nearly forty performers will take part.

MR. TOM EDWARDS, the huntsman ventriloquist, who is on the same bill, on being asked if the use of his mimetic powers had ever led to comical situations, related the following incident: He was engaged at the Central Club, Corporation-street, and was proceeding to the Snow-hill Station with the intention of leaving his box containing his figure in the cloak-room. Turning into Colmore-row, he passed a group of ladies, and by way of a joke he imitated a baby as he passed them. The joke seemed to "bite," but, thinking no more of it, he made his way to the station and handed in his box at the cloak-room. As he was chatting to a friend on the platform he was somewhat astonished to see two policemen pass him at a double, followed by a crowd.

THEY went into the cloak-room, and to his surprise he saw one of the men in blue tinkering with his box. Alarmed for the safety of his figure, he made his way through the crowd, and shouted, "That's my box; be careful." The old cloak-room attendant having been told that they were in search of a person for child murder, pointing to Edwards, said, "That's him; I could tell him in a thousand." The moment the old gentleman recognised him the policeman darted out of the cloak-room, and took him in charge, demanding that he should open the box. Realising that this might be a chance for an advertisement, Tom "stubbornly" refused to do any such thing, and straightway commenced the baby business for all he was worth. The officers again demanded that he should unfasten the box, but he still declined.

EVENTUALLY, while one of the officers held him the other burst the lid open, only to see the idiotic face of his figure peering at him from the depths. The two policemen were afterwards in for a warm time. This little incident was indirectly the cause of his entering the music-hall profession, for the very next week he received an engagement for the Small Heath Theatre, since when he has had good engagements galore.

IT was in 1871 that the Alhambra, which reaches its jubilee this month, was converted from a music-hall into a theatre having previously undergone several transformations. When erected in 1854 it was called the Panopticon of Science and Art, and was opened as a joint-stock undertaking by certain enthusiasts who were desirous of imparting scientific truths in a popular and amusing form, after the old Polytechnic mode. After about three years it was closed, and in 1858 the ubiquitous E. T. Smith took it on lease, and renaming it the Alhambra from its Moorish style of architecture, opened it as a place of general entertainment for horse-riding, panoramas, athletics, &c. Both the exterior and the interior of the building remained unaltered.

"IN December, 1860," says Mr. Barton Baker in his account of The London Stage, "it underwent another change, a stage was erected, and it was converted into a regular music-hall. After a while it became noted for its ballets; but it did not excite very much attention until the Franco-German War, when the singing of the "Marseillaise" and the "Wacht am Rhein" on the same night roused the national rivalries, not only of the French and Germans, but of their English partisans as well, to fever heat. The Alhambra was crowded nightly by people who came to hiss and applaud, and by those who rushed to enjoy the fun.

IN 1871 Mr. John Baum, the then lessee, obtained a theatrical licence. With a good opera-bouffe company, ballets superbly mounted, and the best ballet dancers in London, which could always be procured by paying larger salaries than the theatres and giving permanent employment, with an excellent band far exceeding in number that of any one of the more legitimate houses, it might have been thought that the Alhambra would certainly pay; so it did for a time, but the habitués missed the lounge, the smoking and drinking, and its previous reputation caused the more prim portion of the public to look askance upon it. Several well-known opera-bouffes were produced here and very elaborately mounted, notably Le Roi Carotte and the Black Crook.

BURNED to the ground at the end of the year 1882, it was rebuilt and reopened as a theatre with a revival of Burnand's burlesque of Black-Eyed Susan, in December, 1883. So direful, however, was the failure of the dramatic entertainment this time that the proprietors closed the house, and in the next year, under the old licence for music and dancing, reopened it as a music-hall, with Mr. Arthur Roberts as the chief star.

AT the Wigan Hippodrome on Wednesday a tremendous audience assembled at a special matinée for the benefit of the widows and orphans of the men who lost their lives at the Maypole Colliery. Messrs. Worswick had given the use not only of the Hippodrome but of the theatre also, and both places were packed, over two hundred pounds being taken at the doors. Neil Kenyon had a good reception, so also had Marie Kendall. Mr. F. V. St. Clair (as expected) made special references in his songs to the willingness of music-hall artists to assist the noble cause of charity at all times, and brought down the house when he alluded to the bravery of Jim Fox and Morris, the miners who descended the pit and succeeded in rescuing two of their comrades from the pump-room.

OTHER contributors to the fine bill were David Poole, ventriloquist, Tom Foy and company, Florrie Cooper, Harry Blake, Bob Hamilton, Rousby and Rene, W. G. Wesley, Sisters Dixon, John Lemm, Wills and Mackenzie, N. C. Bostock, the Huxter Brothers, Josh Dixon, the Four McBreans, Van Bern, Mlle. Sybil, Tennis and Lorne, Fremel and Fremel, and Phil Herman (who ably managed the programme behind). The special band of the A.M.U. rendered noble service, the whole programme going with a swing and without a single hitch. The Mayor of Wigan personally thanked the artists individually for the good services rendered.

THE staff of the Stalybridge Hippodrome were favoured with glorious weather on the occasion of their annual outing to Chester and Wrexham on Sunday. A start was made at 8.25 a.m. per L. and N.W. saloon, and on arrival at Chester the party proceeded to the Bull and Stirrup Hotel, where a first-class breakfast was enjoyed. A drive through lovely country to Wrexham and back was one of the most enjoyable items in a well-arranged programme. Dinner was served at the Bull and Stirrup, the chairman being Mr. W. A. Jackson, manager of the Hippodrome. Leaving Chester at 6.55 p.m., the party arrived back at Stalybridge 9.18 p.m.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

MESSRS. FRANCIS, DAY, AND HUNTER have secured yet another striking success in the song "I'm the idol of the girls," by F. Murray, C. Hilbury, and Kenneth Lyle, with which Miss Vesta Tilley made an instantaneous and emphatic hit on its production at the Palace, Isle of Man, and again at Blackpool this week. So successfully has this clever little lady, whose popularity seems an ever-increasing quantity, been fitted in this number, that it bids fair to achieve a place in her répertoire not even surpassed by "Algy." The famous Charing Cross-road house has already added the song to its Sixpenny Pop series.

NOTHING can, it appears, stem the tide of success of Miss Florrie Forde's Isle of Man anthem, "Oh! Oh! Antonio." Douglas's verdict has been fully endorsed and strengthened by the hold it has already achieved in the other towns on Miss Forde's tour, and in spite of the lady's absence from its first testing ground, "Mona's Isle," there it still remains supreme, and thousands of lungs are still chortling it daily, until the very air seems to hum with it. Mr. Hall Caine has not as yet expressed any opinion on the subject, but if we hear the strains of Messrs. Murphy and Lipton's latest success in the new Lyceum drama on Saturday evening no one will be surprised. But there is no question that the heart of Mr. "Sixpenny Pops" Smith is being gladdened daily by the orders rolling in for this now established addition to the Francis, Day, and Hunter catalogue.

MR. WILKIE BARD and Mr. Frank Leo are evidently in complete sympathy with each other, as is plainly evidenced by the many successes jointly achieved. A striking proof of this, if proof were needed, is afforded by the hit which the popular comedian is scoring nightly with his new "study in character," "All day," from Mr. Leo's prolific and clever pen, and which Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter have had the acumen to secure. Though quite a novel departure for the comedian, the two "Bards" and the publishers are certainly to be congratulated, for the song will undoubtedly achieve a very wide popularity.

MISS CLAIRE ROMAINE, who sails on Sept. 17 on the Baltic for America, under contract to the famous American impresario, Mr. Percy Williams, intends featuring on the other side some of Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter's latest numbers. This clever and gifted little artist, whom we can ill spare, is evidently no stranger to the market where most of the best material is to be obtained.

MR. DAVE CARTER, the popular tenor, has certainly struck a vein of luck in the latest addition to his extensive répertoire, an ear-haunting number entitled "If they ask you what your name is." It is a particularly happy effort from the pens of that clever pair of writers, Harry Castling and Fred Godfrey, and was immediately secured by Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter for publication. It possesses in a marked degree that direct "heart-touch" which is certain to justify its acquisition by both singer and publisher, and to enhance Mr. Carter's rapidly-rising reputation.

MESSRS. FRANCIS AND DAY'S music was very much to the fore on the occasion of the reopening of the Metropolitan. Hardly had the visitors' expressions of admiration and delight at the sumptuousness of the decoration died away, when Mr. D. M. Tryler's fine orchestra struck up Warwick Williams' grand selection of popular airs, entitled "Best of all," and the heartiness with which the two huge houses chimed in recalled Boxing Night at the National Theatre. Later came Miss Winifred Hare with her now famous song "It's better than being a Carnegie," a number which the charming artist a day or two since declared to be "undoubtedly one of the best songs I have had," and one which the Edgware-road audiences joined in as one man. Other songs published by the famous firm were in evidence during the evening, and the people were played out to the stirring strains of little Max Darewski's "Franco-British" March.

MR. G. H. ELLIOTT, the "chocolate-coloured coon," has been inoculating the provinces with the germs of "Sue, Sue, Sue, I'm very much in love with you," by Lester Barrett and H. E. Darewski. At Christmas time this will undoubtedly be a "court card" in Messrs. Francis and Day's pack, a pack which will, as heretofore, be found to consist entirely of "trumps."

WHEN it was stated a fortnight since in these columns that a well-known Cockney song-writer had been observed in a small boat off Beachy Head writing a fishing experience and casting nervous glances backward as though fearful the mighty cliffs would fall on him and what he was scribbling, it was little thought that the story he was inditing would cause the sensation it did. Edgar Bateman's tale of the grateful crab which we printed last Saturday appeared the same night in the London evening papers, was given a prominent position in the Sunday sheets, and delighted countless thousands in the great dailies on Monday, and the entire Press of the country reproduced it and have acclaimed the "yarn" to be the record "fish" story since prehistoric times. It has since been translated into various languages, and has appeared in the leading Continental journals. In almost every case our contemporaries have courteously acknowledged the source of the tale. Bateman had a fine send-off on Friday, on the conclusion of his stay at Eastbourne, from the members of the various concert parties, and Mr. Harry Clifford, the well-known comedian, presented him with a cake inscribed "'Grateful Crab' A1. Edgar Bateman A2." The only solution of the latter part of the inscription—which looks like a torpedo boat's number—is that it stands for Ananias the Second!"

MISS JOSE COLLINS, at the Tivoli, is heard in her delightful rendering of Harrington and Powell's song, "Looking for the lovelight,' given by permission of Miss Alice Lloyd, who sang the number throughout her recent American engagement. As a second number, this young artist sings the favourite Spanish song, "My Cuban girl." Both numbers are published by the Monte Carlo Co.

MISS LOTTIE LENNOX has been achieving a success everywhere with her chorus song, "Look out, boys! There's a girl about," by Murray and Hilbery, and will make a special feature of this number at the Palace, Camberwell, next week and throughout the whole of the Moss and Stoll tour. This popular number is published by the Monte Carlo Co., and should be a great song for either principal boys or girls in the present year's pantomimes.

MESSRS. JOHN P. HARRINGTON AND ORLANDO POWELL have now supplied Miss Alice Lloyd with no less than four new numbers, all specially written for the piece Bonnie Belles of Scotland, in which she will shortly "star" in America. The titles of the new songs are "Simp-simp-simple," "Difference," "Here we are again!" and "In the morning." They have also written a special duet for Mr. Tom McNaughton and another of the principals in the same piece, entitled, "Oh, put me on the stage!" and are busily engaged in executing other commissions for the same Ziegfeld production.

MISS MILLIE HYLTON has scored heavily at the Chelsea Palace, as elsewhere, with Wilmott and Darewski's "Under the Golden Dome,' and Miss Madge Temple, on her opening shortly at the Tivoli, will essay a new number from the same pens.

FEDERATION AND FUNDS.

MISS MELINDA MAY, secretary of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild, 61, New Oxford-street, W.C., wishes to thank the following ladies and gentlemen:—Miss Freda Scharlotte for her kindness in collecting 10s.; "A Well-wisher," collecting in Glasgow, 2s. 6d.; the Three Rubys for parcel of stage clothing; a box of clothing, anonymous, from Birmingham; and beautiful dinner cards from Mr. Douglas Stuart.

THE ladies of the above Guild are having a dinner on Sunday evening, Sept. 6, at seven o'clock at the Boulogne Restaurant, Gerrard-street. An excellent repast is promised in a private room for this occasion. Tickets, 5s. each, can be obtained from Miss Melinda May, 61, New Oxford-street. All sympathisers with the work of the Guild are earnestly requested to attend and to bring as many friends as possible. Gentlemen are especially invited. All are welcome to the receptions, which are held every Wednesday, three to five.

The general meeting of the Music-hall Home will be held on Sept. 17 at the Camberwell Palace, at 3 p.m. The committee begs to thank Mr. Harry Blake for a parcel of men's clothes; also L. A. Smith (of Smith and Johnson) for a parcel of clothes. All such gifts are gladly accepted. The secretary would especially like to receive any old boots (or clothes) for the inmates of the M.H.H. His address is 31, Wilson-road, Camberwell, London, S.E. The next committee meeting is on Thursday next at 12 noon. The president hopes that a large number of committeemen will be present.

The 573rd meeting of the committee of the M.H.A.R.A. Association was held on Wednesday. Mr. Fred Millis, vice-president, was in the chair, and there were also present Messrs. John Alexander, Arthur Rigby (hon treasurer), Jack Crawley, J. Tray, J. P. McNally, J. Rich, Lieut. Albini, and C. Douglas Stuart (secretary). It was resolved that Mr. McKay be instructed to register a telegraphic address for the Liverpool office. Mr. E. Leech, of the "Angel Hotel," Crewe, was appointed agent in that town. The weekly statement showed an increase of 33 new members, and receipts of £45 10s. 6d.

ARTISTS have supported the V.A.B.F. liberally, but on account of the distress among the rank-and-file of the profession the committee does not yet see its way to balancing the outgoings and the incomings. Roughly speaking, the weekly receipts are £5 less than the weekly payments. The aim of the recent sports was the provision of part of the further £250 needed—it has realised over £100 profit—and each year in future a sports meeting will be held and the profits, if any, placed to the account of the fund.

MR. EDWIN ADELER has been doing excellent work for the Fund, and his collections for it which he arranged at his various summer variety entertainments have amounted to £30, which he has supplemented with a cheque for five guineas. Mr. Charles Mildare, just back from Australia, brought £11 as his contribution to the exchequer of the Fund, the result of a concert and collection on board the Moldavia during his voyage home. Miss Alice Maydue has collected £2 6s. 6d., and the contents of Mr. W. Oscholinski's pillar-box amounted to £3 6s. 4d.

MISS CLARICE VANCE has specially commissioned Messrs. John P. Harrington and Orlando Powell to write and compose her new répertoire for America, where she opens in two or three weeks time. The popular English writers have already succeeded in "fixing" Miss Vance with three specially-written numbers—to wit, "Salome, go home!" "Limericks," and "Mothers-in-Law."

MISS MILLIE LEGARDE has been making a great hit at the Holborn Empire with a number by Murphy and Lipton, whose "Oh! oh! Antonio!" is now the rage of Scotland as well as England, and she will be heard immediately in a new ditty by C. Wilmott and H. E. Darewski, jun.

THAT popular artist Miss Dora Lyric is about to produce a catchy comedy song, entitled "Winkles and Watercreeses," by Alf Ellerton, who has just signed a contract to provide T. E. Dunville's material for the next two years. Arthur Reece will shortly produce a number from the same pen, entitled "What was good for Solomon." The music of this number has been written by Alf Ellerton jun., who was also responsible for the melody of Miss Queenie Leighton's hit, "A little bit of parsley," one of Francis and Day's publications. This should be a fine number for pantomime dames.

ON the agenda of the forthcoming Trades Union Congress appears the following resolution, in the joint names of the Artists' Protection League and the Actors' Union: "That this congress instruct the Parliamentary Committee to take steps to bring about a revision of the laws affecting (a) the licensing of theatres and music-halls; (b) the licensing of plays; and (c) the censorship of plays." The resolution has the support of the Actors' Association, the Sketch Managers' Association, and the Theatrical Employees' Association.

SAILING for Australia yesterday (Friday) per the P. and O. steamer Mooltan were the Marconis, Goodfellow and Gregson, and the Sisters Reno. Charles Faning and his wife and child will be leaving on Friday next by the Orient steamer Oroya. These artists will entertain down under on the Harry Rickards circuit. Mr. Rickards has received the most enthusiastic reports from his managers in Australia with reference to the great success made by Abdullah's Arabs and Galetti's Monkeys and Mignonette Kokin, who opened with him on July 18. Business is very big indeed at Sydney owing to the visit of the American Fleet.

LES VALDOS, the eccentric motor-'bus men, are scoring heavily this week at the Ealing, Hippodrome, with their "Bang-crush 'bus," their clever ball-punching, and their funny acrobatics; they have splendid material for tickling the risibility of their audience, and a constant accompaniment of laughter proves the success of such excellent fooling.

MR. CHARLES GASCOIGNE, for many years acting-manager of the People's Palace, Bristol, is starting a tour at the Hippodrome, Ton-y-Pandy, on Monday next. The company consists of four song and dance ladies, all good vocalists and clever dancers, and the turn will include coon song and dance, Lancashire lassies in song and dance, and speciality clog and other dancing. Mr. Frederick Fey, the musical-director of the People's Palace, Bristol, has arranged the music for the production, and the turn was much appreciated at the Palace, Bristol, on the occasion of its first performance at a recent matinée.

AT the Leas Pavilion, Folkestone, under the management of Mr. D'Arcy Clayton, for the past three weeks "The Gipsies and their Jester" have been playing to packed houses. So great has been the success that the directors have re-engaged the party for seventeen weeks next summer, and are arranging to further extend the seating capacity of this fine pavilion.

CHAT WITH MISS ALICE LLOYD.

"Miss —— puts one in mind of a flamboyant flaring poster, while the little English girl, Alice Lloyd, reminds one more of the daintiest of hand-painted pastels."

This was the comment of a New York journal upon the performance respectively of an American artist and Miss Alice Lloyd, who returned to this country towards the end of last month, after a most successful twenty-four weeks' tour of the States. That Miss Lloyd made a strong impression upon our Transatlantic cousins is quite apparent from the comparison we have quoted. And if further proof were needed, it is afforded by the form which her engagements assumed in the Land of the Soaring Eagle. She opened at the Colonial Theatre, New York, for an engagement of six weeks. She was billed in very small type, and her time on the programme was to be limited to fifteen minutes. She opened as the fifth turn, and remained on the stage forty-five minutes, for the audience was not satisfied until she had rendered six songs. Mr. Percy Williams, the manager, told her that she had made the greatest hit he had ever known in his career. On the following day the outside of the theatre was decorated by enormous electric signs, bearing Miss Lloyd's name as that of the star of the company, and on the third day an appointment was made between her manager and Mr. Williams, who arranged a prolongation of the engagement at six times the original salary.

Miss Lloyd's biggest song successes were "Who're getting at, eh?" a Cockney ditty written and composed by Harrington and Powell; "The tourist and the maid," by George Arthurs and Orlando Powell; "Looking for the love-light in your eyes," which the Americans called "a veritable riot"; "Young men lodgers," "I want to be among the boys," "Three ages of woman" (also by Arthurs and Powell), and "Won't you come and splash me?" The last-mentioned was the only American song that Miss Lloyd sang. Most of the gifted artist's numbers are published by the Monte Carlo Publishing Company.

The subject of this sketch is now leaving the music halls, under contract for two years with Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger and Florentz Zeigfeld. Under their management she is to appear in a new musical comedy play entitled Bonnie Bells of Scotland. The play has been specially written with a view to making Miss Lloyd a central character, and the authors are Mr. J. J. McNally and Mr. George M. Cohan. It is to be produced at the New York Theatre on Nov. 2. Miss Lloyd's interpolated songs in the production have been written and composed for her by her English author and composer, Mr. J. P. Harrington and Mr. Orlando Powell.

[Photo by Charles Russell.

MR. TED COWAN.

The winner of the prize for the best all-round athlete at the recent V.A.F. Sports.

"THE LOCAL AMATEURS."

A Comedy Sketch,

Produced at the Richmond Hippodrome, Aug. 24.

The Stage-manager ..... MR. H. BRYAN
Joe Smiler ..... MR. G. HARGREAVES
Jules ..... MR. FRED RICHARDS
Seth Junket ..... MR. ED. ROYSTON
Molly ..... MISS FRANCES MIDGLEY

It is the vogue to poke fun—innocently or otherwise—at the amateur, and since the days of A Pantomime Rehearsal there has ever been a big audience ready to laugh at the vagaries and vapourings of les amateurs. The sketch produced here on Monday is but another instance of this peculiar form of entertainment. The scheme of The Local Amateurs consists in showing to perfection how a company of amateurs, under the guidance of a professional stage-manager, manage generally to mangle a drama innocent of plot, patter, or the picturesque. The play, performed with all the extravagances of burlesque, proved a droll sample of nonsense. The nautical villain of the play has returned from a voyage to find his fiancée the bride of another; then there is trouble—this is inevitable. "The Amateurs" generally revel in the fun of the thing; the stage-manager, the comedian, the conductor, and the chorus all get hopelessly embroiled in an argument, and a duel is one of the funniest things in the show. The success of the piece is greatly due to the energy and general ability of the company. As the Stage-manager Mr. Herbert Bryan is seriously comic; Mr. G. Hargreaves was quite excellent as Joe Smiler; and Mr. Fred Richards delighted the audience as a peripatetic chef d'orchestre. A good word goes to Mr. Ed. Royston as Seth; and Miss Frances Midgley was altogether charming as Molly. A quaint and peculiar comedian is Ted E. Box. As a peccant policeman—not altogether innocent of humour—he caused quite a lot of fun, and his contribution proved quite an acceptable effort.

ANOTHER HALL FOR MAIDSTONE.—A site is being acquired in the centre of High-street for the erection of a new house, to be called the Hippodrome. Plans are now being prepared, and will shortly be submitted to the Council for approval. The new house is to cost £18,000, and will be provided with a 40ft. ring, suitable for equestrians and the production of large spectacles. The management will be in the hands of T. M. Sylvester, managing-director of the Palace, Watford, who is busy forming a new company, with a capital of £250,000, for the purpose of building a group of corrugated iron houses in several towns where sites have been secured.

MR. FRED. H. GRAHAM has acquired the sole rights for Australasia of that laughter-making one-act comedy The Power of the Idol, by Laura Leycester.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE HIPPODROME.

The inventor of the "fire dance," Miss Loie Fuller, who came to the Globe Theatre many years since in the production of Caprice, is responsible for a most artistic Terpsichorean production at the Hippodrome. It is entitled A Ballet of Light. She has brought with her nine young ladies, who in their classic garments might very well represent the Nine Muses. They dance in Elysium, and represent very gracefully the passing of souls into that perfect dwelling-place spoken of by Homer. When the first scene opens a nymph is to be seen reclining on the earth, asleep. The spirit of the dawn moves her to dance. She rises, and salutes the sun, bathes in the sunlight, and gambols with joy as she sees and plucks a flower. This may be called the dance of Hope, which is instinct with charm and grace, and classic in character. We are wonderfully impressed by the beauty and vividness of the lighting arrangements and of a series of dissolving view effects, aided by a powerful magic-lantern, which is responsible for a series of cloud and water effects of a most fascinating character produced on a screen at the back of the stage; and by means of continuously rolling gauze, wonderfully weird and mystic scenes are produced. The sea caves, with stalactites and stalagmites, and with suggestions of coral formations precede the "Dance of Approaching Doom"—in which there is a very pretty magic-lantern effect of the souls passing "like thin flames"—and "The Dance of the Fires of Purification," in which the dancers appear to be literally aflame. Colours of every hue are thrown on the dancers from above and below, and the series of dances closes with a serpentine dance by Miss Loie Fuller herself in diaphanous skirts. The dancers have been excellently trained, and the pictures enhance the beauty of a ballet that is entirely novel, and without the crude melodrama that seems to have become the fashion lately. It is a distinct acquisition to Mr. Stoll's excellent programme at the Leicester-square house.

That delightful humorist, Mr. W. C. Fields, gives us many mirthful moments as an eccentric juggler, especially in his billiard-playing with tennis-balls. His act reaches the high-water mark of originality, ingenuity, and real smartness. He discards the dirty make-up and ragged garments of the tramp, and for this relief much thanks. Another practical joker whose irresponsible activity and eccentricity of movement are irresistible is to be found among the Vasilescu Troupe, and the funny man of Campbell and Barber, comedy trick cyclists, raises shouts of laughter by his admirable clowning. The favourite Fratellinis, in their comic entrée as burlesque elephant trainers, add much to the mirthful nature of the bill, the interest of which is much increased by Watson's performing fox-terriers, introduced by Ida Kessanly; the Athlones, gymnasts; by the doings of M. Georges; the fantasie musicale of the Jackson Family; the Iben Obed Troupe of Arabian equilibrists; the Picchianis; M. Gabriel, the French tandem high-school rider; and the amusing and interesting pictures on the Pathégraph, which is always up to date.

THE EMPRESS.

The youngest imitator at present on the stage is to be found this week at Brixton, where Little Gladys Francis made her début on Monday. The youthful artist, as may be surmised, is the daughter of Mr. Nelson Francis, the popular manager, who has already given a hostage to the fortune of the footlights in Maudie, now a favourite little comedienne. Gladys has before been seen at the Empress unprofessionally on the occasions of anniversaries, benefits, and such-like, but she has now arrived at the age at which the law allows a child to perform, and has taken to the art of mimicry—to use a homely phrase—as a duck takes to water. The little lady has quite caught the chic and vivacity of Miss Daisy James, and imitates the swelling tones of Miss Dora Lyric, the popular chorus comedienne, with equal realism. Miss Francis also includes a reproduction of the mannerisms of Miss Victoria Monks, which that lady is fain to admit is the best she has come across. Little Gladys concludes with a dainty dance, brief, but unquestionably clever for so youthful a performer. She was loudly recalled and presented with a handsome bouquet.

A notable item of the current bill is the production of the sketch, The Christening, in which Mr. Alick Lauder, a brother of the famous Scotch comedian, appears. The little piece makes for comedy, and deals with the tribulations of honest John Anderson, whose wife has just presented him with a youngster. John has crossed the Border some years before, and the Anderson household is now located in the purlieus of Piccadilly. The clergyman comes to christen the child, and much fun is made out of John's ignorance of the ceremony, the parson, in fact, being so disgusted with his want of knowledge that he refuses to perform the rite. John and his wife quarrel, but the clergyman is instrumental in conciliating the pair, and the piece ends with his promise to come another day to perform the christening. Mr. Lauder is no unskilful reflector of the family talent. He develops the part of the Scotsman on humorous lines, and with more individuality than might have been expected, and unlimited laughter was the result of his efforts. Mr. J. R. Spurling is to be commended for a refined and strikingly life-like performance of a clergyman, free from the canting tones usually adopted. The sketch is well mounted, realism being secured by the introduction in the outer scene of a chicken run with real fowls.

A highly appreciated contribution to the programme is that of Miss Topsy Sinden, who is following her successes in musical comedy, and later her triumphs as premier danseuse at the Empire, by a tour of the variety theatres. First she is a soldier lad in red, who sings a song to which some characteristic steps are added. The artist afterwards appears in a dazzling costume in which to render a "romp" song, supplemented by a dance, which entrance the audience. Such an exposition of daintiness and grace rarely comes the way of music-hall goers, and the audience cheered accordingly, so much so that after Miss Sinden had made repeated acknowledgments, the curtain had perforce to be lowered. Miss Alexandra Dagmar is another favourite of the evening; Arayma, a clever Japanese, does wonderful balancing feats; Violet Lorraine sings with taste and expression, and the programme also includes Naughton and Gold, comedians; Chas. Daly and Kitty O'Brien in the comedy, Tanglefoot; Margaret Ashton, comedienne; John Donald, in his vocal scena, A Scottish Exile's Dream; Chas. Worland's company in the dramatic sketch, Black against White; Ruffell's pictures. Mr. Francis Winchcombe, who has returned the picture of health from a recent holiday, officiates with his customary urbanity at the front of the house.

THE SURREY.

Mr. Roy Cochrane, the locum tenens here, is viewing with pride packed audiences at every performance. At the top and bottom of Mr. Frank Macnaghten's varied and carefully arranged programme are two exciting sketches. The first is a petite drama by Bernard Mervyn, entitled Treachery, which depicts an imaginary unpleasant incident of the late Boer War. Lieut. Ferrars, of H.M.S. Niobe, is accused of treason by his captain, and although it is proved at the court martial by a Boer spy that he is innocent, and that the villainous Captain Caversham is the guilty one, he is sentenced to be degraded and shot. The Boer is to be exchanged as a prisoner of war, and on the eve of the execution arranges with Ferrars to change uniforms with him, so that Ferrars may take his place and escape. At the very moment that Ferrars faces the firing party the Boers make another unsuccessful attack on Ladysmith, and in the confusion Ferrars gets away as well as his Boer friend. Captain Caversham rushes up the gorge after them, and receives the volley intended for his victim, and in his last moments confesses his treachery. Mr. Bernard Mervyn gives a bold and powerful impersonation of the falsely accused Ferrars; Miss Mamie Rendee is sweet and womanly as the sorely-tried Marion Kilrae, who is in love with the lieutenant; Mr. W. C. Blunt is the brusque colonel to the life; Mr. Bert Morley gives a fine character study of the Boer, although in the more exciting passages he loses the Dutch accent; Mr. H. C. Morton, in the comedy part of Sergeant Patterson, raises many a laugh; Mr. J. Cook-Hinton plays the rôle of the villain, Captain Caversham. The piece is capitally staged, especially the closing scene representing a redoubt outside Ladysmith.

Another episode in the adventurous life of that astute detective, Sexton Blake, entitled The Red Triangle, is presented by Carlotta De Yonson and her efficient company, including the dog detective, Pedro. The incident is familiar as the last scene in another great detective drama that claimed the attention of London playgoers only recently. Mr. Douglas Carlile, the author of the series of thrillers appearing in two weekly publications, appears in the character of the great detective, and demonstrates in no uncertain fashion that he can act as well as write. As the girl Leah Courcell Miss Carlotta De Yonson looks as pretty as a picture, and does the little she has to do thoroughly and well. Mr. Lee Gilbert as the boy Tinker is decidedly good. As the head of the "Triangle," Adams, Mr. Alf. Crook gives a finished performance, while as Bertie Faversham and Sir William Foster Messrs. J. Sandford and C. A. Carlile add their moiety to the general success.

The Della Sisters, gowned in most effective black, with waving plumes, give full effect to a patriotic song, "Our Empire," and in their second effort evoke the aid of the gods in the swinging chorus to their song, "Girls, say 'No.'" Crogan and Davis combine much fun with clever tumbling, which makes their turn highly acceptable. The Sisters Dainton reveal excellent vocal powers in their harmonising duets. Takio, the Jap mimic, is a capital turn, his farmyard and other imitations being lifelike. Frank Seeley creates plenty of merriment in his burlesque of Cinderella, and in a really funny ditty, "I'll never forget the day," set to an old familiar tune. Rosie Archer hits off in clever style the peculiarities in voice and inflection of such popular favourites as Vesta Victoria, Vesta Tilley, Victoria Monks, Marie Lloyd, and Harry Lauder. Miss Ethel Arundale is a gifted vocalist and clever dancer. Raymond's fine pictures depicting the American version of "The Silver King" and "The Story the Boots Told" are a fitting conclusion to a most enjoyable entertainment.

RICHMOND HIPPODROME.

Quite a budget of novelties form the programme this week, not the least interesting being the première of Mr. Dance's new sketch, The Local Amateurs. Hugo and Smit get through a number of astounding feats, winning, perhaps, more kicks than ha'pence; they work well together, and are evidently appreciated. Then Miss Mary Robertson takes the stage, and literally evokes thunders of applause by her really artistic and wonderful interpretation of Arditi's "Il Bacio." It is as a first-class shot that Mlle. Leonie de Lausanne wins favourable attention. Assisted by a clever company of clever people, Mlle. Lausanne succeeds in scoring some particularly wonderful shots. The clever little lady, too, is quite fair and above board in her "show," and guarantees the fairness of the entire programme. There is a thrill through the house as mademoiselle whisks from a young lady's head a piece of loaf sugar, and follows up the success by out-Telling Tell in reducing to atoms an ordinary marble. The invitation to the audience to participate in the entertainment and share the laurels in having a piece of sugar shot from the head met only a weak response. The final feat of the clever lady is to divest another of her sex of her dress by a series of wonderful shots. There are no two doubts about Mlle. Lausanne's skill. Quite an active dancer is Mr. Percy Dalton; he contributes a song with a "Good-bye" refrain that meets with approbation, but it is as a grotesque dancer that he scores his biggest success.

Originally produced here, The Burglars' Ball has been on its way rejoicing, and has much improved. Business, new songs, and dances have been added, the pruning-knife has been used judiciously, and the dialogue generally brightened up. As it stands, The Burglars' Ball is an amusing trifle that one should see to appreciate. Much of the success may be traced to the admirable fooling of the interpreters. Everybody works loyally, with the result that a capital all-round performance is assured. Miss Maud Dennis gives her performance of Salome; and the Bioscope adds to the interest of the bill. Mr. H. B. Harries is in "front of the house."

THE first annual outing of the Royal Hippodrome, Dover, staff took place on Sunday. Arrangements were made for the party to meet outside the Royal Hippodrome, Snargate-street, in readiness to start on their journey by ten o'clock, but owing to the rain it was decided to postpone the start for about half an hour; but Jupiter Pluvius was adamant, and at 10.30 the order "All aboard" was given, and the journey commenced. The party numbered about forty, and despite the heavy rain their spirits were in no way damped. The principals of the party included Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Winter, Miss Winter, Mr. Sidney Winter, jun., Mr. and Mrs. W. T. G. Whitelock, &c.

The journey was by way of High-street, Barton-road, and Whitfield Hill to Eastry, where the first halt was made at the Bell. Here Mr. Winter entertained the party to light refreshments. The rain continued to pour down when the brakes were again boarded, and the run to Saltpans was continued, the Red Lion being reached about 1.15. Here Mr. Winter's "family" sat down to a good substantial dinner, provided by Mr. James Lucas, whose catering was of the best. The menu having been gone through, Mr. Whitelock, who carried out the duties of vice-chairman, proposed the health of Mr. W. Winter. In returning thanks, Mr. Winter said it was a great pleasure for him to meet them that day. He could assure them that they were going to make the Royal Hippodrome, Dover, a big success. What they wanted was for all to pull together. Mr. Smith, the stage-manager, then proposed the health of Mrs. Winter, Miss Winter, and Mr. Sidney Winter, jun. This toast was also loyally received. Mr. Whitelock, in acknowledging the toast of his health, said that it always gave him great pleasure to organise such agreeable gatherings.

ROBERT STEIDL, who had never before appeared in England, has become so popular with the English public that he has remained at the Alhambra for two months. This is his last week, but only for the present, for the genial German humorist will be welcome on his next visit to the metropolis, which, it is to be hoped, will be as soon as his Continental engagements will permit. Owing also to their success the engagement of the Tomsons in The Master Mystery has been extended. On Monday Herr List will return with his wonderful performing bears, and Jury's Imperial Pictures will include a special and exclusive series by Oliver S. Pike, of St. Kilda, its people and bird life.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD.

FAIRS, FEASTS, AND WAKES IN ENGLAND, SCOTLAND, AND WALES FOR SEPTEMBER.

ENGLAND.

1. Southgate (15,000)
2. Fakenham (200)
2. Woodley (246)
3. Leigh (Dorset) (400)
4. Aldborough (Yorks) (2,000)
4. Barnet (?,000)
4. Bicester (3,300)
4. Chorley (27,000)
4. Crewkerne (4,300)
4. Cheerwell (1,986)
4 Great Horton (33,000)
5. Hyde (23,000)
5. Gorton (48,000)
5. Killamarsh (3,211)
5. Meltham (1,200)
5. Pendlebury (13,672)
5. Wednesbury (26,500)
5. Wilmslow (6,683)
7. Alverthorpe (12,000)
7. Armley (22,000)
7. Farnley (3,600)
7. Oldbury (25,200)
7. Oxford (49,400)
7. Thorner (976)
7. Wortley (8,000)
8. Barnoldswick (7,400)
8. Exeter (47,000)
8. Wirksworth (4,263)
9. Blandford (3,500)
9. Broadway (Somerset) (500)
9. Chapel Town (7,100)
9. Lambert Castle
9. Morchard Bishop (1,100)
9. Openshaw (25,400)
9. Swinton and Pendlebury (19,000)
9. Tideswell (2,600)
9. Witton (1,659)
10. Congresbury (1,700)
10. Maldon (5,500)
10. Wareham (2,000)
12. Batley (20,000)
12. Blackheath (Staffs.) (9,553)
12. Brentford (15,200)
12. Buxton (4,787)
12. Cromford (1,056)
12. Matlock (7,300)
12. Woodthorpe (882)
14. Ardsley (6,000)
14. Barnstable (14,000)
14. Glastonbury (4,000)
14. Holbeck (23,000)
14. Sandal Feast (6,000)
15. Boston (15,700)
15. Ottery St. Mary (3,500)
15. Ware (5,900)
16. Alford (2,500)
16. Langwith (363)
17. Penn (Bucks) (400)
17. Second Lee Fair
18. Bury (60,000)
19. Amersham (3,000)
19. Atherstone (5,000)
19. Beaminster (2,000)
19. Hayfield (2,864)
19. Ilkley (7,500)
19. New Mills (5,509)
19. Northampton (87,000)
19. Pateley Bridge (3,200)
19. Ratcliffe (137)
19. Staines (6,700)
9. Worcester (43,966)
21. Backwell (1,000)
21. Farnworth (25,000)
21. Hemel Hempstead (11,300)
21. Lewes (11,300)
21. Longtown (300)
21. Newcastle (Staffs) (20,000)
21. Reading (60,000)
21. Rushden (12,500)
21. Sidmouth (4,000)
21. Uttoxeter (5,200)
22. Ashby-de-la-Zouch (4,700)
22. Bude (1,059)
22. Stevenage (3,365)
23. Bowdon (2,796)
23. Bugsworth (389)
23. Iron Acton (1,000)
23. March (7,600)
23. Over (Cheshire) (6,200)
23. Swindon (45,000)
24. Birmingham (522,182)
24. Bridgwater (15,200)
24. Brierley Hill (12,000)
24. Cambridge (38,400)
24. Hevford (800)
24. Todmorden (25,400)
24. Wootton-under-Edge 2,200
25. Eleven Lane Ends Feast
25. Haslemere (1,000)
25. Pickering (3,500)
26. Hartland (1,746)
26. Morton (982)
26. Spalding (9,400)
26. Tyldesley (16,000)
28. Chesham (7,300)
28. Dudley (49,000)
28. Dunstable (5,200)
28. High Wycombe (16,000)
28. Idle (7,500)
28. Long Stratton (600)
28. Studley (3,000)
28. Woodhouse (6,422)
29. Alton (5,590)
29. Ampthill (2,200)
29. Cranbrook (3,500)
29. Dorchester (9,500)
29. Kenilworth (4,500)
29. Uxbridge (8,600)
29. Wallingford (3,000)
30. Hanbury (900)
30. Hounslow (6,790)
30. Solihull (3,800)

SCOTLAND.

10. Ayr (27,531)
18. Johnstone (10,502)
18. Moss of Ballock (612)
19. Castle Douglas (3,018)
21. Aberdeen (153,108)
21. Edinburgh (208,069)
26. Hawick (17,803)
28. Dumfries (18,683)
30. Frazerburgh (8,998)
30. Haddington (3,992)
30. Sinclair Town

WALES.

7. Aberavon (7,000)
10. Neath (14,000)
12. Blaenavon (12,000)
18. Brynmawr (7,000)
19. Tredegar (18,000)
22. Llandudno (7,000)
25. Abergavenny (8,000)
26. Cowbridge (1,000)
26. Pontardawe (3,327)
26. Llanfyllin (2,000)
30. Llanelly (23,000)

Parliamentary Trade Defence Work.

The showman as a general rule is so absorbed in his own sphere of work that he has no time to give to any definite or connected study of outside affairs. He is prepared to give great credit and honour to the man who does know something of the great world of public affairs, but he finds the business of his show or of his special line of catering for the general public quite as much as he can manage.

This isolation of the showman, this necessary absorption in the cares of his own life, has made it easy for his enemies to steal a march on him and to use great powers of private Bill legislation to penalise the showman and his business in life.

The Tyranny of Local Bye-Laws.

The rapid growth of local government in the United Kingdom has brought the showman face to face with a real danger—the danger of extinction by the extraordinary powers obtained by corporations by Private Bill legislation. It is hardly ten years ago since showmen (by the work of their trade society) were roused to a consciousness of their danger—the real danger of being destroyed by Act of Parliament.

Since the year 1898 the Showmen's Guild has entered the Parliamentary arena, and has fought and won a number of costly battles in the Committee Rooms of the Houses of Parliament. Corporation after corporation have been beaten by the Showmen's Guild, until at last there came the welcome relief of the last sessions of Parliament and no Private Bill legislation to fight.

What is Private Bill Legislation?

Considering the fact we have referred to above, that the average showman is entirely absorbed in his own daily work and has no time to master the details of either Imperial or local government, it is no wonder that the executive officers of the Guild have found great difficulty in arousing and in maintaining interest in the highly technical work of trade defence in Parliament.

Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., on Parliament at Work.

We quote from a brilliant series of articles in M.A.P., written by the world-famous journalist and Parliamentarian, Mr. T. P. O'Connor:—

"Within the vast spaces of that great building at Westminster there are several worlds; each day and each story have their own separate and independent life. I have told how, in the earlier hours of the day, there is the vast world of politicians who are interested in the Grand Committees. There is another and even a vaster world—that of the men who are interested in what is called Private Bill legislation, the legislation which is necessary if a new railroad, or a new tramway company, or a new canal has to be brought into being. This is a great world in itself. Its chief figures are, of course, the great barristers who practise at what is called the Parliamentary Bar. These are the giants of the profession. No men earn such gigantic incomes—even at the Bar. You hear of men having as much as £20,000 a year to their credit, and yet these men, as a rule, work only four months in the year. You know, of course, that no member of Parliament can practise at the Parliamentary Bar; the reason, of course, is that he may have to be a member of one of the Parliamentary Committees which try the case, and that thus he may be put in the irreconcilable positions of judge and advocate. Many Parliamentary barristers have had to give up a splendid income when they decided to enter Parliament.

"In addition to the great barristers, you see the solicitors—who swarm about the place. And there is a third—who sometimes are the same as the solicitors—namely, what are called Parliamentary agents—that is to say, they whose business it is to influence members of Parliament in favour of their Bills. This is a very lucrative branch of the legal profession, because, of course, as a rule, gigantic interests are involved in these Parliamentary conflicts, often millions of money. Sir Theodore Martin—still hale and hearty at upwards of ninety—was once a very prominent member of this body. His strong face, with fine, bright, prominent eyes, and his long hair, with his curious briskness, and all alive expression, were familiar in the Lobby of the House of Commons at such times as a great railway was asking a big concession. A curious and interesting and varied career this wonderful man has had; he was writing poetry as a youngster, when Professor Aytoun was his colleague, and he is old enough to have remembered and to have described Disraeli as 'devilish handsome Ben Disraeli'; and Disraeli died more than twenty-five years ago, and was nearer eighty than seventy when he died!

"You see this Private Bill world either lunching in the dining-rooms of the House of Commons or, more frequently, you see them having a standing-up and hurried meal at one of the two or three buffets, which are to be found at various points in the House of Commons.

"Altogether the House of Commons may be compared to a beehive; outside you see little, but inside it is full of abounding, of various, of multitudious life."

We have given the above pen-picture on the Private Bill activities of Parliament in order that showmen may realise the magnitude of the forces against them and the greatness of the enterprise in which the Guild engaged when it entered the Parliamentary arena to defend the rights and liberties of the men and women of the fair-ground.

Hospital Fête at Llanelly.

The hospital fête and gala, an annual function organised by Mr. Henry Studt and his family at Llanelly, took place on Friday and Saturday of last week, and, as usual, was a huge success. Mr. Studt had gathered on the ground a huge conglomeration of amusements, there being his own very large and elaborate motor-car track and his zoological roundabout, G. Roberts' great wheel, numerous shooters and Mollies, as well as the very big and handsome bioscope shows of Messrs. W. Haggar and Sons, with its magnificent carved and gilded front and its attractive troupe of young lady dancers, and that of Messrs. Wadbrook and Scard, with its wonderful array of outside parade talent, which includes Mlle. Melitia, a most charming and clever dancer; Miss Belle Rellie, Cyrus and Maud, &c. Mr. Steel Parry's bioscope also occupied a prominent position and did well.

The variety artists included the very clever and talented La Dor troupe of gentlemen and lady acrobats, who met with immense success; Capt. Tudor, with his well-trained and intelligent performing ponies—real beauties; Lo La and Jake, horizontal bar performers; Henry and Tyler, dashing trick cyclists; and the Clarkes on the rolling globe. There was also a fine display of fireworks.

At Kidwelly Mr. Felix Testo's very attractive and instructive marionette and bioscope show is meeting with much success just now. The Testos show some splendid pictures on the Bioscope; whilst the marionettes are most aptly worked.

Church Work at the Fairs.

Until quite recently the Showmen's Guild has not been able to go to fairs in the West of England and to carry on there its good work.

It is extremely gratifying to know, as we do, that good work has been carried on by the Church amongst West of England showpeople. For many years past the itinerant missioners of the Dioceses of Salisbury and Exeter (and, we believe, to a certain extent of Truro) have followed the fairs, organised day schools for the little ones, and Sunday services for showpeople.

We gladly chronicle the noble work of Mr. Geoffrey W. A. Norton, who started out at Exeter Fair last Easter with a perfectly-equipped school van, and has followed the Western fairs in order to educate the children.

Church Work at the Regatta Fairs.

We have received a most interesting report of work with a travelling school and church at the Devonshire Regatta Fairs. Writing to the Rev. T. Horne, chaplain to the Showmen's Guild, the Rev. A. G. Bayly, van chaplain, Exeter Diocesan and Parochial Mission, says:—

"Sir,—There are two great interests at a regatta—the races and the shows. The chaplain who follows the regattas in the mission van knows nothing of the various events on the water, because he and his staff are busy all the forenoon and afternoon in gathering and teaching the children who live in the vans. At night, however, he has a chance to see how the British public enjoy themselves, and also an opportunity to admire the extraordinary ability of the showman to provide attractions of a kind to bring grist to his mill.

"There is something alluring about the showman's life. Children are born in the vans, grow up in the vans, and end their lives in the vans. In recent years the Church has taken an increasing interest in these resourceful and enterprising examples of the strenuous life. And the day is not far distant when each diocese will send its van, with chaplain and teacher to minister to their wants. It has been for some years now a recognised part of the work of the Exeter Diocesan and Parochial Mission to send a priest and teacher to attend the Devonshire regattas. Most of the clergy seem interested, and without their co-operation it would be difficult to accomplish very much. A tent does not make an ideal schoolroom for the restless little ones under our care, and assembly rooms and pavilions are not really suited for the purpose. But they are the best available at present. We have on our register thirty-six children. It is important to remember that they are the showmen and show-women of the future. The public mind is demanding healthy and clean forms of amusement, and the showmen naturally expect the Church to take a sympathetic and helpful attitude.

"No serious attempt at organised and efficient religious and educational work has been as yet attempted. The magnitude of the opportunity for doing good ought to make it possible for the Church to provide a movable school chapel as well as a van and chaplain. The kindness shown to me by the Hancocks and others at the Devonshire regattas leads me to believe that such an effort would have a large measure of financial support from the showmen, and I feel sure very generous public recognition as well.

"Each Sunday I have been able to hold a service in the open for the showmen and their families. It would be well if all connected with the shows in any way would determine on the necessity of one service for all every Sunday at whatever inconvenience.

Augustus G. Bayly,
Van Chaplain.
Exeter Diocesan and Parochial Mission.

Guild Subscriptions, 1908.

Mrs. Bird, 10s.; W. Headon, 5s.; T. Tregenza, 5s.

GLASGOW'S OLDEST SHOWMAN.

A CHAT WITH MR. JAMES FRENCH.

"Thirty-nine years of show life! Yes, that's what I can look back upon. For thirty-nine years I have been connected in various capacities with almost all the travelling entertainments that have made their appearance in Glasgow. I have long concerned myself with the advertising and billing of such entertainments. I think I may fairly claim to be the oldest in this line of business in Scotland."

So said James French to a representative of The Era the other evening. French is one of the best-known men in Glasgow and the West, and in other parts of Scotland, among his own particular class. He is one of the few men who combine two very distinct businesses, as being one of the best advertising and billing agents in Glasgow, and also an expert conjurer and illusionist and "Punch and Judy" man.

"Yes," continued Mr. French, "I have been at the show business a pretty long time. I'm not a Scotsman, as you may have guessed. I was born in Cheshire, but passed my early life in Manchester. I began my connection with show life in 1869, when I travelled with Billy Manders's menagerie. With the menagerie I passed a short time on the road pleasantly enough. The show was in Glasgow in the early seventies, and stood for a fortnight in Dalhousie-street, opposite the present Zoo and Hippodrome, where the tramway stables are situated. Another fortnight was passed on a site in Bath-street. The celebrated Martino Maccomo a powerful negro, was the lion tamer of the menagerie at the time, and a sensational incident of the visit was the extraction of a lion's tooth by a Glasgow veterinary surgeon. Maccomo was the most fearless performer with wild beasts the world has ever known, the first man to 'break' tigers, and to combine in one performance lions and tigers.

"Yes, we had some awkward incidents on the road. At Derby some sensation was caused by the escape of over twenty monkeys from the menagerie. Strange to say, not one of the monkeys was ever recovered for the menagerie, and what can have become of them remains a mystery to this day. At Airdrie, on another occasion, a waggon filled with lions was overturned. It had been wet, and the wheels of the waggon sinking in the soft soil of a field, the weight of the four huge beasts inside overbalanced the waggon, causing no little commotion and excitement. Happily, little damage was done, and the waggon was righted without liberating the lions. A night's entertainment was lost, that was all, but the natives had the free entertainment of witnessing the catastrophe and the efforts necessary to remedy it, and the advertisement was a good one for the two days' showing which followed. A more tragic incident overshadowed the gaiety of the show at Bolton. Tom McCarthy, the genial Irish lion tamer, while performing with a circus in this town, had the misfortune to lose one of his arms. He left the circus, joined Manders's show, and travelled round with it, to Glasgow among other places. Time passed, and the menagerie was again at Bolton; the scene of Tom's accident. Here a tragic fate awaited the unlucky performer, for on the very same piece of ground where he had lost his arm McCarthy lost his life among the lions.

"After I left Manders's menagerie I joined the circus company of John and George Sanger, and had a place in the gorgeous procession which always startled and delighted the inhabitants of the towns and villages through which we passed. Coming to Perth on a Sunday, we had to face an order of the authorities forbidding us to pass through the town. We were permitted to stable the horses at an hotel, but must on no account draw our waggons through the streets on the Sabbath. We stood by the roadside all night. It was very pleasant on the road when the weather was good, seeing new sights and fresh faces in every town. I met all the famous performers and characters on the road in those days. I knew Old Malabar, the old showman juggler, very well. I met him first on Chester Racecourse about 1861. It was Malabar's boast that he had performed the cup-and-ball trick, a feat peculiarly his own, before King George IV. He was always anxious to visit the Balmoral district when Queen Victoria was in residence at the Castle. On one occasion he remarked to his pupil—now known as Professor Milleno—'Well, my boy, I wish that our Queen was at Balmoral just now. We would go up, and by all accounts I've heard she would be kind to us. I might be able to let her know that I've performed before King George IV. at Ascot Races. Ah! that meeting has fond recollections for me. It was there I balanced a donkey and a 10ft. ladder on my chin. It was a great feat, but I was a young one at the time. King George was sitting on a chair on the grand stand, and when he saw me doing this trick he threw me a piece of gold, and after that the money rained on me from all parts of the grand stand. Many gentlemen standing near me helped me to pick up the coins.' The story of this, the greatest triumph of his life, was one which poor Old Malabar never tired of telling, and the older he grew his memory of the incident acquired more and more importance to his mind."

"How long is it now since you settled permanently in Glasgow?"

"Thirty years ago. I found employment first with Mr. Rossburgh, of the old Britannia Music Hall in the Trongate. I was later on employed with 'Mother' Bayliss, of the Scotia Music Hall, in the Stockwell. Other theatres and music halls with which I have been connected were the Prince of Wales's, the Royal, Grand, Princess's, and Gaiety Theatres, and the Folly Music Hall. I have also many recollections of the old circuses and circus proprietors—handsome Charles Hengler, little Jamie Newsome, Fred Ginnet, W. Myers, John Swallow, and Lord George Sanger. I remember the Christy Minstrels who visited Glasgow—Bernard and Vestris', Matthews', C.C.C.'s, Haverley's, Sam Hague's, and Livermore Brothers' troupes. Hengler's old cirque in West Nile-street was the Glasgow home of the niggers, for invariably when they did pay Glasgow a visit they stayed for weeks. Many a night I've spent in Hengler's Circus with Fred Maccabe, Professor Anderson (the 'Wizard of the North'), Tom Thumb and Commodore Nutt, the Siamese Twins, and the Two-headed Nightingale. Contortionists, freaks, and sensation-makers of every description were in the old days to be found going round the country on their own account, but the rise of the music hall has concentrated weird talent of every description into its circuits. The palmy days of the individual show and the individual showman are gone for ever."

Mr. French is now sixty-seven years of age. With his "Punch and Judy" show and conjuring and shadowgraph entertainment Professor French has been accustomed to touring the neighbourhood, and is still available for drawing-room and school-room performances. I may also mention that his worthy lady takes a hand in many of his wonderful performances, and is accountable for a great part of the success.

Middleton Wakes.

This centre of the cotton trade, and within easy access of a dozen other large centres of industry, kept its annual wakes with great spirit.

The principal show was Col. W. Clark's new theatre of animated pictures, which, as usual, drew immense crowds. The other attractions were Wm. Mitchell's steam horses, Mrs. Holden's racing ostriches, T. Holden's haunted swing, John Sharpe's rifle gallery and park swings, Mrs. Jewell's bottle battery, and variety games by Shorrocks, Taylor, and Butterworth.

NOTES OF PAISLEY FAIR.

One of the great fairs of Scotland is held at Paisley. There is always a big crowd of show-folk, and the good people of Paisley town take a real interest in the travelling entertainers of the people. This kindly interest is shown in a number of meetings organised in active co-operation with show proprietors for temperance and other good works on the fair ground.

We are indebted to the Paisley Daily Express for the following interesting report of these gatherings:—

MEETINGS WITH SHOW FOLKS.

For many years past it has always been the custom of the ladies connected with the British Women's Temperance Association to arrange meetings for the travellers who occupy stances at the Clayholes, and again this year these were brought off, and proved of a very interesting nature.

TRAVELLERS' CONCERT.

On Friday night, after the business of the Fair was finished for the day, and all patrons had gone home to rest, the travellers assembled in M'Indoe's Show Tent, kindly lent by the proprietor, Mr. Arthur Henderson, when the annual concert was held. Mr. Peter Swallow occupied the chair, and he was accompanied on the platform by Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot, Mr. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Styles, and the Misses Wilmot, while the Women's Temperance Association was represented by Miss Bell, Miss Coats, Miss Carswell, and Mrs. Pollock. The entertainment which, as usual, was provided by the travellers themselves, was entered into with much enthusiasm, and heartily enjoyed by all present. The programme submitted was of a lively and varied character, and went far to show the versatility of those friends who visit us annually.

Those taking part in the evening's entertainment included the Misses S. E. and Carrie White, Miss Julian, Miss E. Clark, Miss L. Graham, and Miss Campbell; Messrs. G. Neilson, Neilson, R. Foster, A. Henderson, jun., Frank Dixon, Thomas Hawley, W. Quinn, George Watson, — Styles, M'Lachlan, Rankin, St. Clair Nelson, and Big Ted, and for their services the organisers of the concert return their sincere thanks.

During the course of the evening the usual collection was made on behalf of the work carried on by Miss Millington, the Travellers' Friend, and it is gratifying to be able to state that no less than £8 7s. 3½d. was raised at the concert on the grounds by Miss Helen Wilmot. Of that sum it was agreed that £2 2s. be given to the Royal Alexandra Infirmary, while the balance was sent on to Miss Millington, along with a sum of £1 15s., which was collected at a similar concert at Bridge-of-Allan.

CHILDREN'S MEETING.

The annual tea meeting for the travellers' children, which is one of the most interesting features of the Fair time, was held on Sunday evening in the B.W.T.A. tent, and was heartily enjoyed by the host of children who attended. Mr. Wilson Pollock was in charge of the meeting, and bright addresses were delivered by the Rev. Knowles Smith and Mrs. Barton of Glasgow. During the proceedings Misses Hutcheson and Wood sang a duet, and Miss Wood a solo, while the children joined heartily in the hymns. At the close of the meeting bouquets of lovely flowers, provided through the kindness of Mrs. R. K. Bell, Middle Park, were distributed to each little one, which added greatly to their delight. Several children joined the Travellers' Band of Hope after the meeting.

BRITISH WOMEN'S TEMPERANCE ASSOCIATION.

The usual tea meeting, under the auspices of the above Association, was held in Mr. M'Indoe's Show, kindly lent for the occasion, on Sunday evening last. Mrs. Allan Coats presided, and was supported on the platform by Mrs. Porteous, Mrs. M'Askill, Miss Bell, Miss Coats, Miss Carsewell, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Barton, Glasgow; the Rev. Knowles Smith, Mr. John Slack, ex-Bailie Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot, sen., Mr. A. Henderson, and Mr. Styles. Mrs. Coats welcomed the travellers in her usual happy way, and interesting addresses were delivered by Mrs. Barton, Mr. Knowles Smith, Mr. John Slack, and Mr. Styles, one of the travellers. Mr. Arthur Henderson thanked the British Women's Temperance Association, on behalf of the travellers, for their kindness in entertaining and bringing them together, and expressed their obligations to them for doing so in various other parts of the country also.

Songs were given during the evening by Misses Wood and Hutcheson, and Mrs. Pollock presided at the piano.

At the close of the meeting each traveller was presented with a bouquet of flowers, kindly given by several ladies in town, and many signed the pledge.

Reading Fairs Safeguarded.

We notice with relief that the bye-law exempts the annual fair from its restrictive powers. It is the possible hindrance to private business that we object to. This is a retrograde step, for it places the Corporation at the mercy of any individual crank or faddist who thinks he has a mission to prevent the innocent enjoyment of his neighbours, and eagerly rushes into litigation to compel the Corporation to enforce his own narrow conceptions of what the bye-law means.

"Sealed Copy."

BOROUGH OF READING.

Bye-Law for the Good Rule and Government of the Borough.

Borough of Reading, in the County of Berks, to Wit.

We, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Borough of Reading, in the County of Berks, acting by the Council of the said Borough pursuant to the provisions contained in Section 23 of the Municipal Corporations Act 82, do make the following bye-law for the good rule and government of the said Borough, that is to say:

No person shall in any public street or public place within the said Borough, or on any land adjoining or near to such street or place, use or play or cause to be used or played any steam organ or other musical instrument worked by mechanical means to the annoyance or disturbance of residents or passengers, or keep or manage or cause to be kept or managed a shooting gallery, swing, roundabout, or any other construction of a like character, so as to cause obstruction or danger to the traffic in such street or public place, provided always that this bye-law shall not apply to any fair lawfully held.

"PENALTY."

Any person who shall offend against this bye-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £5 for every such offence.

Given under the common seal of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Borough of Reading, in the County of Berks, at a meeting of the Council of the said Borough, duly holden in the Council chamber of and within the said Borough on the 2nd day of July, 1908, at which meeting two-thirds of the whole Council were present.

W. M. Colebrook, Mayor.
W. Clutterbuck, Town Clerk.

A Copy of "The Era" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

INVENTIONS.

APPLICATIONS.

16,977.—Lorenzo Dow Shaw, of Liverpool. Improvements in pleasure railways.

17,027.—William Laurence Parkinson, of Liverpool. Improvements in optical lanterns.

17,040.—Walter Clifford, of London. Improvements in and appertaining to apparatus for punching and delivering tickets.

17,110.—William Barningham, of Manchester. Improvements in apparatus for producing animated picture and like effects.

17,207.—Alexander Crutchley Beech, of Liverpool. Improvements in amusement devices.

COMPLETE SPECIFICATIONS ACCEPTED.

20,288.—Scheuble. Candle emitting a coloured light.

2,584.—Weinberg. Process and device for the production of living pictures in relief by means of the cinematograph.

11,551.—Rossi. Driving mechanism particularly adapted for cinematograph apparatus.

ABRIDGMENTS OF SPECIFICATIONS.

6,846.—Optical projection apparatus. J. C. Grassmann, of Berlin.

In automatic projection apparatus for picture throwing, advertising, and like purposes, the plate-holders (Fig. 2) are freely suspended from two lateral endless chains (f). The chains are intermittently moved over guide-rollers by means of a wheel (k), having teeth upon part of its periphery and gearing, with a wheel (k1) upon one of the guide-rollers. As each holder is brought in front of the condenser, it is pressed against a frame (g) by a spring (h). Each of the cross-rods carrying the holders serves as a hinge-bolt for the two parts (q, n) of a holder, which are closed by means of a catch (s) against the action of a spring (o). The wheel (k) is driven through ratchet-gear. The chains may be arranged to pass up and down over a number of rollers placed closely together.

FIG. 1

6,453.—Musical instruments. F. Moritz, of Dortmund, Germany.

Automatic instruments.—The tracker bars of pneumatic players for keyboard instruments are formed with a double series of ports opening into a single series of ducts. The main ports (f) are made very narrow, while the auxiliary ports (g), in front of the main ports, serve to relieve the vacuum in the ducts before the opening of the ports (f) operates the pneumatics. The ports are formed in a metal plate, which is placed over the ordinary tracker. The arrangement increases the rapidity of action, and diminishes the drag of the tune-sheet due to the suction.

6,869.—Targets. E. C. Burnup and M. Kirk, of Newcastle-on-Tyne.

A time controller for use with disappearing targets consists of a three-armed disc (Y), which is mounted loosely on a shaft (D), and carries two cisterns (A, C), connected together by flexible pipes for the flow of powder, sand, water, &c., from one to the other, and an adjustable counterweight (B). The disc (Y) is rotated through half a revolution into an operating position by a cord (E). A projection (F) on the disc (Y) engages a tooth (N) on a disc (X), situated behind the disc

(Y), and fixed to the shaft (D), which carries the target. The shaft is thereby revolved, and is held in position by a pawl (G) engaging with another tooth (O) on the disc (X). The powder or liquid falls from the cistern C into the cistern A, and after a prearranged interval the balance is destroyed, and the disc (Y) rotates back to the original position, thereby causing a cam (H) on the disc (Y) to throw the pawl (G) out of action. The shaft (D) is then rotated by a weight (S) and cord. The time interval can be adjusted by altering the position of the counterweight, or by the valve (K), or by both. A check valve (L) inside the cistern (C) prevents any of the contents from flowing into the cistern (A) before the arms are rotated into their desired position.

In reply to a query from T. Read, we beg to advise him that it is necessary to mark every article registered as a design with the abbreviation "Regd." or "Rd.," and the number of the registration. There is, however, no obligation to observe this condition under a patent.

Can You Invent?—Do you wish to know of prizes offered to inventors valued at £10,000, £4,000, £1,000, £400, £300, £200, and £100? If so, then get a copy of Patents and Designs, a newspaper called into existence by Mr. Lloyd-George's Patents and Designs Act, 1907, which comes into operation to-day. Patents and Designs, price 2d., can be had at all bookstalls, newsagents', and at the Publishing Office, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

FILM GOSSIP.

Showmen and Managers throughout the United Kingdom, and in every English-speaking country, will find in this column particulars of some of the best and newest Films in the Market. Many of these Films we have seen ourselves, and can confidently recommend showmen to add them to their list of attractions.

Pathé Frères.

THE BAD SPIRIT.—This story is that of a man addicted to drinking spirits, and of the effects of same on his brains, which it weakens so that all manliness soon leaves the poor wretch. At the public house, where he is wont to spend all his weekly earnings, while his son toils hard so that his poor, anxious mother can make both ends meet, the debased father picks a quarrel with one of his friends, and in his fury he throws a chair at the head of his opponent; he has become a madman, and on seeing his victim falling to the floor, he runs away and roams about the country aimlessly. His son, anxious about his prolonged absence, goes out and looks for him; but the man, still in a state of boundless rage, grasps him by the throat and strangles him. Presently he comes home, where the police come and put him into a strait jacket. The last picture shows an asylum in Nice, in a beautiful scenery which forms such a painful contrast to the house and its inmates.

A UNIQUE DISGUISE is a comical series.—"A £40 prize will be awarded to-night at the Bohemian ball to the person who wears the most freakish disguise." On reading this, a man out of employment and trying to make some money, bores a hole in a small kitchen sideboard, and gets into it, only leaving out of this unusual garment his head and feet. At the ball, where a long string of people are already passing before the jury for examination of their disguises, our man is greeted by a burst of laughter, and he is awarded at once the coveted prize, together with several bottles of champagne, sandwiches, and cakes, which he intends eating and drinking in peace in his garret; but this wish of his heart is only gratified after sundry and various incidents, which make this film a good comic.

I AM ABSORBED IN POLITICS.—Two friends are reading the election posters, but as their ideas are different, they have a discussion over same. The two buy the papers, fight again with arguments, push rudely a joiner, who turns round, and the plank he is carrying knocks the two down just as if they were puppets. In the heat of the discussion they forget to have lunch, pass under the wheels of a tramcar in spite of the desperate efforts of the driver; then they get up again and resume their arguing amongst a herd of cattle, which they try to convert to their opinions, without noticing what kind of listeners they have. They come home at last with a cigar in their mouths, and set fire to the house. The firemen coming on the spot, and soaking them through with water, put an end to their quarrel, and the two politicians, singed, wet, wounded, swear, rather late in the day, that they have had enough of it.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT.—In the street a lady passes a gentleman, who stops short, looks at her, and seems to wake up suddenly from a dream in time to follow her, mutter softly to himself, "This girl, or none." With the complicity of the maid, he comes into her house disguised as the hairdresser, then as the plumber; but as he does not know anything about the different businesses, he is soon found out, and the various incidents which ensue are most comical. The maid is dismissed as a consequence of her duplicity, and the young lover succeeds in taking her place; but here he has to contend with all sorts of unexpected happenings, and the film ends with his being found out again, amongst very amusing circumstances.

MAGIC ALBUM.—A magician receives the visit of an old Marquis, who is anxious to know his tricks. He takes a large book, on which several people silhouette themselves; then they become alive and step out of the album, performing at the same time funny and amusing pantomimes, to the delight of the nobleman.

FISHING IN SHALLOW WATER IN SWEDEN.—Beautiful water-falls and landscapes, together with good photographic quality, make of this film an interesting subject.

AT A SELECT HOTEL.—Mr. Racuit, by some evil chance, misses the train that is to take him to distant parts. The next train not going until the morning, he decides to stay at the hotel. Racuit has a most disturbed night and tosses and kicks about, so much so in fact, that his feet come from under the bedclothes and go through the partition into the next apartment, and are used as pegs by the two occupants. One can imagine what follows. The lady in the next room is thrown out of the window, the gentleman sent flying, but everything finishes up all right in a general reconciliation.

UNCLE'S FORTUNE.—An uncle, on his return from America, where he has made his fortune as a planter, and anxious to make out his will in favour of the most worthy of his nephews, tells them he is poor. After being welcomed by some and repelled by others, he knows their feelings towards him sufficiently well to make his will in such a way that each of them receives his due.

A SCIENTIFIC demonstration of the extraction of the deadly poison from the venomous diamond-backed rattlesnake of Arizona was given in the Bostock Jungle at Earl's Court on Friday, Aug. 21, when Doctors Goodkin, Johnson, and Bass officiated at the operation. By special arrangement, Messrs. Pathé Frères, the great cinematograph manufacturers, were privileged to reproduce same to make a unique series of pictures, for which, we learn, a very handsome sum was paid. According to Dr. Goodkin, a rattlesnake's venom produces death in a human being in from two to twenty minutes. The fangs are used as a hyperdermic needle to puncture the skin, the venom flowing from the salival glands through fang to the puncture. The venom then takes action on the nervous system.

Charles Urban Trading Co., Ltd.

SUNNY MADEIRA (Part I.).—It is evident from the title that this series of the Charles Urban Trading Company is to be published in sections. If so, and if the succeeding numbers prove as beautiful and interesting as the first instalment, the exhibitor need not pause before sending for a print of Sunny Madeira. The view of Madeira from the sea is said to be ample compensation for a bad crossing of the Bay of Biscay, and the present marvellous kinematographic results prove the accuracy of the statement. From the blue of Funchal and luxuriant Bella Vista, the audience is conducted by mountain cog railway to the high lands, picturesque and diversified. Actual experiences of the life, customs, and industries of Madeira are also projected—quaint methods of haulage through the surf by ox teams, passengers' luggage and freight drawn by the same means on sledges through the cobbled streets, market-day scenes, egg packing, diving for coins, and other views breathe the joy of living and the open-air life to such a degree that the veriest stay-at-home feels his pulse beat the faster as he gazes upon the pictured representation.

THE BARONET COWBOY.—Much has lately been read of the adventurous life of Sir G. C. Browne-Cave, and this film will serve further to whet the public appetite for the dexterous and the skilful. Exhibitions of horsemanship and expert manipulation of the lassoo or lariat furnish the elements of thrill and breath-holding suspense which every Urban operator is trained to introduce at the right moment. Methods of lassooing and throwing oxen for branding purposes are fully demonstrated, and human mastery over animal cunning and obstinacy is shown when a cowboy, without rope or other means, throws a bullock by mere strength of hand and arm. Buckjumping displays furnish excitement enough in a few minutes to last through an entire evening, and we predict for this film a wide demand.

COMIC and dramatic wants are also catered for this week in the large variety of excellent subjects published by Urban's. Space permits notice of a few only, but we are informed that full descriptive circulars of every production are periodically sent to any address upon written request.

THE HAND-CART RACE depicts many exceedingly comic incidents of a popular sporting event in France. Frantic efforts to win cause spills, locked wheels, bogged carts, and other accidents which rouse hilarity to a high and almost hysteric pitch, and the embarrassments of a harassed Mayor in presenting the prizes also lend their quota of amusement.

THE SWIMMING MASTER is another genuinely comic subject. A pupil of advancing age and considerable girth takes a swimming lesson from an amorous master. Love-making and swimming instruction cannot be indulged in at one and the same time, and the poor pupil is neglected. Complications arise, and the rescued and half-drowned pupil forcefully resents his master's lapse from duty. Further rescues from the watery element are necessary, and the swimming-master's difficulties increase and multiply, but he eventually lands his troubles safely on the bank of the river.

THE OLD VIOLIN provides beautiful scenery of high photographic quality, and an idyllic love-story at once romantic, artistic, and picturesque. Gratitude, love, rivalry, parental rejection, noble revenge, and the ultimate acceptance of a humble suitor's claims before those of a more wealthy admirer are admirably depicted.

A STERN FATHER BUT AN INDULGENT GRANDFATHER also presents a strong drama of thrilling and fascinating interest. A young man selects his own wife, but his father holds other views. Weak at first, the son yields for a moment; but the claims of love are strong, and, after saving his despairing sweetheart's life, he manfully approaches his father, and decides for poverty and happiness. He is disinherited, but encouraged by his beloved, works hard and makes his own way in the world. Three years afterwards family peace is restored through the instrumentality of the little son of the marriage, and the once stern parent is converted into a most indulgent grandsire.

THE SON'S CRIME furnishes a strong plot and plenty of incident amid the picturesque environment of racecourse and gold mining camp. Wild and ignorant betting on turf chances leads to the almost inevitable result, and the successive stages of crime, remorse, descent, uprising, and reparation are realistically depicted.

Edison Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

LIFE'S A GAME OF CARDS.—One could scarcely wish for a more absorbingly interesting story than is told by this film, just issued by the Edison Manufacturing Company. The little drama under review—for a drama it is—opens with a reception at the home of the hero's sweetheart. There we see the four leading characters. The hero catches his rival cheating at cards, and exposes him. By so doing he incurs the displeasure of his host, the girl's father, who orders him out of the house, and forbids the young lady to see him again. But as love laughs at locksmiths, so the hero attempts to procure possession of his beloved by means of an elopement. But his rival overhears the plotting, and, with the aid of a sailor, he puts into operation a counter-scheme. On his way to the rendezvous, the hero is attacked, outnumbered, and overpowered, and taken to a boat, from which he is afterwards transferred to a ship and carried to sea. The heroine, of course, is in despair at his not keeping the appointment, and believes he has forsaken her. The hero, after having been beaten and forced to work in the vessel, eventually reaches South Africa. He starts for the goldfields, "strikes lucky," and determines to return home. The heroine, in the meantime, has been sadly depressed by his unaccountable disappearance, but she still remains true to him. The rival resumes his plotting to win the lady's hand and heart, gains the parents' favour, and a marriage between them is arranged. On the wedding day the hero appears on the scene, explains the villainous conduct of the prospective bridegroom, who is sent to the right-about, and there is a happy reunion of the real lovers. The film is of a beautiful quality, and perfect from the photographic point of view.

OTHER Edison films worthy of mention are entitled FLY-PAPER, LOVE WILL FIND A WAY, PIONEERS CROSSING THE PLAIN IN '49, THE LITTLE COXSWAIN OF THE 'VARSITY EIGHT, THE BOSTON TEA PARTY, THE FACE ON THE BAR-ROOM FLOOR, and A DUMB HERO.

MISS MABEL MAY has been touring the piers with Mr. Sidney Leighton's concert party, and had rather a long stay at Jersey, her songs and dances gaining unstinted applause.

KINEMATOGRAPH REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE USE OF THE

KINEMATOGRAPH

IN

THEATRES & HALLS,

ALSO THE

REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE USE OF

LIMELIGHT

CAN BE HAD,

Price ONE PENNY (by post 1½d.)

FROM

"THE ERA" OFFICES,

5, TAVISTOOK-STREET, W.C.

Telephones No. 4747 and 1433 Central.

Telegraphic Address, "The Era, London.

All those who handle the Cinematograph or Limelight should possess a copy of these Regulations.

SID WHITE'S FUN FAIR AT TON-Y-PANDY.

In the De Winton Recreation Grounds, Ton-y-pandy, Mr. Sid White's great aggregation of show and machine novelties have had a most successful season.

The concerns under Mr. White's direction include the Royal Electric Coliseum and Palace of Varieties, the Great London Tower Chute, the Channel Tunnel Railway, the Aerial Navigation, and Park Swings. There were also the usual adjuncts of a well-ordered Fair—side shows, throwing games, and stalls.

Mazzoni, King of Manacles.

The star of the variety turns at White's Electric Coliseum was Mazzoni, the undefeated Handcuff King. Great excitement prevailed in Ton-y-pandy over the contest between Cass White, the local handcuff expert, and Mazzoni. The event took place on Thursday evening, August 20, before a crowded audience in the Coliseum, and it proved a veritable struggle between steel and muscle. The test was that Cass White should manacle Mazzoni in such a manner that he could not liberate himself. If Mazzoni failed to free himself from Cass White's manacles in fifteen minutes White was to receive one sovereign; if the manacles held Mazzoni prisoner thirty minutes White would win five pounds; and if Mazzoni failed to free himself from the irons in forty minutes the forfeit to Cass White would be ten pounds.

Mr. Cass White brought his own manacles. They were: One English neck iron, one pair of Belgian leg irons, one pair of Chinese shackles, and one pair of Italian transport handcuffs.

The manacling of Mazzoni by Cass White took fully fifteen minutes, and was done on the stage in full view of the audience. Hands and feet and the neck being thus shackled, Mazzoni was further hampered by being placed in the narrow limits of a barrel. Amidst the tense excitement and growing interest of the great audience, the Handcuff King began his work of liberation.

Minute after minute flew by with no sign of release—nothing but the sounds of the fierce struggle waging within the narrow confines of the barrel, the stern fight between steel and muscle. The fifteen-minute stage of the contest was reached, and the man who bound the prisoner was the recipient of the forfeited sovereign. Twenty minutes was reached; then at the call of "Twenty-three minutes" Mazzoni sprang out of the barrel free of every manacle, to be welcomed by thunders of applause, again and again repeated.

The detailed arrangements of the contest and the capital display of animated pictures and variety at White's Coliseum were under the able management of Mr. Alf. Shirley, vocalist and lecturer.

Irvine Fair.

THIS excellent Scotch fair had for its entertainment Bostock's menagerie, Buckley's trained animals, Paulo's circus, the cinematograph theatres of Geo. Green, Wingate and Paulo, Moore's boxers, and Chapman's birds.

THE machines were those of Messrs. Green and Baker and Sons; swings and big boats by Messrs. Lawrence and Stevenson. The other fair-ground amusements were provided by Messrs. Sheenan, Irvin, Smith, Stevenson, Lawrence, Ross, and others.

Salisbury.

MR. JAMES BARTLETT'S galloping horses and Fun City are located for a short time at the Swan Hotel Paddock, Harnham, and are doing good business. It is gratifying to find, after some time, suitable ground has at last been procured where roundabouts, &c., can take up their position. Will showmen visiting this district kindly note this? Good business has been done here in the past, but owing to building operations this class of entertainment was almost unable to find any place to pitch in, but at last this obstacle has been removed, and we trust those who visit the town will meet with good results.

New Bye-Laws at Reading.

WE regret to announce that the Corporation of Reading has determined to exercise its powers to formulate new bye-laws.

WE have hitherto looked upon Reading as one of the progressive towns where the authorities gave full facilities for shows to use its commodious market fair-ground in order to afford wholesome amusements for the people. We regret that this liberty is to be curtailed. Shows and other travelling amusements will in future be at the mercy of anyone who cares to play the dog-in-the-manger game and to object to the pleasures he cannot himself enjoy being allowed to others.

WE sincerely hope that the Corporation will, even at the last moment, withdraw the new bye-law, and leave it within the discretion of their own officials to regulate shows and amusements, and not tie their own hands by restrictive bye-laws.

MR. CARL FREDERICKS and his nine merrymakers, who have been so great an attraction at the Sydney Gardens, Bath, this season, fulfilled a special engagement at the Frome carnival lately, and their refined entertainment afforded the greatest pleasure to the crowds that attended. On Thursday this week Mr. Carl Fredericks was responsible for the entire programme in connection with a big Unionist fête held at the Sydney Gardens, Bath.

KINEMATOGRAPH COPYRIGHT.

THE LAW AFFECTING THE SAME.

BY

WILLIAM JAGO, F.I.C., F.C.S.,

BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

Price SIXPENCE.

Address, THE PUBLISHER,

"THE ERA" OFFICES,

5, TAVISTOOK-ST., LONDON, W.C.

Telephones: Nos. 4747 and 1433 Central.

Telegraphic Address, "The Era, London."

THE NEW EMPIRE, BOLTON.

A worthy addition to the public buildings in Bolton, henceforth to be known as "The Empire Theatre and Hippodrome," was opened on Monday to the public. Recently erected by Mr. Thomas Hargreaves, of Rochdale (himself the proprietor and builder), from plans and drawings prepared by Messrs. Butterworth and Duncan, architects, &c., the building has a handsome frontage to Deansgate (West) of 66ft. 6in. It is constructed partly of Yorkshire parpoints, with ashlar dressings, the remainder of the elevation being of brick and stone. Internally, the theatre is thoroughly up to date, being adapted in every way to the comfort and convenience of audiences. The absence of columns in the auditorium ensures a clear view of the stage from all parts, and a substantial rake in the pit level assures an uninterrupted sight line. The arched ceiling is divided into thirty-eight panels, in which are painted graceful figures typifying "The Seasons," and containing scroll-work with the names of musical composers wrought in gold, blue, and salmon tints.

The proscenium has been the object of elaborate decorative treatment. In dimensions it is 25ft. high and 30ft. wide, the effect being very striking. The upper part is clouded, relieved with hand-painted festoons, and surmounting the arch is a fine decorative device, introducing the classic lyre, with graceful sculptured figures on either side, and support is given by marble pillars below. To the extreme right and left are private boxes, also surmounted with figures and decorated in cream, blue, and gold.

The circle front is also relieved with the same tints, whilst the walls of the building generally are hung with art red paper and dado to match. The upholstering and other furnishing is in harmony with the general scheme of decoration, and in both the orchestral stalls and circle tip-up chairs are provided. The convenience of the artists has not been neglected, ample dressing-room accommodation has been furnished, and every precaution has been taken for the safety of an audience, numerous exits being provided from all parts of the house. A complete electric lighting installation has been laid, and the ventilation has received careful consideration. The principal entrance in Deansgate is through a large and handsome vestibule, decorated with Brescia and Genoa marble, and the floor laid with black and white marble tiles. Some pretty stained-glass windows are placed in the front of the building. A feature of the interior is the excellent view afforded of the stage, the balcony being carried by cantilevers, and the roof constructed with circular steel trusses. The whole of the fittings and furnishings are by the well-known firm of Goodalls, of Manchester, and the steel work by John Booth and Sons, of Bolton. The proprietor is Mr. Thomas Hargreaves, sen.; the general-manager, Mr. Thomas Hargreaves, jun.; and the acting-manager Mr. A. R. Harrison.

The initial performance was given on Monday to a large audience, comprising a goodly number of the Town Council and prominent gentlemen in the town. The Towyn Thomas's Royal Welsh Entertainers sang the National Anthem. Other turns in a good programme were supplied by the Geni Family, a clever troupe of Continental risley acrobats, &c.; Jack Martin, actor vocalist; Lina Leslie, a dainty comedienne; Oliver Conroy, comedian; R. A. Speedwell, rapid portrait painter, &c.; Gladys and Alber, in a smart comedy tumbling act; Fred Neiman, ventriloquist; and Billy Richardson, stump orator, and the Bioscope.

A COPY of "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

"PRINCESS AURORA."

A Grand Opera Tabloid, in One Act, by R. M. Harvey and Tom S. Jones, Produced at the Tivoli on Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 22.

King Chalarise ..... MR. EDMUND SHARP
Prince Alfeo ..... MISS GALIA GAIRE
Duke of Saratezza ..... MR. JOHN M. HAY
Princess Aurora ..... MISS NETTA LYNDE

Opera in the "'alls" has certainly been heard of before the production on Saturday afternoon of Princess Aurora. Mr. Charles Turner presented a few years ago condensed versions of our better-known English operas at the South London Palace, and met with some degree of success. The musical playlet under review met with a satisfactory reception at the Strand music hall, but it was apparent that the audience regarded it as something to which they were not quite accustomed.

It is quite a fairy story that Messrs. Harvey and Jones give to us. The King of Drodadillo has offered half his kingdom to any nobleman who can win Princess Aurora's heart. The Princess is fearful that her heart is of stone, and will never melt, as she has had many passionate suitors, none of whom she could love. A minstrel serenades the Princess, and she commands him to sing before her, when he tells her that he will never love any woman, but that his heart shall always be free. The Princess is interested, as she has never before met a man who has not offered his life for her love. The Duke of Saratezza, a fop, arrives, and being quite confident of success, is given an audience. While he vows his love for the Princess she begins to learn that she really loves the minstrel. The Duke, seeing her blushes, which he thinks are caused by his eloquent pleading, is about to take her in his arms, when the Princess announces her heart is already given to one who will never love her—to a minstrel. The King vows he will turn this minstrel from the palace, but the minstrel throws off his disguise, declares himself to be Prince Alfeo, and as he has won Princess Aurora's heart he claims half the kingdom, to which King Charlarise willingly assents.

The piece, which was produced in efficient style by Mr. Alec Flood, was on the whole capably acted, while the vocalism showed considerable training and inherent talent. Mr. Edmund Sharp made a dignified King, Miss Galia Gaire was a charming Prince Alfeo, Miss Netta Lynde an engaging Princess, while Mr. John M. Hay submitted an appropriate characterisation of the foppish Duke of Saratezza.

Death of a Young Showman.

We regret to receive the sad news of the death of Bert Jarvis, a young showman of great ability and brilliant promise. He commenced his career with the celebrated Biddalls, and was afterwards with Jacob Studt, Hancocks, and Payne. His business acumen and keen grasp of modern conditions made him a capital manager, and in that capacity he fulfilled engagements with the firms mentioned above. His premature death at the threshold of a most promising career will be keenly felt, not only by his sorrowing family, but by a wide circle of friends in the showman world.

The Movable Dwellings Bill.

The Rev. T. Horne will explain at a joint committee of the Showmen's Guild and the Roundabout Proprietors and Showmen's Union the work already done with regard to the Movable Dwellings Bill. The meeting will be at the Market Hotel, Oldham, at six o'clock in the evening, Wednesday next, Sept. 2.

"THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT," for actor and composer, by Albert A. Strong, LL.B. (Lond.). Price 3s. 5d., post free 3s. 10d. Published at The Era Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

EDISON FILMS

NOW READY FOR SHIPMENT FROM THE FACTORY, ORANGE, U.S.A.

LIFE'S A GAME OF CARDS.

SYNOPSIS OF SCENES.

PRELUDE.—Sir John Lubbock says "Life's a game" like the game of cards; Fate deals each hand, daily, face down. In life, "it is not always in holding a good hand, but in playing a bad hand well." Our hero starts handicapped with poverty, pride and ambition.

THE GAME OF CARDS.—Hero at swell reception—Home of woman he loves—Catches rival cheating at cards—Exposes him—Incurs host's censure—Father takes rival's part—Orders hero from house—Forbids heroine to see him again.

PLANNING AN ELOPEMENT.—Hero plays a "hand"—Meets heroine—Urges speedy marriage—They agree to elope—Overheard by rival—Part to prepare.

THE VILLAIN'S "HAND."—Rival plots with "Crimps," the sailor—Hero to be "shanghaied" to Africa and turned adrift—The bargain sealed.

"CLUBS ARE PLAYED."—Hero leaves home—To meet heroine — Waylaid by "Crimps"—The attack—Valiant defence—Numbers count—Overpowered—Taken to boat.

THE HEROINE WAITS.—At the rendezvous—Heroine becomes nervous—Alarmed—Conflicting emotions—Misjudges hero—Believes deserted—Rival appears—Wins again—Escorts heroine home.

"SHANGHAIED."—"Crimps" forces hero into boat—Taken to ship—Rough treatment resented—Hero beaten—Forced to work—Carried to sea.

IN SOUTH AFRICA.—Off the coast—The favourable moment—Hero leaves ship—Swims ashore—Reaches mining camp—Receives assistance—Miners give an outfit—Starts for Goldfields.

"SPADES ARE TRUMPS."—Hero reaches goldfields—Prospects—Stakes claim—Strikes it rich—Determines to return home.

"DIAMONDS ARE LED."—Home of heroine—No news—Heroine sad—Still true—Rival continues to plot—Presses suit—Gains parents' favour—Presents heroine diamond necklace—Heroine in despair—Abandons hope—Agrees to marry rival.

"HEARTS ARE TRUMPS."—The wedding day—Rival triumphant—Guests arrive—Heroine downcast—Banns are called—Hero appears on time—Stops wedding—Exposes rival—Rival turned out—Father welcomes hero—Happy reunion—"All's well that ends well."

No. 6363. Code, "Velocimane." Length 960ft.

LATEST SUBJECTS:

No. 6360. Fly Paper.
6361. Love Will Find a Way.
6362. Pioneers Crossing the Plain in '49.
6363. The Little Coxswain of the 'Varsity Eight.
6364. The Boston Tea Party.
6366. The Face on the Bar-room Floor.
6367. A Dumb Hero.

EDISON KINETOSCOPES.

UNDERWRITER'S MODEL (One Pin Movement), price £36 15s.
REDUCES FLICKER 50 PER CENT.
Includes, among other improvements, a New Automatic Shutter, Improved Lamphouse, Upper and Lower Film Magazines, New Style Rheostat, New Enclosed Switch, Improved Take-up Device, New Revolving Shutter, and Asbestos-covered Cord Connection.

EDISON IMPROVED EXHIBITION MODEL (One Pin Movement), price £32 11s.

EDISON UNIVERSAL MODEL, price £15 15s.

EDISON MANUFACTURING CO., Ltd.,
Edison Works, 200, Victoria Rd., Willesden, London, N.W.

'THE ORGAN-GRINDER."

A Dramatic Sketch, in Three Scenes, by Alicia Ramsey and Rudolph de Cordova, Produced at the New Cross Empire on Monday, Aug. 24.

Sir Horace Wyndham, Bart., ... Mr. Francis Chamier
Antonio Sante ..... Mr. Harry Courtin
Jim ..... Mr. Knox-Orde
Arthur Thorne ..... Mr. Aylmer J. Williams
Sal ..... Miss Joan Pereira
Nelly ..... Miss Nonny Lock

The opening scene represents the exterior of the mansion of Sir Horace Wyndham in Park Lane, outside which an organ-grinder named Antonio takes up his stand with his partner Sal. We learn from their conversation that Antonio nourishes revengeful feelings towards the baronet, whom he suspects of having betrayed a girl whom he (Antonio) loved devotedly many years before, and the Italian determines to kidnap Sir Horace's little girl Nelly. The baronet takes all possible precautions to secure his child's safety, because fifteen years before his only son had been stolen and was never again heard of. While Antonio and Sal are waiting their opportunity to secure Nelly a policeman orders them to move on. They go very reluctantly, and another organ-grinder prepares to play before the house of Sir Horace. Police-constable Thorne orders him to move on, but the young man pleads to be allowed to play and sing one song for the little lady, who always gives him sixpence for himself. The tender-hearted constable relents, and disappears down the area steps to visit his friend the cook. Jim commences to play, and goes on to sing very pleasingly of "Sweetheart Days," which he calls his little lady's song. Nelly appears at the window and throws Jim his usual sixpence. When Jim has departed Antonio and Sal return, and on Nelly coming to the door Antonio throws a shawl over her head, lifts her into his organ—which is merely an empty case—and makes off with all haste. When Nelly is missed there is general distress. In the midst of this Sir Horace drives up, and on learning the alarming news departs to search for the child.

Scene 2 shows the organ-grinder's home. Jim enters with his organ, leaves his earnings on the table, and retires to bed. Antonio and Sal bring in the organ containing Nelly, and after threatening her with the whip, proceed to transform her into an Italian peasant. The disguise is complete and she is introduced to Jim as a niece of Antonio.

Sir Horace searches in vain for his child, and a reward of £5,000 is offered. Meanwhile Antonio and Sal quarrel, and the man turns her into the street. Sal thereupon determines to win the £5,000. Jim enters with Nelly asleep on the organ. Their takings have been small, as the child had not been well enough to dance, and Antonio gets his whip to thrash her. Jim defends the child. There is a struggle between them, and Jim is nearly overpowered, when Sal returns with the police and the baronet, who recognises his child and also discovers that Jim is the son whose loss he has mourned for fifteen years.

The little piece is vigorously and dramatically written, and was greeted with unstinted applause. It is well acted, and of course will improve with each performance. Mr. Chamier plays Sir Horace Wyndham with dignity and repose, and is altogether excellent; Mr. Knox-Orde gives a natural and pleasing performance of the lad Jim; Antonio is well acted by Mr. Harry Courtin, and if he modifies his vocal powers he will be a very picturesque figure in the play. Mr. Aylmer Williams gives a capital impersonation of the good-hearted policeman; Miss Joan Pereira plays Sal with power and consistency, and makes the part one of the best in the production; Miss Nonny Lock is a delightful Little Nelly, and wins all hearts by her charming performance.

The scenery is generally excellent, although in one scene flowers are seen blooming in the window-boxes with summer luxuriance, despite the fact that snow is falling heavily.

There are many other good turns on the bill, notably Ben Albert, who makes many friends by his quaint style and amusing rendering of "To See the Exhibition." The Eight Lancashire Lads score a decided success; Carney and Armstrong are very funny comedians; Duncan and Godfrey appear, with their usual success, in their interesting contribution, entitled Me and 'Er; Mr. Henry Coutts works hard, and his numerous and rapid changes of costume evoke considerable enthusiasm; he is ably assisted by Miss Dot Kemp; Leo Tell is a huge favourite with his many clever imitations; the Haytors appear with success in a smart little sketch; Miss Madge Osmond, male impersonator, is warmly applauded; and Cruikshank is immensely popular. New pictures on the American Bioscope complete an excellent bill.

It is stated that Count Charles Eulenberg, son of the old prince who was once the Kaiser's favourite, has married in London Fräulein Tilly Marx, daughter of a locksmith and a performer at a Munich music hall. The Count, who is twenty-three years old, attempted six months ago to obtain better terms for Fräulein Marx from the music-hall management. The latter communicated with the Prince, and the result of the family dispute which followed was that the Count took Fräulein Marx to London and there married her.

Miss Adele Roze, the well-known musical-comedy artist, made her début on the music-hall stage on Monday at the Palace, Stoke Newington, and scored an instantaneous success. Not only are her songs (by Harrington and Powell) good, but her dresses and general appearance are chic and charming.

At the Battersea Palace Mr. Lew Towers, although not billed for that house, is making a success with his new light comedy number, Boys Without Girls, by Harry Staunton and Harry Carlton. Mr. Towers is on his eighth week of the Macnaghten tour.

Mr. John Thomas, the harpist, has written a book, in which he points out that Jubal first played the "lyre," but makes no reference to the misdeeds of Ananias, nor does he "harp" on the terminological inexactitudes of the company promoter or the enthusiastic angler.

Mr. Reuben More and concert party, "The Artists and Models," are now in the nineteenth week of their most successful pier tour, having visited Torquay, Cleethorpes, Ventnor, Worthing, Broadstairs, &c. They are now at Cowes until Sept. 12, and from there they finish up the season at Bournemouth Pier, two weeks, terminating Sept. 26 (twenty-four weeks in all). On Sept. 28 Mr. More is producing a new act at the Hippodrome, Portsmouth (Metropolitan to follow) in conjunction with Mr. Sydney James.

Another popular turn at the same house on Monday evening was that of Mr. Dusty Rhodes, who has the happy knack of "getting home" with all that he says or does. His witty shafts seemed to find a home all over the house, and, had time permitted, more of such good fare would have been welcomed.

An interesting wedding took place in Carlisle on the 17th inst., when Mr. Percy Udin, acting-manager for Mr. Sydney Bacon at the New Public Hall, was married to Florence, youngest daughter of Admiral Lamont, R.N., of Whitstable, Kent. Mr. Udin, whose genial nature and never-failing courtesy have made him highly popular with the patrons of the hall, received many tokens of the regard in which he is held and hearty congratulations from his many private and professional friends.

QUEEN'S, POPLAR.

"I've just taken a new lease of life," said the veteran Mr. Michael Abrahams to us one evening this week when we had the pleasure of congratulating him on his seemingly rejuvenated appearance after over sixty years' active association with music-hall affairs. And his conduct of the Queen's is more and more to the satisfaction of his patrons every day. This week there is an attractive programme. In it a new sketch has found considerable favour. We refer to

"AT ENGLAND'S COMMAND,"
a Revolutionary Episode.

Sir Richard Byron ..... Mr. Leonard Robson
Darewski ..... Mr. Edward Thane
Vera Kuvalda ..... Miss Katherine Clarke

Dick Byron, of the English Secret Service, is at Warsaw, and to the hotel where he is staying comes one Vera Kuvalda, a Polish lady, with whom he is really in love. She warns him that she has heard that the Revolutionists have determined to bring about his death. The person to whom has been entrusted this high office is named Darewski. That gentleman finds his way to Byron's apartment in the hotel, and there he meets Vera. He informs the latter that he is to be the executioner of her lover, but he will consent not to discharge this "duty," and will permit the Englishman to depart in safety, if she will promise to become his wife. The lady will not agree to promise anything of the sort. In an attempt to hinder her passing from the room Darewski is confronted by Byron. The Pole threatens terrible things, and eventually produces a bomb, but as he is about to fling it to the ground he is killed by a shot fired over the balcony, and all ends happily with the announcement that the lovers are about to set sail for England, where, Byron's brother having died, the hero becomes a baronet, and can now find a comfortable home for the woman of his choice. Mr. Edward Thane gives us some good tragic acting in the rôle of Darewski, and Miss Katherine Clarke as Vera and Mr. Leonard Robson as Byron also furnish ample evidence of dramatic skill in their portrayals.

Miss May Henderson, the sprightly, lively "dusky queen," creates a high pitch of merriment with her songs, "I love you true" and "Any knives to grind?" Her dancing, too, is of the exhilarating order. Miss Winnie Brooker proves a most attractive and entertaining military coon on her first appearance, while on her second she treats the audience to a series of verses, "Why I'm so unhappy to-day," which appear to have some bearing on the drink question. A somewhat novel act is introduced by Mr. Fred Maitland. He begins by telling the house that, as he has been invited to become a candidate for the next Parliamentary election, he has been permitted by the management to address them with a view to securing their votes. Then he proceeds to speak on such subjects as the Old Age Pension, the Licensing Bill, and Women's Suffrage. He is constantly interrupted by a spectacled lady in one of the boxes, who "heckles" him in rather a burlesque fashion, and who is finally ordered and escorted out of the theatre. Of course the fun is highly appreciated, and Mr. Maitland is rewarded by loud applause. Another novelty in the bill is furnished by what is called The American Airship, around and inside which a couple of clowns indulge in a good deal of fooling. Mr. Harry Ford is as droll as ever, his songs "What do you want it for?" and "You mustn't do that" being a source of huge merriment. Spry and Monti have a most attractive and entertaining "happy mixture" of singing and dancing, and the Bartholomew Girls delight everybody with their pretty duets and dances. A Tragedy in the Alps is the title of the film that is displayed. Mr. Charles Hector attends in his usual capable manner to the management of the establishment—a work which he ordinarily shares with Mr. Morris Abrahams, who is now holidaying.

The following are the games fixed to be played by the Crystal Palace Football Club at the Crystal Palace:—Saturday, Sept. 5, Leyton (S.L.); Wednesday, 9th, Croydon (L.C.); Wednesday, 16th, Southampton (S.L.); Saturday, 19th, Brighton and Hove Albion (S.L.); Wednesday, 23rd, Leyton (W.L.); Wednesday, 30th, Norwich City (S.L.); Saturday, Oct. 10, Luton (S.L.); Wednesday, 21st, Queen's Park Rangers (S.L.); Saturday, 24th, Portsmouth (S.L.); Wednesday, 28th, Reading (W.L.); Saturday, November 7, Northampton (S.L.); Saturday, 21st, Millwall (S.L.); Wednesday, Dec. 2, Brighton and Hove Albion (W.L.); Wednesday, 9th, Luton (W.L.); Wednesday, 16 (Queen's Park Rangers (W.L.); Saturday, 19th, Watford (S.L.); Wednesday, 30th, Croydon (W.L.); Saturday, Jan. 9, 1909, West Ham (S.L.); Saturday, 30th, Plymouth Argyle (S.L.); Saturday, Feb. 6, Brentford (S.L.); Saturday, 20th, Swindon (S.L.); Saturday, March 6, Exeter (S.L.); Wednesday, 17th, Southend United (S.L.); Saturday, 20th, New Brompton (S.L.); Saturday, April 10, Coventry (S.L.); Monday, 12th, Reading (S.L.); Saturday 17th, Bristol Rovers (S.L.).

The games of the Crystal Palace (Football) Reserve Team at the Crystal Palace will be:—Sept. 12, against West Ham Reserves (S.E.); Sept. 26, Tunbridge Wells Rangers (S.E.); Oct. 3, Fulham Reserves (S.E.); 7th, Clapton Orient Reserves (S.E.); 17th, Swindon Reserves (S.E.); 31st, Chelsea Reserves (S.E.); Nov. 14, East Ham (F.); 28th, Southend United Reserves (S.E.); Dec. 5, Queen's Park Rangers Reserves (S.E.); 12th, Tottenham Hotspurs Reserves (S.E.); 26th, Norwich City Reserves (S.E.); Jan. 2, 1909, Leyton Reserves (S.E.); 6th, Woolwich Arsenal Reserves (S.E.); 16th, Hastings and St. Leonards Reserves (S.E.); 23rd, Brighton and Hove Reserves (S.E.); Feb. 13, Luton Reserves; 27th, Portsmouth Reserves (S.E.); March 3, Croydon Common (S.E.); 13th, Sittingbourne (S.E.); 27, Maidstone (S.E.).

For the week commencing Aug. 31 there will be a variety show in the centre transept of the Crystal Palace. Mlle. Leoville, the well-known artist on the tight wire will introduce many novel tricks. Messrs. Craig, Rose Craig and company, acrobats and athletes, will make their first appearance. The flying Orenius, two gentlemen and a lady, will perform phenomenal somersaults as they fly through mid air, and the children will be especially interested in the miniature menagerie of dogs, &c., and the smallest pony known, who will be introducted by his trainer, Mlle. Rosini.

A confetti fête and carnival will be held at the Crystal Palace on Wednesday, Sept. 9. Some magnificent prizes will be given. They are now on view in the centre transept facing the theatre. Mr. C. H. Hyatt, the popular amusement caterer, has presented a beautiful canteen of dinner-table requisites, which may be won by the lady wearing the handsomest dress. Mr. A. Gibbs, of the Cambridge Hotel, and one of the directors of the football club, is presenting a charming Princess tea set for the lady attired in the most original costume.

All throughout the country active preparations are being made for the ninth annual National Brass Band Festival. This will be held on Saturday, Sept 26, at the Crystal Palace, under the direction of Mr. H. Iles. Over 150 bands will compete for the 1000 guineas cup presented by the Crystal Palace Company. A large number of other prizes will also be given, making the large total of £2000. There will be a great concert of the massed bands, and a contest will be held for concertina bands.

"Are You a Socialist?" an up-to-date one-act comedy by Laura Leycester, was produced last week at the Bedford by Mr. Colin Bryce and company with great success, and is fast booking up.

THE FORESTERS'.

A "bumper" programme is submitted to the patrons of this well-conducted establishment, and packed houses are the rule nightly to witness the many interesting items. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lucas, in the scene from Dickens, "The introduction of Dick Swiveller to the Marchioness," are delightful, the lady's make-up being most realistic. Mr. and Mrs. Lucas must have made a careful study of their many characters, and thoroughly deserve the hearty reception meted out to them by an attentive audience. Mr. Leo Dryden sang in brilliant style "The Sins of Society," his second item being his latest vocal playlet, "The White Man," which is excellently rendered, and being possessed of a tuneful melody, it gives the singer fine scope for his powerful voice, which is heard throughout the hall. Mr. Dryden is fortunate in adding another success to his big budget. Miss Dora Lyric, beautifully gowned and looking very handsome, gave in her well-known style a good number, "Kiss me, Georgie, do," and "I'm leaving Monte Carlo," the chorus of both being heartily taken up by the whole audience, the melody of both being irresistible.

Harrigan and Holt, comedians, indulge in humorous repartee which is distinctly good. They are also powerful singers and good dancers, their turn being greatly enjoyed. The Three Sisters Thurban are talented young ladies, for they give many well-played selections on several instruments, concluding with a number of popular songs well rendered on the cornet; Mr. Chas. Resti, conjurer and entertainer, deceives with many novel tricks, his last being particularly clever; Guest and Newlyn, comedy duo, supply an interesting few minutes with their smart business; Daisy Hurdle is a dainty comedienne and neat dancer, her efforts being warmly rewarded; the Dancing Gilberts, two lively young ladies, open with a tuneful coon song, and then give an exhibition of their dancing, which is a distinct feature, for in this they excel. Miss Jenny Gray is also a clever dancer.

Dolly Elsworthy and company are seen in the emotional sketch, Nana, which is capitally played. Miss Elsworthy is supported by a talented company, special mention being due to Mr. John Richter who plays Armand Duval with intense feeling. Excellent films are displayed by Raymond's Bio-tableaux, The Horrors of War being particularly good. Mr. Faithfull, as usual, extends his well-known courtesy.

Messrs. Vaughan and Cook, specialists in the lighting and heating of theatres, of Goswell-road, are just finishing work at the new Devonport Hippodrome, where they are providing the canopy, the fire curtain, the heating, and gas-lighting. At the Tottenham Palace they are responsible for the gas-lighting, heating, hydrants, and curtain; at the Ramsgate Hippodrome they have just finished an installation of gas-lighting; and have introduced new heating arrangements at the Islington Empire. They have also three of the new Electric Theatres in hand, viz., Rye-lane, Peckham, Wandsworth High-road, and Hammersmith, so they may regard themselves as exceptionally busy.

Mlle. Ghita Corri, who was "topping" at the Winter Gardens, New Brighton, last week, has just introduced into her successful song-scena, "Character Types," a dashing new patriotic song, written by Neville Lynn, and entitled "An Eastern Princess," in which the gifted singer wears a magnificent "Cleopatra" costume (realising her well-known six-sheet poster), and is absolutely covered with jewels. Five and six calls and an encore from the crammed houses welcome the song nightly, and Mr. Albert Douglass, the enterprising manager, immediately arranged return dates for January and July next, this making, for her, three engagements within a year for the Winter Gardens. Next Monday Mlle. Corri returns to Mr. Robert Forsyth at the Folkestone Hippodrome.

In our notice of the Palace, Aberdeen, last week the name of Mr. Roland Hill ("Ye Dame" and historical humorist) was inadvertently omitted. Mr. Hill did a twenty minutes' turn in each house, and was highly successful.

The startling feature of The Sands of Dee, to be produced at the Hippodrome on Monday, is a sweeping tidal wave, which is to engulf artists and "supers" alike. In the production of the wave itself five tons of water fall from the roof into the arena—a distance of seventy-eight feet. So carefully is the wave managed, however, that none of the audience will be so much as sprinkled with the spray. Some difficulty was encountered in securing a cast of artists who were willing to be soaked for the sake of the final effect. Owing to the construction of the play it was found impossible to substitute dummies for the real people, as is sometimes done.

The latest quotations for music-hall shares are as follow:—Alhambra, 1½; Canterbury, ½; Empire, (15s. paid) 1½, ditto (10s. paid) 1; London Pavilion Ordinary 3⅛, ditto Preference 4½; Metropolitan, 10s.; Moss Empire 4⅞, ditto 5 per cent. Preference 3⅞; Oxford 6 1-16; Palace, 20s. 6d.; Tivoli, 5; Variety Consolidated Theatres, ½.

A casual visit paid by Mr. Moody and Mr. A. Hind Smith to a Manchester music-hall in 1872 determined the career of the late Mr. Sankey. "After an evening meeting," writes Mr. Smith, Mr. Moody asked: 'Where do the people spend their evenings?' I replied that the music-hall was the chief place. 'Let's go to some of them,' said Mr. Moody. I took him first to a popular place in Deansgate, where we heard a girl singing. Mr. Moody, in his own quaint way, said: 'That lass has got hold of the audience. I see the people like to hear good singing.' From this place we went to the Oxford Music Hall, where the people were crowding in after the close of the theatres. . . . As we stood, Mr. Moody said something like this: 'I say, Hind Smith, I see the people will have good singing. I have a friend in America connected with the Y.M.C.A., who is a splendid singer; his name is Sankey; if I live to come over again I will bring him with me—see if I don't.'"

The first annual excursion of the staff of the Belfast Royal Hippodrome took place on Sunday to Portrush and the Giants' Causeway. The arrangements were duly carried out by Mr. Geo. Dobler, secretary, and Mr. Fred F. Wilby (the stage-manager) as hon. treasurer. Nearly one hundred made the journey, and amongst those present were Messrs. Harry T. Downs, general-manager, Messrs. Dobler and Wilby, Mr. Will White (popular manager of the Alhambra) and Mrs. White, Mr. Edgar L. Haines, and Mr. W. L. Richards, the musical conductor of the Hippodrome and Empire respectively; Mr. Bob Wilson, manager St. George's Hall, and Mr. F. Arthur, assistant-manager; also Messrs. W. Motherwell and R. Leach (David Allen and Sons, Ltd.), Mlle. Von Etta and the Sisters Brooke (2), Mr. A. Charles (Messrs. Charles and Russell), R. Donaldson, J. Butler, and many others. At the Station Café, Portrush, dinner was served on arrival, and tea on the return from the Giants' Causeway.

Goodfellow and Gregson left on Friday for Australia to fulfil a second engagement with Mr. Harry Rickards, made by Pacey's agency.

"The Era" can be obtained at the principal bookstalls throughout the provinces.

REVISED SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ARTISTS WANTING ENGAGEMENTS. MANAGERS WANTING ARTISTS,

TWENTY WORDS, ONE SHILLING. Each Additional Six Words, Sixpence.

This Scale does not apply to "Trade" Advertisements in these Columns

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION (Post Free).

	UNITED KINGDOM.	FOREIGN.
One Quarter	6s. 6d.	8s.
Half Year	13s. 0d.	16s.
One Year	26s. 0d.	32s.

The Offices of "The Era" are "THE ERA" BUILDINGS, 5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, STRAND, W.C. For the convenience of Advertisers, Replies to Advertisements are received. They can remain until called for, or be forwarded by Post if postage be arranged.

NO STAMPS.

Advertisers and subscribers are politely requested to forward Cheques or Postal Orders in payment of their Advertisements and Subscriptions, crossed "Lloyd's Bank, Ltd." Remittances should be made payable to "The Era," Limited, and addressed,

The Publisher,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.
"Wire," "The Era, London."
"Ring-up," 4747 or 1433 Central.

In case of the non-delivery of "THE ERA" by the First Post, the Publisher will be greatly obliged if Advertisers will forward their Postal Wrappers with the time of delivery marked upon them.

COMPANIES WANTED.

TWENTY WORDS, ONE SHILLING. Each Additional Six Words, Sixpence.

MILTON BODE AND EDWARD COMPTON'S THEATRES.
WANTED, First-Class Companies, for THEATRE ROYAL, BRIGHTON, Dec. 7, 14, Feb. 8, 15, 22, March 1, on.
DALSTON THEATRE, LONDON, N.E., Jan. 18, March 8, 22, April 5, 12, May 3, on.
COUNTY THEATRE, READING, Nov. 16 (three nights), Dec. 7, Jan. 18, Feb. 8, 15, 22, March 1, on.
OPERA HOUSE, LEICESTER, March 8, 15, 22, April 5, 12, 19, on.
ROYALTY THEATRE, CHESTER, Nov. 9, 16.
GRAND THEATRE, WOLVERHAMPTON, Sept. 21, Dec. 14, Jan. 18, Feb. 1, 15, March 1, on.
THEATRE ROYAL, HUDDERSFIELD, Feb. 1, 15, 22, March 15, 22, 29, on.
OPERA HOUSE, NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 30, Xmas (seven nights), Feb. 22, March 1, 15, 22, 29, April 5.
THEATRE ROYAL, LEICESTER, Xmas (7 nights), March 15, 29, April 12, 19, on.
THEATRE ROYAL, LEAMINGTON, Nov. 23, 30, Dec. 7, Jan. 4, 11, 25, Feb. 1, 8.
Address, Milton Bode, Theatre, Reading.

WANTED, First-class Attractions for COUNTY THEATRE, BEDFORD, Sept. 14, 21, 28, Oct. 19, Nov. 2, 9, Dec. 7, onwards.
GRAND THEATRE, LUTON, Oct. 12, 19, 26, Dec. 21, 28, Jan. 4, onwards.
THEATRE ROYAL, CANTERBURY, Sept. 28, Oct. 19, 26, Nov. 2, 9, 16 on (three nights only).
Address, E. G. Falcon, County Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, First-class Attraction, Sept. 14.
E. G. Falcon, County Theatre, Bedford.

THREE PROGRESSIVE THEATRES.
WANTED, First-class Companies, for DEVONSHIRE PARK T., EASTBOURNE, Sept. 28 Oct. 26, Nov. 9, onwards.
GAIETY THEATRE, HASTINGS, Sept. 14 (3 nights), Nov 16, 30, Dec. 7, onwards. Entirely New Electric Installation on Stage PLEASURE GARDENS T., FOLKESTONE, Sept. 21, 22, 23, Nov. 9, onwards.
Apply for all above, Rowland, T., Folkestone.

METROPOLE, GLASGOW, Ltd.,
WANTED, Pay-Box Attractions, Autumn, 1909.
Coms., Arthur Jefferson.

BRIXTON THEATRE.
WANTED, Important Attractions, Musical Attractions preferred, Sept. 28, Oct. 5 and 12.
Fredk. Melville, 14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

GRAND THEATRE, DERBY.
WANTED, First-class Musical and Dramatic Attractions, Dec. 7, 14, Feb. 15, 22, March 1 8, 29, April 5, 19, and all May; good Pantomime entertained for Feb. 15. Address, T. Allan Edwardes.

GRAND THEATRE, WEST HARTLEPOOL.
WANTED, Important Attraction, Sept. 7. Sept. 7. Sept. 7. Wire, Wire, Wire.
Granville, Queen's, Liverpool.

OPERA HOUSE, SOUTHPORT.
WANTED, Wanted, Wanted, First-class Company, Sept. 21, Musical preferred.
Singleton.

THEATRE ROYAL, CARDIFF.
Those who visit the Cardiff Theatre Royal will be reminded of this favourite old house in its palmiest days, for the comfort of the patrons has been well thought out, and the flowing tide of prosperity would seem to have set in under the capable management of Mr. Rollo Balmain.—Extract from Western Mail.
WANTED, Musical Attraction, Sept. 21.

THEATRE ROYAL, DARLINGTON.
THEATRE ROYAL, DARLINGTON.
WANTED, Really First-class Attractions, Oct. 5. Oct. 19, Nov. 9, Nov. 16, Nov. 30.
James Bell.

PLEASURE GARDENS THEATRE, FOLKESTONE.
WANTED, First-class Company, Sept. 21, 22, 23.
Apply, Rowland, Theatre, Folkestone.

WANTED, for Gaiety Theatre, Hastings, First-class Company, Sept. 14, 15, 16.
Apply, Rowland, Theatre, Folkestone.

DEVONSHIRE PARK THEATRE, EASTBOURNE.
WANTED, First-class Company, Sept. 28, 29, 30 (?).
Apply, Rowland, Theatre, Folkestone.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, WIDNES.
WANTED, First-class Companies, for Oct. 12 (Musical preferred), Nov. 2, and onwards, with exceptions.
Address, Thos. Swinton.

WANTED, Good Companies, Sept. 14 and Nov. 16. Wire, Macdona, Theatre Royal, Colchester.

ROYALTY THEATRE, MORECAMBE.
Sole Lessee, Julian Malvern.
The only Theatre in the town.
WANTED, Companies, Oct. 5 and on. Address,
Chas. M. Julian, General-Manager.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SOUTHEND-ON-SEA.
WANTED, for Sept. 17, 18, 19, and Oct. 1, 2, 3, Musical Shows or First-class Companies only.
Address, Geo. Conquest.

WANTED, First-class Companies, Oct. 5, 8, 15, 26, three nights each instance; also good Musical Comedy for Xmas. Write to Seebold, Worthing Theatre Royal.

OPERA HOUSE, WAKEFIELD.
WANTED, Known, Vacant Oct. 19, Nov. 9, 16, Dec. 14, Jan. 4, March 1, onwards. Apply, Sherwood and Co.

COMPANIES WANTED.

Booked by MOSS' EMPIRES, LIMITED.

BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE, GRAND THEATRE, NOTTINGHAM, BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS, and GRAND THEATRE, GLASGOW.
WANTED, No. 1 Attractions only.

BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS.
Vacant Dates, Oct. 5, April 26, May 10, May 17, 24, 31.

BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE.
Vacant Dates, Nov. 23, April 5, May 24, June 7, 14, 21, 28.

GRAND THEATRE, NOTTINGHAM.
Vacant, Oct. 26, March 22, May 3, 10, 17.

GRAND, GLASGOW.
Vacant, April 12, 19, May 10, 24, 31, Re-opening Sept. 28, extra strong Attractions Wanted, Musical Comedy preferred.

Address, with full particulars, terms, &c., where can be seen, to Moss' Empires, Limited, Cranbourn-mansions, Cranbourn-street, London, W.C.
Envelopes marked "Theatres."

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS.
Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.
The leading Theatre of the town and district.
WANTED, Known, vacant through transfers, Oct. 19, Dec. 7 and 14, and a few onward. Future Bookings include: "The Thief," "A White Man," "Diana of Dobson's," "Jack Straw," "Mrs. Dot," "Lady Frederick," "Brewster's Millions," "With Edged Tools," and the leading Musical Comedies. Apply, Calvert Routledge, H. M. T., BARROW.

THE GRANVILLE THEATRES, LIMITED.
Managing-Director, Mr. Fred Granville.
QUEEN'S THEATRE, LIVERPOOL.
WANTED, Powerful Dramatic Attractions, Oct. 12, Nov. 2, Dec. 7, 14, 21, 28, and Spring Dates.
GRAND THEATRE, WEST HARTLEPOOL.
Wanted, First-class Musical and other London Attractions, Sept. 7, 21, 28, Oct. 12, 19, 26, Nov. 2, 9, 16, 23, 30.
THEATRE ROYAL, HYDE.
Wanted, Powerful Dramatic Attractions, Sept. 28, Oct. 5, 12, 19, Nov. 2.
GRAND THEATRE, RAWTENSTALL.
Wanted, Good-class Attractions, Sept. 21, 28, Oct. 19, 26.
Re Dates,
Fred Granville, Queen's Theatre, Liverpool.

ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS.
Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson.
The Premier Theatre in the Furness District, with a holding capacity of £90 at ordinary prices.
WANTED, really First-class London Successes, for Oct. 5, 12, 26, on, with exceptions.
Applications for dates to Hugh Robertson, Theatre Royal, Jarrow-on-Tyne.

WANTED, First-class Attractions, for Sept. 21, Oct. 19, 26, Nov. 2, 23, 30, Dec. 7 and 14.
Apply, Mr. Robert Arthur, 24a, Regent-street, S.W.

NEW GRAND THEATRE, LANCASTER.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Oct. 1 (3 nights), Nov. 23 (3 nights), Dec. 10 (3 nights), Dec. 14 (6 nights), and Big Musical Show for Dec. 26 (7 nights). Stanley Rogers, T. R., North Shields.

GRAND THEATRE, DOUGLAS, I.O.M.
WANTED, First-class Companies, for Sept. 28 and Oct. 5.
Apply,
Jas. Buck, 30, Brown-street, Manchester.

QUEEN'S THEATRE, FARNWORTH.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates, Oct. 19, through misunderstanding, Dec. 21, 28 (?), Jan. 4 (?).
Morton Powell, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

OPERA HOUSE, KIDDERMINSTER.
WANTED, Attractions, Vacant Sept. 10, 11, 12, Sept. 28, Oct. 26; holding capacity £100. Bookings, "Prince of Pilsen," "Merry Widow," "Florodora," "Dairymaids," "Knights Were Bold," &c. J. P. Moore, King's Hall, Birmingham.

HIPPODROME, SHEERNESS.
WANTED, Good Attractions, Musical preferred, Sept. 21, 28, October, on, with exceptions; also good Pantomime. Lowest terms, share or certainty, to Manager.

PARDOE'S THEATRE, MIDDLETON, LANCS.
WANTED, Sound Attractions, Sept. 28, Oct. 5, 19, on, with exceptions. Re business, refer to Draycott, Esq., this week, next week, fourth return visit, H. B. Levey's Juvenile Pantomime. Fullest particulars, W. Pardoe, Hipp., Bolton.

PAVILION AND SUMMER GARDENS, NORTHWICH. Full Theatrical Licence.
Enormous success of the opening of above. The prettiest, brightest, electric lit Hall in Cheshire.
WANTED, complete Companies, Sharing or Certainties only. Quote lowest, to include Sacred Concerts on Sunday. Good refined Artists may write. Address, Managing-Director.

THEATRE ROYAL, BURY ST. EDMUNDS.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Sept. 14 (three nights), through transferring to oblige Messrs. Sutton and Raynor, Sept. 28, Nov. 30, Dec. 7, each three nights; good Musical Comedy for Xmas. Apply, Auguste A. Peuleve, Gen.-Manager.

NEW PRINCE'S THEATRE, BLACKBURN.
Oct. 5, unexpectedly Vacant.
WANTED, Big Attraction.
E. H. Page.

PAISLEY THEATRE.
WANTED, Sound Attraction, for Sept. 7; unexpectedly Vacant through disappointment. Wire, J. H. Saville.

WANTED, Company, Oct. 12, Musical preferred, also Pantomime for Xmas. Waddington, Theatre Royal, York.

THEATRE ROYAL, COLNE, LANCS.
WANTED, Good Company, Sept. 21, through transferring to oblige a manager.
Address, Gerald Harding.

PIER THEATRE, EASTBOURNE.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Sept. 28, 29, 30; "Mr. Conquest," Oct. 1, 2, 3. Empire, Southend, 5th week, and various dates onward.
E. A., Pier Theatre, Eastbourne.

WANTED, High-class Companies, Sept. 21 (3), 28 (3 or 5), Oct. 12 (3), Nov. 2 (3 Dunfermline, 3 Paisley), 9 16, 23, 30. W, E. Potts, Opera House, Dunfermline.

QUEEN'S THEATRE, PEMBROKE DOCK, SOUTH WALES.
Royal Dockyard, Military and Agricultural Town. Population Town and District 20,000.
WANTED, First-class Dramatic, Farcical, and Musical Comedies, Sept. 7, 28, Oct. 26, Nov., onwards. Xmas Vacant, Musical Attraction preferred. Tom Barker.

WANTED, Companies, for Theatre Royal, Coalville, Re-opening Sept. 7 under entirely New Management. Address, Lessee, Theatre Royal, Coalville.

WANTED, Known, Premier Theatre vacant Xmas, four or five weeks, for First-class Pantomime production. Panto, c/o Box 6,920, "The Era."

BOROUGH THEATRE, HEYWOOD.
WANTED, Good Companies, Oct. 19, 26, and Dec. 14. Albert Jones, Queen's T., Manchester.

ST. ALBANS COUNTY HALL.
WANTED good Companies, with own Scenery, 2 nights, Sept. 11, 12, 25, 26, Nov. 6, 7, onwards; good stage act drop, border, and footlights. Stage to girders, 20ft. 10in. Sharing terms only. Apply, A. Rowden.

ALNWICK CORN EXCHANGE (Licensed).
WANTED, a few early Autumn Bookings; rental only.
Apply, Proprietor.

THEATRES WANTED.

WALTER MELVILLE'S NEW PRODUCTION.
WANTED, Nov. 23, Dec. 21, 28, Jan. 11.
WALTER MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"THE GIRL WHO WRECKED HIS HOME,"
By Walter Melville.
WANTED, Nov. 23, Jan. 11.
WALTER MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"THE GIRL WHO TOOK THE WRONG TURNING,"
By Walter Melville.
WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Dec. 21.
WALTER MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"THE SOLDIER'S WEDDING,"
By Walter Melville.
WANTED, Theatres, Dec. 7, Feb. 22.
WALTER MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"A GIRL'S CROSS ROADS,"
By Walter Melville.
WANTED, Theatres, Sept. 28, Oct. 26.
WALTER MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"HER SECOND TIME ON EARTH."
WANTED, Theatres, Sept. 28, between Scotland and London.
WALTER MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

"HER FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE."
WANTED, Theatres, Jan. 4, Feb. 8 (North).
FREDERICK MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"THE UGLIEST WOMAN ON EARTH."
WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Oct. 5, 12, Jan. 4, 11.
FREDERICK MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"HER ROAD TO RUIN."
WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Sept. 21, Jan. 18, 25.
FREDERICK MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

FREDK. MELVILLE'S NEW PRODUCTION.
"MARRIED TO THE WRONG MAN."
WANTED, Sept. 28, Nov. 23, 30.
FREDK. MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-st., W.C.

"THE WORST WOMAN IN LONDON."
WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Sept. 28 (three nights), Oct. 12, Nov. 2, 16, Dec. 14, and Xmas.
TOM H. TAYLOR, 14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

"IS LIFE WORTH LIVING?"
WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Oct. 19, 26, Nov. 2, 9, 16, Xmas.
TOM H. TAYLOR, 14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

"THE FEMALE SWINDLER."
WANTED, Theatres, Nov. 9 23, Dec. 7, 14, 21, 28, and Xmas.
TOM H. TAYLOR, 14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

"THE GIRL WHO LOST HER CHARACTER."
WANTED, Oct. 5, Nov. 2, Dec. 14, 26 (seven nights), Jan. 4.
DOUGLAS BRUCE, Oakley House, Bloomsbury-street, London, W.C.

"DRIVEN FROM HOME."
WANTED, Oct. 5, 12, 26, Nov. 16, onward.
ANDREW MELVILLE, Met. T., Birmingham.

"THE DIVER'S LUCK."
WANTED, Sept. 7, 21, Oct. 5, 26.
ANDREW EMM, Metropole T., Birmingham.

"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
WANTED, for this Phenomenal Success, weeks of Oct. 5 and 19.
Wire or write,
W. W. KELLY,
New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

"THE NEW EAST LYNNE."
WANTED, weeks of Sept. 28 and Oct. 12, for this remarkable success, which, on its last visit to the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin, played to £717 on the week. Wire or write immediately to W. W. KELLY,
New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."
WANTED, Theatres, Oct. 12, 19, Nov. 2, 23, Dec. 7, Jan. 11.

CHARLES HARRINGTON,
Ynyshir (3), Mountain Ash (3).

"DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY."
WANTED, Oct. 5 (Midlands), Oct. 12, 26 (South), Jan. 4, 11, 18.
All communications, J. W. CORDINER, Theatre Royal, Goole (opening week).

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY."
EUGENE C. STAFFORD'S No. 1 CO.
WANTED, Sept. 14, 21, Oct. 12, 19, Nov. 2, 9 16, Xmas week, 7 nights, also Spring, Farewell Tours. Address, 26, Southampton-street, Strand

Mr. MONCKTON HOFFE'S COMPANY,
"IRENE WYCHERLEY"
(by arrangement with Miss Lena Ashwell).
Special Company in this Famous Kingsway Theatre Success.
Elaborate scenery carried.
WANTED, First-class Theatres Only Sept. 28, and one or two later weeks.
Address, M. HOFFE, 4, Duke-street, Adelphi, W.

"THE FLAG LIEUTENANT."
WANTED, Nov. 2 (South or Midlands) for Mr. Cyril Maude's phenomenal success, which is being played eight times weekly at the Playhouse, London. Address, SIDNEY COOPER, Lyceum, Newport, Mon.

MR. BRANDON THOMAS'S COMPANIES.
"CHARLEY'S AUNT."
WANTED, Sept. 28, Nov. 9 and 30.
Address, CECIL BARTH, R. Court T., Warrington.

M. RUSSELL ROSSE'S TOURS.
WANTED, for "A Pair of Spectacles," or Repertory, Sept. 14. Wire, Prince's Theatre, Llandudno.

By Arrangement with
Sir CHARLES WYNDHAM
and Miss MARY MOORE.
"CAPTAIN DREW ON LEAVE."
WANTED, Sept. 28, Oct. 12, and Oct. 19 (3 nights), to precede Harrogate.
Miss NORA CARTON,
Theatre Royal, Edinburgh.

MR. WILLIAM MOLLISON'S SHAKESPEAREAN COMPANY.
WANTED, Sept. 21, also a few Spring Dates. Apply.
WILLIAM MOLLISON, Prince's Theatre, Bristol.

MR. H. F. MALTBY AND HIS PLAYS.
WANTED, Theatres, Oct. 26 (precede O. H., Blackpool), Nov. 16 (precede Gaiety, Manchester), and Spring, '09. WYN WEAVER, Lyceum Theatre, Ipswich.

"THE CRIMES OF PARIS."
MRS. F. BATEMAN and GEO. CONQUEST'S CO.
WANTED, Jan. 18, 25, Feb. 1, 15, 22, March 8, Aug. 9, on, with exceptions.
Address, E. DOTTRIDGE, Empire, Oldham; or BATEMAN and CONQUEST, Empire, Southend.

"10.30 DOWN EXPRESS"
and "GUILTY GOLD."
WANTED, Sept. 21, 28, Oct. 5, near London Nov. 9 16, London or South.
HORACE STANLEY, Theatre Royal, Exeter (2 weeks).

"MAN TO MAN."
Under the direction of
Frank Adair and Edward Lloyd.
WANTED, Sept. 14, Oct. 5 and 12,
FRANK ADAIR,
Queen's Theatre, Keighley.

WANTED, for "The Woman Pays," Jan. 4, 11 18, Feb. 8, March 15 and 29, and April 5.
FRANK M. THORNE, Victoria T., Broughton.

"THE BELLE OF THE BALL."
The Financial Success.
WANTED, Sept. 14 and 28, between Hull and Manchester.
ALEXANDER LOFTUS, King's Theatre, Sunderland.

"THE MASTER CRIMINAL."
WANTED, Good Theatres, Oct. 12, 19, Nov. 2, Xmas, for this Great Success. HENRY L. OSMOND, T. R., Leicester.

WILLIAM A. ARMOUR'S COMPANY.
"THE BEST OF HER SEX."
WANTED, Sept. 21 (follow Alexandra, Birmingham), 28, and onwards, with exceptions. Wire for Sept. 21, WILLIAM A. ARMOUR, to-day, T. R., Ilkeston; next, T. R., Stratford.

THEATRES WANTED.

MORTON POWELL ENTERPRISES.
WANTED, Dates for
"MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD,"
A Perfect Production.
A Strong Cast.
A Fine Play.
Vacant,
Oct. 12, 26, Nov. 9, 16.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"WHEN IT WAS DARK."
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
Oct. 5 Nov. 30, Dec. 7, 21.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"WOMAN WHO GAMBLES."
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
Nov. 2, 9, 16 (?).
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"GREED OF GOLD."
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
Nov. 16, 23, 30.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"HONOUR THY FATHER."
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
Oct. 5, 12, 19.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"LITTLE OUTCAST."
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
Jan. 25, Feb. 1, 8, on.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

ALFRED B. CROSS'S TOUR.
"THE MANXMAN,"
"THE MANXMAN,"
By Hall Caine and Wilson Barrett.
WANTED, Sept. 28, Oct. 2, and few later.
New Special Scenery and Effects.
Success greater than ever.
Alfred B. Cross as Pete. Miss M. Watersford as Kate.
A few dates Vacant for "The Monarch of the World."
T. R., Rochdale, Aug. 31; R., Halifax, Sept. 3.

FRANK J. PITT'S COMPANY.
"£1,000 REWARD."
"£1,000 REWARD."
WANTED, Nov. 9, 16,
Dec. 21, 28,
Jan. 4, 11, 18, 25,
Feb. 1, 8, on.

Aug. 31, Palace Theatre, Newcastle.

Messrs. ARMADALE and WARREN'S CO.
"THE FACE AT THE WINDOW."
"THE FACE AT THE WINDOW."
WANTED, Theatres, Sept. 21, Nov. 9, Christmas, Jan. 11, 18, 25, on, for the above attraction. Address, ARMADALE and WARREN, Opera House, Dudley.

MISS MARY NEIL
begs to inform Managers that
her big Successes,
"FROM SHOP GIRL TO DUCHESS"
(by Charles Darrell)
and
"HER LUCK IN LONDON"
(by Charles Darrell)
are now Booked for two consecutive weeks at each of the following towns: Bradford, Sheffield, Oldham, Burnley, Grimsby, South Shields, Newcastle, Hull, &c.

WANTED, Theatres. Only vacant dates for 1908 are: Oct. 26, Nov. 16 (?), 23, 30, New Year's week; also a few Spring Dates, 1909, vacant.
Communications to
GEORGE KIRK, Theatre Royal, Sheffield.

MONTAGUE BEAUDYN'S SUCCESSES.
"SEND HIM VICTORIOUS."
WANTED, Theatres, vacant through transferring, Oct. 12, Nov. 2; vac. Jan. 11, 18, Aug. 2.
"A TRAITOR PRINCE."
Gorgeous Revival on a Magnificent Scale.
Vacant Oct. 19, 26, Nov. 2, Xmas.
"THE POWER OF A WICKED WOMAN,"
Vacant Nov. 16, 30, Dec. 28, Jan. 4.
"A BEAUTIFUL FIEND,"
Touring Summer and Autumn, 1909.
Wires, Spennymoor; letters, T. R., North Shields.

"THE POWER OF THE KING," by Mrs. F. G. Kimberley. The brilliantly-mounted and costumed Romantic Military Play. The biggest money-making Drama produced in recent years.
WANTED, Oct. 5 (follow Grand, Newcastle), Oct. 12, 26, Nov. 16, 30. Spring 1909 fully booked with one exception. Now rapidly booking Autumn, 1909. KIMBERLEY, GREEN, and HINTON, this, Queen's, Farnworth; next, King's, Longsight.

"THE IDOL OF PARIS,"
"THE IDOL OF PARIS,"
by Chas. Darrell.
WANTED, First-class Theatres,
Sept. 10, 11, 12
(between Llandudno and Sheffield),
Oct. 5, 26.
Oct. 5, 26.
Wire, JAMES BELL, T. R., Darlington.

"THE CRIMES OF PARIS."
WANTED, Jan. 18, 25, Feb. 1, 15, 22.
A Grand Revival of a Great Success.
Address, E. DOTTRIDGE, Empire, Oldham.

WANTED, Dates, "The Power of the Cross," Sept. 28 (between Gateshead and Wales), also Nov. 2. Refer Arthur Jefferson, Esq. "A Fight for a Throne." Wanted, Sept. 28, Oct. 5, Nov. 30 Sept. 28, Oct. 5, Nov. 30. Refer J. H. Curry, Esq., Grimsby, and William Morton, Esq., Alexandra, Hull. This, Alex., Hull; next, T. R., Hyde. All coms. both plays, GEO. A. DE GRAY, this, Metropole, Glasgow; next, Gaiety Theatre, Methil (Fife).

"AN UNWEDDED WIFE."
WANTED, November 16 (South), Vacant through obliging.
Add., J. EDWARD WHITTY, Theatre Royal, Batley.

MR. REGINALD DANCE'S COMPANY, in the Enormously Successful Play,
"RAFFLES."
WANTED, Sept. 28 and Oct. 26.
Apply,
AUGUSTUS BINGHAM,
10 and 11, Jermyn-st., London, S.W.

MR. BULMER'S ENTERPRISES.
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
Vacant Oct. 12, 19. Nov. 9, 30.
"SENTENCED FOR LIFE."
"SENTENCED FOR LIFE."
Vacant Sept. 28. Oct. 5, 19. Xmas.
"FROM SCOTLAND YARD."
"FROM SCOTLAND YARD."
WANTED, Sept. 14, 21. Oct. 26. Nov. 16
FRED BULMER, Grand Theatre, Nottingham.

HARDIE AND VON LEBR'S CO'S.
WANTED, Wanted, Theatres,
"TWO LITTLE VAGABONDS,"
Sept. 14, 21 (North).
"TWO LANCASHIRE LASSES IN LONDON,"
Sept 14 (London or near).
E. P. CLIFT, 110, St. Martin's-lane, W.C.
Wires, "Vagancy, London." Tel. No. 7504 Gerrard.

"SILVER KING."
POLINI AND MELFORD'S COMPANY.
WANTED, Dates, as follows:—
Feb. 22, April 19, 28, May 10.
Now Booking Autumn, 1909.
Address, POLINI, 93, Penge-road, London, S.E.

MESSRS. DRUCE AND FERRIS'S COMPANY.
"THE CHEAT."
Preliminary Tour prior to London Production.
Full Cast, as will appear in the West-end.
WANTED, Sept. 28, Oct. 12,
Only Vacant Dates at Present.
No. 1 Theatres only.
G. UNWIN or H. DRUCE, Lyric Theatre, W.

Messrs. RENNEF and COPPING'S PRODUCTIONS.
WANTED, for "Love Rules the World" Co., Oct. 26, to follow Junction, Manchester. Nov. 2, 9, 16, preceding Sunderland. 30, Dec. 7. Xmas and New Year. Wanted for New Autumn Production, "HOW WOMEN RUIN MEN." Nov. 2 16, to precede and follow Victoria, Broughton. G. M. COPPING, Victoria, Broughton (return); next, Gateshead.

WANTED, Theatre, Feb. 15, six nights, for Miss Edith St. Clair's Pantomime,
"Aladdin." Splendid cast engaged.
Address, E. DOTTRIDGE, Empire, Oldham.

"THE LOVE OF THE PRINCESS,"
by C. Watson Mill.
WANTED, Oct. 19 (3), Feb. 1, Aug. 2, '09.
Address, T. S, WARD, T. R., Stockport.

THEATRES WANTED.

FRED GRANVILLE'S TOURS.
FRED GRANVILLE'S TOURS.
WANTED, First-Class Theatres.

"IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND."
Elaborate Revival. Success everywhere.
Vacant Sept. 21, 28, Oct. 5, 12,
and onwards with exceptions.

"THE BETTER LAND."
The Greatest Domestic Drama of the Day.
An Emphatic Success.
Gorgeous Production.
Every Scene and Property Carried.

The finest Printing on the road, consisting of 1 24-sheet, 3 18-sheets, 3 12-sheets, 4 6-sheets, 6 D.C. Lithos. All four-colour stuff.
Vacant Sept. 28, Oct. 5, 12, 19, and later.

FRED GRANVILLE'S PANTOMIMES.
"BABES IN THE WOOD,"
Vacant Jan. 18, 25, Feb. 1.

"BEAUTY AND THE BEAST,"
Vacant Jan. 11, 18.

"ALADDIN,"
Vacant Jan. 11, 18, 25, Feb. 8.

Managers note.—These Pantomimes are perfect in every detail. Beautifully mounted and dressed. Company of Star Artists, Specialities, Dancers, and full Chorus.

Re dates, FRED GRANVILLE, Queen's T., Liverpool.

MR. AND MRS. F. G. KIMBERLEY'S CO'S.
"A SOLDIER'S HONOUR,"
By Mrs. F. G. Kimberley.
Wanted, Oct. 26 (to follow T. R., Sheffield), Xmas Week. The play to draw the money, refer; next week at Alex., Hull.
"A SISTER'S SIN,"
By Mrs. F. G. Kimberley.
WANTED, Three Nights, Sept. 17, S. Wales preferred; also Sept. 28. Refer Arthur Carlton re the play and business at Barry this week.
"TWO LITTLE DRUMMER BOYS,"
By Walter Howard.
Wanted, Sept. 21 (to follow Middlesbrough), Oct. 5 (to follow Stockport). Magnificent cast and band. See play next week at Burnley. Managers requiring Good Attractions, wire KIMBERLEY, Scotlands, Wolverhampton.

"BEAU BROCADE."
The New Romantic Play by Baroness Orczy and Montague Barstow, Authors of
"The Scarlet Pimpernel."
WANTED, Oct. 5, South, Nov. 2, Midlands.

Mr. REGINALD DANCE
and
Miss RUTH MACKAY.
Supported by Full West-End Company.

Elaborate Scenery and Costumes.

Apply, AUGUSTUS BINGHAM,
10 and 11, Jermyn-street, London, S.W.

"IN THE RANKS."
Powerful Company.
New Plant of Printing by David Allen.
Entirely New Scenery and Effects.
WANTED, Good Theatres, Oct. 12, Xmas, and Spring.
BERESFORD WHITCOMB, Star Theatre, Liverpool.

Mr. CHARLES M. BESTIC'S COMPANY,
"THE FLOWER GIRL."
The Musical Comedy Success of the Provinces.
The Edinburgh Dispatch says:—
Musical comedy at its brightest.
WANTED, Oct. 5, 19, 26, to precede return visits to Newcastle, Edinburgh, Glasgow, and Dates onward. Wire, F. MARTIN MORRIS, Royalty T., Morecambe.
Letters, Theatre Royal, Preston. See Co's. Column.

The Thrilling Melodrama, "CONVICT 99."
WANTED, Autumn Dates, Oct. 5, 26, Nov. 23 (North), and on.

"SEXTON BLAKE, DETECTIVE."
Vacant for this Enormous Success: Oct. 12.
Now Booking Spring and Autumn, 1909.
Apply, ALFRED H. GRAHAME,
Aug. 31, P. T., Glasgow.

"SECOND TO NONE," by Walter Howard.
WANTED, good Theatre, Easter, '09.
Address, T. E. WARD, T. R., Stockport.

WANTED, Nov. 2, 16, and Xmas, for Corri's "Dandy Fifth Up-to-Date."
HALDANE CRICHTON, Theatre Royal, Huddersfield

Enormous success everywhere.
Refer to Managers where played.
A Real Novelty.
THE JAMAICANS.
The most Successful, Artistic, Novel, and Smartest Combination now before the Public.
Twelve Coloured Ladies and Gentlemen.
Evening Dress, Native Costume, or Camp Dress.
Royalty delighted. The Public delighted.
Managers want Return Dates.
A most Extensive and Varied Répertoire.
Real Coon Singers and Dancers.
WANTED, Known, first vacant date Sept. 14, and onwards, with exceptions.
Full particulars, terms, and dates from Sole Managers, H. E. JONES and A. DOUGLASS, 21, Water-street, Liverpool.
'Phones 2449 and 5650 Central.
Wires, "Motherland, Liverpool."

ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, for the Elster Grime Opera Co., Prin. Tenor, Soprano, and Contralto, also Choristers, those able to play parts preferred, forward répertoire. Press opinions. Lowest terms, long tour to suitable people; also an experienced Fit-up Man, to assist with Baggage and generally useful. Box 6,874, "The Era."

E. OSWALD BROOKS'S CO., in "THE NEW HOUSEMAID."
WANTED, Complete Company, to start Swansea, Jan. 4, 1909, Rehearse Dec. 21. Former members please write. Photo., addressed envelope for return, and absolutely lowest terms, to E. OSWALD BROOKS, Sole Lessee and Manager, G. T., Swansea.

"TYRANNY OF TEARS."
WANTED, Artists, all parts, Special week, St. Leonards, Sept. 7, Rehearse Tuesday. Terms, photos., references, IAN MACLAREN, Pier, St. Leonards.

WANTED for "A Maid of France," Romantic Juvenile Lead, Character Comedienne, Aristocratic Old Woman, Responsible, combine Baggage. Rehearse Sept. 14. Fullest particulars, photos, Miss PHILLIPS, Vicarage, Gorleston.

WELLESLEY AND DEVEYNE ENTERPRISES.
WANTED, for Sketch, Juvenile Gentleman, tall, young, good appearance and education; also Actress, intense, young, tall, good appearance, dark (Jewess preferred). Reply, with terms, age, height, photo., refs. (applied for).
SECRETARY, 18, Wandle-road, Croydon, Surrey.

J. BANNISTER HOWARD'S "FLORODORA" COMPANY.
WANTED, to open immediately, Lady, for Angela; absolutely essential to be petite, good-looking, and good Dancer.
Address, 15, Clifford's Inn, Fleet-street, E.C.

MORTON POWELL'S ENTERPRISES.
WANTED, Light Chambermaid, for Gracie, in "When It Was Dark." Lowest terms and references to MORTON POWELL, Queen's Theatre, Farnworth, Bolton.

WANTED, for three nights, Sept. 3, Lady for Clarissa, "Our Boys." Wire lowest terms, HESKETH, Prince's T., Llandudno.

"AN UNWEDDED WIFE."
WANTED, Gentleman, for Heavy Lead; must be young, and good wardrobe indispensable. Send terms and last two references, also age, and height, and if playing where to be seen. Add., J. EDWARD WHITTY, Theatre Royal, Batley.

WANTED, Juvenile Leading Man, Juvenile Leading Lady, Responsible Actor.
W. E. MELVILLE, 14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, Good Responsible Gents., must be tall, capable of character; also Good Chambermaid (young). Lowest terms, height, age, and photo., to NEVILLS and CARNABY, Queen's Theatre, Pembroke Dock.

WANTED, Young Gentleman, for small part, Monday next, near Manchester preferred.
FRANCES HARROLD, Empire, Stockport.

WANTED, next week, Troupe of Lady Dancers, with change of dress, to introduce Specialities and assist to Dress Stage. Wire lowest terms and particulars, JAMES ELPHINSTONE, Lyceum Theatre, Stafford.

WANTED, Wanted, Known,
THE GRENFELL
LADIES' THEATRICAL AND RESIDENTIAL CLUB,
23, Bedford-street, Strand
Cosy Tea Rooms, Luncheons, Dinners, &c.
Open on Sundays.
No Entrance Fee.
Residential Terms, from 18s. 6d. inclusive.

WANTED, Dramatic Artists who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Sons' Bookstalls to kindly communicate with the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.

ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Engagement, by Young Lady (tall), small part, Drama or Light Comedy; good reference. A., "Throwley," Muswell Hill-road, N.

PANTOMIME ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, for next season's Pantomimes, good Chorus Ladies, height not less than 5ft. 6in. Last two references, lowest terms, age, and photo., ARTHUR CARLTON, Theatre, Worcester.

WANTED, Good Comedians, for next season's Pantomimes
Full particulars, ARTHUR CARLTON, T., Worcester.

WANTED, Chorus Ladies and Gentlemen for London and Provincial Pantomimes. Apply Monday, between 11 and 4 o'clock, FRANK POSTLETHWAITE'S Agency, 25, Wellington-street, Strand.

WANTED, Chorus Ladies, Conductors, Comedian, for Pantomimes.
Address, E. DOTTRIDGE, Empire, Oldham.

WANTED, for Jazon and Nightingale's Pantos., First-class Principal Boy (Prince in "Cinderella"), Principal Girls ("Aladdin" and "Cinderella"), Recognised Comedian (Baron in "Cinderella"), pair Comedians (Captain and Mate, "Whittington"), fifty Chorus Ladies, and two Musical-Directors (piano). Full particulars, EDWIN C. JAZON, T. R., West Bromwich.

WANTED, Pantomime Artists, Principal Boys, Girls, Seconds, Comedians, and Knockabouts. Full particulars, VALENTINE, 8, Dean-st., Oxford-st., London.

WANTED, for Pantomime, Attractive Chorus, Show, and Utility Ladies, of good appearance. VALENTINE, 8, Dean-st., Oxford-st., London.

PANTOMIME ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Panto., Boy, London, by Maud Esmond; last year, "Crusoe," Brixton. Aug. 31, Standard, 9.50. All coms., 1, Albert-palace, mansions, Battersea Park.

WANTED, Panto., Principal part; last year Dandini, Mouillot Co. Vacant 31st, Single Turn. VIOLET ROSENBERG, 16a, Lynn-street, Balham.

WANTED, Known, Little Zola, vacant for Panto. Many Thanks for Offers.
All coms., Palace, Hull.

WANTED, Known, Doyle and Massey, two Real Live Comedians, at Liberty for Panto.; 8 years' Panto. experience. This, T. R., Workington; next, Standard, Whitehaven.

WANTED, Known, Ambrose and Alden, the Comedians with a Contrast, Open for Panto. 1906 and '07, Captain and Bo'sun, "Dick Whittington"; 1907 and '08, ditto. Pavilion, near Manchester.

WANTED, Pantomime, by Denby and Dent, Comedians and Dancers, thoroughly experienced. Monday, Tivoli Theatre, Dublin.

WANTED, Known, The Altons, Demon Contortionists, and Tella and Gardelle, Gymnasts, on Tour, Liberty Pantomime. 6, Victoria Park-road, London.

WANTED, Known, Burdette Brothers, Great Eccentric Acrobats, Liberty for Panto., Parts and Speciality. Next, Theatre Royal, Workington.

SCENIC ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Scenery Contracts, Productions, Our Paint Frames, 40 by 24; Theatres completely fitted with Scenery, Ropes, Blocks, Cleats, &c. Estimates and Designs submitted free. Scenery bought and exchanged. FRED WILKINS and BRO., LTD., 54, Whitechapel, Liverpool. Telegrams, "Theatrical."

WANTED, Contracts for High class, Effective Scenery, very lowest prices; Scenery repainted or adapted. W. B. ROBINSON, 170, King's-road, S.W.

WANTED, Contracts, Scenery, Properties, Pantomime, or Productions, good work. Reasonable prices. J. JACKS, Scenic Artist, 46, Holloway-road, London, N.

WANTED, by Philip Small, Scenic Artist, Engagement or Contract, Town or Provinces. Refs. Add., 26, Elgin-terrace, Maida Vale, London. don.

WANTED, Short Engagement, by Davies Massey, Scenic Artist.
4, Princess May-road, Stoke Newington, London, N.

WANTED, Engagement, Paint-rooms, Th. or Hall, Bench Hand, Scenery, Props., Assist. Own Tools. CARPENTER, 32, Summerhill-road, Tottenham, N.

MISCELLANEOUS.

GRAND THEATRE, NELSON.
WANTED, through disappointment and cancelling, good reliable Management, to produce Pantomime, Dec. 24, nine nights and two matinées.
Apply, GEORGE B. MUDD, Business-Manager.

WANTED, immediately, Resident-Manager, Artillery Theatre, Woolwich.

Photos., references, terms,
DUCKWORTH, Woolwich.

WANTED, Stage-Manager, to travel, experienced, and having mechanical knowledge, speaking French and German preferred. State full particulars and lowest salary to Room 256, Savoy Hotel, W.C.

WANTED, Resident Acting-Manager. Knowledge of Bars essential.
Apply, with terms and references,
W. P. WRIGHT, County Theatre, Reading.

WANTED, smart young Assistant Manager, to play small part; Typist. Fullest particulars, A. B. CROSS, T. R., Rochdale.

WANTED Agent, experienced, energetic, conscientious, to book and bill Small Halls, Schools, &c., for Quick-running Show; must know the game, and do it. Lowest terms. Open at once. Mr. BROSCOPE, Crown, Hodge Bower, Ironbridge, Salop.

WANTED, by Peter Adair, a Business Manager; must be good cyclist, early riser, and worker. No teetotallers or beer-eaters need apply. To carry on bike Coleman's "Wincarnis," Gallaher's Tobaccos, and Park Drive Cigs., my books and photos., so he can't starve. Address, c/o "The Era."

WANTED, good smart Agent, used to Flyposting.
Address, WILL ONDA, Temperance Hall, Preston.

WANTED, for Theatre Royal, Leamington, good Electrician and to make himself generally useful. Apply, with terms and references, W. P. WRIGHT, County Theatre, Reading.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED, steady, reliable Carpenter, for Drama Tour, to combine Baggage and speak few lines; abstainer preferred. State age, height, weight, and absolute lowest terms. Enclose recent photo. if possible, and give references.
Address, STEPHEN PRITT, Theatre Royal, Preston.

WANTED, Engagement.—Varsity Man, aged 30, with thorough business experience, speaking fluent French and German, is anxious to obtain position as business manager or front of house, in London or Suburbs, influential connection, nominal remuneration. Write, H., c/o GERRARD and Co., 32, Shaftesbury-avenue, W.

WANTED, Engagement. Manager resigning position, important Midland Theatre, Dramatic and Variety; experienced back, front, including bars; can book variety; thorough knowledge latest turns, prices, &c. Highly recommended. L. W., 112, Canterbury-road, N.W.

WANTED, Engagement, Stage-Manager, Carpenter combined, own tools; good refs.; used two houses nightly. G. BUTLER, 7, East-terrace, Gravesend.

WANTED, Known, Percy H. Gallagher, late Manager Willesden Hippodrome, is Open to accept Offer, London or Provinces. Address, "Avondale," Lushington-road, Harlesden, N.W.

WANTED, Known, I can Run or Manage (smart), any Class of Show or Entertainment, or Lecture-Vocalist. HARRY DALE, 167, Knutsford-road, Warrington.

WANTED, by Electrician and Operator, permanent Engagement, competent mechanic. H. W. L., 37, Turner-st., Commercial-rd., London, E.

WANTED, Engagement, in the Provinces, as Property Master and Maker; 20 years' good reference, Theatre Royal, Brighton. E. BRIDGER, 9, Ashford-road, Preston-drove, Brighton.

WANTED, Engagement, by H. Leeding, Carpenter, Baggage or Props; resident or tour; own tools; abstainer; refs. 20, Bannockburn-road, Plumstead.

WANTED, Engagement, J. Murton, Practical Carpenter, finish of tour Aug. 30; Mrs. J. Murton, Wardrobe Mistress; joint or single; good refs. 4, King James-street, Gateshead.

WANTED, Re-engagement as Master Carpenter, through change of management, thoroughly practical; 5½ years' reference from Mr. Cecil Beryl. Address, W. JANECK, 39, Vere-road, Brighton.

WANTED, by good Stage Carpenter, own tools, Music Hall, Theatre, or Tour; useful man. J. BOOTH, 31, Lower Ormond-street, Manchester.

WANTED, Carpenter, Good Bench Hand, Play Small Part. Refs., Photos., T. ARTHUR JONES, 32, Wightman-rd., Finsbury Park, N.

WANTED, Known, now at Liberty, George Bishop, Practical Bill Inspector, Bill Poster, &c., late Blackpool Winter Gardens, Thomas Barrasford, Esq., and Tower, New Brighton; Wife as Cleaner, Dresser, &c. 7, Union-st., Harrogate.

WANTED, Engagement, by Wardrobe Mistress, good needlewoman and packer; references; Touring Company preferred; abstainer; moderate salary. Miss THOMPSON, 19, Richmond-place, Brighton.

WANTED, Known, owing to unprincipled persons copying name and business, Reed and Lerne will in future be known as Foley and Francis.

MUSICIANS WANTED.

CITY OF LONDON POLICE BAND.
WANTED, for the above Band, a qualified Bandmaster.
Apply by letter to
A. W. ROBINSON, "Secretary,"
35, Gracechurch street, E.C.

WANTED, First-class Musical-Director (Violinist), accustomed to Variety Business. Apply, stating terms required, together with references, to WM. TRUSSELL, Manager, Palace, Southampton.

WANTED, First-class Variety Leader. Apply, with terms and references, to WM. TRUSSELL, Manager, Palace, Southampton.

WANTED, Conductor, for London Hall; must be young and energetic. Apply, stating experience and salary required, Box 6,921, "The Era" Office.

WANTED, Conductor-Violinist (resident), also Cornet and Trombone, with experience of both Drama and Variety.
Apply, with terms and references,
W. P. WRIGHT, County Theatre, Reading.

NEW GAIETY THEATRE, CLYDEBANK.
WANTED, for above, Pianist-Conductor, First Violin, Cornet, Double Bass, and Drums (Effects). Apply fully, stating terms, experience, &c., A. E. PICKARD, as above.

WHITE STAR MEDITERRANEAN SERVICE.
WANTED, First-class Leader and Solo Violinist, Aug. 19 till Dec. 26; First-class Leader and Solo Violinist; also 'Cellist, Sept. 5 until end March or early April, 1909; vacancies for Violinists, Pianists, 'Cellists, and Contrabassists, for Cunard and White Star Lines Winter Services, Oct. to end of March next. Audition in London or Liverpool necessary before engagement. Applicants state age, experience, and give names and addresses of two references as to character to CHARLES WM. BLACK, 14, Castle-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, First-class Leader and Solo Violin, White Star Line, Mediterranean, Sept. 10 till Dec. 26. Audition in Liverpool or London necessary before engagement. Applicants state age, experience, &c., to CHARLES WM. BLACK, 14, Castle-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, for a London Music Hall, a First-class Leader, also Répétiteur; both must be thoroughly experienced. Apply with references to the MUSICAL-DIRECTOR, Hippodrome, Islington, N.

WANTED, at Once, for Three Weeks, near Birmingham, Leader, First Violin, Cornet, Trombone; others write. Age, refs., and lowest terms, CONDUCTOR, 28, Victoria-rd., Margate.

WANTED, good Violins, commence at once. Terms, age, &c., CLARENCE WOOD, 23, Sea View-parade, West End, Morecambe.

WANTED, First Violin, Open Monday, Sept. 7, used to variety, evening dress. Lowest terms and refs., C. DENLEY, Grand Theatre, Derby.

WANTED, First Violin, experienced in Comedy and Dramatic; permanent position to good man; open Monday, Sept. 7. Terms and latest references to MUSICAL-DIRECTOR, T. R., Merthyr.

CRYSTAL PALACE BAND.
WANTED, a good Solo Cornet, £2 10s. a week; all the Mil. and Orch. Journals.
State age and experience, and how soon free.
HERBERT GODFREY, Crystal Palace, S.E.

SOUTHPORT CORPORATION MILITARY BAND.
WANTED, to commence at Once, First Cornet and Second Bassoon, also other Instruments, to complete a Large Band.
Address, BARTLE and RIMMER, Belmont-street.

WANTED, at Once, till Oct. 14, experienced Solo Cornet, for Small Orchestra, Hydro Bandstand, four shows daily (5½ hours), one Sunday show; sobriety and ability essential. Uniform found. Terms and refs. to A. E. DAVISON, Bandmaster, Llandrindod Wells.

WANTED, First Cornet, Flute, and 'Cello, Variety.
Apply, T. STEVENS, M.D., Palace, Grimsby.

WANTED, good Solo Cornet Player; must be steady, and attentive to business. T. REYNOLDS, Bandmaster, Buff Bill's Circus and Menagerie, Birr, Ireland, Monday.

WANTED, First Clarionet, for String Band; must be good. State terms, age, and references.
Box 6,914, "The Era."

WANTED, Bassoon, well up in Variety Business; must be steady and reliable.
Apply, stating terms and experience, to CONDUCTOR, Empire, Edinburgh.

ROYAL PALACE THEATRE, RAMSGATE.
WANTED, Bassoon, Second Cornet, 'Cello, for "Merry Widow," Sept. 3, 4, 5. Rehearsal 11 sharp, Thursday, one matinée. Lowest terms inclusive. BRINKWORTH, Musical-Director.

MUSICIANS WANTED.

WANTED, Bassoon Player, One Week, commencing Monday next.
Address, Sidney Cooper, Lyceum, Newport, Mon.

WANTED, First-class 'Cello, for Autumn Season; 10 weeks, commencing Sept. 21. Apply, Charles Godfrey, Musical-Director, Spa Orchestra, Scarborough.

OPERA HOUSE, WAKEFIELD.
WANTED, good 'Cellist and Leader; open Sept. 7. Apply, Sherwood and Co.

CASTLE THEATRE, STOCKTON-ON-TEES.
WANTED, a good Viola Player, to commence Monday, Sept. 7.
Terms and last two references to
J. Chas. Imeson, Theatre Royal, Middlesbrough.

WANTED, for New Palace, Ebbw Vale, Flute and Piccolo, and Double Drums; also for Pavilion, Abertillery, Trombone and Drums. Com., Monday, 31st. Wire terms and particulars, E. Price, Pav., Abertillery.

WANTED, Smart Lady Pianist, 'Cello, Flute, Harpist, Hotel Orchestra. Terms, photo., stamped envelope return, Musical-Director, 100, Erdington-road, Blackpool.

WANTED, for Picture Tour, Young Pianist (lady or gentleman). Send photo., state age, salary required, &c., in first letter; steadiness essential. Apply, Curtis, Post Office, Mallow, Co. Cork.

WANTED, Lady Pianist and Vocalist, for select Smoke Room, young, good home. Apply, Wm. Hemmings, Old White Swan Hotel, York.

WANTED, Pianist, immediately, capable Turn preferred; experienced Variety; Sisters, capable Single, Theatres, Fit-ups. Wire, Eventio, P. O., Ballinasloe; after Monday a.m., Roscrea.

WANTED, Lady Pianist-Vocalist, Specialities, Serios, Operator, Smart Agent. Tour commences Sept. 21. Photos., ages, refs. essential Dr. Clark, Oddfellows' Hall, Falkirk.

WANTED, for Royal London Animated Picture Co., Pianist, three nights, open Sept. 3, Skelmersdale, probable permanency. Smalley, Manager, Market Hall, Skelmersdale, Ormskirk.

WANTED, Pianist, for Auction Mart; must be steady and reliable. State terms and references, and when at Liberty. Charles Barraclough please write. Chapman, Highfield-road, Blackpool.

WANTED, Orchestral Drummer, for three nights and matinée, Monday, Aug. 31; for "Gay Gordons," Bass Drum found; rehearse Monday 1 o'clock. Wire inclusive terms, Macdona, T. R., Colchester.

WANTED, a First-class Drummer, with Effects, and First Violin, must be used to Variety, two houses nightly, open next Monday; and First-class Pianist, open Sept. 7. Apply, Poole, Tivoli, Pentre, Rhondda.

WANTED, for two or three weeks, commencing Sept. 7, a good reliable Drummer. Apply, Musical-Director, Opera House, Cheltenham.

NEW HIPPODROME, MIDDLESBROUGH.
WANTED, Drummer, with Tympanis and Full Effects; well up in Variety Business. State age, &c., Hinchcliffe, Mus.-Dir.

COUNTY ASYLUM, WHITTINGHAM, PRESTON.
WANTED, Musician Attendants, First Violin and Viola. Not over thirty years of age, and single; none but competent players need apply. Wages commencing at £33 per annum, increasing to £38 at the end of the first year, then by annual instalment up to £45, and according to promotion, to £50 and £65, with board, lodging, washing, and uniform.
Apply to the Medical Superintendent.

WANTED, Full Band, for King's Theatre, Edinburgh, Sept. 7; must be used to Variety; steady and competent players. Apply to Jules Guitton, Mus.-Dir.

WANTED, Musicians, before accepting Engagements in Scotland, to communicate with Mr. J. Bartley, 717, New City-road, Glasgow; Mr. W. Anderson, 18, Warrender Park-terrace, Edinburgh; or Mr. W. Davis, 76, Clepington-road, Dundee.

WANTED.—Musicians "Out of Shop" and Bandmasters requiring Instrumentalists will do well to try an advertisement in the "Wanted" Columns of "The Era." One Shilling expended on Twenty Words (each additional Six Words Sixpence) is likely to bring successful results, as explained in the following letters from grateful Advertisers:—

FROM A MUSICIAN:—
To the Manager of "The Era" Advert. Dept.,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.
"Re Advertisement
"'WANTED, ENGAGEMENT BY CORNET,'
"Thanks for inserting above in the last number of your paper. I have obtained a comfortable shop. Had seventeen replies. You need not put in the second insertion.
"Yours truly, 'A Grateful Musician.'"

FROM A BANDMASTER:—
"Re Advertisement, 'WANTED, DRUMMER.'
"Please do not insert my advt. for the second insertion, as I am pleased to say I have had twenty replies, and secured a Drummer.
"Yours truly, Philip Germann, Bandmaster,
"Littlehampton."

WANTED, Musicians who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Son's Bookstalls, or from any Newsagent in the United Kingdom, to kindly communicate with the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Musical-Director (Violin) desires change; experienced Variety, reliable; at present M.-D. in High-class Variety Theatre; age 29. Box 6,907, "The Era."

WANTED, by Musical-Director, thoroughly experienced twice nightly Varieties, Engagement; steady and reliable. Address, Musical-Director, 100, Erdington-road, Blackpool.

WANTED, Engagement as Conductor or Pianist, young, Liberty Aug. 31.
Fred Middleton, Churchbridge, Oldbury.

WANTED, Engagement, as Leader or First Violin, any Business; Disengaged Sept. 12. Chas. Bacon, 7, Railway-terrace, Margate, Kent.

WANTED, Engagement, by Miss Nellie Mitchell, experienced Violinist, Leader, and brilliant Soloist; open after Oct. Olympian Quartette, Pier, Southwold, Suffolk.

WANTED, Engagement, as Violinist, experienced in Dramatic or Variety business; good refs. Apply, Violinist, St. John's Villa, St. John's-road, Lowestoft.

WANTED, by good Second Violinist, Re-engagement; good refs; Double on Viola; sober, reliable. E. W., 69, Culverden Park-road, Tunbridge Wells.

WANTED, Engagement, Violin or Viola, thoroughly competent Variety or Drama; first-class references. T. McCririe, 53, Clifton-street, Lytham.

WANTED, Known, Cornet, at Lib. for Engagements on Sept. 7, for Theatre, Concerts, Orchestra or Military Band; experience; good testimonials. Apply, J. Lawrence, Spa Orchestra, Whitby, York.

WANTED, Engagement, as Cornet, in or near London; or would Deputise; good refs. J. Buckley, 24, Reporten-road, Fulham.

WANTED, Engagement, Cornet, any business, Liberty Sept. 12.
Long, Bandstand, Bognor.

WANTED, Known, Miss Hilda Kent (Cornet) and Miss Minnie Kent (Trombone), Disengaged Sept. 21. Pier Pavilion, Clacton-on-Sea.

WANTED, Engagement, Cornet or Violin; repetiteur, Dramatic, or Variety; experienced, efficient, reliable; good refs.; Disengaged end September. Jones, 20, Green-street, Old Town, Eastbourne.

WANTED, Engagement, Clarionet, Orchestral or Military; just finished fifteenth season as First Clarionet, L.C.C. Band. G. A. P., 6 Grosvenor-street, Camberwell.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Clarionet Player, at Liberty Sept. 6. Apply, Allen Walsh, Solo Clarionet, Municipal Orchestra, Ilkley, Yorkshire.

WANTED, Engagement, as Clarionet, any Business; 6 years Variety; would deputise. F. W. Butler, 257, Lynton-road, St. James's-road, Bermondsey, London.

WANTED, Known, good Clarionet vacant from Sept. 14, good references, North of England preferred. Edwards, Pavilion, Rhyl.

WANTED, by First-class Double Bass Engagement, any Business; 5 years West Pier, Brighton. Highest refs. Franks, Derby Castle, Douglas, I.O.M.

WANTED, Engagement, Theatre or Music Hall, as Contra Bass or combine Bombardon, in Military Band. Dan Moxon, Central Pier, Morecambe.

WANTED, Engagement, by Double Bass; long experience Theatre and Variety; references; open at once. J. Page, 70, Duncombe-st., Grimsby.

WANTED, Engagement, as Double Bass; at Liberty Sept. 14. B. H., c/o Bateson's Orchestra, Lakeside, Windermere.

WANTED, Known, 4-string Bass Player, Disengaged Sept. 13, any business. Photo and testimonials sent if required. Address, F. G. Powell, Victoria Pier, Folkestone.

WANTED, Engagement, by reliable Trombonist, Great Britain or Continent, at Liberty Sept. 5. Hugh Thompson, Promenade Orchestra, Hornsea, Yorkshire.

WANTED, by First-class Trombone, Engagement, any business, First-class references; attentive to business and reliable. V. Benson, care of Post Office, 101, Cannon-street, E.C.

WANTED, Engagement, as Trombonist, Theatre or Music Hall; experienced and reliable; good references. Fred Peel, 20, Warley-street, Parkinson, Halifax.

WANTED, Known, First-class Solo Euphonium-ist and Cornet, Disengaged shortly; Military Band preferred. Wm. Maddock, sen., Municipal Band, Rothesay, N.B.

WANTED, Known, French Horn at Liberty for Engagement after Sept. 15, for Theatre, Concert, Orchestra, or Military Band; experienced in Opera, Symphony, Oratorio, &c.; First-class Testimonials; reliable. Box 6,913, "The Era."

WANTED, by French Horn, Disengaged on Sept. 6, Re-engagement. J. S., Bandstand, Littlehampton.

WANTED, Engagement, 'Cellist. Highest refs.
Fred Dent, 28, Colebrook-road, Walthamstow.

WANTED, Engagement by experienced Oboe Player, Theatre or Music Hall; termination of Seaside Engagement. Wraight, 16, Osbourne-rd. Blackpool.

WANTED, Known, Aeneas Gibson, well-known Yorkshire Harpist and Pianist, Liberty Sept. or Oct. Variety Company on Tour to Australia please write. Abroad preferred, or first-class steamship. Grecian or Gothic Harp. Gibson Bros., Music Sellers, Ilkley.

WANTED, Engagement, as Harpist or Double Bass, circus or small theatre, steady, reliable. Address, J. F. Stewart, 2, Howden-terrace, Hyde Park, Leeds.

WANTED, by Flute and Piccolo, competent, reliable, Re-engagement; Disengaged Sept. 5; well up in Variety, &c. Alexander, 33, Wilmot-road, Ilkley.

WANTED, Engagement, Flute and Piccolo, used to Variety; excellent references. At Liberty Sept. 14. Woolman, Alhambra Palace, Morecambe.

WANTED, Engagement, by Flute, Piccolo, and Cornet, together or separate, any business; experienced. Apply, Howard, 14, Portland-road, Aberystwyth.

WANTED, Engagement, Flute and Piccolo, experienced Theatre and Orchestra; thoroughly reliable. J. Levy, 7, Westbourne Park-villas, Bayswater, W.

WANTED, Engagement, by Flautist, Sept. 7; experienced and reliable; finishing season Address, Victor Candler, Mr. Bateman's Orchestra, Hornsea Gardens, Hornsea.

WANTED, Engagement, by Flute and Piccolo at Liberty Sept. 8; good refs. Flautist, Orchestra, Hengler's Circus, London, W.

WANTED, Known, Flute and Piccolo, at Liberty for Theatre, Music Hall, or Cirque. Geo. Barton, 19, Burnley-st., Failsworth, Manchester.

WANTED, Known, Miss Winifred Fairlie, Accompanist, Comedy Vocalist, Humorous Sketches, and Imitations, Dis. Sept. 24, 1908. 31, Moreton-place, Belgravia, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement, by N. Robinson, Pianist, through disappointment, any business, good reader, refs., reliable; any distance. 25, Main-street, Cadoxton, Barry.

WANTED, Engagement, by Pianist-Conductor, experienced in all Lines; excellent refs. and testimonials. Collins, 6, Emlyn-grove, Rhyl.

WANTED, by Ted Vincent, Engagement as Pianist, any business (Sketches). Just concluded fourteen weeks with Arthur Prince's New Boys. 86, Morel-street, Barry Dock.

WANTED, Known, competent Pianist at Liberty, experienced, Auctioneers, Picture Shows, &c. 65, Delverton-road, Kennington, S.E.

WANTED, Known, Mr. Cecil Bevan, brilliant Solo Pianist and Entertainer, Disengaged early in Sept. Fieldby Cottage, Port St. Mary.

WANTED, Sept. 7, by experienced Pianist; good references; any business; good sight reader; age 20. Willie Conaghan, Empire, Londonderry.

WANTED, Engagement, by good Double Drummer, with Effects, Dramatic, Variety, or good Town Band; excellent references. Musician, 10, Upton Church-road, Torquay.

WANTED, by Double Drummer, Tympanist, &c., permanency, Theatre or Music Hall; at Liberty Sept. 14. Apply, Cryer, Alhambra Palace, Morecambe.

WANTED, by First-class Double Drummer, through disappointment, thoroughly experienced, reliable; good refs. Drums, 107, Graham-road, Dalston, London, N.E.

WANTED, Wanted, Engagement, as Double Drummer.
Cockrill, Drummer, Central Pier, Morecambe.

ROYAL BLUE ORCHESTRA.
WANTED, Known, this well-known Combination of six or eight Instrumentalists terminates its Annual Summer Engagement (fourth season), middle Oct., 1908, and invites offers for the winter season; neat uniforms, splendid répertoire, perfect ensemble; highest testimonials. Address, A. E. Davison, Band Kiosk, Pump House, Llandrindod Wells.

WANTED, Known, The Grosvenor Ladies' Orchestra, specially engaged at Johnstown Flood, Franco-British Exhibition; good quartettes and trios disengaged. Terms, Wilton Davis, Manager, 42, Linton-street, London, N.

WANTED, Known, Miss Winnie Watson's Ladies' Poppy Orchestra, successful engagement at P. P., Brighton; now playing Edinburgh Exhibition; open for engagements; smart costume; Soloists and Singers. Perm. address (tel. 1111 P.O.). Poppies, 14, Gladstone-terrace, Brighton.

WANTED, Known, Italian Lady Quartette, playing at "Pharaoh's Daughter," Franco-British. Open for Later Engagements; also Lady Trio, at Liberty now, Hotels, &c. 12, West Hill-road, Wandsworth.

WANTED, Known, the Fairlie String Quartette, brilliant Soloists, Comedy Vocalists. Concerts, Exhibitions, Dis. Sept. 30. Fairlie, 31, Moreton-place, Belgravia.

WANTED, Offers, Bateson's Orchestra (small), Dis. Oct. 1, any bus. Musical-Directress, Miss Maude Trainer, Pavilion, Lakeside, near Ulverston.

WANTED, Known, Mr. Sydney Ross, Baritone Vocalist, at Liberty from Aug. 26, any business. All coms., 31, Moreton-place, Belgravia, S.W.

CIRCUS ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, for Royal Agricultural Hall Circus Season of 1908-9, the World's Greatest and most Brilliant Artists in the whole of the Circus Profession. Preference given to those artists who have not appeared in the Agricultural Hall Circus before. Everything that is good, clever, new, original, and first-class. Novel Animal Acts, Sensational Acrobats, Useful Family of Equestrians with own horses, may write at once. All coms. to Sir Edward Hanneford, 27, Third-avenue, Consbrook-avenue, Strandtown, Belfast.

WANTED, Artists, in all Lines of Circus Business, to open immediately and later. Those doing more than one act preferred. Gilleno's Circus, Waterloo Theatre, Whitby.

WANTED, a Group of Liberty Horses, Several Equestrian Families, Troupes of Acrobats, and Attractions for Scandinavia from May. Guise, 25, Bonham-road, Brixton.

WANTED, Knockabout Ring and Trapeze Performer; permanent to suitable part; good amateur may write. Full particulars, Box 6,910, "The Era."

WANTED, Circus Artists who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Son's Bookstalls, to kindly communicate with the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.

CIRCUS ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, the Whole of the Circus Profession to Know that the Celebrated Hanneford Family of Past-masters in the Art of Equestrianism are not at Liberty, but are now on their fifth great triumphal tour of Ireland, with their collossal Canadian Circus and Menagerie; also that they are admitted by all to be the greatest riders of the present, or any other, century, in fact, the Beau Brummels of the circus profession. Every act thoroughly up to date, and enacted in a manner in which grace, agility, dexterity, and a complete mastery of the art of riding are easily noticeable by the most casual observer as being predominant. We also have the pleasure and honour of announcing that Hanneford's Canadian Circus is re-engaged for the coming season of 1908-9, at the World's Fair, Agricultural Hall, London, by Mr. T. E. Read, when they will endeavour to supersede the terrific and gratifying success they made last year. We are more than a draw. We guarantee to draw more audiences than all the other champion riders. All coms. to Sir Edward Hanneford, 27, Third-avenue, Consbrook-avenue, Strandtown, Belfast.

WANTED.—Neddy Vokes, World-known Musical Clown, talking Knockabout Clown, Liberty Oct. 12. Address, 16, Moreton-street, Strangeways, Manchester.

WANTED, Known, Etherdo, Pugh, and Olrac, Classical Acts.
Sanger's Hippodrome Tour.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

FRED J. LITTLE'S
MUSICAL, DRAMATIC, AND VARIETY AGENCY,
4, Arthur-street, New Oxford-street, London W.C.
Telegraphic Address, "Wontiod, London."
P'hone, 1526 Gerrard. Manager, Harry Lane. Representative, Corliss Claflin.

WANTED, Big Specialities and Variety Artists in all Lines.
Pantomime Artists, Principal Boys,
Principal Girls, Comedians, Knockabouts,
Chorus Ladies and Gentlemen, and Dancers.
All communications as above.

HARMONIC ASSOCIATION.
WANTED, Variety Artists suitable for Concert Platforms, three Halls, one night only (Saturdays). Send vacant dates, lowest terms, to Wm. Biggam, 397, Paisley-road West, Glasgow.

WORCESTER PALACE OF VARIETIES.
WANTED, First-class Variety Artists, all Lines.
No wires, please.
Arthur Carlton, Palace, Worcester.

EMPIRE, YORK.
NEW HIPPODROME, SCARBOROUGH.
WANTED, First-class Variety Artists. Nothing too big.
Apply, William Peacock, Theatre, Harrogate.
Silence a polite negative.

WANTED, Monday, Sept. 7, and onwards, Variety Artists, all Lines, good Specialities. Particulars, Kitchingman, Aquarium, Scarborough.

NEW GAIETY THEATRE, CLYDEBANK.
WANTED, Variety Artists in all Lines, Sept. 14, onwards. A. E. Pickard.

BRITANNIA, GLASGOW.
WANTED, Variety Artists in all Lines, Sept. 14, onwards. A. E. Pickard.

WANTED, Variety Artists in all Lines, also Two Gentlemen for New Sketch; good Amateurs may apply. Graham's, 15a, Electric-avenue, Brixton.

WANTED, Variety Artists all Lines, for immediate dates, North.
Big Acts for France; nothing too big.
Cliquot, 22, Union-street, Hyde.

WANTED, Star Artists all Lines, for Immediate and Future Dates.
William Mould, Central Palace, North Shields.

HARRY SKIVINGTON'S AGENCY,
48, Brisbane-street, Greenock.
WANTED, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Greenock, Kilmarnock, Alloa, Dundee, Aberdeen, Artists for immediate and future dates. Send Bookings. Artists vacant Monday wire "Contracts, Greenock."

WANTED, Music Hall Artists, all Lines, Big Specialities, Sept. 7, onwards, for Manchester, Dewsbury, Lancaster, Oldham, Bolton, Rochdale, Burnley, Barnsley, Sheffield, Dublin, Bury, Northampton. Lowest terms in first letter, Edgar Stebbings, 23, Egerton-street, Manchester. 'Phone 9261. Tels., "Stebbing, Manchester."

VICTORIA THEATRE, STANLEY, Co. DURHAM.
WANTED, Star Artists, Sept. 14, and on, a good break going North. T. C. Rawes, Prop.

GAIETY MUSIC HALL, BLYTH.
WANTED.—Artists Required, Aug. 31, onwards. Lowest terms, Hall small. Address,
W. Yates Gregory, The Tower, New Brighton.

WANTED, Artists, Oct. 10 to 15, two or three performances daily. Cheap Specialities write in. Manager, Old Corn Exchange, Hull.

WANTED, Artists, Double Turns doing Singles, two weeks, Sept. 14, Oct. 5, 12, 19. Charles A. James, Waxworks and Varieties, Dublin.

WANTED, Artists in all Lines, from now onwards.
Apply, Mr. J. J. Scott, Empire, Wrexham.

VERNO'S AGENCY
(under the direction of L. Verno and H. Arnold),
16, Elizabeth-street, Liverpool.
WANTED, Artists in all Lines, Aug. 31, on. Tele., "Merriment." 'Phone 2076 Royal.

WANTED, for Pavilion, Northwich, immediate and future dates. Artists; only refined and capable. Lowest possible, as Hall small. No Acrobats, &c. Address, Manager.

FRED DURHAM'S AGENCY.
WANTED, Artists, in all Lines, Sept. 7, on. 1a, Loughboro'-rd., Brixton. 'Phone 15 Brixton.

WANTED, Artists, all Lines, Sept., and on. Lowest small town, where acts can be seen. Selman, 52, Charlton-road, Blackheath, London.

WANTED, for Cody's New Empire, Londonderry, Artists, can do Singles and Doubles, all Lines. All coms., Proprietor, Empire, Londonderry, Ireland.

WANTED, Concert Artists for London Season, 1908-9; exceptional opportunity for beginners. Interviews by appointment only. Merganser Agency, 82, Stapleton-road, Upper Tooting, S.W.

WANTED, Stars, &c., all Lines, Best Halls, Piers. Geo. Aytoun, 103, Kennington Park-road, London, S.E. Now on Tour. Charnleys wire address.

ALBERT T. BRIGHOUSE; Q. T., CASTLEFORD.
WANTED, good Turns, suitable for Animated Picture Show, at above, Sept. 7, 14, and 21. State absolute lowest first letter (small towns). Beanland and Emerson, Parade, Bridlington.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, Wanted, Wanted, Wanted, Wanted, Wanted, Wanted,
DALTON'S AGENCY.
DALTON'S AGENCY. Artists for DALTON'S AGENCY. Immediate Dates
DALTON'S AGENCY. and Dates onwards.
DALTON'S AGENCY.
DALTON'S AGENCY. Send full list
DALTON'S AGENCY. and very lowest
DALTON'S AGENCY. (this essential),
DALTON'S AGENCY. and permanent addresses.
DALTON'S AGENCY. 29, Maudeth-road West,
DALTON'S AGENCY. Withington,
DALTON'S AGENCY. Manchester.
DALTON'S AGENCY. Telegrams:
DALTON'S AGENCY. Granbeste,
DALTON'S AGENCY. Withington-Lancs.
DALTON'S AGENCY. Telephone:
DALTON'S AGENCY. 193 Didsbury.
DALTON'S AGENCY.

NEW PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, CHELTENHAM.
General-Manager, Mr. Edward B. Shenton.
Business-Manager, Mr. John Walters.
Architect, Mr. Winstanley, St. Anne's-on-Sea.
A magnificent new building, situated in High-st.
WANTED, Known, Plans have been approved by Magistrates. Due notice of opening date will be given.

EMPIRE, GREENOCK.
WANTED, Agents desirous of doing Business, Artists desiring Engagements, also Combinations and Travelling Pantomimes, to please communicate with Managing-Director.

STALYBRIDGE HIPPODROME.
WANTED, Talent all Lines, Sept. 7, 14, 21, later.
James Fioni's Agency,
21, Norton-street, Liverpool.

DREW BAYLEY'S AGENCY,
170, Saltmarket, Glasgow. 'Phone 2347 Tron.
WANTED, Talent in every Line, Comedians, Double Acts, Sisters, Serios, and Specialities. I am on the Spot, and can Book you.

HENRY KEMBLE'S AGENCY.
233, KENNINGTON-ROAD.
WANTED, Big Specialities, Wanted, Big Specialities, Wanted, Big Specialities, Musical Acts, Animal Shows, &c.
Sample of lithos. and full particulars to above.

WANTED, Specialities, Doubles doing Singles, must be new to Oldbury. Say if photo.-frames or lithos. Hall small. Lowest terms to Jas. Tyrer, The Palace, Oldbury.

BARNARD'S AGENCY, SHAW-ST., LIVERPOOL.
Tel. 2349 Royal.
WANTED, Big Specialities and Star Turns for immediate dates; also High-class Turns for Seaside Towns. Full list. List of bookings and Vacancies.

WANTED, for Sept. 7, onwards. Star Acts in All Lines. Star Acts in All Lines. Full up for Smaller Items.
Cadle's Agency, 106 and 105, Strand, W.C.

PALACE, KILMARNOCK.
Lessee and Manager, J. Cummings.
WANTED, Star Acts, all Lines, Sept. 7, onwards. Absolute lowest once nightly. J. Cummings, 97, Whitevale, Dennistown, Glasgow.

WANTED, Variety Acts, all Lines, for Sept. 21 and on.
Apply, J. Brown and Co., Variety Agents, (Telephone No. 1098 City), 58, Chicksand-street, N.E. Appointments only.

WANTED, Big Acts of all Descriptions. Artists holding contracts for Grantham, Peterboro', and Nuneaton send billing matter to me. Dan Noble, c/o G. T., Doncaster.

WANTED, Greatest Acts in the Profession. Send full bookings, terms, lithos. Herr Fritz De Cone please write. William Ainsworth, Northern Amusement Bureau, 11, Baker-st., Middlesbrough.

VICTORIA PIER PAVILION, COWES.
WANTED, First-class Concert Party, Sept. 21 (one week), through releasing; good sharing terms to attractive party. Fullest particulars to Reuben More.

WANTED, Concert Parties.
Wanted, High-class Organised Concert Party, for Sept 3, 4, and 5 (three days only, twice daily, morning and afternoon), and certain weeks following. Full particulars,
The Manager, South Parade Pier, Southsea.

WANTED, First-class Full Complete Company, Minstrels, Choir, Diorama, or Variety, two weeks, Sept. 21, 28, share or salary. Write full particulars, Edward Emerson, Circus, Hull.

WANTED, a Young Lady Acrobatic Dancer, one that can Juggle a little preferred. All particulars, Box 6,918, "The Era."

WANTED, a Young Girl, with knowledge of Acrobating or Juggling, for Comedy Act. All particulars, Box 6,919, "The Era."

DEETRICH VAUDEVILLE BUREAU CO.,
31, Islington, Liverpool.
'Phone 1269 Royal. General-Manager, W. Lund.
WANTED, First-class Comedians and Specialities, for immediate dates; also vacancies for good Novelties and Singing Acts. Wanted, immediately, small refined Singing and Speciality Acts, for Ramsgate. Full list of bookings and lowest terms in first instance.

WANTED, Comedians, Comediennes, and good Comedy Acts for the North. Send full bookings, &c., to Frank Lynne, 77, Angell-road, Brixton, S.W.

WANTED, good Humorist, for Refined Concert Party (four weeks certain), commencing Sept. 14, three days previous rehearsals. Lowest terms and fullest particulars, Reuben More, Pier, Cowes.

WANTED, two First-class Young Comedy Gymnasts, smart patterers, rehearse new Music Hall Sketch. Apply, stating lowest terms, R. A. G., care "Stage."

WANTED, a Gentleman (young) with strong voice, to sing Comic Medley.
Apply by letter, stating range of voice, to
J. Albert, 57, Camberwell-road, S.E.

WANTED, Young Fellow, for Comedy Act, on Continent; must do Splits, a Flip, and Tumble and Dance a Little. Postage 2½d. Ray Reed, 49, Rue de Malte, Paris.

WANTED, Boys with good voices, or Dancers, to write in for Engagement with Established Music Hall Troupe; must be aged 14, but small. All particulars to Stanley's Urchins, 18, Ackers-street, Manchester.

WANTED, a Smart Young Man, that can Tumble a little. Age, height, and salary to Box 6,917, "The Era."

WANTED, Young Man, Smart Tumbler, Open Sept. 7, long engagement.
Particulars, W. Douglas, c/o "The Era" Office.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, smart Young Man, who can Tumble a little, as Assistant, for fixing up, cleaning, and looking after apparatus.
State tricks, and all particulars in first letter.
Address,
Mrs. Eugenie, No. 6, Athol-street, Douglas, I.O.M.

WANTED, Bioscope Operator, used to both Currents and Limes.
Address, Onda, Temperance Hall, Preston.

WANTED, Proprietors, Artists, &c., to Note, the Original Rabey is Phil Rabey, Versatile Artist. Now Fourth Season, Fred Pullan's Pierrots, Clacton-on-Sea.

WANTED, Music Hall Artists who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Sons' Bookstalls to kindly communicate with the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, by Rosaline Thorne, Descriptive Vocalist and Illustrated Songs, Dates in October. This week, West London Theatre; next, Pavilion, Ramsgate.

WANTED, by Miss Ethel Yorke, the Charming Comedienne, Aug. 31, Sept. 7, 14. For reliable turn, wire, Hippodrome, Burton-on-Trent.

WANTED, for Agnes Molteno's Beautiful Scena, "A Dolly and a Coach," Sept. 7, through hall closing. Aug. 31, Stockton Hippodrome. Sept. 14, East Ham; 21, E., Camberwell.

WANTED, Known, Refined Lady Gymnast and Contortionist, and Speciality Dance Artists, Magnificent Silver and Electric Apparatus. Instantaneous Success Everywhere. Still on tour. Address, 127, Upper Aughton-road, Birkdale, Southport.

WANTED, Known, Ruble and Elsie Redfern, in their Novel Drawing-room Act, with Piano, introducing Mimicry, Banjo Overture, Ragtime Dancing, &c. Refined and Original. Finish to-night, Hippo., Ipswich; after, 60, Denmark-road, Manchester. Vacant Aug. 31 and Sept. 7.

DAWSON DEWICK,
DAWSON DEWICK,
DAWSON DEWICK,
DAWSON DEWICK,
DAWSON DEWICK,
DAWSON DEWICK,
DAWSON DEWICK,
Comedian,
and Versatile Vocalist,
will return in Dec. from a two years' successful Tour in America.

Have been specially engaged to play my old part,
Soft Sammy, in "Babes in the Wood,"
by J. Gar Kiddie, Esq.,
in which I created such a success in Glasgow two years ago.

WANTED, Wanted, Wanted, Wanted, Wanted, Wanted, Wanted, Wanted, Wanted, Music Hall Dates, from April, 1909, and on.

Agents and Managers should see this turn.

Good Songs, Good Voice, Funny Patter.
Good Songs, Good Voice, Funny Patter.

Would like to hear from a First-class Agent, with view to handling my business.

Address,
Dawson Dewick, 321, West 44th-st., New York City.
Or Care J. Gar Kiddie, Esq., Widnes.

P.S.—Not the cleverest and best Act in the world, but a clean, funny, and reliable Act (front scene).

WANTED, by Walter Howard, Musical Comedian, Halls, Piers, Picture Tours, Sept. 28, on. Care of "The Era."

WANTED, Known, Will Euston, Coster Comedian, just finished sixteen weeks with F. J. Little, Esq., now touring Wales. This, Queen's Theatre, Pembroke Dock; next, P. Hall, Treharris.

WANTED, Aug. 31, Sept. 7, Harry Tullett, the Youthful Comedian concluding successful season with Scarlet Merrions. Wire, Scarlet Merrions, Llandudno. After Sunday, 145, St. Paul's-road, Birmingham.

WANTED, Aug. 31 and Sept. 7, by Harry Morris, Comedian, &c. Hit of Bill this week, Palace, Reading.

WANTED, Known, Phil Rabey, Versatile Artist, has only a few Vacancies. Panto. settled. All communications to P. R., Fred Pullan's Pierrots, Clacton-on-Sea.

WANTED, Sept. 7, onwards, Frank Stanert, Laughing Musical Comedian.
2, Stroma-cottage, Carnoustie, N.B.

WANTED, Sept. 7, 21, on, Volto, Man-Monkey and Comedy Gymnast; close to-night, big success, Queen's T., Dublin. Add., 13, Westfield-terrace, Sheffield.

WANTED, Known, Pat O'Connor, Comedian and Champion All-round Dancer. This Hip., Preston; Aug. 31, Hip., Hulme; Lib. Sept. 7. Wire, 7, Poplar-street, Hulme, Manchester.

WANTED, Monday, and Sept. 7, E. W. Selman, Comedian. Sure Attraction, in his Latest Hits. 52, Charlton road, Blackheath, London.

WANTED, by Chas. Grantley, the Unusual Comedian, Sept. 28, Oct. 5, 12, and 19. Terrific success Gloucester. Monday, Palace, Porth.

WANTED, Sept. 7 and 14, Staffo, Novelty Comedy Juggler. I said "Juggler." Wire, to-day, Palace, Porth; Monday, Palace, Gloucester.

WANTED, Sept. 7, 14, and 21 (North) by Li Chang Hi, Chinese Conjurer. This, Central Hall, Sheffield; next, Grand Theatre, Manchester.

WANTED, Sept. 7, onward, The Great Kyoto, Japanese Humorist, Contortionist, Conjurer, and Comedy Juggler, and Oto, the Only Performing Pug Dog. A Sensational Laughing and Applauding Hit. Also Miss May Geraldine, a Dainty Comedienne and Dancer. A Sure Success. Aug. 31, Wellington Pier, Great Yarmouth. Wire, any distance.

WANTED, by The Monckton's (Fred, Lillie), Oct. 5, 12, onwards (exceptions), in their Screaming Farcical Episodes, "Two in a Flat," "A Woman's Curiosity." Enormous success, Empire, Barnsley. Aug. 31, Hippodrome, Preston (fourth return).

WANTED, Monday next, also Sept. 7, by Ray and Lingard, in Comedy Duologue, "The First of April." A Sure Success. Wire, Palace, Greenwich, London, S.E.

WANTED, Sept. 7 and 21, Lo-La and Jake, Clever and Comedy Three-Bar Act; First-class Act. 13, Westfield-terrace, Sheffield.

WANTED, Monday next, also Sept. 7, by the Two Le Bruns, Unique Vocal and Juggling Speciality. Thanks to A. Selwyn, also A. Ventor, for further contracts. Wire, People's Palace, Portsmouth.

WANTED, next week, by Fern and Fawn, in Shriekingly Funny Episode, "The Conqueror," and Comedian Single. People's Palace, Portsmouth.

WANTED, Monday. The Rinders, Song Illustrators; carry everything required for good pictures; and Chas. Lestree, Juggler. Wire, Palace, New Brighton.

WANTED, by Merry and Bright, Popular Comedians, Aug. 31, Sept. 7, Laughing Hit of Programme. This week, Hippo., Croydon. Coms., 106, Gt. Portland-st., London, W. Distance no object.

WANTED, by Doyle and Massey, Comedians, Sept. 7, onwards, with a few exceptions; second week here; still drawing big houses. This, T. R., Workington; next, Standard, Whitehaven.

WANTED, by Brothers Lawrence, Aug. 31, Scotland's Representative Singing and Dancing Experts. Great success Hip., Lancaster. This, Topping, Queen's, Keighley. Wire.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, by Purnell Bros., Comedians and Dancers, Monday next and on. Just concluded fourteen weeks with Arthur Prince's New Boys, Barry Island. 86, Morel-street, Barry Dock.

WANTED, by Les Rallis, the Artist and His Monkey, Aug. 31.
Wire, E. Rallis, 25, Horsedge-street, Oldham.

WANTED, by the Original Walonells, Great Eccentric Gymnasts, Sept. 14. Address, Jack Walonell, this week, Pavilion, Glasgow; next, Hip., Carlisle.

WANTED, by Cameo Troupe, Monday next, Screaming Comedy, Lightning Tumbling. Agent, Stebbings, 23, Egerton-st., Manchester. Tel. 09,251.

WANTED, by Ringling Trio, Acrobatic Comedy, on Stilts, &c., Original, Vac. Sept. 7, 14. Wire or write, 8, Chaucer-st., Nottingham.

WANTED, Known, Mlle. Leoville, Tight Wire and Æolea Trapeze. Big Success Everywhere. Monday next, Crystal Palace. Liberty Sept. 7 and 14.

WANTED, Aug. 31, Sept. 7, by The Peps, Modern Comedy Gymnasts. Just the best. 64, Upper Sutton-street, Aston, Birmingham.

WANTED, for Walker's Would-be Acrobats, Globella, Juggling Speciality, now Vacant. Wire offers, 9, Woodford-road, Watford.

WANTED, Aug. 31, on, La Dor Troupe, six in number, Male and Female Acrobats, with three distinct Speciality Acts. 17, Marble Hall-road, Llanelly.

WANTED, Known, Florence Raymond, Leading Lady Ventriloquist, introducing the Crying Baby, Vac. Oct. 5, onwards, with exceptions. Albert Hall, Derby; next, Westminster, Liverpool.

WANTED, by Bessie Travis, Queen of Ventriloquists, Aug. 31, Sept. 7 and 14.
Coms., 174, Ecclesall-road, Sheffield.

WANTED, Aug. 31, Sept. 7, by Gulliver, Ventriloquist.
Wire, 46, Derngate, Northampton.

WANTED, by the Original Marvellous Pardoes, and Miss Lottie Holland,
in their Great Comic Act,
"UNCLE AND THE CANNIBAL,"
Free for Engagement, Certainty or Shares, with or without own company,
Sept. 7 and 14, '08.
Come and See for Yourselves
this Really Refined, Funny, and Talented Act.
New Hippodrome, Bolton.

WANTED, Aug. 31, Sept. 7, on, "The Parson's Dilemma," Farcical Comedy Sketch, four Artists. Wire or write, Cecil Renton, 34, Villa-place, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

WANTED, for the enormously successful Musical Absurdity, "The Gay Deceivers," Sept. 23, Oct. 5. Frank Stanmore, 4, Duke-st., Adelphi.

WANTED, Monday, also Sept. 7, by Billy Ross and Co., Greatest Boxing Act before the Public. Starring, Palace, Battersea, London. Wire.

WANTED, Known, Happy Knacks Concert Varieties, enormous success Grand Pier, Weston-super-Mare, have four weeks vacant dates, Halls, Piers, Pavilions. Wire, Berti, Grand Pier, Weston-super-Mare.

WANTED, Known, Stevenette's Pierrots, Refined Humorists, Vocalists, and Instrumentalists; four to seven performers available; Garden Parties, Bazaars, Fêtes, &c. 5, Spring-gardens, Wilcox-road, South Lambeth-road, London.

WANTED, Known, The Three Rohrs,
The Three Rohrs,
Looping the Loop in the Revolving Globe.
Looping the Loop in the Revolving Globe.
Vacant only Sept. 14 and 21.
Empire, Barnsley, packed out daily.
All coms. to Chas. Rohr, Empire, Barnsley.

WANTED, Known, Johnson and Devere, Comedy and Sensational Cycle Act, Originators of Another Success, Clog-Dancing on the Bicycle. Vacant Aug. 31, Sept. 7. Wire, Palace, Reading.

WANTED, Monday next, also Sept. 7, Swift Duo, Humorous Cyclists. Wire, Pavilion T., Liverpool; after Sat., 40, Sidney-st., All Saints, Manchester.

WANTED, Known, W. Salmon, Trick and Musical Cyclist, going strong, T. H., Merthyr; next, P., Northampton. Vac. Sept. 7 and 14.

WANTED, Sept., on, for Le Clair's Electric Canine Picture Gallery, the biggest Novelty ever introduced with Troupe of Dogs. Aquarium, Scarborough.

WANTED, by Light Comedian, London Concert Engagements, refined songs, Club Secretaries and Promoters write. Arthur Rayment, 54, Mercers-road, N.

WANTED, Known, Knockabout Comedian would join First-class Troupe or Sketch; can open at once. Address, S. L., 5, Ely-terrace, Mile End-road, E.

WANTED, Berth, with Troupe, or Juggler; can do Ball Bouncing, Baton Spinning, Little Tumbling. H., 49, Green-lanes, Stoke Newington.

WANTED, Known, good Boxer and Wrestler wishes to join Company in any capacity; home or abroad; strong and good appearance. H., 95, Cornwall-road, Tottenham.

WANTED, Known, Young Man who can Tumble and work Comedy, would join Comedy Act, Sketch, or other; good worker, and been with well-known people. Address, Acrobat, Care 3, Upper Baker-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, Known, Young Man, can Tumble, wishes to join Comedy Act or other.
Address, Harry Deans, 10, Herbertson-st., Glasgow.

WANTED, Engagement, Public or Private Carl Harmon's Royal Marionettes, also Punch and Judy, with Toby. 264, Queen's-road, Battersea Park.

SHOWMEN'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

WANTED, Wanted, Known,
THE SHOWMEN'S GUILD.

Important Meeting to consider united action against the Movable Dwellings Bill. All members of the Committee within easy access of Oldham are asked to attend Meeting at the Market Hotel, Oldham, at 6 p.m., Wednesday next, Sept. 2. The Rev. T. Horne will explain what has been done.
T. Hurst, Hon. Sec.

WANTED, Known, Wanted, Known, Very Important, that the next Meeting of the British Roundabout Proprietors' and Showmen's Union will be held at the Market Hotel, Oldham, on Wednesday, Sept. 2, at 2.30 p.m. Business important.—Signed, T. Hurst, Secretary. On conclusion of above business a Special Committee Meeting will be held, a twhich the Rev. T. Horne, Guild Chaplain, will explain what action he has taken up to now re Movable Dwellings Bill, and also to consider Parliamentary Defence.—Signed, T. Hurst, Hon. Sec.

WANTED, Known, to Auctioneers and Market-Workers, there's no mistake about it, I am giving the greatest value in Secondhand Watches in the Trade, and don't forget that my Watches are all in working order, and good condition. My Silver Alberts are splendid value at 2s. 6d. per oz. Write to-day for particulars,
C. G. Clacher, 22, Argyle-street, Glasgow.

WANTED, Known, Original Stereoscopic Pictures of British Beauties, for Slots, &c.; most refined and bewitching. Send P.O. 1s. 6d. for 350 miniatures to select from.
Minerva Automatic Co.,
14, Charterhouse-buildings, London, E.C.

WANTED, Showmen to Save Money by sending for Leete's Catalogue of Specially-prepared Paints, Colours, Varnishes, Brushes, &c, and every requisite for decorating Caravans, Roundabouts, Swings, &c. Cheapest house in the trade. A. Leete and Co., 129, London-road, Southwark, S.E.

WANTED, Wanted, Showmen,
Retailers, and Canvassers, to apply for my Monthly List of Job Lines in Films and Showmen's Sundries.
Sent post free for 9d., English stamps.
S. Kohn,
8, Obermainanlage, Frankfort-on-Main, Germany.

SHOWMEN'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

TAYLOR, PLINSTON, BROTHERS, AND CO.
Sole Makers of the only Patent Cake Walk Riding Machine in the World.
Royal Letters Patent, No. 17,402, July 30, 1907.
Improvements protected, No. 25,150, Nov. 13, 1907.
Improvements protected, No. 2,649, Feb. 6, 1908.
REGISTERED TRADE MARK, "CAKE WALK."

WANTED, Known, users as well as makers who infringe will be proceeded against. In the Chancery Court, July 3, Mr. Justice Swinfen Eady granted an injunction against defendants for infringement of our Patent, No. 17402, 1907.

This machine is a Triumph of Engineering Skill for simplicity, lightness, and durability. Appreciated by the Public everywhere. Write, or call on the Sole Makers, Farncombe-street, and 94 and 98, Bermondsey-wall, Bermondsey, London, S.E.

WANTED, Known, .22 Cartridges, "R," "H," "D," "P" brands, Winchester Repeaters, 39s.; Globes, Targets, Water Balls. Greene, 74, Falmouth-road, London, S.E.

WANTED, to Sell, Latest and Best Money-getter, The Hindu Spirit Writer and Fortune Teller. Price £6. Advance, 510, Kingsland-road, London.

WANTED, Known, Stacey and Co., Showman Stores, removed to 510, Kingsland-road, London (late Settles-street). Specialities, Guns, Cartridges, Swing Rope, Slot Machines, &c.

NORWICH AND EASTERN COUNTIES ARTS, CRAFTS, & INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.
Agricultural Hall, Norwich, Oct 10 to Nov. 7, 1908.
WANTED, for the Pastimes Annex to above, Side Shows, Games, Automatic Machines, Shooting Jungle, Novelty Stalls, &c., &c.
Address, Manager.

WANTED, Attractions for Bazaar, Oct. 27, 28, 29 next. Applications to Hon. Secs., Incorporated Church of Ireland, Cork Young Men's Association, 52, South-mall, Cork.

WANTED, Quick-showing Novelty, open Monday, four weeks certain. Shares. Lessee, Revolving Tower Pavilion, Great Yarmouth.

WANTED, Immediately, Coloured Men, Women, and Children, together or separately; also Male and Female Midgets, and other Novelties, for Shuttered Booth; long and comfortable engagement. Wire, Showman, 43, Franklin-st., Brighton, Sussex.

WANTED, Lady Palmist. Apply by letter, stating experience, terms, &c., and enclose photo where possible, A. E. Pickard, Museum, Glasgow.

WANTED, good Floorsman, must be good Pitch getter and sober man.
Apply, 5, Lime-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, a Man to take the full Management of my Circus for Fair and Private business. Mr. E. Hodges, sen., 61, Cooksey-road, Small Heath, Birmingham.

WANTED, Bioscope and experienced Operator, for Greenwood's Auction Mart; good wages, permanent situation. Address, 157, Everton-road, Longsight, Manchester.

WANTED, First-class Operator, accustomed to Show Business, also a Doorsman; join at once. Dicks' Electric Show, Crosshill-by-Lochgelly, Fife.

WANTED, two smart reliable Girls, also two Men to look after Stalls; open immediately. Particulars, M. Prince Samonda, Post Office, Dartmouth (Saturday); next Monday, Post Office, Crewkerne.

WANTED, smart Marionette Figure-Worker, for Trades Exhibition Side Show (Touring).
Box 6,912, "The Era."

WANTED, Wanted, Showmen
and other Travellers to Know that I have Ground to Let at Newcastle, Staffs, Wakes,
Sept. 11,
in the Main Street.
All applications for these Wakes must be made direct to me.
Also Ground to Let at Willenhall,
Blackheath,
Atherstone Statutes,
Birmingham
Great Onion Fair,
Tamworth,
Leicester Oct. Fair,
and numerous other places.
P. Collins,
Gondola Works,
Walsall.
Telegrams, "Gondola, Walsall."
'Phone, No. 80, Walsall.

WANTED, Wanted, Known,
PLEASURE BEACH, BLACKPOOL.
Greatest Combination of Open-air Attractions in the Country. For concessions for Real Novelties for Summer Season, 1909, address, Proprietors, Pleasure Beach, Blackpool.

WANTED, to Let, on Show Ground, Space for Large Picture Show in West-End of Dundee. Rent moderate. Smith, 276, Perth-rd, Dundee.

WANTED, Proprietors of Roundabouts, Shows, Swings, Stalls, &c. Ground to Let for Dinnington Feast, where you can take money, Sept. 19. Apply, J. Burton, Auctioneer, Laughton-road, Dinnington, near Rotherham.

WANTED, Known, Cardiff Maritime Exhibition, Sept. 19 to Oct. 10 inclusive, specially erected building, 20,000 square feet. All applications should be addressed Manager, Maritime Exhibition, Cathays Park, Cardiff. Concession available for Katzerjammer Castle.

WANTED, Known, Distorting Mirrors to Let on Hire or Share, Exhibitions, &c. Address, Mirrors, c/o Mrs. Hampshire, Church-lane, Outwood, Wakefield.

WANTED, to Hire, view to Purchase, Ground or Walk-up Shuttered Booth; must be good and cheap. Holt, Waxworks, Southend-on-Sea.

WANTED, Auctioneers and Market-workers to send for my new list, with over 2,000 illustrations of Jewellery, Watches, Clocks, Field Glasses, Bazaar and Fancy Goods; every line right for price. Simons, 100, 101, 102a, Houndsditch, London.

WANTED, to Sell, immediately, Massive Carved two-waggon Front, good living accommodation (road or rail), by Orton, Burton; suit Bioscope or other Show; or will exchange for up-to-date Pullman Living Carriage. Apply, Rayner, 43, Franklin-street, Brighton, Sussex.

WANTED, to Sell, Auction Mart, Good Living Carriage, three loads, goes by rail or road. R. O., 65, Market-street, Manchester.

WANTED, to Sell, a Switchback Railway, with 8 Motor Cars, also Traction Engine, electric light, all complete. Part purchase money can remain on. Box 6,845, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, the Novelty Amusement Co. have their Automatic Bazaar for sale cheap, with or without Machines, now under management. Rent £60; all kinds of Machines for sale cheap, suitable for Bazaar. Apply, Manager, 33, High-street, Kingsland.

WANTED, to Sell, Automatic Machines, New and Second-hand, Card Delivery, Mother Shiptons, marvellous money-takers, enormous profits. Meurice, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Gold-mounted Photos., Husbands, Wives, Babies, X-rays, latest sensation, marvellous value, your profits doubled. Meurice, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Love Letters, Palmistry, Fair and Dark, Comic Cards, Eyes, Marriage, Liars', Lunatics' Licences. Meurice, 39, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Slot Machines of every description, largest and best variety in London. Wormald, 123, Blythe-rd., West Kensington.

WANTED, to Sell, Waxwork Figures, about 20, some really good bodies, clothes, &c., £15, with head cases. Stacey, 510, Kingsland-rd., London.

WANTED, to Sell, Collection 89 First-class Wax Figures also Barrel Piano, and four Penny Drops. Particulars, Box 6,911, "The Era."

SHOWMEN'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

WANTED, to Purchase, small Steam Roundabout, about 3 horse load. Write all particulars and price to 92, Stone-street, Maidstone.

WANTED, to Buy, Cinematograph and Large Shuttered Booth, for cash. State lowest price and particulars to permanent address, Middleton Villa, 282, Dewsbury-road, Leeds. Also required, two Giants. Pat O'Connor write in. Good regular shop for good smart men. Strongman Greaves.

WANTED, Few Automatic Imperial Electric Machines; must be in good condition and cheap. Box 6,906, "The Era."

WANTED, to Buy, Good Novelty, suitable for Trades Exhibition; also Small Bioscope and Films, complete, cheap. Box 6,903, "The Era."

WANTED, to Buy, Punch and Judy Figures, professional size; must be good make and well dressed. Bros. Bowman, Longton, Staffs.

WANTED, Known, Advertiser having Massive Carved Two-wagon Front (road or rail), opens out 44ft., requires person at once to finance him to a small amount, or join him with Cinematograph Show. Advertiser is a Practical Showman. This is genuine. Apply, 43, Franklin-st., Brighton, Sussex.

WANTED, experienced Traction Engine Driver, to Burrell's 6-horse; one that understands electric light, and do own repairs; can join at once. Address, Cottell's Cinematograph, Show Ground, West Stanley, Co. Durham.

WANTED, every Showman who uses the railway to send to "The Era" for a copy of the article on the new Railway Rates. This will be sent on application, free of charge, to any Showman in the United Kingdom.

WANTED TO SELL.

WANTED, to Sell, Albert Hall and Minor Hall, Swansea.
Seating capacity, Large Hall about 2,000.
Seating Capacity, Minor Hall, about 350.
Corner site, centre of town, by Tramway Junction.
Apply, E. Roberts and Son, 40, Oxford-st., Swansea.

WANTED, to Sell, that splendidly fitted Variety House known as VICTORIA HALL, MATLOCK
Beautifully situated in large garden; area 15,000 square yards. Part purchase-money can remain as mortgage. Apply, Box 6,901, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell, some First-class Scenery, small size, with complete Wardrobe (as used in "Sergeant Brue"); also full size, suitable for any Musical Comedy production; all in excellent condition. Apply, Mr. Thomas McKenzie, 10 and 11, Jermyn-st., London, S.W. 'Phone 6534 Gerrard.

WANTED, to Sell, 500,000ft. Secondhand Film, all the Leading and Latest Subjects, in Excellent Condition, guaranteed lengths, from ½d. per foot.
Weisker Brothers,
4-10, Wilde-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, to Sell, Films, cheap, and Films for Hire, up-to-date.
The Bendon Trading Co., 75, Jamaica-st., Glasgow.

WANTED, to Sell, large quantities of Films, Comic, Dramatic, Travel subjects, Moir-Burns Fights, Moir-Palmer Fights, and Hackenschmidt and Rogers Wrestling Match; all bargains to clear. Jury's Imperial Pictures, 142, Long Acre.

WANTED, to Sell, Films: Mesmerist, Reckless Horseman, Dumb Sagacity, Fatal Sneeze, Bobby's Birthday, Simpkins's Saturday Off, Devil Drives, from 1½d. to 2d. per foot. The lot, 3,000ft., £15. Manager, Pictures, Brixton Hall, Brixton, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Coloured Song Slides. 9 Love Me and World is Mine, 4s. 6d.; 8 Lips Could Only Speak, 4s. 6d.; 8 Fields White with Daisies, 4s. 6d.; Films, 1d. per foot. Morris, 18, Tweed-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, to Sell, Secondhand Circus Tents, 80ft. and 85ft., equal to new;
90yds. 10ft. wallings, also 50ft. tent.
Write, Gourock Ropework Co., Ltd., Lancaster-place, Whapload-road, Lowestoft.

WANTED, to Sell, large quantity of Panto. Dresses of every description, all in First-class condition.
State requirements.
Fred Granville, Queen's Theatre, Liverpool.

WANTED, to Sell, cheap, Professional Conjuring Apparatus and Illusions. Depôt make. Stamp for particulars, Pharos, Earl's Court, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Registering Turnstile, with middle bar, Norton's patent, cheap to clear. Ellison and Son, Haselmere-avenue, Bristol.

WANTED, Known, for sale, cheap, Midget and Postcard Outfit, complete, with show cases. Address, Studio, 27, Holton-road, Barry Dock.

WANTED, to Sell, Tip-up Chairs, 100, new upholstered in crimson velvet. Lewis and Deakin, 12½, Cleveland-street, Wolverhampton.

WANTED, to Sell, Lion and Cage, to defray cost of rent and food. No reasonable offer refused. Can be seen at once, Theatre Royal, Stratford, E.

WANTED, Known, for Sale, Wolves, handsome dog and bitch, both performers. Will accept £4 to immediate buyer.
Wynema,
Waxworks, Inverness.

WANTED, to Sell, young, handsome Trick and Leaping Hound.
Tom Hall, 4, Ferriers-court, Globe-road, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Musical Novelties, every Description, electric and otherwise; Lisle's latest, the Resonaphone. Lisle, 5, Cuthill-road, Camberwell.

WANTED, to Sell, cheap, Mattress, Carpet, three Bars, everything complete. George Lee, 57, Fortess-road, Kentish Town, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Ventriloquial Knee Figure, Old Lady, splendid model, 10s.; also Novelties for Lady Conjurer. George Redmond, Fishergate, Sussex.

WANTED, to Sell, Typed Stock Dramas, Duos, Comedy, and Dramatic Sketches; Plays Rewritten and Produced. Hal Collier, 52, Stockwell-road, London, S.W.

The Publisher, "The Era."
5, Tavistock-street, Strand, London, W.C.
"Dear Sir,—I ordered the following advertisement to appear in your paper for two insertions:—
"'WANTED, to Sell, Self-acting Pianoforte, two barrels, twenty tunes, perfect condition. Cost £44; what offers? Meurice, 39, Argyle-square, W.C.'
"Kindly do not insert my advertisement again, as the self-acting piano which I had to sell has been sold to Mr. Jack Woolf, of Wonderland fame, Whitechapel-road, E. I had also ten other applicants through my advertisement in 'The Era.'
Yours faithfully,
J. H. Meurice.
"39, Argyle-square, W.C. Oct. 9, 1906."

WANTED TO BUY.

WANTED, to Purchase, the Lease of a good Provincial Theatre; must stand strictest investigation. Apply, Box 6,862, "The Era" Office.

WANTED, to Buy, 50 or 60 Secondhand Tip-up Chairs; must be in good condition and cheap. Geo. B. Lee, Alhambra, Aberdeen.

WANTED, to Purchase, Urban or Warwick Bioscope and all accessories, for gas and electric; must be very latest up-to-date Machine, in perfect order.
Send particulars and lowest cash price to Dan Randall, Proprietor,
Castle Pavilion, Littlehampton.

WANTED, to Purchase a Good Secondhand Bioscope, with all Electric Fittings, must be first-class, up-to-date machine; also Up-to-date Films, by best makers; also Good Singing Pictures, complete, by any Good Maker. No Rubbish Wanted. Apply, giving full particulars and lowest price, to M. W. Shanly, 33, King Henry's-road, South Hampstead.

WANTED TO BUY.

WANTED, to Buy, a Cinematograph; those who have the Latest, Newest, and Up-to-date Machines only need reply. Geo. B. Lee, Alhambra Music Hall, Aberdeen.

WANTED, to Buy, Bioscope, complete, with Films; must be good and cheap, for cash. Particulars to Operator, Waterloo T., Whitby.

WANTED, Gaumont's Chrono, must be in good condition. Particulars, price, and number of machine. Felix Somers, St. John's Hall, Penzance.

WANTED, to Buy, good Cheap Films, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Wild West," &c. Particulars, lowest price, Bioscope, Crown Inn, Ironbridge, Salop.

WANTED, New and Secondhand Slides, for Illustrated Songs. State full particulars and lowest price, Chapman, Highfield-road, Blackpool.

WANTED, to Purchase, good Pantomime Production; also sets of Pantomime Dresses. Full particulars, lowest price, Arthur Carlton, Theatre, Worcester.

WANTED, to Buy, a Second-hand Oak Chamber ("Dorothy" Set); must be in good condition, with staircase. Norman V. Norman, Marlborough Theatre, N.

WANTED, to Purchase, Tableau Curtains and Brass Orchestral Rail; also 300ft. to 400ft. Pit Seating. Write, stating full particulars and lowest price, A. E. Pickard, Clydebank Theatre, Scotland.

WANTED, to Purchase, Advertising Kite. State particulars, lowest cash price, &c.
Jackson, Hippodrome, Barrow-in-Furness.

OLD PIER, WESTON-SUPER-MARE.
WANTED, to Purchase, Pearls for Gold Wire Working. Wire, Box 6,916, "The Era."

WANTED, a Stage Cloth, 35 by 30, painted to represent tiling or tesselated paving.
Apply, J. S. Boon, 67a, Gaskell-st., Clapham, S.W.

WANTED, to Buy, a Good Library of Up-to-date Military and Orchestral Music; must be in good condition.
Apply, with catalogue and lowest price, by letter only, to M. W. Shanly,
33, King Henry's-road, South Hampstead.

WANTED, to Buy, Six or Twelve Juggling Clubs, in good condition. Particulars, Caderoe, 1, Reed-street, West Hartlepool.

WANTED, to Buy,
Armour, Swords, Costumes, &c.
Hampton, Victoria Pavilion, Ramsgate.

WANTED TO LET OR HIRE.

WANTED, to Let, Queen's Hotel Assembly Rooms, Queenstown; accommodation for over 400 people; length 90ft. from entrance to stage, breadth of Hall 24ft.; electric light.
For terms apply to
B. Humbert, Proprietor.

CONSETT NEW TOWN HALL.
WANTED, to Let, the above-mentioned Hall, for Concert Parties and Cinematographs. Seating accommodation 1,000. Stage 24ft. by 12ft. Height 16ft. The above Hall has a Theatre Licence. Apply to T. W. Welford, Solicitor, Consett, Durham.

WANTED, to Let, Hippodrome, with Ring and Stage, beautifully fitted, electric and gas, big centre, ideal position, no opposition. Only responsible people apply, in County of Durham. Box 6,915, "The Era."

WANTED, to Let, on Yearly Tenancy, Theatre, Fully Licensed Bars.
Apply, Box 6,591, "The Era."

WANTED, to Let, the Rehearsal Theatre, 21, Maiden-lane, Strand, for Private Theatricals, Concerts, Meetings, Rehearsals, &c. Manager, Mr. J. Herbert Jay. 'Phone, Gerrard 2633. Wires, "Managerial, London."

WANTED, to Let, for Rehearsals, &c., Large Room, 45ft. by 30ft., smooth pine floor; good piano, accommodation, and ventilation; 1s. 6d. per hour with electric light, 1s. without; two entrances. Bay Malton Hotel, 160, Great Portland-street, W. 'Phone 2,948 Mayfair.

WANTED, to Let, Hall or Large Rooms, rehearsals with piano, 1s. per hour. Clapham Assembly Rooms, facing Clapham-road, Station.

CRYSTAL PALACE THEATRE ADVERTISING CURTAIN.
Lessee, J. Bannister Howard.
WANTED, Offers from Advertising Contractors to take over Advertising Curtain at above Theatre for three years.
Address, 15, Clifford's Inn, Fleet-street, E.C.

WANTED, Known, Films for Hire, 15s. per 1,000ft. per week. Send for new lists. Films for sale from ½d. foot. Cross's Imperial Pictures, Grays, Essex.

WANTED, to Hire or Purchase, First-class Portable, capable of seating about 500. State lowest terms to Manager, Royal Canadian Pictures, Temperance Hall, Oldham.

PARTNERS WANTED.

WANTED, Known, any Gentleman wishing to take an Interest in a Theatrical Enterprise, £1,000 capital (reference required), kindly communicate with Box 6,902, "The Era."

WANTED, Partner, for Entertainment Agency, business ability essential; good opportunity for Pianist or Musical-Director. Box 6,904, "The Era."

WANTED, at once, Lady or Gentleman, invest £50, Tour, Ladies' Orchestra and Novelty Co., London suburbs, including Bioscope.
Box 6,909, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, well-known Authors desire to meet Musical Comedy Actress, able to take half share in new Musical Play; good part offered. Unique opportunity for ambitious Artist.

State experience and amount of capital available.

Box 6,905, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, Actor-Vocalist (recognised performer), experienced Sketches, &c., expert swordsman, fencer, and boxer, late instructor crack cavalry regiment, would join Partner or good Company; Liberty Oct. (early). Address, Box 6,908, "The Era."

WANTED, Harpists to Note, Flautist would join; Pitching, London or Provinces; good refs. Letters, 5, Penryn-street, London, N.W.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TWENTY WORDS, ONE SHILLING.
Each Additional Six Words, Sixpence.

WANTED, Known, F. G. Wright, Gymnastic Apparatus Maker, Electrical Engineer, and Theatrical Blacksmith. 66 and 68, Kennington-road, S.E.

WANTED, Known, C. Kinch, Gymnastic Apparatus Maker, Theatrical and General Blacksmith. 17, St. Mary-square, Kennington-road, London, S.E. Large Hall for Practice.

WANTED, Known, for Ventriloquial and Marionette Figures and Specialities, Le Mare and Son, 28, Coupland-st., Oxford-rd., Manchester.

WANTED, Known, that we do Picture Postcards, genuine photos., 2s. 6d. per dozen; Collotype cards, 100 5s. 6d., 250 8s., 500 12s., 1,000 16s. Half-tone, 1,000 20/- Send photo. and cash. Senior and Co., Cotham Hill, Bristol.

THE AMERICAN SHOW PRINTERS' AGENCY, 12, Cecil-court, Charing Cross-road, W.C.
WANTED, Managers, Requiring Novel and Up to-date Printing, to call and inspect the latest samples of printing, suitable for everything in the business. Fresh samples continually arriving; nothing old or antiquated submitted. Always a large stock of Posters on hand for Circus, Menagerie, Cinematograph &c., &c. Address, A. De Frece, Manager. Telephone, 331, City.

WANTED, Known, Authors' MSS., Typewritten copies, 6d. per 1,000 words; Plays 2d. per page. Accuracy guaranteed. Bureau, 64, Basinghall-street, London. 'Phone, 7522 Wall.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED, Known, Band Parts (14), 6s. 6d., any Song; Experienced Composer, Arranger to Principal Stars. Pickering, 2, Norbiton-house, Camden-street.

WANTED, Known.—Band Parts arranged and Sketch Music Composed. W. W. Bright, 96, Lancaster-st., Newington Causeway, London, S.E. (near Elephant and Castle).

WANTED, Known, Cottle's Bureau, 229, Camberwell-rd. Band Parts, 3s. 6d.; Composing, Copying; Band Books, 4s. 7d. Lists. Rehearsal room, 1s. hour.

WANTED, Known, Pliable Band Books, Lightest and Strongest on the Market. Sample (name and instrument in gold), small 1s., large 1s. 3d., post free. McIntyre, 30, George-street, St. Helens.

WANTED, Known, Songs with Melody, 5s. each (singing rights); Sole Singing Rights from £1 1s. Sabine, Author, 93, Rosemary-road, Peckham.

WANTED, Known, Theatrical Framing and Properties Made. Estimates free. John Tiller, Scenic Stores, Heald Grove, Rusholme, Manchester.

WANTED, Orders for Captive Advertising Balloons, Indiarubber Toy Balloons printed with Advertisements, Paper Montgolfier Balloons, Gas or Hot-air Passenger Balloons, Parachutes, Airships. C. G. Spencer and Sons, 56a, Highbury-grove, London, N.

WANTED, Known, Frock Frills, Lino, plain, with ruche, 3s. 11d. per doz.; Accordian-pleated, 5s. 6d.; Samples free. King, 2, Dysart-road, Grantham.

WANTED, Known.—To Theatre and Music Hall Proprietors.—Run your Own Advertising Curtains and Programmes. We have twenty years' experience. We work direct with you. We find advertisers. We work on commission only.
No orders, no pay.
We can supply full particulars re Painting, Printing, and Collection of Accounts.
British Advertising Co.,
7, Lansdown-terrace, Llandudno, N.W.

TALBOT or HENDERSON.
TALBOT or HENDERSON.

WANTED, the present address, if living, or particulars of the death; if dead, of Miss Kate Talbot, otherwise Mrs. Kate Henderson, who, about the year 1881, was a member of the Billee Taylor Comic Opera Company.
Anyone who can give the desired information will please communicate with Messrs. J. and J. Ogilvie, solicitors, 13, Albert-square, Dundee.

WANTED, Mr. Leonard Thiel to communicate with
R. J. W. Bloom, Sunderland.

WANTED, Tom Hall to send address to Tudor, Crown-street, Blyth.

WANTED, Known, if the Lion and Cage left at the Theatre Royal, Stratford, is not removed and expenses paid at once it will be sold.
Fred Fredericks.

WANTED, Known, Comfortable Home in Country offered for Children; temporary or permanent. Apply, Lay, Forest View, Honey-lane, Waltham Abbey.

WANTED, Known, Great International Beauty Competition, to be held at the Palace Theatre, Southampton, week commencing Monday, Sept. 7. Valuable prizes will be given.
Entries invited.
Apply, Manager, Palace, Southampton.

WANTED, Known, for his new Entertainment, the name of Watt Moor will in future be assumed by Harry Wright. Final announcement.

YOUNG FRENCH LADY, clever, charming manner and appearance, highly recommended, seeks post as lady's maid with big actress or rich lady.
Reply, E. W.,
c/o Street's, 30, Cornhill, E.C.

THEATRE ROYAL, MERTHYR.

VACANT OCT. 19 and NOV. 16 (?)

Only two dates this year.

HIPPODROME, WEST BROMWICH.

(Full Dramatic License.)

Stage 40ft. Electric Light.

Has held several times within the last 12 months over £100.

Working in conjunction.

Three dates in Wales can be given with above Hippodrome on certainty or sharing terms (certainties preferred).

N.B.—Managers are requested to note that Aberdare and Mountain Ash are within the barring radius of the T.R., Merthyr, which will from this date be rigidly enforced.

Managers holding contracts with the Theatre at West Bromwich need not apply.

Apply, stating lowest certainty required for the four weeks, to Manager,

South Wales Entertainments, Ltd.,
Theatre Royal, Merthyr.

MOSS' EMPIRES, LTD. & STOLL COMPANIES SUBSEQUENT

(Moss, Stoll, Thornton & Allen Theatres, Amalgamated) — Chairman: SIR EDWARD MOSS

WORKING IN CONJUNCTION.
Capital £2,086,000.
Managing Director:
OSWALD STOLL.

(Including the London Coliseum Ltd.) — Chairman, OSWALD STOLL

Assistant Director and Chief of Staff: FRANK ALLEN.
Department Superintendents { W. S. Gordon Michie. / Alan W. Young.

CO-OPERATIVE OFFICES: CRANBOURN MANSIONS, CRANBOURN STREET, LONDON, W.C.

INTERVIEWS BY APPOINTMENT ONLY.

CALLS FOR MONDAY, AUG. 31, 1908.

Telephone: 1050 and 1051 Gerrard.
Wires: "Twigsome, London."

THE LONDON HIPPODROME.

"The Sands of Dee," Two Albanos, Dumond Trio, Marstro and Oretta, Vasilescu Troupe, W. C. Fields, Vetter Bros., Sears, Gaberel, Watson's Dogs, Campbell and Barber, Fratellinis, Pathégraph, Georges, Loie Fuller's Ballet of Light.

EMPIRE PALACE, EDINBURGH.
Rehearsal at 1.30 for:—
Arthur Roberts and Co. in "Till Sunday," Stewart and Morgan, Nora Emerald, Arabella Allen, Johnson and Bert, Donaldson Bros. and Co., Jennie Johns, Marie Empress, Bioscope, Sammy Shields, George French.

EMPIRE THEATRE, GLASGOW.
Rehearsal at 12 for:—
Mme. Hanako, Howe and Ardie, O'Malley and Brown, Laurie's Kindergarten, Leslie Harris, "Home from the Honeymoon," Lester Brothers Marie Nilsson, Bioscope, Alice Raymond & Players.

COLISEUM, GLASGOW.
Rehearsal at 12 for:—
The Gothams, Maud Rochez's Monkeys, Bessie Butt, Albert Letine, Harry Tate's Co. in "Motoring," Three Meers, Six Lancashire Lasses, Musical Schaffers, Bioscope, Toft's Statuary.

ARDWICK EMPIRE, MANCHESTER.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Neil Kenyon, Madge May, The Three Lloyds, Les Martineks, Little Ganty, J. A. Wilson, Kate Traill, Steve McCarthy, Bioscope, Marie Kendall.

HIPPODROME, MANCHESTER.
Rehearsal at 12 for:—
Hubert Carter and Co., Geo. Gilbey, Lottie Govell, Gus Le Clercq, Pip Powell and Katie Vesey, May Henderson, Hallan and Hayes, Norman and Leonard Trio, Illustrated Song and Glee, Bioscope, Dunedin Troupe.

EMPIRE PALACE, LEEDS.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Machnow, Hans and Lux, Bioscope, Eight College Girls, Barton and Franklyn Trio, Will English, Callahan and St. George, Harry Rogers and Co., Seven Wulfrunas, Mlle. Eldee, Phil Ray.

EMPIRE PALACE, BIRMINGHAM.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Arnold Bell and Co. in "Paul Kauvar," Brothers Diamond, Rhoda Paul, Jackson Family, Gus Garrick, Wood, Wells, and Wilkins, Chronomegaphone, Sisters Grovini, Bioscope, Sanford and Lyons.

BORDESLEY PALACE, BIRMINGHAM.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Walter Melville's Co. in "The Girl Who Took the Wrong Turning."

GRAND, BIRMINGHAM.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Harry Lauder, Will Cornish, J. P. Ling, Venie Clements, Reichen's Dogs, Tennyson and Wallis, C. J. Johnson, Marguerite Arnoldi, Bioscope, Iben Obed Troupe.

EMPIRE THEATRE, BRADFORD.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Fred Ginnett's "Dick Turpin," Cissie Curlette, Bi Bo Bi, R. H. Douglass, Carlotta Levey, Five Olracs, Jock Mills, Hugh Barclay, Bioscope, Barton and Ashley.

EMPIRE, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Bella and Bijou, Elsie Roby, Rich and Rich, Mason and Bart, George Newburn, Narow Brothers, New York Nippers, Nellie Martell, Bioscope, Ten Ji Troupe.

EMPIRE PALACE, LIVERPOOL.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Louie Freear and Co. in "Snooks," Brothers Huxter, Ernie Mayne, Celia Galley, Bonnie Goodwin's Piccaninnies, Bioscope, Lola Patey, Conan and Doyle, Maud Laverne, Tom Foy and Co.

OLYMPIA, LIVERPOOL.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
La Milo and Cruikshank, Grace Merton, Alice Maydue, Proveanies, Griffiths Bros., O'Brien Bros., Eadie and Ramsden, Monie Mine, Bioscope, Will H. Fox.

EMPIRE, HACKNEY.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
"The Brigands of Tarragona," Kitty Clinton, Molasso Quartette, Harry Grey, Syd May, Warsaw Bros., Olive Armadale, Bioscope, Tom Edwards, Arthur Lennard.

EMPIRE, HOLLOWAY.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Walter Passmore and Co., La Danseuse, The Clarkes, Hayes and Wynne, Theo Boumeester, Boyd and Gilfain, Frank Couch, Lyric Quartette, Bioscope, George Formby.

EMPIRE, NEW CROSS.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Laurence Irving, Mabel Hackney and Co., Hartley Wonders, George Rae, Ross and Lewis, Tom Woottwell, Cruikshank, Herr Rousby, Maggie Walsh, Maud Vera, Bioscope, Bros. Egbert.

BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
The Royal Carl Rosa Opera Company.

EMPIRE, STRATFORD.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Horace Goldin, Ben Albert, Eight Lancashire Lads, Carney and Armstrong, Duncan and Godfrey, Leo Tell, The Haytors, Madge Osmond, Bioscope, Henry Coutts and Co.

EMPIRE, SWANSEA.
Rehearsal at 3 for:—
R. A. Roberts, Sisters Pine, Cumberlands, Thorpe and Coe, Tom Parker, Jackley Trio, The Leonards, Bioscope, Ella Shields.

PALACE, LEICESTER.
Rehearsal at 2.30 for:—
Whit Cunliffe, Mena Brae, Harry May Hemsley, Ethel Whiteside and Picks, Mabel Bardine and Co., The Maples, Ray Maskell, Andy Burns, Bioscope, Gittins's Opera Company.

EMPIRE, CARDIFF.
Rehearsal at 3 for:—
The Boissets in "The Bricklayers," La Belle Nello, Violet Ray, Edie King, Drew and Alders, Carina Sisters, Chas. Stevens, Bioscope, Truly Shattuck, Chas. R. Whittle.

PHILHARMONIC HALL, CARDIFF.
Until Further Notice.
Rehearsal at 3 for:—
B. Maddison, Hetty Hocking, Gwilym Naish, Rose Stuart, Bert Williams, Bioscope.

EMPIRE, NEWPORT.
Rehearsal at 3 for:—
Fred Lindsay, Crown Trio, Fred Lincoln, Verno and Voyce Herbert Shelley, Bros. Redmond, Marion Scott, Bioscope, Charlene and Charlene.

EMPIRE, NOTTINGHAM.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
George Robey, Ethel Hayden, Mitchell and Cain, Frank L. Gregory Troupe, Kent and Keith, Russell Brandow, Kisbey, Adey Spencer, Bioscope, "The Bosun's Mate."

EMPIRE PALACE, SHEFFIELD.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Reano's Band, Northern Troupe, Nell Emerald, The Kirbys, May Mars, Nellie Coleman, Herald Comedy Four, Cecilia Maude, Bioscope, Poluski Bros.

PALACE THEATRE, HULL.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
Mark Sheridan, Barlee and Smith, Ruth Lytton, Little Zola, Ludwig Amann, Ed. E. Ford, Lena Verdi, Aida Martine, Bioscope, Alexandre and Hughes.

EMPIRE, SHEPHERD'S BUSH.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
George Gray and Co. in "The Fighting Parson," McCann's Irish Terriers, Pete and Minnie Lee, Fred Keeton, Olgar and Elgar, The Lumars, Three Cape Girls, Johnny Walker, Bioscope, Lil Hawthorne.

NOTICE.—No order or contract for goods or services must be accepted for any of the foregoing theatres except upon receipt of an Official Form, issued from the Co-operative Offices, London, and signed by either Mr. Oswald Stoll, Mr. Frank Allen, or the Chief Accountant, otherwise the Company concerned will not be responsible for same, and will refuse payment. In special cases, where goods are required at once, suppliers must look to the individual placing the order, who will be personally liable, unless an official confirmatory order, signed as above, is received within forty-eight hours. Invoices must be sent to the Theatre, but monthly statements should be sent to the Co-operative Offices. The individual Company on whose behalf orders are signed is solely responsible for payment. The Management will not hold themselves responsible in the event of loss of or damage to, any MSS., Songs, &c., submitted for consideration.

THE LONDON COLISEUM.

Rehearsal at 10 a.m. for:—
Odette Valerie, Eugene Stratton, Tom Terriss and Co., Daras, W. T. Ellwanger and Co., Nita Jo, Kelly and Gillette Trio, Picchianis, Four Maisanos, Edith Courtney, Maggie Rimmer, Bioscope, Joseph Hart's "Futurity Winner."

THE FOLLOWING ARE BOOKED IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE ABOVE:

EMPIRE THEATRE, DUBLIN.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Mike S. Whallen, Eily Adair, Harry Drew, Clark's Nippers, Orpheus, McConnell Trio, Frances McNulty, Pictures, Daunton-Shaw Troupe.

EMPIRE THEATRE, BELFAST.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Hymack, Will Poluski, jun., Vanando, Lee and Bentley, Ian Colquhoun, Bros. Weltman, Pictures, Imperial Russian Troupe.

EMPIRE PALACE, SOUTH SHIELDS.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
G. H. Elliott, Camille Feo, The Howards, Lady Mansel's Juveniles, Pat Rafferty, Mirsky, Pictures, Brown and Leclerq Co.

THE PALACE, CAMBERWELL.
Rehearsal at 1 for:—
Both Performances.
Harry Tate and Co., Dan Crawley, Marie Blythe, Russell Wallett, "No. 99," Michael Nolan, Stidder and Dunbar, Frank Sylvo, Nellie Farrell, Bioscope, Lottie Lennox.

EMPIRE, SUNDERLAND.
Rehearsal at 2 for:—
"The Tea Shop," Flo Esdaile, Will Johnson, Gertie Gitana, J. W. Rowley, De Wynne Bros., Daisy Martell, Bioscope, Laurie and Beatty.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, WALSALL.
Rehearsal at 12 for:—
Gustave Fasola, Four Jumels, Sados, Victor Travers, Harold Thorley, Tom Lloyd, Bioscope, Phil and Nettie Peters.

IMPERIAL HALL, WALSALL.
Rehearsal at 12 for:—
Company as booked.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Artists are requested to note that the Alexandra Theatre, Stoke Newington, comes within the area absolutely barred by us. Artists and Agents are requested to note that the Standard Theatre, Shoreditch, and the Terriss Theatre, Rotherhithe, also come within the area absolutely barred by us.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ARTISTS.

Artists must have Band Parts for at least Twelve different Instruments for the Orchestras. Matter for Bill, Blocks, and Specimens of Pictorials FOR ALL THE ABOVE THEATRES must be sent to CO-OPERATIVE OFFICES, at above address, THREE WEEKS before Opening, failing which Artists will run the risk of having their Engagements cancelled.

IMPORTANT.—Artists must forward Copies of Songs to the STAGE DEPARTMENT, ABOVE ADDRESS, TWO WEEKS previous to opening, with Assignments for same, which will be returned. Artists are requested to note carefully that the clause in their contracts relating to rehearsals will in future be strictly enforced.

NOTICE.—Artists' Scenery, Properties, &c., MUST be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Licensing Authorities.

ARTISTS WILL CLEARLY UNDERSTAND THAT THEIR BUSINESS MUST BE FREE FROM ALL VULGARITY.

N.B.—Silence in every case a polite negative. Artists are requested not to enclose a stamped envelope. Letters marked "Private" will be delayed.
Telephone, 1050 and 1051 Gerrard. Wires, "Twigsome, London."

The Greatest Aggregation of Variety Theatres in the World.

FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER'S SONG SUCCESSES.

"WE'VE ALL BEEN DOING A BIT"
(T. W. Connor).
Sung by Dan Crawley.

The Absolute Rage of the Isle of Man.
"OH! OH! ANTONIO!"
(Murphy and Lipton).
Sung with unparalleled Success by Miss Florrie Forde.

"TAKE ME ON THE FLIP-FLAP"
(Wilmott and Darewski),
Sung by Miss Ella Retford.

"WHEN I GET BACK AGAIN TAE BONNIE SCOTLAND" and "THE WEDDIN' O' SANDY MacNAB."
Written, composed, and sung by Harry Lauder.

"LET ME BUT HOPE."
(Percy Edgar and H. E. Pether),
Sung by Miss Ethel Hayden.

"IN THE TWI-TWI-TWILIGHT" (Wilmott and Darewski), "YOU'RE PROUD TO BE A SOLDIER" (Nairn and Mathews), "DEAR MR. ADMIRAL" (F. W. Leigh), and "HANG OUT THE FRONT-DOOR KEY" (B. H. Burt).
Sung with enormous success by George Lashwood.

"THE SIMPLE LITTLE MILLINER."
(Written and composed by Leslie Stiles).
Sung by Miss Millie Lindon.

"ALL DAY" and "LIMERICKS"
(F. Leo).
Sung by Wilkie Bard.

Dedicated by permission to M. Paul Cambon.
"THE FRANCO-BRITISH MARCH,"
composed by Little Max Darewski.

"I KNEW I'D GOT SOMETHING TO DO"
(Fred. Hastings).
Sung by Bernard Russell.

"ON THE CLIFFS OF NORMANDY."
(Lawrance, Mellor, and Gifford).
Sung by Miss May Mars.

"I NEVER REPLY"
(Pelham and Rule),
Sung by Miss Gladys Mavius.

"A HEART FULL OF LOVE AND A POCKET FULL OF MONEY"
(Lester Barrett and H. E. Darewski).
Sung by Miss Carlotta Levey and Miss Florrie Forde.

"SUE, SUE SUE, I'M VERY MUCH IN LOVE WITH YOU"
(Lester Barrett and H. E. Darewski), and
"I WANT TO GO TO IDAHO"
(Lawrance, Mellor, and Gifford),
Sung by G. H. Elliott.

Professionals and Entertainment Managers visiting America are cordially invited to avail themselves of the use of our New York Offices (Mr. FRED DAY, Manager), 1364, Broadway.

FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER,
142, CHARING CROSS ROAD, LONDON, W.C.

Telephone, 5428 Gerrard.
Telegraphic addresses, "Arpeggio, London," and "Playtime, New York."

BAND PARTS.

JUST PUBLISHED.

I'M NOT GOING TO LEAVE THIS LITTLE LAGOON FOR YOU.
CASTLING & GODFREY.

I WANT TO BE YOUR SWEETHEART.
MELLOR, LAWRANCE, & GIFFORD.

WHEN THE MOON PLAYS PEEK-A-BOO WITH YOU.
GARDENIER & FISCHER.

IN THE MERRY MONTH OF MAY
CASTLING & GODFREY.

WHAT YOU'VE GOT LOOK AFTER COLLINS & ROGERS.

IN MY SUBTERRANEAN HOME I'M GOING TO STAY.
FRED GODFREY.

IF YOU HAV'NT A GIRL IN THE WORLD.
CASTLING & GODFREY.

IF I SHOULD PLANT A TINY SEED OF LOVE (IN THE GARDEN OF YOUR HEART.)
MACDONALD & TATE.

Write for Piano Copy and Orchestration

1/- each set, and

SING THE SEASON'S SUCCESSES.

B. FELDMAN & CO.,

2 & 3, ARTHUR STREET, NEW OXFORD STREET, LONDON, W.C.

Telegrams, "Humfriv, London." Telephone, No. 4147 Gerrard.

MOSS' EMPIRES, LIMITED

(MOSS, STOLL, THORNTON, AND ALLEN THEATRES, AMALGAMATED).

AND

STOLL COMPANIES

(INCLUDING THE LONDON COLISEUM, LTD.).

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS

All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office.

Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns.

Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier.

Artists employing Agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents.

New Acts seeking Engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our District Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follow:

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, AND DISTRICT.
MR. S. GETHING,
Empire Theatre, Glasgow.

LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD AND DISTRICT.
MR. T. GERALD MORTON,
Empire Palace, Leeds.

BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, AND DISTRICT.
MR. HATTON WHARTON,
Empire Theatre, Nottingham.

LIVERPOOL, MANCHESTER, AND DISTRICT.
MR. ALBERT BULMER,
The Empire, Liverpool.

SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.
MR. ALBERT MITCHELL,
Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

LONDON DISTRICT.
MR. J. CHRISTIE,
Empire Theatre, Shepherd's Bush, W.

N.B.—Mr. OSWALD STOLL or Mr. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously.

Co-operative Offices:
CRANBOURN MANSIONS,
CRANBOURN-ST., LONDON, W.C.

MONTE CARLO PUBLISHING CO.,

CHAMPION "SONG-PLACERS" OF THE WORLD.

SUCCESSES EXTRAORDINARY!

"LOVELIGHT."

(Harrington & Powell.)

Miss JOSE COLLINS'S Phenomenal West End Success.

(By kind permission of Miss ALICE LLOYD.)

"BABY CALLS HER MA!" Sung by Miss MILLIE LEGARDE.

"LOOK OUT, BOYS!" Sung by Miss LOTTIE LENNOX.

"DIRECTOIRE GIRL."

(Harrington & Powell.)

Miss MARIE LLOYD'S Sensational Success.

"CUBAN GIRL." Sung by Miss JOSE COLLINS.

"LEAVING MONTE CARLO." Sung by Miss DORA LYRIC.

"POVERTY STREET."

(Pelham & Rule.)

Miss KATE CARNEY'S Universal Triumph.

"PARASOL FOR TWO." Sung by Miss MADOLINE REES.

"I WANT TO BE AMONG THE BOYS." Sung by Miss LENA VERDI.

Professional (Pierrot or Pantomime) Copies, 3 Stamps each.

Write for our Complete List of Popular Songs. Professionals in search of "FREE SONG HITS"—Write or Call! Write or Call!

THE MONTE CARLO PUBLISHING CO.,

3, Berners Street, Oxford Street, London, W.

Telephone: 12305 Central. Telegrams: "Lyrical, London."

THE STAR MUSIC CO., LTD.

6 SEASIDE HITS 6

I DON'T CARE IF THERE'S A GIRL THERE

(CHARLES WHITTLE'S GREAT SUCCESS).

CAROLINA BROWN.

WON'T YOU WALTZ THE MERRY WIDOW WALTZ?

OH! GEORGE, TELL THEM TO STOP THE FLIP-FLAP.

HAVE YOU GOT ANOTHER GIRL LIKE MARY?

OH! THOSE SEASIDE GIRLS.

PANTOMIME ARTISTES AND MANAGERS ARE REQUESTED TO MAKE A NOTE OF THE ABOVE WINNERS.

CALL OR WRITE FOR FULL LIST OF SUCCESSES.

9, Charing-cross-road, London, W.C.

'Phone 8446 Gerrard. (Facing Carrick Theatre). Tels., "Songonia, London."

WITMARK'S

The Home of Melody and Song.

ALWAYS SOMETHING NEW, NOVEL, AND ORIGINAL.

THE BOY WHO STUTTERED AND THE GIRL WHO LISPED.

An absolute sensation as sung by MISS LIL HAWTHORNE.

An immense success wherever sung.

NOTE.—Miss Lil Hawthorne has the exclusive singing rights for Music Halls of "The Boy Who Stuttered and the Girl Who Lisped."

The present Song Hit in America is

JUST SOME ONE. JUST SOME ONE. JUST SOME ONE.

Do not overlook this charming chorus song. It will soon be heard everywhere in GREAT BRITAIN, as now in AMERICA.

WANTED, the Manager of every Pierrot Troupe and Al Fresco Entertainment in Great Britain to send Address and Programme.

ATTENTION.—Leaders of Bands and Orchestras, do not overlook the Instrumental Hit of the Year,

THE TEDDY BEARS' PICNIC.

Pronounced by all who have heard it our Greatest Instrumental success since THE MOSQUITO PARADE. Septette and Piano, 1/-. Full Orchestra and Piano, 1/6.

Send for latest LISTS. HITS FOR ALL.

Note to all.—Enclose 7 Stamps and Programme for Professional PIERROT PACKET. Otherwise silence a polite negative.

Address all Communications to the Firm

M. WITMARK & SONS

186 & 188, Shaftesbury Avenue, LONDON, W.C.

58, Rue du Faubourg Montmartre, PARIS.

Telegraphic Address, HUBBCULA, London. Telephone, 1430 Gerrard. CHARLES WARREN—Manager.

THE MACNAGHTEN VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT.

Proprietor and Director General: Mr. FRANK MACNAGHTEN.

Business Manager for the Circuit: Mr. E. F. LAWTON.

Secretary: Miss AMY ROBINSON.

Special Representative: Mr. SYDNEY ARTHUR.

EXECUTIVE OFFICES:

KING'S CHAMBERS, ANGEL STREET, SHEFFIELD,

where please address all communications in regard to FINANCIAL, COMMERCIAL, and GENERAL BUSINESS Matters.

Telephone, No. 3449.

Telegraphic address, "Macnaghten, Sheffield."

LONDON OFFICES:

Oakley House, Bloomsbury Street, W.C.,

where please address all communications in regard to the PROFESSIONAL and PUBLICITY DEPARTMENTS of the Circuit.

All applications for dates at the Theatres Royal, Rotherham, Chesterfield, and Leeds, to be addressed to the London Offices.

Telegraphic Address, "Cirvaunac, London."

Telephone, No. 9157 Gerrard.

General Manager, Mr. FREDERIC BAUGH.

Secretary ... Miss AGNES M. RUSTON

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

All billing matter and notification of appearance, accompanied by samples of pictorial printing, must be sent in to the London Offices fourteen clear days prior to opening, or contract may be cancelled at the option of the Management.

All Scene and Property Plots of Sketches, Scenes, &c., must be sent to Foresters' fourteen clear days before opening.

All Artists carrying scenery must have same fire-proofed, in accordance with L.C.C. regulations, otherwise it will not be allowed in the Halls.

Artists please note that when stage staff are required on Sunday, according to the "award," their time must be reckoned from that given in "call."

In cases of emergency after office hours, Mr. Baugh may be consulted at the Foresters' Theatre, Cambridge-road, E.

Telephone 5964 Avenue.

Telegraphic address, "Stageyness, London."

CALLS

FOR WEEK COMMENCING

MONDAY, AUG. 31, 1908.

PALACE, BRADFORD.

Tom Hearn, Three Alskarnos, Sisters Silcott, Lily Eyton, Mlle. Bartenelli, Wake and Dean, Margit and Lener, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux, Harry Milton.

PALACE, BLACKBURN.

The Piccolinos, Sisters Cora, Lawrence Barclay, Renée Grahame, Chas. Banks and Dog, Chris Richards, Gibbon and Bell, Shaun Glenville and Co., Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE, HALIFAX.

Florrie Gallimore, Ellis and Watts, Harry Cotton, Carr and Rose, Jack Lane, Belle Brahame, Cestria, Kremka Bros., Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE, W. HARTLEPOOL.

Howard and St. Clair, Jimmy Laurie, Gold and Sterling, Georgina Middleton, Five Bombays, Baker and Balfe, Three Gregsons, Keith and Merson, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE, SOUTHAMPTON.

"The Grip of Iron," Hanid Alexander, Smythsons, Kelly and Ashby, W. G. Wesley, The Lannons, Harry Weldon, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PAVILION, LEICESTER.

Pictures, Norah Stockelle, Scottie's Waifs, Whizzing the Whirl, Chas. F. Best, Ethel Scheffer, Four Cecellas, Lack and Ford Trio, La Belle Mail.

THEATRE ROYAL, ROTHERHAM.

"No Wedding Bells for Her."

THEATRE ROYAL, CHESTERFIELD.

"A False Wife."

THEATRE ROYAL, LEEDS.

"Women and Wine."

THEATRE ROYAL, ATTERCLIFFE.

Picture Entertainment.

KING'S, NOTTINGHAM.

Picture Entertainment.

PALACE THEATRE, BATH.

The Motramos, Dolly and Elsie, Billy French, Alpho, Beaty and Blanche, Harry Nelson, Cullen and Carthy, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE THEATRE, LINCOLN.

The Vyponds, Billie Burford, Jock Walker, Sisters Edwardes, Estrella, The Forsyths, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux, &c.

PALACE & HIPPODROME, CARDIFF.

Rehearsal 1 o'clock.

Carlton, Lew Towers, Taree, Kelly and Agnes, Mysterious Cross, Jessie Burnett, Gravetta and Parr, Pipifax and Panlo, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE & HIPPODROME, WARRINGTON.

The Selbinis Troupe, Edwardes and Dacre, Violet Nunn, Harry Luck, Thornbury, Tossing Austins, George James, Annie Schuberth, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE & HIPPODROME, BURNLEY.

Radford and Valentine, Marie Jones, Mabelle May, The Simms, Sisters Brenton, Dave Samuels, Alfonzo, Abdullah and La Superbe, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PIER PAVILION, SOUTHPORT.

Matinée Monday.

Tally Ho! Trio, Lily Arthur, The Miltons, Harry Simms, Millicent Frères, Fyne and Hurley, Halmo, Helen Martin, Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

PALACE, BOW.

Matinée every Monday.

The Bensons, Harry Zetter, Raymond, Allsop and Beckwith, Les Belles Américaines, Florence Inman, Akbar, Bella Leaburn, Bernard Mervyn and Co., Harry Bent, Lottie Lunn, Wm. Doland and Co., "Under Red Cross."

FORESTERS'.

Matinées Monday and Thursday.

Will Brockton, Ethel Arundel, Raymond, Carl Colyer, Frederic Victor and Co., Hughes and Carney, Ivy Deane, The Gelders, Ethel May, "Orange Girl" Co., Marie Lester.

SADLER'S WELLS.

Matinée every Monday.

Raymond, Takio, Della Sisters, Stuart and Evans, Cissy Esdaile, Flo Burnett, Fred Maxwell's Heathen and Christian, Chas. Verner, Permane's, Bears, Three Sisters Jonghmanns.

PALACE, BATTERSEA.

Rehearsal, Monday 12 o'clock.

Matinée, Monday, at 2.30 o'clock.

Sisters Darnton, Raymond, Little Dot Moss, Rose Pink, Leslie Bell and Co., Frazer Trio, Will Tarrell, Edgar Bedden, Millie Denham, "Maid of Alps," Frank Seeley.

SURREY THEATRE.

All Artists engaged for Surrey Theatre must bring 14 Band Parts.

Matinée every Monday.

Dora Lyric, Raymond, Dancing Gilberts, Harrigan and Holt, Chas. Resti, The Almas, Henney and Blanche, Geo. Porter, Alfonso Silvano, "Oliver Twist," Geo. Marriott's Co., Daisy Hurdle, Maitland Manler and Co.

FRANCIS & DAY'S SONGS.

SONGS FOR THE SEA-SIDE.

THE RAGE OF THE COUNTRY.

"OH! OH! ANTONIO!"

Miss FLORRIE FORDE'S LATEST SENSATION.

Sung also by Miss EDITH FINK.

ENORMOUS SUCCESS OF

"HANG OUT THE FRONT DOOR KEY."

GEORGE LASHWOOD'S LATEST CHORUS SONG.

THE LATEST CRAZE.

"TAKE ME ON THE FLIP-FLAP."

Miss ELLA RETFORD is creating a Furore nightly with this Song.

"I'M AFRAID TO COME HOME IN THE DARK."

Sung by Miss HETTY KING and R. G. KNOWLES.

"MANDY LANE."

THE LATEST AMERICAN HIT. Featured by the PAVILION GIRLS.

"IT'S BETTER THAN BEING A CARNEGIE."

Sung by Miss WINIFRED HARE.

"JOHNNY MACINTYRE."

A GREAT MARCH CHORUS. Introduced by Miss MARIE BLYTHE.

Copies and Band Parts now ready.

"SWEETHEART DAYS."

THE BALLAD OF THE SEASON.

Sung with enormous success by HARRY CLAFF AND MISS ALICE TREMAINE.

"OVER THE HILLS AND FAR AWAY."

Miss ALICE LLOYD'S AMERICAN CHORUS HIT.

"WHO SAID HE DON'T LIKE GIRLS?"

Sung by HARRY SIMMS.

"FIFTY LONG YEARS AGO."

Sung by HARRY BANCROFT.

"ESAU, TAKE ME ON THE SEE-SAW."

Miss MADGE TEMPLE'S GREAT CHORUS HIT.

FRANCIS, DAY, & HUNTER,

142, CHARING CROSS ROAD, LONDON, W.C.

Telephone, 5425, Gerrard. Telegraphic Addresses: "Arpeggio, London," and "Playtime, New York."

CALLS for REHEARSALS.

BURTON-ON-TRENT, NEW HIPPODROME. Aug. 31, Messrs. Cowper Smith and Payne's Co., "The New Girl."

CREWE HIPPODROME. Vaudeville Season. CALL Monday, Aug. 31, Maurin's Fairy Fountains, The Musical Keiths, Fred Mason, Brooklyn Comedy Four in "Mirthful Mariners," Marie St. John, New Operascope, Babs Lloyd, Chas. Bignell.

Artists requiring Immediate Dates, Apply, H. PERCIVAL YOUNG, Sole Booking Representative, Shakespeare Theatre Offices, Clapham Junction, London, S.W.

CALL.

PAUMIER AND HOWARD'S SOUTH CO. "PRINCE AND BEGGAR MAID."

Rehearsal 11 a.m. Thursday next. Artists will be notified at what Theatre. All engaged kindly send address to 12, Bishop's-mansions, Fulham, S.W.

Children On the Stage.

THE ACT

AFFECTING THE

EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN ON THE STAGE

CAME INTO FORCE ON

SATURDAY, OCT. 1, 1904.

MANAGERS, AGENTS, ENTREPRENEURS, AND PERFORMERS

WISHING TO POSSESS A COPY

of the

COMPLETE ACT,

— IN A CONCISE FORM — can do so by forwarding

THREE STAMPS

TO

THE PUBLISHER,

"THE ERA" OFFICES,

5, TAVISTOCK STREET, STRAND, W.C

Telegraphic address: "THE ERA, LONDON." 'Phones 4747 and 1433 Central.

COSTUMES.

ALL THE SUCCESSFUL DRESSES WORN BY

MISS MARIE LLOYD,

Including the much talked of

DIRECTOIRE DRESS,

The TANAGRA and other PICTURE GOWNS, were made EXCLUSIVELY by

MADAME HINA,

30, ALEXANDRA ROAD, ST. JOHN'S WOOD.

Near Swiss Cottage, N.W.

STAGE AND EVENING DRESSES MADE TO ORDER COMPLETE,

FROM £7 7s.

THE THEATRES MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

Directors.

Mr. GEORGE ALEXANDER, Chairman.
Mr. J. F. ELLISTON, Vice-Chairman.
Mr. H. BEERBOHM TREE.
Mr. ARTHUR COLLINS.
Mr. J. MACREADY CHUTE.
Mr. JOHN HART.
Mr. FREDERICK MOUILLOT.
Mr. F. W. WYNDHAM.
Secretary,
Mr. E. W. BUCKLEY.

This Company being purely mutual, the whole of the Profits are apportioned amongst the Members, and, after building up substantial reserves and the Payment of Dividends upon the paid-up Capital, more than 50 per cent. of the total premiums paid has been apportioned amongst the Policy-holders, the actual cost of the Insurance thus being less than one-half of the premiums paid.

For Particulars apply to E. W. BUCKLEY, Secretary, The Theatres Mutual Insurance Co., Ltd., 6, Bowlalley-lane, Hull.

Telegraphic Address, "Lynx, Hull." Telephones: National, 417; Corporation, 517.

SCOTTISH NATIONAL EXHIBITION, EDINBURGH, 1908.

THE THOMPSON'S PATENT GRAVITY SWITCHBACK RAILWAY CO., Ltd., of 8, JOHN-STREET, ADELPHI, LONDON, W.C., hereby give Notice that they hold the Concession for the direct from the Executive of the above Exhibition, and not through any other party or parties.

FIGURE 8 RAILWAY

Telegraphic Address: "PHONOFILM," London.

Telephones: No. 3037 Central. 3239 Gerrard.

PATHÉ FRÈRES, LONDON.

31-33, CHARING CROSS ROAD, W.C.

THE LARGEST FILM MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD.

ACTUAL OUTPUT OF FILMS PER DAY, 80 MILES.

THIS WEEK'S NOVELTIES.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT.

Code word, "ESSAIM."

In the street a lady passes a gentleman, who looks at her, and follows at once, muttering softly to himself: "This girl or none." With the complicity of the maid, he comes into her house, disguised as a hairdresser, then as a plumber. But he is soon found out, and the maid is dismissed. The young lover secures her place for himself; but here he has to contend with all sorts of unexpected happenings, and the film ends with his being found out again, amongst very amusing circumstances.

660ft. The Subject, £11 0s. 0d.

A UNIQUE DISGUISE.

Code Word, "ERUDIT."

"A £40 prize will be awarded to-night at the Bohemian Ball to the person who wears the most freakish disguise." On reading this a man out of employment and trying to make some money bores a hole in a small kitchen sideboard, gets into same, leaving out of this unusual garment his head and feet only. At the ball he is greeted by a burst of laughter, and the prize is awarded to him, together with several bottles of champagne, sandwiches, and cakes, &c., which he intends eating and drinking in peace in his garret; but this wish of his heart is only gratified after sundry and various incidents, which are most comical.

560ft. The Subject, £9 6s. 8d. Toning, 18s.

I AM ABSORBED IN POLITICS.

Code Word, "EPHEMERE."

Two friends are reading the election posters, but they soon have a quarrel over them. They buy a paper, fight again with arguments, and upset a plank, which knocks them down. Picking themselves up again, they pass under the wheels of a tramcar, and resume their dispute amongst a herd of cattle, which they try to convert to their opinions, without noticing what kind of listeners they have. They come home with a cigar in their mouths, and set fire to the house. The firemen, soaking them through with water, put an end to their arguing, and the two men, singed, wet, wounded, swear that they have had enough of it.

396ft. The Subject, £6 12s. 0d.

HURRAH FOR FREEDOM!

Code Word, "ESSAYAGE."

A gentleman, after delivering a speech on the topic of liberty and freedom, lets loose dogs, and pigeons, and rabbits, captive balloons, &c. He also sets a motor-car in motion, and releases the drunkards which are being marched off between two policemen. But the result of all his well-meant actions is for him a series of blows and a small cell at the police station, where he has plenty of time and a good opportunity for shouting: "Hurrah for freedom!"

362ft. The Subject, £6 0s. 8d.

UNCLE'S FORTUNE.

Code Word, "EPREUVE."

An uncle, on his return from America, where he has made his fortune as a planter, and anxious to make out his will in favour of the most worthy of his nephews, tells them he is poor. After being welcomed by some and repelled by others, he knows their feelings towards him sufficiently well to make his will in such a way that each of them receives his due.

643ft. The Subject, £10 14s. 4d. Toning, £1

AT THE SELECT HOTEL.

Code Word, "ENFER."

Mr. Racuit, by some evil chance, misses his train, and as the next is not going until the morning, he decides to stay at the hotel. Racuit has a most disturbednight and teases and kicks about, so much so, in fact, that his feet come from under the clothes and go through the partition into the next apartment, and are used as pegs by the two occupants. One can imagine what follows! The lady in the next room is thrown out of the window, the gentleman is sent flying, but everything finishes up all right in a general reconciliation.

396ft. The Subject, £6 12s. 0d. Toning, 15s.

THE BAD SPIRIT.

Code Word "EMPIRE."

This story is that of a man addicted to drinking spirits, and of the effects of same on his brains. At the public-house where he is wont to spend all his weekly earnings he picks a quarrel with a friend, and in his fury he throws a chair at him; he has become a madman, and on seeing his victim falling to the floor, he runs away and roams about the country aimlessly. His son, anxious about his prolonged absence, goes out and looks for him; but the father, still in a state of boundless rage, grasps him by the throat and strangles him. Presently the police put him into a strait-jacket. The last picture is that of an asylum in Nice, in beautiful scenery, which forms such a painful contrast to the house and its inmates.

445ft. The Subject, £7 8s. 4d. Toning, 14s.

MAGIC ALBUM.

Code Word, "ESCAPADE."

A magician receives the visit of an old marquis who is anxious to know his tricks. He takes a large book, on which several people silhouette themselves; then they become alive and step out of the album, performing at the same time funny and amusing pantomime, to the delight of the nobleman.

297ft. The Subject, £4 19s. 0d. Colouring, £2 10s. 0d.

FISHING IN SHALLOW WATER IN SWEDEN.

Code Word, "FALAISE."

Beautiful waterfalls and landscapes, together with good photographic quality, make of this film an interesting subject.

346ft. The Subject, £5 15s. 4d.

Pathé's Films

UNEQUALLED THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

PATHÉ FRÈRES AHEAD OF ALL OTHER FIRMS.

LAST WEEK'S NOVELTIES.

FRANCO-BRITISH EXHIBITION, LONDON, 1908 (Second Edition).

Code Word, "FANTASSIN."

TITLES OF PICTURES:—ENTRANCE TO THE EXHIBITION.—THE COURT OF HONOUR.—A TRIP BY WATER.—THE FLIP-FLAP.—AT PHARAOH'S DAUGHTER.—THE SCENIC RAILWAY.—THE SPIDER'S WEB.—THE PAILLARD'S RESTAURANT.—FIRE CASCADES.—THE PATHÉ'S PAVILION.

773ft. £12 17s. 8d.

GLUE MAKING.

Code Word, "EUPHONIE."

TITLES OF PICTURES:—THE ARRIVAL OF THE RAW MATERIAL.—VARIOUS SPECIMENS OF BONES.—SELECTING THE BONES.—OPENING THE STEAMING-PAN.—BOILING THE GLUE IN A CAULDRON.—STRAINING THE GLUE.—THE REMAINS OF THE BONES ARE PUT IN THE OVEN.—FROM THE OVEN TO THE POUNDING-ROOM.—SACKS OF BONE POWDER.—THE MOULDED GLUE IS TAKEN TO THE DRYING-ROOM.—THE BLOCKS OF GLUE ARE CUT INTO SHEETS AND PLACED ON RACKS.—AFTER THEY ARE DRIED THEY ARE TAKEN TO THE PACKING-ROOM.—PACKING.

379ft. The Subject, £6 6s. 4d.

PUSS-IN-BOOTS.

Code Word, "EPAVE."

Puss-in-Boots (the hero and title of one of Perrault's tales) is a cat, which by his skill and craftiness makes the fortune of his master, the famous Mr. A. Miller. The lesson one can draw from this tale is that work and perseverance go very far in this world.

740ft. The Subject, £12 6s. 8d. Colouring and Toning, £8 15s.

OH! THE RED TAPISM.

Code Word, "EPAGNEUL."

This punctual gentleman arrives at his office every morning to the minute, but he does not mind leaving the public waiting for him outside. He very often indulges in a little nap, dreaming the while that he has won a reward from the Government for his good services. But one fine morning he is suddenly torn away from all these sweet things by the customers outside trying to break into his office, and it would not have fared well with him had not his chiefs come to his aid, ready to uphold the privileges of the Administration.

460ft. The Subject, £7 13s. 4d.

OSCAR IS KIDNAPPED.

Code Word, "DOUANIER."

Oscar, a boy of sixteen, is spending his holidays at the house of his aunt. Madge, the maid, who has never seen so good-looking a boy, takes a fancy to him, and she looks at him tenderly. Then follows a series of comical incidents, in which their trunk and a tricycle play a great part, and the end of it is that two policemen having been sent after the fugitives, they capture them and put them in their right places again.

396ft. The Subject, £6 12s. 0d.

PATHÉ'S FILMS ARE EXCLUSIVELY EXHIBITED AT THE LONDON HIPPODROME, and at THE PATHÉ BUILDING, FRANCO-BRITISH EXHIBITION.

WORKS AND STUDIOS.

VINCENNES.
JOINVILLE LE PONT.
MONTREUIL s/BOIS.

BRANCHES.

BRUSSELS. NEW YORK. BERLIN. MOSCOW. VIENNA. MILAN. AMSTERDAM. CALCUTTA. ALEXANDRIA. BUENOS AYRES. RIO DE JANEIRO. MEXICO. SINGAPORE. SHANGHAI. TOKIO. SYDNEY. BARCELONA

NEW BIOSCOPE PICTURES

Telephone: 6473 Central.

FILMS FOR HIRE

FILMS FOR HIRE

Our Speciality is

LONG PICTURE SHOWS.

All Our Customers are Doing Well. The Pick of ALL Manufacturers' Films.

We do not push any Firm's Films in particular; but we buy the CHOICE of the WORLD'S PRODUCTIONS.

You may leave your Billing to us.

WE ARE SHOWMEN.

YOUR SUCCESS IS OURS.

DO NOT RUSH TO THE WASTE BUTT TO SAVE 5/- —IT IS NOT POLICY.

How can you expect the same result from an Inferior Programme as you would a First Class one?

You would not expect the same result from a £2 a week Comedian as you would a £60 one. This class of saving is PENNY WISE and POUND FOOLISH.

Repeating Our Motto:

THE BEST IS NOT TOO GOOD FOR YOU.

Please Note

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE address:
65, Thornton Street, Westgate Road.

LONDON address:
1 to 5, CECIL COURT, W.C.

Telegrams: "Newbio, London."

NEW BIOSCOPE PICTURES

RUFFELL'S PICTURES

Hold your Audience.

RUFFELL'S PICTURES
Hold their Own.

RUFFELL'S PICTURES
Hold the Name.

Try "Ruffell's" in your Billing, and the result will be a Success and a Draw.
Place your Date with us, the Reliable

STAR PICTURE EXHIBITORS.

We collect and use nothing but the very best Films of the highest photographic quality of all the leading British and Continental Manufacturers, besides Original Subjects of our own, hence our standard of efficiency is always TIP-TOP.
Complete Weekly Changes.
Terms Moderate.

RUFFELL'S IMPERIAL BIOSCOPE SYNDICATE, LTD.,
12, LITTLE NEWPORT-STREET, W.C.
(Opposite the Hippodrome.)
New Second-Hand List now Ready.

FILMS FOR HIRE.

SPECIAL HIRE DEPARTMENTS.

FIRST-CLASS FILMS ONLY.

R. R. BEARD'S

Improved Type
RHEOSTAT or RESISTANCE

Fitted with Six Switch Contacts, Off Position, and Terminals for 200 and 120 Volt Circuit, and Fuse Terminals, giving 25 to 60 Amps.

Patent Perfect & Imperial BIOSCOPE.

ARC LAMPS, CARBONS, AUTOMATIC REGULATOR JETS, LIMES, and Every Requisite for Cinematograph work. Full Catalogues post free. 'Phone Hop 1964.

R. R. BEARD,
10, TRAFALGAR ROAD, OLD KENT ROAD, LONDON, S.E.

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE!

THE PATENT

"AJAX"

FIREPROOF CURTAINS, BIOSCOPE BOXES, & FIREPROOF DOORS,

IN USE IN MANY OF THE UP-TO-DATE THEATRICAL HOUSES.

PRICES MODERATE.
SMOOTH & EASY WORKING.
FIRE AUTHORITIES' APPROVAL.

MAKERS & PATENTEES,

JOHN MALLIN & CO.,
WEST BROMWICH.
Telephone 469.

PHOTOS

with Individuality, with Style, and with Distinction

MEAN SUCCESS.

MODERN PHOTOGRAPHIC WORK FOR ARTISTES.

The well-known establishment of THE Hana STUDIOS, Ltd., place at your service a thorough knowledge and experience of artistes' requirements.

WE CAN PLEASE YOU AND OUR PRICES WILL SATISFY YOU TOO.

We gladly answer any inquiries.

THE HANA STUDIOS, Ltd.,
22, Bedford-street, Strand.

TO SHOWMEN, ENTREPRENEURS, AND CINEMATOGRAPH SHOW EXPLOITERS.

A CINEMATOGRAPH SHOW.

ALFRED WEST'S

"OUR NAVY."

ONE THOUSAND POUNDS

FOR

TWENTY-FIVE SHILLINGS.

TO THE PUBLISHER, "THE ERA."

Sir,—
It may possibly interest you to learn that a Quarter-Column Advertisement in "The Era" (One Insertion) resulted in over £1,000 Bookings for an Entertainment with which I was connected some little time ago. The Entertainment was entitled and the Bookings were effected within a week.

ALFRED WEST'S "OUR NAVY,"

Yours faithfully,
H. GOLDSMITH-WHITTON,

Late Manager, West's "Our Navy," Ltd. &c.
London, May 19, 1904.

URBAN FILMS. 4d. per foot.

SUNNY MADEIRA. Part I.

By courtesy of the Union-Castle Royal Mail S.S. Company.

LIFE AND CUSTOMS OF AN ATLANTIC WINTER RESORT WITH A DEEPLY INTERESTING AND BEAUTIFUL ENVIRONMENT.

Madeira from the Sea—Funchal Bay—Panorama of Funchal from Bella Vista: an entrancing picture—Landing Passengers and their Baggage, by quaint and unusual methods—Market Day, Funchal—Journey by Mountain Cog Railway, rising 2,000ft. in two miles—Sugar Cane Plantations—Flower Girls—Packing Eggs for shipment, &c., &c.

No. 2223. Code, "Funchal." Length 460ft. Price £7 13s. 4d.

THE BARONET COWBOY.

INCIDENTS IN THE CATTLE RANCH LIFE OF SIR GENILLE CAVE BROWNE CAVE, BART.

By courtesy of Colonel Cummings, Wild West Exhibition.

Original Scenes illustrating the herding and branding of cattle in the Far West. Skilful work with lariat and horse by experts. Buck-jumping displays—desperate efforts of tricky horses to unseat experienced riders, &c.

No. 2232. Code, "Lariat." Length 380ft. Price £6 6s. 8d.

RECENT COMIC AND DRAMATIC SUCCESSES:

THE SON'S CRIME.

RACECOURSE SCENES.—Wild and rash betting—Ruin—Disgrace—Remorse. LIFE IN A GOLD-MINING CAMP.—A Lucky Find—Riches—Congratulations—Off Home. THE RETURN.—Repa-ation and Happiness.

No. 3331. Code, "Nugget." Length 593ft. Price £9 18s. 4d.

THE SWIMMING MASTER.

A corpulent pupil, no longer young, takes a swimming lesson, "personally conducte1" by an amorous master who neglects his duties. The pupil sinks, complications and a fracas ensue, and the difficulties increase with every incident. One long laugh from first to last.

No. 4061. Code, "Natate." Length 222ft. Price £3 14s.

A STERN FATHER, BUT AN INDULGENT GRANDFATHER.

A young man chooses his own wife, but his father has other views. For a time the son weakly consents to his father's will, but finally throws off the yoke, and is thrown out by his father. Married happiness results, and the stern old man lovis his newly-found grandson with gifts.

No. 4057. Code, "Stern." Length 465ft. Price £7 15s.

THE HAND-CART RACE.

Extremely comic incidents of a popular sporting event. Dozens of middle-aged comp titors, each frantically anxious to win. Spills, locked wheels, and other accidents only serve as spurs to the more fortunate. Rollicking fun in every picture.

No. 4059. Code, "Striva." Length 313ft. Price £5 14s. 4d.

THE OLD VIOLIN.

Romantic, Artistic, Picturesque. An idyllic story of love and rivalry, with which is interwoven a minor plot of an old musician's gratitude, the noble revenge of an humble suitor, and the ultimate acknowledgment of his fitness by the parents of the girl he loves.

No. 3312. Code, "True." Length 520ft. Price £8 13s. 4d.

TERMS: CASH WITH ORDER. NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR TINTING AND TONING.

CHARLES URBAN TRADING COMPANY, Ltd.

Kinematograph Specialists and Film Publishers,

URBANORA HOUSE, WARDOUR STREET, LONDON, W.

Telegrams: "BIOSCOPE, LONDON." DISTRIBUTING BRANCHES IN EVERY COUNTRY. Telephone: 3118 CENTRAL.

ROLLER SKATING ALL THE RAGE
IN EVERY AMERICAN CITY.

Over 5000 Rinks in successful operation. RICHARDSON Cushion Frame Anti-Jar ROLLER SKATES are used exclusively in all prominent American rinks, and by all the leading skaters of the world. The scientific and simplified construction of Richardson skates makes them the most economical on the market. Write for New Catalogue. Tells how to open and operate roller rinks. Address:

FRED. W. NALL, European Manager, 10, JAMES STREET, LIVERPOOL.

RICHARDSON BALL-BEARING SKATE CO.,

(Cable Address: "Levant.") 501, Wells St., CHICAGO, Ill., U.S.A. European Branch: NEW BRIGHTON, CHESHIRE.

PROFESSIONAL APARTMENTS.

Three Lines, ONE SHILLING.
Thirteen Insertions, TWELVE SHILLINGS.
Address, PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

BIRKENHEAD.—Mrs. Howell, 52, Bridge st. Two sitting, two combined, three bedrooms, piano bath, w.c., 5 mins. from Theatres.

BRIGHTON.—Marine Hotel, Market-st., the Pro.'s House. Special Terms to Artists. Prop., Harry Stuart (the Old Pantomimist).

DUBLIN.—Comfortable rooms. Good cooking. Moderate terms. 45, Victoria-st., South Circular-road, Dublin.

GLASGOW.—Buchanan-street Station Hotel. Recommended. Terms, 35s. Near Empire, Pavilion, Zoo, Royal, Royalty, and Grand.

LONDON, N.E.—Central Forester's, Paragon, Empire; trams to Shoreditch, 1d; piano, gas, recommended. Mrs. HALLEN, 18, Beck-road, Hackney.

LONDON, S.E.—150, Kennington Park-road.—Well-furnished apartments; bath; facing Kennington Theatre. Mrs. Brett.

LONDON, S.E.—Mrs. Bartlett, 41, St. Mary's-square, Kennington-road. Combined rooms vacant, gas, piano, good cooking.

LONDON, S.E. — Camberwell Gate. Large combined rooms, bath, piano; board-residence; very moderate. 23, Grosvenor-terrace.

LONDON, S.W.—Brixton. Good apartments, every comfort, bath, good cooking, 1d. fare to all bridges. 139, Stockwell Park-road.

LONDON, S.W.—Furnished dining-rooms, piano, gas, bath, h. c., good cooking and attendance.—B. H., 12, Benedict-road, Brixton.

LONDON, S.W.—145, Brixton-road. Well-furnished apartments; good cooking and attendance; pianos, gas; trams and 'bus pass door, 1d. to W.-E. and City.

LONDON, W.—Furnished Flat to Let. First floor, sitting-room, two bedrooms, and kitchen, 2gns. per week. 15, Rupert-street, Coventry-street, Piccadilly Circus.

LONDON, W.C.—119, Gower-st. Well-furnished Apartments, also comfortable Bed-Sit. Rooms; bath (h. and c.), good cooking; close 'bus. Tube; four languages spoken; terms mod.

LONDON, W.C.—21, Guilford-street, Russell-square. Apartments, superior house, with electric light and 'phone; board, if required.

MANCHESTER.—Mrs. Gray, 36, Booth-street East (near Palace). Two bedrooms and sitting, large front combined, bath, w.c. Professional house only.

MANCHESTER.—Bed-sitting and combined rooms, pianos, bath, &c.; moderate. Near halls. Mrs. Prince, 37, Rumford-st., Oxford-st.

NORTH SHIELDS.—Mrs. Coffee has removed from 1, Gardner-street, to 14, Railway-terrace, where she will continue her apartments.

NOTTINGHAM.—Flint's Temperance Hotel, 20, London-road. Moderate Charges. 3 minutes from Mid. and G.N.R. Trams pass door.

PLYMOUTH.—Mrs. Johnston, 7, King-gardens. 3 bedrooms, 2 sitting, or combined, piano, &c.; 3 minutes T. R.: Pro. refs.

SOUTHPORT. — Sitting-room, Combined, and Bedrooms; bath, piano, &c. Mrs. Appleton, 82, Lord-street; 3 min. from Theatres.

EDINBURGH. — BRAID HILLS HOTEL, MORNINGSIDE.
Charmingly situated hotel, completely appointed. Every modern luxury. Uninterrupted views of the City and the surrounding district. 450ft. above sea-level. Pure mountain air. Splendid public golf course adjoining hotel. Also ladies' course. Cable cars to and from City every three minutes up to 11.30 p.m. Terms moderate.
For descriptive brochure apply to Manager.

BRIXTON HILL.—A Charming Little Residence; only £40 cash required, and balance £40 a year; 7 good rooms, h. and c. bath, &c.; beautifully redecorated throughout; long lease. Price only £425.

Apply, Mr. FISHER, 20, Wormwood-street, E.C.

TELEPHONE CALL OFFICE.

"THE ERA" BUILDINGS.

FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF ADVERTISERS AND MEMBERS OF THE AMUSEMENT PROFESSIONS

A

PUBLIC TELEPHONE CALL OFFICE . . .

HAS NOW BEEN INSTALLED AT

"THE ERA" OFFICES,

5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, W.C.

TELEPHONE CALL OFFICE.

PIERROT POSTERS

Also for Cadet and all Alfresco shows.

STAFFORD & CO., LTD., NETHERFIELD, NOTTS.

WILLSONS
Supply STREAMER LETTERS, Mammoth Posters, Day Bills, in First-class Style, and the General Run of Show Printing, Streamers—the largest Assortment in the United Kingdom—Day Bills, &c., at our Usual Low Rates.

NEW-WALK PRINTING WORKS, LEICESTER

MOODY BROTHERS, Birmingham, for PICTORIALS.
New Machinery to print 60 by 40. Write for Illustrated Catalogues, containing illustrations of all Mackenzie's Pictorials, which we have lately bought. Telephone, 1206 Central. Telegrams, "Moody's, Birmingham."

TROEDEL & CO.
THEATRICAL PRINTERS,
MELBOURNE, VICTORIA, AUSTRALIA.
COMPANIES TOURING THE COMMONWEALTH AND NEW ZEALAND CAN GET ALL PICTORIAL PRINTING THEY REQUIRE SPECIALLY PREPARED AT ABOVE ADDRESS, AND SAVE ALL EXPENSES OF FREIGHT AND HEAVY DUTIES.

ADMISSION TICKETS In ROLLS or PACKETS for Checking the Drawings.
Printed & Numbered to suit all requirements.
THE GLASGOW NUMERICAL TICKET AND CHECK BOOK PRINTING CO., Write Dept. "E" for Prices.
31, Finnieston Street, GLASGOW.

PRIVATE PHOTO CARDS.
If you send your portrait or any photograph (which is your own property) to
THE RAPID PHOTO PRINTING CO., LTD.,
THE RAPID PHOTO PRINTING CO., LTD.,
THE RAPID PHOTO PRINTING CO., LTD.,
THE RAPID PHOTO PRINTING CO., LTD.,
4-5, Bridgewater-square, London, E.C., they will supply you with beautifully-finished photographic toned post-cards, with enamel surface.
These are very suitable for Greetings or Xmas Cards.
Price, 7s. 6d. 50 Cards.
Price, 10s. 100 Cards.
Send photo. with postal order to above address.
N.B.—A specimen card may be had upon application.
Special reduced quotation for large quantities.

SPENCER BROS., Ltd.,
Aeronauts to the Crystal Palace, &c.
45a, Aberdeen Park, Highbury, N.
Terms upon Application.
C. G. SPENCER & SONS, Airship, Balloon, and Parachute Manufacturers, 664, Highbury Grove, London, N.
Price List, one Stamp.
Telegrams, "Aeronaut, London." 'Phone, 1893 Dalston.

Just Out. Price 1s., post free.

SHOWMAN'S YEAR BOOK, 1908.

Edited by the Rev. T. HORNE.

Entirely Re-arranged, Corrected and Enlarged. 100 pages.

Issued at "THE ERA" Publishing Offices, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.
Telephones: 4,747 and 1,433 Central.
Telegraphic Address, "The Era, London."

CRAVEN'S Famous HAMPERS.

The World's Strongest and Best, as used by the Elite of the Profession, all of whom speak highly in their praise.

RELIABLE TRAVELLING HAMPER.

Fig. 400.

Sizes and Prices as under:—

Inside Measurements. Long.	Wide.	Deep.	PRICE.	Lining	G.P.O. Rollers on Tray	bottom
21 x	14 x	14 ..	6/10 ..	3/2 ..	3/0 ..	2/0
25 x	16 x	16 ..	7/9 ..	3/6 ..	3/0 ..	2/3
28 x	18 x	18 ..	8/9 ..	4/0 ..	3/3 ..	2/6
30 x	20 x	20 ..	10/6 ..	4 6 ..	3/6 ..	2/6
33 x	21 x	21 ..	12/6 ..	5/3 ..	4/0 ..	3/0
36 x	22 x	22 ..	14/6 ..	6/0 ..	4.6 ..	3/0

The Largest Theatrical Hamper Establishment in the World.

Illustrated Catalogues Post Free.
LARGE STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND. ORDERS PATCHED SAME DAY AS RECEIVED. ORDERS CAN BE DISPATCHED. TERMS: NETT CASH.
T. CRAVEN & SONS, (T. DEPT.), 15, Marsden Court, Fennel Street, MANCHESTER.
Branch, 8, Queen Street, BELFAST.

FIVE HUNDRED REPLIES

IN ANSWER to ONE ADVERTISEMENT in the

WANTED COLUMNS of

"THE ERA."

Mr. ALBERT HENGLER writing from the HIPPODROME, GLASGOW, says:—

MY ADVERTISEMENT IN THE LAST ISSUE OF YOUR PAPER BROUGHT ME CLOSE ON 500 REPLIES

AN EXCELLENT RESULT.

Particulars of THE PUBLISHER,
"THE ERA" BUILDINGS,
5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

THEATRE ROYAL, WHITEHAVEN, FOR SALE.

TO BE SOLD BY AUCTION,

by MESSRS. JACKSON and MURRAY, at their MART, WHITEHAVEN, on THURSDAY, the 17th of SEPTEMBER,
at 3 0 p.m.,
The Freehold Property known as
THE THEATRE ROYAL,

Situate in Roper-street, Whitehaven, lately occupied by Mr. Joseph Clark, Lessee thereof, with frontage to Roper-street 65ft. 6in. and extending backwards 70ft., together with the yard behind the same, and also all the Furniture, Fixtures, Fittings, Scenery, Stage Accessories, Stock Properties, and other effects of the Vendors therein.

The Theatre is a substantial stone structure, with ornamental porch, and it contains spacious Auditorium, Stage, Dressing-rooms, Property-rooms, Refreshment Bars, Offices, &c. The Auditorium affords seating accommodation for 700, and comprises Stalls, Pit, Private Boxes, Dress Circle, Upper Circle, and Gallery. The Stage is in depth 26ft., in width 43ft. 10in., and in height 20ft. 4in. to the "flies," and 33ft. 5in. to the "gridiron." There are five Dressing-rooms, two Property-rooms, and two Refreshment Bars.

The Premises are conveniently situated, and have been successfully used as a Theatre for many years past, and the rent paid by the outgoing Lessee was £200 per annum. Certain alterations required by the Corporation of Whitehaven as to additional Exits, &c., can be carried out at a moderate cost.

There being no other Theatre in Whitehaven, or in the wide district between Workington, on the North, and Barrow-in-Furness, on the South, the present sale affords an exceptional opportunity for enterprising theatrical managers.

Immediate possession can be given. Mr. John Tyson, 11a, King-street, Whitehaven, House Agent, will show the property. For Conditions of Sale and further particulars apply to MUSGRAVE AND McKELVIE, Solicitors, Whitehaven; or to BROWN, AULD, AND BROWN, Solicitors, Whitehaven.

PRELIMINARY ADVERTISEMENT.
By Order of the High Court of Justice, Chancery Division (Liverpool District Registry).—
By Mr. PETER DAVIES, F.A.I.
On Thursday, Sept. 24 next, at Three o'clock p.m., at the Law Association Rooms, 14, Cook-street, Liverpool.
The following Important and Valuable
LICENSED THEATRES & MUSIC HALLS—
The TIVOLI THEATRE, Lime-st., Liverpool;
The PARK PALACE, Mill-st., Liverpool;
The PADDINGTON PALACE, Paddington, Liverpool.
For further particulars apply to the Auctioneer, 8, Cook-street, Liverpool; Messrs. G. E. Holt and Sons, Chartered Accountants, 8, Cook-street, Liverpool; Messrs. Oliver Jones, Billson, and Co., Solicitors, 5, Cook-street, Liverpool; or to Messrs. Grundy, Kershaw, Samson, and Co., Solicitors, 31, Booth-street, Manchester, and 89, Gresham-street, London, E.C.

THE ROYAL COURT THEATRE and ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES, WARRINGTON, LANCASHIRE.
DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

TO BE SOLD BY AUCTION,

by MR. W. H. ROBINSON, at the ALBION HOTEL, PICCADILLY, MANCHESTER, on TUESDAY, the 15th Day of SEPTEMBER, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon prompt, subject to Conditions of Sale to be then and there produced.

LOT 1.
THE ROYAL COURT THEATRE,
Situate in Rylands-street, Warrington, Lancashire.
The site contains 965 square yards, or thereabouts, with a frontage of about 33 yards to Rylands-street.
This Lot is leasehold, and held for the residue of a term of 999 years from the 2nd day of July, 1860, subject to the payment of the yearly ground rent of £15 6s. 7d.
The property occupies a most central position in Warrington, which is a town of 70,000 inhabitants.
The Theatre is absolutely up to date, having been rebuilt last year from plans prepared by Mr. F. Bennett Smith, F.R.I.B.A. It is thoroughly equipped for the most elaborate dramatic and stage representations, is fully licensed, and contains, besides the usual Auditorium, with Circle and Gallery, two Bars, 10 splendid Dressing-rooms (heated), three property-rooms, engine-room (containing gas engine (National, 1907) and complete electrical plant), and four extra rooms under stage. The Theatre is beautifully decorated, is brilliantly lighted by electricity generated on the premises, duplicated by a complete system of gas lighting throughout, and is heated by hot water, well ventilated, and capable of accommodating 1,800 persons.
The purchaser shall take over all the Bookings from the date of the completion of the purchase, a list whereof can be inspected at the Offices of the undermentioned Manchester Solicitors 14 days prior to the date of the sale, and shall also take over the wet stock and cigars which shall be upon this Lot at the time of the completion of the purchase at a valuation, as provided by the Conditions of Sale.

LOT 2.
THE ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES
(previously known as the "Theatre Royal"), situate in Scotland-road, Warrington.
This Lot is freehold of inheritance and free from chief rent.
This Theatre has a dramatic licence. It was built in 1883, re-seated and decorated in 1907 by Messrs. Dean, of Birmingham, and contains Pit and Pit Stalls, Centre Circle, and Side Circles. During the past 4½ years it has been run with great success on the two-houses-a-night system. The existing Bookings do not extend beyond the date to be fixed for completion of the purchase.
The purchaser of each Lot shall take over the scenery, loose furniture, and trade utensils, chattels, and effects in and upon the premises included in the Inventory thereof signed by the Auctioneer, at a Valuation to be declared at the time of Sale. The Inventories may be inspected 14 days prior to the date of sale at the Offices of the undermentioned Manchester Solicitors, from whom, also, orders to view the Theatres can be obtained.
For further particulars apply to the Auctioneer, Cromwell Buildings, 11, Blackfriars-street, Manchester; Messrs. Henry Greenall and Co., Solicitors, Warrington; Messrs. Nasmith, Coutts, and Co., Chartered Accountants, 40, Brazennose-street, Manchester; or to MESSRS. LAWSON, COPPOCK, AND HART, Solicitors,
18, Tib-lane, Cross-street, Manchester.

THE NEW GAIETY THEATRE, LEITH.

FOR SALE BY PRIVATE BARGAIN

THE NEW GAIETY THEATRE, KIRKGATE, LEITH.

This is the only theatre in Leith, and a few years ago it was rebuilt, fitted up and equipped in a modern and first-class style. Since then the theatre has been well patronised and worked very successfully.

For further particulars apply to Mr. R. A. Craig, C.A., 22, York Place, Edinburgh; Messrs. Galloway, Davidson, and Mann, S.S.C., 33, Bernard Street, Leith; or Messrs. Reid and Milne, W.S., 2, Thistle Court, Edinburgh.

KING'S THEATRE, KILMARNOCK.

FOR SALE, this handsome Modern Theatre, erected 1904, accommodation 2,200, licensed bar. Apply to ALEXANDER MITCHELL, C.A., 194, St. Vincent-street; or JAMES R. MACKAY, C.A., 219, St. Vincent-street, Joint Liquidators; or to COWAN and GROVE, Writers, 199, St. Vincent-street, Glasgow.

FOR SALE.—PAVILION THEATRE, WALSINGHAM, CO. DURHAM.
Fully licensed, newly erected; capacity 500; well fitted.
Price £450; £300 can remain at 4%.
Apply, AMOS HUNT, Walsingham.

WINSLOW'S RINK SKATES FOR MEN FITTED WITH "WEB" STEEL BALL BEARING ROLLS.

New Catalogues and full information at 8, LONG LANE, LONDON, E.C.

WINSLOW'S Skates

THE BEST ICE AND ROLLER SKATES

The Standard of the World for more than Fifty Years. Are used in all the best Rinks in the United States, and the greatest number of Rinks everywhere. Are noted for speed, beauty, strength and durability. Roller Skating is more popular to-day than ever before. A Rink can be established in any hall, irrespective of its size or shape, and will prove to be a very profitable investment. The only essentials are a good floor and good skates. We refer, by permission, to C. P. Crawford, Esq., General Manager of the large and excellently appointed Rinks now being operated in Tournament Hall, Liverpool; Exhibition Hall, Newcastle; Hippodrome, Llandudno; and the American Roller Rinks at Sunderland and Edinburgh. In all these Rinks Winslow's Skates are used exclusively.

We are prepared to make prompt deliveries from our London Office.

THE SAMUEL WINSLOW SKATE MFG. CO., WORCESTER, MASS, U.S.A.

MR. WM. T. GLIDDON, Author, Composer, and Conductor, "Flower Girl" Co. Next, O. H., Cheltenham.

MR. DOUGLAS GORDON, Engaged by Mr. Bandmann for Leading Parts in his Comedy Co. for India and Far East.

MR. HERBERT GREVILLE, Sept. 7, Theatre Royal, Preston.

MR. LAWRENCE GROVE, Douglas, in "The Private Secretary" Co. Sept. 7, Theatre Royal, Exeter.

MR. & Mrs. F. R. GWYN-RICHARDSON (Miss Grace Harlington), General-Manager and Batty, "The Breed of the Treshams."

MR. A. H. HALLATT, "Her Love Against the World." T. R., Scarborough.

MR. HUBERT HARBEN, At Liberty. 86, Carlton-mansions, Maida Vale, W.

MR. HERBERT HARDEN. Carstairs, in "Lucky Jim." Address, 9, Tavistock-place, W.C.

MR. A. C. HARDIE, Engaged by H. Sleath, Esq., for Cash, "White Man" Tour. T. R., Bournemouth, 7th.

MR. FRANK HARDING. All communications to 21, Argyll-mansions, King's-rd., Chelsea, S.W. 'Phone 2077 Kensington.

MR. and MRS. W. H. HARGREAVES. Sept. 7, rehearsing "His House in Order." 2, Clarendon-place, Holland Park, W.

MR. CHARLES HARLEY, "The Hypocrites" Co. Sept. 7, Theatre Royal, York.

MR. FRANCIS HAWLEY, with Messrs. Paumier and Howard. Address, 49, George-street, Richmond.

MR. JERROLD HEATHER, Disengaged, Lead. 34, High-street, Milton, Staffs.

MR. ARTHUR E. HOLLAND, 308th Perf. Jack Herne, the Cripple (Juv.), "Eve of Her Wedding" Co. Royal, Smethwick.

MR. A. COTTON HOLMES, Davy, "Sunday," Mr. Louis Calvert's Co. Sept. 7, Bury St. Edmunds; 10th, Lowestoft.

MR. A. S. HOMEWOOD, Touring Australia and New Zealand. Glenhaven, Cloudesley-road, St. Leonard's-on-Sea.

MR. FRANK HOWARD. Management and Bertie, "When London Sleeps." Theatre Royal, Stockport.

MR. ROBT. H. HOWARD, at Liberty for Panto. "Flower Girl" Co. This, T. R., Preston; next, O. H., Cheltenham.

MR. and MRS. WILSON HOWARD (Miss Carlotta Anson). Prince's T., Preston.

MR. & MRS. S. HERBERT HUMBER (Beatrice Sinclair), Title-rôle and Mrs. Durham, "Lucky Durham" Co. T. R., Hanley.

MR. REGINALD A. HUNT, Stage-Manager "The Bondman" Co. Sept. 7, Palace, Ramsgate.

MR. JAMES HUSSEY, Lively and S.-M., "Sunday" Co. Sept. 7, Bury St. Edmunds; 10th, Lowestoft.

MR. RALPH W. HUTTON To-day, Grand, Hull; Sept. 7, County Theatre, Bedford.

MR. POWELL JAMES, Business-Manager "Leah Kleschna" Co. Address, Grand Theatre, Swansea.

MR. S. MAJOR JONES. Stage-Manager, Lyceum Theatre, W.C.

MR. OGILVY KEITH Address, 15, Dublin-street, Edinburgh.

MR. and MRS. EDGAR KENT (Miss Ada Clarke). 22, Dancer-road, Fulham, S.W.

MR. CLAUDE KING Disengaged. 50, Ashburnham-mansions, Chelsea.

MR. and MRS. FRED KNIGHT (Miss Louie Tinsley). Special Week. Sept. 7, Hippo., Croydon.

MR. RICHARD HENRY LACE Address, 409, Strand, London, W.C. Permanent Address, 19, Parkfield-drive, Liscard.

MR. FRANK LACY, James Blenkinsop in "Mrs. Dot." Sept. 7, Castle Theatre, Stockton-on-Tees.

MR. JAMES R. LA FANE, Manager, Stage-Director, Mr. Mouillot's "Tom Jones" Co. Whitby and Bridlington.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES LANGLEY. Disengaged. 16, Bayham-street, Camden Town.

MR. D. LEWIN-MANNERING, Captain Hector, "The Prince and the Beggar Maid." Add., 142, Earl's Court-road, S.W.

MR. FRANK LISTER. "No. 99," "The Sundowner." Empire, Coventry.

MR. and MRS. FRANK LISTON Leading Business and Management. 7th, Col., Oldham; or Managers' Club, W.C.

MR. and MRS. SAM LIVESEY "The Village Blacksmith." To-day, Dundee; Sept. 7, Falkirk.

MR. FEWLASS LLEWELLYN. Father Lamplugh, "The Christian." Suburban Tour. Address, 28, Chelverton-road, Putney.

MR. WILLIAM LOCKHART, "When Knights Were Bold." Royal Victoria Theatre, Ramsgate.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM LOWE Mr. L., Justice Hare, "New East Lynne" Co. Address, 7, Bridson-st, Liverpool.

MR. HENRY LUDLOW, Salcombe Yacht Club, Salcombe, South Devon.

MR. and MRS. A. B. MACKAY, "A Woman Worth Winning" Co. Sept. 7, Clarence Theatre, Pontypridd.

MR. and MRS. CHALMERS MACKEY Own Tour, "Rollicking Rory." Vacation. "Ashdale," Poulton-le-Fylde.

MR. JERROLD MANVILLE, Principal or Character Comedy. Disengaged. 195, Allison-road, Harringay, N.

MR. PERCY MARSHALL Dr. O'Bryne, "Dairymaids" No. 1 Co. Sept. 7, Court, Liverpool.

MR. CYPRIAN H. MATTHEWS, Captain Rudolph von Scarsbruck, "Midnight Wedding" Co. Letters, 19 Prince's-av., Liverpool.

MR. ERIC MAYNE Phillip Christian, The Lyceum Theatre, W.C.

MR. MAYOR-COOKE Rudolph, "Midnight Wedding." T. R., Bristol.

MR. HOUSTON MEHARRY. On Tour with Mr. Allan Wilkie, Polonius Capulet, Alderman Ingot, Sir Oliver Surface, &c.

MR. ERIC G. MERRIE, Fourth Year, General-Manager, "At Cripple Creek" Co. Theatre Royal, Barnsley.

MR. GEORGE MILLER, Disengaged. Address, 409, Edgware-road, W.

MR. G. M. MONTANINI. All Communications, Theatre Royal, Macclesfield.

MR. HUGH MONTGOMERY, MARIE HARCOURT, Margaret and Magnus, "Prodigal Son" (Croke's), Brixton Theatre.

MR. G. MORETON-WILLIAMS, Heavy Lead, "A Country Girl in London." Sept. 7, Grand T., Rawtenstall.

MR. LEONARD MUDIE, Miss Horniman's Company. Gaiety Theatre, Manchester.

MR. J. NEVILLE. Address, C/o "The Era."

MR. ALFRED NORTHWAY, "The Prodigal Parson" Tour. Sept. 7, New Hall, Bargoed.

MR. NORMAN A. OVERTON, Baron Cratzlaw, "Woman Who Gambles." T. R., Aberdare. Mrs. O., New Brighton.

MR. ERNEST OWTTRIM, Lionel Roy, "Is Life Worth Living?" Sept. 7, Theatre Royal, Coatbridge.

MR. GUS OXLEY, King's Theatre, Southsea.

MR. and MRS. ROBSON PAIGE (Mabel Syringa). Disengaged. Address, 36, Montpelier-road, N.W.

MR. SYDNEY T. PEASE, Title-rôle, "The Silver King." J. Bannister Howard's Co. En route.

MR. and MRS. FRED W. PERMAIN (Miss Florence Le Clercq). Address, 118, Southampton-row, W.C.

MR. EDWARD S. PETLEY, At Liberty Sept. 21. Address, Torquay Villa, Sutton-lane, Chiswick, W.

MR. and MRS. FRANK E. PETLEY, Mr. Herbert Sleath's "A White Man" (S.) Co. Sept. 7, Theatre Royal, Bournemouth.

MR. WILLIAM PRINGLE, On Tour; releasable for London Engagement. Permanent address, 13, Gordon-street, W.C.

MR. RULE PYOTT, Disengaged. Stanley Lodge, Ravensbourne Park, Catford, S.E.

MR. WILTON REED, Engaged by W. Holles for 3 weeks. Thanks Russell Rosse. Sept. 7, Metropole, Manchester.

MR. W. E. RICHARDSON, Disengaged. Address, 114, Latchmere-rd., Lavender Hill, S.W.

MR. HARRY H. RIGNOLD, Lionel Rignold and Ada Blanche's "What the Butler Saw" Co. Sept. 7, Royalty T., Morecambe.

MR. LEONARD ROBSON, Lead, Disengaged, Special Weeks, &c. 44, Lamb's Conduit-street, W.C.

MR. STANLEY ROGERS Address all Communications, Theatre Royal, North Shields.

MR. & MRS. CALVERT ROUTLEDGE (Mary Jocelyn), His Majesty's Theatre, Barrow-in-Furness.

MR. JAMES SALTER, Principal Comedian. Change of address to 14, Upper Tooting-road, S.W.

MR. WILLIE SCOTT, Thanks Dallas Welford for offer America. Open for Panto. Theatre, Warrington.

MR. ARCHIE SELWYN Charley in "Charley's Aunt." 123, St. George's-road, Belgravia, S.W.

MR. and MRS. ROBIN SHIELLS Duke Frederick and Celia, "As You Like It." Next, Pier, Paignton.

MR. THOMAS SIDNEY Address, 16, Long-acre, W.C. 2894 Gerrard.

MR. JAMES SKEA, Character Actor. Thanks for offers. "Sunday," Towser. Bury St. Edmunds (3), Lowestoft (3).

MR. WILL SMITH, Disengaged, Comedy, Character, or Management. 93, Kennington Park-road, S.E.

MR. VICTOR STEVENS, Disengaged Sept. 20 and for Xmas. Address, Grosmont, Wilton Gardens, Weston-super-Mare.

MR. CHARLES STIRLING Leading and Heavy Business. 78, Brodrick-street, South Shields.

MR. GEORGE STONE Resident-Manager (fourteenth year), Royalty T. and Opera House, Barrow-in-Furness.

MR. WALLACE STRANACK General Manager, Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's Co. Th. Royal, Woolwich.

MR. DUDLEY STUART, Rehearsing for "His House in Order." 409, Strand, W.C.

MR. HENRY SWINERD Mr. J. W. CORDINER. Sept. 7, P. O. W. Theatre, Nuneaton (six nights).

MR. AUGUSTIN SYMONDS and MISS MYRA HARLYN. Disengaged Address, 147, Finborough-road, Earl's Court, S.W.

MR. GEORGE TAWDE, Charlie Gayfly, "When It Was Dark." Theatre Royal, Chesterfield.

MR. ALFRED A. TAYLOR Resident-Manager, Batley Theatre.

MR. HODGSON TAYLOR Hardy and Von Leer's "A Sailor's Wedding" Co., Marlborough Theatre, Holloway, N.

MR. and MRS. EDWARD THANI (Louise Hampton). Dramas and Sketches to Let. 15, Mount Pleasant-lane, Upper Clapton, N.E.

MR. FOWLER THATCHER on the Stoll Tour, "Home from Honeymoon." Dis. Middle of Nov. 23, Mall-rd., Hammersmith.

MR. ALEC F. THOMPSON Lyric Theatre, W.

MR. and MRS. WALTER THORNTON (Miss F. Hamilton). Dis., Leading. Bus and Manage. 33, St. John's-pk., Up. Holloway, N.

MR. TRUEMAN TOWERS and MISS FLORENCE MELVILLE. Mr. George Edwardes' Co., Lyceum, Edinburgh.

MR. LLOYD TOWNROW thanks Lionel Rignold, Esq., for Kindly Releasing. Rehearsing Durdles and S.-M. with Payne Seddon.

MR. GEORGE TRAILL "The Breed of the Treshams" Tour. Opera House, Wakefield.

MR. DOUGLAS TREMAYNE General-Manager, "From Shop Girl to Duchess." Thanks Miss Mary Neil for Increase.

MR. EARDLEY TURNER. Produces own comedy, "Next Door." Theatre Royal, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

MR. P. G. TWYMAN, as John Storm, in "The Christian."

MR. FREDERICK TYRRELL. "The Private Secretary" Co. Sept. 7, Theatre Royal, Exeter.

MR. GEORGE UNWIN, General Manager for Messrs. Druce and Ferris. Address to Lyric Theatre, W.

MR. EDWARD VALENTINE, Management and Dr. Weston, "A Girl's Cross Roads" Co. T. R., Dewsbury.

MR. CHARLES VANE, Jack Straw, Paradine Fouldes, Wilfred Denver. C/o Thomas Cook and Sons, Cairo, Egypt.

MR. and MRS. CHAS. B. VAUGHAN (Miss Lewes). Mr. Vaughan at Liberty. Atlas Club, Newman-street, Oxford-street, W.

MR. PERCY H. VERNON, Talleyrand, "A Royal Divorce" Co. Theatre Royal, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MR. FREDERICK VICTOR, Disengaged Sept. 14. 71, St. George's-road, Southwark, S.E.

MR. HAROLD WAGNER, Acting-Manager, Walter Melville's Co., "A Girl's Cross Roads." Sept. 7, T. R., Dewsbury.

MR. ALBERT WARD, as the Prodigal Son, and Stage-Manager, Mr. George D. Day's Co. Sept. 7, T. R., Huddersfield.

MR. HYLTON WARDE, Spec. Engaged by Crofton and Salisbury, Prin. Comedian, Tour, S.A. 17, Doris-road, Norwich, or A.A.

MR. W. LEMMON WARDE, On tour with Miss Ashwell.

MR. HENRY WATSON, Mr. Martin Harvey's Co. Adelphi Theatre, W.C.

MR. FRANK WEATHERSBY. Theatrical Agency, 3, Bedford-st., Strand. 'Phone 3781 Central. Tel., "Frivolous, London."

MR. WYN WEAVER. In plays by H. F. Maltby. 134, Great Portland-street, W.

MR. CHARLES WEIR, At Liberty. 45, Powis-square, Bayswater, W.

MR. C. A. WHITE, Disengaged, Comedy, Character, or Stage-Manage. Address, 1, Harewood-road, Merton, S.W.

MR. WILL WHITE, F.O.S., General Manager, Alhambra, Belfast.

MR. HERBERT WILLIAMS was married on Monday last, Aug. 31. Olympia, Shoreditch.

MR. LEONARD WILLIAMS, Lead, "Second to None." Queen's Theatre, Longton.

MR. FENTON WINGATE, "The Girl with the Angel Face." Sept. 7, P. O. W. Theatre, Grimsby.

MR. and MRS. DICK WINSLOW (Evelyn Shaw). "Two Lancashire Lasses in London" Co. Sept. 7, Lyric T., Hammersmith.

MR. F. B. WOULFE, as Ronjarre. Theatre Royal, Bilston.

MR. STEWART D. WRIGHT, Business-Manager Ahead for Mr. John Clyde. Letters to 34, Buccleuch-st., Glasgow (forwarded).

MR. DUDLEY WYNTON, Miss Maud Hildyard's Company. Sept. 7 Greenwich Theatre, S.E.

APPLICATIONS FOR POSITIONS on the FRONT PAGE of "The Era" should be addressed to the PUBLISHER.

"THE ERA" IN AMERICA.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS & SUBSCRIBERS

NEW YORK.

"THE ERA" IS ON SALE

OUTSIDE THE

KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE BUILDING, 1402 BROADWAY,

AND AT

BRENTANO'S, FIFTH AVENUE, CORNER TWENTY-SEVENTH-ST.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

1 Year, 32/-; 6 Months, 16/-; 3 Months, 8/-

INQUIRIES & COMMUNICATIONS MAY BE SENT TO

"THE ERA," P.O. BOX 492, NEW YORK CITY.

American Artistes visiting the Metropolis use The Era Offices as their Permanent London Address.

"THE ERA" IN AUSTRALIA.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS AND SUBSCRIBERS.

MESSRS.

GORDON AND GOTCH.

SINGLE COPIES ON SALE.
SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED.
ADVERTISEMENTS ACCEPTED.

Australian Artistes visiting the Metropolis use The Era Offices as their Permanent London Address.

Apply or Address,
MELBOURNE—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH, QUEEN-STREET.
SYDNEY—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH, PITT-STREET.
BRISBANE—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH, QUEEN-STREET.
PERTH—
Messrs. GORDON and GOTCH.

'Phones: 3923 Gerrard & 1911 Gerrard. Telegrams: "Cleaning, London."

SPECIAL NOTE.

At the cost of many Thousands of Pounds, we have installed an entirely New Plant for Spirit or Dry Cleaning, which has proved an IMMENSE SUCCESS.

AUTUMN TOURS AND PANTOMIME.

By Special Arrangement, TOURING MANAGERS can have their Wardrobes Cleaned between Shows by the CHEMICAL CLEANING & DYEING CO.,

(T. HARRIS, Manager),
Original Theatrical Cleaners and Dyers,
6, ARGYLL STREET, REGENT STREET, W.

COPY OF TESTIMONIAL.

Princes Theatre, Preston, August 11th, 1908.

To Chemical Cleaning and Dyeing Co., 6, Argyll Street, W.

Dear Mr. HARRIS,—Coat beautifully cleaned; fur looks better than it has done since it was new.

Yours truly, MARIE CLAVERING
("Shop Girl to Duchess" Co.).

THE "EXCELSIOR" HALF-SOVEREIGN

TIP-UP CHAIRS.

NEW MARVEL

TIP-UPS

from 4s. 3d.

First-class Seats for PIT and BIOSCOPE SHOWS.

Mr. WILLIAM PEACOCK writes that the 500 "Marvel" Pit Seats supplied to the New Hippodrome, Scarborough, are most comfortable, and give entire satisfaction.

Write for "EXAMPLES OF SEATING," Post Free.

H. LAZARUS & SON

UP-TO-DATE THEATRICAL UPHOLSTERERS

21, GREAT EASTERN ST., LONDON, E.C.

Telegraphic Address "Malleable, London." Telephone, Nine-one-five-three London Wall

FRED WILKINS & BROTHER, LTD.

Theatre Furnishers, Decorators, . . .
Scenery Manufacturers & Electricians,

54, WHITECHAPEL, LIVERPOOL

Telegrams: "Theatrical." Telephone; 3117 Royal.

Specifications and Estimates submitted on Architects' rough plans for

FIBROUS PLASTER,
PAINTING & DECORATING,
ELECTRICAL INSTALLATIONS,
FIRE CURTAINS & SCENERY,
CARPETS & LINOLEUMS, TABLEAUX CURTAINS & DRAPERIES,
TIP-UP & ALL KINDS OF SEATING.

Write for Prices.

MME. JULIA BEAUMONT, THEATRICAL COSTUMIER to the Principal Music Hall and Theatrical Artists, 111, WESTMINSTER BRIDGE-ROAD, LONDON.

C. H. FOX, LTD., WIGMAKERS and COSTUMIERS, 27, WELLINGTON-STREET, STRAND, W.C. Telephone, No. 4552 Central. Telegrams "Theatricals, London." Estimates given. Costumes, Wigs, Properties, Animal Skins, Armour, Make-ups, and all Theatrical Requisites. All at Special Low Prices.

COSTUMES. — C. and W. MAY (Sons of the late Samuel May, of Bow-street). COSTUMES on HIRE for Amateur Performances, FANCY BALLS, Tableaux Vivants, &c. The Newest Stock of Historical and Fancy Costumes. 9 and 11, GARRICK-ST., COVENT GARDEN, W.C. Tel., "Shakespearian, London." 'Phone 6525 Ger

The Leading American Theatrical Weekly.

THE NEW YORK DRAMATIC MIRROR.

HARRISON GREY FISKE, Editor and President.

121, WEST FORTY-SECOND-STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y., U.S.A.

All the American Theatrical News.

For Sale in London at PALL MALL AMERICAN EXCHANGE; Carlton-street; Regent street; Daw's S.S. Agency, Green St, Leicester-square, W.C.; and Murray's Exchange, 3, North umberland-avenue, W.C.

"THE OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE AMERICAN THEATRICAL PROFESSION."
ON SALE WHEREVER THERE IS A PLACE OF AMUSEMENT.

NEW YORK DRAMATIC NEWS.

ISSUED WEEKLY with from 24 to 28 Pages, handsomely Illustrated, with Reports from over 1,000 Cities and Towns in the United States and the Foreign Stage, covered by Special Correspondents.

Has the exclusive patronage of Messrs. CHARLES FROHMAN, KLAW and ERLANGER, LIEBLER and CO., WILLIAM GILLETTE, NIXON and ZIMMERMAN, GEORGE EDWARDES, NAT C. GOODWIN, HENRY W. SAVAGE, and, in fact, every prominent Theatrical Manager.

Foreign Subscription, ONE POUND A YEAR. Advertising Rates, One Shilling per Line.

London Office, Clarence House, King William-street, E.C. JOHN PARKER, Manager. Communications may be addressed to MAX ELIOT, Special London Correspondent, 3, Queen's Gate Terrace, S.W.

NEW YORK DRAMATIC NEWS,
BROADWAY THEATRE BUILDINGS, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

EARLY TRAINS.

The Railway Companies are despatching many morning trains earlier than hitherto. This will enable subscribers and advertisers in the provincial towns to get copies of "The Era" in time for the breakfast table. Advertisers are requested to forward their advertisements as early in the week as possible, and not later than 7 p.m. on Thursday.

Address:
THE PUBLISHER, The Era Buildings, 5, Tavistock Street, W.C.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERDARE.—New Theatre.—Proprietors, The Aberdare Public Hall, Theatre, and Billposting Co., Ltd.; Manager Mr. Z. Andrews; Acting-Manager, Mr. B. Richards.—Mr. Travis Green and Mr. Arthur Hinton's company is here in East Lynne. Mr. Fred G. Kay is effective as the suave and sinister Francis Leveson; Miss Lydia Audre adorns the part of Lady Isabel, acting with grace and emotion; Mr. D. Beattie as Archibald Carlyle is convincing; and the domineering nature of Cornelia is well indicated by Miss Laura Wright. Mr. Rupert Larry makes a dignified Justice Hare; Richard Hare and Mr. Dill are ably played by Messrs. V. G. Millard and W. Bailey; Miss Marie Lofting is a captivating Barbara Hare; Joyce is an excellent impersonation by Miss Lottie Upton; Mr. Frank Brunell as Chopps is an amiable policeman; Mr. P. Blake is seen to advantage as Lord Mount Severn; and Little Willie is excellently played by Miss Elsie Melrose.

ABERDEEN.—His Majesty's Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Adair Nelson.—The Girls of Gottenberg proves immensely popular this week. Mr. Edmund Payne plays with his customary brilliance in the part of Max; and Happy Fanny Fields delights the audiences with her representation of Mitzi. Among the other artists who appear with conspicuous success are Miss Thelma Raye (Elsa), Miss Maisie Cay (Clementine), Mr. Leslie Holland (Otto), Mr. Fred Allandale (Albrecht), Mr. Fred Payne (Britti Botti), Mr. Douglas Munro (the Burgomaster), Mr. Louis Denver (Adolf, the Town-Clerk), and Mr. Jocelyn Hope (General, the Margrave). The piece is played with remarkable verve, and is delightfully staged.

Palace Theatre. — Lessees, United County Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Walter Gilbert.—The delightful spectacular extravaganza, High Jinks, is cleverly presented by Mr. John Tiller's company and proves to be one of the most laughable sketches seen here. Mr. Bob Hamilton, Scotch comedian, is as popular as ever Mr. Will Harvey and Miss Hettie Walsh, duo artists, give a very clever turn; and Mr. Webb and Miss Edna Branston appear with the utmost success as operatic duettists.

Beach Pavilion.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. David Thomson.—All the turns here this week are of superior merit. Miss Topsy Johnson, contralto, is enthusiastically received; the two "Real Mackeys" appear in new dances, which they execute with much grace and skill; Vulcaris contributes some clever eccentricities on the piano; and some fine cinematograms are shown by the Safety Bioscope Company.

Alhambra Music Hall.—Proprietor, Mr. John Sinclair; General-Manager, Mr. George B. Lee.—A turn of some duration is given this week by those talented artists, Mr Jack Millar, Miss Stella Ormonde, and Mr. Willie Mac, who are successful alike as instrumentalists, vocalists, and comedians. Mr. Dove Paterson's cinematograms are as interesting as ever. Saturday matinées at a reduced figure are being given during the autumn and winter season. The first, which was very largely attended, took place on Saturday.

ABERTILLERY.—Theatre Metropole.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. J. Seaborne. — The popular drama, Wedded to Crime, which is excellently staged by Mr. Ernest Chesney's company, commanded a good house at the opening performance this week. Perdinand Crayle is admirably portrayed by Mr. Ernest Chesney; Mr. Edward Paull is clever as Harry Goodluck; Miss Maud Arnold as Kate Goodluck is responsible for a brilliant character impersonation; Harold Harper, by Mr. Terene Nerrey is performed with entire satisfaction; while Miss Florence Halton as Lizzie Medwin adds strength to the performance. Mr. Vivian Thomas is a capital Johnny Dyce Morris; and Miss Bessie Chetwyn was very effective as Linda, a blind girl. Comedy is provided in a pleasing fashion by Mr. Harry Edlin, who as Tommy Jinks is very successful.

The Pavilion.—Miss Emmie Ames is the bright particular star here this week, and creates endless amusement in her latest success, Emmie's Christmas Tree; the Seven Perezoffs give a neat and clever turn in their comical pantomime novelty, An Animated Supper, Maxim's; Harry Desmond is a quaint comedian, and takes well in his quietly humorous songs; Harry Bancroft uses his voice to advantage as an actor vocalist; Speedwell, lightning painter, is highly cheered for his paintings of well-known personalities; Miss Maidie Hailie is a good comedienne; the Five Jolly Bakers give a smart acrobatic turn; and a series of entertaining pictures are shown on the Bioscope.

ACCRINGTON.—Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—Mr. Walter Melville's company occupies the stage here with The Girl Who Wrecked His Home. Mr. Fred Goddard impressively portrays the character of Jack Marshall; Mr. Paul Barry Lewers acts admirably as Leonard Kenyon; Mr. Herbert Goddard gives a clever reading of Henry Stevenson; and Mr. Norman B. Cannon is seen to advantage as William. Mr. Francis Hope is responsible for laughter as Tommy Biffin, and is ably assisted by Miss Alys Eden as Lottie Primrose. Miss Louise Hampton wins the sympathy of the house as Bertha Marshall; Miss Georgie De Lara is an excellent Val Raymond; and Miss Lulu Bowes a graceful and winsome Winifred.

ALDERSHOT.—Royal and Hippodrome.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jack Gladwin.—Notwithstanding a necessary curtailment to fit the two-houses order of things and previous visits, Sergeant Brue is drawing crowded houses at every performance. Mr. Harry Benet's company certainly deserves praise for the smart performance. Mr. Denis Lyndon's fine impersonation of the ubiquitous sergeant is one of the successes of the "show"; and Crooky Scrubbs is to the manner born as played by Mr. Harry Benet, whose fund of natural humour is found everywhere; Mr. Lister Morrah is capital as Michael; Miss Stella Millar's is a chic portrayal of Daisy; and Miss Ray Anderson, both in personal charm and neat acting, is highly successful. Miss Daisie Dale is good as Aurora. Many others help materially to the success; and the orchestra, under Mr. Wolfe, renders the music with effect.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE. — Theatre Royal. — Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—Two Little Vagabonds is being reproduced here this week by Hardie and Von Leer's company. Miss Denise Zaleski and Miss Alice Leon are the two little waifs, and as Dick and Wally play with delightful naturalness, winning abundance of sympathy; Miss Marie Pritchard as Biddy Mullins acts with undoubted skill and realism; and her partner, Bill Mullins, "the gaffer," finds in Mr. Martin Sands a suitably brutal blusterer. Miss Florence Dalton does justice to the part of Marion Thornton, the wronged wife and mother; Mr. Richard A. Greene impersonates Geo. Thornton with ability; and the same commendation can be bestowed on Mr. A. E. Melbourne as Captain Darville and Mr. J. Brandon as John Sarth. Notable humorists are Bunce and Coughdrop, by Messrs. Field and Archer; and Mr. B. Dubosc is a skilful combination of stupidity, deafness, and imbecility as the sexton, Gargoyle. Miss Marion Fawcett, Miss Ida Drayton, and Miss Dorothy Hart are capable interpreters of minor characters.

Empire Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son.—Heading the bill here for the week is Fanny Robina, a charming serio-comic; Kingstone Trollope gives a striking dramatic monologue in Only a Dream; Richard Finbey is good in character studies from popular plays; Rowland Hill is droll as "Ye Dame"; Miss Rose Atherton's unique comedy sketch, Murphy's Affinity, is most effective; Florence Cooper is a favourite in song and dance; Randolph King is an effective comic singing turn; and Billy Bint is an equally good fun-maker. D'Artigan, who "loops the devil's wheel," does a daring and clever piece of business; the Bioscope illustrates The Baron's Crime.

ATTERCLIFFE.—Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten.—The pictures presented here this week are drawing crowded houses. The series include The Perjurer, Her First Adventure, The New Maid, Weird Symphony, Crazy Jim, Phantom Games, Jack in the Letter-Box, and An Old Actor. The services of Mr. Glanmore Jones are still retained as vocalist.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Pease; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harry Sanders.—A bright and attractive programme submitted here this week is meeting with good support. Mr. Harry Roxbury's company, under the direction of Mr. Edward M. Heanley, present a sensational dramatic playlet, entitled What Women Do; a hearty reception was accorded to Segt. Mumford, the "Soldier in the Air," in an artistic performance on the wire; Mr. Whimsical Walker is once more delighting all with Captain Hamilton, V.C., a pleasing sketch in which humour and pathos are nicely blended; a turn full of dash and versatility is that of the Milsted Bell Trio, in a comedietta, Three Sharps in a Flat; the Lovelaces (lady and gentleman), American song illustrators, are excellent; Miss Ray Ford, comedienne and dancer; Mr. Archie Pitt, quaint comedian; and Mr. Clayton's Attergraph pictures, illustrating An Escape from a Harem, prove highly interesting.

AYR.—New Gaiety Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry W. Day.—This week the theatre is occupied by Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company in The Female Swindler. The Lu Valroy of Miss Violet Ellicott is an admirable piece of acting; Mr. Joseph Millane as Jack Coulson is most effective; Mr. Stanley Radcliffe as Captain Stanton makes a good impression; Mr. Kenyon, as the retired merchant, is excellent; Miss Mabel Rose as May Andrews and Mr. Guy Ellis as Harold Travers are both delightful; and the humour of Billy Binks and Mary Ann Mee is highly appreciated.

BACUP.—New Court Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Denman-Wood.—Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company are here this week with The Worst Woman in London. Miss Sidney Crowe in the title-rôle has much of the burden of the play resting on her, but she comes through the ordeal excellently, playing with convincing earnestness. Miss Dorothy Haigh as Ruth Milford invests the part with a nice unassuming style; Miss P. Marsh as Matilda contributes much of the humour by her performance of the matrimonially-inclined lady; as Jane Nogood, Miss Mysie Monte is responsible for some broad humour; Mr. Herbert Skardon as Jack Felton deserves commendation for an earnest reading; Mr. George Gaisford as Vincent Lyle plays with the necessary callous air; Mr. F. V. Travers as Mr. Milford is successful; Mr. Willie Scott as Bob Goldfinch is responsible for much laughter; and Mr. H. Wa Monte as Hugh Drayton submits a character study of merit. As Philip Armstrong, Mr. Frank Litchfield gives a fine performance; Mr. Walter Tracey is good as the detective; and Mr. Fred Smith as Jerry (a sweep) makes the most of a small part.

BARNSTAPLE.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, the Bridge Trust; Manager, Mr. Harry Ashton.—Mr. Robert Macdonald's talented company presented The Dairymaids to crowded audiences on Monday and Tuesday. As Peggy Miss Isa Bowman's acting was universally approved, and her vocal efforts were most pleasing; Lady Brudenell was charmingly undertaken by Miss Dorothy Belmore; Miss Kitty Kirwan is an old favourite here, and her impersonation of the severe Miss Pyechase proved an immense hit; Miss Maud Lucy, too, contributed in no small degree to the general success; Miss Mora Hersee and Miss Connie Beaugarde made a pair of delightfully coquettish dairymaids; Mr. Edwin Dodds is a host in himself, and proved a great success as Joe Mivens, his peculiar mannerisms and clever dancing securing unstinted applause; Mr. Sam Lysons excelled in the rôle of Sam Brudenell; and Mr. Frank Barclay as Dr. O'Byrne and Mr. Frank Manger as Lieut. Meredith, added to the excellent effect of the performances.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS.—Royalty Theatre and Opera House.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Stone.—Mr. Lawrence Brough's company is here, playing The Lady of Ostend. Mr. William Spray cleverly portrays unlucky Dick Whortles; and Mr. Robert Boulder is a jovial Joseph Carbury. Mr. Lawrence Brough is quite unique as Le Baron de Longueville; and Miss Barbara Glyn is an artistic Dorothy Whortles. Mr. Wm. Macready gives a capital characterisation of Toby Knockitt; and Miss Kitty Develin is a vivacious heroine in the title-rôle; while Miss Alice Leigh makes a graceful Millie Grace. Saucy Sally is also billed.

His Majesty's Theatre.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—Hamilton Baine's company, in His Lordship's Arrival, is here. Mr. J. Mansell Stringer as Lord Francis Hurstbury is very good; and Mr. J. Heribert Willis plays the Hon. Algernon Fitzderry in a humorous manner. Billy in the hands of Mr. Johnnie Schofield, jun., and James in those of Mr. Chas. Theel are very amusing. Miss May Yates is an excellent Estelle; and Miss Gladys Harvey a capital Countess de St. Tyres. Miss Esther Arden as Lady Hursebury, and Miss May Lind as Vivienne are both successful.

Tivoli.—Lessee and Manager, Signor Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edgar G. Laban.—Charles Parker's Six Æolians occupy the premier position here this week. They are very fine singers, and their dancing is smart. The Brothers Babusio perform some really marvellous feats; J. H. Ellis delights the house with his laughable songs; Minnie Mace, comedienne, is a most attractive dancer; Oakdene, ventriloquist, is quaint and humorous; Zeta Russell is a very pleasing singer. Some excellent pictures are exhibited by Vernon's Bioscope.

New Hippodrome.—Owners and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—A monster programme of Pictures, of a very excellent character, is being shown here this week to capital houses. Miss Lillie Hales, comedienne and dancer, adds considerably to the pleasure of the audience.

BARRY DOCK.—Theatre Royal and Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brogden.—The Conscience of a Judge has been presented here by Mrs. Sam Duckworth's company. In the chief rôle Mr. Kenyon Musgrave was excellent, as was also Miss Nellie Howitt in the part of Jessica Draycott; Mr. Sam Courtney capably portrayed Sir Edward Mervin; Mr. Walter Clarke did well as Geof. Cranstone; and Mr. Reginald Maurice made a clever detective. Humour was excellently supplied by Mr. Frank Ayrton as John Summers; and other characters were admirably sustained by Messrs. F. W. Graham and Ford Edwards and Misses Mona Dawlish, Mabel Coleman, Madge Seymour, and Elsie Isaacs. The scenery and other effects were effective.

BATH.—Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Chas. Schuberth.—The management have put on an excellent bill for the Show week, including the Motramos, who are clever and highly entertaining; Billy French, the wooden shoe dancer, meets with a rousing reception; Harry Nelson is a comedienne who provokes mirth; Cullen and Carthy, assisted by Little Cluley, creates the utmost hilarity; Alpho, with his puppet, "the Farmer Boy," gives a capital ventriloquial interlude; Dolly and Elsie are captivating singers and dancers; as are also Beaty and Blanche in their duets and dances. Raymond's Bio-Tableaux are a great attraction.

Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—For the Horse Show week a revival of Hands Across the Sea is the attraction. Mr. Cecil A. Collins, whose company it is, apears as Jack Dudley, a character that fits him well; as Lilian Melford Miss Beatrice Whitney is excellent; the Stillwoods, father and son, are capably presented by Mr. Guy Smethurst and Mr. G. Clifton Boyne; Tom Bassett has a popular representative in Mr. Patrick W. Fitzgerald; Mr. Clive Currie gives a graphic character sketch of Jean de Lussac; Mr. Frank Woodville enacts Dick Melford upon sound and popular lines; Miss Lilla Nordon makes an acceptable Lucy Nettleford; Miss Marjorie Davenporte portrays Mme. Valerie with the necessary colouring; and Polly is amusingly played by Miss Kirston Graeme.

BATLEY.—Theatre.—Proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Whitty; Manager, Mr. Alfred A. Taylor.—The attraction here this week is Driven from Home, presented by Mr. Andrew Melville's company.

BEDFORD.—Royal County Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Graham-Falcon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter R. Wilson.—The Convict's Daughter, a powerful domestic drama, from the pen of Gordon Holmes, was produced on Monday night for the first time in Bedford, the company being that of Mr. Frank Bertram, who himself gives a remarkable impersonation of Michael Grahame, otherwise Convict 89, or Weary Willie, a part he has played over two thousand times. Mr. Escott Robson's impersonation of the villain Jasper Thorne is very clever, and he is soundly hissed. Mr. H. Loye-Staples has a presence worthy of the character he represents—Inspector Harper; and Mr. Walter Graham is all that can be desired as Harold Trevalyan. Miss Lillian Dean gives an excellent rendering of the part of the convict's daughter; and Mr. Willie Black as P.C. Patrick O'Laragan and Miss Amy Randolph as Betty Hyne, a maid-servant, are responsible for much hilarity. The piece was well received by a good house on Monday.

BELFAST.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James M. McCann.—Mr. George Edwardes's company opened here on Monday with The Merry Widow, before a packed audience. The rôle of Sonia, the merry widow, was played with a rare spirit of gaiety by Miss Constance Drever, whose charm and grace immediately won all hearts; her vocalism and dancing, too, gained immense favour. The rôle of the diplomat, Baron Popoff, was inimitably portrayed by Mr. Eric Thorne, the audience being kept in fits of merriment; and Mr. W. H. Rawlins was responsible for the rôle of Nisch, which he invested with quaint drollery. Natalie was played by Miss Ethel Cadman, whose singing won much praise; and the rôle of Vicomte Camille de Jolidon was effectively portrayed by Mr. W. Talleur Andrews, his singing being also a treat. The part of Prince Danilo was in the excellent hands of Mr. Leonard Mackay, whose songs afforded much pleasure; and Mr. Theodore Leonard was genuinely funny as General Novakovitch. The rôle of Olga was captivatingly sustained by Miss Sylvia May; and other parts were cleverly interpreted by Miss Kathleen Courtney, and Messrs. Somers Bellamy, Norman Greene, Robert Whitehouse, &c. The staging of the piece was most elaborate, and the augmented orchestra was under the skilful direction of Mr. A. McCunn.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; General-Manager, Mr. J. De Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. A. Salmond.—The Japanese wrestler, Yukio Tani, tops the bill, and his exhibition has been accorded a good reception; Chanti, the marvellous quick-change artist, has been most successful; and the musical comedy act by the Six Albyns has afforded the utmost pleasure. Athas and Collins, the popular comedy duo, are always welcome; and Dale and O'Malley, comedians, are very funny. Walton and Lester, comedians, Miss Dot Hardy, comedienne, Little Tichborne, comedian and dancer, and the Palace Pictures complete.

Royal Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Messrs. Fred Willmott and Will Sley; Resident-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—Miss Helen Robberts heads the bill, and received a gratifying reception on Monday for her graceful dances, including those of Salome and Mendelssohn's "Spring Song"; Paul Vandy's juggling feats, smartly performed, have been accorded a terrific reception; and S. Bedford and company create roars of laughter with their farcical comedy, The Second Mrs. Chester. Miss Marguerite Broadfoote, the charming comedienne, has made a hit; and the La Faille Troupe appear in their amazing gymnastic and equilibristic performance. Miss Helen Charles is a clever pianist and vocalist; and Mr. Walter Buxton's baritone songs have been applauded to the echo. Also appearing are Mr. Phil Bransby, coster comedian; Captain Ellis and Son, expert musicians; and the Hipposcope.

Empire Theatre of Varieties, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. John A. Walker.—Hymack is the star here, and his remarkable performance gains him a great reception; the Imperial Russian Troupe of vocalists and expert dancers have been deservedly encored; and Lee and Bentley appear to advantage in their capital sketch, A Sure Thing. Ian Colquhoun, the popular baritone, upholds his reputation, his vocalism being first class; and Mr. Will Poluski, jun., is a capable comedian and dancer. The Bros. Weltman are exceedingly smart whirlwind dancers and acrobats; and also here are Vanando, a ventriloquist with novel ideas; and the Bioscope, with film, The Rivals.

New Alhambra Theatre. — General-Manager, Mr. Will White.—Under the direction of Mr. Cecil Wilson, the following films have been exhibited:—A Pretty Girl Farmer, Rival Cyclists, Uncle's Will, Colonel's Canary, Motor Highwayman, In Memory of His Mother, A Pressing Letter, &c. Also appearing are Farrell and Dunn, in their refined and clever comedy act; and Mr. Harry Hutin, a capable comedian.

St. George's Hall.—General-Manager, Mr. Robert Wilson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred L. Arthur.—In order to suit modern requirements this hall has adopted the two-houses-a-night system with reduced prices. Under the direction of Mr. Hugh Beckett, a fine series of pictures has been exhibited, including Storm and Sunshine, The Countess's Wedding Day, Arctic Hunting, A Sensational Duel, Northern Venice, and In the Days of King Richard. Miss Mabel Robarts appears in her illustrated songs, which have given much pleasure; and Mr. Edward Mortimer also appears in his amusing interlude, Charcoal and Comedy.

BILSTON.—New Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry Battersby.—Mr. H. Keates Hale's company, under the direction of Mr. Hamilton Baines, is here with the Dark Deeds of the Night. Doctor Caine is vividly portrayed by Mr. Frank Eaglefield; Miss Hilda Merriles succeeds in making Dora Bardsley a prominent and pleasing character; Mr. Lewis De Burgh is capable as Jack Brandon; and Mr. Alfred Terris scores as Joe Norton. Tim is well played by Mr. Albert Hayzen; and Miss Edith Bottomley is an amusing Pollie.

BIRKENHEAD. — New Theatre Royal. — Sole Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant; Secretary, Miss Isabel Morris.—Mr. Milton Bode's company is deservedly doing big business in The Chinese Honeymoon, a spirited and able performance of that interesting comedy meeting with an enthusiastic reception. Premier honours are secured by Miss Gwennie Harcourt for a clever and vivacious rendering of Fi-Fi, and by Mr. Will Harman, who, in the rôle of Mr. Pineapple, displays an amount of humour which is worthy of the highest commendation; Tom Hatherton is well impersonated by Mr. Harry Jennings; Miss Elsie Skillings is a bewitching Soo-Soo, singing her various numbers with skill; Miss Veronica Brady plays Mrs. Pineapple with admirable chic and success; and Miss Maud Adams is a capital Mrs. Brown. Mr. Rudolph Kloss scores heavily as the Emperor; Mr. P. Allerton Turner is a good Lord Chancellor; and High Lung is represented with much humour by Mr. Leonard May. Miss Ada Booth as Sing-Sing, Miss Kathleen Ronayne as Yen-Yen, and Miss Hilda Stewart as Mi-Mi, are efficient; and the four bridesmaids are well enacted by Miss Dorothy Radcliffe, Miss Phyllis Grosvenor, Miss Mary Gray, and Miss Cecilia Leslie.

Argyle Theatre of Varieties. — Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke.—Miss Kate Carney, the popular comedienne, who has a large following in this town, is repeating her success; Jack and Evelyn, the clever vaudeville artists, are also on a welcome return visit; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finden, in their entertaining sketch Settled Out of Court, are renewing previous triumphs; and Mr. Arthur Reece, comedian, is again a leading attraction. A fine company also includes Mr. Ted Curtis and his piccaninnies, coon vocalists and dancers; Watson and Naylor, good knockabouts and patterers; Miss Ethel Thomas, a talented local soprano vocalist; Miss Amy Sullivan, comedienne; and Brown's Royal Bioscope.

Olympian Gardens, Rock Ferry.—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler and Sutton; Manager, Mr. Edwin Adeler.—The amusing little comedy In Old Virginia is renewing previous successes. The various characters are ably represented by Mr. Kit Keene (coon vocalist), Miss Lillian Page (soprano), Miss Odcyne Sparke (soubrette), Mr. H. Buckland (tenor), Mr. Bert Errol (female impersonator), Miss Joey Ellis (comedienne), Miss Nellie Sheffield (comedienne), Mr. Leonard (baritone), and Mr. W. Pringle (comedian). Mr. W. H. Eveleigh is musical director.

BIRMINGHAM.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; Acting-Manager, Mr Philip Rodway.—The Duke's Motto, produced here last Monday by Mr. Lewis Waller, is described in another column.

Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Rodgers, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnston. — The Private Secretary, with Mr. J. F. Graham, the estimable as well as esteemed manager here, in the rôle, is in high favour this week. As the unfortunate Spalding, Mr. Graham shows us a rare example of comic acting. His expression of pained surprise, his longing for "a Bath bun," and his anxiety over his "goods and chattels" is fine, and the house roars at him. The comedy is presented by Mr. Eugene C. Stafford, with Mr. W. Hargreaves in his always welcome character of the choleric and self-willed Cattermole; Mr. Frederick Tyrrell supplies a clever presentment of the tailor, Gibson; Mr. Frank Stanley acts firmly as Mr. Marsland, Mr. Andrew Wight being decidedly successful as his nephew, Harry; Mr. Lawrence Grove making a capital Douglas. Miss Edith M. Savery gives grace and humour to the character of Edith; and Mrs. Alfred Davis, Miss Cecily Wade, and Miss Dorothy Ripley are successful in the cast.

Alexandra Theatre. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Lester Collingwood; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. T. Guest.—A Fight for Life, by Miss Ada Frank's company, is keeping up the popularity of this prosperous theatre. Miss Ada Frank herself is seen with great pleasure and to excellent advantage in the comedy rôle, Suzanne, Mr. Geo. Scully doing very well in the companion rôle, Dan Murphy. Mr. Courtney Robinson enacts a wealthy nobleman, Count Adrian, with much skill; Mr. Clifton Earl is the hero, Jean Bardell, and is deserving of every praise; Mr. William Matthews does every credit to the villain's rôle, Carlos Cardell; Mr. Templar Ellis makes the part of the miser, Ferrand, stand out well; Miss Chrissie Bickerstaffe acts very pathetically as the blind girl, Marie; Miss Violet Lesborough gives a clever and strenuous portrayal of the "tigress," La Cardell; Miss Rose Woodhall as Adell, Mr. Frank Charles as Antonio, and Mr. Charles Higgins as Pierre completing the cast.

Metropole Theatre. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Andrew Melville; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hindle Taylor.—The Diver's Luck, Mr. Andrew Melville's revival, is reported in another column.

Carlton Theatre, Saltley. — Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—The Tramp and other plays are being presented here by Mr. Coleman Davies and his company. In The Tramp, on Monday, Mr. Hugh Macdonald was much liked as the hero, Jack Elsworth; Mr. Terry Davies counterfeited the villain, Harry Travers, very successfully; Miss Gladys Vane proved very acceptable as Nana Leigh; Miss Eunice Udall was capable as Rosie Rapid; and Mr. Coleman Davies, in the titular rôle, Jerry Weston, made himself a great favourite. On Wednesday and Thursday Beneath the Stars was played, while last night Sherlock Holmes was the attraction.

Theatre Royal, Aston.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Lake.—A Soldier of France has met with a popular reception here, with Messrs. Glenville and Osmond's company. Miss Florence Zillwood has an onerous part as Pauline Lorraine, but she comes out of it full of honours; Mr. Leonard Aardale acts in an exceedingly fine spirit as Corporal Jean; Mr. Albert Guyon shows a capital grasp of character as Judas Delara; Mr. Edward Hobart doubles the rôles of Captain Louis Lorraine and Lieut. Louis in a perfectly capable manner; Miss Dora Weber shows to advantage as Rita; Miss Gertie Renaud shows good signs as Master Louis; and the comedy scenes are well looked after by Mr. Freddy Edwards as Pollyput Jollyboy and Miss Jennie Clare as Margot.

Palace Theatre, Bordesley.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward.—The Girl Who Took the Wrong Turning is the latest attraction here, with Mr. Walter Melville's company. Miss Jessie Belmore invests the character of the erring girl, Sophie Coventry, with a pathos that makes her errors very forgivable; Miss Zoe Davis in the other rôle, Lucy, is very successful; Miss Nannie Meade gives the character of Vesta Le Clere an alluring charm; Mr. Sidney Sarl acts up carefully to the character of the man with a past, Bill Slater; Mr. Frank R. Robertson is a popular character as Jack Fenton; Mr. F. Ronald Adair imparts an air of constancy and integrity to the rôle of the tar, Willie Mason, which is very pleasing; Miss Marie Kildare acts with sparkling verve as Poppy Slater; and others very good are Mr. Fred Ingram, Mr. Frank Denis, Mr. Raymond Wood, and Mr. F. Barnard.

Grand Theatre of Varieties.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Edward Foster.—This tremendous theatre was packed at both houses on Monday, the big attraction being Harry Lauder, who was enthusiastically received; Iben Obed is one of the smartest Arabian equilibrists we have seen; Reichen presents his trained dogs; and C. H. Johnson, coloured comedian; Venie Clements, comedienne; Marguerite Arnold, vocalist; Will Cornish, and Tennyson and Wallis complete the programme.

Empire Palace.—Resident-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham.—The Jackson Family, in their refined musical entertainment, were loudly applauded; Paul Kauver, a dramatic episode of the French Revolution, was presented by Arnold Bell and Frances Campbell's company; Sandford and Lyons were loudly applauded for their dancing; Wood, Wells, and Wilkins have a sketch, What About My Change? the Sisters Grovini and Rhoda Paul win loud applause; and the Chronomegaphone gives selections by Geo. Robey and Victoria Monks. Gus Garrick and the Brothers Diamond were also in the bill.

Hippodrome.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Lyons.—Walter C. Kelly, who is styled "America's greatest raconteur," is the star turn here; the Brothers Ashley have a smart boxing sketch, Next; Please; J. C. Piddock and company present a musical fantasy, The Capture of Venus, which is elaborately staged; Maud and Gill are well applauded for their turn.

Gaiety Theatre.—Proprietors, Birmingham Gaiety Theatre Co., Ltd.—Harry Champion is always an attraction, his popular songs being loudly encored; Bins and Bins, "the vagabonds," have a humorous musical sketch, which is appreciated; Bert Wickham performs feats with motor-cars; Carl Lynn is an exceedingly clever animal mimic; and Morny Cash and Cassie Walmer are prominent turns.

BISHOP AUCKLAND. — Eden Theatre. — Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. Huntley.—Mr. Bert Coote's company, under the direction of Mr. Percy Williams, opened here to a crowded house in The Fatal Wedding. Mr. Cecil A. Melton as Howard Wilson was capable; Mr. Frank Harrison as Robert Curtis gave a good account of himself; Miss Elaine Vanbrugh's rendition of Cora Williams, an adventuress, was very clever; Mabel Wilson was effectively played by Miss Ethel Kay. Toto (Mr. Charles Locke), Bridget (Miss Ethel Sarjient), and O'Relley (Mr. Frank Ashley) made the audience scream with laughter. Miss Lulu Wohlmann represented Jessie ("the Little Mother") in delightful style. The children's scene in Act 3 is worthy of commendation. The play is well staged.

BLACKPOOL.—Her Majesty's Opera House.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—Mr. Fred Terry and Co. are paying their annual visit here this week, and meeting with their usual warm greeting. The Scarlet Pimpernel drew a big house on Monday, when Mr. Terry repeated his masterly impersonation of Sir Percy Blakeney, and Mr. Horace Hodges played with his well-known cleverness the part of Chauvelin. Mr. A. G. Anson made an admirable Prince of Wales, and Mr. Malcolm Cherry's delineation of Lord Anthony Dewhurst was also a good piece of work. Mr. Alfred Kendrick as Sir Andrew Ffoulkes, and Mr. D. J. Williams as Jellyband were also good. Miss Miriam Lewes, who on this occasion essayed the rôle of Lady Blakeney, amply justified her fitness for the part. Other characters were also in experienced hands. Matt of Merrymount was played on Tuesday, with Mr. Terry in the title-rôle and Miss Miriam Lewes as Diantha Frothingham. Both plays have been repeated during the week.

Grand Theatre.—Owner and Manager, Mr. T. Sergenson.—Mr. George Alexander is always sure of a cordial welcome in Blackpool, and the engagement of himself and his excellent company here this week in The Thief has been eagerly anticipated. As Richard Chelford Mr. Alexander has a part to which he is admirably fitted, his acting in the bedroom scene being exceptionally fine. Equally good is Miss Irene Vanbrugh's assumption of Marie Chelford. Mr. Dawson Milward plays Raymond Leyton with perfect naturalness, and Harry Leyton has a capable exponent in Mr. Reginald Owen. Miss Nina Sevening as Isabel Leyton and Mr. G. Vivian Reynolds as Mr. Protheroe also play their parts with credit and distinction. The Nursery Governess, with Miss Jean Sterling MacKinlay in the title-rôle, is a pleasing curtain-raiser.

Palace.—General-Manager, Mr. G. H. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Walker.—Vesta Tilley is retained here to top the bill; second week, and her efforts meet with thunders of applause at every performance; Lillie Langtry, one of the most vivacious of comediennes, is also re-engaged because of her success last week; and for the same reason Howard and Harris still figure in the programme. Fred Russell, the ventriloquial humourist, contributes an excellent turn, and Jamie Piper justifies his title as the youthful instrument marvel. Rex Fox, in a musical act on the wire, La Martine, a clever dancer and vocalist, the Westbrooks, in a dancing scena, and Mlle. Marjutti, contortionist, are also well received.

Hippodrome. — Manageress, Mrs. Fioni.—Mlle. Rita James, vocalist, Spry and Monti, comedians, and the St. Johns, instrumentalists and dancers, together with the International Pictures, complete the programme here this week.

Winter Gardens Pavilion.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—The spectacular ballet extravaganza, entitled The Belle of Andalusia, is still being produced here twice daily. Le Roy, Talma, and Bosco, the great illusionists, are the principal artists in the variety entertainment this week.

BLYTH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur C. Moody.—Mr. Lingford Carson's company has met with a hearty reception here with the drama entitled The Great White Chief. Mr. Mansell Fane, in the name-rôle, plays well in a conspicuous part; and the acting of Mr. Lingford Carson as Reindeer, the dumb chief, elicits loud applause. Miss Pollie Denville as Latika, afterwards known as Nell Ellingham, wins much favour; and the other parts are in capable hands.

Gaiety.—Lessee, Mr. Wm. Yates Gregory; Resident-Manager, Mr. Thos. Baugh.—At the top of a capital bill of fare are the Four Louberts in a clever sketch entitled Uninvited. Warren Doyle and C. Fenwick render an interesting turn; A. Wass proves a charming comedienne; Chester and Lee's marionettes are heartily received; the Godfreys, in their diverting sketch, The Slave and the Coon, win applause; J. S. Scatter, an old favourite in song and dance, has a hearty reception; and the Bioscope displays several pleasing pictures.

The Hippodrome.—Lessees, Messrs. Doyle and O'Connell; General-Manager, Mr. Tom Doyle.—Shawlene, the man bird, is undoubtedly the star turn here, his imitations of the feathered tribe being marvellous. The Three Neros also appear in a comic pantomime, and the series of pictures shown are up to date.

BOLTON. — Theatre Royal, Ltd. — Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Moncur.—The eminent tragedian, Mr. Allan Wilkie, and a powerful company, is here in a round of Shakespearean plays. On Monday evening Hamlet was staged, when Mr. Wilkie gave a scholarly interpretation of the part of the melancholy Dane, being admirably supported by Miss Carrie week with Lady Godiva. The principal characters are well represented by Messrs. Albert Sember, Stanley S. Gordon, Alfred D. Adams, Tom Solly, and Cyril Grier, and Misses Nina Vaughton, Kathleen Magee, and Effie Macintosh.

BOURNEMOUTH.—THE SHAFTESBURY HALL.—West's Pictures, sixteenth season, is in full swing, and drawing large and enthusiastic houses. This week the feature is a very realistic series, illustrating the recent Wigan Colliery disaster. A fine panorama of the principal cities of Australia, taken personally by T. J. West, is also shown. Those talented ladies, the Misses Annette and Jean Coutts, known as "The Scottish Troubadours," provide a most delightful vocal and instrumental interlude, which meets with the heartiest appreciation. The whole is under the able direction of Mr. T. W. Kingston.

BRADFORD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—There was a closely-packed audience on Monday for the return visit of The Gay Goraons, with MISS Elialine Terris and Mr. Seymour Hicks in the principal rôles, and nearly laughter and applause again greeted the representation of the sparkling comedy. With her usual charm and grace Miss Terris quite carried away her audience as the daughter of the American millionaire, Peggy Quainton; Mr. Hicks was delightfully breezy and humorous as the energetic Angus Graeme, her soldier sweetheart; Nervy Nat, the old showman, was a capital study by Mr. Johnny Danvers; and Mr. G. Carrol, Mr. Sydney Farebrother, and Miss Dorothy Ward, as members of the Siddons family, contributed largely to the humour of the piece, which is gorgeously staged.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Councillor F. Laidlaw; Acting-Manager, Mr. N. Hepworth.—Messrs. Hardie and Von Leer's company are interesting big audiences here this week with Two Lancashire Lasses in London. Its reception has been very hearty, and Miss Rosslyn Vayne and Miss Alice Defoe as the two erring girls, around whom the interest centres, arouse much sympathy with their emotional acting; as their brother and "guardian angel" (Samuel Hallett) Mr. Chris. Mason is strong and breezy; Mr. E. Rayson Cousens assumes the part of the Rev. Frank Selby well; as the two scoundrels responsible for the downfall of the two girls, Mr. Fred Morgan and Mr. Jack Miller are particularly strong and effective in their assumption of brutality; and Mr. Herbert Pearson well realises the part of an unfortunate inventor. The play is well staged.

THE EMPIRE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Fred Ginnett's company, with an equestrian sketch, Dick Turpin's Ride to York, aided considerably by the Bioscope, occupies a prominent place in the programme here. As deputy on Tuesday evening for Carlotta Levey, who is indisposed, Charles Coverdale elicited roars of laughter with his patter; Richer's Imperial Comedy Quintette furnish an acceptable turn; Hugh Barclay's fine voice is heard to advantage in illustrated song; the "rag-time" acrobatic feats performed by the Five Oiracs are distinctly clever and amusing; Bi-Bo-Bi, on instruments of a novel description, gives a very clever and original entertainment; Cissie Curlette, in a daintily-rendered mimetic song, achieves success; in monologue, R. H. Douglass is particularly smart and highly diverting; and the Bioscope provides some very sensational and intercsting pictures.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. E. Harrison.—Tom Hearn, Resident-Manager, Mr. E. Harrison.—Tom Hearn, the quaintest of quaint jugglers, is responsible for much hearty laughter; Harry Milton, Dutch comedian, submits clever clog and sabot dancing; Mlle. Bartenelli's novel work as a contortionist is gracefully performed; a dashing turn by the Three Sisters Silcott, vocalists and dancers, wins favour; clever acrobatic work and eccentricity in the smart turn by Margit and Lener win applause; in a dainty comedienne song and Chinese character sketch Lily Eyton wins approval; Wake and Dean are droll comedians; fun is a feature of the clever Risley performance given by the Three Alskarnos; and Raymond's Bio-Tableaux are very interesting.

BRIDLINGTON.—ROYAL PRINCE'S PARADE.—Manager for the Corporation, Mr. Charles Palmer.—The manager of this fashionable resort, who has done so much to increase the popularity of the Parade, took his annual complimentary benefit on Friday, the 28th ult., and was honoured with a very large audience in the Grand Pavilion. Mr Palmer had provided a capital programme, which included some of the choicest items of Mr. Norfolk Megone's Municipal Orchestra; a very fine turn by Mr. Flockton-Foster and his comedy company; Mr. Fowler Burton, the popular baritone; Mme. Naomi Odlie Bell, a charming soprano; and Captain Devereux and his clever performing dogs. Mr. Ernest Hastings, that refined society entertainer, was recalled again and again. Little Dolly Palmer, in song and dance, showed careful training, and joined in a duet with Mrs. Palmer; Mr. Palmer treated the audience to one of his amusing songs; and Mr. Charles Beanland was recalled twice for his. The Loyal Dominion Animated Picture Company showed some of their best films. Mr. Palmer had a warm reception on coming to the front to thank his patrons.

In the Floral Pavilion this week the vocalist at Mr. Norfolk Megone's Promenade Concerts is Miss Carrie Siviter, a sweet soprano. Wednesday night was a grand gala night, with fireworks by Messrs. Pain and Sons. In the Floral Pavilion the extra turn at the Flockton-Foster entertainments is Wishart, a clever entertainer, with his magic bottle.

NEW SPA AND GARDENS.—General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. Harry Tunbridge.—Herr Simon Wurm, whose Viennese band has been a great attraction during the season, had a complimentary benefit on Monday evening. Herr Wurm had secured a big array of talent, including that remarkable man, Datas; Dr. Byrd Page, a clever entertainer; Miss Alice Greasley, a fine operatic soprano; Lindon's Vaudeville Entertainers, in one of their best programmes of song and mirth; and a host of other talent. The outside show, which was to include a balloon race and confetti carnival, was entirely spoilt by the storm which prevailed all the evening. The vocalist at the Promenade Concerts this week is Miss Mabel Manson, a capital soprano. Thursday night was a grand gala and fancy dress carnival, with a battle of confetti and fireworks by Messrs. Brock and Co.

SPA OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. Harry Tunbridge.—Messrs. Dauncey and Leveaux opened here on Monday night with Mr. Arthur Bourchier's company in that fine play, The Walls of Jericho. Mr. Alfred Goddard's exposition of the part of Jack Frobisher was excellent; Mr. Russell Barry was a good Hankey Bannister; the part of the Marquis was capitally played by Mr. Ben Lewin; and Mr. A. W. Tryer was a very fine Harry Dallas. Miss Nancy Beresford shone in the part of Frobisher's wife; Miss Elsie Ross was effective as Lady Lucy; and Miss Ormonde Wynne gave an excellent rendering of Lady Westerby. The play was well mounted and dressed. For the second half of the week we have Baron Harriss's company in The Prince of Pilsen.

SUMMER GARDENS.—Lessees, Messrs. Beanland, Bath, and Danton; Manager, Mr. Charles Beanland.—Mr. George Hyam, the clever comedian of the Waterloo Pierrots, had his benefit on Friday last, and was rewarded with a "bumper" house. There was a capital programme, the "genial George" having the assistance of a host of brother and sister artists, the whole entertainment being highly enjoyed by the large audience. This week, in addition to the usual programme, that amusing turn, Hamleton's Diorama, is being given by the company.

BRIGHTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ben Court.—Mr. Frederick Melville's company is attracting crowded houses here this week with Her Road to Ruin. Mr. Henry Wolston gives an admirable portrayal of the curate of Brandon; Miss Eva Moss submits an excellent impersonation of Jess Willoughby; Miss Nellie Bonser as the girl from Lancashire is highly successful; Miss Alice Bowes makes a charming May Willoughby; Mr. Alex. Bradley displays able acting as Philip Hardy; Mr. Heaton as the poor journalist is effective; and Mr. Darke Clarke is impressive as the bishop. The drama is capitally staged and mounted.

ALHAMBRA.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. Ernest Lepard.—There is an excellent company here this week. Herbert Clifton, a clever impressionist and burlesque artist, wins very hearty applause; Clarice Mayne is a charming and accomplished mimic and comedienne; Captain Max Gruber and Miss Adelina introduce their highly-trained performing animals with great success; the Three Dixons submit an excellent vocal and instrumental turn; the Fordyces are refined comedy singers and dancers; Daisy Hicks is a dainty comedienne; Emil and Ediss are clever banjoists; Alf. Chester gives a capital selection of songs; Hallam and Stanton are well received in the musical-comedy sketch, A Broken Journey; and the Alhambrascope pictures are excellent.

HIPPODROME THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—A capital programme is sustained here this week. The Two Anartos are droll comedians and amusing patterers; Leonard Gautiers introduces a number of wonderfully-trained ponies and dogs; Ferdie's Ma-in-Law, a laughable sketch, is admirably presented by a capital company; Lowenwirth and Cohan's quaint sayings and original songs are well received; Lawson and Namon give a good ball-punching and cycling turn; Enid Erroll and company are entertaining in the fantastic dancing episode, The Magic Vase; Hilda Jacobson, vocalist, and Lily Black, vocal comedienne, win cordial applause.

WEST PIER.—Secretary and Entertainment-Manager, Mr. A. D. Norman.—Mr. Walter Maxwell's company is here this week with The Lion and the Mouse. Mr. Leslie Carter achieves great success as the "lion"—John Burkett Ryder; Miss Christine Silver is delightful as the "mouse"—Shirley Roesmore—Mr. Harold West as Jefferson Ryder merits praise; Mr. Arthur Burne's Hon. Fitzroy Bagley is admirably played; Miss Elspeth Dudgeon's Mrs. John Burkett Ryder and Mr. E. W. Thomas's Stott are ably presented.

PALACE PIER THEATRE.—Mr. Lewis Waller's company is here this week with Robin Hood. Mr. Ethelbert Edwards acquits himself admirably in the title-rôle; Miss Lilian Stennis is highly successful in her impersonation of Lady Marion de Vaux; and Mr. H. Elliott Ball gives a capital portrayal of Prince John; while Mr. Clive Ross as Little John and Mr. C. Bruce Winston as Friar Tuck render excellent support.

COURT THEATRE.—Lessee and Manageress, Mrs. M. Barrasford; Secretary and Manager, Mr. Fred Bauer.—Crowded houses are attracted here by the admirable exhibition of animated Pictures. The Dancing Girl conveys an interesting drama, and A Free Pardon is a powerful picture. The Seamstress's Romance, The Hypnotic Policeman, Bobby on the Spree, On Bad Terms with the House Porter, and Paper-Tearing are also capital films. Mr. Percy Leonard contributes illustrated songs.

BRISTOL.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—Mr. William Mollison, Miss Evelyn McNay, and company are here for the week. On Monday evening Macbeth was staged in good style, the performance being followed most attentively. Mr. Mollison presented a fine and imposing exposition of Macbeth. He evinced much scholarly excellence in his interpretation, his fine voice enabling him to do full justice to the blank verse. Miss McNay gave an admirable study of Lady Macbeth, her sleep-walking scene being exceptionally clever. Mr. William Calvert did full justice to Macduff, looking the part perfectly, and delivering his lines most effectively; Mr. W. A. Mackeray made a kindly and dignified King Duncan; Mr. Harry Deas and Mr. Leslie Newton did well as Malcolm and Donaldbain; Mr. Harry Neville played Banquo in dignified and effective style; and other important parts were carefully taken by Miss Gladys Brandon Gower, Miss Edith Blair Staples, Miss Josephine Woodward, Miss Freda Allwright, Miss Hermina Black, and Mr. Leslie Lingham. Merchant of Venice, Richard III., The Bonnie Brier Bush, and Hamlet are also billed.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. C. Alty.—For Love and the King is the attraction here this week, the play being well performed by Mr. C. Watson Mill's company, that gentleman being also the author of the drama, which is decidedly interesting. Mr. C. Watson Mill presents a fine exposition of the daring and reckless soldier of fortune, Jarval; Miss Rosalind Tate is charmingly sympathetic as Princess Athene; Miss Joan Ellis makes a very taking and convincing part of the beggar-maid, Natila; Mr. Alfred Hilliard is effective as Prince Uros Dragomir; Mr. J. Burton, Mr. H. Earlsmere, and Mr. Godfrey Chate do well in their respective parts of Michael Obrenovic, Vladimer Obrenovic, and Duke Fernand Dragomir; Miss Marie Ault is pleasingly vivacious as Grazia; Mr. Frank Lyndar is dignified as the king; Miss Tierney is well placed as Edith Meredith; and Mr. Jim K. Woods is amusing in the comic part of Carl Oppenheim. The mounting of the play is in every way liberal and effective.

PALACE.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Treasurer, Mr. F. J. V. Welchman.—Mr. Joe Peterman's company is successfully appearing here in the dramatic sketch, in two scenes, The Pawnbroker; the Austral Trio present a pleasing speciality, comprising songs, harp selections, and dancing, entitled A Musical Evening; Irene Rose has a pretty vocal scena; Hampton and Bauman entertain with vocal and instrumental music; Lade Henderson, vocalist, is appreciated; Gladys Huxley is a pleasing comedienne; Tom Leo, comedian, amuses with song, patter, and dance; and Travis, the ventriloquist with many voices, obtains considerable appreciation. The performance concludes with interesting animated Pictures.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Sid Macaire.—Jack Johnson, heavy-weight champion of the world, is here for the week, his ball-punching and boxing matches with well-known men obtaining much applause. There are also exhibited on the screen coloured pictures of famous pugilists for the past twenty years, and animated photographs illustrative of Johnson's methods of training, and his exhibition bouts with other boxers. Florence Creagh and company successfully present their dramatic sketch, entitled Daddy's Boy; Conn and Conrad amuse with their speciality, Fun on a Barber's Pole; the Lorrisons score with their smart speciality; Ella Lorraine, Scotch vocalist, sings ballads in pleasing style; Leah Adell also scores with her Irish songs; Le Gros entertains with songs, &c., at the piano; Charles Gardner, comedian, obtains applause; Daley and O'Brien do an acceptable dancing turn; and Marie Goodwin is a pleasing comedienne. The performance concludes with up-to-date animated Pictures.

BROUGHTON.—VICTORIA THEATRE, LTD.—Manager and Licensee, Mr. J. Fred Watson.—Mr. Frank M. Thorne's company, in the human play, The Woman Pays, pleased a full house on Monday. Mr. Frank M. Thorne (the author) is a very amusing Micky Maloney; and Miss Anena Watton is an excellent Polly Stokes, giving much pleasure with her singing. Sid Armstrong makes a good impression in the hands of Mr. Phil Harper; Miss Maud Russell obtains much sympathy for Madge Armstrong; Mr. John Davidson gives a skilful performance as the scheming Roger Marchant; Nellie Morland is capably sustained by Miss Kate Blair; and Mr. George Butler as Cyrus Treadgold and Mr. Dunlop Stewart as Luke Morland give vigorous representations. Scenery and staging are good.

BURNLEY.—VICTORIA OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Why Men Love Women is the title of the excellent production here this week, presented by Miss Ellen Snow and company. Miss Snow gives a clever interpretation of Violet Livingstone; and Gerald Fielden is admirably represented by Mr. Oliver Rogers. Mr. Lionel Gadsen as Captain Staniloff proves a capital villain; and Mr. H. Carter Slaughter pleases as Tommy Fitzherbert. Mr. Harwood Roberts as Orlando Figgins, Miss Nita Owen as Birdie, and Miss Freda Vaughan as Baby are responsible for the humour of the play.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Excellent pantomime and satire is amusing the audiences here under the name of The Demon and the Fairy, performed by Harry Claff; Atlas and Vulcana, with the Sisters Atlas, are again welcomed in their weight-lifting and posing; Les Ardos are a pair of smart gymnasts; Lily Hayes is a clever comedienne and dancer; Kerr and Koe create much mirth with their patter; and Bertha Winder is loudly applauded for neat clog-dancing. John Wills and Bessie Mackenzie are extremely pleasing in song; and the Empire Theatroscope shows the Marathon Race and Hurry Up, Please.

PALACE THEATRE AND HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Julius Simpson.—Radford and Valentine, in burlesque and real juggling, provide a large amount of fun; A Dream of Fairyland is an electric spectacle produced by Abdullah and La Superbe, in which the lady dances bewitchingly; The Way to Win a Bet is a quick-change novelty, with humour and pathos, presented by Marie Jones and Ernest Munro; and the Rio Bros. give an acrobatic performance of good quality. Alfonzo gives a good turn in manipulating giant sugar-stick and barrel; and the Simms sing and dance prettily. Mabelle May, comedienne, is well received; the Sisters Brendon, in Dutch dances, are good; and Black-Eyed Susan is a good dramatic picture by Raymond's Bio-tableaux.

BURTON-ON-TRENT.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. H. G. Dudley Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. de Hague Body.—The New Girl, played by Cooper Smith and Douglas Payne's company, is drawing good houses here this week. Miss Rosa Bennett in the title-rôle sings, dances, and acts in capital style, as does also Miss Ivy Leighton, a chic Corise. Miss Beatrice Sutherland is very droll as Jane; and the grim schoolmistress has a capable representative in Miss Victoria Douglas. The amorous Colonel Bullet is played with dash and finish by Mr. Edward W. Colman; Mr. Ralph Lynn's original and quaint presentation of Bertie is irresistibly funny; Mr. Edgar McIntyre, who possesses a good voice, is well placed as Harry Harrow; and the idiosyncrasies of Brown, cleverly portrayed by Mr. Kenneth Black, jun., creates intense amusement. The play abounds in bright songs and dances.

BURY (LANCS.).—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—At the head of the bill here is Van Biene, the celebrated 'cellist, who is appearing in a one-act play, entitled The Master Musician, which gives him ample scope for displaying his talent. Other good turns are the Hyde and Cody Trio of tipplers, &c.; Stanley Waller, as "Buttons at the Piano"; Terry and Bentley, comedy artists; Dan Hendy, comedian; Lloyd Morgan, vocal comedian; Gertie Lewis, male impersonator; and Burns and Bentley, simultaneous dancers.

CIRCUS OF VARIETIES.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Several good pictures are here this week, including Downfall of Baylass Trust, A Useful Umbrella, Hurrah for Freedom, and The Flower Seller. The variety turns consist of Jack Wood, baritone, and Marie Neilson, vocalist and dancer.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Sons.—The chief turns this week are the Colonials, in a musical comedy scena, entitled Unexpected Guests; Dunningarto, a sleight-of-hand expert; Patrick Playfair, who works out some pretty designs in paper; Ada Whitton, male impersonator; the Sisters Lotus, juvenile operatic duettists; Lavelle Bros., acrobats; Fred Athalan, balancer; Moon and Morris, comedians; and the Sisters Valli, musicians and dancers.

BUXTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Buxton Gardens Company, Ltd.; Secretary and Manager, Mr. Arthur Willoughby.—Mr. Edward Compton is always welcome in Buxton. On Monday evening Mr. Compton delighted the audience with his impersonation of Davy Garrick, and received admirable support from his company. Mr. Henry Crocker as Alderman Gresham played with all his accustomed force, and Henry Worrale was most commendable as the Hon. Tom Talleyhaut. Mr. Philip Gordon's Rumbelow was full of humour, and Mr. E. W. Johnson was a capital Sowerberry, and Simpkins was satisfactorily portrayed by Mr. Ivan Leslie. Mrs. Rumbelow was brightly represented by Miss Marie Hassell, and Miss Constance Merton acted capably as the simpering Selina. Miss Kathleen Leigh won well-merited applause for her acting as Violet Gresham. The main piece was preceded by The Desperate Lover, in which the principal parts are exceptionally well acted by Mr. Henry Worrale as Harry Waintree, and Miss Viola Compton as Mistress Prue. Included in the three nights' attractions were School for Scandal and The Gentleman in Grey, with a matinée of The Rivals on Wednesday. For the remainder of the week Mr. Oscar Asche, Miss Lily Brayton, and Co., are billed.

CARDIFF.—NEW THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—The visit to the New Theatre this week of A White Man has been thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. Herbert Sleath's company is responsible for the excellent rendering of this successful play, and a more satisfactory portrayal could not be desired. Mr. Frank E. Petley, in the rôle of Captain James Wynnegate, submits a delineation that stamps him as an actor of ripe experience; Miss Eleanor May's interpretation of Lady Kerhill is a particularly charming and graceful one; Miss Rhoda Ray has a character in Nat-u-Ritch which nobody but a painstaking actress could impersonate, but the gifted little lady never fails in her undertaking. Mr. R. A. Brandon (Big Bill), Mr. Thomas Swem (Shorty), Mr. T. W. H. Sarll (Grouchy), and Mr. Martin Henry (Andy) are all to be congratulated upon remarkable renditions of their respective characters. Mr. Eric Hudson's interpretation of the Indian Chief is a genuine piece of character acting; and Mr. A. C. Hardie's portrayal of Cash Hawkins deserves the greatest praise. Mr. John Wilmer as the Sheriff, Mr. Lewis Broughton as Lord Kerhill, and Miss Rosina White as Little Hall all do well.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. S. Dring.—Heading the bill here this week are the Boisset Troupe in their screamingly funny sketch The Bricklayers; Drew and Alders make a welcome appearance in a new act entitled The Coastguards; a successful turn is provided by Charles Whittle; a delightful artist is Truly Shattuck; the Carina Sisters well deserve the hearty applause accorded their musical entertainment; and another pleasing number is provided by Violet Ray, 'cello player and soprano vocalist; Charles Stevens, character comedian, La Belle Nello, described as the queen of equipose, and Edie King, comedienne and dancer, are the other contributors to the entertaining programme, which is completed by a capital series of Bioscopic pictures.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Under the management of Mr. Rollo Balmain.—The attraction at the Royal this week is A Woman Worth Winning, presented by Mr. Percy Norman's No. 1 company. The emotional and trying part of Roma Pauloff is exceptionally well undertaken by Miss Chrissie Dunbar; the arduous rôle of Ivan Bardoff is played by Mr. Carthage Caldcleugh in a very convincing manner; and Mr. A. B. Mackay as General Borinski depicts with infinite care the heartless cruelties of the Russian General. Mr. George E. Clive (Fergus Lovinsky) makes a fine, dashing hero; while Mr. Gilbert Standing (Amos Pauloff) and Mr. Sidney Barton (Czar Nicholas) are distinctly good. Miss Ida Mackay as Katerina Kloss is very amusing, and the comedy business between Mr. Louis Newman (Bertie Scribbles) and Mr. Ernest Kendrick (Peter Popples) proves very diverting. Miss Trixie Leighton plays feelingly as Lola Kalnovky. The piece is well staged, and the costumes and uniforms are handsome.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Burton.—Carlton is the principal attraction, his "Mysterious Cross" being a clever invention and wonderfully contrived; Pipifax and Paulo present a mélange of smart comedy entitled Humpsti-Bumpsti; Lew Towers is a smart light comedian and actor vocalist; Gravetta and Parr are unparalleled as novelty acrobats; and Kelly and Agnas are an exceptionally talented comedy duo. Other contributors are Tarree, in a novel musical act, Jessie Burnett, comedienne, and Raymond's Bioscope.

CARLISLE.—HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Mr. Thos. Courtice and Mrs. R. Stewart M'Kim; Manager, Mr. Thos. Courtice.—A return visit of Mr. J. Rice Cassidy's company with In Holy Russia is again drawing good houses. Mr. Henry Compton gives a capital performance as Colonel Forrest; and Mr. George H. Doyle as Sir Harry Beresford is no less successful. Mr. J. Rice Cassidy is again responsible for the bulk of the comedy, and his bright, breezy impersonation of Micky Nolan never fails to amuse and delight. The heroine is in the safe hands of Mrs. J. Rice Cassidy, a versatile and accomplished actress, who makes the very most of her opportunities; Messrs. Robert Cockcroft, Rolf Leslie, Carl Rivinelli, Jerold E. Reed, and Joe Cuthbertson do full justice to their respective parts; and Misses Alice Holland, Agnes Durham, Vara Herne, and Roma Tremayne contribute impersonations which add much to the success of the performance.

THE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Signor Rino Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. F. Morgan.—Charles Kitts and Rhoda Windrum, who head the bill this week in their laughable comedy, The Cuckoo, are paying their first visit here, and their bright little sketch went with a swing from start to finish; another very popular turn is Ted E. Box, a comedian full of humour, and a wonderfully fine whistler; the Le Greus are smart and skilful dancers; and Flake White's lightning sketches are notable for their originality and clever execution. The Two Walonells contribute an amusing knockabout gymnastic act; J. H. Greener, the singing pit lad, and Nellie Lawrence, double-voiced vocalist, are applauded for their excellent singing; and some fine pictures by the Pepiscope completes.

PUBLIC HALL.—Lessee, Mr. Sidney Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Thomas France; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Uden.—The Edison Pictures this week appeal in a great measure to lovers of Shakespeare, the principal film being an excellent reproduction of Romeo and Juliet, while those who delight in adventure and excitement find themselves well catered for with Treasure Island. There are other fine films exhibited, interspersed with a capital variety programme.

CASTLEFORD.—ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor and Licensee, Mr. Chas. Gadsby; Business-Manager, Cr. Hy. Masterman, J.P.—Messrs. Edward L. Garside and J. Forbes Knowles's company is here in Her Marriage Vow. J. Forbes Knowles in the part of Ned Benton is excellent; Miss Helena Walbrun as Kate plays in a careful and painstaking manner; Mr. Chas. B. Bedells makes a designing villain of Gilbert Carlton, being ably supported by Miss Nellie Shirley, a capable Hester Norton; as Larry Leary Mr. Dan Ryan is diverting; Miss Winifred Barton makes a vivacious Maggie Clare; Mr. John W. Ryder does good service as William Walters, and the Daffy Dan of Mr. Edwin C. Collins is natural; Mr. Walford Bailey and Miss Grace Ryder cause much amusement.

QUEEN'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. Chas. Beanland and W. H. Emerson; General-Manager, Mr. Will H. Emerson; Acting-Manager, Mr. James Travis.—Animated pictures by the Loyal Dominion Co. are still running very strong here. Mr. Lawrence Derrick has made an excellent impression with hi sillustrated songs, which he sings with great skill and expression.

CHATHAM.—BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—Fred Earle, who tops the bill here, creates great amusement with his songs; Nan Farren is a neat dancer; Billy and Johnny are a smart pair of juvenile coloured acrobats; Joe Banks patters quaintly; Mersano gives several samples of skilful palming; Metz and Metz score with cross-talk and dancing; Miss Beaumont Collins and company enact in a powerful and realistic manner a playlet entitled The House of Terror; and Lacey's Erascope has an entire change of films.

GAIETY THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Capt. H. E. Davis.—Fred Dice opens the ball here with song and dance; Reed and Stevens are renewing their acquaintance with local music-hall frequenters; Amy Allnutt's low comedy business is appreciated; the Itrams submit a capital potpourri act; Miss Winifred Ward is a decided success as a male impersonator; and one of the hits of the programme is the clever and up-to-date entertainment contributed by Graham, the human marionette. The Edisonograph makes a good finish to a well-varied show.

CHELTENHAM.—OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford.—Dear Old Charlie, introduced by Mr. C. H. Williams' company, re-opens the autumn season here this week. The central part of Charles Ingleton is cleverly studied by Mr. George Lestocq; Mr. C. Douglas Cox as Gabriel Peploe, and Mr. R. S. Trelawney as Thos. Dumphie, do satisfactory work; Miss Leonora Braham gives a clever sketch of the conventional mother-in-law, Mrs. Fishbourne, whose irritating spouse is neatly interpreted by Mr. Duncan Young. Miss Stella Hawleigh acts pleasingly as the amorous young wife, and Mr. Stanley Arthur is smart and alert as a "gentleman's gentleman." The Cause, in which Miss Braham and Mr. Cyril Vernon act with force and distinction, precedes the comedy.

MONTPELLIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. Alfred W. Newton.—The "Middies and the Maids" visit Cheltenham for the first time this week. An excellent programme is contributed by Messrs. Bryan O'Sullivan, baritone and humorist, Bert Williams, comedian, Arthur Randall, humorist, Penyston Mills, tenor and accompanist, and Misses Bertha Zander and Ethel Dunbar.

CHESTER.—ROYALTY THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. B. Fountaine.—The Marvellous Merrils, comedy cyclists, are repeating their success here; Tom Moore, character comedian, is a vocalist of ability; Sawdust and Spangles, a quartette composed of two ladies and two gentlemen, appear in a comedy ariel act with much success; the Dambas appear as comedy musicians and in a graceful trapeze act; Stanley and Vandyke appear in an absurdity entitled A Broken Promise, in which the low-comedy work of the lady is excellent; the Premier Imperial Bioscope projects up-to-date subjects, both grave and gay; La Belle Sylvia, juvenile comedian and dancer, and Annie Cohen, soubrette, also appear.

CHORLEY (LANCS.).—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. G. T. Santé; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Hemingway.—Mr. Julian Graham's capable company is here in the excellent musical play, The Gay Goddess. As Juno, the Gay Goddess, Miss Graham Beck gives an exceptionally bright performance; Miss Fanny Morse capitally undertakes Mrs. Mary Strong; Priscilla Strong is charmingly rendered by Miss Marie Beresford; Mr. Charles Leverton gives a particularly humorous interpretation of Timothy Twinkle; Mr. Fred Carrington is good as Samuel Strong; as is also Mr. Richard Leasdale as Sherlock Blake; Anthony Somers being in the capable hands of Mr. George Walker; and Les Papillions appear in speciality Continental dances, and prove exceptionally smart and clever.

COLCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Charles Macdona; Lessee and Manager, Mr. F. Graham Macdona.—Mr. Seymour Hicks's company, in that humorous musical play, The Gay Gordons, opened here on Monday for three nights and a matinée. Despite the torrential downpour of rain and hurricane accompaniment, a good house assembled, and ere the piece had long proceeded continuous laughter and applause was the general order. Mr. Frank Lincoln, physically a capital Angus Græme, was irresistible alike in fun or pathos; he was loyally supported by Miss Maie Ash, who made of Peggy Quainton a fascinating picture; Mr. Tom Graves as Nervy Nat was really funny whilst as his son Edmund Mr. Edward Nainby proved himself a droll comedian. Miss Nellie Lonnen was a charming and agile Victoria Siddons, and Miss Ida Laurie, who's make-up as Charlotte was really fine, caused unbounded merriment; Miss Emily Mellon gave quite a dramatic touch to the part of Janet McLeod, whilst the singing of Miss Gladys Deane as the daughter Mary was vociferously applauded. Mr. Edward Beecher's portrayal of Andrew Quainton was nicely characteristic, and Mr. Norman Forrest as the burly Gordon non-com. John Smith cut quite a martial figure. The other characters were very creditably shown, and the powerful chorus was heard to great advantage. The latter half of the week is apportioned to Mr. Charles Frohman's company in The Hypocrites.

HIPPODROME.—Joint Proprietors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter De Frece; General-Manager, Mr. Jack De Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ben de Frece.—The main item this week is supplied by Jake Friedman and company in the Dutch operetta Happy Holland, the feature of which is its sweet harmony. Pictures loom largely on the bill, some really good and diversified films being shown. Vestor, comedy musician and "winning poster," is a droll turn; Walter Wallis sings old and new songs, and Laurie Wallace, in a quintet of character dances, is appreciated.

CONSETT.—NEW THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lloyd Clarance.—Mr. Morton Powell's company in Greed of Gold is here this week. Mr. Walter H. Domney plays the part of Harry Hood in a capable manner, and as Arthur Erroll Mr. Wilson Gunning is excellent; Mr. James Jarrett gives a fine performance of Tom Wilstead, the dumb man. Mr. Sidney Bryant is funny as Cully Snig, and the same may be said of Mr. J. Marsden as Con Creamer; Miss Elma C. Turner makes an attractive Dora, and Miss Jennie Douglas Hicks gives entire satisfaction as Mrs. Maxwell. The other parts are also well filled.

CORK.—OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. John Horgan.—Miss Lena Ashwell's company opened a week's engagement here on Monday in the comedy Diana of Dobson's. The play was well received by a large audience. The company is an all-round excellent one. Miss Dorothy Green as Diana Massingberd gave a vigorous and skilful representation; Mr. H. Grendon Bently as Bretherton (the young guardsman) supplied a finished and interesting performance; as Sir Jabez Grindlay, Bart., Mr. Alfred Harris fills the part well; and Miss Mary Stuart makes a capital Mrs. Cantelupe. The minor characters were well filled. The play is preceded by The Bishop's Candlesticks.

PALACE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Thomas F. O'Brien.—The programme provided here for the re-opening week is of a high order. Vasco, the "mad musician," is an instrumentalist of great ability, and is also witty and humorous. He performed on numerous instruments, and was encored over and over again. Mlle. Alexander and Mons. Bertie give a clever and entertaining performance on a steel ladder and trapeze; the Wartana Trio (three girls) give a juggling turn of great merit; the Van Host Trio are acrobats, who perform skilful and daring feats; John McAuley, vocalist, contributes some capital songs; Brady, Johnson and company give a farce, which provokes much laughter; the Sisters Hulla, dancers and vocalists, win applause; Mamie Fenton, Scotch comedienne, contributes sentimental songs and a monologue; Ivey Aberdare, comedienne and dancer, also pleases; and the Palascope shows the Marathon Race and some amusing films.

COVENTRY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm. Bennett.—Mr. Charles H. Lester's company is here in A Life for a Life, a drama of considerable interest. A good deal of the success achieved is due to the charming acting of Little Irene as Venetta, her singing, acting, and dancing evoking much applause. Mr. Charles H. Lester gives a highly-finished rendering of Don Leon Fernandez; Miss Beatrice Anderson is responsible for some fine acting as Eulalie Harker; Mr. Richard Bosco enacts the heavy character Pedro Li Calei forcibly; Mr. Harry T. Wood as Kit Oswald and Miss Dorothy Riddell as Kate Evelyn do ample justice to their parts; Mr. Horace Buckley is a humorous Tim McCarthy.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. S. T. Newsome.—The top turn here this week is furnished by the Achmed-Ibrahim troupe of ten Bedouin Arabs, who are exceedingly clever and do some remarkable feats; L'Incognita, the masked singer, charms every one; Mr. Harry Nuttall's company present a fine, mirth-provoking sketch, entitled The Ghost of Jenny Bundler; Joe Archer is a quaint comedian; Carl Rosini provides a skilful entertainment, and other artists are Wee Mona Vivian, vocalist and dancer, and Oakley and James, who give a tit-bit of everything; a good set of pictures wind up the evening.

EMPIRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Dance; Manager, Mr. K. Draco.—Mr. Geo. Baston again heads the bill and repeats his success as a humorist and impersonator; the Lukushimas, acrobats and equilibrists, are responsible for some very clever feats; Mr. Fred Elton, in his entertaining scena On Board an Ocean Liner, is well received; Tom E. Finglass is a clever coon impersonator; Fred Curran is responsible for some catchy parodies of popular songs; Gracie Graham is a capable comedienne; the Locking Comedy Four and David Stewart, vocalist, contribute capably to the programme; the Bioscope pictures concluding.

CREWE.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. G.

PUBLIC HALL.—Mr. Ernest Mansell's (Gale and Polden) Animated King's Service Pictures are in their third week, and are still drawing crowded houses.

DARLINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Bell; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hal Cummings.—Mr. Herbert Greville's company is appearing here this week in the comedy, Merely Mary Ann. There was a very large audience on the opening night, and the comedy was capitally played, applause being frequent. The part of Lancelot is in the hands of Mr. Martyn Roland, who is seen to advantage; Mr. Stanley Logan as Peter is good; Mr. Robert Enlwistle as Rev. Samuel Smedge is amusing; Mr. H. Montagu Love gives a skilful portrayal of Herr Brahmson; Miss Jessica Solomon as Mary Ann plays the heroine with power and ability; Miss Ethel Carlyle as Lady Gladys Tottenham is praiseworthy. The other parts are in the capable hands of Mr. Arthur Foster, Miss Violet, Greville, Miss Florence Radcliffe, Miss Mary Colquhoun, and Miss Grace Lovell.

NEW HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Signor Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Hersee.—In a capital company the Elite Harmony Boys occupy a prominent position, their high-class vocal act, entitled "Messmates Ashore," being a great treat; Daisy Dormer is a talented singer; Bert Woodward, the coon cyclist, is heartily welcomed; the programme also includes the Bros. Maddison, comedy boxers; Barrett and Knowles, versatile comedians; Derenda and Green, comedy jugglers; and Walter Emerson, comedian; and interesting pictures are shown by the Pepiscope.

DARWEN.—PUBLIC HALL, PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Lessees, Messrs. Thomson, Lewers, and Bennett; Manager, Mr. J. E. Thompson; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. Kerrigan.—Excellent pictures are shown here this week. In addition, Arthur Astill, the ploughboy whistler and mimic, scores heavily; the Four Scoreys contribute a capital turn in the form of a musical mélange; and Messrs. Hill and Lane, comedy artists, also appear.

DERBY.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Denley; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Langley Wyatt.—An interesting programme this week is headed by the Musical Twelve, including Mlle. Louise Van Dalle, T. H. Wood, and C. H. St. Just, whose singing is of a high order of merit. It may be mentionec that six of the troupe accompany the vocalists on six pianos. E. H. Bostock's group of cleverly-trained baboons, under the direction of Captain Graham, have a unique turn, and are well received; Blanche and Powell, society entertainers, are exceedngly good vocalists and pianists; Edna Reeve and company score all through in a dramatic playlet, entitled Her Shattered Idol; the Gentrys are very amusing in the speciality, Bits; Morimura is a smart Japanese illusionist; Eugene Brant, a droll comedian, provokes much amusement; and Marie Clifton is a charming comedienne and pleasing dancer. The Bioscope is to the fore with a racing film. This week concludes the variety season at this house of entertainment.

DEVONPORT.—METROPOLE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Geo. S. King.—There was a very good house at the Metropole on Monday to witness Mr. F. J. Webb's company in The Hour of Her Triumph. Mr. Webb personally takes the part of Eugene Harberry; the villain, and forcibly appeals tohis audience; Mr. Max Coutts is very popular as the hero Jack Vernon; Miss Isabel Stevenson elicits much sympathy as Nellie Clavering, a flower-girl; and Mr. Hyland O'Shea is responcible for spontaneous merriment as Roscius Montmorency, an out-at-end actor.

DOUGLAS.—GRAND, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Hemming; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. R. Wood.—The Kendals have proved a powerful draw at the Grand Theatre this week. The play, The Whirlpool, evoked laughter, and excited interest. Mrs. Kendal as Constance Livingstone gave a perfect embodiment, artistic both in pathos and humour; the Elijah D. Tillottson of Mr. W. H. Kendal was admirable. He is an actor who looks the character, and plays it. The Bertram Livingstone of Mr. Bassett Roe, in an impersonation which was dead against public sympathy, was impressive; Mr. Edmund Gurney as Ephraim Johnstone gave a performance admirably conceived and executed; Mrs. A. B. Tapping was pleasing as Gretchen; and Miss Ethel Dane did all that was possible as Gertrude.

GAIETY.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Gray.—The Merry Widow has been an overpowering success, the theatre being crowded to its fullest capacity. Miss Clara Evelyn's presentment of the Merry Widow is quite fascinating; Mr. Basil Foster is clever as Prince Dandilo; the Baron Popoff of Mr. Lionel Victor shows an adroit combination of humour and perception; Mr. Tom Raymond plays the Nisch for all the character is worth; Miss Marie Grey as Madame Popoff displays the possession of a fine soprano voice. The other parts are clevely undertaken. The scenery is adequate, and the stage-management brilliant.

THE PALACE.—Proprietors, the Palace and Derby Castle, Ltd.; Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brillain.—This place of amusement has, during the current week, been crowded. Miss Dot Stephens, happily once more on the boards after her severe catastrophe, is quite successful; the Violas exploit the hidden secrets of telepathy and mystify a wondering crowd; Selbo, described as the world's greatest club juggler, commands attention; Horace Wheatley is quainter than ever, with his impersonations of Irish character, and dances as neatly as ever; Ouida McDermott, as a vocal actress, scores; Wilson Hallett, as a mimic of children, is clever; M. Rapoli gives a marvellous turn in juggling; the Vernon Quartette are charming lady vocalists; Burke, Andrus, and Frisco create great fun with their spectacular absurdity. In the Grand Pavilion there is an artistic presentment of animated pictures. Harry Woods' orchestra invites all and sundry to dance. On Tuesday evening occurred the manager's benefit, and a crowded house must be chronicled. Mr. Charles Fox, jun., has been manager and secretary of the Palace and Derby Castle, Ltd. (who also control the Gaiety Theatre, Douglas), for sixteen years. The benefit was a great success.

DERBY CASTLE.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alfred Kelly.—Audiences here have been very large. At the other places of amusement Burton's Pierrots and Tea Village, Mr. F. T. Connor's Circus and Hippodrome, Mr. Charles Dare's Minstrels, also his Empire Theatre show, have been crowded.

DOVER.—ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Sidney W. Winter; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. T. G. Whitelock.—Dorothy Gould, a comedienne with a powerful voice, tops the bill here; the excellent acting of Esmond and Evelyn, in The Express Baby, make it a notable little sketch; Chas. Austin is a comedian with a seemingly inexhaustible fund of humour; the magnificent physique of Oscardo and Albert "Atilla," and their fine poses are heartily applauded; Lambert and Butler, as a schoolmaster and boy, find many opportunities for smart repartee; creditable speciality dancing is contributed by the Knick Knacks; Mabel Carr warbles pleasingly of "Peggy, the pride of the mill"; and Onda and Artell, sensational gymnasts, are billed, but failed to appear on Monday.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. Fred Holt.—A tremendous success is obtained by Fred Moule, E. D. Nicholls and Co., in That Dreadful Detective; the Desmonds, American song illustrators, sing in good taste; Frank F. Street, described as a comedian and story-teller, has a funny way with him; Sid Penna is an amusing musical comedian; the duets of the Sister Rivers are heartily applauded; as are the songs of Will Barton. Jennie Venton, a popular comedienne, and some interesting pictures conclude the programme.

TOWN HALL.—The announcement that a fine film of the Dover Pageant would be the most important item of Mr. W. F. Jury's Imperial Picture Entertainment has naturally drawn a crowded house nightly. The films are of a high standard of excellence.

DUBLIN.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mrs. Michael Gunn; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Hyland.—Mr. Leslie Faber and company occupy the boards here this week, and on Monday night The Liars was presented to a full house, and met with a cordial reception. As Sir Christopher Deeling, Mr. Leslie Faber acts throughout in an accomplished manner; a capital performance of Edward Falkner is given by Mr. Lewis Willoughby, and Miss Hilda Moore is highly successful as Beatrice Ebernoe. Mr. Walner Gregory as Gilbert Nepean and Mr. Frank Bickley as George Nepean are both excellent in their respective parts; and Miss Winifred Arthur Jones gives a clever delineation of Lady Jessica Nepean. Mr. Richard Neville and Mr. Victor Widdicombe as Freddie Tatton and Archibald Coke contribute amusing studies; and Miss Ethelwyn Arthur Jones submits a good enactment of Lady Rosamund Tatton; and Miss May Saker does full justice to the rôle of Dolly Coke. On Tuesday evening The Manœuvres of Jane was produced, and was well received.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Parrington.—A large audience on Monday heartily greeted Mr. James Welch in When Knights Were Bold, Mr. Welch, in the rôle of Sir Guy de Vere evoking continual laughter. Miss Audrey Ford is conspicuously successful as Lady Rowena Eggington; the part of Isaac Isaacson is ably sustained by Mr. Arthur Grenville; and as his daughter, Sarah, Miss Daisy Cordell is all that could be desired; Mr. Guy Lane as the Rev. Peter Pottlebury, is admirably well suited to the part; Mr. George Desmond gives an amusing impersonation of the Hon. Charles Widdicombe; Miss Helen Palgrave is most impressive as Hon. Mrs. Waldegrave; Mr. Cecil Kinnard plays with credit the rôle of Sir Owen Gwynneth; and the Ladies Millicent and Marjory Eggington, and Kate Pottleberry are capitally portrayed by Misses Mary O'Hea, Gwendoline Rayne, and Annie Turrell. Wittle and Barker have careful exponents in Messrs. George F. Tully and Gordon Thomas; and Miss Annie Chippendale is pleasing as Alice Barker.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. W. S. Pearse; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Hereford Jones.—The pictures here this week include, The Despatch Bearer, In the Days of King Richard, and The Squatter's Daughter, in addition to several amusing films. The variety artists appearing are Ida Cash, a charming operatic and character vocalist; Melford and Mars, in a vocal comedy act, The Postman and the Maid; and Bob Pearson, vocalist and guide. Good houses are the rule.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. Marsh.—On top of the programme here we have Mike S. Whallen, who scores a success with his mirth-provoking songs and patter; in a daring and sensational cycle act, the Daunton Shaw Troupe are deservedly applauded; Clark's Nippers give a clever and much appreciated turn; Eily Adair is a dainty comedienne and dancer; the McConnell Trio create great hilarity in their vocal comedy act; as a character terpischorean artist, Frances McNulty meets with a flattering reception; Orpheus, in a musical scena, entitled "The Deputy," is nightly recalled; Harry Drew, who is the possessor of a fine bass voice, has a good reception; and the Empire pictures complete the bill.

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Secretary, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—The Five Juanitos, in a remarkably clever acrobatic turn, top the bill here, and evoke loud applause; a good ballad vocalist, who gains plenty of admirers, is Yvonne Valois; and Peter Bermingham, Scotch comedian, scores with his song and patter. Nightingale and Stigant, in their doulogue, Two Sides of a Wall, contribute a mirth-provoking turn; in her imitations of music-hall artists, Ruth Molloy makes a decided hit; Derby and Dent, comedians, are a great success; Mlle. Sara is seen to advantage in several artistic poses; the Eltons, in a comedy gymnastic act, are highly amusing; Nellie Nora, in a pleasing musical performance, is well received; and the Bioscope, depicting His First Frock Coat, concludes.

ROUND ROOM ROTUNDA.—The constant change of programme here continues to attract large audiences daily. Several new pictures are shown, which are both interesting and amusing, and are heartily enjoyed. In addition, the artists who take part in the variety entertainment include Mr. Patrick O'Shea (tenor), Miss Daisy Buckley (contralto), Mr. William Sheehan (baritone), and Mr. Will Mordaunt (humorist and guide).

PAVILION, KINGSTOWN.—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler and Sutton; Manager, Mr. Jack Macdermott.—Mr. J. F. McCormack appeared here before a large audience on Monday, when the famous tenor sang "The snowy-breasted pearl" in exquisite style, and was loudly encored. He was ably supported by Miss Bertie Scholefield, Mr. Charles Reita, and Miss Maud Wright, all of whom were a pronounced success. On Tuesday evening Messrs. Adeler and Sutton's vaudeville company opened to a good house, and were well received. Mr. Chapman, baritone, was heard to advantage in several popular numbers; Mr. Arthur Aldridge, an excellent tenor, was warmly appreciated; Frank Hook, comedian, kept the audience in the best of humour; Martin and Browner are a capital pair of duologue artists; Clifford Grey is a good patter comedian; and Mr. Forshaw Kershaw, solo pianist and accompanist, is also deserving of mention.

WORLD'S FAIR AND MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The following artists are appearing here this week:—The Percys, duettists and dancers; Marion Blake, descriptive vocalist; Harry Rose, comedian and dancer; Edie Greene, soprano vocalist; Tom Casey, comedian and whistler; and Nellie and Billy, harmonising duettists; the Cinematograph also doing duty.

DUDLEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. Maurice Clement; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. Tilley.—Messrs. Armadale and Warren's company, in the sensational drama, The Face at the Window, opened to a grand house on Monday. Plenty of good fun is infused into the parts of Peter Pottlebury and Babette, rendered respectively by Mr. Henri Stewart and Miss Louie Lonora.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred H. Anderson; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. H. Waters.—Albos, wire equilibrist, is proving a strong attraction; Lee and Kingston, in their sketch, A Resourceful Lover, make the house ring with laughter; the Zano Brothers are responsible for a clever and amusing horizontal bar act; Earl and Hylton, comedians and whistlers, are well received; two clever artists are Mueller and Coyne, in a comedy act; George Donn is a lively comedian and dancer; and the Bonanzas, staircase equilibrists, are an enjoyable turn.

DUMFRIES.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. W. Payne Seddon.—This house reopened on Monday with Miss Loie Esmond's company in The Sorrows of Satan. Miss Edward Neville as Prince Lucia was well-nigh perfect; and Mr. F. D. Howard as Geoffrey Tempest was also excellent. Miss Rosie Neville as Lady Sybil Elton was all that could be desired; and the rest of the company lent good support.

DUNFERMLINE.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. W. E. Potts.—The Great Serpentello and an all-star vaudeville company are providing the bill of fare here. Serpentello gives a clever, and, at the same time, sensational contortionist turn; Miss Rosie Bell, a dainty comedienne, takes well; Abalo and Hurst contribute a smart pantomimic comedy act; Ruhart, assisted by La Belle Rosalind, in a novel burlesque on vaudeville, deservedly comes in for appreciation; Bello and Bright, comedy artists, are very good; the farcical sketch, Outwitted, is highly entertaining; and Princess Pauline contributes one of the most enjoyable and successful items of the bill. Young Sharkey gives a clever demonstration of wrestling.

EASTBOURNE.—PIER PAVILION THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. George Hayes.—Mr. Frank Curzon's company commenced a three nights' engagement with My Mimosa Maid before a crowded audience on Monday. Miss Marie Studholme, pretty and fascinating, acts brightly and sings very tastefully as Paulette; Miss Ruby Gray, possessed of a charming voice, does excellent duty as Marcelle; Miss May Garstang is a handsome, effective Mme. de Pilaine; and Miss Mabel Hirst is an active, enlivening Popitte. Mr. Charles McNaughton is a great success, and both as sweep and millionaire, Victor, he keeps the fun humming; Mr. Charles E. Paton, too, is an invaluable help as Max in causing laughter; Master Archie McCaig, small, smart, and funny, is a favourite as Bock; Mr. Percy Carr sings, acts, and looks well as Emile Gerrard; Mr. Arthur Jackson contributes very commendable work as the waiter, Groue; Mr. E. Skinner is a happy broker, Boss; and Mr. John Goldsworthy and Mr. L. Winter share much praise due to them as officers of the Zouaves. Amasis is billed for the latter half of the week. On Tuesday afternoon the Clifford Essex Pierrots gave their successful entertainment. Messrs. Arthur and Mills's Pierrots continue their attractive performances in the Pier bandstand, and the new artists include Miss Sybil St. Elmo, whose fine soprano voice is much appreciated, Mr. Dolf Wheeler, who reaches the audience with his cleverly-rendered songs, and Mr. Harry King, an effective comedian.

DEVONSHIRE PARK THEATRE. — Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Murray King and Clark.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company are appearing here this week in Lady Frederick. Mr. Philip Cunningham contributes some conspicuously fine and virile work as Paradine Fouldes; Mr. Herbert Garthorne is excellent as Lord Mereston; Mr. Van Ranney is a happy and effective Sir Gerald; Mr. Cecil Bevan does admirably as Captain Montgomery; and Mr. Shirley Lea is a bluff, lively Admiral Carlisle. Mrs. Brown-Potter looks well in her beautiful gowns, and plays with particularly fine results as Lady Frederick Berrolles; Miss Audrey Campbell displays much talent in the part of Lady Mereston; Miss Edith Doverell is a pretty, girlish, and attractive Rose; Miss Phyllis Manners a capital Mme. Claude; and Miss E. Nolan O'Connor a pert and vivacious Angelique. The play is preceded by The Peacemaker, capitally acted all round. The Prodigal Son was announced for the end of the week.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Sidney W. Winter; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Holloway.—The top-liners here this week are the Eight 'Varsity Girls, whose songs and dances are very cleverly given; the Brothers Dean are exceptionally fine dancers, and their whistling is an added feature; Thomas and Taylor, in their smart, clever quick-change sketch, score one of the successes of the evening; the Zampas dance well, sing, and swing bâtons ably; Clifton and Gibson are a couple of funny comedians; Miss Dorothy Sephton is a pretty and pleasing vocalist; and new pictures are shown on the Bioscope.

ECCLES. — CROWN THEATRE. — Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Manager, Mr. G. F Slatter.—An excellent performance, which is fully appreciated, is given by the Six Brothers Luck in The Demon of the Cellar, The Hermit, and Hotel Grande. The programme is concluded by amusing pictures on the Bioscope.

EDINBURGH.—ROYAL LYCEUM THEATRE, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Minshull; Acting-Manager, Mr Wm. M. Downie.—For the opening night of his autumn visit Mr. Edward Terry presented the new comedy, Fiander's Widow, in which the part of Isaac Sharpe provides the distinguished comedian with another addition to his long gallery of admirable character-studies. He was well supported by Miss Edith Coleman as the young widow, and by Mr. Edmund Hollick in the rôle of Richard Marshall; and of some half-dozen rustics who figure in the cast, Miss Sophie Lingwood and Mr. Kenneth Brampton as Mrs. Belbin and her son Sam deserve special mention. The stage setting of the Dorsetshire farm and cornfield made very pretty pictures. During the week Mr. Terry has repeated his finely pathetic delineation of the old bookseller in Liberty Hall; and of the faithful old servant in Kerry, besides reappearing in his inimitable impersonation of Dick Phenyl and Mr. Posket in Sweet Lavender and The Magistrate.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. F W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Whitehead.—Miss Nora Carton's company presented Mr. H. H. Davis's Captain Drew on Leave to a large and appreciative audience at this house last Monday evening. The comedy was delightfully acted. Miss Cynthia Brooke's charm of presence and manner, and her power of emotional expression were admirably suited to the part of Mrs. Moxon; Miss Nora Carton gave a clever study of the coquettish Miss Mills, whose heart is full of kindness; Mr. Claude King as Captain Drew made a marked impression by his bright, easy acting, as well as by the force and pathos of which he showed a command; and Mr. Tom Mowbray sustained the part of the phlegmatic Mr. George Moxon with really admirable art. Mr. Willon Cadogan as Ernest White and Mr. Gerald Venning as Mr. Chester Hassell were both excellent. The comedy, which was preceded by Cut Off with a Shilling, was received with enthusiasm by the audience, the players having to respond to numerous curtain-calls.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Aynsley Cook.—Crowded houses twice every night this week have been attracted mainly by Mr. Arthur Roberts, who appears with Miss Ruby Celeste and other capable performers in the new farcical sketch, Till Sunday. Another entertaining turn is provided by the Donaldson Brothers and their company, including Fred Weedon and Fred Hunter, with a somewhat novel burlesque sketch entitled Sports in the Jungle; and Sammy Shields creates great enthusiasm by his songs and patter. Stewart and Morgan render several Irish songs with much artistic feeling and effect; Johnson and Bert are extremely successful in the business of a duologue without many words; Arabella Allen gives very realistic impersonations of Shakespeare and Dickens characters; Jennie Johns takes the audience quite by storm in her musical scena; and lively comedian and comedienne turns are supplied by George French and by Marie Empress.

FALKIRK.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—The management have reverted to vaudeville entertainment (two houses a night) this week, and, with a strong company, the cosy little house has been filled nightly. The New Macs, comedians, dancers, and patterers, are the star line, and give general satisfaction by their original and novel entertainment. The Sisters Dobell, a pair of dainty comediennes, sing and dance to the highest appreciation of the audience; Cynthia, described as "the smallest lady star artiste in the world," fairly captivates her hearers by her clever imitations of popular artists; Les Valdons, an exceptionally smart pair of jugglers; Miss Amy Bathurst, a chic and attractive sand-dancer; and Florence Lambeth and Robert Robertson, Scotch sketch artists, complete a very fine programme. Bioscope pictures, including an excellent film of the great Marathon Race, were shown at intervals.

FARNWORTH.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr T. Morton Powell.—This week we are having a visit from Messrs. Alfred Northway and W. V. Garrod's company, in the drama A Country Girl in London. Mr. W. V. Garrod gives a manly impersonation of the part of Frank Gordon; as the German Mr. F W. Avery is responsible for a lot of fun; Mr. J. B. Sheridan as Laurie is to be commended for a capital performance; Mr. G. Norton Williams as the adventurer is thorough and convincing; and Miss Bertha Kingston in the name-part proves herself a capable actress.

GAINSBOROUGH. — KING'S THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. H. Stear.—Mr. F. R. Duberley's company of entertainers, entitled "The March Hares," appeared here on the first three nights of the week. The company consists of Mr. Maurice Harvey, Mr. Bernard Russell, Mr. Dereck Knowles, Miss Maud Jay, Miss Kathleen Severn, and Miss Florence Foster. They give a very pleasing entertainment, consisting of songs, duets, imitations, &c., and concluding with a screaming burlesque of the "modern soul-stirring melodrama." The accompaniments are tastefully played by Mr. Theo. Ward.

GLASGOW.—KING'S, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Business-Manager, Mr. H. Macfarlane.—Miss Horniman's Repertory company opened here on Monday to a large audience, in the new play by Mr. Charles McEvoy, When the Devil Was Ill. The humour and satire of the play, with its quiet hits at enervated and anæmic authors, and at the devotees of "the simple life," were heartily enjoyed. Mr. B. Iden Payne was extremely good as the author Godfrey Rawlings, who leaves the literary world and goes "back to the land"—temporarily. Mr. Charles Bibby was equally well placed as the secretary who is forced into sharing the delights and discomforts of caravan life. Miss Penelope Wheeler made a most picturesque amateur gipsy as Isobel; and her mother, Lady Mendle-Parish, was amusingly played by Miss Ada King. Mr. Jules Shaw as the Welsh schoolmaster Owen Davis; Mr. Basil Dean as the gruff gamekeeper; and Mr. Leonard Mudie and Miss Doris Horrocks in other parts, gave able support. The comedy was preceded by a play in one act, Woman's Rights, in which Miss Hilda Bruce Potter made an excellent impression. Later in the week Mr. Bernard Shaw's Widowers' Homes was played, and also David Ballard, The Return of the Prodigal, and other plays of the company's repertory.

THEATRE ROYAL, LTD. — Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Humphrys.—A strong attraction is offered this week in Mr. William Greet's elaborate production of The Sign of the Cross. It is the principal company, and is headed by Mr. Cyril Austin-Lee, who as Marcus Superbus, presents a picture of considerable power and dignity. Miss Constance Little, the Mercia, worthily upholds the traditions of the part; Mr. C. Yorke is highly successful as the despicable Nero, whose consort Poppoea is handsomely portrayed by Miss Beryl Hamilton. The part of Stephanos is filled with touching pathos by Miss Edith Drayman; and the two elderly christians, Favius and Titus, are played in admirable style by Mr. Walter Fleet and Mr. Clifton Yates. As Berenice, Miss Lily Ward acts with strong emotional effect, the gay Dacia of Miss Cissie Carlton making a suitable contrast; another attractive figure being the Ancaria of Miss Mary Newcombe. Mr. Charles Aldred gives due weight to the character of Tigellinus; and Glabrio is treated in humorous fashion by Mr. Frank Wood. The rôles of Licinius and Philodemus are well filled by Mr. J. Wetherall and Mr. Harry Jones; and the two spies are invested with much dramatic intensity by Messrs. H. T. Harris and G. W. Ruff.

ROYAL PRINCESS'S.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch.—The exciting drama called Sexton Blake, Detective, is here this week, being for the first time in this city, and is drawing crowded houses. Mr. Horace Hunter enacts the part of the detective with great acceptance, and leads on to the stage the sagacious bloodhound Pedro, which figures in the cast as his assistant. A fine character, played with great spirit by Mr. Brian Daly, is that of Farmer Blackburn, the heroic Roger being ably presented by Mr. William Felton. The stern Squire Lovell is well impersonated by Mr. Stephen Nicholls; the villainy of Randolph Lovell is powerfully rendered by Mr. Charles East; Mr. John M. East as the burglar, Simon Fagas, looks and acts the character to the life; Miss Lily Hammersley as Marjorie Lovell makes a charming heroine; and Miss Ruth Woodhous as Mrs. Blackburn is very pleasing. The fun of the play is kept brickly going by Mr. Billy Rose as Tinker and Miss Lena Delphine as Euphemia Pattacake. Miss East Robertson is a characteristic Philadelphia Kate; the Rev. Edward Gray is naturally acted by Mr. Algernon Syms; and Police-inspector Widgeon is well played by Mr. Herbert Ravenscroft.

METROPOLE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Gordon Jefferson.—The Way of the World is being presented here by Messrs. Herbert Skardon and H. Sherwood Martin's company. Cecil Hardy is admirably interpreted by Mr. J. P. McBride; Miss Nellie de Lacy makes a winsome heroine; Miss Doris Brooks brings the selfish part of Lady Adela Hardy into due prominence; and a powerful performance comes from Mr. Victor Gordon as Captain Fred Slade. Mr. Clarence Temple gives power to the part of Matthew Malyon; Mr. Pat Quinn does well as Sir John Hardy; and Joe Sparrow is made most amusing by Mr. D'Arcy Kelway, assisted by Miss Violet Vivienne as Polly Bell.

LYCEUM.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. H. Oakden.—Mr. Stanley Carlton's company is here in Arthur Shirley's London with the Lid Off. To Mr. William G. Marshall is entrusted the part of the blind burglar, and he and Miss C. E. Ballinger as Sarah Shafto are all that can be desired; Miss Amy Ellam as the Lady Detective is very popular; Miss Rubie Maude (Astra Bell) and Mr. Stanley Carlton (Rev. Allen Gordon) make the love story interesting; and the humorous parts are well looked after by Miss Emily Lewis (Dolly) and Mr Lancelot Usher (Percy Plunker).

EMPIRE. — District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager Mr. George Manners.—The star turn here is provided by Mme. Hanako, the Japanese actress, and her company, in the tragic little play, Otake, which is followed with great interest. An amusing sketch is provided by Arthur Jefferson's company in Home from the Honeymoon, and roars of laughter are continuous throughout. Alice Raymond's spectacular and musical scena, A Night in Egypt, is an excellent turn, and the operatic items given are most enjoyable. Howe and Ardie are a smart couple of knockabout gymnasts; Marie Nilsson's illustrated songs take well; Lester Bros. are neat step-dancers; and O'Malley and Brown are very amusing cross-talkers. The turn provided by Carrie Laurie's Juveniles is very good, and repeatedly encored. The bioscope shows the Olympic races and Henley; and Leslie Harris contributes musical imitations at the piano.

ZOO-HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Councillor E. H. Bostock; Assistant-Manager, Mr. E. H. A. Bostock.—Barton and Ashley top the bill here; and Will Godwin, assisted by Mrs. Godwin and their little daughter, are responsible for a nice little scena, entitled, The Little Peacemaker. An animal circus is cleverly conducted by Carl and Mary Ohm; Gladys Godwynne is a juvenile vocalist and dancer; Phillips and Merritt are clever society entertainers; Chummie La Mara is a great favourite in her latest success, "Harrigan"; Lan Denos are expert dancers; the Five X Rays, described as mad athletes, are extremely funny; and George d'Albert is also in the bill. The bioscope projects some excellent films.

PAVILION, LTD. — General-Manager, Mr. Samuel Lloyd; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Evan Good.—George Leyton's new scena, The Last Muster, proves as popular as its predecessors, and the enthusiasm evoked at the sight of the crowd of old veterans on the stage is very great. Jock Whiteford gets a hearty reception from old friends now he comes as a star, and he is provided with lots of clever songs; Gladys Mavius again proves herself a coon singer with a good style and an exceedingly neat dancer; Belman and Moore contribute a clever American comedy turn, introducing smart burlesque and impersonations; Farr and Farrland are amusing comedians and excellent banjo players; the Ellimans give an enjoyable musical turn; Albert Richmond, a new Scotch baritone, is well received in various songs; Florence Somers sings a ditty about picture post-cards with acceptance.

PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; General-Manager, Mr. Harry McKelvie.—Miss May Moore Duprez is excellently received here; the Sisters Petram are responsible for a wonderful exhibition of fantoches; Irve Hayman and Little Marie Montague appear in Xmas Eve; Lillie Soutter has catchy songs; Ted Karno and company are producing with success a farcical sketch, Dinner Hour; the Millfords are smart comedians and dancers; Winton, ventriloquist, is responsible for mirth; Percy Farrimond, singing collier from Lancashire, has a good voice. The bioscope terminates the programme.

COLISEUM.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Burdette.—The Gothams are an amusing quartette; Maud Rochez presents a variety theatre entirely controlled by monkeys, an entertainment that is thoroughly enjoyed. Another item of interest is "Makers of History," an artistic display of living statuary, designed by Albert Toft. Other notable turns include Harry Tate's company in Motoring; Bessie Butt, comedienne and dancer; Albert Letine, in character impersonations; the Three Meers, comedy wire performers; Six Lancashire Lasses, vocalists and dancers; the Schafers, in an original musical act; and the bioscope, with a series of interesting pictures.

GAIETY, LTD. — General-Manager, Mr. Harry Bowerman.—The top of the bill here is most deservedly occupied by Sydney Dooley and Charles Seymour's company, in a musical comedy in thirty minutes, by George Sheldon, entitled King for a Day. The cast included Messrs. James Newlands, Sidney Dooley, Albert Clegg, and Misses Ethel Watkins and Maidie Berker. Will Letters (as Signor Carrara) kept the fun going throughout. The staging of the piece was also worthy of mention, being quite a feature. The remainder of the programme was well sustained by The Wallys, in an eccentric juggling performance; R. C. Note, a singer of popular chorus songs; and Renson and Waite. An interesting display of Canadian scenery by the bioscope concludes.

PANOPTICON.—Proprietor, Mr. A. E. Pickard. — Moncta and Ford are very entertaining in their speciality act; and Jack Ramsay is deservedly popular; Bella Ray receives hearty appluuse for her songs; Johnnie Osborne is a clever Scotch comedian; and the bioscope is a strong item.

GLOUCESTER. — PALACE. — Messrs. Poole's Theatres, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. C. W. Poole.—Morland's Transformations, a musical and electrical quick-change performance, are very pleasing; Alfred Wellesley and Co. have a laughing hit in their sketch, Uncle's Courtship; Minnie d'Aubyn, with a capital song-scena, is greatly assisted by the audience in the refrain; Matt Wilkinson and Co are laughter-makers in the comedy sketch, On the Flip-Flap; Staffo, the juggling butcher, is expert; and Andy Fagan, comedian, successfully reappears. Haverley and Homer patter, dance, and sing neatly; and Nancy Renshaw, the laughing negress, also pays a return visit. Violet Beatrice, boy impersonator, sings two songs; and the Palacescope is interesting.

GREAT YARMOUTH. — ROYAL AQUARIUM THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—A crowded audience greeted the first performance of Miss Emma and Mr. Percy Hutchison's principal company in Mrs. Dot. In the title-rôle Miss Decima Moore gives an artistic interpretation that quite captivates the audience; the gowns worn by Miss Moore are greatly admired. Mr. Frank Lacy as James Blenkinsop hits off cleverly the "man about town"; Mr. James Geldred makes a good Gerald Halstane; Mr. Philip Leslie is excellent as Freddie Perkins; Miss Ethel Grahame is charming as Nellie Sellinger; and Miss Celia Gordon gives a clever portrayal of Lady Sellinger.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—The Mollusc is here this week. Miss Annie Hughes is charming as Mrs. Baxter, giving delicacy and point to the character; Mr. Athol Stewart gives an excellent portrayal of Tom Kemp; Mr. Wylie A. Thompson is good as Mr. Kemp; and Miss Lilias Waldegrave displayed great ability as Miss Roberts. The comedy is preceded by A Bit of Old Chelsea.

HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. George Gilbert.—The Kremo Family appear in a marvellous acrobatic performance; the Two Pherns are very pleasing; the Royal Japanese Troupe introduces some remarkably clever tricks; Leo and Ronald are expert gymnasts; Charlton is delighting everyone with his performance with the magic kettle; Addison's Terriers are well trained; Doodles and Poodles are creating a lot of fun; Ada Webb and her troupe of swimmers are very skilful; and the Bioscope displays some excellent pictures.

BRITANNIA PIER PAVILION.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. W. Nightingale; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edward Gray.—The Howard Brothers are repeating their great success of last week; Witty Wattie Walton, who has no equal in his special style, is a big favourite; Rosa Loader is a big hit as the "the slavey at the piano"; Tom Garland is a clever ventriloquist; Dancit executes some smart dances; Kate Gourlay does well as the Scotch lassie; Bert Anderson is a versatile conjurer; and the Bioscope display is as good as ever.

WELLINGTON PIER PAVILION.—Proprietors, the Great Yarmouth Corporation; Manager, Mr. Arthur Cash.—Charles Kay is a smart swell comedian, and is thrice encored for his song; Beattie Bloom sings some excellent songs; May Geraldine is a pleasing comedienne; Wisper, the comedy juggler, exhibits some ingenious tricks; Kyoto is a clever contortionist; Addie Comet is very pleasing; Beatrice Willey sings some good ballads; May Fayre is a charming comedienne; Emma Don appears in some character songs; Patty Yolo is a clever dancer; the Two Rubies present a very smart turn; and excellent pictures are exhibited on the Bioscope.

CHAPPELL'S PROMENADE CONCERT. — Proprietress, Mrs. Sarah Lawton; General Manager, Mr. Harry Barker.—The new turn here this week is Will and Roz, clever comedy jugglers.

THE GEM.—Proprietors, the Yarmouth Amusement Centre, Ltd.; Resident-Director, Mr. C. B. Cochran.—Excellent films are being displayed here this week, more especially the one illustrating Fun City at Olympia.

MINSTREL AREA.—The Dandy

nick; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. J. Colquhoun.—Alfred Graham's Juveniles, a clever set of precocious youngsters, give a finished and acceptable performance; Chas. M. Daly and company make a hit in an amusing sketch, I Must Have It; the Fitzroys submit an exceptionally clever gymnastic performance; excellent hand-balancing by Almond is cleverly accomplished; Hilda and Beatrice, in a refined musical act, and Harry Leaton, vocalist, come in for a good share of applause. The Prince Edward Bioscope shows some interesting pictures.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry L. Skivington.—Public appreciation of this latest addition to the list of places of amusement has proved great. This week Fred Karno's company provide the leading turns, and cause continuous laughter with their well-known pantomime sketches, London Suburbia and The Mumming Birds; an expert and humorous acrobatic act by the Brothers Bradshaw is much enjoyed; the Sisters Terry, vocalists, have been accorded a capital reception; Frank Boyce, actor vocalist, Joe Humphreys, comedian, and the Pictures make up a good bill.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. North.—The charming comic opera, Tom Jones, is having a very successful week here. Mr. Cyril Thompson admirably realises Fielding's hero, Tom Jones, and accomplishes excellent vocal work; Miss Margaret Stonor is altogether charming as Sophia, her singing being greatly admired; Miss Florrie Saunders makes a captivating Honour, and her vivacious style and graceful dancing are especially pleasing; Mr. George Elton gives a droll impersonation of the eccentric barber, Benjamin Partridge, which creates much laughter; Mr. Charles McLogan also gives a capital character study of the jolly old Squire Western; Mr. Michael Dwyer acts and sings well as Gregory; Miss Olive Eltono is thoroughly successful as Lady Bellaston; and others who may be mentioned are Mr. Arthur Radcliffe as Blifil and Mr. A. J. Nichols as Mr. Allworthy.

THE PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. G. Rhodes Parry.—Mr. Harry Roxbury's company is presenting the laughable musical comedies, The Prince of Monte Carlo and The Cowboy Millionaire. Each is an extremely laughable production, and the music is tuneful and admirably rendered by the company. Mr. Tubby Edlin plays the leading comedy parts. Adams and Ward appear in a smart acrobatic turn, combined with good comedy; Marguerite Ismay and her quartette of white coons give a capital vocal and dancing speciality; Ivy Proudfoot sings excellent songs in pleasing fashion; Shirley and Ransome prove capital coster impersonators in their episode, 'Arf a Quid; Lilian Rigby gives a clever instrumental act; and Hubert Davies is a successful comedian and dancer.

HALIFAX.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. William Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Miss Ellen Terry and Mr. James Carew's company were at the Royal the first three nights of this week with Captain Brassbound's Conversion, played to crowded houses. Miss Terry imbues the part of Lady Cicely Waynflete with all the naturalness and charm of manner that she possesses in a unique degree: Mr. James Carew's Captain Brassbound is an artistic performance; Mr. George Fitzgerald is a dignified and impressive Sir Howard Hallam; Mr. Story Gofton is good as the Scotch missionary, the Rev. Leslie Rankin; Mr. Max Montesole's Felix Drinkwater is an admirable character study; and all the other parts are exceedingly well played. Captain Brassbound's Conversion was followed by Variations, an interlude which gives Miss Terry and Mr. Carew ample scope to show the versatility of their histrionic powers.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Reg. H. Foster.—Harry Cotton is an eccentric comedian; Belle Graham receives applause for her "Picturosities" and "Songs and Singers"; Ellis and Watts are capable comedians and dancers; Jack Lane, the Yorkshire Rustic, is deservedly popular; Cestria is a comedy juggler and a marvellous tumbler; the Kremka Brothers are astonishing acrobats and balancers; Florrie Gallimore is as charming as ever and gains enthusiastic applause; and Carr and Rose, two capable singers, appear in a successful operatic sketch.

GRAND, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. S. Winks.—Pictures are still attracting large audiences at this house. Colonel Smyth gives a neat conjuring turn, and, in conjunction with Miss Julie Wesson, a very clever exhibition of marksmanship with rifles, revolvers, and pistols.

HAMILTON, N.B.—HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; Managing-Director, Mr. René Clayton.—The star turn here this week is Mr. Joe Peterman's company in The Belle of the Orient. The juggling of Walter Bellonini is smartly and artistically performed; Otto and Olga give a pleasing musical entertainment; George Rapley, a comedian, pleases; while Mark Hinton is on the stage the audience is kept in a ripple of laughter; the turn of Harry Rogerson takes especially well on account of its novelty; Flo Cecil scores with her song "Matilda"; Edgar Forrest's company is successful in the sketch A Great Surprise; and Dallas and Varden appear in a "poetic fantasy."

HANLEY.—ROYAL.—Proprietors, Hanley Theatres and Circus Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. G. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Douglas Elphinstone.—Large and appreciative audiences are being attracted this week by Mr. George Alexander's company in The Thief. Mr. Stephen T. Ewart as Richard is a finished actor, with a fine presence and elocutionary powers; Miss May Congdon plays Marise Chelford with ability; Mr. Gerald Ames as Raymond is sincere and telling; Miss Mary Dibley plays Isabel with distincton; and the Harry Leyton of Mr. Alfred Lugg is effective. Mr. Cyril Cattley is decidedly clever as a detective. Too Happy by Half precedes The Thief.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Hanley Theatres and Circus Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. G. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Arthur Rand.—Miss Maude Mortimer made herself such a firm favourite during the pantomime that her enthusiastic welcome on Monday was not to be wondered at. She sang four songs at each house. H. O. Wills, in his eccentric effusions; The Floradoras, in their fine dancing and vocalisation; the Marcelloni Troupe, acrobats; Johnny Holland and company, in the successful sketch The Millionaire; Florence and Lilian, in their clever musical act; Chas. Wilson, jumper; and Arthur Croxon, mimetic comedian are other attractions. Raymond's Bio-Tableaux shows a good film of the Wigan disaster.

HARROGATE.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Eric Fielding Smith.—For the first three nights of this week Mr. Geo. Dance's company appeared in Miss Hook of Holland. Miss Alice Coverick, who is remembered here, was greatly to be praised for her performance as Sally—Miss Hook; Mr. T. A. Shale, excellently placed as Mr. Hook, was rewarded with roars of laughter; Mr. Frank Crimp did well as Van Vuyt; Mr. Tom Seymour was an amusing Simon Slinks; and Mr. Geo. Mudie, jun., gave a good account of himself as Schnapps. Mr. Len Neville was an amusing Van Eck; and Miss Tattie Leonard a handsome Gretchen. For the last three nights of the week Miss Emma and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company appeared in Brewster's Millions.

THE KURSAAL. — General-Manager and Musical-Director, Mr. Julian Clifford; Assistant-Manager and Secretary, Mr. R. Eldrid.—For this week Miss Fanny Wentworth, the well-known entertainer, and Mr. Joseph Lycett are engaged.

HARTLEPOOL.—EMPRESS.—Proprietors, Messrs. Councillor Everton and J. W. Cragg; Manager, Mr. Harry Burns; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Charlie Ferrier.—Pictures still continue to delight the audiences here. The list this week contains some exceptionally interesting films, among which may be mentioned those portraying A Sister's Revenge and Saved from the Wreck; and amusement is caused by Youthful Hackenschmidts and Washing Day. The Do-as-you-please competitions still continue to be popular.

HASTINGS.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles E. Scutt.—Mr. Robert Courtneidge's company presented The Dairymaids to a crowded house on Monday. Peggy was admirably impersonated by Miss Clare Marsden, whose singing is excellent; Miss Clarice Lockstone was a pleasing Winifred; and Miss Mabel Younge acted with refinement as Lady Brudenell. Mr. Nelson Keys as Lieut. Brudenell and Mr. A. Wykes Ashdown as Lieut. Frank Meredith gained distinction; Mr. Johnny Osborne as Joe Mivens was very entertaining, and was associated with Miss Gladys Silvani as Eliza in a plethora of comic business; Miss Madge Avery made a good farcical Miss Penelope Pyechase; and Mr. J. A. Warden was a genial Dr. O'Byrne. The piece was finely staged. For Thursday Mr. George Dance's The Girls of Gottenberg company was announced.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Vivian Fisher; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Walter Norman.—An attractive programme is opened by the Sisters Du Cane, duettists and dancers. The bioscope depicts some exciting scenes. W. P. Dempsey is a good comic; the dancing and singing of Baker and De Sales is very amusing; Harry Bland, the eccentric comedian, gains applause; some classical dances are given by Mlle. Sahara, who, as Cleopatra, introduces a live snake; Dora Healey is warmly greeted as a character comedienne; and Rita and Roma are versatile entertainers.

PIER PAVILION.—General-Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter.—A variety entertainment is attracting good audiences this week. Interesting pictures exhibited by Payne's Bio-photoscope are a pleasing feature; Miss Cissie Dryden is a graceful comedienne; Madame Amy Atkins is a local soprano vocalist; the Korries introduce a drawing-room musical sketch; Miss Nellie Ganthony gives some delightful sketches at the piano; Mr. Harry Edeson exhibits wonderfully trained dogs; the five trick lady cyclists do a clever and successful turn. On Tuesday, at Mr. J. D. Hunter's Twenty-ninth Annual Benefit, extra artists volunteered their services. These included Mr. Haydn Coffin, Doroswami (the Indian Kubelik), Mr. George Blackmore, Miss Marie Schulz, and Miss Margaret Cooper. At both performances the pavilion was crowded.

BEACH CONCERT PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. George Blackmore.—A well-deserved benefit was taken on Monday by Mr. Blackmore, and good results were secured. Miss Marie Schultz is a clever comedienne, and Edith Blanchard renders her songs in excellent style.

PUBLIC HALL.—Capital support is accorded the People's Picture Palace Company, under the management of Mr. F. R. Griffiths, whose selection of animated pictures has included the great Marathon Race.

ALEXANDRA PARK.—The Borough Entertainments Association gave another illuminated fête on Wednesday with a disply of fireworks by Messrs. James Pain and Sons. Other attractions were dancing on the lawn, and alfresco concert, and Payne's Bio-Photoscope.

HORWICH.—NEW PRINCE'S.—Lessees, the Horwich Theatre Co.; Manager, Mr. R. M. White.—Mr. Campbell-Kenny's company is here in the thrilling drama A Gamble with Life. Miss Nana Cameron as Freda Haslett sustained the part capitally; Mr. George Porteous as the villain was seen to advantage; Mr. Campbell-Kenny as the hero sustained the character well, and, together with Miss Blanche Hill as the heroine, frequently brought down the house by clever acting. Mr. Fred Weston as Toby Tiffen, Mr. Tom Robertson as Kit Armstrong, and Miss Florence Spencer as Sally Tiffen capably sustained their parts.

HUDDERSFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. T. J. Phillips.—The comic opera entitled The Dandy Fifth is being played here this week by Mr. Clarence C. Corri's company. Miss Pauline Hague sings tastefully as Kate Lorrimer; Mr. Percy Baverstock makes a peppery old Colonel; and Mr. J. Edward Fraser is smart as Dick Darville. Mr. Jack Crichton works hard as Trooper Brown, and Miss Nora Morra is bright as Polly, Brown's sweetheart. There is some good part-singing by the Blue Moon Quartette, and a clever dance by Miss Sadie Thomson. The piece is well mounted and excellently dressed.

HIPPODROME, LTD.—Resident-Manager, Mr. N. M. Robinson.—At the top of the bill are the famous Elliott-Savonas, in their brilliant musical performance; also apearing are: Miss Florence, in illustrated songs; Señorita Eloine, gymnast; Forest and King, acrobatic dancers; St. Ruth and Conyers, duettists; and Miss Minnie Hunt and Rhys Thomas, in their bright little musical farce Her Birthday. An amusing film is shown on the Bioscope.

HULL.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Mortons, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. F. Morton.—Under arrangement with Miss Lena Ashwell the Monckton-Hoffe company presented Irene Wycherley at this theatre on Monday. In the title-rôle Miss Maud Henderson proved her possession of excellent emotional powers; Mr. Chas. Garry gave an intensely realistic reading of the rôle of Philip; the Muriel of Miss P. Stuckey was very well conceived; Miss Olive Warne played the heavy part with success; in the unsatisfactory rôle of Chesterton Mr. Dudley Stuart did all that was required; the Sir Peter of Mr. Ralph Hutton was a conscientious effort; Miss Muriel Carmel did fairly as Linda; and adequate support was given by Mr. Chas. Haviland, Misses Grace Illingworth, and Evelyn Cecil. The Lady and the Scamp was the curtain-raiser.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. Morton; Manager, Mr. Tom Bogue.—The dramatic season at this house opened on Monday with Karno's His Majesty's Guests, the Sergeant Lightning being Mr. Geo. Hestor, who causes unlimited laughter. Miss Aggie Morris continues to make the most of her part. The entertainment runs as briskly as ever it did.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Morton's, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Geo. Morton.—Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's striking play A Soldier's Honour is fetching the people to the Alexandra this week, as it possesses all those elements which are beloved by the patrons of this playhouse. As Doreen Miss E. Barton plays the part with considerable skill; Miss Carlotta Anson is a capital Cora Lee, and realises to the full all her opportunities. The Captain Deane of Mr. Jerrold Ord is a striking piece of work; Mr. J. Ellis is a fine Captain Temple; and Miss Ellie Macklin is a talented comedienne.

ILKESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers.—It's Never Too Late to Mend is the attraction this week, the players being the company of Mr. Fred Granville. Mr. E. Howard Templeton as Tom Robinson presents a capital performance; Mr. V. W. Carlyle as George Fielding exhibits ability; Mr. Charles F. Johnson's Rev. Francis Eden meets with marked approbation; Messrs. Harry Cave (Peter Crawley), W. R. Wilson (Mr. Hawes), and Henry C. Ward (Mr. Meadows) are quite at home in their respective spheres; Mr. Leonard Marshall gives a quaint reading of Jackey; and Miss Gertrude Entwistle wins high opinions for her representation of Susan Merton.

INVERNESS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. Burgess.—Mr. and Mrs. Durward Lely and company began a three-nights engagement here on Monday in The Bonnie Brier Bush. Mr. Durward Lely gave an effective representation of the Rev. John Carmichael; Mr. George Hunter dramatically played the part of the Highland sheep farmer; Mrs. Durward Lely was a charming Kate Carnegie; the part of Flora was in the capable hands of Miss Georgina P. Clifford; and Mr. Clive Wood did well as Lord Hay. The Village Doctor was admirably depicted by Mr. Lowe Mackenzie; and Posty, the letter carrier, was well acted by Mr. Harry Egan.

IPSWICH.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Mr. Robert Macdonald's company, in The Dairymaids, paid a return visit for the first three nights of this week. Mr. H. F. Maltby and company occupied the house for the last three nights.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; Manager, Mr. Stead.—The chief item in the bill this week is a romantic musical sketch, in which the Hungarian actor-vocalist, Jan Rudenyi, appears; the Five Whiteleys are popular in their acrobatic performance; Ernest Rees is amusing in his patter songs; and Henry Curwen and Marie Bell are clever burlesque performers. Ritter and Foster are eccentric dancers of considerable talent; "Jimson's Pets at Home" show the effect of careful training; Harry Taylor and Charles Vincent are amusing comedians; and the Bioscope concludes.

JARROW.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Rex Sugden.—Mr. Harry Foxwell's company is here with a powerful drama, entitled An Abandoned Woman. Miss Ruth Zillwood gives an excellent rendering of the part of Ninon Malvoisin; and Mr. W. Fraser Brunner plays that of Phillipe Malvoisin with force. Mr. Herbert M. King gives a manly portrayal of Captain Herbert Seaton; and Miss Nellie Thorne-Hallam is well-nigh perfect in the rôle of Eleanor Deane. Miss Fraser Brunner is very good as Sally Sloper; Mr. T. Myles makes an ideal Paddy Boyle; and Sammy Sharpe is in the capable hands of Mr. V. Garnet Vayne.

JERSEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. E. Marris; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stanley Hope.—Zaro and Arno are proving a great attraction here this week; they are highly entertaining, and their performance on the double horizontal bars could not easily be surpassed. Great Scott gives a marvellous equilibristic act whilst juggling on an unsupported ladder; of the ladies, Jenny Gray is a most attractive and daintily gowned acrobatic dancer; and Bella Harcourt is a chic comedienne. Other turns are Alf. Drinkwater, comedian; Morelli and Moore, in a speciality act; Jack Binks, vocal comedian; Sam Stern, instrumentalist; and Jack Hamilton, patterer and dancer.

ODDFELLOWS' HALL.—Poole's Myriorama, under the management of Mr. J. Wolseley Poole, continues to draw crowded houses here.

TRIANGLE PARK.—The Æolians remain another week. The band of the 1st East Surreys is also an attraction.

KEIGHLEY.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. R. Kendal; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Carson.—Messrs. Edward Lloyd and Frank Adair are this week presenting the old favourite drama Man to Man. It is excellently staged and played, and is proving a strong attraction, judging by the crowded audiences. Mr. Edward Lloyd gives a highly finished impersonation of George Gordon; Mr. Frank Adair is one of the coolest villains imaginable, and his Richard Ellerton is capitally played; Mr. Clifford Bown succeeds in making the part of Bill Burkely prominent, and creates roars of laughter; Mr. A. Val Shame sustains the part of the mad parson in an effective manner; a humorous performance of Samuel Plumtree is given by Mr. Bruce Williams; Matthew Ellerton is well played by Mr. H. Holland; Miss Phyllis Oakley is seen to advantage as Ned Doyle; Miss Adeline Lester scores as Miss Lavinia Dove; Miss Louie Adair is a great favourite, and her Ethel Maythorne is attractive and clever.

KETTERING.—AVENUE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Payne.—Miss Bonwin Carlton's company is here in The Old, Old Story. Mr. Edward Surrey gives a fine rendering of the character of Grimshaw; and Mr. J. P. Drydan is successful as James Marlow. The excellent comedy of Mr. C. Wilson as Bobby Blossom is much appreciated; as is also the charming acting of Miss Carlton as Tilly. Jo and The Plucky Nipper are billed for the end of the week.

KIRKCALDY.—HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. G. W. Walker.—The Hippodrome has reopened for the season under new management. Mr. Walker, the enterprising manager of the local Pavilion, having taken over this house. A full house greeted the opening on Monday night. At the head of an excellent bill are Mr. Emlyn Jones and the Daughters of Britain, who render in good style and harmony many popular airs; next place is held by the Avrignys, who in their clever juggling act have a great reception; first favourite is Mr. Jack Hayworth, comedian, his song "Toronto" making a huge success; the Boccaccios are responsible for a smart musical turn, particularly noticeable being Signor Francia, with the mandoline; the Ten Dixie Girls present a very pretty turn; and Mr. James Lover is a successful mimic. Some effective pictures are shown by the bioscope.

ADAM SMITH HALL.—Proprietors, The Kirkcaldy Corporation. — Messrs. Walker and Co., of cinematograph fame, are occupying the hall, and are giving a fine display of pictures. Smart turns are also given by the Musical Bentleys (instrumentalists), the Merry Mannikins (marionettes), and Mr. Duffton Scott (Scotch humorist).

LANCASTER.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. J. Porter and W. J. Fergusson.—The Toreadors, burlesque bull fighters, supply the star turn, and are well received; Les Trois Delaries are clever trapeze artists; the Raymond Trio supply a pleasing musical act; Walter Wade, in "Patsy Burke," causes roars of laughter; and Les Uniques electric ladder performers, are very good; James Lowrey, singing furnaceman; Mollie Seymour, comedienne; and the Hippograph complete the bill.

LEEDS.—GRAND THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. Wynn Miller.—Sherlock Holmes is making a welcome return visit. Mr. Hamilton Stewart's company is a most capable one—Mr. Stewart himself playing the strenuous name-part in a masterly and convincing manner. The villainous Moriarty is depicted in clever style by Mr. Robert Gilbert; Mr. Mark D. Draper is very effective as the scoundrelly Larrabee; whilst his female partner in crime is a very satisfactory effort by Miss Edith Vogne; and Miss Elsie Goulding is to be complimented on a sympathetic conception of the rôle of Alice Faulkner.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General-Manager, Mr. R. Ernest Liston.—That very popular melodrama, Woman and Wine, is once more delighting full houses at this theatre. Miss Cissie St. Elmo evinces considerable ability and versatility in the central part of Marcel Rigadout; the victim of her wiles, Dick Seymour, is a capital portrayal by Mr. E. Vivian Edmonds; whilst as the heroine, Mary Andrews, Miss Violet Sims contributes a sympathetic character-study. A portrayal of much merit is also that of Mr. J. Milne Taylor, who appears as Hugh Seymour, Dick's blind father.

EMPIRE PALACE, LTD.—District-Manager, Mr. T. Gerald Morton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Alex. Galley.—The Russian giant Machnow is on show here, and his appearance arouses vast interest; that clever comedian Phil Ray is again immensely and deservedly popular; some acceptable vocal and musical comedy by Callahan and St. George is particularly well received; Mlle. Eldee poses very successfully; Will English again scores with a grotesque comedy turn; the Barton and Franklin Trio are doing a neat musical act; and Harry Rogers and company please with a novel speciality. A successful appearance is also made by the Eight College Girls, Hans and Lux, and the Seven Wulfrunas.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Wood; General-Manager, Mr. Chas. Bush.—The Four Regals are the leaders here, their amazing feats of strength in a well-conceived speciality eliciting much applause; Claude Feldman's Juveniles score in song and dance; Wright and Lawson are well to the fore with acceptable comedy; Texas Hattie performs clever feats on the tight-rope; Beau Ideal makes a successful appearance; and the Three Brothers Curran have an amusing boxing act. The programme also includes good turns by Dan Robans, the Sages, Arthur Andrews, and Tiger Lily.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Thos. Barrasford.—Edward Clark presents his Winning Widows in a clever speciality, which is well received; The Lady Jockey is also an entertaining musical speciality; whilst Ernest Montefiore and company again achieve success with that effective playlet, The Little Colonel. Starr and Leslie are again high in popular favour; a lively turn by the Riotous Trio goes well; and Schiavoni's acrobats are also a prominent line. The Brilliants present a clever xylophone speciality, and of the remainder Jack Rae and Maud Prenton are particularly good.

CITY VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Wood; General-Manager, Mr. J. C. Whiteman; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. Jones.—Ferguson and Mack are a strong attraction here, their hilarious specialty being well received; J. W. Hall leads the comedians in great style; Woolmer Young is also having a good week; Maxwell and Francis, a pleasing vocal comedy pair, repeat previous successes; and Henderson, the musician, nightly gets a rousing reception.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business-Manager, Mr. Charles Hermann.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's excellent company is paying a welcome return visit with the delightful comedy Peter's Mother, which is both staged and played in a manner deserving of special commendation. Miss Lilias Earle is conspicuous with a fine appreciation of the part of Lady Mary Crewys, and as John Crewys Mr. Eille Norwood leaves nothing to be desired; Mr. Vivian Gilbert is very good as Peter; and Mr. Townsend Whitling as Timothy Crewys, Miss Mary Griffiths as Lady Belstone, Miss Josephine Rae as Miss G. Crewys, Mr. Walter Russell as Canon Birch, Mr. Joseph Jephson as Dr. Blundell, and Miss Hilda Sims as Sarah are others who portray their respective parts most successfully. The one-act farce Turtle Doves precedes. Mr. Henry Tweedie is the business-manager for the company.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business-Manager, Mr. E. R. Beaumont.—The boards are held this week by Miss Winifred Chalmers' company with the drama The Master Criminal. In the title-rôle Mr. Henry Osmond plays with his well-known ability; and Miss Winifred Chalmers as Cecile is also deserving of high eulogium; Mr. J. C. Carlyle is most successful as Ben Beaudy; Mr. Edward Avinal is excellent as Philip Manners; and Miss Violet Lytton is also good as Mabel Manners. Miss Frances Trevelyan plays and sings capitally as Wilfred Manners; Miss Mabel Tremere is vivacious as Peggy Perks; and both Mr. Charles Tolcher as Gentleman Jim and Mr. Harry Cooke as Tommy Dale create much laughter, and render their songs with much acceptance. For Friday Oliver Twist was presented.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. S. Buccleuch.—Whit Cunliffe, a first-class light comedian, well maintains his great popularity on a return visit with new and old favourite songs; Ernest Ch. Gittins presents with great success his delightful military sketch The Daughter of the Regiment, in which Mdlle. Adele Prescott as Marie is seen and heard to considerable advantage; Mabel Bardine and Co. are extremely good in their thoroughly interesting dramatic playlet Nell of the Halls, in which Miss Bardine shines as Nell, an actress; the Maples create plenty of merriment in their comedy skit How to Treat a Burglar; Harry May Hemsley is clever and versatile as a caricaturist and child impersontor; Andie Burns scores a success in song, story, and dancing extraordinary; Ethel Whiteside and "those piccaninnies," Mena Brae, vocal comedienne, and Ray Maskell, comedienne and dancer, are also entertaining. The Bioscope is a feature with a magnificent view of the Franco-British Exhibition.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Joe Lawrence.—The principal attraction this week is Scottie's Operatic Waifs and Strays in their pathetic appeal The Cry of the Children; Whizzing the Whirl, the roley-poley pillow fight, is introduced by Dana Royal, in connection with which a competition is being held; La Belle Maie gives a graceful and clever performance on the wire; the Four Sonatas score a well-deserved success in music, song, and terpsichore; Chas. F. Best gives a clever and amusing contortionist act; Lack and Ford are capital comedy acrobats; Maud Stockelle is a capital comedienne and dancer; Walter H. Pallister's Bioscope, as usual, is a special feature with the Tramp's Daughter and An Attractive Catch; and Josephine Crook sings a couple of illustrated songs.

THE EMPIRE.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Company: Acting-Manager, Mr. C. A. Hurley.—The principal pictures in an amusing and instructive entertainment here include The Physician of the Castle, The Ringmaster's Wife, The Woodcutter, Fire Fighters, Poor Aunt Matilda, A Comedy Error, and Thief by Necessity, which are interspersed with turns by Ernie Francis, a popular vocal comedian, and John Naylor, vocalist. The eleventh singing competition is taking place this week.

LEIGH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Cragg; Resident-Manager, Mr. Wallace Childs.—Mr. James Bell's company is paying a visit here this week in The Idol of Paris. Mr. Charles Stafford submits a clever and finished portrayal of Victor Cashelle; Miss Annie Bell furnishes a charming and touching portraiture of Flare-Flare; Mr. Wilson Howard makes an accomplished and persuasive villain of Phillipi d'Esterre; Miss Beatrice Fitzhugh is very successful as Mme. Sancterre; and Mr. Gordon Robey ably enacts the rôle of Prince Sergius Zoresky. The remaining parts are all well filled.

ASSEMBLY ROOMS.—Lessees, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Walker; Manager, Mr. J. Frank Walker.—The Sovereign Animated Picture Co., replete with dramatic, instructive, sensational, and comedy subjects still draw crowded houses. The special film depicts scenes from the local colliery disaster at Abram.

LINCOLN.—ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Payne Seddon and Ernest Pope.—Mr. Geoffrey Fulton's company, presenting A Girl Redeemed from Sin, paid a very successful three nights' visit, opening on Monday. Miss Olive Fulton gained the entire interest of the audience as Nancy Lee, and Mr. Clinton Baddeley's villain was a strong impersonation. Miss Ada Oxley, in a North Country dialect part, was extremely amusing. The Girl Behind the Counter (Mr. F. Mouillot's company) is billed for the remainder of the week.

PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. R. R. Black.—Mr. Sydney Mason, Miss Theresa Moore, and their company present a powerful miniature melodrama, The Usurer; the Vyponds, with music and song, score well; and the Forsyths have an attractive novelty in The Tramp in the Nursery. Estrella's dances are specially smart; Jock Walker is a taking Scotch comedian; the Sisters Edwardes are successful as singers, dancers, and drummers; Billie Burford is a taking comedian; and Raymond's Bio Tableux again furnish a much-appreciated selection of pictures.

LIVERPOOL.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Lawrence.—Here this week we have had Miss Hook of Holland on a return visit, the company sent by Mr. George Dance being an excellent one. Mr. Arthur Reynolds proved a most amusing Hook, speaking his lines with a mock gravity that provoked continuous laughter; Mr. Fred Hobbs looked well as Captain Paap, and, possessed of a capital voice, sang "Soldiers of the Netherlands" with plenty of "go"; Mr. Powis Pinder did every justice to the part of the bandmaster; as Schnapps Mr. Percy Davidson proved satisfactory; in the keeping of Mr. Fred Lyne the rôle of Simon Slinks was handled to the utmost advantage; Miss Mabel Sealby extracted a deal of fun out of Nina, and won encores for her "petticoat" song; and Miss Marie Wilson acted gracefully as Miss Hook, her vocal efforts being cordially appreciated. The comedy was charmingly mounted, and went with a swing that was altogether refreshing.

SHAKESPEARE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr Wentworth Croke; Manager and Secretary, Mr. John Gaffney.—Happy Hooligan, an American production, made its first appearance here this week. The company sent by Mr. Herbert Lloyd is a large one, and is advertised as consisting of forty people, mostly girls. All the characters are humorous.

ROTUNDA THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery.—Mr. C. Watson Mill's company has been here during the week with A Warning to Women. Miss Lillian Herries showed high talents in the important part of Moira Kennion, and carried her audience with her; Mr. Leonard Lawrence made a powerful Dr. Marcus Dread; Mr. William Vane as Shaun earned distinction; and other well-held rôles were those of Fergus McNaughton (Mr. Charles O'Connor), Squire Kennion (Mr. Henry Rutland), Mike McQuade (Mr. Oscar Power), Molly O'Moore (Miss Edith Rutland), and Shelia Kennion (Miss Winifred Rutland).

STAR THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg.—Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company have held the boards here this week with At Cripple Creek. Mr. Wernham Ryott made an able Joe Mayfield; Miss Constance Elgin gave a satisfactory representation of Dynamite Ann; Mr. Will Hook was a humorous Reggie Harwood; Mr. Reginald Harley-West, in the rôle of Wahketah, showed ability; and other well-drawn characters were those of Martin Mason by Mr. Charles E. Johnson, Manuel Alveray by Mr. Roy Jackson, Ben White by Mr. Charles A. Preece, Maggie Mason by Miss Daisy Carlton, and Sarah Lively by Miss Norah Dillon.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace Cole.—Heading the bill here this week is Miss Louie Freear, who, supported by a company, delighted everybody with the merry farce, Snooks; Tom Foy and company were also responsible for endless laughter in the absurdity, The Yorkshire Lad in London; Mlle. Celia Galley, a vivacious and humorous artist, pleased with several vocal parodies; Ernie Mayne had a hearty reception for his oddities; Conan and Doyle, comedians and dancers, were as diverting as ever; Bonnie Goodwin's Piccaninnies gave a smart dancing act; and others in the list were Maud Laverne, burlesque actress; Lola Patey, comedienne; and the Three Brothers Huxter, leapers.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred Granville.—Fred Karno's extravaganza, Saturday to Monday, has been here this week.

LYRIC.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold.—Topping the bill here we have had the Six Brothers Luck with the screamingly funny pantomime, Lift-ems, Ltd., which delighted everybody; a particularly smart couple of youngsters, named Beattie and Babs, gave a song and dance scena, entitled A Pavement Rehearsal; Lozelle had an elegant and novel speciality act; Sidney Dooley's Monte Carlo Girls showed talent as vocalists and dancers; Oliver Conroy proved a quaint patter comedian; some clever and bewildering second-sight work was gone through by the Days; Bert Terrill had several funny Dutch songs; and Alice Maude pleased as a juvenile male impersonator.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Walter Hassan.—So great has proved the success of Lafayette, the American illusionist and conjurer, that he has been retained for another week. On Monday he presented for the first time in Europe a pantomime spectacle, entitled A Lion's Bride, an exciting episode. He also amused greatly with his burlesque impersonation of famous band conductors. Rosie Elliott obtained a very cordial reception for her popular songs; Addie Dorina had a smart protean act, Dr. Spot's Patients, during which she made several quick changes; Diana Hope and company pleased with their society episode, Her Good Name; Tom E. Hughes amused greatly; a clever gymnastic act was presented by Ajax and George; and the Three Rubys, speciality artists, also appeared.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole.—Sons of the Sea has been played here by the stock dramatic company, the principal rôles being in the keeping of Messrs. D. G. Noble, Cecil Ravenswood, Sydney Grant, E. D. Allen, Leo Montgomery, Robb Wilton, and the Misses Florence Cameron, Florence Palmer, and Lilian Radbourne. Mr. Anthony Brown's bioscope had the latest pictures.

WESTMINSTER.—Lessee, Mr. Fred E. Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Montgomery.—Here this week Stacy and Williams, a capable pair of comedians, have appeared, in addition to the excellent cinematograph pictures.

OLYMPIA.—District-Manager, Mr. Albert Bulmer; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Wighton.—La Milo and Cruickshank have headed the programme here this week. Will H. Fox brought his latest lumps of fun; the droll Bros. Griffiths made their audience scream with laughter; James Edie and Cissie Ramsden submitted a neat musical duo, Charlie's Visit; some remarkable work was gone through on the horizontal bar by the Brothers O'Brien; pretty and clever was the turn done by the Proveanies, lady trick cyclists; Alice Maydue delighted her audience with her witticisms; and also in the list were Grace Merton, vocalist, and Monie Mine, vocalist and dancer.

PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Manager, Mr. Henry Hearn.—Madge Grey, a dainty comedienne and raconteuse, was foremost here this week, and afforded general satisfaction; A. Payen showed himself to be a remarkable gymnast; a smart farce, The Sleep Walker, came from Walter Ellis and company; Fred S. Peake and company, subm

Cecil Toft, Mr. Neil Hardy kept the audience in a constant state of hilarity. Messrs. Howard Lawrence, Horace Hillerby, and W. Shaw Hutchinson contribute to the general mirth. Miss May Gibson sings sweetly as Peggy, and gives a very natural performance; Miss Ray Watson is vivacious as Flossie Kixie; and as Angelina, Miss F. Adameon meets all requirements. The large chorus is elegantly dressed and exceptionally well trained.

LOWESTOFT.—Marina.—Manager, Mr. E. A. Smith.—This week Mr. Mouillot's company are presenting for the first time locally The Girl Behind the Counter. The various characters are ably portrayed, and mention should be made of the fine work of the Misses Gracie Moore (Winnie Willoughby), Irene Vere (Millie Mostyn), Irene Lavington (Susie), Winifred Knightley (Lady Willoughby), and Eileen Clanford (Ninette). Messrs. Clark Chadwick (General Willoughby), Fredk. Park (the office boy), Geoffrey Allsopp (Rudolph), Sam Lockridge (Chas. Chelwyn), and Ferris Pounds (Viscount Cushington) also add to the general success.

Hippodrome.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Gilbert; Manager, Mr. Frank Freeland.—A packed audience (about 3,500) witnessed a capital variety programme here on Monday, the general excellence of this popular house of entertainment being thoroughly maintained. The British Biograph Co. are nothing if not up to date, and a very fine film by Gaumont depicting the recent successful Gorleston pageant aroused the greatest interest, in addition to which we have another instructive pictorial subject, A Tour Through Rome, which is submitted with remarkable clearness and effect. The variety portion of the somewhat lengthy programme includes Henri Cazman, who is exceedingly clever in his Le Café Chantant act; Florence Gayman, in coon song and dance; Marlow and Manton, in a funny sketch, Other People's Babies; and Lily and Elsie Judge, with their wonderful performing cockatoos, which make up a pleasing and delightful entertainment. The British Biograph Co., as usual, is under the experienced eye of Mr. Fred Gilbert.

LUTON.—Grand Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. E. Graham Falcon; Manager, Mr. Louis J. Beard.—Mr. Hallatt has brought his romantic drama Two Little Sailor Boys, which, to judge by its reception on Monday, is very successful. Mr. Herbert is admirable as Commander Tregarthen, R.N., D.S.O.; and Miss Blanche Steele, as Lola Grey, is all that can be desired. The scenery and effects are adequate.

MACCLESFIELD.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. W. K. Gatley.—Mr. and Mrs. Eustace Day and company are presenting here For Love of a Woman in a manner deserving of much praise. Miss May Day acted with grace and distinction as Nance; Ned Merrick finds a clever exponent in Mr. Arthur Chisholm; and the rascally Guy Manor is faithfully drawn by Mr. Fred Lloyd. Miss Elsie Shelton enacts the part of Marjory Hulme to perfection; Miss Dorothy Routh wins admiration for her sympathetic interpretation of Nell Paget; Miss Eva St. Vincent powerfully delineates Jane Manor; Allen Paget is played by Mr. Eustace Day in a dignified manner; and the comic element is well supplied by Mr. Chas. Ninian as Major Hulme and Mr. Leonard Harrison as Albert St. Everamond, ably assisted by Mr. Fred Ramsdale as Sam Holland.

MAIDENHEAD.—Town Hall.—Secretary, the Town Clerk.—On Monday and Tuesday, Miss Maggie Morton's company played The Old Folks at Home, a drama full of human interest. As Andrew Ross, Mr. Ernest Duval, by his straightforward and manly style, quickly gained the sympathies of the audience; Miss Clare O'Sullivan was well suited as Dorothy; and Mr. W. E. White was successful as Hugh Lovell. Mr. Fred Lilywhite and Miss Beatrice Annersley made a typical farmer and his wife; Mr. Charles Coleman and Miss Frances May cleverly depicted the scoundrel and adventuress; and Mr. F. M. Wright as Ben Jolly and Miss Marie Angus were responsible for the comedy. Miss Inez Howard's company, with Her Love Against the World, was billed for Friday.

MAIDSTONE. — Palace. — Manager, Mr. S. Baskerville.—A good programme is headed by Miss Nellie Wallace, a comedienne with original methods, whose humour appeals to the risible faculties of her audience in no uncertain manner; the Brothers Bright, clever athletes, on a return visit, are as popular as ever; Miss Lilian gives a clever cycling act; Haig and Novel are smart comedy tumblers; and others appearing are Miss Ethel Donna, comedienne; Jack Neil, Scotch comedian, with a stock of funny tales; Miss Sylvie Lonsdale, entertainer at the piano; and Ernest Clifford, a clever dancer.

MANCHESTER. — Theatre Royal.—Lessees, The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edmondstone Shirra.—Mr. J. Bannister Howard this week presents Mr. George Musgrove's chief company in The Belle of New York, which seems to have lost little or none of its power to attract and entertain. Mr. Frank Lawton, in his original part of Blinky Bill, is still a conspicuous member of the cast, and his whistling performance in the second act is considerably appreciated. Miss Hebe Kneller plays Violet Gray quite charmingly; Mr. Arthur Ricketts as Ichabod Bronson shows a fine sense of humour; Mr. James A. Watts is well placed as Harry Bronson, and Miss Dorothy Doria gives a sympathetic reading of Fifi; Mr. Joe. R. Tate as the Polite Lunatic, Mr. Alec Godfrey as Kenneth Mugg, Miss Minnie Brown as Cora Angelique, Mr. William Hartigan as Doc Saifkins, and Miss Florence Hersee as Mamie Clancy all contribute much to the admirable effect achieved by this clever company.

Prince's Theatre.—Proprietors, The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Lee.—A powerful attraction is provided here by Mr. Robert Courtneidge's company in The Dairymaids. The cast includes Miss Phyllis Dare, who repeats the success gained on her previous visit in the part of Peggy; while a welcome re-appearance is made also by Mr. E. Statham Staples as Lieut. Sam Brudenell and Mr. Fred Leslie, junr., as Lieut. Frank Meredith; Mr. Percy Marshall plays Dr. O'Bryne in a natural and humorous style, and Mr. Harry Dent as Joe Mivens fulfils all the comic requirements of that exacting rôle in the manner of a genuine comedian. Miss Lottie Sargeant adds a smart piece of character comedy as Eliza, and clever and pleasing impersonations of Winifred and Lady Brudenell are given by Miss Gladys Ivery and Miss Edith Blanche. All the remaining parts are neatly and brightly handled, and the whole forms one of the most delightful of musical comedy entertainments.

Royal Osborne Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Mason.—This theatre was re-opened on Monday with a return visit of Mr. Morton Powell's company in When It Was Dark. The chief successes in a powerful cast are Miss Ethel Griffies as Gertrude Hunt and Mr. Wilfred Lindon as the Rev. Basil Gortre, both of these playing with remarkable effect; but very good work is done also by Mr. Haldane Dalton as Constantine Schwabe and Mr. Charles Brandon as Sir Robert Llewellyn; while great credit is due to Mr. John R. Rogers as the Rev. Mr. Byars, Miss Marie Barrett as Helena Byars, and Mr. A. Collingham as Harold Spence. The scenery is excellent.

Grand Junction Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Hewitt. — Messrs. Paumier and Howard's company are here this week, for the first time out of London, in The Prince and the Beggar Maid, which was enthusiastically received by a full house on Monday night. The acting of Mr. Ernest Cox as Prince Olaf and of Miss Ethel Bracewell as Monica was alone sufficiently excellent to ensure success; but their admirable efforts were finely supplemented by others, notably Mr. Alfred Brandon as the villainous Prince Hildred, Mr. Melville Bulford as Prince Michael, Mr. W. Staine Mills as Captain Hector, Mr. Reginald Payne as Lieut. Karl, and Misses Gertrude Branscombe and Jessica Black as Camiola (the Beggar Maid) and Viola. The dresses and scenery are exceptionally pretty.

Metropole Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. Andrew.—Martin Conway, the popular comedian, is the chief attraction here this week, and is as funny as ever; the Szarvaci Ferencz Troupe are accomplished singers and acrobats; Princess Pocahuntas possesses a sweet voice and is well received; and great praise is due to the Three Royal Temples, including Madame Louie Gilbert, operatic vocalists; George Young, blind musician, takes well; whilst Rousby and Rene, sketch artists, the Four Bruns, clever jugglers, Angelina, in mat juggling act, the Camerons, in an amusing duologue, Frances Harlow, comedienne and dancer, and Elliott and Warner, in novel duo scena, all contribute to an excellent all-round programme.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Holt.—Top of the bill here this week is Niel Kenyon, whose success seems to increase with every re-appearance, and Marie Kendall, the popular comedienne, occupies the second place of honour with her usual vivacious "go." Little Ganty is distinctly funny, as usual; Les Martinelis give a wonderful novelty act, The Rag Doll; and other pleasing turns are Madge May, comedienne; the Three Lloyds, marvellous cable acrobats; J. A. Wilson and Private Towser; Kate Trail, in refined songs at the piano; and Steve McCarthy, comedian and expert dancer.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Resident-Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—A tabloid version of Davy Garrick, excellently presented by Hubert Carter (in the title-rôle) and a good company, is one of the attractions here this week. In this Mrs. Calhaem is specially successful as Araminta; George Gilbey as Spouty, the goal-keeper, is highly amusing; and a graceful cycling act of great merit is gone through by the Dunedin Troupe. Other excellent items are offered by May Henderson, the well-known coon artist; Pip Powell and Katie Vasey in neat duologue, A Perfect Woman; Norman and Leonard Trio in a musical incident, The Itinerant; Gus Le Clerq, comedian and dancer; and Lottie Govelle, comedienne and dancer. Two enjoyable vocal items are given by the Choir, and the Bioscope pictures are up to their usual standard.

King's, Longsight.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. James R. Trippett.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley, Travis Green, and Arthur Hinton's company are here this week in their romantic military play, The Power of the King. Leading parts are in the capable hands of Mr. Gerald Blake, Mr. Travis Green, Miss Leila Zillwood, Miss Georgina V. France, Mr. Wilton Drury, Mr. John Campling, and others, and the piece, which is given twice nightly before large houses, is entirely effective and capitally staged.

Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Freece; Manager, Mr. Fred Leighton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. J. Carter.—A trio of prominent attractions here this week are Malcolm Scott, in "The Directoire Girl" and "Salome"; the Bros. Horne in their comedy boxing sketch; and Charlotte Parry in her wonderful protean performance, The Comstock Mystery; Lockhart's Elephants are entertaining; Gargany's Trio of Gentlemen Acrobats are expert and diverting; and other smart turns are Horace and Olga's cats and dogs; Arthur Boyne, comedian; Pyck, Tholl, and Taylor, in a comedy dancing act; and Stevens and Rennior, comedians and dancers.

Tivoli.—Managing-Director, Mr. Charles A. Wilkes; Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—The Singing Servants, an operatic burlesque, presented here this week by Joe Peterman, is bright, brisk, and tuneful, and is well received; Dainty Daisy Irving, the musical comedy girl, makes her first vaudeville appearance and sings charmingly, and meets with a good reception; the Sisters Draycott sing delightfully, and are deservedly well received; the Davenports are successful in sleight of hand; Mdlle. Jeanne Florval, French comedienne, is a pleasing singer; Prince Kuroki, Japanese magician, has some exceedingly clever tricks; May Marton is a charming comedienne; and Bert Castle is a good vocal comedian. Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope Pictures are good, as usual; Dan Filmer, comedian, did not appear on the occasion of our visit.

Queen's Park Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Meek.—A Broken Heart, an interesting drama of human interest, is presented here this week by Mr. Harry Foxwell's company. The acting throughout is of a high order, particularly that of Miss Sheila Walsh as Mary Barnard and Mr. Frank Beresford as John Barnard. The sinister parts of Stephen Rayltон and Gash Gills are well brought out by Messrs. Geo. M. Newall and Harry Foxwell respectively, and the minor parts are successfully played by Messrs. Geo. Addison, Tom Armitage, P. M. Wright, and the Misses Dorothy Ward, Margaret Thorne, Elsie Dean, and the juvenile Daisy Rochford—the latter as Little May is altogether charmingly. The scenery is good and the piece is excellently presented.

Hulme Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Day.—E. Bosanquet (the famous violinist) and company are to the front here in a musical episode, The Fiddler's Windfall, a delightful turn; Caban's French Circus of performing animals is a great show; Morander and Darius Trio are exceedingly smart simultaneous gymnasts; Yeager and Da Costa are deservedly well received for their American coonisms; Charles Rowen, comedian, causes much laughter and takes well; Hilda de Grey, Tyrolean vocalist, has a good voice; and other capital turns are those of Fritz Kornau, whistler; Picquo, comedy gymnast; the Farrows, sketch artists; and Pat O'Connor, comedian and dancer. A big hit was made by a deputy for David Poole, the well-known ventriloquist, who did not appear on the occasion of our visit.

Rusholme Pavilion.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Leslie; Acting-Manager, Mr. Geo. Phillips.—Harry Leslie's Comedy Cadets are the attraction here this week, and, as usual, are highly successful; Vernon Noble is a capital light comedian; Annie Coxen is a good contralto; Rene Steadman, comedienne, is very pleasing; Nellie Moore scores as an actress and impersonator; George Curzon sings well; Jim Pullin, a great favourite, makes his usual hit; Harry Leslie is well to the front as a humorist and ventriloquist; and Fred Shepherd entertains at the piano.

MARGATE.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Edward Michael; General-Manager, Mr. W. W. Kenne.—The attraction here has been Hall Caine's fine play The Prodigal Son, presented on Monday and the two following nights by Mr. Wentworth Croke's company. Stephen Magnusson, the sorely-tried father, was realistically impersonated by Mr. Charles Cooper; and Miss Barbara Gott was consistent throughout as his wife Anna. Mr. Hugh Montgomery was impressive in the rôle of Magnus Stephensson; Mr. Gordon Macintosh was also exceedingly good in the trying part of Oscar Stephensson, a character he portrayed with much feeling; Mr. Philip Renouf was seen to advantage as the Factor, Helga Neilson; and Miss Marie Harcourt was amusing as the sister, Margaret Neilson. Miss Mildred Cottell played Helga Neilson sympathetically; Miss Valerie Crespin gave a pathetic rendering of the rôle of the suffering wife, Thora, with which she doubled the part of Elin with great success. The numerous other characters were admirably placed, whilst the staging was all that could be wished. From Thursday to Saturday You Never Can Tell was billed, and a flying visit by The Follies was announced for Friday afternoon.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. F. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. F. Bawtree.—Mr. George Dance's company is here this week in the laughable sketches, The Local Amateurs and The Burglars' Ball, both of which have created uproarious merriment. Miss Maud Dennis has been giving her dance "Salomé," and the universal favourite, G. H. Chirgwin, has had a most enthusiastic reception. Other contributors to an all-round enjoyable programme include Miss Madge Robertson, ballad vocalist and singer of illustrated songs; and Percy Dalton, the singing and dancing comedian.

Hall-by-the-Sea.—Sole Proprietor, Lord George Sanger; General-Manager, Mr. Charles Evans. — This week's programme is contributed to by the Cecilias, instrumentalists, whose playing on various instruments, both wind and string, is above the average; L. B. Athol, vocal comedian; Miss Sybil Montague, ballad vocalist; Clapham and Riskit, novelty parallel bar performers; the Sisters Allen, duettists and speciality dancers; and the Marsumas, comedy cyclists, in their sketch, The Nawvies' Rest.

MERTHYR TYDFIL.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessees, the South Wales Entertainments, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Albert Jackson.—Leah Kleschna, played by Messrs. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company, is making its second visit to Merthyr. As Kleschna, Mr. William Clayton gives a fine piece of character study, and is well supported by Miss Bessie Rignold, who sustains the part of Leah with artistic ability. Mr. Hamilton Deane displays a manly dignity well suited to the part of Paul Sylvaine; and Messrs. Algernon Hicks and Gilbert Heron ably undertake the parts of Raoul Berton and Schram respectively.

Temperance Hall.—Manager, Mr. Israel Price.—Heading the bill here is John Grun Marx, in an exhibition of heavy-weight lifting; Tudor's ponies are exceedingly well trained; Bros. Echairien are a quaint comedy couple, and create hearty laughter; and George Prince, the crazy comedian; the Yorkshire Mill Lasses, vocalists; Harry Keeble, ventriloquist; Chas. H. Gould and company, in an amusing sketch, A Matchless Match; and the biograph pictures also furnish agreeable items.

METHIL.—Gaiety Theatre.—Proprietors, the Methil Theatre Co., Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. Sydney Arnold.—The Power of the Cross, capably presented by Mr. Lingford Carson's company, proved a powerful attraction on Monday. Mr. George de Gray gave a striking portrayal of the horribly weird vampire man, Baron Curzola; Messrs. Robert Hall and Alexander A. Haviland were eminently successful as General Fairfax and Dr. Leslie Fairfax respectively; Benjamin Hawke was well played by Mr. Francis Serle; David Kingsley had a capable exponent in Mr. Gilson Brooke; Miss Stella Carmichael played with much spirit as Rita Lascelles, the adventuress; Miss Annie Hylton, as Margaret Seaton, appealed successfully to the sympathies of the audience; and Miss Phyllis Vaughan was capital as Blanche Kingsley, the Baron's victim. Mr. Tyrone Power and Miss Etta Turner as Timothy O'Dowd and Dolly Gray were responsible for some excellent comedy. Several smaller parts were in safe hands. The pictures shown on the Gaietyscope continue popular.

MEXBOROUGH.—Prince of Wales's Theatre. —Manager, Mr. W. H. Melton. — Mr. Roland Yorke's company is appearing here this week in The Old Home. Mr. John H. Clyndes gives a fine portraiture of Daddy Dean; Mr. Ellerslie Pyne is an impressive Rev. Eric Armstrong; Mr. Roland Yorke cleverly typifies the character of Dr. Warburton; a fine study of Lord Avondale is given by Mr. Clavering Craig; Mr. Fred L. Conynghame (Sam Adams), Mr. Jas. L. Air (Timothy Twaddle), and Mr. Walter Osmond (Jack Warren) sustain their respective rôles with infinite credit. Miss Grace Jones plays with emotional power and dramatic force as Hazel Dean; Mrs. J. W. Braithwaite is an interesting Bridget Donoghan; and Miss Mattie Crawford a sprightly Pollie.

MIDDLESBROUGH.—Opera House. — Managing-Director, Mr. John Brill; Manager, Mr. W. Ker Chatto.—The visits of Mr. Martin Harvey to Middlesbrough are always looked forward to with great enthusiasm by Teeside playgoers, and a large audience gathered on Monday to witness The Breed of the Treshams. The romantic career of Reresby the Rat is told with a touch of genius, and the varying moods of the devil-may-care soldier are all portrayed in a manner nearly approaching perfection. Miss Madge Fabian gave a flawless portrayal of the Hon. Margaret Hungerford, her expressive voice and exquisite charm of manner fitting her admirably for the part. Miss N. de Silva was as artistic as ever in the rôle of Batty, and Mr. Leonard Craske acted with great distinction as Cornet Tresham. On Tuesday evening A Cigarette Maker's Romance was produced, and the visit concluded on Wednesday with a matinée and evening performance of The Breed of the Treshams.

Theatre Royal.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Chas. Imeson.—Mr. G. Carlton Wallace's company occupies the boards here this week in the play The Lancashire Lad. The play is well equipped with scenery. Miss Stanley Burt acts with great distinction as Jessie Wincote, and the rôle of Lorna Wincote is admirably played by Miss Nell Oliver; Mr. Alec Alexander makes a capital David Elmore, and Mr. T. G. Vane fills the part of Max Carlton to perfection. The humorous side of the play is well upheld by Miss Jennie Hallworth as Jane Alice Clitheroe, and Mr. Bob Anderson as Willie Wardle. In the third act a variety programme is introduced.

Empire Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Brill; Manager, Mr. Chas. G. Rembges.—The famous Craggs top the bill here this week in their latest acrobatic comedy sketch, Billy, in which some clever acrobatic tricks are introduced; a delightful musical turn is provided by Diamond and Beatrice, and Dusty Rhodes maintains his reputation as a great comedian; William and Warden are exceedingly good in their act, Mr. Dooley; and Cosgrove and Burns score a success in their comedy drawing-room act; Guy Ryder, comedian and whistler, and Mina Green, comedienne, also do well.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Signor R. Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Nicholls.—Vesta Victoria, the famous comedienne, scores a great success in her latest songs, and Yolande Noble is a favourite comedian; some delightful music is given by Willman; a wonderful exhibition is provided by Silbon's cats; Dunn and Reano are clever comedy gymnasts; and the Fimans in a musical comedy scena are exceedingly funny; May Newall, vocalists, and Harry and Elsie Mayville, lilliputian comedy artists, also do well.

Oxford Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Alf. Graham; Manager, Mr. R. L. Griffiths.—Tate's Juveniles make their first appearance in Middlesbrough this week, and their flower scena is much appreciated; Little Fritz is a clever Dutch song and dance artist, and a competition amongst amateurs for the best act of any kind arouses great interest.

MORECAMBE.—Royalty Theatre and Opera House.—Sole Lessee, Lieut. Julian Malvern; General-Manager, Mr. C. M. Julian.—Mr. George D. Day's company has been appearing with great success in Hall Caine's successful play The Prodigal Son, with Mr. Albert Ward in the rôle of Oscar. Mr. H. Crane has been the Magnus, a character which he sustains with power. The parts of Stephen Magnusson and Oscar Neilson are respectively in the capable hands of Messrs. Jackson Hayes and James English. Miss Pauline Emeric doubles Thora and Elin with success; and Miss Pearla Gardner is well suited in style and voice to the part of Helga, the temptress. The mounting and effects generally are very good.

Alhambra Palace. — Manager, Alderman John Gardner.—The Waldrons have joked and laughed their way right to the hearts of the people in their new absurdity, Sammy, and the audience at every house have yelled for more. The Reays have been doing some wonderful equilibristic and "strong" business on the silver chains; Captain Devereux and his dogs are as popular as ever; Beattie Foster is a pleasing comedienne; and Wallace Whitney causes a great deal of fun. The Richard Trio are highly amusing acrobats; and the Bros. Miller cause considerable diversion. Olive Vane is a nice dancer and serio.

Winter Gardens.—Manager, Mr. Tom Atkinson. —The Geni Family of Risley acrobats are proving a big attraction here, and La Pia in her dancing delights all. The Soho Trio are capital in their smart entertainment; Josie Gallimore is neat in song and dance; Melia and Mozarabar, the Oriental equilibrists, introduce in their act some pigeons and trained ravens; Rich Taylor and Ted Waite are also in the bill. The Arthur Lloyd Trio are great in their comedy sketch, The Twin Sisters; La Tostia is a most accomplished ventriloquist.

Central Pier.—Manager, Mr. Emilius Hill. — There has been a very acceptable bill here, including Fritz, in his latest illusions; Stylo, with hoop manipulation right up to date; A. D. Robbins, the wonderful cyclist, in startling things; Penstone, conjurer; Nina Gordon, in her clever imitations; Geo. Waite, shadowgraphy; and others. On Wednesday Mr. Hill took his benefit, and there was big business recorded, and an extension until one o'clock on Thursday morning was granted. It was a very merry evening, and amongst the "extras" was a beauty show.

MOTHERWELL. — New Century Theatre.— Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Hales.—Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company is appearing in the melodrama Is Life Worth Living? The part of the hero, Lionel Roy, is cleverly sustained by Mr. Ernest Owttrim; Madge Roxton, Lionel's sweetheart, is played with feeling by Miss Lilian Earles; Mr. Herbert Holder is successful as the villainous Randolph Kerr, and Miss Jeanie Burgoyne's presentation of the trying part of Isabel Coreble is heartily applauded.

MUSSELBURGH. — Gaiety Theatre. — Lessee, Mr. A. W. B. Kingston; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. M. Richardson.—The management here are to be complimented on their programme this week. The first part consists entirely of cinematograph pictures, films of note being The Sailor's Wedding and the coloured pantomime, Aladdin. In the second part, Fanning's Royal Court Mannikins are introduced for the first time locally, and create much laughter. Miss May Royal at the piano also contributes to a pleasant entertainment.

NELSON.—Grand Theatre.—Proprietress, Mrs. T. Greenwood Croft; Business-Manager, Mr. Geo. E. Mudd.—A return visit is paid to the town this week by Mr. Frank Lindo and company, in Home, Sweet Home. Mr. Lindo is a powerful Stephen Armitage; David Armitage is ably treated by Mr. Laurence Doyle; whilst Mr. Archer Brown makes a dignified Duke of Ancaster. The character of Lucas Lyle is well brought out by Mr. H. Wright; Mr. N. Shields makes an admirable Percy; Mr. Rogers is eminently successful in depicting the always tired Lord Silvermore; as is also Mr. R. Walsh in his treatment of Dick Redmayne. Miss Marion Wadeford presents the character of Joan with much grace; Miss Maude Leslie-Cudd displays talent in the rôle of Sybil Fay; and Miss Dolly Webb makes a winsome little Dora.

NEW BRIGHTON.—Winter Gardens.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Jones and Douglass.—Another bright and sparkling programme is submitted this week. The Scarleteers are an excellent company of artists, versatile and up-to-date. Their reception nightly has been enthusiastic by crowded houses. The company includes Mr. Charles Hinchliff, Mr. Alex. B. Gilbert, Mr. Sydney Leon, Miss Lilian Saunders, Miss Rosa Mellish, and Miss Daisy May. A very humorous sketch, The Woman Who ——? is produced by that clever comedian Mr. Van Bern, assisted by Miss Sybil Lister, and is received with much laughter. Miss Lister also sings well. Herr Spiegler charms the audience with his violin solos, and the animated pictures are beautiful in the extreme.

Pier Pavilion.—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler and Sutton; Manager, Mr. W. G. Sutton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Parker.—The Gay River company is paying a return visit, and good business is being done. The company includes Mr. Frank Dunlop, Mr. Bert Byrne, Mr. Francis Rayne, Mr. Charles North, Miss Harriet Fawn, Miss Nora Walker, Miss Nellie Crawford, and Miss Harriett Greene. The music is bright and the acting and singing worthy of high commendation.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—Theatre Royal.— Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—Milton Bode's principal company, in The Belle of Mayfair, is here. Mr. Harry Parker as Sir John Chaldicott infuses any amount of capital fun into his delineation of the "nouveau riche" character; and Miss Queenie Finnis's Julia is a charming study, her sweet singing and graceful dancing being greatly appreciated. Mr. Lawrence Wensley as Hugh Meredith plays with refreshing energy, and renders his various songs in capital style; whilst other leading rôles are ably played by Miss Aurelie De Loriere, Miss Nellie Cozens, Miss Blanche Astley, Miss Agnes Tandy, Mr. Percy Yorke, Mr. Edward Hugonnet, Mr. Lauri Leslie, and Mr. G. MacCloskie.

Tyne Theatre and Opera House.—Lessees, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham; Manager, Mr. Fred C. Sutcliffe.—This week Mr. Wentworth Croke presents his company in a new version of The Christian. It is well staged and capably performed, and is proving a great success. The John Storm of Mr. Henry Renouf is as incisive and effective as ever; whilst Miss Doris Gilham as Glory Quayle gives a most charming and natural portrayal of that character. Mr. Geo. R. Montford is a prominent figure as Lord Robert Ure, and gives a spirited representation of the part; and Mr. Edwin Ling wins favour as Father Lamplugh. Other leading rôles are well sustained by Mr. Oswald Marshall as Horatio Drake, Mr. C. T. Turpin as Archdeacon Wealthy, Mr. E. R. Holley and Mr. Arthur E. Merkell as Lord Storm and Parson Quayle respectively, and Miss Margaret Brodie as Polly Love.

Palace Theatre.—Manager, Mr. T. W. Rowe.—Mr. Frank G. Pitt's company is here in £1,000 Reward. Miss Kathryne Eckart acquits herself in a manner worthy of the highest praise; Mr. Frank J. Pitt as Vincent Ransworth gives a fine impersonation of a detective; and Mr. J. Wilton excels as Gilbert Lisle. Mr. Frank Dallas makes Inspector Gilbert popular; Miss Marjorie Seymour delights the audience by her sweetly-rendered songs; and the comedy parts of Dick Springthorpe and Kitty Springthorpe are capitally sustained by Mr. Joe English and Miss Minnie Goepel.

Grand Theatre. — Sole Lessee, Mr. F. W. Bolam; General-Manager, Mr. R. G. Elder.—At this popular house the entertainment is provided by Mr. Fred C. Somerfield's company, in Geoffrey Langdon's Wife. Miss Cissy Bellamy, in the name-part, acts with that womanly sympathy which is quickly recognised and appreciated by lovers of the drama. Other characters are ably played by Mr. Paul Becket, Mr. Wilson Summers, Mr. Wilford Cheetham, Mr. W. E. Passmore, Mr. Percy Brown, Miss Elsie Capell, and Miss Katie Lever.

Empire Theatre.—Resident-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Manager, Mr. W. Parham Wells.—Nothing more hilariously satirical on the "suffragette" movement has been seen here than Bella and Bijou's sketch, which is the star turn here this week, and which is proving a great success. George Newburn is as smart as ever in his clever imitations of leading artists; whilst the Narow Brothers, trick cyclists, are astonishingly clever, as well as amusing. A breezy turn is that of Miss Elsie Robey, a mimetic comedienne; and the Ten Ji Troupe of Japanese conjurers and mystery mongers, provide an excellent turn. Rich and Rich, comedians of the cross-talk variety, are vastly amusing; and another acceptable turn is that of Mason and Bart, gymnasts. Other artists appearing are Nellie Martell, comedienne, and the New York Nippers.

Pavilion Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Will H. Boardman.—At the head of an excellent bill here this week is Miss Ada Coley, the well-known vocalist, who is making a decided hit in her beautifully-rendered songs; Mr. Sidney Bacon's company, in The Duchess of Tooting, also provides capital entertainment; whilst other numbers are contributed by Lillie Lassah, Beatie and Babs, Mons. Gerard, Dan Thomas, Zeta Grey and Co., Dan Whitley, and Harris and Worth.

NEWPORT.—Lyceum.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sidney Cooper.—Mr. Seymour Hicks' company, in The Gay Gordons, are being accorded good houses here this week. Mr. Stanley Brett's Angus Graeme is a fine piece of acting, with a natural gift of easy humour, and great charm of manner; and Miss Zena Dare's Peggy Quainton is light, graceful, and attractive, winning admiration with her buoyant humour. Mr. Edward Lewis as Nervy Nat is clever and amusing, and Miss Nellie Dade as Charlotte Siddons gives a fine character study. Mr. Wilfred Norman's Edmund Siddons is all that could be desired; Miss Madge Vincent as Victoria Siddons is bright and vivacious; and Mr. Ernest Torrance makes a dignified Andrew Quainton. Mr. J. Hobson (Corporal Smith), Mr. Buchanan Wake (Archibald Speedy), Messrs. H. Audeau, E. Leith, A. Wooley, and J. Carlisle, as members of the Peerage, and Miss Ada Fraser as Mary McLeod do exceedingly well. The music is pretty and the chorus, a strong one, are all that could be desired.

Empire.—Moss Empires, Ltd.; Manager, Major Gallagher.—Heading the bill here is Mr. Fred Lindsay (the Whip Wonder), who nightly delights big houses with his interesting preformance; Herbert Shelley, in a thrilling episode in the reign of George III., Dan, the Outlaw, in which he sustains five distinctive parts, wins applause; Vernon and Voyce, in the skit The Fly-Far-Man, are amusing; and Charlene and Charlene are excellent jugglers. The Bros. Redmond are good acrobatic comedians; the Crown Trio sing sweetly; and Fred Lincoln, in his successful scena, My Pal Jimmy, Marion Scott, comedienne, and the Bioscope complete the bill.

NORTHAMPTON.—Opera House.—Proprietors and Managers, Mr. Milton Bode and Mr. Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. E. Barnett.—The dramatic season was opened on Monday, when Mr. Edmund Tearle and company appeared in Othello. Mr. Tearle, in the title-rôle, was well supported by Miss Vera George, as Desdemona. On Tuesday A Woman's Revenge was played, when Miss Kate Clinton (Mrs. Edmund Tearle) appeared with success as Mary Lonsdale; Mr. Tearle as Frank Drummond was well suited, his declamatory powers in the last act gaining him a torrent of applause; Miss Mary Campbell acts with fervour and tact as the adventuress, Mabel Wentworth. Jeanie Deans, Richard III., and It's Never Too Late to Mend are in the week's répertoire.

The New Palace Theatre.—Sole Proprietor and Director, Mr. Fred H. Anderson; Manager, Mr. Thos. A. Evans.—The star turn this week is provided by Arthur Watson, Flo. Stanley, and their troupe of comedians and dancers, in a sketch, entitled The Cruise of H.M.S. Victory, which is full of fun and merriment; Salmon, the wonderful trick and musical cyclist, next on the list, finds great favour; Devon and Earl are clever exponents of simultaneous dancing; the Stowe Brothers are smart and able young equilibrists; the Palace pictures, showing scenes at the Franco-British Exhibition, are of the very best; and Nellie Chandos, comedienne and dancer, Allen and Hall, cross-talk comedians, M. Clivetto, dancing juggler, Chas. Auto, in a comedy musical speciality, and Bert and Dora, comedy artists, complete a long programme.

NORTH SHIELDS. — Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—Send Him Victorious has been presented here this week, by Mr. Montague Beaudyn's company, and has been very warmly greeted. As Colonel Neinrich Kaufmann Mr. G. M. Montanini gives an excellent impersonation; Mr. John Baxter is responsible for a capital portrayal of Major Carl Strauss; Mr. George Derricke displays ability as Captain Frank Allison; Mr. Frank Holyoake makes the most of the King of Ravonia; and Mr. Arthur Tomlin wins applause as Geordie Walker. As Countess Kara von Mechlinberg Miss Marie Robson gives a fine exhibition of acting; Miss Cecilia Crawford proves a smart Gretchen Holtz; and Miss Metta Mitchell a pleasing Ethel Hardinge.

Central Palace.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. William Mould.—The bill here is headed by the Clavers, who present a clever act, which gains them much applause; the Bohemians, comedy artists and instrumentalists, are well received; and Mr. James Shields, comedian and one-legged dancer, is a great favourite. The Three Singing Colliers are much appreciated; Miss Connie Gilbert, comedienne and dancer, is very pleasing; Messrs. Spencer and Marks, speciality comedians, cause much laughter; and Mr. Leo. King, actor-vocalist, scores a success. The Mouldoscope displays some capital pinctures.

NORTHWICH.—The Pavilion.—Proprietress, Mrs. P. E. Fletcher; Manager, Mr. Henry S. Dacre.—The Entertainers are a strong feature here this week, in their programme of mirth, melody, songs, and dances. Another attraction is Mlle. Lumière, serpentine butterfly and fire danseuse, in her representation of She.

NORWICH.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Fred Morgan.—Mr. W. W. Kelly's company is here this week in The New East Lynne. Mr. Henry Harker plays Archibald Carlyle with much force; Miss Laura Hanson is most effective in the dual characters of Lady Isabel and Mme. Vine; Miss Nellie Lucas deserves every praise as Barbara Hare, and Miss Sophy Shipton admirably acts the part of Cornelia Carlyle. Mr. W. H. Garbois appears to advantage as Francis Levison, Mr. William Love is very good as Justin Hare, and the same compliment is due to Mr. Byron Pedley as Mr. Dill; as O'Flynn Mr. Richard Nugent creates amusement, and the other characters are admirably filled.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. Councillor F. W. Fit

Brooke are dainty vocalists and dancers; and Dick Bradley is very good as a tramp trick cyclist. The Dottoscope concludes.

OXFORD.—EAST OXFORD THEATRE.—Lessees, Miss Winifred Stuart and Mr. C. Watson Mill; Manager, Mr. Frank Stuart; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Thompson.—Mrs. F. Wybert Clive's company is here with The Outcast of the Family and The Conscript. In the former play, Mr. F. C. Leighton enacts the hero, Harry Thorne, very successfully; Mr. C. H. Coleman does well as the villain, Richard Martin; and Mr. Watler Steele is powerful as Stephen Barry. Mr. Bert Atherton works very hard, and is a great success as Joe Bushell; while Mr. E. W. Cudd adequately sustains Abram Wasper, and Mr. Miles Platting plays Sir Henry Thorne. Miss Vera Neville is full of life as Nancy Bray; Little Dorothy is good as Little Bob; and Miss Lilian Ross makes the most of Grace Redburn. Miss Gertrude Morella gives a very sympathetic rendering of Ruth.

PAISLEY.—PAISLEY THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile.—Messrs. Charles H. Phelps and Ernest Vaughan's company is presenting here Man or Beast? Mr. Charles D. Pitt gives an admirable representation of the Hon. Jack Newton; the character of Sir Richard Tremere is powerfully portrayed by Mr. Ernest Vaughan; Mr. Frank Hertie is highly successful in his interpretation of Col. Bruce Anderson; Mr. Charles H. Phelps as Capt. Donald Macdonald plays excellently; and as Pat O'Brien Mr. Fred Gresham is humorous. Miss Irene Carrington is to be commended for her ability in the rôle of Bella; a bright and clever embodiment of Rosie is submitted by Miss Madge Douglas; Miss Florence M. Daly assumes with considerable success the part of Annitta; and Miss Cissie Clark makes a dainty Marie.

HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Douglas F. Bostock.—The principal turn this week is Charles Seymour's comic opera company in Queen of the Adriatic, in which there is abundant scope for excellent singing and clever work by the comedians; Cliff and Kean give an interesting comedy, singing, and dancing act; Carl Howard, wizard delights everyone in a neat concoction of comedy and magic; Sid Cotterell and company introduce The Substitute, which provokes plenty of mirth; a capital musical entertainment is provided by Simms and Simms; Roze and Calvert are a couple of clever comedy artists; Will Wilton, comedian, causes hearty laughter; Bert Welda and Dorothy Wynne submit an attractive juggling, dancing, and tumbling act; J. H. M'Cann, acrobatic roller skater, is popular; and the bioscope concludes.

PENTRE.—TIVOLI PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Poole's Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. C. W. Poole; Acting-Manager, Mr. James Gunn.—On the top of an interesting bill is Billie Barlow, the clever comedienne, in songs and patter; the various intricacies of jugglery are cleverly demonstrated by Mazetto, assisted by Buttons; the Corcoran Brothers, in their musical speciality, meet with success; Probyn and Bates are well received in their eccentric dancing; Grahame and Harrington do well in their interpretation of Parisian life; and Johnny Fuller displays clever balancing powers in his feats on the wire. Frank Coyle contributes capital comedy numbers; Harry Wenburn is also heard to advantage; and Flo Banks, vaudeville artist, and the Tivoliscope conclude.

PENZANCE.—ST. JOHN'S HALL.—Messrs. Joseph Poole and Son's Myriorama and Variety Combination, under the management of Mr. Fred Mayer, opened here on Monday for a season of twelve nights. The magnitude and excellence of the programme submitted is drawing huge crowds nightly. The pictures are up-to-date and full of interest, whilst the Myriograph, among other fine films, projects an elaborate panoramic representation of the White City. The variety combination includes Morritt, in his marvellous illusions and mysteries; and Mme. Beulah in a remarkable exposition of mental telepathy. Lieut. Chard's canine hippodrome arouses the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm. The Veronas, lady dancers and vocalists, give a neat and pretty turn; and Miss Alicia May, in song scena, carries the audience with her in telling choruses. Vela, the tramp on the wire, is a clever equilibrist; the Cedrics are smart in their juggling act; Fil Gerrard's impersonations of "People we know" fully merits the hearty applause he secures as a quick change artist; Silly Selby, aptly described as the eccentric musical Momus, creates much amusement; Mr. Nat Abbott is an entertaining guide; and Mr. Charles Thorne ably directs the fine orchestra.

PLYMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—Tom Jones was presented on Monday. Mr. Harry Welchman is Tom, and rises to the part excellently; Miss Florence Smithson as Sophia did exceedingly well; Mr. Frank Henry, understudy for Mr. Ambrose Manning, most capably filled the part of Squire Weston; at short notice; and Miss Isabel Dillon was a charmingly piquant Honour. Mr. Dan Rolyat is Benjamin Partridge, and the theatre patrons, reminiscent of this actor's powers as a humorist in The Dairymaids, expected something really good. In this they were not disappointed. Mr. J. T. Macmillan as Gregory is also an entertainer of ability; and Miss Alice Oppitz in the part of Lady Bellaston is also noticeable.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. Jack Field.—Harry Ford being present is naturally "starred," and came in for a magnificent reception, his new gags and songs taking on well, but the old favourite, "When she smiles," was as popular as ever; the Three Sisters Sprightly also received a warm welcome on a return visit, the golfing parody being a very ingenious piece of work; Miss Yvonne Lamor, a coming comedienne, splendidly burlesques Miss Maud Allan in the Salome dance; and Henry Hilton mystifies the audience with some wonderful conjuring. Sim Maree, well described as the "human coil," is a wonderful contortionist; and Victor and Louis have an amusing duologue, entitled The Golfer and The Caddie. Horace Jones, Anglo-Welsh comedian, also supplies an entertaining number.

PONTEFRACT.—ALEXANDRA THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—General-Manager, Mr. Tom Diacoff.—At the head of an excellent bill this week are Spring and Spring, Continental barrel-jumpers, who do some sensational feats, one of which consists of jumping over a horse; Lizzie Rounds is a skilful male impersonator; Dora and Dorma, in a song scena illustrate the reform of a drunken husband by a long-suffering wife; Fremel and Fremel are nimble, breezy, and rollicking patterers and tumblers; whilst as a comedian Little Dando may be justly termed "multum in parvo." Iva Mona sings prettily and is a smart dancer; Bert Bowden makes more fun; and Amos Howard, a coloured gentleman, uses his feet to excellent purpose, his sand-dancing being much appreciated. The Sisters Hampel work cleverly a contrast in style between a high-bred lady and a coster's "donah"; the Alexandra Bioscope is, as usual, good, and a feature of the week is the exhibition of snapshots taken promiscuously in the town and neighbourhood each day, the person recognising him or herself geting 5s.

PORTH.—THE PALACE.—Proprietors, Poole's Theatres Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. C. W. Poole; Manager, Mr. Walter Bynorth.—Topping the bill here we have the Clement Trio, in their novel comedy trapeze act; Maston makes a hit as the Yorkshire mimic; Chas. Grantley is decidedly popular as the erratic entertainer; Baby Vi Davis is a big favourite; Maxey and Pete score in their performance as trick and comedy cyclists; Dollie Denton, comedienne, deserves a word of praise; Clarke and Glenny are responsible for excellent amusement; Adeline Yohle presents a musical interlude; the Three Behans are smart in their quick-change act; and the Palascope winds up a capital bill.

PORTSMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—The strong and successful play The Thief is staged here this week, being interpreted by Mr. George Alexander's excellent company. Mr. Rupert Lister in the rôle of Richard Chelford had a part that fitted him well, and in the strong scene in the second act he acted with most convincing force and earnestness; Miss Marie Polini, a charming Marise Chelford, showed powerful intensity; the part of Isabel Leyton was effectively filled by Miss Jean Cadell; Raymond Leyton was played by Mr. Cyril Harcourt with dignity and seriousness befitting the part; Harry Leyton was cleverly acted by Mr. Owen Nares; the Detective, Mr. Prothero, being characteristically sustained by Mr. Luke Foster. Mr. Bernard Stevens did well as the Servant.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Agate.—Mr. C. Watson Mill's company, under the direction of Mr. Thompson Carruthers, is here in the author-manager's popular drama A Wrecker of Men. Miss Florence Millett, in the trying part of Risca Mallison, plays with marked skill; Jim Murley is undertaken by Mr. Eric Campbell with complete success; Mr. J. Ansdell Wilson is excellent as Railton; Mr. Milner Noble does clever and convincing work as Pharosaphus, an Egyptian; the hero, Guise Strange, is taken by Mr. Arthur Robinson with resolute vigour, commanding success; Mr. Thompson Carruthers plays Eric Melville with telling effect; the Hon. Reggie Verincourt and Ezekiel Isaacs find capable representatives in Messrs. Millar Wilson and Charles Lovell respectively; Miss Gwendoline Talbot acts gracefully as Doris Melville; and Miss Beatrice Reynolds is most diverting in her impersonation of Vavasole Slopper, a nondescript.

KING'S THEATRE.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Claude Marner; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—Harry Roxbury and company, in the merry musical mélange entitled The Prince of Monte Carlo, take pride of place here; Elton and Emma on the triple bar give an extremely clever knockabout act; W. E. Gillin, a ventriloquist of ability, pleases with his amusing figures; the Marbas are a supple and elastic pair of dancers; Haley's Juveniles in an interesting carnival scena display evidence of considerable training; Hughes and Elliott in a speciality act do well; Conway and Leland, American monopedists, are smart and brisk; Nevill Graham and company, in the dramatic episode The Man in the Street, are entitled to great praise for their artistic presentation; and animated pictures by the Barrascope complete a bright programme.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Capt. Warren Wright; Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—Bob Hutt and company, with an original production entitled The Captain of the Boys, head the programme here; Stella Stahl, comedienne and danseuse, is praiseworthy and pleasing; Fancourt and Rubie, in an up-to-date comedy act, The Huntsman and the Waiter, are encored for some clever work; Gena Manon, vocalist and soubrette, submits some tuneful numbers; and Albert Wyndham and company, in the Shakespearean episode Prince Arthur; or, The Days of King John present the sketch with ability. Roma and Romani prove most versatile in their musical mélange; Billy Hobbs, coon comedian and dancer, supplies a highly effective turn; Jack Lorimer is a versatile Scotch comedian; and Payne's Bio portrays some amusing incidents.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter De Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. De Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Harris; Acting-Manager, Councillor Roberts.—The most popular turn here for the week is Tarro Miyake, the champion Japanese wrestler in Ju-Jitsu style; Miss Lena Wylie is a vocalist of much power and sweetness; the Gallimore Trio in pantomimical comedy act prove most attractive; Mr. Harry Leybourne submits an able act of imitations; Miss Mabel Green is a dainty musical comedy artist; Mr. Tom Leamore, comedian and dancer, is very diverting; Donovan and Arnold, American comedy duo, are smart and up to date; Mr. Harry Brown, coloured eccentric dancer, and the Hippo pictures are other attractions.

PRESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, the Executors of the late W. Johnson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Stephen Pritt.—Mr. Charles M. Bestic's company, under the direction of F. Martin Morris, is here this week with the new musical comedy The Flower Girl. The piece is meeting with a most enthusiastic reception, as it well deserves, for not only is the libretto smart, the songs catchy, and the dances breezy, but the voices of the principals and chorus are all good. In the title-rôle Miss Dorothy Firmin, who possesses an excellent voice, soon becomes a firm favourite, and encores are numerous; as Joe Wheeler Mr. Martin Adeson is the life and soul of the piece, and fairly brings down the house with his inimitable patter and topical allusions; as Reginald Rackit Mr. Norman Bowyer is a most amusing Dude; Mr. Robert H. Howard, who is heard to advantage in several numbers, is good as the Hon. Billy Greenhill; as Alphonse de Racquet and Lizette de Racquet Mr. Henry Adnes and Miss Florence Wilton create roars of laughter; Miss Jeanne Holmes is praiseworthy as Miss Greenhill, a Suffragette; and the same may be said of Miss Townley Laurence as Maisie Flirtington. The remaining characters are most ably presented by the Misses Cassie and Alice King, Phillis Leslie, Kitty Hyde, and Messrs. L. Stanislaus, Arthur Carter, and F. Williams. The chorus and the augmented orchestra are under the direction of the composer, Mr. William T. Gliddon, and the play is produced by Mr. Louis Stanislaus.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Sawyer and Woodruff.—Mr. Harry Battersby's company in The King of Crime is this week's attraction. Mr. F. B. Woulfe gives a powerful portrayal of Ronjarre (the King of Crime), and wins loud applause; as his blind wife, Henrietta, Miss Mildred Eversleigh gives a most sympathetic rendering of the part; Mr. William Miller is capital as the miser, Gaudelu, as is also Mr. Claude Aymond as Simon (his son). Mr. William Melvyn makes a manly Louis Mascorot; Mr. Sam Wilford sustains the comedy element of the play as Mick Maloney, and receives capital support from Miss Edith Loraine, who is a vivacious and sprightly Clarisse; Mr. Leslie K. Manton is good as Tabaret; and the trio of scheming scoundrels, Tote Chupin, Bordogue, and Baptiste, are cleverly portrayed by Messrs. Walter Hilton, E. Morris, and Cecil Stuart. Miss Agnes D'Aragon as Mère Crouchard and Miss Nancy Battersby as Mathilde Haudrey are both good; Miss Grace Evelyn is deserving of much praise for her rendering of the part of Minnie Patenlair; and Miss Lillie Laurence is excellent as Mme. Mourivet. The mounting of the piece is good.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank E. Burdett.—The Five Musical Taitons give a fine scena with electrical effects; the Monckton (Fred and Lillie) have a capital comedy, A Woman's Curiosity, which evokes much laughter; Edith St. Clare is a pleasing comedienne; George Griffin and Harry Blake, comedians, are also successful in their particular turns; Ikey Moe is a precocious youngster with some good patter and dances; Langslow, the balancing wonder, performs some wonderful feats; Gala and Norris give a capital musical duologue entitled "Down South"; the Four Netherlands, character singers and dancers, are also a good turn; the Denaro Brothers are a very clever duo of juvenile acrobatic performers; Kirk and Saraski have a novel aquatic acrobatic act in their electrical aquarium; Wyndham and Waters present a clever musical comedy sketch in The Professor and His Pupil; and The Rebellious Walking Stick on the Bioscope concludes an attractive programme.

RADCLIFFE.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Santé; Acting-Manager, Mr. James Boothman.—Mr. Lingford Carson's company presented The Heart of a Hero on Monday. The unscrupulous schemer, Wilfred Marl, has an effective exponent in Mr. Fred Rivers; and Mr. Ernest J. Fare gives a good rendering of Jem Resdale. The detective, David Pritchard, is well taken by Mr. James Fox; and Mr. J. Harold is satisfactory as Henry Barker, Chief of police. Mr. David Donaldson as the Miser deserves a word of praise; Mr. Will White as the comical Timothy Heighno keeps the house in good humour; and is ably assisted by Miss Frances Feima as Susie Slack. Miss May McNeill's rendering of May Ryder is all that can be desired; and Miss Rosa Mervyn deserves unstinted praise as Nell Resdale. A Modern Adventuress and The Octoroon are also billed.

RAMSGATE.—ROYAL VICTORIA THEATRE.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Jules Richeux.—This week Mr. Norman V. Norman and company have been paying a welcome return visit in a répertoire of costume plays, all produced in a manner which speaks well for the talent of the actors and actresses engaged. In The Adventure of Lady Ursula, Mr. Norman made a fine study of Sir George Silvester; and Miss Beatrice Wilson was a fascinating Lady Ursula. On Wednesday David Garrick was staged. Mr. Norman excels as the immortal David; and, as is well known, Miss Wilson gives a splendid impersonation in the leading lady's part. For Friday and Saturday the bill contained the pretty play, Nell Gwyn of Drury Lane.

ROYAL PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Lord George Sanger; Resident-Manager, Mr. Dan Forrest.—A double bill has again been presented at the above theatre during the week past. On the opening three nights Miss Emma and Mr. Percy Hutchison's well-found company occupied the boards, producing Sir F. C. Burnand's well-known farce, Mrs. Ponderbury's Past. Mr. George Mudie proved himself to be a great comedian in the rôle of Mr. Ponderbury; and the strong-minded wife was finely portrayed by Miss Annie Stalman. Mr. Drew Mackintosh did excellently as Mervyn Thorpe, an artist; and Mr. Alfred Ibbetson made the most of his chances as Peter, the butler. Miss Florence Wix was charming in her representation of Mme. Poloco Modjeski—some time Stella, a music hall artist; and Miss Florence Wellesley was a winsome Ethel Pennilton, the desired of the artist. The other members of the cast did fine work, and the show went with a good swing right through. His Landlady, by Mr. G. Mudie, formed an amusing little curtain-raiser, well played. On Thursday Mr. George Edwardes's company commenced a three nights' engagement in the new play with music, The Merry Widow.

THE MARINA THEATRE.—Large and appreciative audiences assemble nightly at the Marina to witness popular performances. Leon and Leoni, in their novelty musical act, have contributed considerably to the enjoyment during the week of attendants at the local "Picturedrome."

RAWTENSTALL.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Fred Granville; General Business-Manager, Mr. A. B. Feather.—A variety company occupies the boards here this week, and gives a most enjoyable programme. The bill is headed by Earl and Morgan, cyclists of surprising skill and nerve; Miss Maude Clifton is successful in her songs and dances; G. H. Keith earns considerable applause for his catchy songs; France and Frances, in their eccentric comedy act, prove very entertaining; and Arnott and Watson, in a singing and dancing act, win loud applause; the Vanderbilts submit a most enjoyable turn; Les Trippellos, in a musical act, perform with no mean skill on novel instruments. A Bioscope exhibition includes many amusing films.

READING.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Benton.—Miss Maud Hildyard is making her first appearance here since her return from Australia, in the thrilling drama, The Great Awakening, of which she is author, in conjunction with Mr. Russell Vaun. Miss Hildyard plays the part of the unscrupulous adventuress, Lola Selby, in artistic and powerful manner; the heroine, Molly Merton, is sympathetically impersonated by Miss Fay Garnet-Vayne; Mr. Wallis Clark as James Selby acts with marked ability; Mr. Cecil Gray enacts the dual rôle of Sir Henry Merton and his son, Jack Merton, in good style; Mr. Herbert Robinson as Guy Rogan and Mr. Dudley Wynton as Captain Lambert act well; and the comic element is agreeably sustained by Mr. Rule Pyott as Billy Brass and Miss Cissie Podmore as Selina Worts. The play is produced in excellent style, with entirely new scenery and elaborate dresses and uniforms.

THE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Howard Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. E. Draco.—The Three Laurels do some clever acrobatic work in their original speciality table act; the Sisters Morgan sing and dance pleasingly; the Three Phydoras present a good eccentric musical act; the Bandurrias give some excellent selections on the mandoline and guitar; Arthur Blount is an amusing comedian; Merton and Rydon are a pair of capital vocal comedy artists; Rosie Gaston, comedienne, is well received; Master Edward Garrett and company score a great success in their sketch, An Outside Chance; and a good Bioscope show completes an attractive programme.

REDDITCH.—PUBLIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. T. B. Field.—Mr. Albany Ward's Imperial Electric Pictures, including Ye Old Englishe Pageantes, under the direction of Messrs. Baring Brothers, gave performances here on the 27th, 28th, and 29th, the Gloucester Historical Pageant being a prominent feature in the programme. The Midnight Wedding is billed for yesterday and to-day.

RHYL.—PAVILION.—Mme. Albani appeared here on Tuesday, and was welcomed by a large and appreciative audience. The flute solos contributed by Mr. De Jong afforded great pleasure.

OLYMPIAN GARDENS.—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler and Sutton; Manager, Mr. Eric Charlswood.—An attractive programme is supplied by the Anglo-Indian Concert Party. The company includes Mr. Harrison Brockbank, Mr. Kennedy Allen, Miss Lillian Wesson, Miss Kitty Kennedy Allen, Miss Joan Maxse, Mr. Alf. Johnson, Miss Edna Barrett, Mr. H. Uzielli, Mr. F. Dillon, and Mr. Jas. A. Lowe (accompanist). On Thursday evening a complimentary benefit was accorded Mr. Eric Charlswood, the week's programme being supplemented by Mr. W. G. Sutton, Mr. A. R. Sutcliffe, Mr. Charley Harvey, Miss Ida Stanley, Mr. Howard Innis, Master Charlie Bray, and Mr. Bert Beattie.

ROCHDALE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, the Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Hague.—The Manxman is attracting good houses here. Mr. Alfred B. Cross again impersonates the part of Pete with stirring effect; Mr. Fred Mace makes an efficient Cæsar Cregeen; and Mr. Harold B. Lewis portrays the part of Philip Christian to advantage. Miss Blanche Lee speaks her lines as Miss Christian with careful study; Miss Nancy Mitchell is effective as Nancy; and Miss Minnie Watersford acts with distinction in the rôle of Katie Cregeen.

EMPIRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Thomas Hargreaves; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Hargreaves.—Ivan Tschernoff's performing ponies and dogs are highly intelligent and entertaining; Gladys and Alber contribute a very acceptable turn of dancing, singing, and tumbling; Ada Parker is aptly described as a merry and bright comedienne and dancer; and the Sisters Walton, harmonising duettists; A. E. Clifford, vocalist; Mike Crag, comedy juggler; and the Empire Bioscope Pictures, complete an attractive programme.

ROTHERHAM.—HIPPODROME, LTD.—Lessee, Mr. Edwin J. Fox; Resident-Manager, Mr. Claude Shayler.—The Andos Troupe of Japanese equilibrists and jugglers give a really sensational turn; Messrs. Davis and Dean are deservedly applauded for their clever dancing; Miss Flo Deighton is a pleasing double-voiced vocalist; and Messrs. Baine and Reed create much amusement as eccentric acrobats. Miss Mollie Doon is a clever vocalist and dancer; Messrs. W. T. Thompson and company are responsible for a screamingly funny sketch, Watching the Clock; and Baddow, the ventriloquist, gives a delightful turn. The Orchids are also deserving of mention in the vocal comedy duo.

THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Holbery Hardy.—Messrs. Frank Bateman and Stuart Lomath's company is this week presenting a drama dealing with theatrical life, entitled No Wedding Bells for Her. Mr. Stuart Lomath is seen to great advantage as the Rev. Frank Hatherleigh, a "muscular Christian"; and Miss Lizzie Montague gives a realistic and emotional portrayal of the rôle of Lola Delaspierre, being very ably supported by the other members of the company.

SALFORD.—PRINCE OF WALES'S.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting-Manager, Mr Harold Goulden.—The sensational play Mysteries of the Thames presented by Mr. Augustine Knight's company had a good house on Monday, when Mr. Knight skilfully played the hero, Richard Brandon. The villain, Captain Denbigh, had an able exponent in Mr. H. Bonhote Wilson; much comic business was introduced, and Mr. Edward E. Swinton as Bill Bosco, Mr. Tom J. Taylor as Peter Waggles, and Miss Ella Vane as Flash Nell, were responsible for a great part of it. Miss Eva Trevenna was a charming Kate Brandon; and little Elsie Jones made a pleasing Little Doris.

REGENT THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Secretary, Mr. J. C. Patterson.—Josh Dixon heads an excellent programme with his clever comic songs and dancing; Ryder Slone, character comedian, gets much applause; Mabel Thorne has some songs which take very well; Radie Furman, "the jolly Dutch girl," gives a very smart performance; Mr. C. is an amusing patterer, and sings in two voices; and Maud Courtney, "the American girl," does well. The bill also includes turns by the Sisters St. Julian, harmonising duettists and dancers; Steve Bartle, concertinist, in musical scena; Fame and Fortune, comedians and comedy boxers; Archie Glen, clever young story teller, vocalist, and dancer; and Vera Mayne, chorus comedienne.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; District-Manager, Mr. H. Winstanley; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Wentworth.—A change from variety to drama is this week made by Mr. J. A. Campbell's company appearing (twice nightly) in the well-known play, The Old Folks at Home. Mr. Frank Liston makes an impression as Lord Howard Kenilworth; and as Dorothy Robin Miss Maud Warburton gives an artistic impersonation. The old folks, Christopher Robin and Martha, are well played by Mr. Henry Nelson and Miss Clara Santley; comedy is effectively presented by Mr. Frank Caffery as Ben Jolly and Miss Nellie Hook as Susan Giles. The plantation scene is very pretty, and there is some good singing.

OPERA HOUSE AND ASSEMBLY ROOMS, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Lester King.—The chief films this week include a powerful domestic drama, Father's Fault. Beauty and the Beast, Smell of Smoke, Gipey's Love Story, and Acrobatic Pills. The illustrated song, "As long as the world rolls on," is very popular.

SALISBURY.—COUNTY HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. Arthur Whitehead; Business-Manager, Mr. T. Brinsmead.—A house packed to its utmost limits welcomed Mr. E. Graham-Falcon's company in The Private Secretary. In the title-rôle Mr. Cyril Price-Evans gives an exceedingly humorous portrayal; Mr. W. Fane as Douglas Cattermole and Mr. Ben Barnett as Harry Marsland supply admirable representations; as Mr. Cattermole Mr. Chas. Sims makes the most of his amusing part; Mr. Chas. Clayton is good as Mr. Gibson; and the same should be said of Mr. Taylor-Vinson as Mr. Marsland. Miss Camilla Norrys is highly amusing as Mrs. Stead; Miss Sybil Chester plays pleasingly as Miss Ashford; as Edith Marsland and Eva Webster the Misses Josephine Richards and Winifred Williamson act in a bright and winning way.

SCARBOROUGH.—LONDESBOROUGH THEATRE.—Proprietors Messrs. Waddington and Son; Manager, Mr. J. T. Carpenter.—Mr. H. B. Irving is paying a return visit here in company with Miss Dorothy Baird. On Monday The Lyons Mail was staged. Mr. Irving in the dual parts of Joseph Leserques and Dubosc, found favour with an appreciative audience. Miss Dorothy Baird as Janette gave a finished interpretation. During the week Louis XI. and The Bells were given to crowded houses.

SPA THEATRE.—Proprietors, Cliff Bridge Co.; Manager, Mr. Francis Goodricke.—Mr. H. A. Jones's delightful play, The Hypocrites, is presented by Mr. Chas. Frohman's company this week. As the curate, Mr. A. B. Imeson gave a masterly portrayal; the Lord of the Manor was in the able hands of Mr. A. S. Barber; as Leonard Wilmore Mr. King Froham displayed equal ability. All the other characters were capably handled.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Garside; Manager, Mr. Fred P. Morgan.—Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson's company, with Who is She? is here. Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson is quite at home as Prince Bora; Mr. Graham Wood shows much ability as King Vladmis; and Miss Violet Carlyle as Who is She? was a great success throughout.

THE NEW HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm Peacock; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fielding Smith.—That popular artist Bransby Williams is the chief attraction here, with his well-known representation of Dickens's characters. Tina Clementa presents a novel sporting act, introducing dogs and horses well trained; Albert Le Frere appears in a clever mélange; the Mezzettis are fine gymnasts; a good comic acrobatic turn is provided by Burg, Haud, and Wise; Miss Margaret Watson sings pleasing songs at the piano; Will 'E Stop It is a favourite comedian; and Le Currys present a novel musical speciality. Special matinées have been held—one by Harry Lauder and the other by George Robey.

THE AQUARIUM.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. Walter Kitchingman; Assistant-Manager, Mr. E. H. Holland.—Rosie's Birthday Party is the chief attraction here, given by ten young ladies who have had a good musical training, and introduce many novelties; the Three Orrs are masters of the rings and fine athletes; the Primrose Quartette sings decidedly well; as a clever turn the Three Moxons stand high; the Saagoines contribute comedy in the way of juggling; Coke Cliffe, humorist, has a good supply of funny stories; the Rangers have reached perfection in their tricks on cycles; Rose and Wold give a good exhibition on the wire. Other attractions include the Troupe of Lady Swimmers, Mlle. Levante's Ladies' Orchestra, and Vernon's Imperial Bioscope, which draw large crowds.

SEACOMBE.—IRVING THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiernan.—The dramatic season was opened here on Thursday by Mr. Edward Compton and company. Amongst the well-known pieces receiving prominence are Davy Garrick, The Rivals, and The School for Scandal. Crowded houses have testified to Mr. Compton's popularity.

SEAHAM HARBOUR.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. A. C. Harrison; Manager, Mr. H. D. Lyle.—Mr. Millar Anderson and company are here with For Her Husband's Sake. A vigorous Lieut. Seymour is supplied by Mr. Robert Faulkner; as the rascally Herbert Grey, Mr. Millar Anderson plays with distinction; Joseph Dene is effectively sketched by Mr. Fred Elvin; Terry O'Neill proves a part admirably suited to Mr. Fian Doyle's abilities; Abraham K. Silas is capably drawn by Mr. Albert Rogers; Pietro is successfully presented by Mr. Walter Long; Alphonse is well played by Mr. C. Williams; Miss Enid Ross is delightful in the rôle of Estelle; Marie Dene is played in meritorious style by Miss Maud Townsend; and Eileen is cleverly sketched by Miss Doris Laine.

SHEERNESS.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Sheerness Hippodrome Co.—Marie Santol and company head the bill here in a delightful Japanese scena, The Princess's Birthday. The act is admirably put on, the dressing and stage effects being worthy of all praise. The Gladys Hooley Trio present a dramatic sketch, The Violin Girl, in which Miss Hooley, in the title-rôle, introduces some melodious violin solos; the living marionette show, presented by the Katos, gets the applause due to clever work; some capital dancing is contributed by Lucy Coventry; Maude Beaumont's songs are well rendered; Cyril Curle, actor-vocalist, is seen to advantage in Charles Godfrey's scena, "Dreams"; and Maud and Sydney Wood, vaudeville artists, are popular. The Bioscope concludes.

CO-OPERATIVE HALL.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Co.; Manager, Mr. F. R. Griffiths.—Admirers of good pictures are well catered for this week. Amongst the series shown, the following are deserving of special mention: The Physician of the Castle, a very dramatic film, Summertime in Northern Europe, The Great Drama, Beatrice Cenci, A Romance of the Slums, and Animated Snowballs.

SHEFFIELD.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—A large audience on Monday welcomed Messrs. G. M. Polini and Austin Melford's company in The Silver King, which carefully acted and mounted appealed with its old potency to the best feelings of the spectators. The popular impersonator of Jaikes, Mr. Edward George, repeated his amusing reading of the true-hearted servitor. Mr. Fred. D. Daviss as Wilfred Denver handled a beautiful and fascinating rôle with loving care and sympathetic expression. Mr. Stanton Sharpe was an excellent representative of the dashing Spider, and the part of the canting old rogue, Eliah Coome, was well played by Mr. Arthur Wright. Miss Edith Goodall as the noble, long-suffering Nellie Denver fully realised the gracious dignity and womanly charm of the character. Mr. George Belmore repeated his diverting sketch of the cockney thief, Harry Corkett; Mr. E. Slidwell was the cool and self-contained detective Baxter; and all the other characters were carefully represented.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—Her Luck in London began a return visit on Monday under the direction of Mr. George Kirk. Miss Mary Neil, a great favourite in Sheffield with lovers of emotional drama, appeared with great success, and again demonstrated her dramatic power and charm of personality as the fair heroine. Mr. George Kirk's company gave loyal support, and the performance was an all-round success.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. William D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. Allan C. W. Ramsay.—Man and Wife, a drama written in Mr. Walter Howard's characteristic vein, is being performed here. Mr. John F. Trayner acts with force and discretion as the gallant fisherman, Paul Revere; and commendable impersonations are Mr. Edward Hamilton's Captain D'Esparre, Mr. George Rammell's Col. Latour, and Mr. Ambrose Horton's Sergeant Jacques. Mr. George Overs wins

DALLIMORE'S BANDS.

— THE FAMOUS —

EX-BRITISH GUARDS BAND.

STAFF BAND OF HIS MAJESTY'S ROYAL PARKS.

The LARGEST and FINEST free MILITARY BAND in Great Britain.

Military and Orchestral Departments.

Open for - - Winter and Spring.

Booked all - - Next Summer.

Photo Mac.

Mr. A. Holmes-Dallimore.

Engaged for Scottish National Exhibition, Edinburgh.

HANDSOME UNIFORMS.
A DISTINCT NOVELTY.
A WELCOME CHANGE.

WEST LONDON MILITARY BAND.

Bandmaster to Great Stadium, Franco-British Exhibition.

PROPRIETOR AND CONDUCTOR—

Mr. A. HOLMES-DALLIMORE, Ravenscourt Mansions, W.

The "DAILY MAIL" of Sept. 6, 1907, page 3, col. 7, states: "It is estimated that nearly 50,000 people attended the performance of the Ex-British Guards Band in Hyde Park last Sunday evening, this being the record attendance of the year.

sympathy as the cripple Jean; Miss Kate Hallam makes a pretty French fisher-lass as Marcelle, and displays considerable emotional ability; Miss Millie Doris is a vivacious Rosette, and her seriocomic pair of suitors, Bimbo and Bambo, are amusingly represented by Messrs. Hall Eldon and George Vinning; others taking part in Messrs. Van Biene and Traynor's picturesque production are Miss Violet Temple, Mr. Edward Leslie, Mr. Angus Phillips, Mr. F. Best, and Mr. Harcourt Ralph.

Empire Palace Theatre.—Proprietors, the Moss Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar.—A well-arranged bill of fare has been placed before the patrons of this theatre during the week, the principal items being Reano's celebrated military band in popular selections; the Herald Comedy Four, in a lively interlude; Miss Nellie Coleman, the lively and diverting male impersonator and character comic vocalist; the Bros. Polnski (Will and Sam), the favourite comedy eccentrics; Miss Cecilia Marsh, vocalist; Miss May Mars, in a pleasing vocal entertainment; Miss Nell Emerald, the delightful vocal comedy artist; the expert Great Northern Troupe of international dancers; the two Kirbys, in a clever concoction of music, vocalism, and extravaganza, and the American Bioscope, with the latest pictures of topical events and laughable incidents.

The Hippodrome. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. P. D. Elbourne.—The pièce-de-résistance on Monday was the brilliantly-staged spectacular absurdity, The Queen of Monte Carlo, presented under the direction of Mr. John Tiller; Clown Barker and his clever dogs, donkeys, and monkeys was very successful; those smart pantomimists, Les Trois Lyons, in their screaming restaurant sketch, kept the large audience in roars of laughter, and were loudly applauded; Whitaker and Hill, in plantation ditties, with harp and banjo accompaniments, were well received; the graceful and talented Mdlle. Yetta, in her wire performance, was deservedly cheered; and other artists were Mr. L. W. Harris, light comedian; Satsuma, Japanese magician; and the Sisters Fluers; The Rivals, an artistic coloured dramatic film of the Charles II. period, was a fine example of up to date photography.

Grand Theatre.—Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Turpin.—The Lloyd Phillips company in a sketch, A Soldier's Dishonour; Irene and Morton, comedy entertainers; Miss Kitty Willis, comedienne; the Roxbys, speciality artists; Miss Nelly Lunelle, vocalist and dancer; the Sisters Varley, duettists; and Jacko, the man-monkey, together with the popular Raymond Bio-tableaux are included in the current week's generous programme.

SHREWSBURY.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Business-Manager, Mr. W. C. Dornton.—Miss Lena Ashwell's talented company was here on the first three nights of the week, with Diana of Dobson's. As Diana Massingberd, Miss Violet Vorley acted with vivacity and ability; Mr. Philip Sanders merited high praise for his natural interpretation of Capt. the Hon. Victor Bretherton; Miss Hilda Franks, as Mrs. Cantelupe, filled her part creditably; Miss Pamela Hope made a capital Mrs. Whyte Fraser; Mr. Philip Sanders did well as Sir Jabez; Miss Constance Hibberd, as the ogress of Dobson's emporium, was amusingly severe; Miss Margery Bland made a picturesque old outcast; Mr. John Appleby was smart and capable as P.C. Fellowes; and the Nurses, Violet Joice, Dorothy Bell, Cicely Oates, and Margaret Dudley, were a bevy of lively and successful assistants. The diverting one-act comedietta, A Fire of Straw, was capitally played as a curtain-raiser

SOUTHAMPTON.—Grand Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Weston.—Mr. Wentworth Croke's company is this week presenting the new version of The Christian with conspicuous success. Mr. Roy Redgrave gives an earnest portrayal of the Hon. John Storm; and Miss Daisy Scudamore is a bright and forceful Glory Quayle. Mr. Wilfred Noy is successful as Horatio Drake; and Lord Robert Ure is played in polished style by Mr. Herbert Hewetson.

Palace.—Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Wm. Trussell.—This week Mr. Fred. Powell is appearing as Simmonet, the strangler, in a tabloid version of The Grip of Iron, which is thrilling from start to finish; Harry Weldon is a very smart comedian; the Lannons excel as pedestal dancers; Kelly and Ashby's act, Fun in a Billiard Saloon, is very entertaining; the Smythson's sketch, Love Germs, produces hearty laughter; and others who entertain are W. G. Wesley, comedian, and Hanid Alexander, pianist.

Hippodrome.—General-Managers, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and W. de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold P. Howell.—John Lawson and company are appearing this week in a series of sketches, including Pigs in Clover, The Monkey's Paw, The King's Minister, and Humanity, and in each Mr. Lawson scores his usual big success. Nat Clifford, with his comicalities; Walker and Lake, smart patterers; Leo Stormont, vocalist; Selby and Myers, who dance remarkably well; the Ladderites, clever equilibrists; Peggy Pryde, a big favourite; and the Zaracs, horizontal bar performers, also contribute.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA. — Empire Theatre, Ltd. — Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Conquest; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Lingham-Power.—The first attraction for this week was provided by Mr. James Welch's company in When Knights Were Bold, and a full house on Monday was kept in continual laughter. Mr. Henry J. Ford, who impersonated the difficult rôle of Sir Guy De Vere, displayed talent of a remarkable character; Mr. Talbot Homewood made a joyous exponent of Wittle; Mr. Vernon Sansbury as Isaac Isaacson was well suited, and Mr. Cecil Clayton as the Hon. Charles Widdicombe was also seen in a suitable rôle; Mr. William Lockhart gave a pleasing characterisation of the Rev. Peter Pottleberry, D.D.; Mr. George Rowlands as Sir Brian Ballymote was a capital interpreter, and Mr. Reginald Hunter worked successfully as Barker. Miss Bruce-Joy won well-deserved recognition for a talented delineation of Lady Rowena Eggington, and Miss Ethel Royale was decidedly good as the Hon. Mrs. Waldegrave. The Misses Phyllis Back, Violet Graham, Gretchen Yates, Adrienne Yates, and Bessie Walters, with Mr. Herbert Ranson, completed a capital cast. On Thursday The Gay Gordons commenced a three nights' engagement.

The Kursaal.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. P. T. J. Bacon.—The theatre programme for this week is of unusual length and as diversified as it is enjoyable, the whole winning entire approval from large audiences. Miss Helena Sleath and Mr. Charles Aldin, in their operatic scena, entitled The Knight of the Heath, meet with an excellent reception; Miss Dorothy Dryden illustrates high-class musical compositions with clever and refined dances; Elmo and Rego, eccentric acrobats, and the Browning-Wally Trio, expert gymnasts, win popularity for smart performances; Mons. Cento is entertaining with cycling tricks of a novel character; Mr. St. George Sylvesta and Miss Vera de Courtney as illusionists arouse keen curiosity; and Mr. Robert Percival is well received. An exclusive bioscope attraction, showing how the Football Star is produced, makes a pleasing addition to the café chantant entertainment, where the Kursaal Belles still merit good support with enjoyable programmes.

Pier Pavilion.—Sole Lessee, Mr. H. E. Angless; Manager, Mr. Stanley E. Angless.—A most successful concert was given on Tuesday evening by Miss Marie Hall, whose talented violin playing was listened to with evident pleasure. Mr. C. Stuart Edwards, baritone, and Miss Louie Basche, pianist, also assisted in admirable manner. The London Animated Picture Co. again entertain twice daily this week with excellent pictures, including a capital series of the pantomime Cinderella.

SOUTHPORT.—Opera House.—Proprietors, the Southport Opera House and Winter Gardens, Ltd.; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. R. Singleton.—A crowded house on Monday heartily welcomed Miss Lena Ashwell and her company in Diana of Dobson's. Miss Ashwell portrayed the changing fortunes of Diana in her usual finished style, her performance being replete with rare dramatic touches; Mr. C. M. Hallard played the part of Captain Brotherton with due restrain; Mr. Dennis Eadie was properly self-important as Sir Jabez Grinley; Miss Frances Ivor and Miss Gertrude Scott were effective as Miss Cantelupe and Mrs. White Fraser respectively; clever character-studies were presented by Mr. Norman McKinnel as P.C. Fellowes and Miss Beryl Mercer as an old woman; the assistants at Dobson's were well represented by Missis Nannie Bennett, Mary Barton, Muriel Vox, and Doris Lytton; and Miss Pringle by Miss Ada Palmer. Irene Wycherley was to be played on Friday. A cleverly-written curtain-raiser, The Likes o' Me, affords smart character-work by Master Philip Tonge and Miss Beryl Mercer.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—Theatre Royal.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. John and Fred Coulson.—Messrs. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company, in With Edged Tools, is appearing here with great success. Mr. Wm. F. Grant as Jack Merelith handles the part with considerable skill; Sir John Meredith is ably accounted for by Mr. J. A. Rosier; Victor Durnovo, the villain, is cleverly depicted by Mr. Campbell Goldsmid; and Mr. Henry Nunn as Guy Oscard is all that can be desired. Jocelyn Gordon is naturally and intelligently portrayed by Miss Phyllis Relph; Miss Marie Leonhard as Millicent Chyne gives an excellent reading of the part. The piece is well mounted.

Empire Palace Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—G. H. Elliott, the chocolate-coloured coon, has an enormous reception; Lady Mansell's Juveniles, in A Concert Rehearsal, are seen to advantage; Mirsky, the Polish boy vocalist, sings well; Brown and Le Clerq contribute their evergreen Black Justice; Ralph and Nellie Howard appear in a musical sketch, Military Mad; and Pat Rafferty, Camille Feo, comedienne, and the Bioscope, complete a good bill.

Tivoli (Layoate Lane).—Proprietor, Councillor J. K. Hall.—Lisbon and Barker, well-known comedians, appear in an original sketch, entitled Extemporising; Marion and Mabel contribute an excellent musical item; and the Tivoliscope furnishes the remaining part of the programme.

Cosy Corner.—Mr. George Burton's comedians are upholding the reputation they have made this season.

SPINNYMOOR.—Cambridge Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. Hugh Robertson; General-Manager, Mr. Lloyd Clarance; Resident-Manager, Mr. David Collins.—The Love that Women Desire, excellently played by Mr. G. Carlton Wallace's company, is being thoroughly appreciated here this week. Mr. Sydney Layton's Philip supplies a clear testimony of this actor's abilities; Miss Aimee Grattan Clyndes as Sybil displays artistic talents; Mr. J. O. Stewart makes an admirable Squire Abingdon; Mr. Morris Maud portrays the mean hound, Dick Abingdon, with great virility; whilst as Frank Hardy Mr. Hugh Wallace is equally successful. Miss Jessie Elvin is excellent as Madge Abingdon. The humorous portions of the piece lack nothing in the hands of such clever people as Mr J. W. Wilkinson as P.C. Sowerberry, Mr. John Hignett as Dennis, and Miss May Neilson as Patty. The scenery is excellent.

STAFFORD.—Lyceum Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Elphinstone.—A very acceptable production of Nell Gwynne is the attraction here this week. Mr. Edward Warden gives a vigorous and kingly delineation of Charles II.; Mr. Edwin Turner acts with the necessary power as the scheming Lord Rochester; Mr. Cecil Ash as Sir Richard Allandale shows talent and versatility; the Timothy Twitt of Mr. Johnny McElroy is brimful of humour; as the Duchess of Portsmouth Miss Mabel Marle enacts the rôle with dignity and histrionic finish; Miss May Warden plays effectively as Lettice Fairfax; Miss Dora Moorhouse makes a capital Abigail; and as Nell Gwynne Miss Florence Tyrrell enacts the part with emotion and pathos.

ST. ANNES-ON-SEA.—Pier Pavilion.—This theatre was occupied for the first half of the week by Dickie Clare's company of comedians, in the musical farcical absurdity Lucky Liza, which has been enjoyed by good houses. Miss Madge Brownie is capital as Eliza Bird, and Mr. Dickie Clare is very successful in the parts of Silas Slim, the Judge, and the French waiter.

ST. HELENS. — Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Proprietors, St. Helens Theatre, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. A. McLeod Loader.—This week a return visit is paid by Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Mackey's company in Rollicking Rory. Mr. Chalmers Mackey in the part of the rollicking hero is in great form; a good word must be said for Mr. Fred W. Leonard as Stephen D'Arcy; and a capital sketch of Shaun Brady is given by Mr. S. John Stuart. Captain Ashleigh has a capable exponent in Mr. Richard Hutton; and Mr. Charles Homer presents a fine portrait of Desmond Fitzgerald. As Rosie O'Donohue Miss Nana Flensberg is a charming colleen; and one of the features of the play is the singing of Miss Constance Bellamy, who appears in the double part of Peggy O'More and the queen of the fairies. Mrs. Chalmers Mackey as Mrs. Ashleigh again scores a big success.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford, Sley, and Willmot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Mould.—The dramatic episode The Ace of Hearts, which heads the bill here, is thrilling and exciting to a degree, and the three characters are finely presented by James Willard and company; the Pasquali Brothers are smart and clever equilibrists; Edith Chantler, a sweet singer, is loudly encored; Gus Harris has a great reception in his "Primrose Day"; and the Melroses raise a good laugh. The duets of Beau and Bella are appreciated; and Natalia and Diana are original and graceful gymnasts. The Three San Remo Girls give entire satisfaction; and a very interesting picture of the Maypole colliery disaster is given on the Barrascope.

STOCKPORT.—Theatre Royal and Opera House. — Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Revill, jun.—The T. Edward Ward company is an exceptionally capable one, and has given much pleasure and enjoyment to large audiences here this week by its excellent representations of The Love of the Princess, a romantic drama, seen here for the first time. Mr. Wilson Coleman acts with power and feeling as Prince Conrad; Mr. Ernest E. Imeson as Count Nicholas Danillo makes an effective villain; marked ability is displayed by Mr. E. H. Dobell in his portrayal of Josef, King of Ilarnia; Mr. W. F. Sterling has a commanding presence, and acts well as Prince Regent; Duke Scarfe, by Mr. George Antley, Boris, by Mr. Edgar Morgan, and Lieut. Orlans, by Mr. Beckett Bould, are pleasing characters excellently impersonated; Miss Ward most charmingly acts the part of Princess Idalia; Miss Nellie Garside is delightful as Lady Irene; and Miss Helen Elmar gives a satisfactory impersonation of Constantia, a sister of mercy.

Empire. — Proprietors, the Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Black.—The Cattaneos, acrobats, combine genuine fun with their marvellously-clever feats, and achieve a gratifying success; among others appearing are the Frances Harrold company of comedians, in a very amusing sketch, My Son's Wife; Zellini, a comical juggler; Adah Payne, a delightful vocalist; Harry Taft, comedian, in mirth-provoking song and story; George Westland, a Scotch comedian of merit; whilst the Sisters Florence, duettists and dancers; Barney Noble, comedian; and Ethel Loftus, the comedy girl, give excellent support to a capital programme.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES. — Castle Theatre. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. Chas. Imeson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Cecil Imeson.—Messrs H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company is here with the late Wilson Barrett's play Lucky Durham. Mr. S. Herbert Humber gives a clever rendering of John Durham; Mr. T. Renaud Lockwood furnishes a capital impersonation of the part of Lord Mountfallon; Mr. Arthur Leigh causes much laughter as the Hon. Reginald Steighton; Mr. William Heilbronn as Mr. Vallerton is excellent; as is also Mr. J. H Gerald as Arthur Walcombe. Miss Alice Belmore is a charming exponent of Helen Vallerton; Miss Rosabel Dodd gives a good rendering of Lady Mountfallon; and her daughter Margaret is agreeably presented by Miss Florence Dulhunty. Miss Beatrice Sinclair as Mrs. Durham gives a portrayal of much merit.

Hippodrome.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry Burns; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. Stainton.—Charles Majilton's company head the bill in a sketch entitled Round the Clock, and cause shrieks of laughter; Miss Agnes Molteno and company, in a scena entitled An Old-Time Story, receive a hearty welcome, her singing being of a high standard; Coram, ventriloquist, is clever; Cumminger and Colonna, sand-dancers, are very good; Sibb and Sibb are graceful trapeze artists; Carlos Menard, trick violinist, shows great skill; Fred Herbert, vocalist, sings well; and the Bioscope is up to its usual standard.

Grand Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. John Batty; Manager, Mr. Walter Batty.—Mr. M. Montgomery's stock company presents here the stirring drama The Lightning's Flash. The leading characters are well sustained by Messrs. Ernest Wingfield, Fred Terris, H. Hesslegrave, A. Byron, and the Misses Lilian Beaumont, Daisy Norman, and Lena Nazeby. Payne's Bio-Photoscope shows up-to-date pictures.

STOKE-ON-TRENT.—The Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; General-Manager, Mr. H. F. Miller.—Astley's American Circus provides a remarkable exhibition of animal-training, and much amusement is caused by the attempts of boys who try to ride pony or mule round the ring; Frank Burdett's company pay a return visit in the thrilling military sketch, The Mutiny, which is well staged and acted; Dolly Ross renders her two songs charmingly, and makes many friends; the Brothers Harrison are very popular; Dick Kendall as the dancing convict is very eccentric; Gatley, in a pot-pourri act; the Sisters Selwyn; and A Pirate's Honour on the Bioscope are also to be noted. Thursday next is to be set apart by the management for a performance in aid of the sufferers in the recent colliery disaster.

SUNDERLAND.—King's Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. S. F. Davidson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alexander Telford.—Miss Violet Osmund's The Belle of the Ball company opened here on Monday. The light musical comedy was fully noticed in our issue of the 8th ult., when it was produced at the Tyne Theatre, Newcastle.

Theatre Royal.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Grieveson.—The attraction here is Messrs. Silverstone and Wright's company in the Russian drama The Nihilist. Mr. Walter Bentley interprets the part of Ivan Nowasky with power; Mr. Geo. R. Neilson imbues the heavier rôle of Prince Alexander with truculence, earning the execrations of the gods; Mr. O. Silvertree is successful as the Russian officer, Piertree Petoff; a good study of Father Gourko is submitted by Mr. J. B. Harvey; and an excellent performance of Karl Orloff is due to Mr. Cowel Clarke. Mr. Morgan Dale as the stolid Sergeant Markoff is commendable; Miss Edna Clare shows ability in her portrayal of the persecuted Alexina Orloff; Miss Florrie Kelsey as the Princess Olga proves meritorious. Light comedy is infused by Mr. Henry Wright (Bobbie Stuart) and the sprightly Miss Jessica Ford (Katrina Zindoff).

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—The leading position on this week's bill is given to Daley Cooper, Mabel Lait, and company, in the musical absurdity, The Tea Shop; or, Tiger's, Limited, a sketch that gives ample opportunity for the exhibition of the vagaries of Mr. Cooper, excellent assistance being rendered by Mabel Lait as Julia, the head waitress; Edward Lauri and May Beatty have a smart sketch, entitled In Her Boudoir, that occasions roars of laughter. Mr. Lauri's impersonation of a prima donna, amongst others, being excruciatingly funny. May Beattie as the prima donna and a young male interviewer is also excellent. Miss Emelie Hervé assists as the maid Helene. Gertie Gitana, a young artist of originality and ability, and an expert dancer, gains a well-deserved encore and is heartily applauded; the De Wynnes are a really clever couple of acrobatic balancers; J. W. Rowley still manages to keep in excellent touch with his audiences; Florence Esdaile, ballad vocalist, gives pleasing excerpts from the popular operas; and the programme also includes Will Johnson, comedian; Daisy Martell, comedienne; and the Bioscope pictures.

SWANSEA.—The Grand.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Oswald Brooks; Acting-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. Walter Dean.—Mr. J. Bannister Howard's company met with a fine reception in Florodora at the Grand this week. Mr. Fred Eastman's Tweedlepunch is too funny for words. Possessing a charming presence and delightful voice, Miss Maisie Ellinger makes a most captivating Dolores. Frank Abercoed is played by Mr. Savill Foster, who uses a fine voice to advantage; Miss Edith Housely's impersonation of Lady Holyrood is a charming one; Mr. Herbert St. John is seen at his best as Capt. Donegal, and Mr. Stanley White as Mr. Gilflain is no less successful.

The Star.—Manager, Mr. William Coutts; Assistant-Manager, Mr. S. J. Powell.—Mr. Fredk. Melvill's company is here in the stirring melodrama Married to the Wrong Man. As Ruth Miss Gertrude Boswell is realistic; Miss Mary Pemberton as Rosie O'Connor gives a most artistic impersonation; exceptionally successful are Mr. Oswald Cray as Jack Gladwin and Mr. H. Lane Bailiff as Capt. Deering; Jasper Skinner is capitally played by Mr. Charles Vivian, and Mr. Syd Claydon is a humorous Timothy.

Empires, Ltd.—Manager, Mr. P. C. Rowe; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. H. Lennon.—Mr. R. A. Roberts heads the bill here with Dick Turpin and Ringing the Changes, and in the former piece the well-known protean actor astounds full houses with the rapidity of his changes and the excellence of his acting; Ella Shields has good songs, and sings them in an inimitable way; Harry Thorpe and Zoe Coe present a funny sketch, My Burglar; The Cumberlands give an interesting display of trick cycle riding, and Tom Parker is a comedian of talent; the Jackley Trio give their amusing acrobatic act, and the Sisters Pine, in "The Golf Girl and the Caddie," sing pleasantly. The Bioscope concludes.

SWINDON.—Empire Theatre.—Proprietors, The Wiltshire Entertainments Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Manners.—Troba is at the top of the bill this week, and does some smart juggling; Harry Walker, comedian and raconteur, takes well; a very amusing and clever turn is that of the Werds, grotesque acrobats; appreciation is bestowed upon Musical Silvo, who exhibits his skill on the musical glasses and Silvo chimes; Walter Stanley, eccentric comedian, scores a success; Dare Austin ably presents a novel comedy duologue, in His Wedding Morning; Madge Ainsley, vocalist and danseuse, is favourably received; and great interest is taken in Davis and Gledhill Trio, roller cyclists, who give an exhibition of racing on their patent track. In connection with this act an amateur cycling competition is being held.

TON-Y-PANDY.—Royal.—Lesssees, Messrs. Carlton and Duckworth; General-Manager, Mr. S. Duckworth; Acting-Manager, Mr. Geo. W. Ventom.—Forming a strong current attraction here, we have Mr. Geo. Cremen's No. 1 company, presented by Mr. Gerald Moir, in The World's Verdict. Mr. W. Forde is well cast as Sir Geoffrey Woodleigh; and as Geo. Ashford, his adopted son, Mr. W. G. Gregory scores heavily. Mr. H. Carlisle makes the most of the villainous Jasper Woodleigh, and is ably seconded by Miss M. St. George as Cora Castlis. Miss M. Blundell does well as Florence Woodleigh. The comedy element is capably provided by Miss M. Waugh, as Sally Jenkins, and Mr. A. Selwood, as Sammy Carrott.

Hippodrome.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Will Stone; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Harper.—After a short vacation for renovating purposes, this popular place is again proving attractive. Tamamato is clever in his rope and wire climbing feats; Dan Feeley is vociferously encored for his comic songs; Hooper and Shave, the local comedians, again do well; as do also the Lancashire Mill Lasses. Excellent pictures are shown, the leading films being Her Great Mistake, and Shooting at Bisley.

TORQUAY. — Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. W. H. Mortimer; Secretary, Mr. Arthur Pearse.—Mr. Fredk. Mouillot's company is here in The Beloved Vagabond. The rôle of Gascon de Nerac (Paragot) is entrusted to Mr. Arthur Rolston, who makes it a capital study; he is well assisted by Miss Nita Faydon, in the part of Blanquette; and Miss Kathleen Harrington, whose Joanna Rushworth deserves the highest praise. Mr. Warburton Gamble, as the heartless Comte de Verneuil, is admirable; and Mr. Ramsay Macbeth was equally successful as Asticot. As Lisette Miss Marie Rodgers is charming; and mention should be made of Miss Hetty Kenyon as Louisette.

Princess Pier Concert Hall.—Proprietors, the Torquay Town Council; Manager, Mr. A. T. Tremlett.—A return visit is being paid by Stockham's Unique company this week, and good business is being done. Madame Minnie Stockham renders some good selections on the harp; Miss Gladys Stockham is also a capable harpist; Miss Della Stockham is a singer of considerable charm; and Mr. H. W. Stockham's violin solos are also much appreciated. Mr. Griffith Humphreys is the humorist of the party; and Mr. J. Wellesley Lynn completes the entertainment with a conjuring interlude, his mystifying performance evoking repeated applause.

TREHERBERT. — Opera House. — Proprietors, Messrs. Poole's, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. N. Stephens.—Mrs. Fred J. Kirke's company opened here on Monday to a crowded house, with Our Sailor Lad. Mr. Leslie Austin acts with vigour, and in his musical numbers shows his excellent voice to advantage in the part of Jack Maitland; Mr. Franklyn Daly, as Slippery Bill proves himself a talented comedian; Mr. Charles Burns is to be complimented upon his portrayal of Jonathan Lindsay. Mr. G. H. Holloway gives a fine reading of William Fenton, the deep-dyed villain; Mr. Walt. T. Hybert is responsible for the dual part of Detective Searchley and Alphonso de Briton; Miss Edith Claris plays the part of Jim the Waif in a pleasing manner; Miss Lily Seymour, in the part of Mrs. Loveman, also proves herself a capable actress; Miss Gladys Glancy makes a good Sarah Ann; Miss Theodora Henries, as Rita Valois, plays in a striking and capable manner; and Miss Florrie Jackson makes the most of her opportunities as Nell Lyndsey. For the remainder of the week, The Naval Detective and In Old Madrid are announced.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS.—Opera House.—Lessee, Mr. Welton Dale; Manager, Mr. A. H. Burdett.—The Merry Widow is fully maintaining her record-breaking reputation at Tunbridge Wells, where the theatre has been simply packed this week to welcome Mr. George Edwardes' company, with Miss Mysie Devine in the title-rôle. It is needless to say that Miss Devine thoroughly carried the house with her. Mr. Frank Greene gave an admirable study of Prince Danilo; while Mr. Edward D'Arcy was admirable as Baron Popoff, and Mr. Ripley Evans as the Vicomte; and the other male parts were equally well sustained by Mr. Fred Fowler, Mr. W. Allison, Mr. F. Pedgrift, Mr. Clifford Seyler, Mr. R. Needham, and Mr. Bert Edwards. Miss Ada Thomas played the part of Natalie with great success; and Miss Daphne Glenne as Olga, Miss Violet Hobson as Sylvanie, and Miss Lucie Donati as Prascovia also distinguish themselves in their respective parts. It should be added that the girls at Maxim's have charming representatives in the Misses K. May, W. Bailey, M. Seymour, M. Villis, P. Bevan, and G. Dene. The tour is under the able direction of Mr. J. A. E. Malone. For the week-end Mr. Robert Courtneidge's company is appearing in The Dairymaids.

TYLDESLEY.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. W. Brierley, A. Brierley, and W. German; Manager, Mr. W. W. Brierley.—Miss Grace Warner and company were well received here on Monday night in The Scarlet Clue. Scarlet Sal, the central figure of the drama, is successfully impersonated by Miss Grace Warner; Mr. George Gordon gives a finished performance of Michael Stanton; Mr. Terence O'Brien is natural and sincere in the double part of the twin brothers, Jack Esmond and Harry Esmond; Mr. Roy Rhind presents an accurate portrait of Crazy Jim; Edward Croker has a capital representative in Mr. A. B. Lyons; and Mr. J. Clarence lends good support as the duped Sir Desmond Lisle. Miss Evie Conway makes a sweet and attractive Elsie Dane; Tabitha Evans receives careful attention at the hands of Miss A. Corri; whilst Miss K. Cranston does well as Mother Scrooge; little Norah Bretton makes a charming figure as Sal's child. Mr. W. Black is very humorous as Billy the Rotter; and Miss Phyllis Massey (Reggie Carstairs) and Miss E. Dean (Musette) are bright and diverting. East Lynne was billed for Thursday.

TYNEMOUTH. — Palace-by-the-Sea.—Proprietor, Mr. J. H. Graham; Manager, Mr. Lindon Travers. Varieties here include the Arthur Bedini trio in a pantomimic act of the broad order; Sylvene and Florence, equilibrists; the Ottaway Cowboys; the Belsons, in a smart cycling act, entitled A Tramp's Holiday; Cora Carina, dialect comedienne; Henry Gwiney, Anglo-American tenor vocalist; and an interesting and amusing display of bioscope pictures make up the bill for the week.

WAKEFIELD. — Opera House. — Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Mr. Frederick Melville's company opened here on Monday with the drama Her Forbidden Marriage. The heroic part of George Madison is well played by Mr. Henry Lonsdale; Mr. Henry Heston is seen to advantage as the villainous Charles Devereux; Mr. W. Davidson acquits himself well as Geoffrey Broughton; Mr. H. Gomer May is successful as Sir George Lancaster; and Mr. Conrad E. Stratford is well placed as Rev. Mr. Dean. Mr. Geraldine Le Sage gives an able portrayal of Lucy; Miss Grace Lester is admirable as Lady Lancaster; and Miss Agnes Imlay makes the Mother Superior agreeably prominent by her artistic acting.

Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—The principal attraction here this week is provided by Mr. J. Gar Kiddie and his company, including Mr. J. W. Groves, a popular favourite, and Miss Lizzie Payne, in the farcical sketch, The House of Tinn, which causes much amusement; the Three Comedy Charters, vocalists, have a good reception; the Hatherleys, song illustrators, give a pleasing turn; Rene, girl juggler, is smart; Roy Bevis, conjurer, and Madge Allen, comedienne, also merit favour.

WARRINGTON.—Royal Court Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred J. Reece.—There is as yet no sign of Charley's Aunt waning in popularity, for a crowded house on Monday night gave the evergreen an enthusiastic reception. Mr. Brandon Thomas's company is an exceptionally strong one, and Mr. G. A. Seager as Lord Fancourt Babberley submits a clever impersonation; Mr. Hastings Lynn as Jack Chesney, and Mr. Basil Lynton as Charley Wykeham, are alike excellent; Mr. Theo. McCausland Stewart imparted into the part of Col. Chesney a natural bearing; and as Spettigue Mr. Roy Byford does well. Mr. Sydney Compton is a capable Brasset; Miss Olivia Glynn as Kitty Verdun, and Miss Grace Russell as Amy Spettigue are charming; Miss Vera Gerald is a stately Donna Lucia; and Miss Evelyn Gray a capable Ela Delahay. A pretty curtain-raiser, A Lancashire Sailor, is much enjoyed.

Palace and Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. G. D. Bradbury.—Good business is done here again this week, and the entertainment is a thoroughly versatile one. Annie Schuberth wins favour with her song-scena, "The Deputy"; the Tossing Austins are capital jugglers and dancers; and the sketch by Edwards and Dacre, entitled What is Life? is responsible for laughter. George James sings in good style; and Harry Luck is applauded for good work; Shirley Liggins and company score a big success for their quartettes; Thornbury, the artist in sand, oil, and smoke, supplies an acceptable turn; and Violet Nunn sings a series of coon songs in taking style. The Bio-Tableaux show The Artful Dodger and Jack Johnson's Fight for the Championship.

WEDNESBURY.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. Harry Battersby; Acting-Manager, Mr. Tom Kuner.—Mr. John Leopold's company, in the farcical musical absurdity entitled New Frivolity, is being played here this week with remarkable success. The piece, which is invented and produced by Mr. John Leopold, is teeming with humour and interest throughout. The entertaining part of John Buckwheat is ably impersonated by Mr. Watson Hume; as Daniel Teething, an English student, Mr. John Leopold, jun., submits a clever rendering; Mr. Chas. Goff as Jules Vermiglio and Mr. Willie Leopold as Samuel Vermiglio keep the house in continuous laughter. Warm appreciation is accorded to Mr. Tom Leopold in his excellent portrayal of Professor Fumble; and the characteristic parts of Tickle (the page) and Mick Fumble are humorously displayed by Mr. Tom Leopold and Mr. Ernest Leopold respectively. Miss Violet Keand makes up well as Nite Gordon, the schoolgirl; and as Mananette, the French waitress, Miss Queenie leaves little to be desired. Madame Cobweb is effectively portrayed by Miss Kathleen Kavanagh; Miss Amy Hall makes a fine study of the part of Lucy Buckwheat. Excellent work is done by Miss Gertie Winter as Vinnie Moare and Miss Gladys Somers as Maud. The part of Savory, the French detective, is cleverly enacted by Mr. John Kelly.

WEST BROMWICH.—New Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Player.—Among a number of attractive turns at this place of amusement this week, first place must be given to May B. Brilliant, smart comedienne and dancer; the Ten Loonies are a host in themselves, and their musical sketch, Dotty, is exceedingly clever; Sid Bandon appears in a pleasant song scena; Morris and Richards are smart acrobats; the Sprees give an amusing turn, Twickenham Ferry; and Ena Soutar sings very effectively some well-illustrated songs. The Woodwards provide a novel cycle balancing feat; and the pictures are as good as ever.

Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. R. Nightingale.—Mr. W. W. Kelly's company is here in The Royal Divorce. Miss Margaret Watson is a most effective Josephine; and Mr. Keith Fraser is an admirable Napoleon. They are surrounded by a first-rate company, Miss Winnie Tempest being excellent as Marie Louise; and Mr. Percy H. Vernon capital as Talleyrand.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—Grand. — Manager, Mr. H. E. Feather.—Raffles is presented by Mr. Reginald Dance's company in admirable style. The principal rôle is smartly played by Mr. Lewis Edgard; Curtis Bedford has a capital exponent in Mr. C. Keane; Harry Manders, Crawshay, Lord Amerstith, and Lord Crawley are well delineated by Mr. Arthur Bell, Mr. Oswald Griffiths, Mr. Alexander, and Mr. Rivers Bertram respectively; Miss Brenda Gibson makes a decided hit in the trying character of Mrs. Vidal; a success is scored by Miss Eva Bevington in the rôle of Marie, and Miss Ethel Stalman as Lady Melrose and Miss Beatrice Marsdene as Gwendoline Couron are effective.

Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. A. E. Dobney.—Prominence is successfully claimed by Howard and St. Clair, who in their comedy sketch Do You Want to Buy Any Coke? elicit roars of laughter; Keith and Merson are distinctly pleasing in their hunting absurdity The Meet; Baker and Baile are expert xylophone manipulators, and in eccentric dancing Mr. Geo. M. Baker excels; Gold and Sterling, in a speciality and musical scena The Welsh Girl and the Artist, are successful; the Five Bombays, singers and dancers, Jimmy Laurie, the Gregson Comedy Trio, in a comedy act The Dummy, and Raymond's Biotableaux are also in the list.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE. — Knightstone Pavilion and Opera House.—Manager, Mr. W. Payne.—Mr. Edward Graham Falcon's company is paying a visit here this week in The Private Secretary. Mr. Cyril Price-Evans makes an excellent Rev. Robert Spalding; Mr. Chas. Sims is humorous as Mr. Cattermole, and Mr. T. Taylor Vinson is praiseworthy as Mr. Marsland; Mr. Ben Barnett is decidedly good as Harry Marsland, and so too is Mr. Wentworth Fane as Douglas Cattermole; Mr. Clayton gives a fine impersonation of Mr. Gibson; Miss Josephine Richards and Miss Winifred Williamson are both charming as Edith Marsland and Eva Webster, and Miss Camilla Norrys makes the most of Mr

"THE IMPERIAL SCEPTRE,"

Canning Town, London, E.

Mrs. Langtry's beautiful theatre, now travelling twelve miles across London. An army of traction engines, lorries, horses, and men are daily employed on this record transit. The entertainments to be provided in these theatres will inaugurate a revolution in the amusement world.

THE FIRST OF A SERIES OF MAGNIFICENT BUILDINGS TO BE ERECTED UNDER THE ABOVE TITLE IN LONDON AND THE PROVINCES.

LONDON & SUBURBAN THEATRES.

KING'S THEATRE, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, Aug. 31, 1908, the Play by Thomas Raceward, entitled
"SUNDAY."

The production of Sunday at the King's this week has been attended with marked success, the audiences having been numerous and enthusiastic. That the success is due to the constructive merits of the play cannot be questioned. Written as it is by three well-known actors who desire to hide their identity under the nom-de-plume of "Thomas Raceward," it naturally follows that the play should be so constructed as to give every facility for the performers to make the most of the characters. In several instances the artists do not appear to take full advantage of their opportunities, and effect is sometimes lost. In the title-rôle Miss Marjorie Murray is at times exceedingly effective, and always handsome, but she is hardly experienced enough for such an arduous part. Mr. William Giffard is to be commended for a fine performance of Colonel Brinthorpe, acting with great skill and tact. Arthur Brinthorpe is powerfully played by Mr. Wilson Blake, and made one regret that after the first act he is seen no more. Mr. J. Norman Walter makes a cheerful and pleasant Tom Oxley. A vigorous and backwoods-like impersonation of Towzer is rendered by Mr. James Skea; while Mr. A. Cotton Holmes is a capable Davy. Lively is amusingly depicted by Mr. James Hussey, and Mr. Alec Alves is an earnest and clever Jacky. Miss Helen G. Edwins enacts Mrs. Naresby agreeably, and Miss Lila Barclay's acting as a Nun meets with much approval. The scenery by Mr. R. Douglas and Mr. H. Freemantle deserves high praise.

THE MARLBOROUGH.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Drama, by Cecil Raleigh and Henry Hamilton, entitled
"THE SINS OF SOCIETY."

The management of the Marlborough is providing its many patrons this week with one of Drury Lane's greatest successes, The Sins of Society. Little wonder, then, that crowded houses have been attracted to this popular establishment, the large attendance of course being accounted for to a great extent by the fact that the play is being presented by Mr. F. W. Bolam's company, which includes Miss Grace Leslie, Miss Pattie Brown, and Mr. Blake Adams, and Mr. C. F. Collings. The idea of printing the names of the cast in the order in which they speak is an excellent one, and is much to be commended. Miss Mabel Murray is to be complimented on her assumption of Mrs. Murgatroyd; Miss Dorothy Giles invests the character of Lady Gwendolin Ashley with a deal of charm; Miss Pattie Brown as Lady Goldbury sustains her high reputation as an actress; as Caroline, Duchess of Danebury, Miss Janet Hodson undertakes the rôle most capably; Miss Grace E. Leslie proves herself a sterling actress as Lady Marion Beaumont, the difficult rôle being most praiseworthily treated. Mr. C. F. Collings as Noel Ferrers has an opportunity of displaying unique powers as a polished villain, and he delineates the part most successfully. The portrayal is one of the "hits" of the play. Mr. E. Vassall-Vaughan plays Sir Dorian March in just the right key. His acting is full of quiet strength, and the almost bewildering joy when his innocence is revealed in the last act is vividly represented. The pivot of the comic element is Mr. Blake Adams, and it is safe to say no more genuine comedian could be seen in the part of James Hogg; a very natural performance is given by Mr. Fred Annerley as Mr. Morris; Mr. Arthur Ranson keeps the audience vastly amused during his short appearance as Constable Bates; the old family retainer is faithfully portrayed by Mr. Edward P. Gee, and one would like to see more of him; Mr. Edwin Palmer is successful as the Rev. Martin Hope; and the numerous other characters are ably performed. The play is staged and mounted with much care and taste, and Mr. James Percy must be commended for his smart work as stage-manager.

CORONET THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Drama entitled
"A WHITE MAN."

Mr. Edwin Milton Royle's romance of the wild West, A White Man, as expounded by Mr. Herbert Sleath and Miss Ellis Jeffrey's clever company of English and American artists from the Lyric Theatre, is finding great favour at Notting Hill Gate, and Mr. Eade Montefiore is kept busy accommodating the patrons of the Coronet Theatre. This story of altruism and heroic self-abnegation is most dramatically set forth. It is a piece to bring a lump into the throat, and certainly on Monday night the use of handkerchiefs was pretty general during the progress of the piece. The scenery in the last two acts, especially the lighting effects of dawn rising on the foothills of the snow-capped Uinta Peaks, is very weird and effective, and the scene of the fracas in "The Long Horn" Saloon at Maverick, in Wyoming, is exceedingly well managed, and throughout Mr. Herbert Plumpton does his work well as stage manager under the direct supervision of the author and Mr. Herbert Sleath. Miss Ellis Jeffreys brings all her pleasing gifts of charm and intense human nature to bear upon the part of Diana, Countess of Kerhill, and touches all hearts by her superb rendition of the rôle. Mr. Herbert Sleath acts with great force and impressiveness, and sounds the depths of human passion and woe as Jim Carston, the ex-army officer, who has given up all he values in life for the sake of a woman and in order to save her husband's good name. Miss Dorothy Dix deserves high praise for her thrilling performance of Nat-u-ritch, a rôle to which she imparts a pulsing vitality by means of a few deft characteristic touches. Mr. George Fawcett is entirely excellent as the bluff big-hearted cowboy foreman, Big Bill. Mr. Minifer Johnstone displays great capacity for commanding attention as the handsome but fiery, hot-blooded, and profligate desperado Cash Hawkins. Mr. A. G. Poulton as Sir John Applegate, Messrs. Cecil Yapp, S. J. Warmington, R. F. Symons, A. Plumpton, A. S. Aspland, and E. Plumpton are good. Miss Emma Gwynne supplies an effective character sketch as the doting mother, the Dowager Lady Kerhill, and other small parts are efficiently rendered.

THE NEW LYRIC, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Drama entitled "SECOND TO NONE."

The dramatic work of Mr. W. H. Howard has attained a gratifying celebrity, and the name of the prolific author is now seldom absent from a London or suburban bill. Scarcely has it disappeared from the programme of the Lyceum than it reappears at another theatre further West, namely, Mr. Wentworth Croke's handsome and well-appointed Lyric Theatre at Hammersmith, where Mr. Howard is represented by one of his most workmanlike dramas, and crowded audiences have been alternately thrilled and amused by the exciting incidents it contains and the funny situations that are evolved. Second to None was first introduced to London a year ago at a theatre not far distant from the present scene of action, but the cast is almost entirely changed. The company is that of Mr. T. Edward Ward, who has made a happy selection of the cast. The leading rôle of Harry Wilding is entrusted to Mr. Leonard Williams, who has all the attributes which are expected of the hero of melodrama. As the intrepid young Army student who dons the King's uniform as a private rather than receive the charity of a relative Mr. Williams has some stirring deeds to enact, and the house resounds frequently with cheers at the vigour and virility he displays. An effective appeal to the sympathies of the house is made in the part of Nell Greystone by Miss Dorothy Clifton, whose moments of tenderness are agreeably affecting and whose emotion is strikingly expressed. The unscrupulous Captain Mannering, whose every sentence is either a sneer or a snarl, is realistically embodied by Mr. Fredrick Loyd, who speaks his lines in a hard and inflexible voice well in keeping with the adamant nature of the character. A neat piece of character is that presented by Mr. J. G. Maine, who makes up effectively as the indigent old soldier Edward Horseman, the paralysed arm and hand being presented with ghastly realism. Mr. Maine, too, delivers his lines with well-studied emphasis. Mr. Allan Carruthers still appears in the rôle of Joe Ruggles, from which he extracts abundant material for laughter. Another comic part is that of Private Flutter, to which Mr. Louis Edmonde does adequate justice, and an aid to the hilarity is furnished by Miss Clarrie Yandell, who makes a pleasingly refined parlourmaid of Norah. Mr. Reginald Balfour lends the requisite dignity and military precision to the part of Sir Reginald Greystone; Frank Wilding is a favourite throughout, so agreeably is he presented by Mr. Chas. Halling, who is frank and outspoken; and Lieut. Archie Ballater is suitably presented by Mr. Arthur D. Layland. May Greystone has a powerfully dramatic exponent in Miss Mary Mallalieu, and both Mr. Frank Austen and Mr. Eric Wilde in their former rôles of Police Inspector and Private Bertie do useful work. The scenery is pretty and elaborate, and no pains are spared to render the production attractive.

KENNINGTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Drama, entitled
"ALONE IN LONDON."

An excellent attraction is found this week in Alone in London, the strong and interesting drama by Robert Buchanan and Harriet Jay, and well-filled houses have heartily applauded the many striking episodes that occur in the play. Mr. W. S. Hartford as John Biddlecomb is a typical country farmer; and as Richard Redcliffe, an adventurer, Mr. Percy Rhodes is the villain to perfection. Miss Mary Stafford Smith gives a clever and pathetic rendering of Gipsy Tom; Miss Theresa Osborne is equally good in the trying part of Annie Meadows; Mr. Percy Bell as Jenkinson is decidedly effective, his impersonation of a clergyman being distinctly funny; the rôle of Mr. Burnaby, a rich banker, is ably sustained by Mr. Harry McClelland; and as Walter Burnaby, his son, Mr. Blundell Fenton is a marked success. Miss Rose Grey is admirably suited to the part of Ruth Clifton, an heiress, and cousin to Walter Burnaby; and Miss Elsie Clarke makes a "hit" as Little Paul. Messrs. Lonnen Meadows as Charley Johnson, Frank Sutherland as Spriggins, G. Clements as Jack Meadows, and Misses Gertie Douglas as Liz Jenkinson and Nellie Lauraine as Mrs. Maloncy are excellent in their different parts.

GRAND, FULHAM.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Play entitled
"UNDER TWO FLAGS."

The Molesworth-Blow company are again visiting Fulham in their excellent representation of a dramatised version of Ouida's famous novel. Mr. Mark Blow repeats his well-studied performance as the quixotic hero, in which he is so thoroughly at home. Mr. Dermot FitzGibbon is satisfactory in the thankless part of his brother, Barklie, as are also Mr. Austen Milroy as Lord Rockingham and Mr. Charles Brooke as Lord Royallieu. Mr. Arthur Elwyn plays vigorously as the sinister Colonel Chateauroy, and is well supported by Mr. A. Holmes as Captain de Chanrellon and Mr. R. Huntworth as the Marshal. The part of the valet, Rake, is in the hands of Mr. Harry Benson, who is by way of being a capable comedian. He made the most of the opportunities of the part, delighting the house with his representation of a typical Cockney, and he and Miss Elsa Anderson, as the maid Lavinia, provided much amusement with song and dance. Miss Minnie Grey makes an impressive figure as the Princess Venetia, playing with much charm and dignity. The part of Cigarette, so long associated with Miss Ida Molesworth, finds a capable representative in Miss Agnes Verity, who is very successful in portraying the child of nature in all her varying moods. It is a clever study of the character, and Miss Verity showed by more than one artistic touch that she has the true dramatic instinct. The minor characters are ably embodied, and the piece is well staged.

GREENWICH THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Drama in Four Acts, by Nita Rae, entitled
"A MOTHER'S SALVATION."

Miss Maude Western and company are appearing here this week in two dramas, A Mother's Salvation on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, and The Prodigal Son on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. In the first-named Miss Maude Western appears as Becky, and causes much amusement by her capital impersonation. Miss Ada Hender wins all hearts by her sympathetic and charming performance of Naomi Lester and Miriam Merveyne. Miss Sophie Riess is good as Daisy Delaval, and Miss Kate Newton proves herself an excellent character actress by her impersonation of Mother Turntail. Mr. J. O. Stevenson is very good indeed as Reuben Smith; Mr. Terence Nerry is a clever Leslie Merveyne; Mr. John Levey is a capital Lynton Desmond; Mr. T. Chapman does well as Jo Turntail; Mr. Carl Vallender is a humorous Billy Bumpkin; Miss Mabel Hall plays Little Paul prettily; Mr. Geo. Tranter is good as Marmaduke Danby, as is Mr. T. Maxwell as Dan Potter. The remaining characters are well acted by Mr. Harry Oggier (Guard), Mr. J. Ballard (Sergeant Colville), and Mr. Fred Daring as Gus Darant.

THE SHAKESPEARE.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Drama in Four Acts, entitled
"A DESPERATE MARRIAGE."

Notwithstanding the fact that there has been a long sequence of dramas at the Shakespeare Theatre, their popularity with local playgoers has in no wise diminished, and this week large crowds have welcomed Mr. Fredk. Mouillot's company in the successful play, A Desperate Marriage. A capable company has been engaged, and the interpretation of the piece leaves little to be desired. Mr. Caspar Middleton as Dick Strang acquits himself with credit. The villainous Clarence Woolmer, a long and important part, is convincingly enacted by Mr. E. W. Maule Cole, an actor of decided ability; Mr. Houghton Goddard is to be commended for his painstaking impersonation of Dr. Frank Buxter; Mr. Walter Roasby is an amusing Tom Stripe; and Mr. Herbert Lloyd scores a decided success by his impersonation of the repentant rogue, Elijah Boggs, a very popular personage with the audience. The character, mainly a humorous one, has its pathetic moments, and throughout Mr. Lloyd has a thorough grip of his audience. Audrey Howard is invested with gentleness and grace by Miss Winifred Whyte, whose acting, especially in the stronger passages, reaches a high plane of excellence. The baneful influence of the adventuress, Miriam Elton, is celeverly suggested by Miss Gertrude Gilbert, and Miss Helen Anderson is successful in her portrayal of the vivacious Betty Mackenzie. Miss Nellie Roasby cleverly assumes the part of Bertha Onions. The other characters are ably enacted, and the scenery and general effects are satisfactory.

COUNTY THEATRE, KINGSTON.

On Monday, Aug. 31,
the Melodrama, in Four Acts, entitled
"HER SECOND TIME ON EARTH."

Mr. Walter Melville, whose play, produced at Kingston a fortnight ago, was so well received, has been equally successful with the drama which is occupying the boards at the riverside playhouse this week. There is much in the drama that stimulates interest, and it was presented by a company capable in every way of doing full justice to it. Chief honours are due to Miss Edith Blande for a masterly exposition of the most difficult part of Dora Gray. She played with consummate ability. Mr. Arthur Cross as Dora's accomplice in villainy, Guy Brand, played the part with all the polish necessary; Mr. W. Henry Hargreaves gave a manly exposition of the hero, Jack Carlton; and a favourable impression was created by Miss May Dallas as the heroine. Mr. Otto Minster appeared in his original part, Captain Jasper Norman, with success; and as Tom good work was put in by Mr. John Hood. The low-comedy business was in the capable hands of Miss Lena Nelson as Kitty Rosebud and Mr. Newman Maurice as Teddy Butterfly, the latter being a great favourite with Kingston audiences.

ELEPHANT AND CASTLE THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Drama, entitled
"THE SOLDIER'S WEDDING."

Mr. Walter Melville's company is here this week in the above-named drama, and provides a great attraction. Mr. Wingold Lawrence gives a bright and manly impersonation of the character of Jack Brown, and acts with much earnestness throughout, creating great enthusiasm. Mr. Beresford Whitcomb is responsible for a smart performance as the kind-hearted Colonel James Graham; Mr. Gerald Jordan infuses into the character of Charles Courteney an ample amount of villainy, in which he receives ablo assistance from Miss Marie McAulay as Julie de Beauvrais; Miss Mabel Lowe makes the most of the showy little character of Peggy Munroe; and Mr. F. Yarnold is to be commended upon an admirable character-study as the old farmer, Nathaniel Lee. Miss Dorothy Richardson gives a meritorious performance as his granddaughter, Nancy Lee, eliciting much applause for her sympathetic acting. An excellent comedy character is that of Teddy Munroe, and Little Albert takes full advantage of the many opportunities offered him. All the minor characters are in safe hands, and the drama is well staged. Special mention must be made of the scene representing Nat Lee's Farm, the introduction of livestock giving a most realistic effect. The orchestra here has wonderfully improved under the direction of Mr. William Stephenson, and the bioscope entertainment after the performance is an attraction.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Play entitled
"TWO LITTLE VAGABONDS."

Hardie and Von Leer's company are presenting the play by Geo. R. Sims and Arthur Shirley, entitled Two Little Vagabonds, at the Dalston Theatre this week to interested and delighted audiences. The piece is remarkably well presented. Mr. George Denham is a thoroughly gentlemanly George Thornton, having a true appreciation of his part; Mr. Herbert Standing, jun., as Captain Darville, also figures prominently in the piece; Mr. Harry Reynolds is decidedly good as Jim Scarth; the part of Bill Mullins is faithfully filled by Mr. Herbert Russell, who, despite his disreputable career, becomes quite a popular character with the audience; Dido Bunce, his confederate, has a striking representative in Mr. F. Litchfield; the "Cough Drop" is sketched with skill by Mr. Hal Charlton; and Leeson, the soldier-servant, becomes quite a distinctive personage as played by Mr. G. Valentine. Miss Dora Frank Harvey, as Marion Thornton, plays a womanly part, which directly touches the audience and secures her full sympathy, and the difficult rôle of Barbara Scarth is well portrayed by Miss Leonora Castelle. Miss Ethel Lodge provides an excellent character sketch of Biddy Mullins. The two little vagabonds are represented by Miss Chrissie Francess as Dick and Miss Ethel Frances Greene as Wally, and it is not too much to say that they make themselves the pets of the audience. This play is familiar to Dalston audiences, but that it is as popular as ever is demonstrated by the hearty applause heard at each performance.

THE CROWN, PECKHAM.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Drama entitled
"THE STILL ALARM."

An excellent audience assembled here on Monday to welcome a return visit from Messrs. Matthew H. Glenville and Fred Osmond's company in the above exciting piece, with which the popular manager, Mr. Cecil Paget, commences the autumn dramatic season. The drama has pathos and comedy in abundance, and a special feature is the elaborate Central Fire Station, New York, scene in the third act, and the marvellously quick departure of the engine for the scene of the fire. Mr. Matthew H. Glenville makes a spirited hero as the young fireman Jack Manley; Mr. Fred Osmond gives a capital character sketch as the eccentric Dr. Wilber; Miss Beatrice Shirley acts with emotion and charm as Elinor Fordham; Miss Hetty Zillwood is an attractive Carrie Wilber, her bickerings with her sweetheart, Willie Manley, a character well played by Mr. Tom Beasley, proving much to the taste of the audience. Mr. Gerald Kennedy is very well placed as the villain, John Bird; Mr. J. Sutton Pateman does excellently as Joe Jones; Miss Mabel Veriton makes a kindly Mrs. Manley; while Mr. Lewis Gordon is well in the picture as Franklyn Fordham. The singing of the Lyric Comedy Four also enhances the pleasure of the audience.

BOROUGH THEATRE, STRATFORD.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Drama, by Frederick Melville,
"THE UGLIEST WOMAN ON EARTH."

For the third week in succession the Brothers Melville have been responsible for the dramatic fare at the Stratford Borough Theatre, this week's attraction being The Ugliest Woman on Earth. The company is a highly capable one, and the piece is very appropriately staged. In the name-part, Miss Beatrice Homer plays with much histrionic ability. The handicap of being veiled until the close of the story detracts not one whit from the strong sympathetic interest taken in the character as portrayed by Miss Homer, and there is general satisfaction when the "Ugliest Woman" regains her wonted beauty. Mr. Philip Darian looks and acts the part of Jack Merriman admirably, his buoyant and virile performance meeting with general commendation. Mr. Leyton Cancellor submits a very sound performance as the rascally Hubert Gold, who is thus an object of extreme aversion to the more susceptible among the audience. Mr. Leonard Thackeray contributes a cleverly-drawn sketch of Antonio Luchesi; Mr. William de Brigord is an outspoken Tom Redvers; Mr. Gerald Nolan makes an impressive Dr. Carr; and a well-defined characterisation of Raggles comes from Mr. Harry Leyton. Miss Gertrude Harrison plays with considerable power and feeling as the vindictive Rose Courtenay, and Miss Violet Macaree is responsible for a graphic portrayal of the Italian girl, Morita. The plentiful "comic relief" is supplied by the exuberances of Tubby Herrick and his fiancée, Aggie Brown. Mr. Freddie Bentley as Tubby is delightfully droll, and fully maintains the high opinion we have hitherto held of this clever young comedian, who should soon find his way into high-class comedy. Miss Nellie Jackson is a bright and prepossessing Aggie. Minor parts are all in capable hands. Mr. Cecil De Lee is the courteous acting-manager for Mr. Frederick Melville.

In our report of the Marlborough Theatre last week, through programme error the name of Mr. Chas. Barstow was given as Mr. Norman V. Norman's manager. It should have been Mr. H. B. Hampton.

"The Law of Copyright," for actor and composer, by Albert A. Strong, LL.B. (Lond.). Price 3s. 6d., post free 3s. 10d. Published at The Era Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

"THE BEST OF HER SEX."

A Drama, in four acts, by William A. Armour and Robert Cheval, produced for the first time in London at the Theatre Royal, Stratford, on Monday, Aug. 31.

Lieut.-Colonel Sir Stanton Faringdon, J.P. — Mr. Herbert J. Walton
Philip Faringdon — Mr. Percy Horton
Leslie Verney — Mr. Henry Lloyd
Vera Delorme — Miss Dora Price
Ruth Raeburn — Miss Alvina Mining
Rev. Stephen Maxwell, M.A. — Mr. William A. Armour
Jake Smith — Mr. Herbert De Ville
P.C. Peter Jorkins — Mr. J. W. Hooper
Holy Joe — Mr. Dan Mining
Polly Perkins — Miss Alice Buckland
Simon Downy — Mr. Hume Fergus
Warder of Coombeminster Gaol — Mr. H. Ashton
Little Phil — Miss Dorothy Love
Detective Grey — Mr. Vincent Hales
Drunken Man — Mr. James Morgan

The Best of Her Sex is a drama of real sterling merit. It was originally produced on May 13, 1907, at the Colosseum, Oldham, and was voted an immediate success. The dramatic part of its story is not only extremely interesting, but is extremely well told, while the very plentiful humour which is introduced into it is of a most exhilarating order. Messrs. Armour and Cheval's play is, indeed, one of the best and strongest dramas on the road.

Lieut.-Colonel Sir Stanton Faringdon has three grandchildren—Philip Faringdon, Leslie Verney, and Vera Delorme. Philip is his nearest-of-kin, and, of course, the heir to his estates of Coombe. And Philip, we may say at once, is the hero of the play. He marries Sir Stanton's ward, Ruth Raeburn. The other two grandchildren, Leslie Verney and Vera Delorme, are the evil geniuses of the family. It is the former's desire to become possessed of the old man's property, and one way of accomplishing this is to murder Sir Stanton and get the responsibility for the crime placed upon the shoulders of Philip. This Verney succeeds in doing. Philip is charged with the commission of the awful deed, is sentenced to death—a punishment that is afterwards commuted to penal servitude for life. In the meantime, Ruth gives birth to a son, and thus, in the event of the death of her husband, a heir of line is assured to the Faringdon family. But for the present Ruth, in her troubles and her poverty, is being taken care of by the kind-hearted Rector of Coombe, the Rev. Stephen Maxwell. To the Vicarage comes Leslie Verney, who has the audacity to make affectionate advances to Ruth, although he has already promised to marry Vera. Ruth, of course, repels him, and he assaults her. A protector comes on the scene in the person of the Rector, who fells Leslie to the ground, and the latter feigns unconsciousness. Leslie overhears the Rector telling Ruth that she can meet her husband at an old bridge at night. Philip's escape from the penal settlement is due to the machinations of Vera and Leslie, the latter of whom has bribed a warder to let the convict escape so that they can shoot him. This plot fails owing to the friendly services of Joe, a reformed poacher, and Philip eventually escapes to South America. Ten years elapse, and we are taken to Joe's shop in the East End of London. Here are living Ruth and her son, the former making a somewhat exiguous livelihood as a nurse. Into the shop there enters a grey-haired, but still handsome, stranger. He is none other than Philip Faringdon, who, having made a fortune out of the discovery and exploitation of an oil well, has now returned to England to clear himself of the stigma attaching to his name, and to prove the identity of the real murderer of his grandfather. He meets with Leslie, whose latest plot is to kill Philip's little boy—a scheme which meets with the failure that characterised his previous evil designs in regard to the father. Philip, who has not yet been recognised by Leslie and his wife, is invited to their house to play cards. In a violent scene between husband and wife, the latter, in her rage at the ill-treatment she has suffered at the hands of her spouse, charges him with the murder of Sir Stanton Faringdon. Leslie is arrested, and thereby the play ends happily for our hero and heroine.

There is some capital acting. Mr. Percy Horton acts with vigour and virility in the rôle of Philip Faringdon, and gives us a fine study. Not less so does Mr. William A. Armour, who has some arduous work, which he accomplishes remarkably well, in the rôle of the Rev. Stephen Maxwell. Miss Alvina Mining wins everyone's sympathy for her charming and womanly portrayal of Ruth; and in Mr. Herbert J. Walton there is a dignified representative of Sir Stanton Faringdon. Mr. Henry Lloyd as Leslie Verney introduces a strong-minded villain, who is prepared to "go the whole hog"; while his companion in crime, Vera Delorme, is exceedingly well portrayed by Miss Dora Price. Mr. J. W. Hooper as Peter Jorkins is an extremely entertaining personage, and so also are the Joe of Mr. Dan Mining and the Simon Downey of Mr. Hume Fergus. Mr. James Morgan furnishes a vivid bit of characterisation in the fourth act, in which we see him in a delirium caused by drink. Miss Dorothy Love is quite engaging as the little son of Philip and Ruth; and Mr. Herbert de Ville as a footman and Mr. H. Ashton as a Warder, submit able impersonations. The Best of Her Sex is capitally mounted.

BROADWAY THEATRE, S.E.

On Monday, Aug. 31, the Opera by Gounod entitled
"FAUST."

The engagement of the Carl Rosa Opera Company is always one of the most interesting events of the theatrical season here, and this week the attendance is very large. The operas selected for representation this week include Faust, which was played on Monday. In this favourite opera Miss Elizabeth Burgess made an instant and unqualified success as Marguerite, her singing of the well-known numbers being delightful. Miss Christine Ritz looked, acted, and sang well as Siebel. Miss Douglas Wilson was an excellent Martha. Faust received admirable treatment at the hands of Mr. Walter Wheatley, whose vocalism was warmly applauded. Mr. Arthur Winckworth is one of our best Mephistopheles, and played and sang splendidly. Mr. Hebden Foster was very good indeed as Valentine; and Mr. Alexander Richards' Wagner was excellent. On Tuesday Tannhäuser was rendered with all-round success, but Mme. Kalna's Elizabeth calls for special praise. The Tannhäuser of Mr. Hanns Robert was a masterly performance, as was the Wolfram of Mr. Charles Victor. As the Landgrave Mr. Arthur Winckworth again distinguished himself. The other characters all received admirable treatment from Miss Beatrice Miranda (Venus), Miss Annie Walker (Shepherd Boy), Mr. A. Richard, Mr. Charles Brierley, Mr. Albert Felton, and Mr. William O'Connor.

"Mrs. Dot," at the Comedy, reached its 150th performance last evening.

The Three Choirs celebration at Worcester starts the provincial festivals this year on Sept. 6. The novelties to be given are a second "Wand of Youth" suite by Elgar, an orchestral poem, "Pierrot," by Granville Bantock, a setting by Dr. Brewer of Henley's "England, my England," and Parry's "Beyond these voices there is peace," and a "Festival Monologue" for organ by Mr. W. Wolstenholme. "The Kingdom" and "Gerontius," and Stanford's "Stabat Mater" are the chief modern choral works in the remaining list.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.

The weekly meeting of the Actors' Association Council was held at 409, Strand, on Tuesday, when there were present: Mr. Robson Paige (in the chair), Mr. H. W. Mote (Hon. Solicitor), Messrs. Clarence Derwent, C. F. Collings, Sebastian Smith, F. Annerley, and Hubert Blount (Secretary).

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and passed.

The Secretary read a letter from a member with regard to the state of some of the dressing-rooms at a provincial theatre, and was instructed to write to the manager to the effect that the Council's attention had been called to the bad ventilation in some of the dressing-rooms and the open sinks in the basement in three of the rooms under the stage and stating that they were sure that they had only to call his attention to the matter for it to be put right. The Secretary was instructed to put this matter on the agenda each week until an answer had been received. The Secretary also read letters re new premises.

A letter was also read from the Actors' Union asking that representatives of the Actors' Association might be appointed to meet representatives of the Sketch Artists' Society and the N.A.T.E. on Wednesday, Sept. 2, at the Actors' Union offices to discuss the arguments to be raised in support of the motions to be put before the Trades Union Congress next week. Mr. Derwent and Mr. Paige were chosen to attend the meeting.

The Hon. Solicitor reported that he had had an interview with a member and had advised her, that he had written to a member advising him, and that he had written two letters to a manager on behalf of a member in accordance with instructions.

Four members promised assistance to the staff during the present month.

The Secretary reported two engagements made since the last meeting of the Council.

"AN AGENT ON AGENTS."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

Sir,—The letter signed by Mr. Herbert Blackmore and recently published in a contemporary was full of plain and honest truth, and Mr. Blackmore is quite correct when he states that the profession is "overcrowded with useless people" who seem to take no note of the fact that the entertainment business necessitates real hard work.

There can be no doubt that if aspirants to stage honours made up their minds to fall in with the dictum continually propounded by Mr. Charles Manners—namely, to start at the bottom of the ladder and exert themselves to climb the said ladder by sheer force of merit—the stage would benefit hugely all round, as it is a sine qua non that the public have a peculiar aptitude for following earnest artists and encouraging them to make further efforts in their laudable efforts to entertain. En passant, let it be remembered that the secret of the success of the variety stage is individual effort.

We have only to take a casual view of the theatrical profession, and there is no difficulty in placing the workers who have reached the pinnacle of fame, and who labour, not only from a pecuniary motive, but also because they instinctively feel that their mission in life is to add a quota towards providing relaxation in the form of wholesome entertainment to their fellows, which mission is an important one, and not entirely useless in the proper workings of the sphere of civilisation.

Stage aspirants should first of all make up their minds to assiduously study and practise for all they are worth, to avoid alluring advertisements mentioned by Mr. Blackmore, and to bear in mind the fact that "hard work kills no man," and that those artists who help themselves can never fail to be pushed forward by both agents and managers, for the simple reason that their own energies bring them into the full glare of the footlights, as is evidenced by the brilliant careers of our leading actors and actresses.

Mr. Henry Tweedie, too, strikes, the correct note in his letter published in your last issue re the "waiting game" in an agent's office, and it would appear possible to make improvements herein. Mr. Tweedie is right when he says that many sensitive temperaments have a distinct horror of this peculiar modus operandi, and perhaps miss opportunities in consequence thereof.—Yours faithfully,

W. SCOTT PHIPP,
Acting-Manager, Butterflies.

Apollo Theatre, W., Sept. 1.

The Devonport Watch Committee had before them on Monday an application from Mr. George S. King, the manager of the Metropole Theatre, for a renewal of the stage-play licence. Mr. King asked for the removal of the clause which specified that the pit bar should not be used for the sale of intoxicating liquors. The results of the insertion of the clause, he assured them, would be disastrous. There were only three bars at the Metropole—the gallery floor bar, the circle bar, and the ground floor bar, which had to serve the pit and the stalls. When exceptional attractions were provided, such as the production of Hall Caine's The Christian or the Moody-Manners' Opera Company, the numbers were very large. During the period the Moody-Manners' Company was at the theatre the average nightly attendance on the ground floor was 700. The company itself numbered eighty, and so there were practically 800 persons deprived of getting any refreshment whatever. The time during which drink was served in the theatre, he urged, did not amount on the whole to more than an hour during the evening. The committee consulted in private, and announced that the matter had been referred to the theatrical sub-committee, who would visit the theatre and report to the full committee on the 10th inst.

"The Mollusc" received its American production on Monday, when it was staged at the Garrick Theatre, New York. Mr. Joseph Coyne and Miss Alexandra Carlisle, in the principal parts, met with an enthusiastic reception.

The Sheffield Festival begins on Oct. 5. The only actual new work is Delius' "Sea Drift." César Franck's "Beatitudes," Dr. Walford Davies' "Everyman," Debussy's "L'Enfant Prodigue," Verdi's Requiem, the Matthew Passion, the Choral Symphony, and Kinsky-Karakov's "Christmas Eve" suite make up the bulk of the programme, which Mr. Henry Wood is conducting.

The Bristol Festival begins on Oct. 14. Stanford's "Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington," and Mr. Cyril Rodham's "Andromeda" are the novelties, and a symphony by Kallinikov and Felix Woyssch's Passion Music are other interesting items. At the Norwich Festival, which starts on Oct. 28, Hugo Wolf's "Christmas Night" will be performed in England for the first time, and Mr. Julius Harrison's prize cantata, "Cleopatra," will be produced. Debussy's "Blessed Damozel" and Dvorak's "Stabat Mater" will also be given.

St. Albans has produced a musical prodigy in a boy born sightless, who at the age of nine years exhibits such extraordinary talent that the local Board of Guardians have decided to pay the scholarship examination fees for him at the Royal College of Music. When he was little more than a baby his mother taught him notes, and soon afterwards he was able to reproduce popular airs and extemporise his own accompaniments. At Thursday's meeting of the guardians he rendered several classical selections with brilliant technique and expression, and also played a number of his own compositions.

THE DRAMA IN PARIS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, Sept. 3.—MM. Porel and Peter Carin, managers of the Vaudeville, announce that they intend to bring out the following novelties in the course of next season:—La Patronne, five-act comedy by M. Maurice Donnay; Maître Cupidon, four-act comedy by M. Michel Provins; Le Lys, four acts, by MM. Pierre Wolff and Gaston Leroux; Sa maison en ordre, by Mr. Pinero, adapted by MM. Bienstock and Balzagette; La Meilleure des Femmes, four-act comedy by MM. Paul Bilhaud and Maurice Hennequin; La Route d'Emeraude, drama in five acts, in verse, by M. Richepin; L'Expert, four-act comedy by M. Bourget; a four-act comedy by M. Alfred Capus; and two revivals, Patachon and Mariage d'Etoile. Mmes. Jeanne Granier, Marthe Brandès, Marthe Regnier, Jeanne Rolly, Cécile Caron, and MM. Tarride, Lérand, Décori, Noblet, and Lévesque are among the "stars" of the company.

THE Ambigu will start its season with a revival of Roger-la-honte, a work that always remains popular with the frequenters of that house. The principal rôles will be interpreted by MM. Séverin-Mars, Rosny, Dieudonné, and Mmes. Gabrielle Fleury, Cécile Barré, Doriane, and Louise Roger. The first new piece to be brought out there will be L'Agence Legris, a drama by M. Jacques Roullet, for which Mlle. Paule Andral, of the Vaudeville, has been specially engaged. We are also promised another drama, Mon Ami l'Assassin, five acts and six tableaux, by MM. Serge Basset and Antoine Yvan.

SEVERAL papers having announced that MM. Robert de Flers and A. de Caillavet intend bringing out an operette at the Parisiana, these gentlemen write to say that there is not a word of truth in this statement. But why do they assume an indignant tone?

I HAVE to announce the death of M. Campo-Casso, who passed away at the Maison Dubois after a long and painful illness. M. Campo-Casso's name will be familiar to many Englishmen, considering that at one time he was one of the managers of the Paris Opéra. It was he who brought out two of the greatest successes of the répertoire, Salammbô and Samson et Dalila. The latter work was his favourite, and, curiously enough, was given at the Opéra on the very night he breathed his last. After his departure from the Opéra, M. Campo-Casso became manager of the Lyons Municipal theatre, and for a time was also connected with the Grand Theatre in Marseilles and the Théâtre de la Monnaie in Brussels.

MM. MESSAGER AND BROUSSAN, managers of the Opéra, have issued a ukase that will be received with dismay by the frequenters of that house. During the performances of the Crépuscule des Dieux nobody will be allowed to enter or leave the house. Late comers will have to wait till the act is finished, and those who would like to get away before the others will have to remain seated. Lovers of music will applaud the management's decision, but they are in the minority. The fashionable portion of the audience—the same, I fear, applies to London and other big cities—do not care a jot about music. I do not mean to say that everybody is like my old Scotch friend who loathes music, but has a box at opera because it is the only place where he can sleep. The stalls, dress circle, and boxes here are filled with people who come to see, to be seen, and especially to hear the latest scandal. Oh, these couloirs in our opera! More people's reputations are taken away there than in the remainder of the capital. If only they dared, our mondains and mondaines would continue to walk up and down the lobbies all night and not show themselves in the house. Were this allowed, the takings would no doubt increase considerably. But the hateful bell gives the signal that the entr'acte has come to an end, and the pleasant conversation is brought to an abrupt close. No, not abrupt. The ladies want to hear the end of the story about the young Vicomte's intrigue with the banker's wife, and the curtain has risen fully five minutes when we still hear a banging of doors and stamping of feet, that effectually drown the performance. There are, it is true, people in the house, in the cheap places, who have paid to listen to the work. Their limited means do not often allow them such a treat, and they inwardly curse the well-dressed crowd who wantonly mar their pleasure. But neither curses nor remonstrances have any effect on that category of people; and MM. Messager and Broussan have understood this so well that instead of a gentle appeal to their sense of politeness (?), they have brutally forbidden them to turn the house into a bear garden during the performance of Wagner's great work.

APROPOS of a theatrical lawsuit wherein an actress, jealous of the jeune premier's success, purposely trod on his corn whilst he delivered his pathetic tirade, one of our witty confrères tells an amusing story of a young tenor, a beginner, who had aroused the anger of the prima donna. The latter, having accidentally discovered that the youth had a horror of strong scents, pinned some strong-smelling orange blossom to her dress. The singer turned pale, and sang so badly that the public murmured. But the tenor was equal to the occasion. On the following night, in the great love scene, whilst he clasped the lady in his arms, he not only breathed words of love, but also sent a whiff of garlic into her face, at which she uttered a shriek. The next night the soprano wore imitation flowers, and her companion had omitted the garlic.

THE CENSORSHIP AGAIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—Would you very kindly allow me to point out that it is quite useless for us dramatic authors to attack Mr. Redford personally, as some appear to be doing, indirectly. Mr Redford is a very estimable gentleman, and socially and privately "one of the best," but he does not pose as a judge of a play, i.e., being either a work of art or even as a work of intelligence. He has, as he once told me in an interview I had with him, to carry out certain rules as a paid servant of the State, and that if we dramatic authors objected to such rules we should agitate to get them altered. He sympathised with me in the rejection he made for two licences I applied for at the time, an adaptation of Milton's "Paradise Lost" and Count Leo Tolstoy's great story of the early Christian martyrs, viz., "Work while ye have the light," which I also adapted for our stage, with special permission by Count Tolstoy, the grounds for the rejection being that they were "Scriptural and against the Lord Chamberlain's rules." He praised my humble work, and stated also he had shown it to the Lord Chamberlain, who had also spoken highly of it; but he was very sorry to refuse such licences. We cannot, however, as a craft, but look upon such primitive rules as wholly unwarrantable, and of a stultifying, restrictive character, which is not justified in these enlightened days. I keenly sympathise with Mr. Courtney, but he must be aware that, whilst to aim high in playwriting is theatrical bad shooting, to strive to place on our stage a subject which the Lord Chamberlain's rules clearly forbid is futile. We can all read the story he has, I feel sure, so ably dramatised; but, with others, he must find consolation in the fact that he is the victim of antiquated rules which are an anachronism, and which we, as dramatic authors, must agitate to alter if the English stage is to be free from those malignant growths, in the shape of slushy plays and so-called musical comedies, which are at present undermining its very existence.—Yours faithfully,

WALTER STEPHENS.

London, W. Aug. 30.

THE MERRY WIDOW.

MISS GEORGIE CORLASS.

BANDMANN OPERA CO.

To-night Miss Georgie Corlass, the leading lady of the Bandmann Opera Company, will take her farewell benefit at the Theatre Royal, when that most attractive piece The Merry Widow will be staged, with Miss Corlass in the title-rôle.

In June, 1905, Miss Corlass made her first bow before a Calcutta audience, and was at once installed prime favourite, a place she has since held consistently. Of her it may be truly said: "Age cannot wither her, nor custom stale her infinite variety." By this we do not mean to imply that Calcutta's "only Georgie" is "aged." It is rather in a Pickwickian sense, if we "may say so" (Nisch in The Merry Widow); for her appearance on the stage every night is always the occasion for enthusiastic applause. She is equally popular with the boxes, dress stalls, gallery, and pit. This being so, a few facts about this popular stage favourite may be of interest to our readers.

Miss Georgie Corlass was, like Max Adeler, born "at an exceedingly early age." Our "Own," who tried to get a few particulars from Georgie's own lips, failed to arrive at the precise Anno Domini when she burst upon an astonished world. But she admits having been "a mere girl" when she first appeared before the footlights in Battersby's Juvenile Opera Company. She was among the chorus, "somewhere in the back row." Mr. Bandmann remembers seeing her in a children's pantomime in Newcastle, and we have it on his authority that that was the most successful "panto" that Newcastle ever saw. It ran for twenty weeks, and the coal-miners and others engaged in digging up that necessary article of domestic use forgot all about their business; they even lost sight of—for at least nineteen weeks—the old adage about "carrying coals to Newcastle." It was at this time that Mr. Bandmann's discriminating eye first took note of Georgie, and when he was making up his great mind about bringing out an opera company to the East he, like Captain Cuttle, "overhauled the book" and looked up that "note" he made at Newcastle. This is the true history of how Georgie

[Photo by Farsari.

MISS GEORGIE CORLASS.

Corlass came to be a member of the Bandmann Opera Company.

Since then Miss Corlass has taken no fewer than fifty principal parts, and has learnt and sung no less than 200 songs, a feat which must be regarded as wonderful in one so young. Indeed, this is regarded as a quite unique record, and it is doubtful if there are many on the stage who can claim to have done anything like this performance. She is as successful in comedy and drama as she has proved herself in musical comedy. She was not quite a year with Mr. Bandmann when she came out to the East, and has travelled all over the world—China, Japan, Straits, Java, Canada, West Indies, Bermuda, British Guiana, the Mediterranean ports, and Cairo; and of course India, Burma, and Ceylon. Mr. Bandmann has given her a farewell benefit in every town she has played in, the house on every such occasion being packed to the doors.

Miss Corlass says she likes Calcutta and Calcutta audiences. She has enjoyed herself exceedingly in our city, where she has been the recipient of much kindness. She really loves her profession, and though she has to work hard, it is made up to her in the pleasant time she has had. She had heard that Calcutta audiences were very fickle, but her experience has been a direct contradiction to this libel. Her favourite character is the Merry Widow, in which, as we all know, she has scored such a decided success in Calcutta; and as she will for the last time appear in that rôle to-night, she feels certain—and so do we—that the house will be packed.

She leaves Calcutta on Wednesday next by the Simla, and goes straight home to rest and recoup after her arduous labours. She is doubtful about coming out again to India. But there is no knowing, and the glamour of the East may attract her again. We therefore wish her bon voyage and a right good time in the old country. Of course, Calcutta will miss her greatly, and we hope will show its appreciation of this gifted actress by gathering in its hundreds.—Englishman, July 20, 1908.

The Theatre Royal was packed last night in every part, and the enthusiasm of the audience was unbounded. The occasion was Miss Georgie Corlass's farewell benefit performance before leaving for Europe. No public performer has a warmer place in the hearts of the Calcutta public than Miss Corlass, and the real affection with which she is regarded was notably demonstrated last night when she first came on the stage, when in the second act she was the recipient of a number of magnificent floral tributes—the cheering of the audience lasted for about ten minutes on this occasion—at the close of the performance, and a dozen other times during the evening. And Miss Corlass deserves it all. Her vivacity and charm, her ready humour, her ingenuous larkiness, and her facility and quickness in establishing a spirit of good-fellowship with her audiences will be sadly missed until she comes back, as everyone hopes she will. We may have other popular artists in the future, but we shall never have another who will be quite the same to us as "Georgie," as the people in the pit like to call her. The occasion should have been one for tears, but Miss Corlass gave us no time to think of the sadness of the occasion. She played the part of the Merry Widow with all her customary buoyancy, and the company generously aided her efforts to make the evening one of enjoyment without thought of the sad blank that is to follow.—Statesman, July 21, 1908.

"THE DIVER'S LUCK" REVIVED.

Rewritten up to date by Andrew Melville, the above Play was Reproduced at the Metropole Theatre, Birmingham, on Monday, Aug. 31.

Martin Faber	MR. HARRY CULLENFORD
Barney Bawn	MR. FRED A. MARSTON
Tom Hall	MR. WILLIAM J. MILLER
Maurice Wyngate	MR. FREDK. SCRAFH
Pedro	MR. KENDREW MILSON
Captain Halton	MR. LYONS JOHNSON
Snowball	MR. JOE ROWLAND
Tracy	MR. ARTHUR BARNETT
Track	MR. FREDK. PARKER
Finch	MR. WILBY BROOKS
Hathaway	MR. ANGUS GORING
Bolter	MR. G. H. FULFORD
Lieut. Turner	MR. PERCY BRAITHWAITE
Dr. Shurton	MR. ARTHUR PICKERING
Winnie Hall	MISS HALLIE HASLEWOOD
P.C. Whopping	MR. JAMES SAXBY
Peggy Mahoney	MISS DORIS DALLIMORE
Solomon Isaacs	MR. ARNOLD WINTERS
Helen Wyngate	MISS MAMIE STANTON

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

This truly exciting drama came originally from the pens of Mr. Fred Cooke and Mr. W. R. Waldron, and was first produced at the Theatre Royal, Jarrow, on May 30, 1887. Mr. Cooke ran the piece for a long period through London and the provinces. It was also secured by the late Andrew Melville, who played it many times at the Standard Theatre, London, and other theatres; and now his son, the present Mr. Andrew Melville, has taken the play in hand and, having rewritten and brought it up to date, is taking it on tour. At the revival on Monday it was at once evident that Mr. Melville had attacked the work of resuscitation in no half-hearted fashion, he having equipped the play with new scenery, by Mr. Alfred Whyatt.

The play opens at the penal settlement at Borneo, where we see Maurice Wyngate, who has a fortune in diamonds, located with his daughter Helen. A suitor for Helen's hand is Martin Faber, the diver, who, having finished his diving operations, is about to depart for England with his servant, Barney Bawn. Faber has just ere this succoured a convict escaped from the penal settlement named Tom Hall, alias Cranston. Faber, on his leave-taking with Helen, is telling her the story, which it seems was one of forgery, never dreaming that her father was implicated. Hall, discovering that Wyngate has the diamonds, essays with an Italian, Pedro, to get away with them, but is surprised through the watchfulness of a comic negro servant, Snowball, who retails the plot to Barney. Hall, in a struggle with Barney, falls into the hands of the police, who are seeking him, and he is taken back to the settlement. We are next on board the good ship Lucy, bound for England, with the Wyngates, Faber, and Barney and Snowball. The crew being down with fever, the captain is obliged to take up a foreign crew, which includes the Italian, Pedro, and no less a person than Tom Hall, who has escaped again. To get the Wyngates and Faber into their power, this precious pair scuttle all the boats save one, which they fill with provisions, and conceal a keg of gunpowder to blow up the ship, at the same time inciting the crew to mutiny. The faithful Snowball is again the happy means of saving the situation by discovering the plot and disclosing the news to Faber, who commands the captain to call the crew on deck. They refuse to acknowledge him, and Hall and his confederate Pedro demand the lives of Wyngate and Faber, when Barney comes to the rescue with the keg of gunpowder, which he has discovered, and threatens, unless the crew submit, to blow the ship up. This was one of the dramatic moments of the play and evoked thunders of applause for the faithful Barney. The crew capitulate for a time, but Hall succeeds at last, and the ship is scuttled and sinks, and a passing steamer picks up all the crew and passengers, with the exception of Wyngate, who goes down with his fortune. We next find ourselves at the docks at England, some few years later, at the time that the cable was being laid from England to America, the operations being conducted from the Great Eastern, then the largest ship afloat. Martin Faber is bidding his sweetheart good-bye. More divers being required, we find Tom Hall among the successful applicants. The ship reaches mid-ocean and is found above the very spot where the Lucy and Wyngate, with his diamonds, went down, and Martin decides to descend. Next Martin Faber and Tom Hall are seen working at the bed of the ocean, where lies the wrecked ship Lucy. Martin is seen fighting his way through the wreckage followed by Hall, when the former comes across the casket containing the diamonds that belong to the drowned man. Wyngate. He has grasped the prize, when Hall, creeping up, severs the air-tube, releases the weights, and takes off the boots, letting the body float to the surface, first having secured his booty, the casket of diamonds. The crime has not been unseen, for the faithful Barney was present on the ladder, yet unable to assist. He ascends the ladder, with Hall, just as the attendants are removing Faber's helmet, and on Hall suggesting that his victim has been accidentally drowned, Barney ejaculates "No! not drowned, but murdered!"

In the last act we are landed at the great city of London in mid-winter. Hall, having become blind and dipsomaniacal, is dependent on his daughter to lead him about from place to place, and to appease his craving for drink he compels her to pledge one of the stolen diamonds. The pawnbroker suspecting it to be stolen, the girl Winnie is arrested, and thus the sins of the father are visited on the daughter. Helen Wyngate, by a fortunate circumstance, happening on the spot and promising to take the girl from her evil surroundings, she is set free. Helen, on eliciting the name of the girl she has befriended, finds of course she is none other than the daughter of the man who has despoiled her of her fortune, and at once proceeds with her protegée to the villain's lodging in the slums, where in his delirium we see him going through the awful act of his crime. Pedro, who is on the scene and has all along urged Hall to his destruction, is waiting for an opportune moment to get away with the diamonds, and Hall, in one of his paroxysms, dying, he grasps them and with an accomplice, Bolter, turns to fly, to be confronted with the indignant Helen. A fierce but unequal struggle ensues, when, behold! Martin Faber appears, miraculously recovered, with his faithful henchman, Barney, and the situation and the diamonds are saved. The two culprits are placed in the hands of the police, the diamonds are proved to belong to Helen, who presents them, together with herself, to Martin.

Mr. Harry Cullenford, as the intrepid diver, Martin Faber, acted very finely throughout, gaining breathless attention "under water" and stentorian cheers at the finish. Mr. William J. Miller acted with all the low cunning and vindictiveness of the utterly callous and unscrupulous convict, Tom Hall, while the delirium described above kept the audience riveted. Mr. Kendrew Milson as the Italian scoundrel, Pedro, was very good; Mr. Fredk. Scrafh showed excellent ability as Maurice Wyngate, while as his daughter, Helen, Miss Mamie Stanton acted with a charm and sympathy that held the audience quite enraptured; Mr. Fred A. Marston renewed his popularity with a stirring and breezy impersonation of Barney Bawn, his obvious sincerity and rich flow of humour being in complete accord with the part, and his sweetheart, Peggy Mahoney, was vivaciously represented by Miss Doris Dallimore; Miss Hallie Haslewood acted as Winnie with melting pathos, and won great compassion for the unhappy and persecuted girl. Mr. Joe Rowland was much cheered for his good services as the loyal Snowball, and Mr. G. H. Fulford as Bolter and the remainder of the cast did well.

WENTWORTH CROKE—AN IMPRESSION.

There was a time, and not so many years ago—it was the period when Marie Wilton, as she then was—she is now Lady Bancroft—converted what was called "The Dust Hole" in the Tottenham Court-road into the Prince of Wales's Theatre, when the theatrical manager was a modified edition of Dickens's "Crummles." He was loud of voice and blatant of manner. Alcohol persuaded him, and he smoked the cheap cigar which poor dead and gone Phil May called "managerial fourpennys." "Nous avons changé tout cela." To-day the exploiter of theatrical enterprise who at present lives is an entirely different product. Mr. Wentworth Croke has arrived. He has got there. He controls six touring companies, besides being the managing-director of the Shakespeare Theatre, Liverpool, and the proprietor of the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith. Mr. Wentworth Croke was educated at Evesham Grammar School, then graduated at Trinity Hall, Cambridge, and afterwards had a commercial training in a big railway company—the G.W.R. His first connection with the stage was as business-manager for Florodora, with Mr. Tom B. Davies, who pulls the strings which are important to many London and provincial theatres. He afterwards, seeing the possibilities, bought the rights outside London of Florodora, and toured it for several years. Then, to increase his experience, he was manager for Miss Kate Vaughan; also, he exploited Miss Minnie Palmer for a period. This tour he made a success, and it was a scarlet feather in his cap. His next venture was with Clyde Meynell, when he produced Three of a Suit, written by Forbes Dawson. It was the late Lord Beaconsfield who said, "Adventures come to the adventurous." This is true; but luck also comes to those who are born under the star felicitous. Mr. Wentworth Croke must have been born under that star. Ten years ago he foregathered with Hall Caine, before the Manx author reached his present position, and he secured the first version of The Christian, which he toured for nine years. To-day Mr. Wentworth Croke is touring the new version of The Christian, The Bondman, and The Prodigal Son.

A comparatively young man with a fine future

[Photo by Draycott Galleries.

MR. WENTWORTH CROKE.

before him, if he chooses to pursue the profession in which he has embarked, Mr. Wentworth Croke has such clean-cut ideas. He has assimilated the old rhyme-writer's opinion as exemplified in the couplet:—

"The drama's laws the drama's patrons give,
And he who lives to please must please to live."

As is well known in Liverpool, Mr. Croke has taken hold of the management of the Shakespeare Theatre with no uncertain hand, and intends to have everything of the best. He has entered into an arrangement with Mr. Tom B. Davis by which the two will jointly run the pantomime season at that house for the coming Christmas, and for two or three seasons to follow. Mr. Croke and Mr. Davis have been jointly interested before in musical comedy ventures, so that it is only in accordance with the fitness of things that they should combine in the exploitation of pantomime. For the coming season the subject is Jack and the Beanstalk, and it is now an open secret that the Liverpool public can look forward to seeing Miss Ada Reeve as Jack. The book is being written specially by Mr. James Hewson—so well known to all local playgoers—with a view to fitting Miss Reeve with a part worthy of her great talents. The mounting is receiving the personal attention of Mr. Davis. Some important scenes will be supplied by the resident artist at the Shakespeare, Mr. T. Holmes; and the stage will be under the direction of Mr. E. T. Steyne, who has been responsible for some of the most successful pantomimes produced in Liverpool. Special music is being written by Mr. Guy Jones, whose successful début as a composer in London with the production of The Gay Gordons at the Aldwych has proved him to be a worthy member of the family that has given us Mr. Sydney Jones, whose name will be for ever famous as the composer of The Geisha.

Of course, there will be the usual popular songs of the day, not only for Miss Reeve, who will also introduce some songs specially written for her, but there will also be on hand with some good songs with tuneful choruses Mr. Fred Allendale, who made such a distinct success in Aladdin at the same house. A most important engagement is that of Mr. Lauri de Frece, a name most familiar to all who are interested in the entertainment world in Liverpool. Other engagements include Mr. Dan Crawley as the Dame and the Brothers Griffiths.

AT the King's Theatre, Gateshead, the Xentrix present a delightful act, The Garden of Terpsichore, this week; Bennett and Martell prove grotesquely funny in The Shipwrecked Mariners; Maud Hillman and Maurice Russell are seen to advantage in a high-class vocal duologue; Alex. Prince, concertina soloist, is warmly praised for his excellent work; Geo. Bernard is an entertaining actor-vocalist; Sandy and Carl are an amusing and clever pair; Hicks and Hunter, skating dancers, are entertaining; and the bill is completed by Vernon's Pictures.

At the Theatre Royal, Smethwick, Mrs. Sam Duckworth's company, in a new domestic drama, Her Nameless Child, has been well received. Mr. J. W. Evelyn as Anthony Ford is worthy of special mention; Miss Pattie Hastings enlists sympathy for Phyllis Ford; Mr. Sydney C. Cranston is successful as Arthur Ford; Mr. Arthur E. Pringle is an able Lord Henry Woodville, whose cat's paw, Mongrole, is cleverly portrayed by Mr. Frank Thompson; Miss Mona Grey is a powerful Lady Woodville; and Mr. Larry Clements a droll Tom Rivers. Miss Geraldine Verner makes an admirable lady's maid.

"THE DUKE'S MOTTO."

A Melodrama, in Four Acts, by Justin McCarthy, Produced at the Theatre Royal, Birmingham, on Monday, Aug. 31.

Louis XIII.	MR. TOM HESSLEWOOD
Louis de Nevers	MR. OWEN ROUGHWOOD
Louis de Gonzague	MR. FRANKLIN DYALL
Cocardasse	MR. HERBERT JARMAN
Passepoil	MR. ALEC THOMPSON
Peyrolles	MR. HUBERT DRUCE
Æsop	MR. A. E. GEORGE
Staupitz	MR. J. H. IRVINE
Faenza	MR. CATON WOODVILLE
Saldagno	MR. REGINALD DANE
Pepe	MR. FRANK RIDLEY
Pinto	MR. CRONIN WILSON
Hoel	MR. GEOFFREY SAVILLE
Chavernais	MR. SHIEL BARRY
Tavannes	MR. J. V. HENRY
Navailles	MR. GEORGE HARRINGTON
Noce	MR. JAMES HARRISON
Oriol	MR. PATRICK DIGAN
Berichen	MASTER HARRY DUFF
Bonnivet	MR. D. BARTUN
Landlord of Inn	MR. CHARLES CECIL
Grieveau	MR. PAUL SUTCLIFFE
Henri de Lagardere	MR. LEWIS WALLER
Blanche de Nevers	MISS VALLI VALLI
Gabrielle de Gonzague	MISS SYBIL CARLISLE
Flora	MISS DOROTHY MINTO
Cidalis	MISS GWENDOLIN FLOYD
Martine	MISS MAUDE DIGAN
Brigitte	MISS MAUDE CHENERY

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The original of The Duke's Motto—Le Bossu, as it was called in the French—was first produced at the Porte St. Martin, Paris, in September, 1862, thus anticipating Mr. Lewis Waller's production by just forty-six years.

The story has been made familiar to playgoers since 1863 by successive adaptations into English; and the main outlines of the plot are as well remembered by many old playgoers as those of The Colleen Bawn or Green Bushes. The central character, which has been impersonated successively by Fechter, Henry Neville, Edmund Tearle, and J. H. Clyndes, is Henri de la Gardère, a romantic swashbuckler, whose motto is "I am here!" and who is "on the spot" when wanted for the many emergencies of an elaborate and intricate plot, which we do not propose to weary our readers by describing in detail. Let it suffice to state that Louis de Nevers, a French noble, is attacked in a forest by a gang of ruffians hired by his cousin, Louis de Gonzague. Henri, unable to save the life of Louis, rescues from the assassins his baby daughter, Blanche. Seventeen years elapse. De Gonzague has married de Nevers' widow, and Blanche has been brought up in ignorance of her parentage. De Gonzague tries to pass off upon his wife a gipsy girl named Flora as the missing daughter, and in the palace of Gonzague we see Flora, in her new state, fearful of her reception by her "mother," the Princess, who, prompted by Lagardere, disguised still as the defunct Æsop, repudiates the relation. Lagardere, in his new guise, carries on the functions of Æsop as Gonzague's confidant, and by reason of it has gained an interview with the Princess, having assured her, without disclosing his real identity, that that night her daughter shall be restored to her. It is at the King's ball in the gardens of the Palais Royal that Lagardere proposes to restore the daughter and denounce the murderer; and Blanche, guarded by the faithful Cocardasse and Passepoil, is moving among the dancers, when Gonzague, lighting upon her, gets the assistance of his creatures to hustle the trio, and substitutes another lady in a similar rose-coloured domino in her place. On Lagardere failing to produce the girl to the King, Gonzague denounces him for his own crime. The King waxes impatient, but being reminded by Lagardere of his promise of safe conduct holds to his word, and Lagardere disappears, vowing yet to produce the girl. Relapsing once more into his Æsopian guise, Lagardere instructs his fellows, Cocardasse and Passepoil, to repair to Gonzague's palace, whither the girl has haply been borne. Here we see Gonzague making merry with his creatures at the exploit, when "Æsop" appears and propounds a scheme to him, by which he proposes to marry the girl, and so spare Gonzague the trouble of putting her away. Gonzague laughingly assents, incredulous of the girl's consent; but it so happens that she loves the gallant soldier who has ever watched over her, so when he, unknown to the others, reveals himself to her, she agrees joyfully, and the marriage contract is drawn up and signed by all but the disguised Lagardere, who promises them a little surprise when he does so. He does eventually sign, and great is the amazement and confusion when Gonzague, coming to look, cries aghast, "What! Lagardere?" "Yes!" he cries; and, throwing off his disguise and drawing the devoted girl to his side, he stands defiant before them just as the doors are being hammered loudly and a voice exclaims, "Open in the King's name!" The King enters, wroth at finding the doors barred, when Lagardere rings out his denunciation of the real assassin of Louis de Nevers, and dares him to produce the packet, wherein he declares will be found the assassin's name, which the dying man traced with his fingers, dipped in his own blood, and which Gonzague secured from the abducted girl. This packet Gonzague essays to destroy—a damning proof of his fear of the contents, and likewise his guilt. The Princess is restored a daughter of whose bond fides there is no possible doubt, with a handsome, gallant son-in-law to boot, while her knavish husband, Gonzague, meets his proper end.

Mr. Waller has a fine character in Henri de Lagardere, which just suits his romantic, ornate style. His graceful actions, strong personality, and physique, his virility, and above all his splendid gift of raillery, which pervades the play, are exactly in tone with the rôle, and no wonder the audience rang out its enthusiasm in such volumes. Miss Valli Valli, though familiar to Birmingham playgoers, has never appeared to such advantage as in her present part, Blanche de Nevers, her acting of which was a pleasant surprise to all. She drew much sympathy for the orphaned child, and in her confession of love for her saviour and guardian gave an impression of devotion which well became the character. Miss Sybil Carlisle as the wife and mother bereft of her all showed the dignity and resignation expected of the character. Miss Dorothy Minto as Flora, the girl they would foist on the unhappy mother for her own, realised the character fully, the child's anxiety to please and be loved being very naturally portrayed. Mr. Tom Hesslewood played well as the King, Louis XIII.; Mr. Owen Roughwood did his brief portion as Louis de Nevers perfectly well; Mr. Franklin Dyall was suave and dissimulating to a degree as the cowardly assassin, Louis de Gonzague, and completely realised the rôle; Messrs. Herbert Jarman and Alec Thompson as Cocardasse and Passepoil were very good and amusing with their dissimilar styles and statures; Mr. Herbert Druce was rotund, oily, and sleek, as became his part of Peyrolles; Mr. A. E. George's study of Æsop commanded attention at all times with its sinister influence; and Mr. Shiel Barry gave a light and humorous touch to the part of Chavernais, a foppish gallant, who, taking a lesson in manners and morals from the hero, adheres to it ever after. The scenery also is very excellent, calling forth applause in every instance; the dresses, which are designed by Mr. Hesslewood, are very correct; the music is specially composed by Mr. Frederick Rosse; and the fights are arranged by Mr. Felix Bertrand and the dances by Mr. John D'Auban.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

Mr. Beerbohm Tree's production of Faust this evening will be a revelation in stage setting, even for His Majesty's. Almost from front to back the whole floor of the stage will open up to allow of the elaborate working of a weird spectacular effect. In response to Faust's challenge to Mephistopheles to give some evidence of his supernatural powers, Faust sees a hill rent asunder at the command of the fiend, and a vision of the historical queens of beauty passes before him, the long procession being ended by Margaret, with her dead child at her feet.

Amongst the distinguished audience at the Duke of York's Theatre for the first representation of Mr. Barrie's new play, What Every Woman Knows, were: H.H. Prince Francis of Teck, Sir Edward Russell, Mr. Winston Churchill, Lady Maud Warrender, Lady Leslie, Mr. Beerbohm Tree, Mr. E. S. Willard, Miss Marion Terry, Miss Maud Adams, Mr. Comyns Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Lewisohn (Miss Edna May), Mr. Haddon Chambers, Mr. Bernard Shaw, and Mr. Israel Zangwill.

Mr. George Alexander, who gave the reopening of the newly-decorated King's Theatre, Sunderland, such a brilliant send-off last week, was the object of an enthusiastic demonstration each evening. At the concluding performance of The Thief on Saturday night repeated demands for a speech were made, and Mr. Alexander appeared before the curtain and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, it has been a great delight to me to reopen this beautiful theatre. I hope that this season will be a successful one, as it deserves to be. The theatre is one of the most charming I have ever had the honour of acting in, and I only wish I had one like it in London. I wish to thank you most sincerely for the kindly manner in which you have received Miss Vanbrugh, my company, and myself. Just recently the proprietor of this theatre asked me if I was satisfied with my visit. Well, ladies and gentlemen, I am so satisfied that I hope to come to you again some time in the near future. Until then I wish you farewell, and thank you from the bottom of my heart for your sympathy and goodwill."

The fruits of long and arduous endeavour are evidently in store for Mr. Roy Horniman, whose success with Idols at the Duke of York's follows closely upon that of The Education of Elizabeth. The same agreeable results, we trust, await the gifted author's Bellamy the Magnificent, which Sir Charles Wyndham has underlined for production. Those who have followed the clever author's career will admit that success has seldom been better deserved or earned with more persistent intelligence. For years past he has been storming the Temple of Fame with novels, plays, adaptations, and what not.

Mr. Horniman has meanwhile been content to lay the lowliest duties upon himself as an actor. In the original performance of Florodora, in the November of 1899, Mr. Horniman was amongst those who raised their hats upon the Lyric stage to the tune of "Tell me, pretty maiden, are there any more at home like you?" He rejoiced in the name of Tennyson Sims, a cognomen that has proved to be of happy augury.

Mr. Martin Harvey has perfected his plans for his forthcoming campaign at the Adelphi, and will give a lengthy season of répertoire, supported by his company. Mr. Harvey has spent many years of hard work gathering around him a company trained to work together and thoroughly in sympathy with each other's technical methods, and though his visits to the Metropolis have not during the past few years been of lengthy duration, he showed last summer in a month's season at the Adelphi of what he and his company were capable in a series of plays, staged with a completeness of detail which would be expected from one of the sincerest disciples of the old Lyceum.

The season opens with a revival of The Corsican Brothers, and the fine old ghost story will come as a most interesting novelty to the younger generation of playgoers. It will still be fresh in the memory that His Majesty the King graciously commanded a special performance to be given by Mr. Harvey last year at the Adelphi during the run of The Only Way. The Corsican Brothers will only be played for the first month—strictly speaking, up to Oct. 3, and, as we noted in our last issue, it will be preceded by a different first piece each week.

The chief novelty of the season will be given on Oct. 5, when The Last Heir—the adaptation of Scott's "Bride of Lammermoor" by Mr. Stephen Phillips—will be produced. Mr. Harvey will of course appear as Ravenswood, and Miss de Silva will impersonate Lucy Ashton. The play has been most enthusiastically received wherever performed in the provinces, and will be a welcome addition to the dramatised list of classical novels. Elaborate scenery has been prepared by Mr. W. Telbin and Mr. Geo. Dodson, and special music of an ambitious type has been composed by Mr. Norman O'Neill, who has introduced the bagpipe. On Nov. 9 is promised a revival for two weeks of that stirring cavalier drama The Breed of the Treshams, and the concluding fortnight, starting on Nov. 23, will be devoted to the evergreen The Only Way. It is also intended to give special matinées during the last half of the season (which finally closes on Dec. 5) of A Cigarette-maker's Romance.

Allusion has been made to the Lyceum traditions with which Mr. Martin Harvey is so thoroughly imbued. It is pleasing to add that he still has the assistance of Mr. H. J. Loveday, who was associated with Sir Henry Irving's productions for some thirty years. It can also be recalled that many of the company who will appear at the Adelphi Theatre served under Sir Henry's banner. Among those we may mention Miss de Silva, Miss Mary Rorke, Miss Coleridge, Mr. Charles Glenney, and Mr. Vincent Sternroyd.

Garrick House, in Southampton-street, Strand, W.C., from 1750 to 1772 the residence of David Garrick, has recently been redecorated, and is now to be let as offices.

"Paid in Full," by Eugene Walter, which will be produced at the Aldwych on Tuesday, is another small-cast play. The dramatis personæ consist of seven characters, who will be embodied by Mr. H. V. Esmond, Miss Hilda Antony, Mr. Paul Arthur, Mr. Louis Calvert, Miss Kate Serjeantson, Miss Daisy Markham, and Mr. A. B. Tapping. The same evening will witness the London production of Mr. Lewis Waller's The Duke's Motto at the Lyric. The Early Worm at Wyndham's has been postponed from last Monday to next, and the busy nature of the week will be emphasised by the starting of Mr. Martin Harvey's season at the Adelphi on Wednesday.

To celebrate the opening of the autumn season at the Shakespeare Theatre, Liverpool, a new act-drop has been painted by Mr. T. Holmes, and has been much admired. This theatre, under the management of Mr. Wentworth Croke, is now in the flood-tide of success. He has a remarkable list of bookings for the autumn and a brilliant pantomime cast in store for Christmas.

"Marriages are Made in Heaven," a short episode in one act by Mr. Basil Dean dealing with West Country life, will be produced by Miss Horniman's company at the Gaiety Theatre, Manchester, on the occasion of the reopening of that theatre on Monday.

Mr. Percy Hutchison took advantage of a three days' vacancy with his Brewster's Millions company this week to see the performance by his companies of Mr. Somerset Maughan's brilliant plays, Lady Frederick and Mrs. Dot. On Monday Mr. Hutchison, accompanied by the Vicar of Gorleston, whose interest in the drama has been proved by the writing of more than one play, found a crowded house at the Aquarium Theatre, Yarmouth, enjoying the delightful acting of Miss Decima Moore as Mrs. Dot. The audience was intensely enthusiastic. On Tuesday, in company with Lady Wyndham, Mr. Hutchison paid a visit to the popular Devonshire Park Theatre, Eastbourne, where a record house had assembled to greet Mrs. Brown Potter as Lady Frederick.

On Wednesday afternoon he accomplished a flying visit to his Peter's Mother company at Leicester, and the same evening he reached Nottingham, where Miss Mabel Love and company claimed his attention. A remarkably good house gave Miss Love an enthusiastic reception, and the appreciation of this clever comedienne was demonstrated by no less than fourteen calls.

Mr. Hutchison finished his travels on Thursday at Harrogate, where he opened to one of the biggest houses of the season with Brewster's Millions. The promoters of the enterprise and the provincial public are equally to be congratulated on the prosperity which is attending all the various companies associated with the Hutchison management. Each popular play is accompanied by a London star of no little magnitude, a combination which ensures the best business, but it is to the strict attention to detail and constant supervision of the productions that no small measure of the overwhelming success is due.

At the invitation of the Artists' Protection League and the Actors' Union, representatives of those bodies and of the Actors' Association, Sketch Managers' Association, and National Association of Theatrical Employees met on Wednesday to discuss the arguments to be advanced at the Trade Union Congress at Nottingham next week in support of the resolution asking for a revision of the laws applying to the licences of theatres and music halls. The resolution will be moved by Mr. Frank Gerald, General Secretary of the Artists' Protection League, and seconded by Mr. Blackmore, Secretary of the Actors' Union The co-operation and support of every kindred body has been invited.

The ranks of the peerage have been once again recruited from the stage by the marriage of Earl Poulett with Miss Sylvia Lilian Storey, only daughter of the well-known comedian, which happy event took place at St. James's Church, Piccadilly, on Wednesday afternoon. The impending wedding had been kept a profound secret, and only six persons were present at the ceremony. These were the bride and bridegroom; Mrs. Storey, the bride's mother; Lady Violet Wingfield, the Earl's sister; Mr. John Richards, the Earl's solicitor, who acted as best man; and Mr. Dan Nithorn, who gave the bride away. There were no bridesmaids. After the ceremony the Earl and Countess left for Folkestone en route for Paris, where the honeymoon is being spent.

Lady Poulett is only eighteen years of age, and has been on the stage ever since she was a child. Her first appearance was at Kennington, about twelve years ago, when her father produced Rip Van Winkle, in which she took the part of Rip's daughter. Later she appeared at Brighton in Gurder in Fairydom, playing the name-part, and afterwards was engaged in The Beauty of Bath, in which she figured as Romilly's Lady Hamilton, one of the picture-girls. Her next rôle was in The Gay Gordons, and then she went to the Gaiety Theatre, where she appeared in Havana until last Saturday, acting also as understudy to Miss Olive May, whose part she played for a fortnight during that lady's absence.

The bridegroom is the seventh Earl Poulett, and his full name is William John Lydston Poulett. His lordship, who is twenty-five on Friday next, will be remembered in connection with the curious law-suit in which a person known as the organ-grinding "Viscount" made an unsuccessful claim to the title and estates. The claimant was well known in the London streets, where he was frequently to be seen playing a piano-organ, the front of which bore an announcement of his claim. The organ and its player also figured in a sketch which was produced at the Canterbury Music Hall some years ago, but enjoyed only a brief career.

Hard upon the above announcement comes that of the engagement of Miss Enid Leonhardt, who has been appearing as Consuelo, the leading rôle in Havana, to Mr. David Wellesley Bell. Mr. Bell, who came of age last April, is of independent means, and since he left Cambridge two years ago has spent much of his time travelling and hunting in distant countries. Miss Leonhardt has played small parts in The Spring Chicken, The New Aladdin, and The Girls of Gottenberg, and in the latter took up Miss Gertie Millar's part for a considerable time. The wedding is announced to take place on Sept. 15.

Mr. Wentworth Croke will put on a pantomime this Christmas at the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith, and has arranged with Mr. G. Brydon-Phillips to produce the same. Mr. Phillips will also produce an "annual" at Chester, by arrangement with Mr. Milton Bode, this making the former gentleman's fifth production in the city mentioned.

Miss Marion Turner is playing Nancy Sykes, a part in which she has made a big success in Ivan Berlyn's thrilling sketch Fagin, at the Palace, Walthamstow, next week.

The second annual series of performances by the British Empire Shakespeare Society will be given at the Memorial Theatre, Stratford-on-Avon, on the afternoons of Sept. 30 and Oct. 2 and in the evenings of Oct. 1 and 3, when Twelfth Night will be staged, with scenery and costumes, in co-operation with the Governors of the Memorial. The performers will be drawn from members of the Society all over the kingdom, and the cast employed on the last two days will be different from that engaged on the first. Mrs. A. D. Flower, who played Portia in The Merchant of Venice last year, will be the Viola in the one cast, Miss Ruth Anderson (of London) sustaining the same rôle in the other. Mr. P. L. Eyre, who won the first prize (amateurs) in the Society's annual elocution competition this year at the Playhouse, will be one of the Malvolios, the other being Mr. Geo. H. Holloway (of Bristol). The Bristol centre will be further represented by Mr. H. E. Brown as one of the Fabians.

The Stratford-on-Avon centre will have several members included in the casts, amongst them being Mr. A. D. Flower (chairman of the Memorial Committee) as one of the Antonios; the other Antonio falls to Captain O'Grady (of Dublin). The two Olivias are Mrs. Douglas Barlow (of Wolverhampton) and Miss Enid Rose, who has hitherto distinguished herself in London chiefly as reader of the stage directions, and now gets an opportunity well deserved. The Sir Tobys will be Mr. H. Urwick (Worcestershire) and Mr. W. H. Slyde (Birmingham). Mr. C. H. Humphreys and Mr. W. C. Blakeway, both of Worcestershire, will be the Orsino and Sir Andrew respectively. The Sheffield, Leamington, and Ainwick centres will also be represented. The railway companies are arranging for reduced rates for the occasion.

Mr. Wentworth Croke will present at the Fulham Theatre on Monday for the first time in the suburbs the new version of Hall Caine's play The Christian, direct from the Lyceum and Shaftesbury Theatres, with all the original dresses and effects. Mr. Roy Redgrave has been engaged to play John Storm, Miss Daisy Scudamore will be the Glory Quayle, and Mr. Fewlass Llewellyn will play his original part of Father Lamplugh.

The attraction at the Brixton Theatre next week will be Mr. Wentworth Croke's No. 1 Company of The Prodigal Son, which has been touring the provinces with such enduring success. Brixton playgoers will thus have the opportunity of seeing Mr. Hugh Montgomery's fine performance of Magnus Stephensson. Mr. Croke's pretty Lyric Opera House will next week be occupied by Hardie and Von Leer's powerful drama, Two Lancashire Lasses in London.

Mr. Fred Heming, who was for several years advance manager for Mr. William Greet's company, and previous to that resident at the Coronet and Camden Theatres, has been compelled to resign his appointment at the King's Theatre, Edinburgh, owing to complete breakdown in health, consumption of the throat and lungs having set in, making him a chronic invalid almost wholly confined to his bed. Such a condition, we regret to say, makes it quite impossible for him ever to work again. Mr. Heming's address is care of Charles B. Allen, 211, Maida-vale.

Mr. John F. Preston will play the principal part of Tom Trueman, the bookmaker, in his forthcoming new production A Ride to Win. Tom's wife, Belle Trueman, will be played by Miss Mabelle F. Barlow. It may be recalled that a play with a similar title, namely, Riding to Win, by Ernest Leicester and Walter Howard, was produced at the Broadway, New Cross, in the July of 1900.

Mr. John Clyde, "Scotland's favourite Rob Roy," is, by arrangement with Mr. A. B. Cross, touring the Wilson Barrett version of Hall Caine's novel The Manxman through Scotland, and playing to packed houses. He is supported by Miss Lena Levenston as Kate Cregeen, and a powerful company includes Miss Jeanie Macintosh, Miss Denise Huntly, Mr. H. Macaulay, Mr. Eugene Wellesley, Mr. David Blair, and Mr. Steve De Winton. According to all reports Mr. Clyde has reason to feel proud of the excellence of the production. Mr. Stewart D. Wright (lately with Geo. Dance and J. Bannister Howard) is Mr. Clyde's right-hand man in front.

"Filby the Faker," a dramatic comedy adapted by Leon M. Lion from Tom Gallon's story, is to be presented in front of The Early Worm at Wyndham's Theatre on Monday evening. Mr. Ben Nathan will appear in the title-rôle. The playlet was originally produced under the title of The Fairy Uncle at the New last November, when Mr. Lion played a season at that theatre with a revival of The New Boy. The piece was later produced under its altered title in the provinces.

The Theatre Royal, Goole, which has been recently acquired by Mr. Fred Greaves, of the Royal Hotel, was reopened on Monday after renovations and improvements. Mr. Henry Swinerd's Dare-Devil Dorothy company is the attraction for the week. The piece is well staged, and the many and various musical numbers introduced by Mr. Harry Ugar are a feature of the production.

Mr. W. J. Locke's musical play Butterflies is achieving one of the biggest successes ever scored at the Apollo, and last week it broke all records for the final week of August since the theatre was built. Despite various unfounded rumours to the contrary, the piece will occupy the Apollo boards until 1909 certain, and probably until 1910. Mr. Lauri de Frece, who has been out of the bill for seven nights, in consequence of twisting his ankle during a performance and badly wrenching a tendon, resumed his part in Butterflies on Wednesday.

Mr. Max Jerome, who was acting-manager for Miss Florence Glossop-Harris on her initial tour, has been re-engaged by Miss Harris as business-manager.

Mr. Allan Wilkie's production of Macbeth has been definitely fixed for Thursday, Oct. 1, at the Theatre Royal, York. A most interesting performance may with confidence be expected.

Miss Hilda Beverley has taken over from Mr. James Hare the entire rights of the successful drama A Destroyer of Men, and will tour the same in the autumn of 1909 with fine scenery, handsome uniforms and costumes, and a carefully chosen company, Miss Beverley herself playing the Countess Olga, otherwise known as "the Destroyer of Men." She is at present touring as Barbara Wade, with Mr. Walter Melville's drama A Girl's Cross Roads, and her forthcoming enterprise will be the first venture of her own.

A determined attitude towards the matinée hat is being adopted at the new Gaiety Theatre, New York, which opened on Monday. The management has arranged a ticket system, by which every lady purchasing admission into the Gaiety enters into an agreement to remove not only her hat, but even flowers from her head the moment she reaches her seat.

Mr. Reginald Kenneth, who has just returned from Australia after a year with J. C. Williamson's Musical Comedy Company, gives a glowing account of the sunny country. He has played in all the States, and travelled through New Zealand and Tasmania, finding the audiences very enthusiastic and the people most hospitable. Being a keen golfer, he made hosts of friends, and played over nearly all the courses, which, he says, compare favourably with the home links. Mr. Kenneth is so charmed with the country that he does not think it will be long before he returns. At the conclusion of his trip home on the Moldavia he was presented by the passengers with a gold watch-chain and matchbox "as a souvenir from a few friends to whom he had given such pleasure by his singing." This is only one of many souvenirs Mr. Kenneth brings with him.

The Stratford Theatre Royal Cricket Club, who are bringing to a close a highly successful season, played their return match with the Hackney Empire C.C. on Sunday at the Elms, Walthamstow, and decisively turned the tables on their opponents, the respective scores being:—Theatre Royal, 62; Hackney Empire, 19. Mr. Sam Fredericks is the popular president of the T.R.C.C., which is in a very flourishing condition, and is enabled to offer annually fine prizes for the best averages amongst its members.

Although the Grand Opera House, Middlesbrough, is already lighted outside by six powerful arc lamps, the proprietors, in their determination to make their theatre one of the best properties in the provinces, have added four artistic wrought-steel columns bearing powerful arcs. These are placed on the outside line of the large stretch of pavement attached to the theatre, and the Opera House, which is situated in the main thoroughfare of the town, when lighted up presents a most brilliant appearance. Mr. Martin Harvey has just completed an exceedingly successful engagement at this theatre, and Mr. George Alexander's company in The Thief, Mrs. Brown-Potter in Lady Frederick, and Mr. George Edwardes' The Merry Widow complete a quartette of pleasing engagements for the month.

Mr. H. B. Irving and his company will on Monday next pay their second visit within six months to the Devonshire Park Theatre, Eastbourne, where Murray King and Clark continue their agreeable pursuit of breaking records. A remarkable list of bookings has commanded the largest and most enthusiastic audiences ever seen at the Park Theatre, and the "House full" boards have been in constant requisition. Over £1,000 was taken in one week alone, thus, it may be assumed, establishing a theatrical record for Eastbourne.

Remarkable enthusiasm was displayed at the Marlborough Theatre on the evening of the 28th ult., when Mr. Norman V. Norman gave a performance of David Garrick, Mr. Norman and Miss Wilson being called before the curtain no less than twenty-four times. At the conclusion of the play the audience rose and cheered vociferously, and in response to numerous calls Mr. Norman spoke a few words of thanks. After the performance a crowd collected outside the stage-door and cheered Mr. Norman as he left the theatre.

"The Swanboat" is the, to us, inexplicable title chosen for the new play by Wilfred T. Coleby with which Miss Lena Ashwell will make her reappearance at the Kingsway Theatre on Friday, Oct. 9. The cast, which is now complete, includes Miss Kate Rorke, Miss Frances Ivor, Mr. C. M. Hallard, Mr. Dennis Eadie, Mr. E. W. Garden, Mr. Ernest Cosham, Master Philip Tonge, and Mr. Norman McKinnel.

Miss Emma and Mr. Percy Hutchison, who now control the majority of London successes in the provinces, presented Lady Frederick for the first time in Nottingham on Monday. The wonderful popularity of Lady Frederick had preceded her visit to the great lace centre, and a crowded house warmly applauded Miss Mabel Love on her appearance in the name-part. As the play proceeded the enthusiasm became more and more pronounced, and at the final fall of the curtain the theatre rang with repeated rounds of applause. Amongst the fashionable audience were Lady Rollaston, Captain Rollaston, Lady McCraith, Captain Teffrock, Sir T. Birkin, and Lady Haslam.

The first tour of The Flag Lieutenant, under the direction of Mr. Lyn Harding and Mr. Sidney Cooper, will start on Oct. 5 at the County Theatre, Kingston-on-Thames. The cast will include Messrs. Langhorne Burton, George Mallett, Montague Love, W. S. Stevenson, John Wheatman, W. J. Yeldham, Hugh Wakefield, Lyonel Watts, Fredk. Leister, Harry Haste, and Gordon Hamilton, and Misses Marjorie Chard, Viva Birkett, Stella Leigh, Evelyn Robson, and Florence Jackson. A full-dress rehearsal will take place at the Playhouse on Oct. 2. Mr. Cyril Maude, it may be added, is taking the keenest interest in the rehearsals.

Mr. Lyn Harding, who is busy at Drury Lane preparing for the autumn drama, in which he has a very powerful part, is, as may be surmised, kept well employed. The association of this artist with the very finest work should be a guarantee that The Flag Lieutenant company will be composed of the best talent obtainable. The suburban tour of the play starts next August Bank Holiday.

We regret to announce the death, at the age of seventy-two, of Mr. Louis M. Chapuy, who passed away at his residence, 3, Great Ormond-street, W.C., on Tuesday. Mr. Chapuy was for fifteen years one of the professors of elocution at the Guildhall School of Music, and was greatly esteemed both by the principal, Dr. Cummings, and his pupils. He will be interred at Abney Park Cemetery to-day (Saturday) at three o'clock.

The Girls of Gottenberg" was produced on Wednesday evening last at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, by Mr. J. A. E. Malone for Mr. Charles Frohman, and scored an unqualified success. The cast includes Miss Gertie Millar, who plays her original part. An interpolated number was entitled "Aint it awful, Mabel?"—New York's latest catch phrase.

Miss Fannie Ward has returned from America having completed arrangements relative to her reappearance in London. As we have stated, Miss Ward will be seen in the course of the season in a new comedy entitled Fanny and the Servant Problem, by Jerome K. Jerome. The heroine of the play is a variety artist who marries an English Earl, and on returning from the honeymoon finds herself confronted with the managerial responsibilities of a staff of twenty-three servants. The theatre at which Miss Ward will make her reappearance has not yet been definitely settled.

The F. R. Benson Shakespearean company (North) opens its autumn campaign on Monday at the Theatre Royal, Worthing, having been specially engaged to appear on Wednesday in Twelfth Night and The School for Scandal, for Mr. C. Adolf Seebold's fourth annual benefit. The company, established by Mr. Benson just five years ago, was intended to be simply an experiment, but it has been doing better and better year by year, until now it is a firm favourite in the provinces, and the public look forward eagerly to the "Shakespeare week."

The F. R. Benson companies are among the few now on the road that can properly be described as "répertoire companies," carrying, as they do, over a dozen plays, which are continually kept in rehearsal. Playing at the Theatre Royal, Ryde, the first three days of this week, the South Company had the honour of giving their performances under the patronage of H.R.H. Princess Henry of Battenberg.

"The Belle of Brittany" is the latest musical-comedy maiden to invade our shores. The play is written by Mr. Leedham Bantock, part author of The White Chrysanthemum, and Mr. Percy J. Barrow. The lyrics are by Mr. Percy Greenbank and the music by Mr. Howard Talbot and Miss Marie Horne. The piece will be produced under the management of Mr. Tom B. Davis at a West-End theatre yet to be announced. The principal parts are assigned to Mr. George Graves and Miss Ruth Vincent.

Messrs. Hubert Druce and Edward Ferris' production of the new modern military play, The Cheat, written by Mr. Ferris and B. P. Matthews, will be made at the Grand Theatre, Wolverhampton, on Sept. 21. A short tour will precede its introduction to London. An exceptional cast will be headed by that sterling actor Mr. Frank Cooper, who will be supported, among others, by Messrs. Edward O'Neill, Royston Keith, Charles Goodhart, Windham Guise, Charles Crawford, Max Leeds, E. F. Rae, Duncan Druce, Miss Eugenie Francklyn, Miss Helen Russell, Miss Daisy Atherton, and Mr. Edward Ferris himself.

Mr. George Unwin, who is specially engaged as general-manager for the new production The Cheat, has found his hands so full with this and other arrangements that he has been compelled to abandon the direction of all Mr. Ernest Chesney's tours for the present.

Miss Phyllis Dare, the charming and popular young actress, who is this week playing at Manchester in The Dairymaids, appeared in a new rôle on Monday last, when she paid a special visit to Sheffield to perform the opening ceremony of the Wadsley Floral Society's first show.

Mr. M. Sterling MacKinlay, the late Mme. Antoinette Sterling's eldest son and brother to Miss Jean Sterling Mackinlay, is to be married to Miss Dagny Hansen, daughter of Captain Hansen, of Christiania. The ceremony will take place at St. Andrew's Church, Stoke-in-Teignhead, on Sept. 29.

A handbag containing all her valuable jewels was stolen from Fraulein Flaischinger, of the Berlin Royal Opera, on her way to Munich, where she is to sing Brunnhilde at the gala performances. The night train was about to leave Berlin, and the handbag containing the gems lay on the artist's bed in the sleeping car. During a few moments' absence of the owner it was stolen. Among the many jewels and valuable souvenirs thus lost are the diamond brooch presented to Fräulein Flaischinger by the Kaiser after the first performance of Oberon.

In the Court of Bankruptcy on the 28th ult. a meeting of creditors was held under a receiving order made against Arthur Hugh Hare, at present residing at Folkestone. The debtor states that he is an actor, and has been proprietor and manager of touring companies. He estimates his liabilities at about £500, and attributes his present position to losses on theatrical enterprises and on the Stock Exchange, also to extravagance in living. He states that he has a reversionary interest under the will of his father, the late Admiral the Hon. Richard Hare, and also an interest under his parents' marriage settlement. The meeting was adjourned for three weeks, it being stated that the debtor hoped to pay the creditors in full.

The "Theatre de la Nature" has been inaugurated at Dinard with La Fille de Roland, played by Mounet (the great Mounet-Sully's brother), and other sociétaires of the Comédie Française. The performance, which took place in exquisite surroundings on the shores of the River Rance, was arranged by M. Rateau, a member of the Dramatic Commission of the Ministry of Fine Arts, and the theatre, which, though in the open air, is of a very permanent character, was provided at a cost of 9,000fr. by the municipality of Dinard.

Mr. Edwin F. Fysher has been lying in the Clayton Ward, County Hospital, Lincoln, for the past few weeks, having had to undergo three operations on his left foot, as the result of a fall with a hunter in a jumping competition at a Lincolnshire agricultural show. He expects to be ready for work again in about a fortnight.

Intense enthusiasm was shown at the final performance given by Mr. Martin Harvey at the Grand Opera House, Middlesbrough. At the conclusion of the performance of The Breed of the Treshams the curtain had repeatedly to be raised, but the audience would not disperse until, in response to a perfect avalanche of applause, Mr. Harvey came forward and, in a graceful speech, thanked the patrons of this palatial house for the warm reception they had extended to him.

Mr. Andrew Emm presented his new production of The Diver's Luck on Monday at the Metropole Theatre, Birmingham. Fresh scenery has been painted by Mr. Alfred Whyatt, and the new plant of printing, consisting of 300 sheets of pictorials without a repeat, is by David Allen and Sons. Although the bookings did not commence before June, there are but few dates vacant this side of Whit week.

Three novelties, all by British composers, will be introduced at the Promenade Concerts during the week. On Tuesday Mr. York Bowen will play his new Concerto No. 3 in G minor for pianoforte and orchestra. On Wednesday a work which is typically English in character will be given for the first time—"A Village Suite," from the pen of Mr. Luard Selby, the organist of Rochester Cathedral. The third novelty comes into Thursday night's programme, when Miss Clara Butterworth makes her first appearance at these concerts with a new song (with orchestra) entitled "Fidelity," by Mr. Montague Phillips.

The usual Wagner programme on Monday night will be varied by the inclusion of Liszt's symphonic poem, "Orpheus." On Tuesday, in addition to the novelty mentioned above, a special feature of the programme will be the début of a new member of the Queen's Hall Orchestra, Mr. Aimé Kling, who will play Saint-Säens' A minor Concerto for 'cello, transcribed for viola by Réné Pollain. Wednesday's programme includes Bach's beautiful aria "Gelobetsei der Herr mein Gott," sung by Mrs. Harriet Foster (with oboe d'amore obbligato by Mr. Henri de Busscher), and Brahms' Third Symphony. On Thursday the orchestral items offer an interesting contrast. Strauss's "Don Quixote" will be repeated, followed by Tchaikovsky's fantasia "Francesca da Rimini" and Schumann's "Spring" Symphony No. 1.

Friday is the "Beethoven night," and the attractions for that evening include the complete music to "Egmont," the G minor Piano Concerto No. 1, played by Mr. Charlton Keith, and the sunny Fourth Symphony. On Saturday, Sept. 12, there are fourteen numbers down for performance, among them such varied items as Svendsen's "Carneval de Paris," Mackenzie's humoresque, "Under the Clock," Haydn's Symphony No. 8, "Le Soir et la Tempesta," and Sibelius's tone-poem "Finlandia." On this occasion a new lady 'cellist, Miss Jean Marcel, will be heard in the A minor Concerto of Saint-Säens.

Mlle. Berge, who was playing the part of Lycas in Polipheme at the Comédie Française, Paris, seriously sprained her ankle while stepping from the trap-door to the stage. She pluckily went on with her part, though in great pain, and at the conclusion of the play was removed home to rest for at least a fortnight.

Mr. Kinsey Peile, who has been known of late years as a playwright rather than an actor, is returning to the stage, and is playing James Blenkinsop—Mr. Fred Kerr's part—in Miss May Palfrey's Mrs. Dot company. Mr. Kinsey Peile's first appearance was made under Mr. George Edwardes's management. He then joined Mr. George Alexander's company, playing in The Masqueraders, Liberty Hall, and the original production of The Importance of Being Earnest.

Among Mr. Kinsey Peile's most recent dramatic efforts may be mentioned the one-act piece, The Door Upon the Latch, dramatised from Robert Louis Stevenson's Le Sire de Maletroit, and produced at His Majesty's on June 14, 1907. Another little piece from his pen was The Stratagem, adapted from the German of Emil Pohl, which found its way to the footlights at the Court on July 2 of the same year. Mr. Kinsey Peile does not intend altogether to give up playwriting for playacting, as he is now at work on a new four-act play based on Bagot's "Temptation."

In the Court of Bankruptcy on Monday the creditors met under a receiving order made against Mr. Beresford W. Whitcomb. The debtor stated that he has been on the stage for twenty-one years, and was then producing the play In the Ranks at Govan, N.B. He added that the play was paying its way, but that he was unable at present to discharge accounts incurred for printing, &c. He returned his liabilities at £204, against available assets £7, and attributed his present position to the failure of his theatrical productions owing to bad seasons. The case remained in the hands of the Official Receiver as trustee.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Gladstone as Audience.

"One of the best 'audiences' that actor or actress could wish for was Mr. Gladstone," writes Miss Terry in McClure's Magazine. "The G.O.M. used often to attend the Lyceum performances, occupying a little seat in the O.P. entrance. One night Miss Terry thought he would catch cold, and she lent him a white scarf. He was, she says, one of the most comfortable people to talk to that she has ever met. Lord Randolph Churchill was another visitor to the Lyceum, being a great admirer of Irving:

"'He confessed to me once (Miss Terry tells) that he had never read a play of Shakespeare's in his life, but that after seeing Henry act he thought it was time to begin. A very few days later he astonished us with his complete and masterly knowledge of at least half a dozen of the plays.'

Miss Terry regarded Lord Randolph as a perfect person to meet at dinner or supper—'brilliantly entertaining and queerly simple.'"

Didn't Mean It.

CONCERNING the American habit of chewing gum, Miss Terry writes:—"In Faust we 'carried' about six leading devils for the Brocken scene and recruited the forty others from local talent in the different towns that we visited. Their general instructions were to throw up their arms and look fierce at certain music cues. One night I noticed a girl going through the most terrible contortions with her jaw, and thought I must say something. 'That's right, dear. Very good, but don't exaggerate.' 'How?' was all the answer that I got; and the girl continued to make faces as before. I was contemplating a second attempt, when Templeton, the limelight man, who had heard me speak to her, touched me gently on the shoulder. 'Beg pardon, miss, she don't mean it. She's only chewing gum.'"

"And" or "But"?

"MR. J. M. BARRIE," says the Mirror, "had gone to the theatre with a friend, and was sitting, very silent, in the stalls, surveying his programme. It was a long piece, and it had a long list of performers. You read all down the list, and then came to the last character and the last performer, a well-known actor, whose name was preceded by an 'and.' Mr. So-and-So was to appear, as well as Miss Somebody, 'and' Mr. X. Mr. Barrie surveyed the monosyllable, then turned, in his thoughtful, melancholy way, to his friend, and said: 'I think I could improve on this "and." It wants revision. It ought to be "but." Mr. So-and-So, Miss Somebody, but Mr. X. That would be more like.' Mr. X was a bad actor, and 'but' would, indeed, have been better!"

Rival Lotharios.

"THE 'leading juveniles' of twenty years ago," writes Mr. Charles Brookfield in his "Reminiscences," "were a wonderful study. We once had two in the Haymarket company at the same time. Mr. Lancelot had been a 'juvenile' for a good many years—about fifteen, perhaps—whereas Mr. Beaumains had only recently left one of the learned professions to adorn the stage. Accordingly he watched every action of Mr. Lancelot, even off the stage, in order to learn how to comport himself as a leading romantic West End actor should. If Mr. Lancelot chanced to exhibit a peeress's card amongst the invitations which proclaimed his social popularity from the frame of his dressing-glass, Mr. Beaumains would follow suit to the best of his ability by displaying in the margin of his mirror a request for his company from, say, the lady of a City knight. . . . One night we were all in Lancelot's dressing-room, when his dresser appeared.

"'Could I speak to you a moment, sir?'

"'Well?'

"'It's—it's a private message, sir.'

"'Never mind, you idiot! What is it?'

"'Mrs. Overvie-Tracy's compliments, sir, and her brougham will be waiting for you at the corner of Suffolk-street at a quarter-past eleven.'

"'You infernal fool!' cried Lancelot. 'How dare you blurt out a private ——! Get out!' Then, turning to us: 'I shall have to sack that scoundrel. Conceive his coming and bellowing out a poor devil of a woman's name like that!'

"One of the comedians slipped out of the room for a minute, and then came back. Presently his dresser put in his head.

"'Could I 'ave 'alf a word with you, sir, on a private matter?'

"'Nonsense, you infernal rascal! Never mind these gentlemen. Out with it at once!' cried his master, rakishly cocking his three-cornered hat.

"'The Duchess of Redcliffe's compliments, sir, and I was to remind you that the last Putney 'bus leaves Piccadilly Circus at ten minutes to twelve.'

"Lancelot 'smiled at the wit, but never forgave the satire.'"

Pitiful Cats and Crying.

WE have had fish stories and dog stories galore; and now Miss Phyllis Cecil sends a cat story of the first water from the Actors' Association. "The other day," she says, "my oldest cat caught a sparrow on the window-sill, and took it in her mouth—with glee—to her daughter and her grand-daughter. Having tried in vain to cure them of bird-catching, I determined to try another plan. I did not scold them, and I did not smack them, but I took the bird—then dead—in my hand, stroked its feathers, kissed it, and pretended to cry. Nothing on earth upsets my cats so much as to see me cry; they rush to me at once, and Nonie, the second one, begins to howl, almost like a dog. Having thoroughly impressed upon them my deep sorrow at the death of the sparrow, I laid it upon the floor before them, and left it entirely to their own feelings as to whether they would eat it or not. They sat in a row and watched it, occasionally smacking their lips and sticking out little red tongues. After about two hours of their suspense they filed out of the room in mournful and pathetic silence, never again attempting to touch the sparrow, although I purposely left the door open and left the bird lying there."

The New Faust.

MR. COMYNS CARR, interviewed by Mr. Raymond Blathwayt for Black and White, says, with regard to Faust, which is to be produced at His Majesty's this evening:—"We keep very closely to Goethe's splendid drama, and we wish to emphasise our inevitable and overpowering indebtedness to his beautiful conception, but at the same time we both of us claim entire independence in our handling of the drama for the English stage. Our version is based in its new developments on a full understanding of the general trend of modern thought. The central line of thought suggested by Goethe, and upon which we choose to dwell, is that amid all the rich feast of sensuality which the devil offered to Faust he chose to kill a flower, and that flower saved him. He ruined the purest thing on earth, and the ruin rescued him. Shakespeare says:

"'How with this rage shall beauty hold a plea,
Whose action is no stronger than a flower?'

"Now, the ethical point is that a man is saved by what he destroys, if what he destroys is innocent enough to save him. The ultimate perception of the innocence is his salvation. That is the whole point of our play. And beneath everything is that idea which formed the basis of all the old Greek tragedies—we cannot escape Nemesis."

"IDOLS."

Drama, in Four Acts, adapted by Roy Horniman from the novel by W. J. Locke, played for the first time in London at the Garrick Theatre, on Wednesday, Sept. 2.

Irene Merriam	MISS EVELYN MILLARD
Minna Hart	MISS EDITH LATIMER
Mrs. Harroway	MISS AUGUSTA HAVILAND
Anna Josephs	MRS. HARRY CANE
Maid to the Merriams	MISS ETHEL INGRAM
Gerard Merriam	MR. HERBERT WARING
Saunders	MR. C. W. SOMERSET
Jacob Hart	MR. ALFRED BRYDONE
Counsel for the Prosecution	MR. CHAS. ROCK
Gardiner	MR. ARTHUR WONTNER
Mr. Harroway	MR. C. LEVESON-LANE
The Judge	MR. HOWARD STURGE
Dr. Fenwick	MR. HEATH HAVILAND
The Clerk of Assize	MR. GUY FLETCHER
An Usher	MR. FRANK DANBY
Police-constable Rivington	MR. ALBERT SIMS
Hugh Colman	MR. ALLAN AYNESWORTH

Miss Evelyn Millard opened her season at the Garrick Theatreon Wednesday in one of thestrongest domestic dramas that have been put on the stage of late. Mr. Locke's novel bears adaptation thoroughly well. A trial is essentially a dramatic incident; and when a court of justice is put on the stage with such remarkable realism as was the case at the Garrick on Wednesday, and when the issue is one of life or death, the breathless interest of an audience is easily accounted for. Never for a moment from the rising of the curtain did the interest in Idols flag or diminish. At the start we were anxious and uncertain as to the result of the relations between the three leading personages of the play. Irene Merriam has married, and truly loves, her husband, Gerard Merriam. But she has a tender remembrance of her rejected lover, Hugh Colman, who has saved her husband's life in an Alpine accident by risking, and nearly making a sacrifice of, his own. Let it not be imagined that Irene has the least idea of forming one of those ménages à trois so common on the Continent. She is true, heart and soul, to her wifely duty; but she is touched by the nobility of Hugh's sacrifice when he severed the rope which bound him to Gerrard in order to give the latter a chance of escape. Merriam is one of those dry and rather selfish husbands who are always inclined to be jealous; and he is fond of going away fishing, leaving his wife too much alone. He is starting off on one of his expeditions when the action opens. It seems that Hugh Colman has yielded to the pressing fascinations of a young Jewess, Minna Hart, the daughter of a rich moneylender. Jacob Hart has made his fortune by charging 60 per cent. for cash, and he is a stern and fanatical adherent to the rule that Jews should only wed amongst their own race. In the heat of passionate impulse Hugh and Minna have been secretly married, and they now heartily regret the step they have taken. Colman, who has borrowed heavily of Jacob, learns that the elderly relative from whom he had expectations has become a father, so that the security on which Hart advanced the money is valueless. Hugh tells the moneylender of the altered condition of affairs, and at the same time asks him for his daughter's hand. Jacob is very indignant at the very suggestion; but, as he likes Colman, he destroys the document relating to the loan. Then a drunken butler, named Saunders, whom Hart ruined in time past by his usurious exactions, informs his master that an intrigue is going on between Minna and Colman; whereupon Hart flies into a passion, and handles Saunders so roughly that, in self-defence, the butler strikes him with a heavy candlestick, and kills him on the spot. The scene then changes to Minna's bedroom, where she and Colman are discussing their position. Minna, who is hard, mercenary, and selfish, is disgusted with the idea of losing her father's money, and proposes to Hugh that they shall swear mutually to keep their marriage a secret. He assents, and they take the oath. Then the murder is discovered, and suspicion falls on Hugh.

In the next act we are shown an Assize Court, every detail of which is very carefully reproduced. Colman is in the dock on the charge of murdering Hart. He can only clear himself by proving an alibi, and stating that at the time the crime was committed he was in Minna's bedroom, and this would involve an exposure of their marriage and the breaking of his oath to her. The butler is put in the witness-box, and of course does all he can to establish Colman's guilt. Minna, who is also examined, perjures herself very calmly, and adds another link to the chain of evidence against Hugh. At this point we see germinating in Irene's mind the idea of sacrifice. She has only to swear that Colman was with her at the time that the murder was committed in order to save his life. The counsel for the prosecution derides the idea that at the hour of the crime the prisoner was in the arms of some woman. Then Irene rises in Court and cries out, "He was in mine!" She is put into the witness-box, and repeats her statement with corroborative details which establish Hugh's innocence of murder and her own guilt of adultery. And so, with the anguish of Gerard Merriam, who shrinks from his wife's touch, and against the protestations of Colman, he is saved from the rope. In the last act he is released by Minna from his oath to keep her secret, and, after some harrowing scenes between Merriam and his wife, he is convinced of her innocence.

A play as strong as Idols is gives every opportunity to the principal performer, and Miss Evelyn Millard rose to the occasion admirably. Her chief opportunities were in the third and fourth acts, and she took advantage of them with all the practised skill and cultured power that she has so often before displayed. In the trial scene one could see, long before the outburst, the desperate resolve working in the woman's mind, and her demeanour in the witness-box was deeply and intensely thrilling. Miss Millard realised to the full the noble, if misguided, devotion of Irene, and made possible and probable the heroic sacrifice of her reputation to save the life of her friend. A striking, powerful, and very notable performance was given by Miss Edyth Latimer, who expressed with strength and skill the savage and unruly force of the character of Minna Hart. Miss Latimer was quite equal to the demands of the part, and her treatment of her share in the scene between Hugh and Minna in the second act was in every way vigorous, emphatic, and effective. Miss Latimer added greatly to her reputation by her very fine performance. A highly-finished and entirely artistic embodiment of the butler, Saunders, was supplied by Mr. C. W. Somerset. His make-up was very graphic, and the ravages of intemperance were shown in every speech and action of the wretched drunkard. When Saunders was in the witness-box his struggle to "pull himself together" and to save his neck by careful perjury was most adroitly depicted, the effort by which he suppressed his agitation being suggested with rare skill and ability. Altogether Mr. Somerset may be congratulated on a remarkable impersonation of what, on the face of it, was a subordinate part. Mr. Alfred Brydone was exactly suited to the representation of the stern and unbending Israelite, Jacob Hart. Without overdoing the Jewish characteristics, he contrived to sufficiently suggest the nationality of the man, and the dignity and weight of his rendering were undeniable. Mr. Allan Aynesworth, so often seen in light and comic characters, showed his versatility and a fuller range of power as Hugh Colman, the sharpness and self-restraint of his acting in the scene in Minna's bedroom being worthy of warm praise. As usual, he was the pink of perfection in style and "grooming." Mr. Charles Rock as the counsel for the prosecution had an important share in the success, his excellent elocution and the impressive manner in which he delivered the speech to the jury keeping the interest of the scene up to a high pitch. Mr. C. Leveson-Lane and Miss Augusta Haviland were unimpeachably efficient in two secondary rôles, and Mr. Arthur Wontner gave a careful and solid performance of the part of the counsel for the defence. Mr. Howard Sturge was an excellent Judge; Mr. Heath-Haviland was seen to much advantage as Dr. Fenwick; and Mr. Guy Fletcher and Mr. Frank Danby were commendable as the Clerk of Assize and the Usher respectively Mr. Albert Sims being natural and emphatic as Police-constable Rivington. Mr. A. L. Schmiz's scenery was realistic, and Mr. Roy Horniman deserves praise for the first-rate manner in which the piece was stage-managed—praise in which Mr. Frank Hardy, the stage-manager, and his assistant, Mr. Claude Edmonds, should share. Idols, which had a trial trip at the Theatre Royal, Birmingham, on the 24th ult., was listened to with intense interest, and the applause at the conclusion was long and loud.

"WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS."

Comedy, in Four Acts, by J. M. Barrie, produced at the Duke of York's Theatre on Thursday, Sept. 3.

John Shand	MR. GERALD DU MAURIER
Alick Wylie	MR. HENRY VIBART
David Wylie	MR. SYDNEY VALENTINE
James Wylie	MR. EDMUND GWENN
Maggie Wylie	MISS HILDA TREVELYAN
Mr. Venables	MR. NORMAN FORBES
Comtesse de la Brière	MRS. TREE
Lady Sybil Lazenby	MISS LILLAH MCCARTHY
Maid	MISS MADGE MURRAY

The spell of Mr. J. M. Barrie is as irresistible as ever. What Every Woman Knows is essentially, delightfully Barrie-an, and when we have said that we have inferred that it is rich in playful wit and gentle satire and exquisite humour, with a special flavour of its own. Who but Mr. Barrie could have conceived the notion of a poor and ambitious young Scotchman committing a night burglary on a house well supplied with books in order that he may study for his examination at Glasgow University? And this is how John Shand, the hero of the piece which Mr. Charles Frohman presented last Thursday, is introduced to the audience. The Wylies, two sons and a father, are proprietors of a granite quarry near a Scottish town. They are uneducated men, with a vast respect for learning and education; and when they surprise Shand studying at midnight the books which they only keep for show, they conceive the idea of investing in him as a speculation. They will provide the cost of his education for five years, he in return contracting to give Maggie Wylie, the daughter of the house, the refusal of his hand at the expiration of that period. After much hesitation, Shand strikes the bargain; and, in the second act, after an imaginary interval, we find him returned as Member of Parliament for a Glasgow district. His elevation brings him into contact with two fine ladies, the Comtesse de la Brière and her niece, Lady Sybil Lazenby, and his head is perhaps a little turned; but when Maggie, in an access of generosity, tears up the document which binds him to her he refuses to accept the sacrifice, and publicly proclaims their engagement.

The Shands go to London, and John becomes a successful speaker in the House of Commons, thanks to the wit of his wife, who, while carefully concealing the fact from him, makes his speeches notable by the insertion of humorous sentences which win the name of "Shandisms." He succumbs to the languid fascinations of Lady Sybil, and there comes the moment when he boldly proclaims that he cannot live without her, and that he and Maggie must part. Though deeply hurt by this treatment, Maggie conceals her feelings under a mask of indifference, and arranges that her husband and Lady Sybil shall be invited to stay for a fortnight at the Countess's cottage in the country, at which we arrive in the last act. But before the fortnight is out Shand is thoroughly sick of Lady Sybil, and finds besides that he cannot, unaided, get on with a certain great speech which he is to deliver at Leeds. So when Maggie comes down to the cottage and quietly announces her intention of going to her people in Scotland, adding that John and Lady Sybil will find the London house all right as she has "had the vacuum-cleaners in," the persons addressed recoil from the prospect before them, and refuse to carry out their plan. John realises that the best things in his speeches were inserted by his wife; and she even induces him, though it is his boast that he has "never laughed in his life," to roar at a not very new or striking witticism about Adam's rib and a "funnybone." John's cure is obviously complete; and on this happy ending the curtain descends.

The triumph of the evening was won by Miss Hilda Trevelyan, who played Maggie Wylie with wonderful repose, lightness of touch, and cleverness. There was a quaint originality about Miss Trevelyan's conception which was intensely piquant, and the sweetness of Maggie's character—only slightly obscured by her will-power and acuteness—her capacity for passion, and her wistful sense of her lack of "charm" formed a combination which proved irresistible to the audience at the Duke of York's on Thursday. Miss Trevelyan fully realised all expectations, and her success was immediate and complete. Mr. Gerald du Maurier was very happily selected to sustain the rôle of John Shand. He looked exactly the strong, raw-boned, resolute young Scotchman suggested by the text; and the strong self-esteem, the dense conceit, and the unfailing energy of the man were shown by Mr. du Maurier in the most dryly humorous and convincing way. Mr. Henry Vibart gave a most agreeable and natural impersonation of the genial and shrewd old Scotchman, Alick Wylie; and Mr. Sydney Valentine had an easy task, for him, in the representation of the intelligent, though uneducated, David, the more stupid brother, James, having an admirable exponent in Mr. Edmund Gwenn, who admirably indicated the rustic bluntness and rough energy of the creature. Mr. Norman Forbes supplied a highly-finished portraiture of an elderly member of the Cabinet—crisp, clear, and polished; and Mrs. Tree enacted the faded but frivolous Comtesse de la Brière with the skill and facility which she has acquired by her wide and long experience of the stage. Miss Lillah McCarthy treated the colourless rôle of Lady Sybil Lazenby with artistic self-restraint, subduing her strength to the depiction of an almost negative personage—a task not so easy as it appears to an actress of genius, power, and scope. Miss Madge Murray was a smart and well-attired maid. Messrs. Hana and Sons' scenery was excellent, especially the sunny garden of the last scene; and Mr. Dion Boucicault's "production" of the play resulted in a performance of extreme smoothness. Mr. Barrie was loudly called for at the conclusion, but was not in the house. Mr. Charles Frohman may be warmly congratulated on the success of his latest presentation at the Duke of York's.

"PETE" AT THE LYCEUM.

Drama, in Four Acts, adapted by Hall Caine and Louis N. Parker from the former's novel, "The Manxman," Produced on Saturday, Aug. 29.

Pete Quilliam	MR. MATHESON LANG
Philip Christian	MR. ERIC MAYNE
Ross Christian	MR. WILFRED E. PAYNE
Cæsar Cregeen	MR. FREDERICK ROSS
Black Tom	MR. S. MAJOR JONES
Jonaique Jelly	MR. CHAS. L. LUDLOW
Postman Kelly	MR. H. K. AYLIFF
William	MR. SIDNEY YOUNG
Constable Niplightly	MR. JOSEPH O'BRIEN
Dr. Mylechreest	MR. SIDNEY VAUTIER
The Lieut. Governor	MR. HENRY BROOKS
Adam Quirk	MR. ERNEST CRESFAN
Johnny Dumbell	MR. CHARLES TERRIC
Clerk of the Court	MR. HENRY ARMSTRONG
Nancy	MISS RITA TOMKINS
Mary	MISS LILLIAN DIGGES
Grannie	MISS BLANCHE STANLEY
Meg	MISS DORA CLEMENTS
Sarah	MISS LILLIAN TWEED
Kate Cregeen	MISS HUTIN BRITTON

When melodrama was said to be moribund at the West-end Messrs. Smith and Carpenter, with characteristic enterprise, hoisted the flag of the popular play at the Lyceum, and giving their patrons splendid entertainment at prices within reach of the humblest pleasure-seeker's purse, have gone from triumph to triumph, and have reaped the rich reward of enterprise happily conceived, ably thought out, and admirably carried through. Their production of The Christian last year was so enormous a success that it was only in accordance with the fitness of things that the services of Mr. Hall Caine should again be requisitioned. The famous author had ready to hand in "The Manxman" a story replete with strong interest and tearing at the heartstrings, and though Londoners have already seen two stage versions of it, it is certain that the latest fashioned by the author, with the very able assistance of Mr. Louis N. Parker, will hold the field, in London at any rate, for months to come, if the attitude of the packed and good-humoured house on Saturday night, when Messrs. Smith and Carpenter commenced their autumn campaign with only a couple of days intervening between that and the summer season.

A thousand voices proclaimed the triumph of Pete long before the play had reached the final stage. For four solid hours a wave of sympathy swept the house. The mothers wept with "Kirry" during the great scene with the baby, and the fathers laughed with delight at Pete—unsophisticated, big-hearted Pete—when he dandled the little one in his arms, and apostrophised him as "Emperor." The play is written on popular lines, and though in the advance notices much stress has been laid on the polemics of Mr. Hall Caine regarding the inequality and injustice of the matrimonial law as affecting woman, the success will not be due to subtlety of argument, but to the stress of human emotion that grips the attention of lovers of melodrama and holds it till the curtain falls on the final happiness of the two chief characters. It may be said that Kate should never have married Pete. In the words of the novelist, she is "the slave of the sweetest, the tenderest, most spiritual, and pathetic of all human fallacies—the fallacy that by giving herself to the man she loves she attaches him to herself for ever." But finding—too late—"that men betray," the temptation to shelter her reputation under the name of the man who offered her such unselfish devotion was too strong, and Kate was only human—and it is humanity that we want in melodrama—in concealing her fall from honour by marriage.

Before the curtain rises, Pete, the simple-minded, slow-witted Manxman, has gone to the diamond fields at Kimberley, leaving his betrothed, Kate Cregeen—at the time of his departure little more than a child—in the care of his friend Philip Christian. During the first act a circumstantial account of Pete's death is read from a letter by one of the characters, but the news had already reached Kate and Philip, with the result that both give rein to unfettered passion. At the opening of the play, therefore, there is only one honourable course open to Philip, and that is to marry the girl whose honour he had promised to protect. But Philip listens to the promptings of ambition. His family has held the position of deemster or chief magistrate of the island, and the office is within his grasp. Were he to marry Kate his worldly career would be ruined. In a brief interview he tells her that marriage is impossible, and the tragedy of the situation is realised by both when they learn that Pete, who is not only alive and well, but comfortably off, has turned up again, and is home. When the hero breaks in upon the assembly in the parlour of the Manx Fairy—the scene of the first act—he takes the shuddering Kate to his arms, and presses warmly the hand of Philip—his friend, his "more than brother," who shrinks from the manly and affectionate greeting of the honest-hearted Pete, whose betrothal to Kate is celebrated in mugs of ale by the jubilant villagers.

In the second act, at Pete's cottage, the guests are returning from the christening of little Phil, idolised by Pete, whose only anxiety is the serious depression of the young mother, a somewhat listless participator in the rejoicings over the new born. Old William, the oldest man in the island, keeps up the ancient Manx custom of putting salt in the baby's hand, and croons "Whether good or ill befall, here's salt that seasons all." Old Sarah brings a bent thimble for baby, which "brings luck to him as bears it, and joy to her who wears it"; and the maids fetch their spindles, while one of them sings. The pathetic note is touched more deeply, however, when the tender-hearted Pete, full of happiness, fervently utters, "Keep his heart as pure as his mother's, I beseech Thee, O Lord!" Kate buries her face in her hands; for the love of the man who believes in her truth and faith is torture to her.

At this juncture Philip calls with a christening present, and learns for the first time that he is the father of the child. He asks that she shall live on in her shame and anguish, and trust to time. But, like a stricken deer, poor Kate flies from the man whose every caress is a reproach to her. In a touching scene over the cradle she cries from her heart, "Oh, baby, baby, we must go, we're strangers in the house"; but baby is left behind, and she departs. Great, blundering, big-hearted Pete reels under the blow; but he is determined to do all in his power to keep the breath of scandal from touching his Kate, and to hide from the neighbours any suspicion of a separation from her. Kate had been seen to enter the same train as the trifler and waster, Ross Christian, a cousin of Philip's; but the busy gossips are silenced when Pete tells them that Kate has gone to visit an uncle at Liverpool for a few days.

The unhappy woman has gone for advice to the father of her child. Philip is being sworn in as Deemster of the island, and she arrives, an abject figure of remorse, to listen to the final words of the solemn oath taken by him. In an impassioned interview Kate points out that the child is robbing her husband of his love, his faith, his confidence, and that she must take it away. The new Deemster tries to dissuade her from her purpose by explaining that her child belongs to her husband; that if she steals it she will suffer shame and imprisonment; and that it will be his duty to commit her to prison—

KATE: For stealing my own child?

PHILIP: I couldn't help myself.

KATE: My own child and——

PHILIP: Sh! For God's sake!

KATE: You who came to me—wooed me—won me—then left me when the world called to you—you the judge on the bench and I the prisoner in the cell! Is this justice? Is there one woman in all the world who will say this is justice? No; it is not justice! It is the law made by man, not the law made by God, and if you commit me to prison and tear my child away from me you must take the consequences.

PHILIP: Woman, what do you mean?

KATE: I will tell the Court that my husband is not the father of my child.

PHILIP: You will never do that, Kate?

KATE: I will!

PHILIP: The Court will not believe you. It will want proof—and what witnesses can you bring? None!

KATE: Yes, one—my judge!

PHILIP: Me?

KATE: You! Oh, I see it all as plainly as you see these walls. The crowded court, the prying eyes. The clerk crying, "Rise, all; rise for the Deemster Christian!" Then myself, a poor, degraded wretch, in the dock, with my baby, my poor, innocent baby at my breast—and then my husband in the witness-box witnessing against me. "She has stolen my child—take it away from her!" "It is not your child!" "You are his wife," says the judge. "Woman, where is the witness to what you say?" And then I point to the judge himself and cry, "The witness is there!"

Pete, poor fellow, half distracted, quite unknowingly follows Kate to Castle Rushen, and interviews the Deemster, to whom he gives to read a letter alleged to be from the unhappy wife—a letter written by himself. The Deemster is persuaded to write a reply by the sorely-stricken husband, who goes back to his lonely cottage, and notices a look on little Phil's face that reminds him of someone. Kate returns, and is about to take away the baby, when she is stopped by Pete, who, for the first time, learns of the little one's paternity. Spending the night alone, in the morning Pete is starting in quest of the "other man," whom he believes to be Ross Christian. But the end comes swiftly. Philip, humbled and contrite, confesses, and Pete, knowing that he is sure of the love of Kate, takes her back, and on a scene of reconciliation the curtain falls.

Mr. Matheson Lang, a young actor whose Lyceum reputation is already worthy of the great traditions of a famous house, makes a sturdy, vigorous, and mercurial Pete in the first act. The Manx hero's boyish delight at his return to his home and sweetheart is expressed in a way that immediately establishes a sympathy with the character, a sympathy that completely enchains the audience until the final scene of the piece. Pete is a character that has no subtlety; but that there are depths of feeling in it was made quite clear on Saturday night by Mr. Lang, whose acting in the cottage when Pete discovers his wife's desertion is not likely to be soon forgotten. An even greater triumph for the young actor is the letter scene, in which the heart-broken hero, stemming the tide of sorrow for the moment, jestingly dictates loving messages to the woman whose desertion has filled his soul with blank despair—messages that are written by the hand of the man who has wronged them both. Miss Hutin Britton, who makes her first appearance in the West-End in an important part, plays the character of Kate Cregeen with charm, simplicity, and whole-hearted sincerity. In the first act we get a bright gleam of comedy in Kate's interview with that howling cad, Ross Christian; but thenceforward the path of the heroine is full of unavailing regret. Poor Kate has to sit with tear-stained cheek and heavy heart listening to the congratulations of her neighbours over the christening. The mute anguish of the character is well expressed; but the note of despair is sounded in her interview with the newly-made Deemster in the third act with an intensity and conviction that thrill the house. As a heroine of melodrama Miss Britton has certainly made her mark. Mr. Eric Mayne, a great favourite with Lyceum audiences, had a gratifying reception on Saturday night on his entrance as Philip Christian, a part somewhat out of his usual line, and one that is beset with difficulties. The Deemster has been spoken of as a villain. Rather is he the victim of a moral cowardice that is easily understandable in this workaday world. The actor suggests cleverly in the first act the coldness and selfishness of the man, but at the same time is not oblivious of the fact that happiness does not come to Philip with the realisation of his ambition, as we learn in the third act from the silent sorrow of the Deemster, whose remorse is quickened by the reproaches of her whom he has wronged. It was in the scene at Rushen Castle that Mr. Mayne scored his greatest success! The Cæsar Cregeen of Mr. Frederick Ross was a rugged realisation of the dour religionist, whose creed is entirely concerned with Divine punishment. The character belongs solely to the little Bethels of remote country villages, and none of its significance escapes us as treated by Mr. Ross. Mr. Wilfred E. Payne as Ross Christian was responsible for a bit of welcome comedy, and played remarkably well. Miss Rita Tomkins won the goodwill of the house on her entrance as Nancy, and it was specially confirmed during the faithful girl's interview with Cæsar Cregeen. Miss Blanche Stanley made a lovable Grannie; and Miss Lillian Tweed was a characteristic old Sarah. Mr. S. Major Jones, the stage-manager, contented himself with the comparatively small character of Black Tom, of which he gave an excellent rendering; Mr. H. K. Ayliff may be complimented on a clever bit of character-acting as Postman Kelly; Mr. Sidney Young was effective as William; Mr. Joseph O'Brien was adequate as the constable; Mr. Sidney Vautier did well as Dr. Mylechreest; Mr. Henry Brooks made a soldierly and dignified governor; Mr. Ernest Cresfan distinguished himself in the short part of Adam Quirk; and other parts were capably sustained by Mr. Charles Terric, Mr. Henry Armstrong, Miss Lillian Digges, and Miss Dora Clements. The production of the piece was in the hands of Mr. Ernest Carpenter, whose labours have been rewarded by a magnificent success. The scenery, painted by Mr. R. C. Nicholls, is specially worthy of praise; and Herr Raimund Pechtotsch's incidental music adds much to the dramatic significance of the chief scenes of the play.

In conclusion we may say that Pete is a drama not only for London and the provinces, but for the English-speaking world. It palpitates with life; it is intensely dramatic; and its rugged humanity and heart interest must make as powerful an appeal beyond the seas as in the Motherland.

"Colleen" Quips.

"DURING a stay at Blackburn," writes Mr. Butler Stanhope, "we were playing The Colleen Bawn, and in the Water Cave scene a curious thing happened. Danny Mann had just thrown the poor Colleen into the water. Now Myles Na Coppaleen should shoot Danny, but his gun missed fire. They had no double ready in the wings on this night, so Myles was at a loss what to do, for Danny had to be knocked into the lake somehow, so he suddenly took off his hat and threw it at Danny, who immediately tumbled in, Myles exclaiming, 'Bedad, that was a mighty fine shot! My old cawbeen came in very handy that time, anyhow.' He then took his sensational dive and saved the poor Colleen Bawn from a watery grave."

ACTORS' UNION.

LONDON.

The weekly meeting of the Actors' Union was held on Tuesday afternoon at Hummums Hotel, Miss Amy Coleman presiding. Among others present were Messrs. F. Rawson Buckley, Cecil G. Calvert, Frank Gerald, Charles Halling, Percy Horton, Frederick F. Loyd, J. G. Maine, D. Lewin-Mannering, and E. Y. Rae; and Mesdames Jamieson, Walter Bentley, May Conrade, Hylda Denison, Gladys Everard, Kitty Marian, Geraldine Monrose, Mildred Silvestré, Elsie Sinclair, Laura Vernon, and Jessie Yadman.

Mr. Charles Halling having referred to the difficulty of procuring new members in consequence of the doubt that seemed to exist in some minds as to the personal benefit to be derived, Mr. Cecil G. Calvert pointed out that the Union was formed for the collective good of the members, and the individual's rights were thereby protected. Actors should not ask, "What can I get out of it?" but should consider the matter from the standpoint of the whole profession. Many engagements had been made through the Union, and only last week one manager came to them and engaged a company through their agency.

Mr. Fredk. F. Loyd remarked that unless actors and actresses organised they would find that within ten years, if not within five, a trust would come along which would crush them under its heel. They ought to try to make the average actor understand what was in front of him.

Mrs. Walter Bentley expressed the opinion that whatever might have been the difficulties which had confronted them in the past, she could foresee a far harder fight coming. Mr. J. G. Maine and Mr. Frank Gerald also spoke.

COMMITTEE MEETING.

At the usual weekly meeting of the committee of the Actors' Union last Thursday the following were present:—Messrs. F. Rawson Buckley (chair), E. Y. Rae, J. W. Braithwaite, Orlando Barnett, and H. Tripp-Edgar. Letters were received from Messrs. J. Hastings Batson, Geo. P. Lester, Frederick F. Loyd, Geo. H. Child, Jerrold Heather, Frank Gerald, and Frank Strickland.

The Secretary was instructed to write to all the agents and request them to send in their books of stamps for examination. He was also instructed to write to a certain dentist and to ask him if he would be willing to act as honorary dentist to the Union.

The Honorary Solicitor was instructed to proceed with a case on behalf of a member.

A letter was read from Mr. J. Hastings Batson stating that as he was going away in the provinces for some time he wished to resign from the committee. The Secretary was instructed to write to Mr. Batson and say that he would still be able to carry on the good work for the Union which he had been doing in the past, although he was away from town, and to ask him to reconsider his decision.

A lengthy discussion took place on the subject of the proposed Club, and the matter was again referred back.

The Secretary reported that four engagements had been settled during the past week through the Agency. One new member was elected.

At the usual weekly meetings held at Hummums Hotel Mrs. Walter Bentley will take the chair on the 8th and Mr. Frank Gerald on the 15th of this month.

BIRMINGHAM.

A meeting took place on Friday, the 28th ult., at the White Lion Hotel, Birmingham, but there was not a large attendance. Mr. George H. Child presided, and amongst those present were Messrs. F. Beck, M. Boulton, G. Fisher, R. Gilbert, Miss B. Moore, and Miss E. Casson. The Chairman, opening the proceedings, said considering the short time the Union had been in existence they were progressing favourably. The profession was in a very precarious position, and it wanted uplifting, but the few were doing what the many could do by mere acclamation. The profession was being swamped by people who came into it as a last resource, and something ought to be done to keep these people out. Music halls grew up as the outcome of bad melodrama, badly played, and the middle classes were glad to go to a clean, bright place of entertainment. If plays had been better music halls would not have been in their present position. More than two hundred situations above the £2 a week minimum had been obtained by the Union, and at no cost to the members engaged. They did not want to fight managers. It was only the worst class of small-salary-paying managers who objected to the Union.

The Chairman called the attention of members to the necessity of keeping in touch with the General Secretary when out of engagements. Two managers had applied that week at the head office for artists, and could not be supplied, as the secretary had not the necessary information at hand. Application forms could be obtained, filled in, and returned with photographs, and kept for reference by the Secretary. There was no commission charged. The artists, he continued, did not want 80 per cent. of the good things in their contracts, but a fair 50 per cent. They ought to be in a position to dictate to managers when necessary, and get their wrongs redressed. They had got the nucleus of a small old age pension fund.

Mr. Robert Gilbert criticised the payment of the subscription by stamps. There were a good many people who did not care to ask the landlord of a public-house for a stamp for the Actors' Union. Turning to the subject of a minimum wage, he said he did not think they would ever get it so long as the theatres were controlled by commercial men. He suggested that the Union should lease a suburban or provincial theatre and run stock companies composed of members of the Union. It could be done if they could find a sufficient number of actors and actresses who would take out shares, and let the dividends take care of themselves for a time. The same scheme might be applied to touring some London success. The stage and business managers and those playing would be elected by the committee, fair salaries paid, and the profits would go to the Union. This would make the Union wealthy, and without money they would not go far. He did not think they would meet with any discouragement from the average local manager. For the sake of the public they could run it under the name of a well-known actor or else invent a name. It would be understood it was a more or less self-sacrificing movement on the part of those who took up shares.

The Chairman, replying, said he personally had been against the sale of stamps in public houses from the start, but it had been the only feasible project brought forward. He promised to bring Mr. Gilbert's suggestion before the committee.

Mr. Boulton said he was in agreement with the objects of the Union except the £2 a week minimum, which he did not think was practicable. He approved Mr. Gilbert's suggestion, for there was a great field in the provinces for productions on the scale of the Queen's, Manchester. The actor should be his own manager; the capitalist should not have control of genius and ability. He would be pleased to join the Union at the conclusion of the meeting.

The Chairman said they must have a rock bottom, and agree not to work below it. The actor was always the last to be considered, and they must work out their own salvation.

Mr. Gilbert said the tendency was for big syndicates to come in. He did not think there were enough good actors to go round, and there would always be some parts badly played. There seemed to be no remedy for this but to return to the old stock plays. The actors of the old school were better trained than the actors of to-day.

The Chairman said each responsible manager would be allowed one or two apprentices, but they wanted to check the unlimited supply of incompetents. They could find good actors if they would pay them. Many an actor at present hanging on the outskirts of West End managements would in preference return to the provinces if salaries were better, and thereby help to raise the standard of acting, which in its turn would entice better returns all round.

SCENE AT DALY'S.

Described as a merchant, of 70, Lancaster-gate, W., Henry Miller, 28, was charged, before Mr. Marsham, at Bow-street, with using insulting words and behaviour whereby a breach of the peace might have been occasioned.

Mr. Sanders (Wontner and Sons) prosecuted on behalf of the Commissioner of Police; Mr. Henry Moore appeared for the defence.

Mr. Sanders stated that on Saturday night a constable on special duty at Daly's was called to the pit by an attendant, who complained of people standing in the gangway. He saw the defendant and two other gentlemen there, and explained to them the County Council regulations that the gangways should be kept clear. Eventually, after making some complaint to the management, they went into the street and started shouting, causing a crowd to assemble. When requested to go away two of them did so, but the defendant refused, and he was therefore taken into custody.

Police-constable 438, giving evidence in support of this statement, said the gentlemen complained of the way in which they had been spoken to by an attendant, and he suggested that they should see the manager. When they left the theatre the defendant shouted, and refused to go away. He said to witness, "You are only the cat's-paw of these theatre people. I will see about this. I am not going to move along, and as for that thing downstairs, he is no better than you are. I should like to give him something." A considerable crowd assembled in consequence.

In cross-examination, witness said people were not allowed to stand in the gangway at Daly's Theatre. There was no one else there at the time besides the defendant and his friends.

Asked whether the attendent was insolent, the constable said that perhaps he was not as polite as he might have been.

Inspector Cogswell said that when the charge was taken Mr. Miller said, "I don't understand what you mean." Witness considered that the defendant and his friends had had more drink than was good for them, and the defendant was very excited.

Mr. Moore said he was prepared with independent evidence that the official in the theatre exceeded his authority, and that there was no crowd outside.

The Magistrate: I don't think it is necessary. It is not a case in which I should convict. I think defendant should have gone away. You will be discharged.

Mr. Moore said that Dr. Allen, one of his witnesses, felt very much aggrieved by the allegation made against him. He was a doctor at one of the leading hospitals, and he felt that the allegation was very atrocious.

The Magistrate: There is no charge against him. I don't think he need take it to heart.

Dr. Allen: I consider it a most scandalous thing that, without any evidence, the inspector alleges that I had had too much to drink. My standing in my profession is seriously affected.

The Magistrate: I have no reason to suppose for a moment that you had had too much to drink.

Mr. Stephen Fiske writes from New York, Aug. 22, 1908:—"Klaw and Erlanger are pushing things for their double openings here and in Chicago. Minnette Barrett is engaged for Polly in The Round Up, which will be revived at the Academy of Music on the 31st inst., and Maclyn Arbuckle has left the barn on his St. Lawrence River farm unfinished to attend the rehearsals. Henry Reuterdahl is designing the scenery for the new naval drama, In Time of Peace. The Right of Way is to open in Brooklyn and take a Southern tour. Gillette's new play, Ticey, is booked to reopen the Chicago Opera House, with Mary Regan as the heroine. Albertine Benson has been selected for the Fairy Queen in Little Nemo. Lillian Russell's racing play, Wildfire, and her new gowns—no sheaths—will be tried on at Asbury Park, before coming to the Liberty Theatre.

"'The Fighting Hope,' with which Belasco will reopen the Stuyvesant Theatre, is by William J. Hurlbut, a new dramatist. It has only five characters, and Belasco has given parts to Miss Blanche Bates, Miss Loretta Wells, Mr. John W. Cope, and Mr. Charles Richman. He says:—'The reason why I have sidetracked my own new play for Miss Bates is that Mr. Hurlbut's drama, because of its vital and immediate interest, cannot be delayed. It is a play of to-day. The idea and the characters are of the present moment.' This statement has excited much curiosity. Is The Fighting Hope an election play? Is President Roosevelt or Governor Hughes to be staged in it? Or does it mean The Fighting Chance of Bryan?"

THE NEW GAIETY, MANCHESTER.

The well-known provincial theatre above named, which has been acquired by Miss Horniman, has been closed for some months, and shortly reopens under very different auspices. Since its closure the theatre has undergone almost entire reconstruction under the direction of Messrs. Frank Matcham and Co., the well-known theatrical architects. The defects of the old building have all been swept away, and a complete reconstruction of the auditorium carried out on modern lines. The gallery and upper circle have been pulled completely out and two new tiers constructed on the cantilever system, the fronts of these tiers having been set back considerably from the curtain-line. The dress circle has been much improved and enlarged, as have also the stalls and pit. The large heavy columns that supported the dress circle have been removed and the ceiling slightly raised, giving much improved sight-lines to this part of the house. The result of the altered galleries can be imagined when it is considered that the back of the gallery is no less than 8ft. below the original level, and this has enabled the architects to reduce the number of steps of the staircases by fifteen, thus bringing the occupants much nearer the level of the street. The upper circle has also been reduced in height in proportion.

The whole of the theatre will be reseated. The upper circle is furnished with comfortable tip-up seats, the dress circle and stalls will be reseated with handsome polished wood-framed seats upholstered in satin-faced goat hair cloth, and tip-up chairs are also provided in the pit stalls and pit. All the seats from the gallery upwards are numbered, and will be bookable in advance. The old private boxes have been removed and an entirely new arrangement and design of box façades introduced, there now being six luxurious boxes in lieu of the four originally existing. New box staircases have also been built.

The old Moresque plaster-work has been taken down and a completely new scheme of decoration carried out. The new fibrous plaster-work illustrates a fine example of Greek architecture, very severe in treatment, but of noble proportions, fine fluted columns with Greek scrolled caps and arches supporting heavy cornices and entablatures. The proscenium and the gallery fronts are designed on similar lines. The box façades are somewhat unique in theatre design. The lower boxes are draped, but the top boxes are open, with curved shaped walls panelled, in the centre a handsome draped opening giving access to the seats. The main cornice is carried round this covered box, terminating with coffered panelled arch over, having concealed lights, shedding a soft ray of illumination over the whole decoration. The old ceiling has undergone the same Greek treatment.

The proscenium-opening is formed with a border of rich "skyros" Scaglolia marble and surrounded with a green bronzed laurel enrichment. Over the proscenium is a large panel with an artistic low-relief modelled representation of ancient Greek vessels, the whole surmounted with a boldly-moulded pediment. Skyros marble columns with bronzed caps are also introduced at the sides of the stalls supporting the box façades over. The whole of this finely-modelled work is finished in enamelled white, no gold or colour beyond the marble and bronze being introduced. The necessary warmth in the colour of the theatre is obtained in the wall-paper, floor-coverings, seats, and upholstery, which are all of one rich shade of red. The scheme of green bronze is carried into the electric light fittings in the ceiling, the fronts of boxes, and elsewhere.

The stage has been improved by the formation of a large scene-dock at one side which will enable fine effects to be introduced. The old dressing-rooms have been cleared away and thirteen large well-lighted and ventilated dressing-rooms, heated with radiators and supplied with hot and cold water and lighted with electric light, have been erected. There are also managerial offices, bill-rooms, large rehearsal room, property room and green-room, and everything necessary for an up-to-date theatre. Another great improvement will be found in a large lift, that will enable carriages or horses to be taken from the street on to the stage or persons and baskets up to the dressing-rooms.

The entrance vestibule, which was very confined in space, has been considerably enlarged, and the walls have been lined with white statuary and green marble and the ceiling beautifully decorated. The whole of the woodwork here is of highly-polished mahogany. The exits and entrances have all been improved and the cloak-room of the dress circle much enlarged. New ladies' rooms for the pit and stalls have been added, and extra and improved lavatories for men provided in all parts. The heating has been extended and increased and the fire risk reduced considerably, and a complete new installation of electric light has been carried out. The exterior of the theatre has been cleaned down and the general appearance much improved, and is brilliantly illuminated with electric light. When the building is completed Miss Horniman may certainly be congratulated on possessing one of the finest and most novel theatres in the kingdom.

"WHEN THE DEVIL WAS ILL."

A New Comedy, in Four Acts, by Charles McEvoy, produced at His Majesty's Theatre, Carlisle, on Saturday, Aug. 29.

Godfrey Rawlings ..... Mr. B. Iden Payne
Martin Leatherhead ..... Mr. Charles Bibby
Mrs. Rawlings ..... Miss Sybil Thorndike
Walter King ..... Mr. Basil Dean
Owen Davis ..... Mr. Jules Shaw
Isobel ..... Miss Penelope Wheeler
Lady Mendle-Parrish ..... Miss Ada King
Chauffeur ..... Mr. Leonard Mudie
Fanny Goldstone ..... Miss Louise Holbrook
The Earwig ..... Forficula Auricularia

(From our own correspondent.)

"When the Devil was ill, the Devil a saint would be;
When the Devil was well, the devil a saint was he" is the couplet from which Mr. Charles McEvoy has derived the title for his comedy, which satirises in no uncertain manner the enthusiast of the "Simple Life." The opening of the first act is distinctly novel. On a dark stage a lively earwig is seen disporting on a screen in Godfrey Rawlings' study. Rawlings, a popular and successful author, is dictating to his secretary, Martin Leatherhead, a description of an encounter, in which the insect is engaged. As a writer on the beauties of Nature and the "Simple Life," Rawlings has gained notoriety, though his inspiration has been derived from the study of other authors on the subjects, aided by a strong and fanciful imagination. He suffers from "nerves" and "cigarettes," and at the finish of his dictation gets into a highly-excitable state, and irritably declares his intention of giving up his artificial life and occupation, and going back to "Nature" and the "Simple Life," of which he has written so much and knows so little.

In the second act Rawlings and his faithful secretary, Leatherhead, are established in a caravan in a chalk pit near Cheddar, Somerset, living the simple life, and existing on a strictly vegetarian diet. Earwigs don't prove so interesting now, and both Rawlings and Leatherhead are heartily sick of the inconveniences attached to the "Simple Life," and are longing for the blessings of civilisation. Hero Walter King, gamekeeper, and Owen Davis, the village schoolmaster, appear, and gossip about some strange gipsies who have been seen in the neighbourhood. The caravan is pitched on land owned by Lady Mendle-Parrish, an out-and-out society "Simple Lifer," who pays "Mr. Scarrett" (the name assumed by Rawlings) a visit, as she has a shrewd idea that he is the author of the books which converted her to her present views; her daughter, Isobel, also appears, disguised as a gipsy, in the hope that Rawlings, with whom she is deeply in love, will fail to recognise her. Mutual recognition, however, takes place, though both keep up the pretence of being strangers. In the meantime, Leatherhead, sick of the whole business, has got hopelessly drunk, and in an interview with Owen Davis exposes Rawlings, and sends off a telegram to his mother to come down and take her son home, as from the conversation he has heard between Rawlings and Isobel he suspects an elopement. Lady Mendle-Parrish, who had been assured by Rawlings that she was mistaken in thinking him the author of her favourite books, had, in the meantime, ordered him to leave—suggesting the rubbish ground as a suitable place for his encampment. The interviews between Rawlings and Isobel have deepened their attachment to each other, and an elopement has been arranged. Isobel enters the quarry, and hides in the caravan. Rawlings appears, and is ordered to depart, according to Lady Mendle-Parrish's instructions, but he declines to go. The mothers arrive on the scene, and satisfactory explanations follow. The affianced pair declare themselves thoroughly sick of "Nature" and the "Simple Life," and depart for Lady Mendle-Parrish's residence in the motor-car which had been provided for the elopement.

Mr. B. Iden Payne worked hard throughout as Rawlings, the nervousness of the overstrung author in the first act being a particularly fine piece of acting. Mr. Charles Bibby as the secretary, and Mr. Jules Shaw as the Schoolmaster had some humorous passages, which they treated with a full appreciation of their drollery. Miss Ada King's opportunities as Lady Mendle-Parrish were few, but she made artistic use of them. Isobel was cleverly impersonated by Miss Penelope Wheeler, who made a charming figure as the gipsy. The minor characters were well and carefully played.

One of the most popular attractions at the International Rubber Exhibition, which opens at Olympia on Monday, the 14th, will prove to be a mono-rail light railway, which is being especially constructed and on which a speed of 200 miles per hour can be obtained. This is one of the greatest inventions of the time, constructed on all the wonderful principles of the gyroscope, and its simplicity should claim the special attention of the delegates of the twenty-six Governments that are being represented. This is the first time the mono-rail railway has been seen in London.

THE DRAMA IN BERLIN.

"STAATSANWALT ALEXANDER,"
Play, in Four Acts, by Carl Schneler,
Produced at the Luisen Theatre, Aug. 29.

Dr. Alexander ..... Herr Trebore
Otto ..... Herr Schneeweiss
Wehner ..... Herr Bach
Behling ..... Herr Rohde
Schneller ..... Herr Pauli
Frau Wild ..... Fräulein Hupfel
Lisbeth ..... Fräulein Umanka
Caspar ..... Herr Stuenkel
Mizi Schmidt ..... Fräulein Kahlenberg
Wenderot ..... Herr Blumenreich

(From our own correspondent.)

BERLIN, Thursday, Sept. 3.—This is not a new play, and was at the time of its first production fully detailed in your columns. It came, however, quite in the light of a novelty to the audience of this high-class little East-end theatre, and was received with enthusiasm. The piece is not without its faults, but it is admirably developed, and is built round a tragic theme particularly appealing to German audiences. Alexander, the public prosecutor with hyper-rigid justice untempered with any trace of mercy, lives to see in his own son the greatest delinquent of all, and is forced to execute justice upon him. The plot, though at times strained, is very interesting, and Staatsanwalt Alexander has made its mark upon many provincial stages. The acting was good throughout, particular commendation being due to Herr Trebore, Herr Schneeweiss, and Fräulein Kahlenberg.

All our theatres have reopened, but as yet there is little doing in the way of new pieces, the season being in its infancy. The Royal Schauspielhaus announces a short list of novelties, none of which will, however, be produced much before November. They include a couple of historical tragedies by Otto Ludwig and C. D. Grabbe respectively, and a comedy by the well-known author Heinrich Lee, entitled Der Schlagbaum.

The Royal Opera, which reopened after a two months' vacation last week, has been giving Wagner and other pièces de résistance. The great event of the early season will be the production of the new ballet, Sardanapal, this week, by "Imperial command." His Majesty the Emperor has taken keen interest in all arrangements for this stupendous work, which is to break the record in splendour—from all accounts—as well as being accurately historical. The Opera House closes two nights in order to prepare for this undertaking—an almost unprecedented occurrence.

In October Caruso comes for a short season at the Royal Opera, and demands for tickets have already begun. During September Mozart's Figaro's Hochzeit will be revived with the original recitatives; the principal rôles will be in the hands of Fräuleins Destinn and Hempel, Herren Berger and Knüpfer. La Bohème will next be given, with Miss Farrar as Mimi. Some changes will be made shortly in the Royal Opera Company. Fräulein Hiedler, Frau Liebau, Fräulein Weiss, and others are leaving, while new artists engaged are Mesdames Dennera (Wiesbaden), Salvatin (Paris), Fabry (Augsburg), and MM. Bischof and Bronsgeest, of Hanover and Hamburg respectively.

The Hebbel Theatre, which reopened with the big draw of last season, Mrs. Warren's Gewerbe, promises a number of new comedies, including Der Liebhaber, by Shaw; Totentanz, by Strindberg; and Revolutions-Hochzeit, by Michaelis.

At the Thalia a three-act burlesque by MM. Kreu and Lippschitz, entitled Das Mitternachtsmädchen, was produced about the middle of last month. It is full of wild mirth and was well acted, and served to amuse the hosts of country and foreign visitors that throng our city in August. The chief feature, as usual, was the topical couplet, which is inevitable to the success of the modern burlesque.

As Fräulein Plaischinger, one of the prima donnas of the Royal Opera, was about to leave in the night train for Munich—where she is to sing Brünnhilde in the festspiele—she was robbed of a bag containing all her jewels. Turning away from the seat where the bag lay for a moment, it disappeared, and in the bustle of starting could not be traced. Besides the actual value of the jewels, which amounts to several hundred pounds, there are gifts from the Emperor and other Royal persons which are irreparable.

The Prince of Wales' Theatre, Birmingham has during the summer vacation been entirely redecorated. The old ornate style has been forsaken, and instead one finds a restful and dignified scheme of decoration carried out in rich browns and subdued greens. The entrance to the theatre now presents a pleasing appearance. The vestibule looks charmingly bright in its rich treatment of Rose du Barri coloured panels, with a dark green dado and painted ceiling. The crush-room carries a pretty ivory and green wallpaper, while the ceiling has been tastefully decorated in the French style in the time of Louis XVI.

The staircases and corridors leading to the auditorium are handsomely carpeted, the walls are of green and white, with a copper-coloured dado, and the arches are relieved by hangings of Utrecht velvet ornamented with embroidered palmets. The dress circle is papered in cream and gold, with a blue dado, the colours harmonising with the tints of the carpet, and an artistic shade of green has been employed in the decoration of the upper circle. The proscenium has been entirely remodelled, the fronts of the circles and gallery are effectively treated in a tan-colouring, edged with gold, and the boxes are hung with rich brown curtains embroidered with French palmets. The brightness of the decoration is materially enhanced by the improvement which has been made in the lighting arrangements.

In the Coroner's Court on Wednesday an inquiry was held concerning the death of Charles Shaw, a gas-fitter, who sustained a fatal injury at Drury Lane Theatre on the 7th ult. Evidence showed that the deceased, who was employed by Messrs. Pinching and Walton, contractors, was working with another man at the Theatre on some gas fittings, when a brick fell from the top of the staging, causing a severe cut on the head. The injured man was taken to King's College Hospital, where he was attended to. Later he returned home, complaining that his head was so painful.

A workman who gave evidence said that he and deceased were working in the well of the stage, and that there was a wood sheeting over them. It appeared that the brick fell through a hole in the sheeting and caught the deceased on the head. Medical evidence deposed that the man was a healthy man, but on Aug. 17 he had nine epileptic fits of a very severe nature, and on Aug. 24 he had another fit of the same description. He was then taken to St. George's Hospital, where he died on Aug. 29. The jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death."

The approaching visit of Mr. George Edwardes's Merry Widow company to the Grand Opera House, Middlesbrough, is being looked forward to eagerly by the patrons of this palatial building, and many substantial wagers have been made that the receipts for the eight performances will reach, if not exceed, those of any other theatre visited; in fact, one well-known manager has made a wager of £100 to that effect.

"The Era" can be obtained at the principal bookstalls throughout the provinces.

"THE MERRY WIDOW" AND CHARITY.

[Photo by W. Rees.

Members of "The Merry Widow" company appearing at Southport, which included Mr. Basil S. Foster, one of the well-known cricketing family of Worcestershire, played a Southport and Birkdale team on Aug. 27. The proceeds were in aid of the fund for the sufferers of the Wigan colliery disaster, and totalled £16. Mr. Foster made 48 out of the theatrical total of 81. Mr. Walter Sugg, the ex-Derbyshire cricketer, was responsible for 69 out of the 176 made by Southport and Birkdale.

ON THE ROAD, SEPT. 7.

AMASIS.—Grand T., Croydon.
AN ABANDONED WOMAN.—Queen's T., Farnworth.
ASCHE, OSCAR.—Grand T., Derby.
ASHWELL'S, MISS LENA.—Tyne T., Newcastle.
AT CRIPPLE CREEK.—T. R., Barnsley.
AT DUTY'S CALL.—Metropole T., Devonport.
AUSTIN, MARY.—Metropole T., Birmingham.
BEAU BROCADE.—O. H., Southport.
BELLE OF MAYFAIR (BODE).—H. M. T., Aberdeen.
BELLE OF MAYFAIR (HOWARD).—Lowestoft.
BELLE OF NEW YORK (HOWARD).—Lyceum T., Sheffield.
BENSON, MR. AND MRS. F. R.—Spa T., Scarborough.
BENSON, MR. AND MRS. F. R. (N.).—Worthing and Weymouth.
BENSON, MR. AND MRS. F. R. (S.).—Romsey and Dorchester.
BEST OF HER SEX.—Metropole T., Abertillery.
BONDMAN, THE (CROKE).—Palace T., Ramsgate.
BREED OF THE TRESHAMS.—O. H., Wakefield.
BREWSTER'S MILLIONS.—Buxton and Llandudno.
BULMER, MR.—Grand T., Nelson.
CAPTAIN DREW ON LEAVE.—O. H., Dumfries.
CHARLEY'S AUNT.—O. H., Barnley.
CHARLEY'S AUNT (No. 2).—Tiverton and Ilfracombe.
CHINESE HONEYMOON (BODE).—T. R., Bolton.
CHRISTIAN, THE (CROKE, N.),—T. R., Glasgow.
CHRISTIAN, THE (CROKE, S.).—Grand T., Fulham.
CHRISTIAN, THE (CROKE, No. 3).—Whitstable and Devizes.
CLAUDIAN.—Irving Theatre, Seacombe.
COAL KING.—Queen's T., Keighley.
COMPTON COMEDY CO.—Grand T., Douglas.
CONVICT'S DAUGHTER.—Elephant and Castle T.
COUNTRY GIRL IN LONDON.—Rawtenstall.
DAIRYMAIDS (COURTNEIDGE).—Court T., Liverpool.
DAIRYMAIDS, THE (COURTNEIDGE) (S.).—Dalston T., N.E.
DAIRYMAIDS, THE (MACDONALD'S).—Margate and Canterbury.
DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY.—P. O. W., Nuneaton.
DEAR OLD CHARLEY.—T. R., Bath.
DIANA OF DOBSON'S (N.).—Artillery T., Woolwich.
DIANA OF DOBSON'S (M.).—Newton and Malvern.
DIANA OF DOBSON'S (S.).—T. R., Plymouth.
DIVER'S LUCK.—T. R., Wednesbury.
DONOVAN, LYDIA.—T. R., Lincoln.
DRIVEN FROM HOME.—T. R., Hyde.
EAST LYNNE (KELLY).—T. R., Dublin.
EVE OF HER WEDDING.—T. R., Smethwick.
FACE AT THE WINDOW.—Shakespeare, Clapham.
FALSE WIFE.—T. R., Rotherham.
FATAL WEDDING.—T. R., West Stanley.
FIGHT FOR A LIFE.—Paisley T., Paisley.
FIGHT FOR A THRONE.—T. R., Sutton.
FLAG LIEUTENANT.—Lyceum T., Newport.
FLORODORA (HOWARD).—Grand T., Hull.
FLOWER GIRL.—O. H., Cheltenham.
FOR LOVE AND THE KING.—Star T., Swansea.
GEOFFREY LANGDON'S WIFE.—T. R., Sunderland.
GIRL BEHIND THE COUNTER.—Grand T., Doncaster.
GIRL REDEEMED FROM SIN.—Prince's T., Blackburn.
GIRL'S CROSS ROADS.—T. R., Dewsbury.
GIRLS OF GOTTENBERG.—Lyceum T., Edinburgh.
GIRLS OF GOTTENBERG.—Pier T., Eastbourne.
GIRL WITH THE ANGEL FACE.—P.O.W., Grimsby.
GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY.—Grand T., Nelson.
GIRL WHO WRECKED HIS HOME.—A. T., Hull.
GREAT AWAKENING.—Carlton T., Greenwich.
GREED OF GOLD.—T. R., Hebburn.
HANDS ACROSS THE SEA.—Grand T., Wolverhampton.
HER LOVE AGAINST THE WORLD.—T.R., Scarborough.
HER MARRIAGE VOW.—T. R., Blyth.
HER NAMELESS CHILD.—Crown T., Eccles.
HONEYMOON, THE.—Prince's T., Horwich.
HORNIMAN'S, MISS.—Gaiety T., Manchester.
HUGHES, ANNIE.—Coronet Theatre, W.
HYPOCRITES, THE (N.).—T. R., York.
IRENE WYCHERLEY.—County T., Bedford.
KNIGHT IN ARMOUR.—Ferndale and Pontycymmer.
LADY FREDERICK.—Grand T., Hull.
LADY FREDERICK (POTTER).—King's T., Glasgow.
LA COMEDIE ANGLAISE.—Cowdenbeath and Musselburgh.
LANCASHIRE LAD.—Palace T., Newcastle.
LEAH KLESCHNA.—Grand T., Swansea.
LITTLE BREADWINNER.—Royalty T., Llanelly.
LONDON WITH THE LID OFF.—Princess's T., Glasgow.
LOVE OF THE PRINCESS.—Grand T., Luton.
LOVE RULES THE WORLD.—Metropole T., Glasgow.
LOVE THAT WOMEN DESIRE.—P. O. W., Salford.
LOVE'S GOLDEN DREAM.—Ryde and Ventnor.
LUCKY LIZA.—Pavilion, Abertillery.
MANXMAN, THE (CLYDE).—Musselburgh.
MANXMAN, THE.—T. R., Goole.
MAN AND WIFE.—T. R., Stratford, E.
MAUDE'S, MISS WINIFRED.—H.M.T., Carlisle.
MERELY MARY ANN.—T. R., Preston.
MERRY WIDOW.—O. H., Harrogate.
MIDNIGHT MAIL.—Carlton T., Saltley.
MOLLISON, WILLIAM.—T. R., Nottingham.
MOODY-MANNERS OPERA (A.)—Kennington T., S.E.
MOODY-MANNERS OPERA (B.).—Empire T., Southend
MOORE, MISS DECIMA.—Stockton-on-Tees.
MRS. PONDERBURY'S PAST.—Llandudno and Buxton.
MY MIMOSA MAID.—Gaiety T., Hastings.
MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.—Lyceum T., Newport.
NEW GIRL, THE.—Grand T., Walsall.
OLD FOLKS AT HOME.—Colosseum, Oldham.
OLD HOME, THE.—T. R., Batley.
OLD, OLD STORY.—Public Hall, Redditch.
PETER'S MOTHER.—Lytham and Llandudno.
POWER OF THE CROSS.—Eden T., Bishop Auckland.
POWER OF THE KING.—Prince's T., Accrington.
PRIVATE SECRETARY.—T R., Exeter.
PRODIGAL PARSON.—New Hall, Bargoed.
PRODIGAL SON (CROKE).—King's T., Southsea.
PRODIGAL SON (DAY).—T. R., Huddersfield.
ROYAL DIVORCE.—T. R., Ashton.
SAILOR'S WEDDING.—Marlboro' Theatre, N.
SECOND TO NONE.—Queen's T., Longton.
SEXTON BLAKE.—Lyceum T., Govan.
SHERLOCK HOLMES.—Queen's T., Liverpool.
SIGN OF THE CROSS.—T. R., Edinburgh.
SILVER KING.—T. R., Leeds.
SILVER KING (HOWARD).—Taunton and Bridgwater.
SISTER'S SIN, A.—Mountain Ash.
SOLDIER OF FRANCE.—O. H., Dudley.
SOLDIER'S HONOUR.—Prince's T., Preston.
STILL ALARM.—T. R., Ilkeston.
STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER.—Spennymoor.
SUNDAY.—Bury St. Edmund's and Lowestoft.
TERRY, EDWARD.—Royalty T., Glasgow.
THIEF, THE (N.).—O. H., Leicester.
THIEF, THE (S.).—County T., Kingston.
THIEF, THE.—P. O. W., Birmingham.
TOM JONES.—Whitley and Bridlington.
TWO LANCASHIRE LASSES IN LONDON.—Hammersmith, W.
TWO LITTLE DRUMMER BOYS.—Alex. T., Widnes.
TWO LITTLE VAGABONDS (N.).—King's T., Sunderland.
TWO LITTLE VAGABONDS (S.).—T. R., Leicester.
TYRANT, THE.—Prince's T., Portsmouth.
UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.—Maesteg and Treherbert.
VILLAGE BLACKSMITH.—Grand T., Falkirk.
WARNER, GRACE.—Queen's T., Fleetwood.
WARNING TO WOMEN.—Prince's T., Bradford.
WHAT THE BUTLER SAW.—Morecambe.
WHEN KNIGHTS WERE BOLD.—Yeovil.
WHEN LONDON SLEEPS.—T. R., Stockport.
WHITE MAN, A. (N.).—T. R., Manchester.
WHITE MAN, A (S.).—T. R., Bournemouth.
WHO IS SHE?—T. R., Middlesbrough.
WHY MEN LOVE WOMEN.—T. R., Rochdale.
WILKIE, ALLAN, AND CO.—T. R., South Shields.
WOMAN AND WINE.—Metropole T., Birmingham.
WOMAN PAYS.—Gaiety T., Burnley.
WOMAN WORTH WINNING.—Clarence T., Pontypridd.
WORST WOMAN IN LONDON.—Court T., Warrington.
YOU NEVER CAN TELL.—T. R., Brighton.
YOUNGEST OF THREE.—Pier, Southend.
£1,000 REWARD.—O. H., St. Helens.

MR. FRED H. GRAHAM and his wife sailed for New York on Saturday.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

[We do not answer inquiries by post. In all letters the names and addresses of inquirers must be given as a guarantee of good faith. Initials only or pseudonyms will be used in the answers if so desired.]

JERROLD ROBERTSHAW.—In order to protect a sketch both the copyright itself and the performing rights should be registered at Stationers' Hall, E.C. The necessary forms will be supplied on application. The licence of the Lord Chamberlain should be obtained. The subject is fully explained in Strong's "Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," published at this office, price 3s. 6d. See notice above.

C. B. BURNETT.—Mr. Ben Webster became proprietor of the old Adelphi Theatre in September, 1844, at the same time continuing his lesseeship of the Haymarket. His first production at the Strand house was Old Heads and Young Hearts, on Nov. 18, 1844. This comedy, by Dion Boucicault, was played by a notable cast, which included Webster, Buckstone, the elder Farren, Charles Mathews, and Mme. Vestris.

L. BENJAMIN.—The Danites was produced at Sadler's Wells on April 26, 1880. We have no record of any representation at the Garrick, Leman-street, Whitechapel. See notice above.

FRANCIS HAWLEY.—Secrets of the Police was produced at the Surrey by Mr. George Conquest on Nov. 27, 1886. The names of the male characters are:—William Jarman, Mr. C. Cruikshanks; George Jarman, Mr. T. F. Nye; Inspector Downing, Mr. T. Hyde; Sergeant Doon, Mr. E. Granville; Frank Grey, Mr. H. J. Hillier; Osmond Hare, Mr. E. S. Vincent; and Rev. Mr. Garland, Mr. R. Leslie. We have added for your information the members of the old Surrey stock company playing the parts. Mrs. Bennett was the Rosa and Miss Annie Conway the Mrs. Grey.

ALICE.—Try Theatre Royal, Edinburgh.

B. T. (Barley Mow).—We have no record of the exact year. The Press agent at Earl's Court or the management of Olympia could probably tell you.

JAMES ANDERSON.—James Taylor, of Simple Simon and Sarah Walker fame, died on Jan. 17, 1904, at the age of sixty-seven.

J. B. TEMPLETON.—Sorry we cannot help you. Try a sporting paper or an old Stockton Directory. See notice above.

O. C. F. H.—You should obtain permission both from authors and publishers. It is very necessary.

JOE.—We have not heard of the actor and singer you mention for some time. We should say he is alive. The Rose of Auvergne is by Offenbach. We do not know the other work you mention as a musical play. There was a drama of that name produced at the Britannia, Hoxton, in 1876.

O'KANE (Londonderry).—Yes. A letter addressed to the offices of this paper would reach her.

R. M. C.—Sorry that we have no record of the Niagara Falls or Rapids feat that you mention. Your other question is not theatrical. Try "Haydn's Dictionary of Dates."

TUT TUT.—As the play was produced at the Adelphi in 1854 we should say that there is no doubt about it being free.

B. B. (Chester).—We are always willing to rely upon your statements, but not upon your prophecies. You could not know on the Wednesday what was going to happen on the Friday, and should have phrased your announcement differently.

CONTRACT.—(1) There is no custom to the effect mentioned by you, but there is often a clause inserted in contracts to that effect. We think you are entitled to damages, but should advise you to consult a solicitor, as your cause of action depends upon the terms of the contract, which we have not seen. (2) A manager can claim damages if he does not have proper notice of the determination of his contract. It does not in any way affect his rights if he has been offered another position with a lower salary.

MR. ROBERT STEIDL, in consequence of Continental contracts, was unable to accept Mr. Arthur Collins's offer for next Christmas, but will be seen at Old Drury during the run of the Christmas production 1909-10. Mr. Steidl will go to the Lane by permission of Mr. Alfred Moul, who has engaged the German comedian for a term of years.

IN the nineties the new entertainer at the piano, Mr. Eustace Ponsonby, would have gravitated towards St. George's Hall; but he will follow the example of Miss Margaret Cooper, and find a place in the programme of a West-End hall. His professional name is to be Le Gros. Mr. Ponsonby has written lyrics for musical comedy songs, several of them being sung by the Follies and Mr. Harry Fragson.

ON Saturday, Aug. 29, a special picture matinée was held at the Hippodrome, Stalybridge, by kind permission of Mr. James Fioni, the lessee, in aid of the Mayor of Stalybridge's Fund for the relief of the bereaved in the recent Wigan Colliery disaster. The Mayor and Mayoress were present, along with the gentry of the borough. The gross receipts, £14 5s. 1d., were handed over to his Worship the Mayor by the resident-manager, Mr. W. A. Jackson, amid tremendous applause. Mr. Fioni defrayed all costs of printing and advertising.

MR. J. L. SACHS, representative of the Alhambra Syndicate, Johannesburg, sailed last Saturday on the Kildonan Castle. He is going back to Johannesburg to commence operations for the building of the house, and hopes to return to London by the end of the year. He also desires to convey through us hearty thanks to the managers of the London and suburban halls for the courtesy that has been shown him during his stay here. All communications re the Alhambra, Johannesburg, may be directed to 1, Winchester-house, Loveday-street, Johannesburg.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD KEMP, who are at the Oxford, are well known as explorers and lecturers, and made four painful journeys across a dreary desert to obtain moving pictures of the Hopi Indians' snake dance. There are about 7,000 Hopis in Arizona, and they attract the greatest interest because of their peculiar religious ceremony known as the Rattlesnake Dance. This dance, which is held every year, is entirely a religious ceremony; it is in effect a prayer for rain. The Hopis are unwarlike, industrious, intensely religious, virtuous, clever, and persistent in trading, and given to agriculture. Mr. Kemp has made the dances of the various Indian tribes a study for a number of years.

"THE ERA" LETTER-BOX.

Aldrich, Mrs. Chas.
Anthony, Mr. Harry
Anton, Mr. W. Holmes
Barnes, Mr. J. H.
Barrett, Mr. Medley
Barrow, Miss E. M.
Barry, Mr. Leonard
Bentley, Mr. W. E.
Bevan, Miss Flossie
Biddall, Mr. W.
Blunt, Mr. G.
Boggetti, Mr. E.
Boissett, Mr. Herbert
Branscombe, Mr. Arthur
Bull, Mr. A. W.
Burns and Danvers
Campbell, Mr. D.
Cash, Mr. Morny
Cecilians, The Four
Celeste, Miss Blanche
Chapman, Miss Stella
Clark, Miss D. H.
Clark, Col. W.
Comber, Mr. R. S.
Congdon, Miss May
Conover, Mr. T. E.
Coop, Mr. Colin
Coram,
Correze, Mrs
Corri, Mr. Clarence
Costello, Mr. Tom
Cotter, Miss Nell
Cottesmore, Mr. E.
Courtley, Mr. Thos. T.
Courtney, Miss Maud
Cronin, Mr. M. F.
Cumberland, Mr. E. G.
Davis, Mr. Tom
Dodd, Mons. Harry
Druce, Mr. Hubert
Duncan, Mr. W. O.
Eastbury, Mrs. S.
Elliott, Miss Beth
Elliott, Miss Violet
Emerson, Mr. Eddie
English, Mr. J.
Evans, Mr. Wash
Field, Mr. Penfold
Forsitt, Mr. H.
Foulis, Mr. W. Robertson
Fox, Mr. Bob
Fox, Mr. G.
Francis, Mr. C.
Franklin, Miss Eugene
Fyne, Mr. Fred
Gates, Mr. Bob
Golden, Mr. Horace
Graham, Mrs. N. D.
Grey, Miss Minnie
Grey, Miss Mona
Griffies, Miss Ethel
Hall, Mr. G. E.
Halna, Mrs.
Hamiltons, Messrs. W.
Harcourt, Miss Enid
Hare, Miss W.
Hartley, Mr. Chas.
Harwood, Mr. Frank
Hazel, Mr. W. Ernest
Healy, Mr. Robert
Hearn, Mr. James
Hemingway, Mr. Jack
Henson, Mr. J. W.
Hesslewood, Mr. Tom
Hubbard, Miss Ida
Imray, Mr. Chas.
Ireland, Mr. Ian
Joel, Miss Elsa
Jones, Mr. Henry A.
King, Miss Hetty
King, Mr. H.
Kyasyas, Les
Lake-Grange, Miss Vera
Latona, Mr. Frank
Laurie, Mr. J.
Lawrence, Mr. W.
Le Breton, Mrs.
Leslie, Mr. Alfred
Levaine, Mr. Harry
Ling, Mr. T. P.
Linwood, Mr. Lance
Lockart's Elephants.
Loftus, Mr. A.
Loftus, Miss Cecilia
Lupino, Mr. George
Mac, Mr. Joe
MacIntosh, Mr. J. G.
Mackay, Mr. W. J.
March, Miss T.
Mascard, Mr. A.
Maude, Miss H.
McCarthy, Mr. D.
McCulloch, Mr. A.
Mead, Mr. David
Melrose, Miss Alma
Mick, Little
Mildare, Mr. C.
Movatts, The Five
Mulvey, Mr. Fred
Naveed, Mlle.
Neilson, Mr. H. V.
New York Comedy Four
Odell, Miss Maude
Oliver, Mr. J. C.
Panamas, The Three
Petersen, Mr. Edmund
Pettigrove, Mr. Britton
Phydora, Mr. Harry
Pitt, Mr. C. H.
Powell, Mr. Frank
Raie, Miss Lydia
Ray, Miss G.
Ray, Miss M. L.
Rayburn, Miss Kittie
Rayleigh, Mrs. Cecil
Reeves, Mr. George
Relph, Miss Mary
Ricardo, Mr. Dan
Rich and Rare
Rich, Mr. O.
Rignold, Miss Bessie
Rivers, Miss Kate
Rose, Mr. Howard
Sachs, Mr. J. L.
Samuelson, Mr. L. M.
Saxon, Mr. Arthur
Schofield, Mr. Edwin
Scott, Mr. Malcolm
Searelle, Mrs. L.
Serony, Mrs.
Shine, Mr. John L.
Shrapnel, Mr. L.
Slater, Mr. H. R.
Spencer, Mr. Austin
Sprightly, Sisters
Stoker, Mr. Bram
Thora, Miss
Valentine, Mr. H. E.
Venus, Miss Mab
Walonell, Mr. Jack
Warden, Mr. A. H.
Warren, Mr. Ross
Whyte, Mr. Carl
Williams, Mr. Chas. H.
Willie Brothers
York, Mr. Philip
Zerbinis, Mr. Victor
Zolas, The Four

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, & DEATHS.

The charge for inserting in "The Era" an announcement of a Birth, a Marriage, or a Death, or an "In Memoriam" notice, not exceeding twenty-four words, is One Shilling and Sixpence.

As a guarantee of good faith, the name and address of the sender must accompany each notice.

BIRTHS.

MILSOM.—Aug. 25, at Verona, Malmesbury, the wife of Percy B. Milsom, née (Ada Violet) Poole (Poole's Myriorama), of a son.

MARRIAGES.

LOWE—FITZMAURICE.—Miss M E. Fitzmaurice (Peggy Primrose), on Sept. 2, at the Registrar's Office, Westminster, to Aubrey C. Lowe, second son of the late Col. Arthur Lowe, of Gosfield Hall, Essex.

WOMACK—MARSH.—Aug. 26, at St. Wilfred's Catholic Church, Lorrimore-road, Walworth, George Womack, stage-manager at the Oxford, to Kitty Marsh, sister of the Harvey Boys.

DEATHS.

BAGLEY.—On Aug. 27, 1908, at Grey Mare Hotel, Openshaw, Manchester, Caroline, wife of Edgar Bagley.

CHAPUY.—Louis Frederick Chapuy, at his residence, 3, Great Ormond-street, W.C., on Sept. 1, at the age of 72, professor of elocution at the Guildhall School of Music. He will be interred at Abney Park Cemetery, Saturday, Sept. 5, at 3 o'clock.

FELIX.—On Aug. 31, Adeline Mary Felix, the beloved wife of Tony Felix, 21, Borough-road, Birkenhead. No cards. R.I.P.

MILSOM.—Aug. 25, at Verona, Malmesbury, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Milsom.

IN MEMORIAM.

BURNELL.—In fond memory of Harry, who died Sept. 8, 1906. Always remembered by his brother and sister, JOE and POLLIE BURNELL.

CROWSON.—In loving memory of Will Crowson, who died Sept. 3, 1905, the beloved husband of Cissie Conyers.

MONTAGUE.—In loving memory of Herbert J. Montague, who died Sept. 6, 1907.

SEYMOUR.—In loving memory of Katie Seymour, who died Sept. 7 1903, leaving her mother, sister, and brother to mourn her loss.

SEYMOUR.—In loving memory of Katie Seymour, who died Sept. 7, 1903. Not forgotten by her friend, FLORRIE ROBINA.

TEARLE.—In affectionate remembrance of George Osmond Tearle.—E. T.

BIRTHDAYS OF THE WEEK.

We wish Many Happy Returns of the Day to the following ladies and gentlemen:—

Anena Walton—Saturday, Sept. 5.
Marjorie Murray—Sunday, Sept. 6.
Victorien Sardou—Monday, Sept. 7.
Mary Moody—Tuesday, Sept. 8.
Kitty Clayton—Tuesday, Sept. 8.
Caroline Barrett—Wednesday, Sept. 9.
Jessie Elvin—Wednesday, Sept. 9.
Winifred Stuart—Wednesday, Sept. 9.
Hal Charlton, Wednesday, Sept. 9.
Winnie Donovan—Thursday, Sept. 10.
Bassett Roe—Thursday, Sept. 10.
Marie Studholme—Thursday, Sept. 10.
George Appleby—Thursday, Sept. 10.
(Miss) M. Silverthorne—Thursday, Sept. 10.
Fred Donaldson—Friday, Sept. 11.
Fred Sinclair—Friday, Sept. 11.
Marie Weston—Friday, Sept. 11.

MR. ARTHUR ELVY, "the Up-to-Date Tipster," who opens at the Empire, Hull, on Monday next, after only two weeks' absence, wishes to inform proprietors and managers that he has placed his business in the capable hands of "Lord" Geo. Aytoun.

BUREAU DE CHANGE

SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED. HANDS and CO., 16, STRAND, CHARING-CROSS RAILWAY STATION, LONDON, W.C.

"I'll swear upon that bottle."—TEMPEST, Act ii.; Scene ii.

WHITBREAD'S

BOTTLED BEERS

maintain their popularity because they are brought into condition by MATURING IN BOTTLE; the Natural method, without the aid of carbonating or other artificial process.

The largest Beer Bottlers in the World.

APPLY TO CHIEF OFFICES,

BRITANNIA ST., KING'S CROSS, LONDON, W.C.

(Telephone No. 366 North. Telegraphic Address, "Bearseller, London.")

FOR NAME OF NEAREST AGENT.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES.

For Sustaining the Voice.
Invaluable for ACTORS and SINGERS.
Indispensable for PUBLIC SPEAKERS

GENTLEMEN,—For sudden affections of the Bronchial Organs I use and most cheerfully recommend "Brown's Troches." They are regarded as most eligible, convenient, and indispensable by numerous artists of my acquaintance, BOTH IN EUROPE AND AMERICA. They seem to act specially on the organs of the voice, and produce a clear enunciation.—Yours truly (Signed), MARIE ROZE MAPLESON.

SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 1/1½ PER BOX.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.

The Best Remedy for Acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Gout, and Indigestion. A Safe and most effective Aperient for regular use.

INDIGESTION

Is the primary cause of most of the ills to which we are subject. WHELPTON'S VEGETABLE PURIFYING PILLS arouse the stomach to action. Headache flies away, Biliousness, Kidney Disorders, and Skin Complaints disappear.

ASK FOR WHELPTON'S PURIFYING PILLS,

And remember there is NO PILL "JUST AS GOOD." 1s. 1½d. of all Chemists.

TEETH!! TEETH!!
A COMPLETE SET ONE POUND.

Single teeth from 2s. 6d. each. Painless Gas Extraction, 3s. 6d. American Crown and Bridge Work at equally reasonable prices. American Bridge Work is very suitable for those on the stage, being fixed in the mouth and made absolutely unmovable.
Our Speciality—Dainty Teeth for Actresses.
THE PEOPLE'S TEETH ASSOCIATION,
138, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.
Also at 177, WESTMINSTER BRIDGE-RD., S.E.

A. BLACKFORD.

the BEST HOUSE in LONDON.
For LADIES' and GENTLEMEN'S
High Grade BOOTS and SHOES.
The FINEST ENGLISH and FOREIGN MAKES.
At Cutting Prices.
3, 4, and 5, KING-STREET,
COVENT GARDEN, W.C.
Telephone, P.O. Central, 5,014.

DRESS CLOTHES LENT.—BLACKFORD has for SALE or HIRE the Finest of CLOTHES for Theatres, Balls, Parties, Weddings, Dinners, Funerals, &c. Clothes sent to any part of England. Perfect Fit guaranteed. 3, 4, and 5, KING-STREET, COVENT GARDEN (one door from Market), and 31, WELLINGTON-STREET, STRAND.
Telegraphic Address, "Misfits, London."
Telephone, P.O. Central, 5,014.

REAL HAMBURG GROUND

KROPP RAZOR

NEVER REQUIRES GRINDING.
DO NOT BE PUT OFF WITH SUBSTITUTES.

Black Handle .....5s. 6d.	Pair Ivory Handles in Russia Leather Case .....21s. 0d.
Ivory Handle .....7s. 6d.
Kropp Duplex Strop 7s. 6d.	Kropp Strop Paste 6d.

Wholesale: OSBORNE, GARRETT, & CO., LONDON, W.

DELICIOUS COFFEE,

RED WHITE & BLUE

For Breakfast & after Dinner.

TYPEWRITING.

MRS. MARSHALL, 126, STRAND, W.C.
PROMPT BOOKS and ACTORS' PARTS
TRANSLATIONS FROM and INTO ALL LANGUAGES.
ADAPTATIONS of FRENCH and GERMAN PLAYS UNDERTAKEN.
SHORTHAND DICTATION in FRENCH or ENGLISH. REFERENCES to MANY LEADING AUTHORS and MANAGERS.

BIRKBECK BANK.

ESTABLISHED 1851.
SOUTHAMPTON BUILDINGS,
HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.
2½ PER CENT. INTEREST allowed on Deposits repayable on demand.
2 PER CENT. INTEREST on Drawing Accounts with Cheque Book.
All general Banking Business transacted.
ALMANACK, with full particulars, POST FREE.
C. F. RAVENSCROFT, Secretary.

Price 3s. 6d. Post free 3s. 10d.
THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT
FOR
ACTOR AND COMPOSER.
BY ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B.

Copyright confusion is, like the poor, always with us, and as it seems likely to remain so until at least the crack of doom, it were well for all concerned, or likely to be concerned, to take immediate steps to secure a copy of Mr. Albert A. Strong's new work, entitled "The Law of Copyright." Mr. Strong is already favourably known to the profession for his textbook on "Dramatic and Musical Law," which, like his latest production, is published at "The Era" Office. "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer" essays to make clear to the non-legal mind what is—or, in some cases what probably is—the law as to musical and dramatic copyright. The chapters on the Berne Convention and on the Chace Act, passed by the United States Congress last March, are full of interest.—Referee.

Published at "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

FRESH AS A ROSE!

Add a Little "CONDY'S FLUID" to your Bath or Footbath.

It invigorates the body and braces the Nerves. The Strengthening & Health giving effects are Simply Magical. Tired, Aching or Tender Feet are instantly relieved. All feeling of fatigue or discomfort and every trace of Offensive Odour immediately disappear. Of all Chemists at 1s. Insist on having "Condy's Fluid." Contains NO Permanganate of Potash.

CONDY'S FLUID CO., 65, GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

LONDON THEATRES.

GAIETY THEATRE.
Manager, Mr. GEORGE EDWARDES.
Every Evening at 8,
Mr. George Edwardes's New Production,
"HAVANA."
a Musical Play.
Box Office Open Daily, 10 to 10.

DALY'S THEATRE, LEICESTER-SQUARE.
Every Evening at 8.15.
Matinée Every Saturday at 2.30.
A New Play, with Music,
entitled
"THE MERRY WIDOW"
("Die lustige witwe").
Produced by Mr. GEORGE EDWARDES.

LYCEUM THEATRE.
Nightly at 8.
Messrs. Smith and Carpenter's Autumn Production,
"PETE,"
By Hall Caine and Louis N. Parker.
MATHESON LANG as PETE.
HUTIN BRITTON as KATE.
Matinées, Wednesdays and Saturdays, at 2.30.
Box-Office, 10 to 10. Stalls, 5s. and 3s. Dress Circle, 4s. and 2s. 6d. Tel., 7,617 and 7,618, Gerrard.

KING'S THEATRE, W.
'Phone 119 Hammersmith.
Owner and Resident-Manager, J. B. MULHOLLAND.
Nightly at 8. Thursday Matinée at 2.30.
"SINS OF SOCIETY."
All communications re dates at Marlborough and King's Theatres; also as to performing "The New Magdalen," address Mr. MULHOLLAND, KING'S THEATRE, HAMMERSMITH, W.

MARLBOROUGH THEATRE.
Managing-Directors,
Mr. ERNEST STEVENS and Mr. R. C. BUCHANAN.
Sept. 7,
"THE SAILOR'S WEDDING."
Address all communications re dates to Mr. J. B. Mulholland, King's Theatre, Hammersmith, W. All other communications to Messrs. Stevens and Buchanan, Marlborough T., N. 'Phone 131 North.

LYRIC OPERA HOUSE, HAMMERSMITH.
Proprietor and Manager, WENTWORTH CROKE.
Enormous Success of Re-opening.
Sept. 7, "TWO LANCASHIRE LASSES IN LONDON."
Sept. 14, "TWO LITTLE SAILOR BOYS."
Add., WENTWORTH CROKE, 17, Shaftesbury-av., W.

ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE, KINGSTON-ON-THAMES.
Monday Sept. 7,
for Six Nights, Matinée on Wednesday,
MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER'S CO., in "THE THIEF."
The First County Variety Season (twice nightly) will commence shortly.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

MEXICO AND VILLAGE.	FOOT-BALL. BABY ANIMALS IN ZOO.	VARIETY ENTERTAINMENTS DAILY

Gardens of 200 Acres, Archipelago, Chutes, Rapids, etc. Cricket, Bowling, Fishing, Boating, open all day.

MASKELYNE and DEVANT'S MYSTERIES,
St. George's Hall, W.
Daily, at 3 and 8.
Grand Programme, replete with new, startling mysteries, including Mr. Maskelyne's Comedy of Marvels, "THE PHILOSOPHER'S DIAMOND."
The Times says: The fun is, in truth, delightful. Seats, 1s. to 5s. Children half-price. 'Phone, 1545 Mayfair.

QUEEN'S HALL
PROMENADE CONCERTS.
Nightly at 8 till Oct. 24.
THE QUEEN'S HALL ORCHESTRA.
Conductor, Mr. HENRY J. WOOD.
1s., 2s., 3s., 5s.
Full Programmes for the Entire Season from the Queen's Hall Orchestra, Ltd., 320, Regent-street, W.
ROBERT NEWMAN, Manager.

HENGLER'S CIRCUS,
Argyll-street, Oxford Circus, W.
Twice Daily, at 2.30 and 8.
Grand Circus Combination.
Lessee and Manager, AUSTIN FRYERS.

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

ROYAL STANDARD MUSIC HALL (facing Victoria Station).—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. T. S. DICKIE. One House Nightly. (Half-time 9.30, except Saturdays and Holidays). Monday, Sept. 7: Alan Holt's Co. in "A Society Woman," Doody and Wright, Gallimore Trio, Harry Blake, Stowe Bros., Harry Anderson, Rich and Rich, J. H. Milburn, Three Orleans, Maud Beaumont, Cissie Coman, Geo. White, Edisonograph. Rehearsal Monday 1 o'clock. Doors open 7.30 (Saturdays 7.0), commence 7.40 (Saturdays 7.15, with augmented programme). Tele., 503 Westminster. Assist.-Manager, Mr. MAURICE VOLNY.

QUEEN'S PALACE OF VARIETIES, HIGH-STREET, POPLAR. Tel. 714 East.
Proprietors, Messrs. F. and M. ABRAHAMS.
Joint Managers, M. Abrahams and C. Hector.
Twice Nightly, at 6.30 and 9.10. Matinée Thursday. Chas. Worland's Co., in "The Silent Sentinel," Barney Armstrong, Gladys Whitton, Enid Errol and Co., Harry Luck, Jessie Lee, Ross and Grayson, Robb Gillmore, Pictures, Four Burnells.
Bill matter must be sent in fourteen days before opening, in accordance with Clause 18, same to be sent to Manager, Queen's. Artists please note rehearsal must be attended Mondays, 1.0 o'clock, according to contract.

THE NEW BEDFORD
PALACE OF VARIETIES, LTD.
Twice Nightly, at 6.10 and 9.0.
Monday, Sept. 7.—Arthur Dandoe and Co. in "The Phonograph Belle," Fred Reed, The Dunbarrs, Lord, Murray, and Lord, Sisters Oswald, Nellie Neil, Lew Lake presents Arthur Rose and Co. in "Sweet Liberty," Charles Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. Shelley, Dacey and Lewis, Johnny Val, Ruffell's Bioscope, The Attilla Bros.
Artists are notified that they must send their full Bill Matter in two clear weeks before opening. Rehearsal, 1 o'clock Mondays. All must attend. Artists not complying with the above rules are subject to having their contracts cancelled at option of Management.

CHELSEA PALACE.
CHELSEA PALACE.
At 6.40 and 9.10.
Little Tich, the Colossus of Mirth, Evelyn Taylor, Cyrus Dare, Reid and Power, My Fancy, Guy Rider, The Sisters Hall, Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope, Ara, Zebra, and Vora, in "Indian Gambols," F. S. Peake and Co., in "The Hypocrite."

HAMMERSMITH PALACE.
Proprietor, Mr. J. C. COE.
Manager, LEWIS VINCENT.
Monday, Sept. 7, 1908.—Paul Cinquevalli, The Wilkie Bard Company, Harry Pleon, Lambert and Butler, Nellie Cotter, Ida Barr, Blake and Granby, Harry Cook, Lizzie Glenroy, Van Host Trio, Cline and Clark, Geo. Benson, The Edisonograph, Mr and Mrs. Leonard, Mr. Leonard Mortimer and Co., in "Captain Cash."

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

ALHAMBRA.
MDLLE. LEONORA, in
"Sal Oh My!" up to date.
THE MASTER MYSTERY.
Mlle. Bressina, Tom Nawn and Co.,
LIST'S BEARS, THE THREE DONALS,
MDLLE. POMPONNETTE, in
"THE TWO FLAGS," &c.

EMPIRE (Leicester-square).
Last nights of ADELINE GENEE
in
"THE DRYAD" and "COPPELIA."
"AFTER THE OPERA,"
a Dramatic Episode.
Lydia Kyaksht, Ray Wallace, Velanche's Dogs, Warren and Brockway, Emma Francis, Vernon Davidson, the Bioscope, &c.
Every Evening at 8. Man., Mr. H. J. HITCHINS.

PALACE.
MAUD ALLAN in HER WONDERFUL CLASSICAL DANCES. ARTHUR PRINCE, PALACE GIRLS, JULIETTE'S SEA LIONS, SPISSEL BROS. and MACK, THE SALISBURY MANŒUVRES on URBANORA BIOSCOPE, &c.
Matinée, Full Programme, Saturdays, at 2.0.
MAUD ALLAN MATINÉE, WEDNESDAYS, at 3.0
Managing-Director, Mr. ALFRED BUTT.

OXFORD.
Marie Lloyd, Little Tich, Wilkie Bard, Victoria Monks, Joe Elvin, Cinquevalli, King and Benson, William Dillon, Jordan and Harvey, Chas. Fisher's Opera Co., Dan Crawley, Ernest Shand, Signor and Madame Borelli, The Whittakers, Daisy Jerome, Ida Barr, Maidie Scott, Ruffell's Bioscope. Open 7.15, Saturday Matinées 2.15. Manager, Mr. BLYTH PRATT.

TIVOLI.
Marie Lloyd, Harry Lauder, Wilkie Bard, William Dillon, Daisy Dormer, The Two Anartos, Ernest Shand, Sam Mayo, Adrienne Augarde and Co., John Le Hay and Co., Leonard Barry, Margaret Ashton, Les Frasettis, Will Evans.
Open 7.30; Saturday Matinées, 2.15.

MIDDLESEX.
Monday, Sept. 7. Frederick Maxwell and Co., in "Hawksley's Luck," Walker and May, Diana Hope and Co., Harry Blake, Ryan and Hall, L. B. Athol, Queenie West, Austral Trio, Queenie May, Colin Kaye, The Lorrisons, and Graydon's Grand Picture Programme. Doors Open at 6.45; Saturdays and Holidays One Hour Earlier. A Change Every Week.

EMPIRE, Camberwell Green.
Managing-Director, JESSE SPARROW.
6.30, Twice Nightly, 9 o'clock.
Harry Grattan and company, in "Man, the Brute," George French, the Four Eugenes, Dot Moss, Bromley and Fontein, Mollie Seymour, Stanley and Vandyke, Will Driscoll, Jeapes' Animated Graphic, Fred Durban, and E. Ferguson and company, in dramatic episode, entitled "Invasion."

ACADEMIES AND SCHOOLS.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC, TENTERDEN-STREET, W.
Instituted 1822 Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.
The Academy offers to Pupils of both sexes an opportunity of receiving a thorough education in Music in all its branches, the Drama, and Dramatic Elocution under the most eminent Professors.
For terms and all other information, apply to
F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC
(Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883).
PRINCE CONSORT-ROAD, SOUTH KENSINGTON, S.W.
Patron: HIS MAJESTY THE KING.
President, H.R.H. the PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.
Director, Sir C. HUBERT H. PARRY, Bart., C.V.O., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec., CHARLES MORLEY, Esq.
The next Term will Commence on Monday, Sept. 28.
Syllabus and Official Entry Forms may be obtained from FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.
The only School in London for OPERATIC and THEATRICAL
TRAINING which possesses a completely equipped Theatre.
Public Performances periodically given.
Stagecraft, Elocution, Fencing, Gesture, and Deportment Taught by Eminent Professors.
New Pupils can enter at any time.
FEES MODERATE. Prospectus on application to H. SAXE-WYNDHAM, Sec., Victoria-embankment, E.C Tel No. 1943 Holborn.

THE SCHOOL OF MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC ART.
77, NEW OXFORD-STREET, W.C.
Principals: CAIRNS JAMES, ERNEST D'AUBAN.
President: GEORGE EDWARDES, Esq.
Vice-Presidents: Mrs. D'OYLY CARTE, Messrs. WILLIAM GREET, GEORGE DANCE, &c.
Autumn Term begins Sept. 28.
"George Edwardes" Open Scholarship Examination, Sept. 25. Private and Class Lessons in Acting, Deportment, Elocution, Fencing, Gesture, Stage Dancing, Singing, Choral and Sight Singing, and Rehearsal of Musical Comedy, &c., &c. Complete Course of Studies for the Light Opera and Dramatic Stage. Over 130 Pupils have secured Professional Engagements. Amateurs coached, and Amateur Dramatic and Operatic Companies Stage-managed. Lessons in Voice Culture and Public Speech to Members of the Parliamentary, Clerical, Legal, and other Professions. Prospectus, and all particulars on application to the Secretary.

NEW COLLEGE, HERNE BAY.
—Professional, Commercial, and Engineering sides; handsome buildings in 17 acres of grounds; thorough education with individual attention; University masters; separate bedroom; Cadet corps; good diet and moderate fees.
For illustrated prospectus apply,
J. W. THURNHAM, M.A.

Price 1s., post free 1s. 1d.
THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT
FOR
ACTOR AND COMPOSER,
By ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).
"The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," by Albert A. Strong, LL.B., solicitor, author of "Dramatic and Musical Law" ("The Era" office), seems to be the one compendious and indispensable authority on the subject, as vexed as the "Bermoothes" and as tortuous as a Chancery suit, that has long been wanted. It is in every essential a text book for the perplexed layman, and no solicitor or barrister worth his salt ought to think of taking or appearing in "proceedings" without consulting its pages. It must suffice, after what has been said, to state little more than that the contents include five chapters, respectively named "Copyright as Opposed to Performing Right," "Performing Right," "Infringement and Remedies," Musical Copyright," and "International and Colonial Copyright." The work, for all its precise authority, is not dry reading. The statutes, with the elucidatory notes, necessarily impose a task on the reader which takes some tackling, but they had to be there. The cases adduced, however, are full of interest. Certain of them might fitly find a place in the romance of copyright. There was the fight of Charles Reade with George Conquest over "It's Never Too Late to Mend," for instance, and the equally interesting conflict of Mr. J. A. Cave with Chatterton over "The Wandering Jew." The latter was a famous battle. Chatterton took it to the House of Lords, and was finally beaten, to the unspeakable relief of Mr. Cave, who is never weary of relating the story. Had the result been otherwise, it would have meant his ruin. I well remember meeting him on the day of his victory and "crashing a cup with him" in honour of the same. "The Law of Copyright" is dedicated to Mr. A. W. Pinero.—Sportsman.
Published at "The Era" Buildings,
5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

COLONIAL THEATRES.

AUSTRALIA.
MELBOURNE, SYDNEY, BRISBANE, WELLINGTON, N.Z.
Mr. J. C. WILLIAMSON,
Manager of the Leading Australasian Theatres.
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, MELBOURNE;
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, SYDNEY;
THEATRE ROYAL, SYDNEY;
HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, BRISBANE.
London Representative,
J. A. E. MALONE, Daly's Theatre.

AUSTRALIA.
MR. HARRY RICKARDS,
Sole Proprietor and Manager,
TIVOLI THEATRE, SYDNEY.
TIVOLI HOTEL, SYDNEY.
GRAND OPERA HOUSE, MELBOURNE.
PRINCE OF WALES' HOTEL, MELBOURNE.
TIVOLI THEATRE, ADELAIDE.
PALACE THEATRE AND GARDENS, PERTH.
Business Manager, JOHN C. LEETE.
Private Secretary, EDWARD MAAS.

AUSTRALIA.
THE HERBERT FLEMMING COMEDY CO.
Under the Sole Direction of
Mr. HERBERT FLEMMING.
All arrangements complete for 1908.
Australian address,
c/o Blake and Riggall, 120, William-st., Melbourne.
London Representative
R. GOLDING BRIGHT, 20, Green-st., Leicester-sq.

NEW ZEALAND.
VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT.
Proprietors, JOHN FULLER AND SONS.

AUCKLAND.	Open	OPERA HOUSE.
WELLINGTON.	all the	THEATRE R.
CHRISTCHURCH.	year	OPERA HOUSE.
DUNEDIN.	round.	PRINCESS'S T.

Proprietors, HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, ALHAMBRA THEATRE, PROVINCIAL HOTEL, DUNEDIN; HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, CLUB HOTEL, WELLINGTON.
All coms., BEN FULLER, T. R., Wellington.

THE ABERDEEN DIRECT LINE
offers Special Low Rates
to Theatrical or Concert Companies going on Tour in
SOUTH AFRICA.
Full information can be obtained from
JOHN T. RENNIE, SON, AND CO.,
4, East India-avenue, E.C.

INDIA AND THE FAR EAST.
BANDMANN'S EASTERN CIRCUIT.
Maurice E. Bandmann
Controls the only Circuit of Theatres in the East.
Proprietor and Joint-Proprietor of the Albany Hotel, Calcutta,
Empire Theatre
Empire Rink and Hippodrome,
Calcutta,
Empire Buildings, Calcutta,
Theatre Royal, Calcutta,
Bandmann's Theatre, Bombay,
Empire Theatre, Malta.

Maurice E. Bandmann
Holds for the West Indies, Mediterranean, India, and the Far East
the Sole and Exclusive Rights of all
Mr. George Edwardes's
and the Gaiety Theatre Company's Plays,
the Gilbert and Sullivan Operas,
and all other Leading London Productions.

Companies Touring,
The Bandmann Opera Co.,
The Bandmann Comedy Co.,
The Ellis Opera Co.,
The London Frivolity Co.,
Alfred West's "Our Navy,"
The London Bioscope Co.,
The Marvellous Grossi.

Required, Companies, Artists, Novelties, and Attractions of all Descriptions,
Rent, Share, or Certainty.
Address all Communications,
MAURICE E. BANDMANN,
Theatre Royal, Calcutta.
Cables, "Svengali, Calcutta";
or to Sole London Agent,
ALFRED DOVE,
28, Gerrard-street, W.

INDIA, CALCUTTA.
PART OF BANDMANN'S EASTERN CIRCUIT.
EMPIRE THEATRE, CALCUTTA.
Sole Proprietors,
Maurice E. Bandmann and A. Stephen.
Will open on Nov. 1.
The Premier Theatre of the East.
A perfect and most elegantly-equipped Four-Tier House, built on the cantilever principle, absolutely up to date. Stage capable of any production. Holding capacity, £350

THEATRE ROYAL, CALCUTTA.
Sole Proprietors,
Maurice E. Bandmann and A. Stephen.
Run on strictly first-class lines. Patronised by the Viceroy and élite of India. Holds at ordinary prices £250. The largest stage in the East.
At both Theatres Resident Scenic Artists, Full Band, and Permanent Staff.

Required, Companies, Novelties, and Attractions of all Descriptions.
Address all Communications,
Theatre Royal, Calcutta.
Cables, "Svengali, Calcutta";
or to Sole London Agent,
ALFRED DOVE,
28, Gerrard-street, W.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

ALDERSHOT.—THEATRE ROYAL.
Vacant Nov. 23 and Dec. 21
(three or four nights).
Add., CLARENCE SOUNES, Woodlawn, Blackheath, S.E.
'Phone, 85 Woolwich.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL. Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill. Fast Booking Autumn, 1909. Vacant Nov. 9 and Jan 25. Address CHARLES REVILL, THEATRE ROYAL, STOCKPORT.

BARROW.—ROYALTY THEATRE and OPERA HOUSE; JARROW. THEATRE ROYAL; CONSETT. NEW THEATRE; SPENNYMOOR. CAMBRIDGE THEATRE. Lessee and Manager, Mr. HUGH ROBERTSON. Vacant Dates:—Jarrow, Nov. 9, Dec. 14, and 28. Barrow, Oct. 5, 26, on, with exceptions. Consett, Oct. 12, Nov. 2, Dec. 7, on, with exceptions. Spennymoor, Nov. 23, and Dec. 7.
Apply, re dates, HUGH ROBERTSON, T. R., JARROW.

BLACKPOOL.
HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE,
WINTER GARDENS.
The PRINCIPAL THEATRE.
Holds MORE MONEY at ORDINARY PRICES, and has better average business throughout the Year than any Theatre in the Town.
The Most Comfortable, Elegant, and Best-Equipped Theatre. Large and Well Electric Lighted Stage and First-class Orchestra.
All visitors to the Theatre have Free Admission to the Winter Gardens. Floral Hall, Empress Ballroom, and Pavilion Entertainments; thus Companies visiting Her Majesty's Opera House have this additional attraction, which no other Theatre can offer. Only best No. 1 Companies booked.
For Dates, address, JNO. R. HUDDLESTONE, Manager, Winter Gardens, Blackpool.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

CAMBRIDGE.—NEW THEATRE (Ltd.)
Man.-Director, Mr. W. B. REDFERN, J.P., D.L.
A theatre among the most beautiful in England.—Sunday Times.
All Autumn Dates Filled.
Now Booking Spring, 1909, and onwards.
Silence a polite negative.

CORK. — OPERA HOUSE.
Vacant Dates.
Oct. 12, 19, 26, Nov. 2, 23, 30, Dec. 7.
Wanted, Musical Comedy Attraction for Xmas, 1908 (13 nights and matinées, commencing Boxing Day), Jan. 18, March 1, 8, and onwards, with various exceptions.
Applications to Mr. R. J. BELL, Manager.

To Touring Companies.
DUNDALK TOWN HALL. — Large Stage, with Fittings and Drop Scene, Open for Daily and Weekly Lettings, seating accommodation 800, one of the Largest Provincial Towns in Ireland, situate on the main line midway between Dublin and Belfast, and has daily service with all parts of England via Greenore and Holyhead, also four days weekly by steamer direct to Liverpool. For Vacant Dates and Terms of Letting, apply to M. COMERFORD, Town Clerk, Dundalk.

EGHAM CONSTITUTIONAL HALL.
Seating accommodation 400; large stage; gas and electric light; grand piano; suitable for dramatic performances, &c.; population 13,000. For terms, apply to G. GARDENER, Secretary, Constitutional Hall, Egham, Surrey.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE, LTD.
Established 1884.
Managing-Director, JOSEPH H. CURRY.
Open all the Year Round.
Telegraphic add., "Curry, Grimsby." Tel. No. 240.

HULL. — THE CIRCUS.
General-Manager, EDWARD EMERSON.
One of the Finest and Largest Halls, Large Stage, suit Circus, Minstrels, Concert, Choir Parties, &c. Rental, share, or salary. Only a Few Vacant Dates.

LIVERPOOL. — SHAKESPEARE THEATRE. Man.-Dir., WENTWORTH CROKE.
First-class Companies Only.
For Vacant Dates, Address, WENTWORTH CROKE, Piccadilly-mansions, 17, Shaftesbury-av., W.

MANCHESTER.
GAIETY THEATRE.
Sole Proprietor, Miss A. E. F. HORNIMAN.
General-Manager, Mr. B. IDEN PAYNE.
Closed during Summer for partial reconstruction and other improvements. Every seat bookable. One of the most beautiful and best-equipped Theatres in the Provinces.
Few Dates for No. 1 Companies only.

NORWICH. — THEATRE ROYAL.
Enlarged, Re-decorated, Lighted throughout by Electricity. Upholstered by Dean and Co. Weekly Matinées for Country Visitors.
Silence a polite negative.
FRED MORGAN, as above.

NOTTINGHAM.—GRAND THEATRE.
For Vacant Dates,
Address,
Cranbourn-mansions,
Cranbourn-street, London.

OLDHAM.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
Will be Opened next Xmas.
Only the Biggest Companies Entertained.
Vacancies in the Spring.
EMPIRE THEATRE.
Note.—From Xmas the Empire will be run as a Variety House, Twice Nightly.
ROYAL VARIETIES, Twice Nightly.
HIPPODROME VARIETIES, Twice Nightly.
All communications to ERNEST DOTTRIDGE.

OXFORD. — NEW THEATRE.
Managers of First-class Companies are invited to apply for Dates to
Mr. C. C. DORRILL,
Managing-Director.
Silence a polite negative.

PLYMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.
Proprietors, ROYAL AND GRAND THEATRES, LTD.
Resident-Manager, Mr. J. LANGDON LEE.
Wanted, a Musical Attraction for Nov. 16.
Vacant Dates, March 8, 15, 22, April 5 and 19.

PORTSMOUTH. — NEW THEATRE ROYAL.
Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. BOUGHTON.
Open throughout the year.
First-class Companies.
Weekly Matinées.

REDRUTH, CORNWALL.—DRUID'S HALL. Population of district, 20,000. Hall seats 700. Stage 36ft. by 16ft.; electric light. Dates and terms, apply OWEN HILL, Secretary, Public Rooms Co., Ltd., Redruth.

RICHMOND, S.W. — CASTLE THEATRE. Manager, PERCY TWITCHIN. Fine Commodious Theatre, Seating Capacity about 600. Stage lighted by Electricity. Dates can now be booked, on rental or sharing terms. Add., MANAGER.

STOCKPORT. — THEATRE ROYAL.
Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill.
Fast Booking Autumn, 1909.
Vacant Nov. 16, Dec. 14, and April 5.
Address, CHARLES REVILL.

SUDBURY (Suffolk). — VICTORIA HALL.—Seats about 750. Balcony. Small Stock Scenery. Proscenium, Tableaux Curtains. Only Hall with Dramatic Licence in the Town. Re-decorated, re-lighted. No sharing.
Add., W. J. LANGDON, Esq., J.P., Hon. Manager.

WEYMOUTH. — NEW PAVILION THEATRE.
This building, which is being erected by the Corporation on the sea-front, at a cost of £15,000, will be in every respect an up to date Theatre, and will be opened on Boxing-Day with pantomime, "Mother Goose."
Wanted, first-class companies musical and first-class variety preferred, January on, including Easter.
WALTER R. WALLIS, Municipal-buildings, Weymouth.

WREXHAM.
THE PALACE THEATRE.
Managing-Director, W. YATES GREGORY.
Architect, THOMAS A. PRICE, Liverpool.
London Agents, CAMMEYER and PEPPER, 97A, Jermyn-street, London, W.
See Companies Wanted.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR PROVINCIAL THEATRES
AND
PROVINCIAL MUSIC HALLS.
Five Lines, TWO and SIXPENCE.
Thirteen Insertions (Including a Copy of "The Era" Weekly), THIRTY SHILLINGS.
For Each Additional Line, Sixpence.
Address, the PUBLISHER,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.
"Wire," "The Era, London."
"Ring-up," 4,747, Central.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1908.
Financier, Jan. 18:—
"The Era" Dramatic and Musical Annual for 1908 is published at 1s. from 5, Tavistock-street, Strand. These annuals from the office of "The Era" are amongst the brightest and most popular of all, and, whilst professional interests and requirements are kept to the fore, all playgoers should appreciate the varied contents. The edition now forthcoming is valuable as a record of the past year's new productions; but what the general public will turn to with greatest zest are the contributions by stage and music-hall favourites. These are reminiscent, descriptive, anecdotal, and poetic.

FUNDS, &c.

ROYAL GENERAL THEATRICAL FUND.
FOR MEMBERS BECOMING INCAPACITATED EITHER BY OLD AGE OR INFIRMITY.
Hon. Treasurer, EDWARD TERRY, Esq., J.P.
CHARLES J. DAVIES, Secretary, Savoy House, Strand.

ACTORS' BENEVOLENT FUND.
8, ADAM-STREET, STRAND.
C. I. COLSON, Secretary.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION,
Telegrams, "Actoria, London."
Telephone, 1753 Gerrard.
409, STRAND, W.C.
Subscriptions, 4s. 6d. Quarterly, or 15s. Annually.
Entrance Fee, 5s.

ACTORS' UNION.
Telephone 3714 Gerrard.
Entrance fee, 2s. 6d.
Weekly Subscriptions, 6d.
Open Meetings every Tuesday at 2.30 precisely at Hummums Hotel, Covent Garden.
KENNETH BLACKMORE,
Secretary.

MUSIC HALL SICK FUND.
Founded in 1867.
Committee Meetings second Wednesday in the month at 2 p.m.
Sick Payments—£1 for 6d. per week, £1 10s. for 9d. per week. £10 paid to nearest relative on death of member. President, Mr. FRED KARNO. Hon. Auditors, Messrs. H. E. HIGH and W. BRISCO; Trustees, Messrs. H. JENNINGS, JESSE SPARROW, and DOUGLAS WHITE; Vice-President, Mr. W. J. WAINRATTA; Treasurer, Mr. FRANK HEATH; Secretary, Mr. R. T. BAINES. Address all communications, the Crown Hotel, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

TOURING MANAGERS' ASSOCIATION LTD.,
AND THE MANAGERS' CLUB,
SAVOY-MANSIONS, STRAND, W.C.
For particulars of Membership, apply to THE SECRETARY. Telegraphic address, "Playwright, London." Telephone, 8458 Gerrard.

ALPHABETICAL LIST
OF
ILLUSTRATED BIOGRAPHIES.

Abrahams, jun., Mr. Morris	Aug. 18, 1907
Adeson, Mr. Charles	April 25, 1908
Alexandra, Late Miss Ada	March 23, 1907
Allen, Mr. Frank	Feb. 22, 1908
Ames, Miss Emmie	Jan. 4, 1908
Anson, Miss Carlotta	June 13, 1908
Armstrong, Mr. Barney	Nov. 30, 1907
Atwill, Mr. Lionel	June 27, 1908
Bailey, Mr. Gordon	May 30, 1908
Bandurria, Late Mr. George	Dec. 14, 1907
Barrasford, Mr. Thomas	Feb. 29, 1908
Barwell, Miss Edith	April 11, 1908
Bateman, Miss	March 14, 1908
Beck, Mr. Fred	April 4, 1908
Bentley, Mrs. Walter	July 20, 1907
Beresford, Mr. Frank	July 18, 1908
Bernard, Mr. Albert	Oct. 5, 1907
Berte, Late Mr. Charles	May 30, 1908
Bolder, Mr. Robert	July 20, 1907
Booker, Late Mr. George A.	April 4, 1908
Boulton, Mr. Matthew	April 4, 1908
Brett, Mr. Edwin	Feb. 22, 1908
Brittain, Mr. Arthur	Oct. 19, 1907
Brodie, late Mr. Matthew	Jan. 11, 1908
Brooking, Mr. Cecil	Nov. 2, 1907
Brooks, Mr. B. Oswald	Nov. 16, 1907
Brydon-Phillips, Mr. G.	Jan. 4, 1908
Buxton, Mr. Fred	June 27, 1908
Camp, Late Mr. Jack	April 6, 1907
Cannon, Miss Mayme	July 13, 1907
Carnegy, Miss Mary	March 7, 1908
Carpenter, Mr. Ernest	Feb. 22, 1908
Carter, Late Mr. John	July 13, 1907
Chambers, Miss Lizzie	June 6, 1908
Cole, Mr. E. W. Manje	Feb. 1, 1908
Collins, Mr. George	March 21, 1908
Collins, Mr. Patrick Ross	March 16, 1907
Collins-Rolfe, Mr. Arthur	April 13, 1907
Connor, Mr. J. F.	Oct. 12, 1907
Cooke, Mr. Stanley	March 30, 1907
Cookson, Mr. S. A.	April 11, 1908
Cooper, Miss Florry	Aug. 10, 1907
Corri, Mr. William	July 25, 1908
Craven, Late Mrs. H. T	March 28, 1908
Crawford, Miss Alice	Nov. 9, 1907
Crewe, Mr. Bertie	March 28, 1908
Croke, Mr. Wentworth	Sept. 7, 1907
Cromwell, Mr. William	Jan. 25, 1908
Curry, Late Mr. H. J.	April 27, 1907
Darnley, Mr. Herbert	Aug. 17, 1907
Dashwood, Mr. Arthur	July 20, 1907
Davis, Miss Lallah	March 7, 1908
Day, Mr. David	Nov. 30, 1907
Dean, Mr. Walter	May 16, 1908
Denton, Mr. C. St. John	Jan. 4, 1908
Derry, Miss Joan	Feb. 8, 1908
Dexter, Miss Elizabeth	Feb. 15, 1908
Dickeson, Mr. Herbert	June 13, 1908
Donegan, Mr. James E.	July 11, 1908
Dorgere, Mlle. Arlette	May 30, 1908
Draycott, Mr. Charles	June 13, 1908
Drewry, Miss Maude Stewart	April 4, 1908
Dunville, Mr. T. E.	April 11, 1908
Dyas, Late Miss Ada	March 21, 1908
Edis, Miss Anita	May 9, 1908
Edmonds, Mr. E. Vivian	June 27, 1908
Edmonds, Late Mr. E.	May 4, 1907
Edouin, Late Mr. Willie	April 18, 1908
Edwards, Late Mr. G. H.	April 11, 1908
Empress, Miss Marie	Feb. 8, 1908
Feldman, Mr. Bert	Dec. 14, 1907
Fenton, Mr. Frank	June 6, 1908
Fitzgibbon, Mr. H. B.	July 25, 1908
Fogerty, Late Mr Robert	July 6, 1907
Forde, Miss Florrie	March 21, 1908
Fox, jun., Mr. Charles	July 13, 1907
Francis, Late Mr. William	Jan. 25, 1908
Francis, Mr. Nelson	May 4, 1907
Frank, Miss Ada	July 25, 1908
Fuller, jun., Mr. John	July 27, 1907
Gay, Mr. Walter	July 11, 1908
Gibbons, Mr. Arthur	July 4, 1908
Gilmore, Mr. Paul	July 18, 1908
Goldston, Mr. Will	June 13, 1908
Goodall, Miss Edyth	Feb. 29, 1908
Grant, Mr. Christie	Dec. 28, 1907
Gregory, Late Mr. John	March 7, 1908
Gribben, Mr. Harry A.	May 23, 1908
Grimes, Mr. W. J.	April 6, 1907
Hales, Mr. T. G.	April 13, 1907
Hall, Late Mr Owen	April 18, 1908
Hamilton, Miss Rose	April 20, 1907
Hamilton, Late Mr. Wm.	March 7, 1908
Hanbury, Late Miss Lily	March 7, 1908
Hanlon, Late Mr. Bob	July 6, 1907
Hansard, Late Mr. J. B.	Feb. 8, 1908
Hardacre, Miss Ethel	July 4, 1908
Harding, Mr. Alfred	May 2, 1908
Hare, John	Nov. 16, 1907
Harrington, Mr. J. P.	Nov. 30, 1907
Harvey, Mr. Martin	June 22, 1907
Harvey, Miss Rose	July 25, 1908
Hawthorne, Miss Lil	Feb. 15, 1908
Holding, Mr. Thomas	Jan. 18, 1908
Holland, Mr. Arthur E.	March 14, 1908
Howe, Late Mr. J. B.	May 16, 1908
Howson, Late Mr. Charles	Nov. 9, 1907
Hudspeth, Late Mrs. J. H.	March 7, 1908
Humphrey, Miss Ola	Sept. 7, 1907
Hutton, Mr. Ralph	July 25, 1908
Irving, Late Sir Henry	Oct. 31, 1905
Imeson, Miss Florence	Feb. 29, 1908
Ivatts, Mr. C.	Aug. 18, 1907
Jackson, Mr. T. Ellis	July 27, 1907
Jones, Mr. Tom	April 4, 1908
Kay, Miss Ethel	March 28, 1908
Kilburn, Mr. Harry	July 18, 1908
King, Mr. Claude	June 20, 1908

Copies of the above can be obtained, price 6d. each for any issue 1908; other dates double price.
Address, THE PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

THEATRICAL SHOE AND HOSIERY MANUFACTURERS.
MAKERS TO THE PRINCIPAL LONDON THEATRES.

Louis Heel Dancing Shoes a Speciality.
Sixty Art Shades of Linen Back Satin, Specially Woven for the Manufacture of Dancing Shoes, kept in Stock.
This Satin has a Fine Lustre, and is almost as Strong as Leather.

Large Stock of Pure and Spun Silk Tights, Worsted and Cotton tights, Opera Hose, Stockings, &c.
A Special Study made of Symmetrical Paddings.
The most Up-to-Date Stock of Stage Requisites and Sundries.
Everything of the Best and at Store Prices.

H. and M. RAYNE,
115, 117, and 119, WATERLOO-ROAD, LONDON, S.E.
(Opposite Electric Tram Terminus).
Tel. 7,978 Central.
And at 49, Charing Cross-rd., W.C., nr. Hippodrome.

ACTORS' DAY.

TRUSTEES:—
Sir GEORGE LEWIS, Bart., Sir SQUIRE BANCROFT, GEORGE R. SIMS.

ADVISORY BOARD, Elected 1908
Chairman: SYDNEY VALENTINE.
Deputy-Chairman: HENRY AINLEY.

BLAKE ADAMS, GEORGE ALEXANDER, ALLAN AYNESWORTH, CECIL BARTH, A. E. BISHOP, ARTHUR BOURCHIER, Miss FANNY BROUGH, C. HAYDEN COFFIN, BURTON COOK, ALFRED DENVILLE, KENNETH DOUGLAS, Miss VANE FEATHERSTON, C. T. H. HELMSLEY, LAURENCE IRVING, WALTER MAXWELL, W. H. ROTHERHAM, H. A. SAINTSBURY, E. LYALL SWETE, BRANDON THOMAS, H. BEERBOHM TREE, Miss BEATRICE WILSON.

Hon. Secretary: A. E. DRINKWATER.

The object of ACTORS' DAY is MUTUAL HELP in case of need. No one will be eligible to benefit who is not on the REGISTER as a Contributor.

By the unanimous resolution of the Advisory Board, confirmed at the last Annual General Meeting, ACTORS' DAY in 1908, and FUTURE YEARS, will be ABSOLUTELY CONFINED TO THIS OBJECT, and the FUND will be ADMINISTERED EXCLUSIVELY ON THIS CONDITION.

ACTORS' DAY is the THIRD THURSDAY IN OCTOBER in each year.

To be on the REGISTER, it is required:—

That a Manager, Actor, or Actress shall contribute not less than one night's salary.

That an Author shall contribute not less than one night's fees.

On Aug. 1, 1908, the Trustees had £876 11s. 7d. to their credit at Messrs. Coutts and Co.'s Bank.

ONLY THOSE WHO ARE ON THE REGISTER AS CONTRIBUTORS ARE ELIGIBLE TO APPLY FOR BENEFIT.

Any further information may be obtained by applying by letter to the HON. SECRETARY, at the Office of the Fund,

DUDLEY HOUSE,
37, Southampton-street, Strand, W.C.
August, 1908.

TO OUR READERS.
A SINGLE COPY OF "THE ERA."
Post-free to any Address in the United Kingdom for SIX STAMPS.
Telegraphic Address, "The Era," London."
Address, THE PUBLISHER,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C

THE ERA

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1908.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF "FAUST."

It is astonishing how easily an erroneous idea may be promulgated and how long the error will continue to exist. For instance, for many years it was stated in treatises on swimming that the eyes should always be opened before diving, because "the weight of the water prevented this being done after entering it." The falsity of this statement could easily have been discovered by simply placing the face in a basin of water; but it never occurred to any of the copyists to try the experiment. In like manner, a general notion has prevailed that the "Faust" of GOETHE was a deep psychological work, and that the dramatic versions of GOETHE'S poem were desecrations to common uses of an abstruse and recondite poem. Many of those who adopted this theory were, we may presume, unacquainted with the "Faust" of GOETHE—we refer, of course, to the "first part," on which all the modern "Faust" plays are based. No one who has read this first part can overlook the definite pronunciamento made by the author as to his intention—in this case to write, before all things, an acting play. GOETHE made this proclamation in the "preface" in the shape of a somewhat cynical conversation between a Poet and a Theatrical Manager. The Poet is an impossible man of genius, a sort of German JOHN DAVIDSON, whose ideas are astonishingly vast and superb. He is characteristically unpractical, and may have been intended to suggest the dreamy side of GOETHE'S own nature. The Theatrical Manager, aware both of the Poet's talent and of his weakness, applies a cold douche of common-sense to his extravagant aspirations. Consider, he says to him, the intellectual calibre of the average member of your audience, and the frame of mind in which he comes to the theatre. What is the use of writing over his head? Be as high-flown and intellectual as you please—in parts; but remember that to please the general public you must have plenty of incident and an abundance of action, human interest, and variety. An active scenario and not too much reasoning is the Manager's prescription for a successful play. The Poet is highly indignant at these gross and simple requirements; nevertheless he does not throw up the contract, but sets to work, and at the Manager's urgent request writes the piece.

And how did GOETHE deal with his originals, the Faustus of MARLOWE and the Book of Job? He popularised and theatricalised them vigorously. He adorned the Englishman's rugged granite with an abundance of flowers. MARLOWE wrote for an age which really believed in a personal devil with horns and tail; GOETHE'S Mephistopheles is ironical, polished, and occasionally—as when he flies into a passion about the loss of the jewels—almost contemptible. MARLOWE is Titanic; GOETHE is theatric. For all the "psychology" it contains, the story of the seduction of Marguerite by Faust, with the aid of Mephistopheles, might be an effective but ordinary drama; for the devil does nothing that might not be accomplished by any ordinary elderly rake advising and assisting a young and hot-headed pupil. The soliloquy of Faust in his study is a fine piece of poetry; but, after all, his aspirations are not very elevated. He complains that he "lives a dog's life"; that he has nothing of the enjoyments of the average sensual man. He is not troubled with any noble yearnings for superior knowledge, or extended philanthropy, or even worldly power. He merely wants enjoyment—what the Americans call to "have a good time"; and he sells his soul for it. And Mephistopheles responds to the demand. He first gives Faust an aphrodisiacal drink, and then shows him a pretty young woman. What is there "psychological" in this? It is admirably effective on the stage, because it exactly carries out the precepts of the theatrical manager in the preface. The real merit of the work consists not, as in the case of GOETHE'S Tasso, in an intellectual problem reflectively worked out, but in the spirited action, the constant change of scene, and the everyday interest of the characters and the story. The play moves briskly, with its condensed dialogue and plenitude of incident. The innocent maid seduced, the brother coming back from the wars to meet his death by the sword of the seducer, the accidental poisoning of the mother by the daughter, the infanticide committed by the latter in a state of temporary insanity, the attempted escape foiled by the fear of the victim, and the "heavenly voice" proclaiming that Gretchen is forgiven—all are essentially, soundly, and effectively theatrical. The psychology of GOETHE'S "Faust" is illogical; its merit as an entertainment of the stage is undeniable, and has been proved by its success at all times as a drama, as a libretto, and as a ballet. For instance, the prologue between God and the Devil is the initial idea of the Book of Job unsatisfactorily adapted. God's model man is a dissatisfied German student with a regret for his youth. Gretchen is the typical ingénue, only redeemed from insipidity by GOETHE'S rare poetic touch. And it is rather unfair of Faust, after enjoying himself as he did in the garden, to complain that Mephistopheles has not carried out his contract and given him a single happy moment. The play is a model of fortunate and fertile invention, of weird and fantastic fancy, of quaint humour and essential humanity. The "psychology" on which it is based will not bear examination, and, indeed, has little or nothing to do with the success of the work. Those who enjoy Mr. STEPHEN PHILLIPS and Mr. COMYNS CARR'S adaptation at His Majesty's this evening may do so without shame or scruple. If they want to atone for their "irreverence" they may do penance by reading, or re-reading, the "second part" of "Faust"—one of the most extraordinary aberrations of genius that was ever admired by false and fanatical adorers.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

The most important item in the programme of Thursday evening, Aug. 27, was the new Symphony in E flat by Mr. Gardiner, an English composer. The new work, originally written some three years ago, without being a great composition, is thoroughly characteristic of all that is best in the modern English school. An impressive introduction leads to a poetical and melodious andante, in which Mr. Gardiner displays great musicianly talent. The various themes are well contrasted and contain much charming melody, while the finale, with its rich, full tone and striking effects, is an imposing feature of the new symphony. Admirably interpreted by the fine orchestra, Mr. Balfour Gardiner's composition was cordially received, and the young composer was recalled several times to the platform. Also in the programme on Thursday was a new aria, "Le Nil," by M. Leroux, a French composer who received the Prix de Rome in 1887. Mrs. Harriett Foster sang the vocal portion with great charm, and was beautifully accompanied by the orchestra. Miss Mathilde Verne was warmly applauded for her fine playing of Mozart's Pianoforte Concerto, No. 21, in C; and Mr. Frederic Austin favourably impressed the audience by his singing of Henschel's ballad "Young Dieterich." The orchestra gave an excellent performance of Beethoven's Coriolan overture, the "Wedding March" from Lohengrin, and Debussy's prelude L'Après-Midi d'un Faune.

There was a large audience at Queen's Hall on Tuesday evening, when Richard Strauss's much-debated Symphonic Poem "Ein Heldenleben" was included in an interesting programme. Strauss's remarkable work is certainly a formidable task, even for such a splendid orchestra as that under Mr. Henry Wood's direction. An excellent performance was secured, the distinguished conductor endeavouring to give all that was best in the composition while subduing the cruder portions of the battle music. Mr. M. Wolters played the violin solo admirably, and the close of the symphonic poem was followed by warm applause from the audience. The orchestra was also heard in fine performances of the Tannhäuser Overture, Lalo's delightful "Norwegian Rhapsody," Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2," the suite from Bizet's Carmen, and Mozart's overture Il Seraglio. Miss Barwell-Holbrook and Mr. Philip Simmons, who were the vocalists on Tuesday, contributed "Vesti la giubba," from Leoncavallo's Pagliacci, and "The soldier, tired of war's alarm," by Arne.

THE Duke and Duchess of Connaught witnessed the performance of Jack Straw at the Vaudeville on the 28th ult.

MESSRS. DIPPEL AND CASAZZA, of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, so we are informed by Mr. Stephen Fiske, "are arranging for a league of Opera Clubs to cover the whole country. This plan is to induce local musical societies to study operas instead of oratorios, and then send them such vocalists and instrumentalists as may be necessary for a complete performance. This would make the Metropolitan the centre of a grand operatic national movement, transforming America into what Italy is supposed to be. Incidentally, an available American chorus would be created. The plan has been successful in the University Extension, and why should it not be in opera?"

"THE PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK."

An Idle Fancy in a Prologue, a Play, and an Epilogue, by Jerome K. Jerome, played for the first time in London at the St. James's Theatre on Tuesday, Sept. 1.

THE PROLOGUE.

A Cheat	Miss AGNES THOMAS
A Slut	Miss GERTRUDE ELLIOTT
A Painted Lady	Miss HAIDEE WRIGHT
A Shrew	Miss KATE CARLYON
A Snob	Miss KATE BISHOP
A Bully	Mr. IAN ROBERTSON
A Hussy	Miss ALICE CRAWFORD
A Satyr	Mr. ERNEST HENDRIE
A Coward	Mr. H. MARSH ALLEN
A Rogue	Mr. EDWARD SASS
A Cad	Mr. WILFRED FORSTER
A Passer-by	Mr. FORBES-ROBERTSON

THE PLAY.

Joey Knight	Mr. ERNEST HENDRIE
Christopher Penny	Mr. H. MARSH ALLEN
Major Tompkins	Mr. IAN ROBERTSON
Mrs. Tompkins	Miss KATE CARLYON
Vivian	Miss ALICE CRAWFORD
Jake Samuels	Mr. EDWARD SASS
Harry Larkcom	Mr. WILFRED FORSTER
Miss Kite	Miss HAIDEE WRIGHT
Mrs. Percival de Hooley	Miss KATE BISHOP
Stasia	Miss GERTRUDE ELLIOTT
Mrs. Sharpe	Miss AGNES THOMAS
The Third Floor Back	Mr. FORBES-ROBERTSON

THE EPILOGUE.

An Old Bachelor	Mr. ERNEST HENDRIE
Two Lovers	Mr. H. MARSH ALLEN and Miss ALICE CRAWFORD
A Husband and Wife	Mr. IAN ROBERTSON and Miss KATE CARLYON
A Jew	Mr. EDWARD SASS
An Entertaining Person	Mr. WILFRED FORSTER
A Maiden Lady	Miss HAIDEE WRIGHT
A Rich Aunt	Miss KATE BISHOP
The Servant	Miss GERTRUDE ELLIOTT
The Lady of the House	Miss AGNES THOMAS
A Friend	Mr. FORBES-ROBERTSON

In our issue of Aug. 22 we gave an exhaustive analysis of the plot of Mr. Jerome K. Jerome's new play, after its production at the Grand Opera House, Harrogate, and our readers hardly need to be reminded that the scene of the piece—with which Mr. Forbes-Robertson opened his season at the St. James's on Tuesday—is a boarding-house in Bloomsbury, the lodgers at which are described as a "cheat," a "slut," a "painted lady," a "shrew," a "snob," a "bully," a "hussy," a "satyr," a "coward," a "rogue," and a "cad." The landlady is Mrs. Sharpe, and her slavey is called Stasia. Mrs. Sharpe, having noticed the piano candles (only half burnt) have disappeared, abuses Stasia in consequence, though they have really been exchanged for shorter ones by Miss Kite, the "painted lady," a much-bepowdered person with a mincing and affected air. Amongst the queer collection of unpleasing curiosities at this boarding-house are Major Tompkins, who drinks and bullies his wife; Jake Samuels, a "shark" from the City, and his cad of a friend, Harry Larkcom; Mrs. Percival de Hooley, who is cousin to Sir George Tweedle, Bart; Joey Wright, a retired bookmaker—retired owing to loss of voice; Christopher Penny, a young and struggling artist, who hesitates between high art and painting indecent pictures for cash; and Vivian Tompkins, the Major's daughter, who is engaged to Wright, the rich bookmaker, but in love with Christopher. The third floor back is taken by a "Passer-by"—a mysterious personage with a courtly manner and a gentle and caressing style—who interviews all the boarders separately, and so influences them that they make up their minds to lead better lives. Joey Wright gives up Vivian to her poor artist lover, on whom he has bestowed commissions for portraits of himself and others; the Major ceases to bully his wife, and they become a loving and exemplary couple; the Jewish shark, Jake Samuels, instead of trying to swindle people into taking shares in a silver mine, tells the landlady she has not charged him for a chop he has eaten; his jackal, Harry Larkcom, has gone on the stage, and takes a delight in giving pleasure to others instead of tempting Stasia from the paths of rectitude with imitation emerald ear-rings, which, under the "Passer-by's" influence, she scornfully flings on the floor; and Miss Kite, the "painted lady," comes down minus "make-up" and dressed as befits a maiden lady of mature years. Having done all this good, the Third Floor Back takes his leave, privately, of each character, saying as he leaves, "I have other work to do."

Mr. Jerome has given us a play with a high and pure motive, and with an admirable moral. The suggestion in the second act that the "Passer-by" was our Saviour on a visit to earth seemed to us irreverent; though it must be stated in fairness that it did not appear to shock the audience at the St. James's in the least, the incident having a very enthusiastic reception. The piece is admirably written in parts, the sentences in which the "Passer-by" works on the feelings of the different boarders being very smoothly and neatly turned; and the doctrine that people may be led to rise to higher things by giving them credit for their better natures is preached with real, if at times scenic, eloquence. The acting was excellent all round.

Nothing could have been more insidiously urbane and effectively authoritative than Mr. Forbes-Robertson's "Passer-by." He looked picturesquely dignified in his sober and stately costume, and delivered the appeals to the better natures of the boarders in most melodious tones. Mr. Ernest Hendrie's Satyr was a striking study, engrossing in its base repulsiveness, the gleams of generosity in the breast of the vulgar brute being depicted with artistic skill; and Miss Haidee Wright hit off the affectations and pretences of Miss Kite very cleverly, depicting the painful repentance of the "painted lady" with natural and intense pathos. Mr. Ian Robertson's mean and selfish Major was as shark-like and unsympathetic as could be expected, the varnish of soldierly "style" being very faithfully supplied; and Mr. Edward Sass's sordid little Jew was a character-impersonation which deserves very warm praise for its effectiveness and freedom from caricature. Mr. Wilfred Forster gave to his impersonation of Harry Larkcom just the right shade of vulgarity and exactly the required amount of good feeling, and dealt very successfully with a really difficult task. Mr. H. Marsh Allen, always competent and engaging, was thoroughly satisfactory as the despairing artist; and Miss Kate Carlyon's Mrs. Tompkins was a genuine performance of real merit, the little touches of sentiment being very naturally introduced. Miss Alice Crawford looked very attractive as the girl Vivian, who is so sorely tempted to sell herself to the Satyr, and acted with great earnestness and intensity in the second division of the play; and Miss Kate Bishop showed the value of thorough training and long experience as an ex-factory girl who, risen in the world, has only thought for Royalty and aristocracy. Miss Gertrude Elliott, though not absolutely at ease in her Cockney accent, played the "slavey," Stasia, with great charm and sly and gentle humour; and Miss Agnes Thomas was the "very image" of a lady by birth and education whose heart has been hardened by the struggle for existence. The single scene, painted by Mr. Walter Hann, was real and appropriate, a novelty being introduced in the placing of a fender and fireirons in the middle of the stage close down to the footlights. The Passing of the Third Floor Back had a very hearty reception; and the intrinsic beauty of the idea and the admirable performance of the play by Mr. Forbes-Robertson's company deserve our warmest appreciation.

THE MOODY-MANNERS COMPANY.

On Saturday, Aug. 29, revival at the Lyric Theatre of the Opera (in English), by Jacques François Fromental Elias Halévy, entitled "THE JEWESS" ("La Juive").

The Jew	Mr. PHILIP BROZEL
Cardinal Brogni	Mr. CHARLES MANNERS
Prince Leopold	Mr. SETH HUGHES
Ruggero	Mr. C. MOPPETT
Alberto	Mr. R. CARTER
Herald	Mr. ALEXANDER
Princess Eudossia	Miss KATE ANDERSON
Rachel	Mme. DE VERE-SAPIO

Halévy's great work, La Juive, with libretto by Scribe, and Amazonian ballet by Taglioni, drew its first breath of stage life at the old Opera House, Paris, Feb. 23, 1835, under the directorship of Dr. Véron, the principal parts being entrusted to Nourrit as Eléazar, Levasseur was the Cardinal, Mme. Dorus-Gras Eudoxie (Eudossia), and Mlle. Falcon Rachel. The brilliant fame of the opera was not attached to the composer only. Ivy-like, it attached itself to Mlle. Falcon, who quickly followed her triumph in it by her extraordinary rendering of Valentine in Les Huguenots. The bringing out of the opera is reported to have cost the management £15,000, it having been the first time that real armour was ever used on the French stage. When Scribe's libretto was accepted the ending was to have been the burning of Rachel at the stake; but at the last rehearsal Dr. Véron rearranged the situation to her being hurled into a cauldron of boiling oil. Halévy wrote twenty-five operas, but none of them are heard except La Juive.

It should be mentioned that the late Mr. Carl Rosa admired the work very much, and produced it at Belfast in 1888, with Mr. Barton McGuckin as the Jew, Mr. Charles Manners as the Cardinal, and Miss Fanny Moody as Rachel; but he altered the tragic conclusion in deference to the supposed desire of the audience for a happy ending.

When the late Sir Augustus Harris revived La Juive at Drury Lane in April, 1893, more than forty years had elapsed since the masterpiece of Halévy had been heard in London. It had the advantage at Covent Garden in 1860, when it was produced under the title of L'Ebrea, of the exquisite singing of Signor Mario and Mme. Viardot-Garcia, the original Fidès in Le Prophète, who taught singing to Antoinette Sterling. It was first played in London at Drury Lane by a Brussels troupe in 1846. Its career in this country was not fortunate, for only a few performances were given between 1846 and the destruction by fire of Covent Garden Theatre in 1856. In 1904 the Moody-Manners company followed the precedent of Sir Augustus Harris, and revived it at Drury Lane during their spring season.

The period of the opera is 1414, when a Christian who loved a Jewess, or a Jewess who loved a Christian, was doomed to death of the most cruel description. The Jewess, Rachel, loves the son of the Emperor, Prince Leopold, who is already married to the Princess Eudossia. The Prince, pretending to be of her own faith, has wooed her under the name of Samuel, but when the heroine discovers his rank she refuses to sacrifice her faith. The Cardinal, who, years before, had lost his daughter, has a suspicion that the Jew, Eleazar, knows something of her fate. But the Hebrew makes no sign, not even when his beloved Rachel is condemned to die. It is only when she is cast into the cauldron that the fierce and implacable Jew reveals the secret that Rachel was really the daughter of the Cardinal. Then Eleazar prepares calmly for the doom that awaits him.

The revival was extremely successful, the dramatic character of the music being fully appreciated. Considerable elaboration characterised the procession of the Emperor, and the stage pictures were excellent. The representative of the Jew was Mr. Philip Brozel, who displayed power and pathos as an actor, while his singing was unusually effective and artistic. He was heard to considerable advantage in the aria known in the original French as "O, ma fille chérie!" Mr. Charles Manners as the Cardinal, a familiar character to him, made a striking and impressive figure, and his fine delivery of the air in the first act must be highly commended. Mme. De Vere-Sapio's passion and pathos in the rôle of Rachel were conspicuous, and the purity of her voice enabled her to give a completely satisfying rendering of the numbers allotted to the unhappy Jewess. In the great scene between the two women she had excellent assistance from Miss Kate Anderson, who justified her selection for the rôle of the Princess by her careful and conscientious work, and especially by her execution of the florid music. Mr. Seth Hughes made an acceptable Prince Leopold; and other characters were capably handled by Mr. C. Moppett, Mr. R. Carter, and Mr. Alexander.

THE MOODY-MANNERS COMPANY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—In your kind reference to our company in this week's Era you say ours is probably the largest company travelling. The following are the exact requirements we want from the railway companies:—Three 45ft. trucks (equal to six ordinary trucks) and one 21ft. truck (these are for the scenery), and six trucks for clothes. There are 16 principals, 14 staff, 8 ballet, 31 orchestra, and 63 in the chorus, making in round numbers 132 people. Of course we always have to send on scenery and baggage in advance during the week, as it could not be carried by one train. The above numbers are every one of them paid salaries, and they do not include some ten or twenty people who travel with us in the shape of wives, children, sisters, maids, &c.

As I have for some time heard various conjectures and opinions about how many we do travel and how many we don't, I would like to place on record exactly what happens, and I will be perfectly willing to forfeit £500 to anyone if the above statement is not the absolute fact.

By the way, these numbers do not include two scenic artists, an assistant, and bench carpenter working at the stores at Hendon.

While on the subject, I notice that a number of the provincial Press think that we have at our Lyric season this year two of my companies together. As a matter of fact, the company playing at the Lyric is exactly the same in numbers, artists, scenery, and costumes as will visit the whole of the towns throughout the whole of the provincial A Company tour. Indeed, there will be an addition, because Miss Zelie de Lussan joins next week. She would be with us for this season at the Lyric only that the Covent Garden Syndicate will not allow me, amongst other operas, to play Carmen in the West End.—Yours faithfully, CHARLES MANNERS.

Lyric Theatre, London, W., Aug. 31.

MR. EDITOR.—Sir,—In reference to my wedding of the 17th, which you very kindly mentioned, my name was spelt Nain instead of Naen.—Yours faithfully, PERCY NAEN, Public Hall, Carlisle.

OF the few side attractions at the Franco-British Exhibition which can be enjoyed without extra payment the performances given daily by the "All British Orchestra" in the French Wine Bar are certainly worth a visit. This orchestra, which, as its name implies, is composed entirely of native musicians, is under the sole direction of Mr. Henry J. Spindler, who was for ten years the violoncellist of the Alexandra Theatre at Stoke Newington, and the programme he provides daily, both by the excellence of its execution and the variety of its selections, has added much to the popularity of this already popular bar. In fact, it makes it the nearest approach to the typical Continental café to be found in the exhibition.

"KING OF CADONIA."

A Musical Play in Two Acts, by Frederick Lonsdale, lyrics by Adrian Ross, music by Sidney Jones. Produced at the Prince of Wales's Theatre on Thursday, Sept. 3.

The Duke of Alasia	Mr. HUNTLEY WRIGHT
Alexis	Mr. BERTRAM WALLIS
General Bonski	Mr. ROLAND CUNNINGHAM
Captain Laski	Mr. F. POPE STAMPER
Lieutenant Jules	Mr. HAROLD DEACON
Lieutenant Saloff	Mr. CAMERON CARR
Panix	Mr. ARTHUR LACEBY
Laborde	Mr. AKERMAN MAY
Bran	Mr. GEORGE BARRETT
Militza	Miss GRACIE LEIGH
Stephanie	Miss PEGGY BETHEL
Natine	Miss QUENNIE MERRALL
Wanda	Miss GLADYS BEECH
Ottaline	Miss CLAIRE LYNCH
Fridoline	Miss GLADYS ANDERSON
Duchess of Alasia	Mme. AMY MARTIN
Princess Marie	Miss ISABEL JAY

Cadonia is a kingdom in which the reigning monarch has anything but a happy time of it. He has to be carefully guarded for fear of being assassinated by his subjects, who seem to have a liking for a frequent change as regards the occupant of the throne. Alexis, the reigning King, has become very tired of being immured in his palace like a prisoner who has committed a crime, and so, with the assistance of his trusty friends and loyal subject Captain Laski, he disappears for three days. According to the story told by the Lieutenant the King has been captured by a band of anti-monarchists, led by one Laborde, who has obtained an engagement as gardener to the Duke of Alasia. The Duke, aware of the fate which has befallen so many of the Kings of Cadonia, is by no means anxious to succeed to the throne, of which he is the heir-presumptive, and even as regent he is always planning some means of escape. The Government has decided that the King shall marry the Duke of Alasia's daughter, the Princess Marie, but when she first meets her future husband she does not know who he is. They, however, fall in love with each other at first sight. The King joins the Anti-King League, and, being captured, is in danger of being shot, but the Princess interposes, and his life is spared for the time being on condition that he produces the King alive. Of course he is able to do this in due course, and the disloyal Laborde is won over to his side, as Alexis shows that he is a King who will take a real interest in his people and their concerns. Once more has Mr. Sidney Jones triumphed as a composer of bright and attractive music, which maintains its level of excellence throughout, and again has Mr. Adrian Ross proved himself an adept as a writer of smart lyrics. Credit is also due to the scenic artist, Mr. Hawes Craven; while the dresses and appointments are all that could be wished.

An admirable and hard-working company has been secured. Very marked was the success achieved by Mr. Bertram Wallis in the title-rôle. He looked every inch a king, and the natural grace and dignity of his bearing were quite in keeping with the character. His portrayal of the part was excellent in every respect. As a vocalist Mr. Wallis also won distinction; his first song, in which the monarch, compelled to live in the seclusion of his palace, complains of the restrictions imposed on royalty, was admirably rendered. But one of the gems of the piece was a song in the second act, "There's a King in the land to-day," which was splendidly given by Mr. Wallis, who was enthusiastically encored. He also received his full share of the applause for a duet, "A Castle in the Air," sung with Miss Isabel Jay. This charming young actress and singer was seen at her best in the rôle of the Princess Marie, whose love for the unknown stranger who proves to be the King himself supplies a strong romantic flavour to the piece. The graceful, winsome Princess could have had no more attractive representative than Miss Jay, who, too, was in excellent voice. Greatly appreciated was her delightful rendering of "The man I mean to marry," and a love song in the second act was given with telling expression. Another of her successful vocal contributions was "I met a man," during the singing of which she sketches the portrait of her lover. Mr. Huntley Wright, as the Duke of Alasia, the heir-presumptive to the throne of Cadonia, exerted himself with the happiest results, and his assistance was invaluable. Never was there seen—even in comic opera—a more timorous creature than the Duke, and his nervous apprehension at the prospect of becoming the King of Cadonia was most comically depicted. When the Duke is made regent, he distributes medals and money with a generous hand, his object being to secure support in case of need. Mr. Wright, as the timid ruler and henpecked married man, quite revelled in the opportunities which the part offered him, and has never done better work. He made a great hit with a ditty, "Don't hesitate to shoot," for which he was deservedly recalled two or three times. He received able support from Miss Gracie Leigh as Militza, maid to the Princess Marie. Her delightfully humorous portrayal of the part deserves special mention; and quite late in the evening she and Mr. Huntley Wright were loudly applauded for a duet in which they gave exceedingly clever burlesque imitations of a couple of Indian musical performers with the tomtom, Scotch duettists, and the Italian players who recently visited London. Miss Leigh also evoked the warm applause of the audience by her clever, piquant rendering of "Well, that don't sound like you," "I am mistress of the robes," and "I had to seek another situation," the last-mentioned being an especially effective number. Mr. Roland Cunningham was an appropriately brusque General Bonski, and Mr. F. Pope Stamper was a handsome and soldierly Captain Laski. He also sang well. Mr. Arthur Laceby was good as Panix, secretary to the Duke; and Mr. Akerman May made a picturesque leader of the Anti-King League, giving to the part a most effective melodramatic touch. Mr. George Barrett was exceedingly funny as Bran, Captain Laski's servant and Militza's sweetheart. He added greatly to the merriment of the evening by his genuine humour and drollery. Miss Peggy Bethel was pleasing as Stephanie, first lady in waiting to the Princess, and sang in charming style. The Duchess of Alasia had a capital exponent in Mme. Amy Martin, whose contempt for her husband's cowardice was amusingly expressed. The Misses Queenie Merrall, Gladys Beech, Claire Lynch, and Gladys Anderson were most attractive ladies-in-waiting to the Princess; and Messrs. Harold Deacon and Cameron Carr did well as a couple of officers in the Cadonian army.

At the conclusion there was a scene of much enthusiasm, all the principals being called, together with the author, the composer, and the producers, Messrs. Frank Curzon and Sydney Ellison, to whom every credit is due for the thoroughly artistic and effective way in which the new piece has been staged. Mr. I. A. de Orellana is the musical conductor, and Mr. Sidney Watson stage manager. On the first night the orchestra was conducted by the composer, Mr. Sidney Jones.

AT the Metropole Theatre, Gateshead, Messrs. Rennef and Copping's company in Love Rules the World have drawn good audiences during the week.

MR. AND MRS. BENSON are now at Scarborough hard at work rehearsing for the opening of their autumn tour there on Monday. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Benson, the company includes Mr. George R. Weir, Mr. Edward A. Warburton, Mr. H. O. Nicholson, Mr. Baliol Holloway, Mr. Murray Carrington, Miss Elinor Aickin, Miss Helen Haye, and Miss Corisande Hamilton.

VARIETY GOSSIP.

Mr. Branscby Williams has been spending a most agreeable time in Manxland, where he has been enjoying the society of Mr. Hall Caine at Greeba Castle. With the famous author's permission the young actor may present some of his characters on the variety stage. Mr. Williams also has had an interesting chat with Miss Ellen Terry. He will revisit Douglas next year if his dates can be rearranged.

The sad death from misadventure of Mr. George Anthony Ware, the music-hall agent, reminds us that his father, Mr. George Ware, transacted Miss Marie Lloyd's business until the day of his death, and that accomplished artist would be the first to admit that his advice and guidance were very valuable to her during her early years on the variety stage. George Ware was never tired of foretelling the future success of his young protegée, and he lived to see her obtain a very high position. He recognised her talent from the first, and we remember very well a speech that he made from the Oxford stage, in which he prophesied a three-figure salary for Marie.

Miss Ruth Maitland, now playing the heroine's part in Mr. Frank Parker's production, The Sands o' Dee, at the Hippodrome, was specially selected by Sir John Hare for a leading part in his farewell performances of The Gay Lord Quex. Miss Maitland is a crack shot, a good horsewoman, and an excellent swimmer, as she is proving nightly in the aquatic melodrama in which she is extricated from a position of stage peril twice a day.

Miss Alice Lloyd and Tom McNaughton will sail for America on the s.s. Mauretania on Saturday next to rehearse for Ziegfeld's new production, Bonnie Bells of Scotland, which will contain several special songs written for the popular Alice.

Miss Daisy Wood, another member of the famous Lloyd family, and her husband, Donald Munro, are due to sail per s.s. Etruria for New York on Wednesday next. Miss Wood is the fourth of the family to visit America this year.

Mr. George Scott, on the 28th ult., at the board meeting of the Alhambra Company, with Mr. Alfred Moul, the chairman and managing director, presiding, was presented with a handsome gold stop watch, bearing on the outer case the monogram "G. S.," and on the inner side "Presented to George Scott, Esq., by the Alhambra Company, Limited." The presentation was accompanied by the hearty good wishes of the directors, and suitably acknowledged by the recipient. After a brief holiday Mr. Scott will be found again in harness "in the West."

It has been suggested that Mr. Alfred Moul, the managing-director, should in future take a more active part in the management of the Alhambra. This is hardly possible, considering that for the last two years or so he has been the sole director of the policy of the house. From early morn to late at night he is at his post superintending rehearsals, discussing with Signor Curti the scenario of a forthcoming ballet, or suggesting alike to the musical-director or the costumier improvements in a coming production.

When off the stage his office has an "open door" to the countless people ready with suggestions as to the management of a variety theatre, while in his spare moments he often composes musical numbers as anonymous contributions to Mr. Byng's score. Then for a change he scours the Continent—Paris, Berlin, Vienna, and Copenhagen—in search of novelties, often seeing a dozen different shows in a week. Mr. Moul will endeavour not to add to his already responsible duties, and to that end is reorganising several departments in a way that will probably relieve him of much of the detail of his work.

Mlle. Adelina Genée finishes her present engagement at the Empire on Saturday, the 12th, leaving London almost immediately for New York to fulfil a number of contracts. The date of her actual departure is Sept. 23, but she is to have ten days' holiday prior to boarding the steamer.

Mlle. Lydia Kyasht takes Mlle. Genée's place as Swanilda on the 14th. The new dancer has already distinguished herself on the Continent in Coppélia, so that the part is quite familiar to her, and Empire audiences have, during the last fortnight, had an opportunity of judging her skill in a number of selections from grand ballet. She is pretty and accomplished, and learnt her art at the Imperial Theatre, St. Petersburg.

Mlle. Genée opens at the Grand Opera House, New York, on Oct. 5, for three weeks, in The Soul Kiss. Thirty-five weeks will be given to touring. Chicago claims her for ten weks, and in Boston and Philadelphia she stays for four. At the end of her American tour Mlle. Genée returns to England and to the Empire in a new ballet, which will be specially written for her by Lieut.-Col. Newnham-Davis, in which she will appear as a famous historical figure. When she again revisits New York she will appear in Coppélia, which has been secured for her by Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger.

"Paris," the new ballet by Lieut.-Col. Newnham-Davis, is to be produced at the Empire early in October. It has for its principal scene a representation of a students' ball in Paris. It is now being actively rehearsed.

Mr. Alfred Dove has secured the performing rights for variety theatres of Mascagni's masterpiece Cavalleria Rusticana, an opera that most unmistakably suits the halls. Mrs. Arthur Rousby (the Moody-Manners' prima donna) is the Santuzza, Mr. Charles Le Sueur (of the Carl Rosa company) is the Turiddu, Mr. John T. MacCallum the Alfio, and Miss Daisy Nunn (contralto) the Lola. Mr. Dove himself conducts. The production has made a hit this week at the Richmond Hippodrome. The new scenery has been painted by Mr. W. T. Hemsley, and the costumes are provided by Hyman.

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Sylvia Lilian Storey, a daughter of Mr. Fred Storey, to William John Lydston Poulett, seventh Earl Poulett, has caused considerable sensation in theatrical and variety circles. Mr. Fred Storey, who will one day, we hope, be the grandfather of a peer, is well known on the variety stage as a comedian, a pantomimist, and a dancer. He made a big reputation at the Alhambra as Rip, in his own production of Rip Van Winkle, and his impersonation of the schnapps-loving hero of the Kaatskills is worthy to rank with any of the century. Mr. Storey's versatility is not confined to acting or dancing on the stage; he can furnish it with excellent scenery.

At the invitation of the Artists' Protection League and the Actors' Union, representatives of those bodies and of the Actors' Association, Sketch Managers' Association, and National Association of Theatrical Employees met on Wednesday to discuss the arguments to be advanced at the Trade Union Congress at Nottingham next week in support of the resolution asking for a revision of the laws applying to the licences of theatres and music halls. The resolution will be moved by Mr. Frank Gerald, General Secretary of the Artists' Protection League, and seconded by Mr. Blackmore, Secretary of the Actors' Union. The co-operation and support of every kindred body has been invited.

Several Liverpool places of entertainment are to come under the hammer of Mr. Peter Davies in that city on the 24th inst. They include the Tivoli Theatre, the Park Palace, and the Paddington Palace.

A successful year's working was reported at the first annual meeting of the Sunderland Empire Palace, Ltd., held at the theatre, Sunderland, on Thursday, the 27th ult., under the presidency of Mr. Richard Thornton, managing-director.

The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the directors' report and annual accounts, congratulated the shareholders on the fact that notwithstanding the bad trade in Sunderland the company had been able to pay a dividend of 5 per cent., to write off £980 for depreciation, and to write off £500 from preliminary expenses, carrying forward a respectable balance to next year's account. The report was seconded by Mr. Frank Allen and carried unanimously. The retiring directors, Messrs. F. Allen, T. Gillespie, and S. Stone, were re-elected.

The many friends of Mr. Joseph Potter, colessee of the Warrington Royal Court and Royal Theatre of Varieties, will be sorry to hear that he is lying dangerously ill at his residence at Warrington. A slight improvement has been maintained since Tuesday.

Miss Adela Crispin, the principal character in the Blackpool Winter Gardens ballet, who celebrated her nineteenth birthday on Saturday, was the recipient of one or two pleasing presentations at the evening performance. Mr. and Mrs. John Tiller presented "The Belle of Andalusia" with a beautiful bouquet, and the Twelve Little Forget-Me-Nots gave her an exquisite case of scent. Other presents included a beautiful old paste brooch set in silver, a Marquise ring, a travelling clock, a purse in grey morocco, sprays of flowers, a gold golliwog charm, and several large boxes of chocolate.

"The Children's Dream of Toyland," which Mlle. Pauline Rivers has produced at the Palace, Blackpool, has been one of the season's successes, and eager sightseers crowd the ballroom nightly. On Thursday of last week a very beautiful basket of fruit and flowers was presented to the young ladies who form the Pauline Sextette, and whose dancing is one of the features of the show.

Since the death of "Wee Macgreegor" visitors to the Scottish Zoo, Glasgow, have been deprived of perhaps the most interesting of all the exhibits in the collection, for the amusing antics of the little fellow, and the almost human-like expression of his countenance, never failed to draw an admiring crowd.

On his demise Councillor Bostock cabled his West African agent to spare neither trouble nor expense to secure another chimpanzee to take the place of "Wee Macgreegor." The result is that a splendid specimen, recently captured in the Congo forest, was forwarded to the Scottish Zoo, where it arrived a few days ago.

The new "Missing Link," which, by the way, is a female, seems none the worse for her long sea voyage, is apparently in excellent health, and seems to feel quite at home already in her new surroundings. In her appearance and general deportment she displays the utmost intelligence, and is unquestionably one of the best illustrations of the Darwinian theory.

Mr. James Doughty, England's oldest living theatre clown and animal trainer, celebrated his ninetieth birthday at the West Pier, Brighton, on Friday, the 28th ult. Between 300 and 400 people braved the inclement weather to wish "Many happy returns" to the veteran, who added to the special interest of the anniversary by once again donning his clown's dress and paint as at Old Drury. He was assisted in his entertainment by Miss Lauri. The old clown has been giving his dog shows on the Brighton West Pier for thirty years.

About a year ago Mr. G. W. Walker engaged from the Town Council of Kirkcaldy for a period of three months an old hall then known as the Corn Exchange Hall. His success with a variety entertainment was so phenomenal that he leased the building for a term of five years, and has now found it necessary to make alterations, and during the vacation the building has been entirely gutted, and improvements of a very extensive nature have been carried out.

In addition to renewing the whole interior of the building a new gallery has been put in; everything is being done to make the Pavilion an up-to-date music-hall. Not only is Mr. Walker doing all this in connection with the Pavilion, but he has also arranged with Mr. E. H. Bostock, lessee of the Hippodrome, to take over that house as well. Mr. Walker promises to present the best available talent, and already such artists as Marie Lloyd, Margaret Cooper, Mrs. Lewis Waller, Dr. Bodie, Geo. Lashwood, Auguste van Biene, and many other stars have been engaged.

Wrexham, with a population of over 70,000 inhabitants within a radius of five miles of its post-office, is at last to be provided with an up-to-date amusement house. The site chosen for the new Palace Theatre is in Regent-street, the main street leading from the Great Western Railway Station to the town, and only three minutes' walk from the Central Railway Station. Electric trams from the outlying districts pass the doors every few minutes. The building itself will be French Renaissance, with red-facing brick and Carrara dressings, the base being in granite. The main entrance to the circle and stalls, in the centre of the building, will open up into a grand foyer, decorated with marble panels. A spacious staircase on the left leads to the crush-rooms, circle, and lounge, and on the right a passage leads to the stalls. A subway is also provided under the stage to feed both sides of the stalls.

The auditorium is divided into stalls, circle, pit, and gallery, with four private boxes to grace the house, which has a total seating capacity of 1,640. The architect has been most careful in getting the various lines of sight so perfect that everyone in the house can see without any interruption. The exits have been well planned, and the stage, with a 30ft. opening, is to be 30ft. high, 35ft. deep, and nearly 60ft. to the grille, with a width of 64ft., fitted in the most approved methods, so that the largest productions can be staged.

Mr. Thomas Price, 77, Lord-street, Liverpool, the architect, is pushing the work along at a great rate, and Mr. W. Yates Gregory, managing-director, hopes to have all complete for opening early in the spring of 1909, for which he is inviting correspondence from first-class touring companies. The plans have been approved by the Wrexham Town Council and magistrates.

The examination in bankruptcy was held on Tuesday of Alfred Wood, who presented his own petition, describing himself as of Brixton-road, S.W. It was stated that the debtor during the past fifteen years had occasionally appeared on the stage, had produced music hall sketches, and had written several songs. He attributed his insolvency to the failure of a musical comedy called The Terrible Tomboy, produced by him about five years ago. Only one debt, £102 for printing, was scheduled, the creditor holding security valued at £80. No assets were disclosed. The examination was concluded.

Miss Florrie Robina opens at the Empress, Brixton, on Monday next, Sept. 7, after an absence of four years.

Victor Niblo, with his polyglot parrot and conversational cockatoo, sailed for the States by s.s. Majestic on Wednesday. His long tour on the other side will commence on Sept. 14 at New York.

"He Missed the Boat," a specially-written musical comedietta, written by John P. Harrington and composed by Orlando Powell, is to be produced on Monday by Miss Ida Dorrie and Miss Susie Beavan at the Empress, Brixton. The situations are of an extremely diverting and novel character.

Mr. John P. Harrington, who is on a fortnight's holiday at Cliftonville, has been apparently having something in the nature of a business holiday, inasmuch as he has been devoting considerable attention to the requirements of the several troupes of seaside entertainers not only at this favourite resort but also at adjacent Ramsgate, Broadstairs, Herne Bay, Dover, and Folkestone, with the gratifying result that a greater number than ever of the Monte Carlo Publishing Co.'s popular songs are now being exploited by the Kent coast pierrots.

Mr. Harry Lauder has been freed from his Glasgow pantomime engagements to allow him to appear in America. He will open in New York on Oct. 12, and will play there for six weeks, afterwards making a tour of the principal cities in the United States. He has paid a large sum as indemnity to be released from his Glasgow engagement.

That fine hostelry the Rose and Crown, in Charing Cross-road, has been acquired by the genial Jack Lotto, and its close proximity to the hub of the music-publishing world and to the Vaudeville Club has already constituted it a sort of chapel of ease to the almost countless frequenters of Messrs. Francis and Day's establishment and the members of the select and palatial club which numbers amongst its members all that is brightest and best in the world of variety. Mr. Charlie Pratt, late of the Rodney's Head, is installed as manager.

Mr. Kyburn Dellar is appearing this week at the Empress in his original character in The Moneylender, a French episode of the period of the Terror. The actor has played the part some 300 times, and his powerful portrayal does much for the success of the production.

An agreeable little reception was held at the Covent Garden Hotel on Thursday afternoon, when Mr. J. L. Shine sang a new song, which has been written by his son, Mr. Fred Shine, with music by Dr. F. Osmond Carr. The title of the song is "Good Ould Irish," and the opening verse is as follows:

"I have sacked my secret-ary for he would sing
'Highland Mary,'
And that blessed song is driving me insane;
So attention, please, O brother, and I'll sing to you another
Which hasn't got a Whiskey-esque refrain.
It is not an 'Ode to Bacchus'; but whene'er the 'blues' attack us,
As a tonic it is never known to fail;
It is simple in construction—needs no special introduction,
And it is called 'The Simple Life on Ginger Ale!'

Chorus:

So, hail! hail! Ross's Belfast Ginger Ale!
You can drink it by the tumbler or the bottle or the pail;
Oh, for glorious elation and superb exhilaration
Just give me half a pint of Ross's Ginger Ale!"

Mr. W. E. Imeson is responsible for the following lines as a tribute to Mr. Harry Liston:—

A Birthday Card.
(Sept. 3, 1908.)

Time's played old Harry with old-time "stars,"
But he spares one Harry still,
Whose health on this, his natal day,
We drink with right good will.
Since "London's Lions" in chorus roared
For "Nobody's Child" so bland
There's been no better "Man at the wheel"
Than "The Captain in the Tin-Pot Band."

Mr. Geo. Robey has been amusing us intensely as "Shakespeare," but he should find an excellent vehicle for his comedy in his latest impersonation of a "lion tamer," with which song he will return to town in a fortnight.

Miss Adele Levey and Frank Lilliput gave a trial performance of their sketch at the Palace, Camberwell, on Friday, the 28th ult. The title of the sketch is Find the Lady First; or, the Long and the Short of It. So successful was the first performance that they have been secured for a week at the Palace, Camberwell, commencing Sept. 7.

Miss Harriet Vernon, whose success at the Empire, Camberwell, has been pronounced with Sunshine and Shadow, will produce on Monday, at Broadhead's Hippodrome, Manchester, a novel scena, by Mr. Will Letters and Mr. Syd Silvester, entitled A Yuletide Story. Mr. Leslie Race, who produced Sunshine and Shadow, has the new production in hand.

Mr. Frank Glenister, manager of the London Pavilion, who has been holiday-making on the South Coast, returned on Monday; Mr. Joseph Wilson looks fit and well after his holiday in Dorsetshire; Mr. Charles Blyth Pratt has happy reminiscences of his stay in the north of France; and Mr. Fred Trussell's quiet holiday in an old-world village in Surrey has been an excellent preparation for the autumn campaign at the Hippodrome.

The much-talked-of Directoire dress worn by Miss Marie Lloyd and the queen of comedy's picture gowns were made exclusively by Mme. Hina, of 30, Alexandra-road, St. John's Wood, near Swiss Cottage. The same lady has also designed and turned out some chic and handsome costumes worn by other members of the Lloyd family. Another star who appreciates the taste and style of Mme. Hina is Miss Marie Loftus.

The numerous friends of Mr. John Neat, the well-known composer, will be sorry to learn he is confined to his bed through a nasty bicycle spill, caused through colliding with his pace-maker at the Crystal Palace. He has been greatly cheered by the receipt of the news of the great hit made by Miss Grace Rosaire at the Irish Village concerts at the Franco-British Exhibition with his song "Paddy's love-letter," the graceful lyric of which is in Arthur du Soir's best style, and which Messrs. Ascherberg have issued. This fine artist is exploiting a number from the same pens entitled "The little piggy's tail."

Mr. T. E. Polden, in moving the adoption of the report and accounts of the Palace Theatre on Thursday, said that the net profit of £40,000 was a record one for the company. The receipts had increased by £26,000, and the gross profit was over £43,000. A dividend of 20 per cent. and a carrying forward to the next account of £32,376 are solid reasons for congratulating the shareholders. Mr. Eugene Cremetti, who seconded the resolution, was re-elected a director, and Sir H. Goldsworthy moved a vote of thanks to the directors, referring in his speech to the success of Miss Maud Allan, whom he had not seen.

Miss Cissie Loftus is to appear at the London Coliseum on Oct. 12. Her last appearance in London was at the house opposite—the Duke of York's—as Peter Pan.

Miss Ethel Ra-Leslie will present a new scena entitled Cleopatra at the Empire, Belfast, on Monday, Sept. 14. Elaborate preparations in the way of scenery and dresses have been made. The words of the songs are by Mr. Charles Wilmott and the music by Mr. Harry Wellman. This is another Witmark publication.

A newcomer to London was found at the Empress, Brixton, this week in Mr. "Biff" Hall, who calls himself "the melancholy Jew." The hard-luck stories of Mr. Hall are certainly entertaining and amusing, and the hearty laughter of the Brixtonians leads us to believe that before long Mr. Hall's name will be in evidence on West End programmes.

Eadie and Ramsden, whose recent success at the Palace a few weeks ago was so much talked about, are repeating their triumph at Liverpool. Their eccentric coon song "You've worn your welcome out" meets with enthusiastic approval.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lucas have worked a most successful four weeks in London, and by the courtesy of the different managers who have arranged their times they have been enabled to live at their bungalow at Laleham-on-Thames.

An American turn new to London is to be found this week at the Holborn Empire in Bradley and Barnes, who make an enormous success with their beautifully harmonised singing. The musical gem of their performance is a pretty ballad entitled "There's nothing new to say."

Miss Marie Empress, who is always exquisitely gowned, is increasing her reputation on the Stoll tour, and nightly adding to her legion of admirers by her singing of "Where are all the girls?" and "Take me down to hear the band play." Miss Empress will continue touring until December, when she will play principal boy in pantomime for Mr. Robert Arthur, who has secured her for five years.

At the Canterbury on Friday evening, Aug. 28, Mr. Geo. Leyton's great veterans' night took place. The following letter from Lord Roberts was received:—"Englemere, Ascot, Berks, Aug. 27, 1908. Dear Sir,—Many thanks for your letter of the 26th inst. with cheque for £21 in aid of the Veterans' Relief Fund. You have indeed done well for the Crimean and Indian Mutiny Veterans, assisting them as you have to the extent of £3,121 14s. A receipt for £21 will be sent to you by Lloyds' Bank.—Believe me, yours very truly, Roberts, F.M."

As already announced in these columns, Mr. Oswald Stoll on Monday will present a novel and original series of "operatic studies" at the Coliseum. The idea is to present, as rapidly as the poses can be changed, a number of statue pictures from famous operas, illustrating the chief incidents in the story. They will be accompanied by appropriate selections of music played by the orchestra. A strong company of artists has been engaged, and the pictures for the first week will be taken from Lohengrin and Tannhäuser. These two favourite and romantic lyric works by Wagner offer a rich choice of subjects.

At a time when the enterprise of music hall managers is inducing many of the leading dramatic artists to exploit their talents in the variety world, it is not surprising to find that the "legitimate" producers are turning their attention to this large and varied scope for their abilities. Amongst the latest recruits is Mr. Frederick Stanhope, well known in theatredom as a manager and successful producer of pantomimes, and who was also associated with Mr. Louis Calvert in the successful production of Amasis at the New Theatre.

Mr. Stanhope has arranged to present at the Euston on Monday and during the week an entirely new and original romantic costume play entitled A Fighting Chance, by Barry Williams. This gentleman's work in costume drama is well and favourably known. A special effort has been made to secure a good representation, and the inclusion of such well-known artists as Mr. Leonard Robson, Mr. Lionel d'Aragon, and Miss Rosemary Rees in the cast augurs well for its successful production.

Mr. George Gregory, principal comedian of Mr. George Edwardes's company, has purchased from H. M. Vernon, author of The Tea Shop, The Three Thieves, The Ten o'Clock Squad, &c., the entire rights of the original tabloid musical comedy, Little Johnny Jones. In producing the above Mr. Gregory will be assisted by a company of fifteen.

Mr. Harry Lauder will appear at the Tivoli on Monday for a period of four weeks, prior to his journey to America. His engagement at the Tivoli will be celebrated by his introduction of a new song, entitled "He was very, very kind to me."

The Musical Palmers conclude to-night five weeks' successful engagement with Mr. Walter Jeffs at the Curzon Hall, Birmingham, where they have made many friends. They have presented to the Birmingham audiences a living chronomegaphone, having played "The Lost Chord," "The White Squall," and, this week, "The Village Blacksmith," with illustrated and animated effects, the organ in the last-named song being well played by Miss Minnie Palmer.

Miss Winifred Hare writes:—"I am exceedingly obliged to you for inserting the notice in your last issue stating that I am prepared to pay £100 for a good song. I had no idea when I made the offer through your columns of its far-reaching effects. During the present week every post has brought me MSS., and nearly always accompanied by a letter to the effect that a cheque for £100 by return would be welcomed. Now my table here is piled up with songs, and the outlook is far from bright—for me. I have waded through thirty-seven of the compositions up to the time of writing, and 110 more yet await a trial. I should like to return the first thirty-seven with thanks and regrets, and will, of course, do so at my own expense.

"Of course, I don't mind paying the postage, but it is a labour of love to also have to address the return envelopes. And may I ask you, as you have been so good to me in the matter, to intimate to all whom it may concern, as well as the foregoing, that the song I require must be suitable for me as principal boy in pantomime this coming Christmas. Ballads, patriotic songs, coon melodies, coster refrains, and dialect lyrics are absolutely taboo. Yet all such have reached me, even a song of the 'Champagne Charlie' order, and one which, judging from the state of the MS., has travelled at least three times round the world.

"One word more, please, and I am finished. Please say that stamped addressed envelopes for return of unsuitable MSS. will be esteemed; that my decision as to the song I require must be regarded as final, and no correspondence will be entered into on the subject; and that a cheque for £100 will be posted to the successful author and composer on Dec. 26 next, which will be the first day on which I shall sing the song I shall have searched for so long."

Mr. Harry Lauder has bought the Highland estate of Airds, Appin, Argyllshire, formerly the property of Colonel William Macfie. Airds is a fine old country house, with 4,000 acres of well-wooded grounds. In taking over Airds, Lauder becomes a laird. He commenced life as a pit-boy, and as late as 1892 was still a collier earning 15s. a week.

Miss Topsy Johnson, a contralto singer, who is now engaged at Mr. David Thomson's Beach Pavilion, Aberdeen, achieved the remarkable feat last Monday of swimming from Dee to Don, a distance of two miles, in fifty minutes. This was only seven minutes more than that taken by Mr. James Mearns, the Channel aspirant, the last time he took the swim. What makes Miss Johnson's achievement the more noteworthy, is that the water was very rough and cold on Monday. She is only nineteen years of age, and belongs to Manchester.

Mr. Ormiston Smith, the well-known English climber, who has for years been associated with the Charles Urban Trading Co., Ltd., with four Grindelwald guides, according to a telegram from Geneva of Aug. 28, ascended the Jungfrau in order to secure a further Urban series of pictures. On approaching the summit he was astonished to find four young German Alpinists, including two women, in holes dug in the ice. They were greatly exhausted and frozen, their hands and feet being like blocks of ice. The Germans explained that, having lost their way in a fog, they had been stranded, without food, for forty-eight hours.

Though a young man, Mr. Ormiston Smith is an expert and an authority by virtue of his experiences in securing previous popular Urban pictures on the Wetterhorn, Jungfrau, the Matterhorn, the Dolomites, and other heights, and knew exactly what to do under the circumstances. After giving the victims the contents of his haversack, he and his guides rubbed them to restore circulation, and assisted the party to the Concordia hut, where they received attention. Two days later they were able to descend to Grindelwald, when a doctor stated that a few hours more of exposure would have proved fatal to all. They are still under treatment.

Mr. Leon A. Bassett, late musical-director of Camberwell Palace, and now of the Oxford, was presented on Friday, Aug. 28, by Mr. P. A. Lennon, manager of the house on Camberwell Green, with a handsome illuminated address, also a cheque on behalf of the directors, the staff, members of the orchestra, and numerous artists and friends, as a token of esteem and good wishes.

The members of the Coliseum orchestra had their first annual outing on Sunday, when they went down to Brighton. Mr. Louis La Rondelle, the conductor, took the chair at the dinner, held at the Marlborough Hotel, and a most enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. Ashley Richards, late of the Theatre Royal, Newcastle-on-Tyne, has been appointed musical director of the Islington Hippodrome. Mr. Richards was one of the violins at the Canterbury nineteen years ago, playing side by side with Mr. Leon Bassett and Mr. Victor Opperman under Edmond Bosanquet. It is interesting to note that they are all now musical directors in London.

At the Empire, New Cross, Mr. Laurence Irving and Miss Mabel Hackney are to appear next week in a sketch, entitled The Dog Between.

Mr. James Glover writes:—"The much-debated cause of Sunday music for the people is to have an important development in the near future. In the main the scheme is benevolent, and it has three objects—(a) a large Musicians' Benevolent Fund; (b) the greater employment of professional civilian musicians as against the suggested unfair competition of the Service bands; and (c), incidentally, the encouragement of a 'conductors' school, providing opportunities for the younger generation of rising 'chefs d'orchestres.'

"The successful issue of this idea is in the hands of Mr. Oswald Stoll and the Amalgamated Musicians' Union. Mr. Stoll and this society have arranged that from Sept. 27 Sunday evening concerts shall be given in the beautiful Charing Cross house by an orchestra of not less than 100 musicians, and each alternate concert shall be by brass and stringed bands. The opening concert on Sunday, Sept. 27, will be devoted entirely to the brass and reed band combination, and that on the following Sunday to a stringed orchestra. The whole profits are to be handed over for the benefit of the Amalgamated Musicians' Union Benevolent Fund."

The Bandurria Quartette, in their artistic banjo and mandoline selections, are adding to their high musical reputation at the Palace, Reading, this week.

Mr. Harry Bedford is exploiting a new skit on the Salome dance at the Holborn Empire and South London next week, and is touching an up-to-date subject in his "Old-Age Pension" number, which is published by Francis, Day, and Hunter. Mr. Bedford, when fulfilling a re-engagement, follows an excellent plan by always bringing a new number with him. His newest song "The sheep's head and a tin-tack" has made a hit in the provinces. Its original title suggests fun, and so clever a burlesque artist as Mr. Bedford may be trusted to extract from it every ounce of humour.

Mr. Alf J. Lawrance (of Mellor, Lawrance, and Gifford, the popular songwriters) returns to town on Sept. 14 after a successful alfresco season at Prestwick, Ayrshire, with his own company, so much so in fact that the Town Council unanimously agreed to grant him a three years' lease of the beach for alfresco entertaining. Four of the most popular songs there this season have been "Mandy's wedding," "Another girl like Mary," "On the cliffs of Normandy," and "Oh, Antonio," the three first-named being from Mr. Lawrance's prolific pen, in conjunction with his partners, and the last-named by Messrs. Murphy and Lipton.

We are pleased, indeed, to put on record the emphatic and instantaneous success achieved by Mr. Chas. Fisher's Pocket Opera Company at the Oxford, which bears out the truth of our statement that there was a demand and an audience in our variety theatres for high-class music. Six years ago at the South London Mr. Fisher's excellent work in opera was listened to and applauded, and that there is a great scope for condensed opera on the variety stage has been proved up to the hilt by the enthusiasm of packed houses at the Oxford.

Four animals have been born in the Bostock Jungle at the Earl's Court Exhibition during the past month. The interesting youngsters are an alligator baby, a lion cub, a sea-lion calf, and a sloth pup, and in honour of their arrival Mr. Frank C. Bostock decided upon a public "christening." This took place in the Jungle on Thursday afternoon. Miss Winifred Hare "christened" the alligator Mabel, champagne being sprinkled over the youngster's head. Miss Millie Hylton called the lion Tit-bits, Miss Madge Temple named the sea-lion Flip-flap, and Esau suggests that the sloth christened by Miss Annie Braddan will become a wanderer.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

So many songs! So few real successes! This is the everlasting lament of artists in search of new material. But song singers who have the power of discrimination never go unsatisfied away when sampling the small but select catalogue issued by the Star Music Co. of 9, Charing Cross-road. This new and rapidly-rising firm has, from the start, adopted the principle of rigidly refusing to issue anything but the very best. The result has been to secure a reputation such as many firms labour years to obtain.

APROPOS of the above, it may not be out of place to mention just a few of the Star Music Co.'s songs at present being featured with more than usual success by various artists. Charles Whittle is a name to conjure with; a keen judge of a song, he saw the possibilities and secured the prior rights of the coming pantomime song-craze, "I don't care if there's a girl there." This number has already been secured by every important pantomime town in the three kingdoms. Other numbers which are destined to become public property are A. J. Mills and Bennett Scott's irresistibly catchy waltz-chorus song, "Oh, George! tell them to stop the flip flap," the raging seaside success, "Carolina Brown of Chinatown," "Have you got another girl like Mary?" "Won't you waltz the Merry Widow waltz with me?" "Ayesha, my sweet Egyptian," and many others.

THOSE artists, and they are many, who added to their popularity by featuring the Star Music Co.'s enormously successful motto song, "We all came in the world with nothing," will be glad to know the same firm has a worthy successor "out of the same stable" entitled "Don't put your umbrella up before it starts to rain." This number is being specially featured by Miss Marie Blythe, who pronounces it the best "instantaneous hit" she ever had. A very limited number of permits will be granted for the halls, but the song will be free for pantomime.

MISS MARIE SANTOI has been making things hum all round the Stoll tour with Cecil Johnson and Maurice Scott's Oriental chorus number, entitled "Ayesha, my sweet Egyptian." Pantomime artists should secure this number at once. It is published by the Star Music Co.

MISS FANNY ROBINA has arranged with M. Witmark and Sons for the singing rights of a pretty number entitled "Just because you were an old sweetheart of mine."

MISS MEREDITH MEREDRO, who was a conspicuous figure in the last Drury Lane pantomime, is charming the patrons of the Empire, Holborn, with her rendition of "Faded rose" and "Star of my life," both popular Witmark publications.

FEW composers who score with a universal song success are fortunate in following it with compositions equally successful. Ernest R. Ball, the writer of the omnipresent "Love me and the world is mine," is a happy exception to the general rule. At the present time several of his compositions are being sung with great success by talented artists. Miss Truly Shattuck, who is to be a feature in the coming Drury Lane pantomime, is singing "As long as the world rolls on." Miss Edith Courtney is making a hit at the Coliseum with "Some day you'll come back to me," and Mr. Dave Carter, the original singer of "Love me and the world is mine," is again scoring with "I'd live or I would die for you."

MISS LIL HAWTHORNE has found in the American song success, "Just some one," the chorus song of the year. This number was originally sung in an American musical comedy, and in consequence of its simplicity and homely sentiment immediately caught the "man in the street," who is ever ready to enjoy a dash of sentiment combined with an infectious melody. As Miss Hawthorne is identified with some of the greatest "chorus" successes, it is a point in the song's favour that it should have been selected by her.

M. WITMARK AND SONS, the popular American publishers, have been specially fortunate during the summer in having their publications exploited by all the leading seaside entertainers. Mr. Charles Warren informs us that the present summer season, when everything from a commercial point of view is very dull, has been the greatest in the history of the London branch of the firm. He attributes this largely to the fact that he has maintained the price of music and has not descended to cheap editions. The outlook for the coming season is most promising, and already the principal pantomime managers are calling at the Witmark Building for the plums for the coming Christmas feast.

THE BENSONS, after repeated endeavours to secure a suitable ballad, have at last obtained from Geo. A. Stevens a number entitled "Danny Away."

MISS ROSE HAMILTON is producing next week a new song of Geo. A. Stevens entitled "Do you think I've just coom oop by the down-train, eh?"

MISS LOTTIE LENNOX purchased a "Peace" song on Monday from Geo. A. Stevens and Gilbert Wells, and produced it on Wednesday at the Camberwell Palace.

MR. GEORGE A. STEVENS (in the name of Colin Kaye) is producing a new act at the Middlesex next week entitled Old Songs and Old Singers, reviving some of the old successes of Charles Godfrey, Herbert Campbell, the Great Macdermott, &c.

MISS GRACIE GRAHAME has purchased the sole rights of "Come for a sail in my airship," the big chorus number written and composed by Sydney Howard. Miss Grahame's song "Studying the stars," written and composed by Gilbert Wells, is destined to be a really big number. It is a most original song, with a fine melody.

THE Sisters Terry have just secured for immediate production a great chorus number, entitled "In Bonnie Dundee," from the joint pen of Andrew N. Allen and Harry Marlow. The same writers have recently placed with B. Feldman and Co. a novelty in songs, illustrative of Canadian life, entitled "Lumbering," which both publishers and writers are hoping to be a big pantomime number, blessed, at it is, with a pretty and catchy chorus.

MISS LIL HAWTHORNE has just purchased a new song composed by Maurice Scott, entitled "Boys and Girls, Girls and Boys," which she intends to produce almost immediately.

MISS DAISY WOOD, whose welcome reappearance on the variety stage has given delight to many thousands, will be leaving England on Wednesday next per s.s. Etruria for a short American season. Miss Wood is an artist to her finger tips, and should take the hearts of New York citizens by storm, or they must indeed be hard to please. During the past two weeks this dainty actress has been the bright particular star at the Oxford, Tivoli, South London, and Chelsea and Hammersmith Palaces. To hear and see her in the song "Oh, George, tell them to stop the flip-flap!" is to realise what a real artist can do with "just a chorus song." She will feature no less than five of the Star Company's songs on "the other side," and will return to England in time to play an important rôle in Mr. Chute's Bristol pantomime.

ALICE LLOYD'S IMPRESSIONS OF AMERICA.

Speaking further of her highly-successful American tour, Miss Alice Lloyd has some interesting remarks to make. "I had a good omen to start with," she says, "for, travelling by the same boat, the Oceanic, from Liverpool, was Mr. Bryce, the British Ambassador at Washington, who was returning to the States. A large number of people had come down to the quay to see him off, while at the other end of the boat was a little crowd of my friends, who had come to wish me bon voyage. Of course, you know what they are—our people—up to all sorts of fun. They were hurrahing and singing the choruses of my songs, and after a few minutes nearly all of Mr. Bryce's friends had wandered down to our corner—a flagrant desertion of the State for the stage, eh?"

One of the hundreds of notes Miss Lloyd got in New York was from a little boy who said he was only twelve years of age as yet, but he was getting old very rapidly, and if Miss Lloyd would wait until he grew up he would be pleased to marry her. Unfortunately for the aspirant to marital honours, Miss Lloyd is already married, and her husband, Mr. Tom Macnaughton, accompanied her as manager.

Until this recent visit Miss Lloyd had never been to the States before. "When it became known that I had an engagement there," she says, "some of the 'pros.' said to me: 'America's all right for money, but, oh Lud! the food!' They told me that it was simply impossible to get anything good to eat over there, that Americans didn't know what good food was, that the cooking was atrocious, and that I would come home emaciated and dyspeptic. I was so terrified by their stories that when we got to our hotel in New York and ordered luncheon I was prepared for something just a trifle worse than army rations on the field of battle. Well, our order came, and the results of it looked very tempting. With great suspicion I tasted the first dish. 'Why!' I exclaimed, 'that's as good as anything I ever ate in England.' Then I tried the next dish, and the next, ejaculating with surprise each time as I discovered everything to be not only eatable, but extremely palatable. When will we get the bad food?' I asked my husband. 'I don't know,' he replied, 'but I suppose we will come to it after a while!' Well, we didn't come to it, after all. The Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, where we stayed in New York, is much more comfortable than many in this country. Here our finest hotels, with perhaps two exceptions, never have separate rooms with baths. Oh, yes, I have been most agreeably surprised with America. Of course, I love my dear old England, and our little home in Hampstead best, but I don't think I could ever get tired of the States, and I want to see more of them."

[Photo by White.

MISS ALICE LLOYD.

Miss Lloyd has a high opinion of American wit and discernment. "They have the most wonderful audiences there," she continued. "In London we must make our points broad—the broader the better—but in America our hearers seem to know what we're going to say before we say it. The defter and more delicate a point is, and the harder to catch, the more sure the Americans are to catch it, and the better they like it. In fact, they like to depend upon themselves for at least half of the humour in a song, and it must be put to them in such a way that they can pick it out for themselves instead of having it 'handed to them,' as they term it."

One rather strange experience Miss Lloyd entertains her friends by relating. She was engaged to sing at a private dinner party, given by a millionaire at one of the biggest hotels in New York. "'Where's the stage?' I asked when I got there. 'S'sh' warned the man who was directing affairs, 'You just stand on the mat inside this door and sing into the room.' Then the door was opened, and I stepped in. I never felt so silly in my life. I expected to find a big room full of people. There were just eight of them, taking dessert, and there I had to stand and sing five songs—and on the mat, to eight people! I felt like little Alice showing off!"

When she returned to New York after visiting other cities, a farewell gala night was given at the Roof Gardens, and four thousand people were there. Miss Lloyd again, as on her previous appearance, had to sing seven songs—a record for the place. No lady artist, it appears, had ever been asked for so many songs before at the Roof Gardens, and the greatest success of them all was "Splash me." That night Miss Lloyd's friends and admirers presented her with a silver tea service valued at £160. During her stay in New York a competition was started as to who was the most popular artist of the day, and 14,000 votes proclaimed Miss Lloyd the winner.

THE BANZAI FAMILY AT WEST BROMWICH.

Never before at the Hippodrome has such a clever troupe of jugglers and equilibrists as the Banzai Family been seen. During their performance the stage is beautifully set in Japanese scenery, presenting Japan's famous temple of Nikko, which is a most gorgeous spectacle. The youngest member of the family performs in a most daring manner on the four ladders, balanced by lady member, while his other feats are no less clever. At the conclusion of their performance they were recalled again and again.—West Bromwich Free Press, Aug. 28, 1908.

THE Gipsies and their Jester at the Leas Pavilion, Folkestone, last week broke all their previous records at this pavilion, and on many nights the house was packed from floor to ceiling ten minutes before the commencement of the performance, hundreds being turned away.

PRESENTATION TO MRS. EGERTON.

Mrs. Egerton, of the Egerton Hotel, Lime-street, Liverpool, who is known to the whole of the variety profession, was deservedly honoured last week, when, at a crowded meeting held in the offices of the M.H.A.R.A., Houghton-street, she was presented with a charmingly illuminated address, neatly mounted and embellished with a mahogany frame. For a number of years Mrs. Egerton has at Liverpool ungrudgingly represented the Association, and there are many working artists who will recall with pleasure the innumerable kindnesses they have received at her hands during a long period. Recently the

MRS. EGERTON, OF LIVERPOOL.

M.H.A.R.A. decided to open an office, under the direction of a manager, and, accordingly, the services of Mrs. Egerton were no longer required. Mr. Fred Herbert presided at the presentation, and among the crowded assembly were Marie Kendall, Amy Russell, Kitty Wager, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Kenyon, Barton and Ashley, Harry Blake (who came specially from Manchester), Mrs. Dunedin and family (the Dunedin Troupe), &c., &c. Harry Lauder sent an expression of regret that owing to engagements he was unable to be present. In the course of the proceedings a number of complimentary speeches were made, all expressing in the warmest terms the esteem in which Mrs. Egerton was held, the chairman explaining that owing to the tremendous growth of the M.H.A.R.A. they had to obtain larger offices. Still he hoped that the profession would never forget their dear old friend, who had voluntarily worked for them during many years.

The address was as follows: "To. Mrs. M. Egerton.—Dear Madam,—We, the undernamed officers and committee of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association, desire on our own behalf, as on that of the variety world, to ask your acceptance of this address as being expressive of the sincere feelings of respect and esteem we, and the profession generally, entertain for you. During the many years in which you have officiated as the agent of our Association in Liverpool, namely, from its formation in 1897, you have, by the careful and unremitting attention you devoted to your duties, and by your habitual courtesy and genial disposition, greatly endeared yourself to us, and we think that we cannot allow the pleasant relations so long subsisting between us to be severed without wording our high appreciation of your many social and business-like qualifications, and tendering you our warmest thanks for your past valuable services. With our best wishes for your future health, happiness, and prosperity, we remain, dear madam, yours very faithfully, W. H. Clemart (President), Albert Le Fre and Fred W. Millis (Vice-Presidents), J. W. Cragg, Joe Elvin, and Paul Martinetti (Honorary Trustees), Arthur Rigby (Honorary Treasurer), C. Douglas Stuart (Secretary), and the whole of the committee. London, August, 1908."

A letter, addressed to the chairman, was also read from the V.A.F., in which the general secretary (Mr. Monte Bayly), said: "Please convey to Mrs. Egerton the united thanks of the members of the Variety Artists' Federation in general, and the executive committee in particular, for her greatly appreciated work on behalf of the Variety Artists' Federation since its formation. We were perfectly content to remain as her guests every Friday and hold our meetings at her establishment, but, like every other organisation, we have grown and grown, and our business now is so large that it is an absolute necessity that we have to establish local offices in the big centres; but you can assure her that our parting, as regards the conducting of our business, was one of necessity only, and we can assure her that the fellowship and esteem of our members towards her will be none the less on this account. As long as Liverpool exists as a vaudeville centre, so long also will Mrs. Egerton's name be associated with the town, and also with kind memories of herself. I shall be glad if you will kindly read this letter to Mrs. Egerton at the meeting, and assure her that the sentiments contained are a faint echo of all the thoughts of the members throughout the country, and, in fact, throughout the amusement providing world."

The address was afterwards placed in a prominent position in the Egerton Hotel by Mr. Neill Kenyon and Miss Marie Kendall.

ADAIR'S 1,305-MILE WALK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—I shall be pleased if you will give this appeal a space in your valuable columns. Thousands are aware that Peter Adair, over a month ago, announced in the Press his intention to try to make a record walk from Land's End to John-o'-Groats, nearly a thousand miles, and beating his own record of 27½ days for the same journey in 1904. Rather a plucky undertaking four years later in life. However, Peter is determined on the task. Considering the journey will cost him over £25 (as he pays a cyclist to accompany him) in expenses, I think a little purse might be got to defray some of the cost amongst the members of the variety and circus professions.

Peter is absolutely the oldest working artist in the variety world, having seen sixty-six summers. Signor Dorando, the Italian, recently received over £500 and a Gold Cup from our good Queen Alexandra for running twenty-six miles in the Marathon Race. Peter Adair, on quite as hot a day as the Marathon Race day, for the benefit of the Music Hall Benevolent Fund Sports, walked 105 laps round the Herne-hill race track, equalling over twenty-six miles, in five successive hours, finishing as fresh as a daisy.

Anyone desirous of subscribing a little towards Peter's expenses please address donations to—

FREDERICK GINNETT.

141, Kennington-road, London, S.E.

N.B.—Adair leaves London for Land's End on Wednesday next, Sept. 9.

MR. FRED MILLER'S TESTIMONIAL.

The excellent qualities of Mr. Fred Miller, as a man, as a sportsman, and as a manager, are generally recognised by all branches of the profession, and no artist or proprietor who has ever come into contact with him has failed to recognise his sterling honesty of purpose, or to be impressed by his unobtrusive courtesy and consideration to everyone working with him. For fifteen years Mr. Miller has been associated with the halls, and though the sphere of his activity for most of that time has been restricted to the South and East of London, his connection with the Syndicate has brought him much popularity up West. Several of his friends, taking into consideration his long and honourable career, feel that the present time is very opportune for presenting him with a testimonial, which it is intended shall take the shape of a purse of gold. Mr. W. H. Armstrong, the well-known professional solicitor, of 1, Renfrew-road, Lambeth, is interesting himself in the project, and Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, manager of The Era, who has consented to become the hon. treasurer of the fund, will be pleased to receive subscriptions. A strong and influential committee is being formed.

It was at Lechlade, Gloucestershire, that Mr. Fred Miller first saw the light. His father, an influential grazing farmer, was an enthusiastic rider to hounds, and from the age of twelve young Fred followed his father in the field, and in many an eventful run was in the first flight. At the age of seventeen he accepted an offer from an uncle in the cattle trade, and settled down with him at Wormholt Farm, Shepherd's Bush, where he gained considerable experience and became a good business man. The death of his uncle brought about a change in his fortunes, and he accepted a situation as travelling secretary with Captain Macdonald. Again his employer died, and he had to try fresh fields and pastures new. Through the instrumentality of the late Mr. Harry Lundy, distantly related to him through marriage, Mr. Miller was introduced to Mr. George Adney Payne, who gave him the position of secretary to Mr. Arthur Tressidder, then manager of the Paragon. On Mr. Tressidder's departure on a voyage in search of health Mr. Miller was transferred to Mr. Will Lennon, the successor of Mr. Tressidder at the Paragon. At his death Mr. G. A. Payne chose Mr. Miller for the managership of the house in the Mile End-road, and on the resignation of Mr. Fred Holden of his position at the Canterbury Mr. Miller was installed as manager of both the Canterbury and the Paragon.

The jubilee of the Canterbury in November, 1902, when Charles Morton paid his last visit to a house that was indelibly associated with his career, owed its interest and its success to the organising powers of Mr. Miller, who placed before the patrons of the historic house a novel realisation of the present and past in music-hall entertainment. The portraits of favourites of the 'sixties, the 'seventies, and the 'eighties were thrown upon a screen, and many of the famous old songs were sung by new favourites. It was a great night. Though Mr. Miller has severed his connection with the Canterbury, it is to be hoped that he will be placed in a position commensurate with his abilities and experience at another hall. His many friends anticipate that it will be in London.

MR. FRED MILLER.

FIRST LIST OF SUBSCRIPTIONS.

	£	s.	d.
Harry Lauder	1	1	0
Foreman and Fannan	1	1	0
Frost Smith	1	1	0
Little Tich	1	1	0
Henri Gros	1	1	0
George Mozart	1	1	0
Mark Melford	1	1	0

"THE BRIGANDS OF TARRAGONA."

Farcical Playlet, produced by Herbert Darnley's Comedy Company at the Hackney Empire, on Monday, Aug. 31.

Pepo	MR. CHAS. H. BELL
Nipo	MR. H. SNOWDON
Banano	MR. LOWRY LESLIE
Caraneta	MISS ANNETTE SELLENS
Colonel Montano	MR. WALLACE BOSCO
Clarissa	MISS CLARA BELL

This new production made its first appearance on the London stage on Monday at the above house, where it is at the bottom of the bill. The plot is very slight, and centres round the attempt of the brigands to abduct the daughter of Colonel Montano, in which they fail, the two leaders of the band being captured and consenting to lead the military to their stronghold, in the hope of being able to lead them into an ambuscade and so secure their freedom. The final result of this scheme is never very apparent, and as the progress of the playlet proceeds on purely farcical lines it is not a matter of much importance. The sketch abounds in knockabout business, very smartly done by Messrs. C. H. Bell, H. Snowdon, and another gentleman. Mr. Lowry Leslie looks picturesque and acts well as the brigand; Mr. Wallace Bosco is commendable as the Colonel; Miss Annette Sellens looks well as Caraneta, and sings a couple of songs in attractive style. The Tarragona troupe of dancing girls acquit themselves satisfactorily. Four scenes are utilised in the production, of which the last may be singled out for special mention. The music is appropriate, and the whole show was greeted very cordially by the audience on Monday.

MISS FLORRIE GALLIMORE has made a hit at the Palace, Halifax, with a new song by Murphy and Lipton, entitled "My girl's a Yorkshire girl." Messrs. Francis and Day have acquired the number for publication.

MISS MARIE LLOYD'S latest creation, "I can't make my eyes be good," is from the pens of Messrs. John P. Harrington and Orlando Powell. The number bids fair to outrival the popularity of the "Directoire Girl" song.

FEDERATIONS AND FUNDS.

THE monthly meeting of the committee of the Music Hall Sick Fund will be held at four o'clock on Wednesday next at the Crown Hotel, Charing Cross-road.

A SPECIAL general meeting of the V.A.F. will be held to-morrow (Sunday) at 6.30 p.m. at the Bedford Head Hotel, Mr. Joe O'Gorman in the chair. On Monday Messrs. O'Gorman and Monte Bayly go to Nottingham to represent the V.A.F. at the Trade Union Congress.

THE V.A.F. Agency Sub-Committee met a body of representative agents, including Messrs. Somers and Warner, Napoli, Wieland, S. Hyman, Tom Shaw, Geo. Foster, H. Millburn, S. L. Bury, Anger and Baner, Papa Brown, Ernest Edelsten, Fortune and Granville, Fred Peel, Harry Cadle, Dave Cohen, and Fred Reeves, at the V.A.F. offices last week. The V.A.F. representatives were Messrs. J. O'Gorman, W. H. Clemart, Geo. D'Albert, Monte Bayly, and C. C. Bartram. A form of office copy was drafted, and unanimously agreed to; and it will be submitted for confirmation to the meeting on Sunday night.

AT the 574th meeting of the Executive Committee of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association, held at the offices on Wednesday, Mr. Harry Wright in the chair, was supported by Messrs. Alfred Albini, J. Alexander, Ben Obo, Arthur Rigby (hon. treasurer), J. Rich, Fred W. Millis, Walter Munroe, J. Tray, Jack Crawley, A. Borelli, and C. Douglas Stuart (secretary). New agents were appointed as follows: Mr. Johnson, the Alhambra, Sandgate; Mr. W. C. Ritchie, Commercial Bar, Kirkcaldy; E. J. Udall, the Heol-y-Mwyn Hotel, Ebbw Vale.

MISS MELINDA MAY, secretary of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild, 61, New Oxford-street, W.C., wishes to thank the following for their great kindness:—Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Irving, for gift of £3 3s.; Mrs. Frank Cumminger, for kindly collecting 14s. 6d.; Mrs. Joe Elvin, for gift of 10s.; The Three Rubys, 4s.; Mrs. Ellen Hewett, Reading, donation 5s.; Miss Alice Conway, donation 2s.; Mrs. Rex Honnest (Redditch), for parcel of clothing; Mrs. Campbell, for clothing.

THE ladies of the above Guild are having a dinner to-morrow (Sunday) at seven o'clock at the Boulogne Restaurant, Gerrard-street. An excellent repast is promised in a private room for this occasion. Tickets, 5s. each, can be obtained from Miss Melinda May, 61, New Oxford-street. All sympathisers with the work of the Guild are earnestly requested to attend and bring as many friends as possible. Gentlemen are especially invited. All are welcome to the receptions, which are held every Wednesday, 3 to 5 p.m.

THE meeting of the members of the Association of International Variety Theatre Managers took place last week at the Central Hotel in Berlin. The meeting, representative of sixty-two managements, sent the following resolution to the Press: "In consideration of the insulting attitude adopted by the International Artists' Lodge, the I.V.V.D. (the Managers' Association) will have no further dealings with the present Executive officers of the I.A.L." The I.A.L. have replied that repeatedly and with documentary proof they have shown that all their published statements with respect to the Managers' Association are true, and they submit that none of them have been insulting.

"THE BLACK DEVIL."

Sicilian Episode, translated from the Italian, produced for the first time at the Hammersmith Palace on Monday, Aug. 31.

Toto	MR. LAUDERDALE MAITLAND
Don Luigi	MR HERBERT DANSEY
Police Officer	MR. A. THOMPSON
Teresa	MISS JANET ALEXANDER

Inspired probably by the sensational success obtained by the visit of Signor Grasso and his company to London in the early part of the year, Mr. Lauderdale Maitland, the well-known actor, has essayed to furnish the music halls with a sketch on similar lines, translated from the Italian. The resemblance is preserved in so far as the piece is peopled with Sicilian characters, the story deals with love and revenge, and the plot is of the most primitive description; but it cannot be said that the playlet possesses those electrifying qualities to which the native actors treated us at the Shaftesbury. The "Black Devil" is by no means so dark as he is painted. The sobriquet has been bestowed upon a Sicilian peasant named Toto by the police, who regard him as a menace to the peace, because he preaches reformation of the law. He has given hospitality to a young girl named Teresa, who had been betrayed and cast off by a heartless scamp, known as Don Luigi. For some years Toto and Teresa have lived together as brother and sister, though the former is hopelessly in love with her. Don Luigi is induced to pay Teresa a farewell visit, the girl thinking that he may be moved to make reparation. The Don, however, turns a deaf ear to her entreaties to make her his wife, declaring he is about to marry a lady of rank. Rejecting his proffered money with scorn, Teresa asserts that if he will not marry her, neither shall he wed the high-born lady, and, clutching him by the arm, shrieks for help. No further inducement is needed by Toto, who rushes from an adjoining room and shoots the Don dead, while the girl, whose affection for Luigi has turned to hatred, accepts the love of her devoted Toto.

Mr. Lauderdale Maitland played with vehemence, and artistically-restrained passion as Toto, and Miss Janet Alexander, in the arduous part of Teresa, spoke and acted in her usually accomplished style, without, however, realising many of the racial characteristics of the rôle. Mr. Herbert Dansey was a burly and brutally cynical Don Luigi, and affected the mannerisms of the Sicilian actor with success. The piece was favourably received by a crowded house on the night of our visit, but would doubtless have obtained a better reception had not the gun missed fire at the crucial moment, the villain falling dead without any apparent cause.

ARTHUR GALLIMORE and company return to town after fulfilling two successful weeks at Coventry and Portsmouth.

ABEL AND WELSH, with their new act, entitled Hello, Archibald! have left for the Continent, and will be away until Christmas.

LITTLE GLADYS FRANCIS, who made such a successful début at the Empress last week as a mimic and dancer, has been secured by Mr. Ernest Lepard, of the Alhambra, Brighton.

THE latest quotations for music hall shares are as follow:—Alhambra, 1½; Canterbury, ½; Empire (15s. pd), 1½; Empire (10s. pd), 1; London Pavilion Ord., 3⅜; London Pavilion Pref., 4½; Metropolitan, 10s. 6d.; Moss Empire, 4½; Moss Empire 5 per cent. Pref., 3⅜; Oxford, 6 1-16; Palace, 20s. 6d.; Tivoli, 5; Variety Consolidated Theatres, 7-16.

MR. H. S. HART has just booked with Mr. Stoll the Royal Cambodge Troupe. This troupe consists of Buddhist entertainers to King Sisowath of Cambodia. This is the first time that the Buddhist entertainers have appeared on the variety stage. Through Mr. Hart also Mr. Maurice Farkoa will open at the Holborn Empire in October.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

LONDON PAVILION.

Mr. Frank Glenister, who has just returned from a holiday—a part of which had to be devoted to the business of the popular house in Piccadilly-circus—is making generous provision for the large number of patrons that seek the portals of the Pavilion for an hour or two's désœuvrement during the autumnal nights that have been lately prevalent. From first to last the bill is interesting. A very bright and chatty little interlude opens the proceedings. The scene is the dressing-room of a burlesque actress, who is subject to the unwelcome attentions of a bold intruder; but as he joins her in song and dance of a very lively kind, and, furthermore, exploits a duologue that is carried on by a clever use of the titles of plays ancient and modern, his presence is exceedingly welcome. The energy and brightness of the turn are remarkable, and Fred and Lulu Camplin should be in great demand. Mr. Harry Zetter, an excellent dancer, returns to prove that he has advanced as a comedian; and there is decided humour in the patter of Mr. Joe Mac, whose Irishisms keep the house laughing, his success being emphasised by a droll dance. Mr. George Ross (of Ross and Grayson), in the absence of his partner, Miss Ella Grayson, has been permitted by the kindness of Mr. Glenister, to appear solus, and his success as a humorous trick pianist and dancer is unquestionable. Mr. Ross is resourceful, and his geniality and bonhomie get right over the footlights.

The Collaborators is a gay trifle that brings into play the excellent comedy of Miss Violet Fulton and Mr. Percy Clifton. The planning of the scenes of a melodrama by the lady with the satirical comments of the mere man is made exceedingly amusing, and when the lady is asked to "collaborate" in matrimony and leave stage-writing to those who understand it, the end is reached of a very bright little duologue, which is admirably played by both Miss Fulton and Mr. Clifton. Mr. Tom Costello has a most interesting scena in "Auld lang syne." As a "prospector" on New Year's Eve who sings of the friends far away, the artist has a character after his own heart, and though the voice is scarcely that of the singer of "Comrades" and "The ship I love," it has the note of pathos that gives the sympathetic touch, and makes the tuneful melody go home. Mr. Tom Dunville finds a wealth of humour in his song concerning the postman, and he is exceedingly funny in the number "Actions speak louder than words." Miss Doris Dean, a pretty girl and an attractive dancer, looks well as the statue come to life. The song she sings is really well written, and she should get more from the same mint instead of giving a dance in the ordinary dress of the ballerina, which does not suit her nearly so well as the more classical costume.

Miss Bessie Slaughter has a fine contralto voice, and if she would get rid of a slight inclination to throatiness her position as a ballad vocalist should become assured. She is very successful in her rendering of "The Lost Chord." Miss Marie Dainton is popular in her mimicry of the comic lady stars singing well-known serious numbers; Susie and Protti have a dancing act that has lost none of its energy or grace; Mr. Percy Honri's concertina playing is always worth listening to; and Mr. Edwin Boyde's quaintness in song is a precious remembrance with Pavilion frequenters. Mr. John Terry and Miss Mabel Lambert present English types as seen through American eyes, and the comedy realisations include such differing characters as a dude, a cabby, a smart American girl, and a lady of the "smart set." The series is rounded up by a melodramatic finale—a very effective interlude, and one showing considerable versatility on the part of the clever American pair. The Hiatts, in comedy and music, are very successful; and the bill has other contributors in the Three Prestons, who are effective in their absurdity The Liftman's Rise; and the Pavilion Girls. Mr. William Cobbett is a zealous assistant-manager here, and Mr. Bond-Sayers directs a capital orchestra.

THE PARAGON.

Mr. Chas. Marte, the new manager of the above establishment, has made several excellent improvements in this capitally conducted house, the most important being a great reduction of prices in all parts. It is still run on the one house a night system, but special half-time prices are billed, and we feel certain the directors will be satisfied to continue this arrangement, of which their patrons have taken full advantage. No refreshments are now served at the side bars in the promenade, an arrangement that makes it much better for both the artists and visitors, excellent order being maintained throughout.

Mrs. Cissie Lawson is appearing in what is termed a "surprise," The Woman and the Apple. It certainly bears out its description, for it is full of unexpected situations, humorous, pathetic, and mysterious. Mrs. Lawson is the "Woman," and the "Apple" is a diamond. The story relates mostly to the stealing of the latter and the arresting of the guilty party. Many clever properties are used in the production, together with smart effects, which help to make the sketch a complete success. Mrs. Lawson plays the chief character perfectly, and is ably assisted by a clever company, whose names are not given. Talbot and Pearce, in a Japanese musical duologue, Yo San, are quite delightful, some good singing and acting being given by both. The scene is beautifully staged, and the couple are heartily received. Mr. Chas. Norton, in a mimetic monologue, "Pros at the Races," is responsible for some wonderful impersonations of various comedians. The little skit is well arranged. Mr. Harry Tate in Motoring is even funnier than ever, for several new gags are added, the whole audience being convulsed with laughter. Poole and Maguire give a novel show, the gentleman being seated in the audience, and when the lady starts singing the chorus of her song, "If a boy like you loved a girl like me," he joins in, much to her disgust, and after an altercation, in which he is invited on to the stage, the interrupter renders "Eileen Allanah" with a powerful and well-trained voice. The ruse is greatly enjoyed. Mr. Ernest Shand has two good numbers in "The last pub" and "What would the Vicar think?" the latter being rendered in clerical character. Miss Amy Marsden, the comedy girl, in a droll make-up, sings "Come, Birdie, come," and Miss Ivy Leaf gives a couple of good songs, viz., "Ivy," and "I'd be happy in a wigwam with you," concluding with a well-executed step-dance.

Mr. Fred Shephard, comedian, displays plenty of go in his songs, "I don't care a button if it snows" and "Oh, lor lummy, look at that!" the latter being especially good. Miss Freda Sharlotte and company in the sketch, Three in a Pickle, cause hearty laughter with the many complications that arise. Mr. L. Ernest as the cabman and Mr. A. Beaumont as the husband play their characters well throughout, the former being a good study. Miss Alexandra Dagmar is interesting in her impersonations of Continental and English singers, her voice being quite remarkable. Jordan and Harvey, Hebrew comedians, and Ruffell's up-to-date Bioscope conclude a most enjoyable programme, to which Mr. Wilkie Bard's company—without Mr. Wilkie Bard—contributed on the night of our visit.

CAMBERWELL EMPIRE.

Much interest has been evinced by Mr. Jesse Sparrow's patrons here this week in Mr. Harry Pleon's production of a caricature skit entitled Interviewing Napoleon, in which this eccentric comedian gives a life-like impersonation of the great little General during an interview on modern events by a reporter. With all the ready wit and humour so long associated with all this clever little comedian attempts, the audience are kept in a merry mood by his answers to the smart ancient and up-to-date interrogations of the reporter on subjects that range from Napoleon's opinion of his consort Josephine to his ideas of Hall Caine's latest version of "The Manxman," Pete, at the Lyceum. Mr. Harry Pleon's style gives his gags a flavour that makes them highly palatable, and his confrère, Mr. Walter Macnamara, as the interviewer, is a decidedly sharp, smart, and clever actor. Mr. Harry Pleon also patters merrily on "Men, Women, and Things," and keeps his audience roaring with laughter.

Harriet Vernon, so long beloved by variety theatre habitués, sings in fine style a patriotic song, "John Bull," the swinging chorus being heartily taken up by the audience. In a charming old garden scene and an old-world costume Miss Vernon's contribution "Sunshine and Shadow" wins her and her colleague a series of curtains, enthusiastic and well-earned. Mack Olive and Daisy Baldry appear in a pretty electrically lighted scene of "The Candy Store," from The Belle of New York, the former giving excellent effect to his whistling solos, his fair confrère meanwhile making a dainty candy store girl and showing herself to be no mean performer on the drum. Mr. Tatten Hall and Miss Pauline Hall, in an original burlesque entitled Bertie and the Barmaid, are smart and clever, their medley song and amusing cross-talk winning marked favour.

Messrs. Tray and Rich have a rich fund of humour, and their heated discussion on the benefits of life assurance is brimful of mirth. The audience is very reluctant to part with this amusing couple. Enzer, the sword expert, assisted by Miss Clarice, provides a series of exciting thrills by his marvellous skill with his long and keen sword. The pluck of his young and pretty assistant is undeniable, for without the least hesitation she allows apples and potatoes to be neatly sliced by Enzer on her delicate throat, neck, and head. Afterwards, in their demonstrations of the useful art of Ju-Jitsu, she easily places her male assailant hors-de-combat in every kind of attack he uses against her. This really excellent turn also includes some smart ball-punching and jugglery, all of which is enthusiastically rewarded.

Early in the programme Fields and Lewis put the audience in the best of humour by their merry cross-talking, their acting of a mock melodrama being killingly funny and laughable. Arthur Harris renders his two descriptive songs, "Judge not" and "Conscience," with point and expression. Molly Maguire, a typical colleen in a pretty costume, sings Irish songs admirably. Ryde and Beeman, as the Hebrew and Gentile, are skilful acrobats and contortionists; and the Saletos are two very youthful exponents of the same art. Jeapes' Graphic series of pictures is a fitting conclusion to nearly three hours' endless enjoyment. Mr. Percy Ford, the acting-manager, is back from his recent vacation to welcome his many friends.

RICHMOND HIPPODROME.

O tempora! O mores! Grand opera at a variety entertainment! The late Charles Morton was wont to assert that, give the public good music, the audience would follow, and, later, he proved his argument. At Richmond Mr. George Dance has followed an excellent example, and this week we have selections from Cavalleria Rusticana splendidly given by the La Scala Operatic Company. The experiment proved a bold one, but its success was instantaneous. And surely no one can complain of the company. Here are Mrs. Arthur Rousbey, from the Moody Manners Company, Mr. Le Sueur, tenor from the Carl Rosa Company, Mr. MacCullum, and Miss Daisy Nunn. Mrs. Rousbey was in superb voice, and gave a wonderful interpretation of Mascagni's beautiful music. Mrs. Rousbey had magnificent support from Mr. Le Sueur and the other members of the company. At the fall of the curtain there were no two opinions. The excerpt from Cavalleria Rusticana proved a complete legitimate triumph.

As a whistler Mr. Arthur Slater did excellently, and whistled with his accustomed skill and was heartily applauded. His imitations of birds are not the least interesting contributions from his répertoire. "Nerve twitching" is an innocent sort of malady in itself, but when depicted on Vernon's Bioscope it proves an irresistibly contagious thing, and plays havoc with everybody from the bride to the bugle major. Ventriloquial eccentricity is demonstrated with a good deal of skill by Bert Williams, whose precocious "boy" causes quite a lot of fun and wins favour as a vocalist of uncertain quality. Mr. Williams's patter song is a capital musical joke.

For those who like their dramatic fare highly seasoned no complaint can be made of the wonderfully dramatic little sketch The Devil's Mate. Of course, it is somewhat hard on Mephistopheles to offer his victim another chance for his eternal soul, and to lose by the last move of his opponent on an electrically illuminated chessboard; but e'en he of the cloven hoof has his disappointments. Mr. E. Vincent Stenroyd was dramatically effective as the gambler—a poor creature, by the way; and honours go to Mr. Joynsen Powell, who made, paradoxically, quite a nice devil. He was altogether refreshing.

There is no end to the drolleries and really clever business of Mr. Harry Lemore, who hails from "the other side"; his methods are excellent, and much of his business is refreshingly original. Without doubt his turn—of its kind—is one of the best ever seen at Richmond. Apart from his ingenuity, he demonstrates himself to be a comedian of no inconsiderable merit. The house literally shrieks at him in his burlesque imitation of a wire walker. Mr. Lemore is thrice welcome. Fresh from her Empire triumphs, dainty Topsy Sinden danced herself into the good graces of the audience with amazing quickness. As a dashing militaire the little lady was cheered to the echo. Her second contribution, in which she assumed the rôle of the ingénue, proved to be clever, the refrain being taken up by the audience, who whistled and chortled it to their hearts' content. Miss Sinden was "called" four times. Hinton and Wooton replay the Cup final on wheels; on the evening of our visit Newcastle had all its own way and scored four goals. Mr. A. B. Harries has the direction of things in front and wins favour by his courtesy.

Miss Millie Hylton, whose song "If I hadn't been ladylike," by John P. Harrington and Orlando Powell, has many amusing malapropisms, has just placed a commission for new numbers with the same successful writers. It is considerably over a decade and a half since these gentlemen wrote and composed the same singer's then famous songs "Toddle away" and "The Ladies' School."

Miss Daisy Wood, who sails for America on the 9th inst., under engagement with Mr. William Morris, takes with her a fine budget of songs, and Messrs. John P. Harrington and Orlando Powell are, as usual, well to the fore as song-suppliers for her projected American invasion. Miss Wood's three principal songs, "Of course I told my Gollywog," "When the golden corn is waving," and "Valentine," are all from their prolific pens; while another of Mr. John P. Harrington's songs, "Hop it," with music composed by the late Mr. George le Brunn, will be a special feature of Miss Wood's répertoire.

By the time the season is closed on Oct. 3 the Cummins's Wild West Show will have given 230 performances at New Brighton, which will constitute a record for any part of England out of London for any one show. Colonel Cummins is now negotiating for some place to play during the winter, and will make an early announcement of negotiations.

MUSIC HALL CELEBRITIES.

MR. LEONARD MORTIMER.

Twenty years ago Mr. Leonard Mortimer produced his first sketch in London—The Gipsy Girl—and since then he has produced many others. It may be news to many who may be inclined to resent the advent of sketches in "the halls" to know that Mr. Mortimer is essentially a variety performer, never having played a theatrical engagement throughout his career. He says he was born to worry for others, and at the early age of seventeen he accepted the responsibility of a full-blown company—the Leonard Mortimer Trio.

His first London engagement was at the Marylebone Music Hall with the late Robert Botting, followed by engagements at Southampton and Portsmouth, where he met Maccabe and McNally, who, quickly realising there was some "ginger" in the enterprising youth, booked him several engagements in the north. A brief return to London convinced young Mortimer something more elaborate than the little three-handed sketch was required in town, so away he went to the north again until he could return with the right article. His brother, Mr. F. G. Brooke, became a partner in the firm during 1889, and together they embarked on a tour in the delightful seaside resorts of Lancashire and Yorkshire. Mr. Mortimer smiles when he recalls a few of the many adventures the pushful brothers had. Their luck was not good, as sketches in the north were not then a very marketable article, and the crisis was reached when Miss Cora Stuart was prosecuted at the Palace, Manchester, for performing The Fair Equestrienne in a variety theatre not licensed for that purpose. They had their entire bookings cancelled by the timid proprietors of the surrounding towns, and then they quickly realised that London must be their destination.

Mr. Teddy Mosedale met them in London, and immediately booked them at the Washington, Hammersmith, and many other halls in town. The Barnard Brothers evidently quickly appreciated their value, as the company was continually appearing and reappearing at their halls at Woolwich and Chatham.

Mr. Gus Leach offered them a year's engagement at Harwood's, followed by six months with Mr. George English at the Sebright; then their seven years' partnership came to an end. In those days at the Queen's, Poplar, sketches ran three, four, and five weeks, the management producing the sketch for the artist in a most elaborate manner. Suddenly the late Mr. James Chappell decided to have a weekly change of sketch, and Mr. Mortimer immediately saw his chance. He reasoned that no management would produce a sketch with elaborate scenery for one week only, paying the initial cost of the production, so he quickly realised that the sketch proprietor who carried a complete production, with all scenery, dresses, and supers provided, would soon be in demand. The Bells of Vernavale was the result, and his position in London was assured.

[Photo by J. N. Willis.

MR. LEONARD MORTIMER.

Mr. Mortimer points with considerable pride to the fact that he has had a sixteen years' continuous run in London with practically only his holiday weeks vacant. His many successes include The Final Scene, A Secret of the State, Passing of Paul, Spectres, The Undesired, The Mischief-Makers, and his Captain Kettle production. His record contract was one with Mr. Frederic Baugh for his No. 1 and No. 2 Companies. This engagement was made direct and settled by the contracting parties in less than ten minutes.

Asked if he has any intention of returning to the field of music hall politics, he wisely shakes his head, and quotes a line from his own sketch A Secret of the State: "We do not appreciate the wisdom of the wise until we have known the follies of the fool." He claims that he became a member of the Federation with the sincere desire of doing his humble best for the welfare of all branches of the profession, but under existing circumstances it was impossible for him to remain. He asks us to deny that he is a member of any society except the Sketch Managers' Association. He regrets he has received no answer or redress from the Benevolent Fund Sports' Committee over the Five-mile Auto-cycle Race at Herne Hill.

His future Federation is his show and his badge a sovereign—so long as he has one—and if any prejudice does still exist against him for the part he played during the exciting events of last year he hopes to break it down by producing his sketches on an even more elaborate scale than before, knowing music hall proprietors are commercial men who, after all, will readily book a marketable article. Our portrait represents Mr. Mortimer as Prince Eric in The Mischief-makers, now playing at the East Ham Palace.

Miss Alexandra Dagmar, who is about to produce Messrs. John P. Harrington and Julian W. Kändt's vocal waltz "Ever thine" (also "featured" by Talbot and Pearce), has just accepted from Messrs. Harrington and Powell a satirical song entitled "Fads and Fancies," in which the author "shoots folly as it flies."

TOTTENHAM PALACE OPENING.

Apart from the importance of Monday being the opening night, the programme presented at the New Palace at Tottenham thoroughly justified the splendid attendances at each of the two shows, the house being packed from floor to ceiling, with scarcely standing room anywhere. The remark we overheard on leaving the building sums up in a word the general impression—"A splendid show in a splendid house."

A full description of this latest addition to the variety halls of suburbia appeared in our last issue. No expense has been spared in making it one of the most luxurious and up-to-date houses of entertainment, every class of patron, from boxes and stalls to gallery, being well catered for. The initial performance opened with the National Anthem, followed by Suppé's overture "Light Cavalry." Special mention must be made of the orchestra, which did excellent work under the able conductorship of Mr. William Burgess. One of the star turns is Mr. Fred Karno's famous troupe of pantomimists in their new burlesque, The Casuals, which is played with much spirit and creates endless amusement. Another great attraction is provided by Alan Holt's company with a dramatic episode in the life of A Society Woman. It is a sensational type of playlet, introducing a most realistic fight between a man and woman, à la John Lawson in Humanity. The company throw themselves heartily into their work, and evoke rounds of applause. Still another important engagement which met with hearty approval is found in Ben Hur, the patrician athlete. The ease with which he manipulates heavy bell-bars and weighty men fully demonstrates his marvellous strength. The turn is loudly applauded.

Miss Kitty Colyer must be accounted one of the hits of the programme. Her clever acrobatic dancing meets with a good reception and wins much favour. The well-known child mimic, Cyrus Dare, "catches on," and the Sisters McCalla prove themselves good all-round entertainers. Frank Lynne, entertaining as always, is well received; the Zaid Trio provide an excellent change in the programme, introducing some exceedingly clever rifle work and a performance on suspended rings which has never been excelled; a comedy gymnastic mélange by Lord, Murray, and Lord, in which some remarkably clever ball-punching is exhibited, is highly successful; and Miss Kathleen Cogan, a juvenile comedienne and dancer of ability, is loudly applauded. Some interesting pictures are shown by Ruffell's Bioscope, the series depicting the Parisian Fire Brigade at a conflagration being especially good. Mr. T. S. Mayne is the energetic and very courteous manager, and he has a very able lieutenant in Mr. Harry Nuttall. Both these gentlemen have had experience in the variety world, and we venture to predict not only personal popularity but the prosperity of the hall under their management. We must not omit to mention the admirable stage-management of Mr. G. Laurence.

"THE SANDS OF DEE."

A sensational dramatic sketch, suggested by Charles Kingsley's poem, and written by Alicia Ramsay and Rudolph de Cordova, the incidental music by Carl Kiefert, produced on Monday, Aug. 31, under the direction of Frank Parker at the London Hippodrome.

Rube Stephens ..... Mr. J. H. Barnes
John Hooper ..... Mr. Norman Trevor
Bill Stephens ..... Mr. Fred Wallace
Polly Stephens ..... Miss Rosie Lee
Basil Dean ..... Mr. Lawson Butt
Mary Stephens ..... Miss Ruth Maitland

A great success was scored at the Hippodrome on Monday by the sensational aquatic hippodrama from the pens of Alicia Ramsay and Rudolph de Cordova, and produced by Frank Parker. This original and ingenious stage director has staged with thrilling realism the bursting forth of the hidden fires of a volcano; he has awed London amusement seekers with "the rising world of waters dark and deep" in The Flood; and now compels them to enthusiastic admiration of his unfailing powers of invention by the rush of the racing tide in The Sands of Dee. Not only are spectacular requirements powerfully carried through by Mr. Parker, but there is much to be said for the interesting story as told by the Hippodrome's own authors, Alicia Ramsay and Rudolph de Cordova, who have based an ingenious plot on the episode so graphically and simply described by Charles Kingsley in his poem bearing the same title as the piece.

The opening scene at the seaside in the height of the season is brightened with the bustle and business of a popular watering-place. There are hucksters, there are pierrots, goat carts, donkey riders, and fun on the sands such as is seen at Blackpool or Douglas. But we soon get into the kernel of the story when we learn from the lips of Rube Stephens that he owes £100 to the villain Basil Dean, who holds a bill of sale on the old man's cottage and his boat, and threatens to sell him up. Basil's enmity is prompted by the scorn and indifference of Mary, Rube's pretty granddaughter, a lass who loves the sailor, John Hooper. There is somebody at hand to help, when Bill Stephens, a relative who has done well in America, offers to redeem the property; but not holding the "ready," his offer to redeem "those papers" is refused. Basil pursues his scheme of vengeance by gagging Mary and tying her to the post that gives warning of the advancing tide, which outstrips in speed the fleetest racehorse. The distressed girl in her anguish fancies she sees in a vision the original Mary of Kingsley's poem overwhelmed by the surging tide as she had been forty years before, when "calling the cattle home." Her little niece drags the gag from her mouth, but cannot free her hands. Then we hear the noise of the advancing tide, and a gigantic wave swirls its way over the rocks and submerges Mary, who gradually sinks beneath the angry surge. But gallant John Hooper gallops to her rescue, and she is borne to safety on the back of a gallant steed, while the mocking villain meets with the fate he had prepared for her.

Mr. J. H. Barnes, who is specially engaged, plays the old boatman Rube Stephens with rugged power and pathos, every word of the dialogue being heard in all parts of the vast house. Mr. Lawson Butt is an out-and-out villain; Mr. Norman Trevor a manly lover; and Mr. Fred Wallace lightens the scenes by his excellent humour as the Anglo-American Bill Stephens. Miss Ruth Maitland puts her heart into her work, and so thorough is she in her delineation that she does not avoid the drenching which is the lot of the heroine in the trying situation at the end of the piece. Miss Maitland's distress moves the audience considerably, and her rescue evokes thunders of applause. The excitement is intense, and the stress of the situation as the tremendous volume of water fills the arena makes a strong appeal. The enthusiastic cheers on Monday evening brought on Mr. Parker, whose latest success should draw all London to the Hippodrome.

Mr. George A. Stevens has this week written a song entitled "Won't you come and kiss your little Clara?" for Miss Daisy Wood.

Miss Florrie Gallimore and Miss Margaret Radcliffe are making a hit with Messrs. A. J. Mills and Maurice Scott's pretty chorus number, "Ida from Devonshire," which bids fair to become one of the favourites for this year's pantomime. The Star Co. are having repeat applications for this number.

"AFTER WATERLOO."

Dramatic Episode, by Walter Pearce, Produced for the first time at the Canterbury Theatre of Varieties on Monday, Aug. 31.

Napoleon I. ..... Mr. Julius Hagen
Captain John Hardy.... Mr. Douglas Imbert
Pierre Roche ..... Mr. H. Louis Wilson
Zuretti ..... Miss Ada S. Hatchnoell

A never-failing source of dramatic inspiration has been drawn upon in the above little sketch, and the latest stage episode in the life of Napoleon will bear comparison for interest and force with many that have gone before. It makes the requisite appeal to British patriotism and also commends itself to those who encourage the "entente cordiale." As the title indicates, the piece deals with the last great effort of Napoleon Bonaparte, who is introduced just after his final reverse on the plains of Waterloo. The French army is in retreat and the Emperor a fugitive. He reaches an inn, where he finds a wounded English officer asleep in a chair. While Napoleon is waiting for his escort the Englishman awakes, and, recognising the Emperor, covers him with a revolver, declaring him his prisoner. The Englishman puts his captive under parole, and a discussion on strategic warfare ensues. During the conversation a peasant approaches the captain from behind, and is about to stab him, when the Emperor sternly bids the assassin drop his knife. The young officer is overwhelmed with gratitude, so much so that when the English arrive he forfeits the opportunity of his career, and, going to the door, sends his compatriots on to the next village, leaving Napoleon free to await his escort. The playlet won the complete approval of the audience, the ending being greatly appreciated. Mr. Julius Hagen plays the Emperor Napoleon with that mixture of brusqueness and kindliness that have come to be regarded as among his predominant qualities. The chivalrous young English officer is invested with agreeable enthusiasm by Mr. Douglas Imbert, who makes an imposing dragoon, and delivers his lines smartly. Mr. H. Louis Wilson's peasant presents a duly forbidding appearance, and a comely contrast is furnished by Miss Ada S. Hatchnoell, who looks and speaks well as the innkeeper's daughter.

A second novelty in the Canterbury programme is found in a musical comedy sketch, with music and lyrics by Joseph Tabrar, entitled

"HAVING A DIP."

Lottie ..... Miss Marie Collins
Mrs. Major ..... Miss Ada Terry
Fitz Barry ..... Mr. W. Meaton
Adolphus ..... Master Glenroy
The Major ..... Mr. Willie Phillips

Well-known artists of the variety theatres have combined in the above musical farcelet, which has been designed to introduce Miss Marie Collins in a seaside song and to allow Mr. Willie Phillips and Miss Ada Terry to appear in a couple of comedy characters. A bright and attractive scene shows the beach of a popular watering-place, with a practicable breakwater and a number of bathing machines. Here a certain Major has come ostensibly to effect a cure for his gout, but actually to indulge in a flirtation with the designing Lottie, who has already dispossessed the Major of several valuable diamonds, and is only waiting to extract further presents ere she weds herself to her devoted sweetheart, Fitz Barry. The Major arrives with a number of other invalids, each in charge of a nurse; but his flirtations are observed by his wife, who has disguised herself as a nurse, and promptly goes into hysterics when she sees her most valued necklace passing into the hands of the unscrupulous Lottie. Subsequently Lottie and her companions prepare to indulge in a dip, and the opportunity is taken by Lottie to sing a song of "Bobbing up and down," she and her surrounding syrens all clad in the airy raiment familiar to frequenters of the beach in the "season." They then enter the water, but Lottie is soon seen to be in difficulties, and the Major goes in to the rescue at the earnest entreaties of his wife, who is more concerned for the diamonds which adorn the young lady's neck than for the safety of the girl herself. The Major brings the dripping damsel to the shore, and his act of heroism apparently rehabilitates him in the eyes of his wife. Miss Marie Collins makes a fetching appearance in a costume and picture hat of what we believe is described as the "Army blue," and plays in her usual dashing style, singing her bathing song with much vivacity. The opportunities of making fun afforded by the part of the Major are fully seized by Mr. Willie Phillips, who is successful in creating laughter as the pretended valetudinarian, who, however, has some real twinges of gout; and Miss Ada Terry makes the most of her chances, which unhappily are not numerous, as the injured wife. The rôle of the Major's son, who assists in his discomfiture, is played with a sense of humour by Master Glenroy, and Mr. W. Meaton is a bright and buoyant representative of Lottie's sweetheart, also singing a song of "The motor fiend." Mr. Tabrar's music is tuneful and often elaborate, and one of the most pleasing features of the sketch is the invalids' chorus, with a sneezing refrain, which might well be enlarged.

Miss Victoria Wright, eldest daughter of Harry Wright and Nellie Gannon, arrived at New York Aug. 29 to fulfil a forty-two weeks' tour with Karno's Mumming Birds.

Mr. George Gulliver, ventriloquist, starts work again on Monday next, after a most comfortable month's holiday at home (Northampton), where he has had a glorious time—fishing, boating, bowls. Unfortunately, the fishing wasn't very brilliant, his heaviest basket being 4lb. 11oz. Mr. Gulliver's bookings extend into 1911.

Miss Dora Lyons (the niece of Mr. Harry Lyons, manager, Hippodrome, Birmingham) is now fulfilling her second engagement as Pincott in The Belle of Mayfair. Miss Lyons is only sixteen years of age, but is in great request by many astute managers, and with her recognised ability will be certain to forge ahead.

Mr. Albert Bushell, who but a few months ago was relieved of the management of the Birmingham Gaiety, has been restored to his position, and will enter into office on Monday next. We congratulate him, and wish him a long and honourable tenure. Mr. Bushell's former "administration" extended over eleven years, and being peculiarly and exceptionally suited in every way for the position, his deposal caused considerable surprise.

A rather amusing incident befell little Dot Moss while motoring in Ireland. She had been staying with friends in the neighbourhood of Cork for some months, and one morning set out from that city to explore the wonderful scenery of Killarney. All went well during the 60-mile run to Glengariff, and from thence to Kenmare, but after leaving that town some seven miles behind on the way to Killarney the motor struck work, and after a thorough investigation lasting a couple of hours it was found that the fault could not be remedied outside the workshop. The breakdown occurred right in the heart of the mountains, miles away from any habitation. After scouring the vicinity a colleen was discovered driving a small donkey, and she consented to lend the animal for a consideration. It was tackled on to the motor, and, with the rest of the party valiantly shoving behind, the weary journey was commenced back to Kenmare. It took exactly three hours to reach the town, where the populace turned out en masse to witness the novel sight, and escorted the weary passengers amid cheers and laughter to their hotel.

AMUSEMENTS IN AUSTRALIA.

SYDNEY, JULY 28.—Miss Margaret Anglin is filling Mr. J. C. Williamson's Her Majesty's Theatre, in spite of tramway and railway strike and very wet weather. The latest production is Zira, a new version of The New Magdalen, and in it Miss Anglin has taken Sydney by storm. The actress plays Hester Trent, who takes the place of Ruth Wilding—supposed to be dead—and imposes on the aristocratic family of Clavering. Her acting all through is very fine, her struggles under betrayal and ill-usage, her determination to succeed, her defiance when detected, and her sweet repentance being all wrought out with marvellous success. Next comes the Ruth Wilding of Miss Eugenie Besserer, irate at being falsely impersonated; and the Lady Clavering of Miss Susie Vaughan will long be remembered as the presentation of a true aristocrat. Mr. Henry Kolker is a manly Rev. Gordon Clavering; Mr. G. S. Titheradge makes Sir Frederick Knowles a typical army surgeon; and Mr. Cyril Mackay as Captain Arnold Sylvester and Mr. Sydney Stirling as Mark Trent, the brutal father of Hester, complete a very fine cast. Mr. Williamson has mounted the play perfectly, and the first night's audience applauded John Coleman's beautiful scenery to the echo.

THE CRITERION is now in the possession of Messrs. Clarke, Wren, Meynell, and Gunn, who staged Miss Hook of Holland on the 25th with distinct success—new principals, new scenery, new music, and new chorus, all of the very best. The comedians are Edwin Brett, William Cromwell, F. Morris, and Tom Payne, and the singers are Roland Bottomley and Arthur Appleby. These need no praise from my pen. Miss Ruth Lincoln, Miss Emmeline Orford, and Miss Essie Perrin are the ladies, and all these became established favourites "from the jump." Mr. E. Vaughan painted superb and topographical scenery; while Mr. Victor Champion conducted and Mr. Charles Wenman directed the production.

"THE RED MILL" still grinds grist for Mr. J. C. Williamson at the Theatre Royal, and the strong cast of comedians, Ford, Leslie, Loder, and Denton, with Whitehead and Sherras as singers, Olive Godwin, Fanny Dango, and Alma Barber as song and dance interpreters, keep large audiences amused.

THE TIVOLI welcomed a very clever American sketch artist, Mlle. Mignonette Kokin, whose Scotch and Dutch impersonations are delightful. The Miles-Stavordale Quintette is back, to the utter enjoyment of all lovers of sweet sounds. Mr. Richard Cecil is a new and acceptable baritone; Galetti's dogs and Gibbon baboons are clever; Miss Fanny Powers has added new imitations of prominent performers, all well done. Tod Lowen, Fred Bluett, and Baby Watson are also in Mr. Harry Rickards' bill.

MISS BEATRICE DAY gave an "Au Revoir Party" on the Criterion stage at the close of the Herbert Flemming season. Leading actors and actresses, judges, politicians, and leaders of society and journalism were present. Music, refreshments, flowers, and general enjoyment passed several hours away.

THE PALACE, STOKE NEWINGTON.

The bright particular star of this week's bill at the Palace, Stoke Newington, is Miss Marie Lloyd, and it is almost needless to record that her appearance at this popular theatre of variety results in crowded houses at every performance. Miss Lloyd is described on the programme as "Queen of Comediennes," a title that none will feel inclined to dispute, for whether as an aristocratic dame in a "Directoire" gown or a work-girl out for a "beano," she is equally at home, and the three songs she sings are all too few for the satisfaction of the audience, which would gladly listen to her as long as she was willing to entertain them.

Collette and Gordon present a sketch entitled A Queen of Music, by S. and L. V. Gordon, of which the plot is briefly as follows: Jim Stockton, a burglar, breaks into the house of Miss Margaret Hamilton, and, having scared her into giving him all her jewels, discovers by the aid of a photograph in the jewel case she has handed over to him that she is his long-lost daughter. He then shoots himself in a spirit of repentance and self-sacrifice, in order that no disgrace may rest upon her, and that the way may be smooth for her marriage with Captain Burlington, although the same result might be achieved by his leaving her and never molesting her again. The sketch is noticeable for the artistic and skilful violin-playing of Miss Estelle Collette, and the acting of Mr. Leo V. Gordon as the burglar. Mr. T. M. Bradley appears as Captain Burlington. Messrs. Ike and Will Scott contribute a turn that finds considerable favour with the audience, and their dancing is particularly neat and finished. Alec Kendal contrives to keep the house thoroughly amused by the many funny things to which he gives utterance. It is a clever performance, consisting as it does entirely of patter, and Mr. Kendal is no doubt the best judge of the taste of the audience as to the jokes he puts before them for their amusement. The Cavallotti Brothers in a musical act prove themselves experts on many and divers musical instruments, and the Tintos work very hard in the scene, African Gambols.

Extraordinary tumbling is executed by Mr. Archie Royer in his eccentric act, "Watch him fall," and the applause with which he is rewarded is well deserved. Mr. Fred Cary is a comedian whose description as "the quaint one" is not ill-chosen, for he has an original style, which is only marred by a tendency to excess of "mugging." The programme is completed by Jules Kiaro, equilibrist, Daisy Stratton, Charles Lilburn, and the Palace Pictures.

AMUSEMENTS IN NEW ZEALAND.

WELLINGTON, JULY 4.—OPERA HOUSE, Lessee, Mr. J. C. Williamson.—Mr. H. R. Roberts, an Australian actor, is appearing here in The Prince Chap, an American comedy-drama, supported by an American-Australian company, chief amongst which, in addition to Mr. Roberts, is Mr. A. E. Greenaway, well known in English provincial theatres. Mr. Roberts is one of those managers who believe in touring the Colonies with one piece. It is spirited enterprise and deserves its meed of success.

TOWN HALL, July 11.—Messrs. Macmahon are here with a new stock of moving pictures, the continued desire for which seems by no means to be exhausted. The programme further contains songs by Miss Louie Tinsley.

OPERA HOUSE.—A short season given by Mr. Frank Thornton with When Knights Were Bold has proved very attractive. Mr. Thornton is practically never off the stage the whole time, and has been most warmly received. Mr. Thornton is supported by Messrs. Harry Ashford, Douglas Hamilton, and Charles Stone. The ladies' parts are played by the Misses Donaldson, Olive Dudley, and Harriet Trench. The whole is supervised by Mr. Charles Windermere, who produces a very charming picture in the second act. The piece is preceded by That Brute Simmons, which is a gem in its way. The season will witness the revival of those "fadeless flowers" Charley's Aunt and The Private Secretary. On the departure of the Thornton company Messrs. Meynall and Gunn will occupy the theatre with Her Love Against the World.

KINEMATOGRAPH regulations respecting the use of the kinematograph in theatres and halls, also the regulations respecting the use of limelight, can be had, price 1d. (by post 1½d.), from The Era Offices, 5, Tavistock-street, W.C. All those who handle the kinematograph or limelight should possess a copy of these regulations.

THE GERMAN MUSIC-HALL WAR.

HOW BRITISH ARTISTS ARE AFFECTED.

The latest move on the part of the managers in the German music hall war is of great importance to British and American artists. It will be remembered that both the V.A.F. and the White Rats are supporting the present agitation on the part of the International Artists' Lodge, which includes a boycott of eight halls in the Rhine province. The Lodge's demand for official recognition has met with a curt refusal on the part of the managers, whose union is very adroitly attempting to take the wind out of the I.A.L.'s sails by issuing a revised contract, which concedes even more than the Lodge demanded as fair, and which the members of the Directors' Union are pledged to use from Sept. 1, 1908.

The following is a translation of the document in question:—

INTERNATIONAL VARIETY THEATRES' DIRECTORS' UNION.

CONTRACT.

made between the management of ..... (hereinafter called Party I.) and ..... (hereinafter called Party II.).

Section 1.

The management engages for their hall Party II., including his troupe, composed of ..... as ..... for the period of ..... from ..... till ..... both days inclusive.

Section 2.

Party II. undertakes—

(a) To arrive on ..... in ..... in good time and to notify his arrival immediately to the management, in order to be present at and take part in the rehearsals fixed for that day;

(b) to use his best endeavours at every performance, whether one or two a day, to improve his show and to adhere to police or managerial regulations with regard to text and mise-en-scène; while the management reserves the right to shorten or alter the performance;

(c) to keep this contract secret until the commencement of the engagement;

(d) not to appear in (town of engagement) either in public or in private before any audience other than indicated by the management;

(e) to provide all the necessary band parts for an orchestra of .... musicians as well as dresses, scenery, or any other necessary apparatus in perfect condition and in accordance with the requirements of the authorities (fireproof, &c.);

(f) to own the rights of the production, including those of the orchestral accompaniment, and to indemnify the management against any claims on the part of authors, composers, or publishers;

(g) to notify to the management per registered letter thirty days prior to the commencement of the engagement that he will arrive punctually, giving his present address and enclosing in duplicate the text of any recitations or songs, adding translations of any foreign matter, also in duplicate.

Should Party II. fail to fulfil punctually the foregoing clauses the management, without forfeiting any of their rights, is entitled to annul this contract, Party II. losing all claims with regard to the contract.

Section 3.

The management pays Party II. a ..... salary of ....., after deducting ..... Payments are made on the 15th and on the last day of each month, and at the end of the engagement, immediately after the last performance, in the office of the management.

Section 4.

If in consequence of fire, war, national mourning, local strikes, political disturbances, epidemics, or regulations of the authorities the performances are stopped, salaries are decreased proportionately. Should such interruption last for more than five days, both parties are entitled to rescind the contract.

Section 5.

Should Party II. or his troupe, through accident, illness, or change of members be placed in such a position that his performance has materially depreciated since the date of the signing of the contract, the management is entitled to cancel the contract during the first three days. Should such depreciation take place during the course of the engagement and show no improvement within three days, the management is also entitled to annul the contract.

Section 6.

Party II., on behalf of himself and of the members of his troupe, undertakes to conform with the rules and regulations of the management, a copy of which is affixed. He is therefore responsible that the members of his company conform with the clauses of this contract and with the rules and regulations of the management, and is as liable for any of their transgressions as for his own.

Section 7.

Either party to this contract culpably infringing any clause has to pay a fine of .... for each infringement, without prejudice to any subsequent action for damages. Apart from the fine, the fulfilment of the contract may be enforced, or, if convenient, the contract may be immediately annulled. Fines or damages due by Party II. may be deducted by the management without further explanations. Differences over payments constitute no claim for fines.

Section 8.

Money claims under this contract are not transferable.

Section 9.

In case of any dispute both parties recognise the jurisdiction of the Court in (town of engagement). Party II. furthermore recognises the jurisdiction of the Court in his permanent or temporary domicile. The appointment of arbitrators is reserved for special agreement.

Section 10.

The stamp duties of this contract are defrayed by both parties equally. The management is entitled to deduct from the salary of Party II. his proportion of the stamp duty or any other local tax which may have been advanced by the management without the production of explanatory accounts.

SPECIAL CLAUSES.

.....

.....

The text of this contract is known to both parties in their mother tongue; the document is prepared in duplicate, read, approved, sealed, and signed.

Signature.....

Date.....

The last sentence of the contract, that each party has full knowledge of the context, is printed in German, English, and French. To each contract must be affixed the rules and regulations of the hall in question, whilst the special clauses must contain nothing in contradiction of the contract as drafted by the Directors' Union.

Across the margin of the contract is printed an extract from the rules of the Union which points out that "no member of the Directors' Union may engage anyone who has broken his contract with another member of the Union." This embargo may be removed by order of the Union's executive on payment of the delinquent's fine.

SOME interesting Morocco pictures have been added to the Empire Bioscope. They show the deposed Sultan going to the great sheep feast and receiving the homage of the tribes. There are also some interesting scenes outside the gates of Fez and in the streets of Stattin.

MISS MARGARET ASHTON, the charming American soprano, elicits great applause and laughter at the Tivoli by her delightful rendering of the song, "Wouldn't you like to learn to love me?" which has achieved an immense success, both in the provinces and in London.

MR. FRED SOLO took his third annual benefit on Tuesday on Redcar pier, and was congratulated by the pier directors on his success and management of the entertainments, being presented with a gold ring, pin, and pocket-book as tokens of appreciation and esteem. Several artists came from Middlesbrough to give their services, and a pantomime sketch, Dick Whittington Up to Date, written and produced by the beneficiaire, was a great success.

SUNDAY CONCERTS.

AMALGAMATED MUSICIANS' UNION SCHEME

It will be of great interest to the public in general, and to the musical profession in particular, to learn that the official body which represents the musicians in this country is about to inaugurate a series of concerts for the winter and spring. It has too long been a matter of complaint that the public is not provided with reasonable entertainment on the seventh day of the week. Too long have our Sundays been the dreariest days in the year. The London County Council and the National Sunday League have done much to remove this reproach on Metropolitan life, and it is now pleasant news that we get from Mr. Jesson, L.C.C., the London secretary of the A.M.U., to the effect that the efforts of the two bodies mentioned are to be augmented by the musicians employed in our London places of amusement.

We propose to let Mr. Jesson speak for himself.

"We recognise," says he, "first of all that the question of Sunday entertainments is bound to develop in public and official consideration, and we want to so regulate it in its practical aspect that we do not get the introduction of the seven days a week in our own winter business the same as we have in our summer business. Another point that has influenced us in this matter is that we see all the Army bands—the Line bands as well as the Guards' bands—are being brought into competition with the civilian musicians more and more in all directions. We have come to the conclusion that, as Heaven helps those who help themselves, we must, before we get snuffed out, do something in the interests of our own self-preservation. We have now organised two very fine bands, each one hundred strong, from our own members. These bands include some of the very best musicians that are to be found in the London profession. It would be impossible to get such bands together except on Sunday evenings, for the simple reason that the majority of the principals are employed every night in the week in the chief London orchestras.

MR. C. JESSON.

"An outstanding feature of our scheme will lie in the fact that it will be conducted on a co-operative basis. We have given an undertaking—and quite rightly too—to the London County Council that all profits, after paying professional fees, will be devoted to our benevolent fund. The seaside places have so educated the public up to Sunday amusements in the winter that we take this step really in the interests of our own members, and to prevent them being compelled to work seven days a week. Now they do it voluntarily, for they need not play on Sundays unless they like. We have been running Sunday concerts in connection with the Macnaghten halls in London since last February, and these have been highly successful. Indeed, I will go further and say that they have served a useful purpose in attracting to these halls a class of people who might, had they not been otherwise employed, have proved a source of some trouble. The police have spoken very highly of our efforts in this direction. There is, of course, an educational as well as a social side to this question, which should not be overlooked.

"We are going to give performances at the Coliseum, by arrangement with Mr. Oswald Stoll, starting on Sept. 27, and continuing every Sunday until next summer. The concerts will open at 7 p.m., and will conclude about 9.30. We shall endeavour to make a feature of the band; but, in addition to that, we intend to have high-class vocalists.

"At the present time there are very few opportunities for British musicians who aspire to make a name for themselves as conductors of big orchestras or bands. The largest of our orchestras or bands are not composed of more than thirty or forty instrumentalists. We propose to offer to recognised musicians facilities for conducting a band of one hundred picked musicians, both military and orchestral.

"Another new feature will be the giving to British composers an opportunity of hearing their works performed by a large orchestra, so that they may, by practical experience, find out precisely how they stand. In this connection we have arranged with Mr. Ernest Bucalossi, the well-known composer and conductor, to produce some of his latest works at one of our concerts, including his 'Cæsar" march, which was written for the late Chelsea Pageant. In addition to him and Mr J. M. Glover, we shall have the able assistance of Mr. W. Davin, the stage bandmaster of the Royal Opera, and Mr. J. Skuse, the deputy conductor of Drury Lane Theatre, in the military and orchestral bands respectively. All these are gentlemen of the very highest experience and ability, and they will prove of valuable assistance to our great undertaking. We do not intend to cater solely for those who prefer severely classical music, as, in my opinion, they do not number more than 25 per cent. of any audience. But, naturally, a musician always aspires to the very best, which is a sufficient guarantee that the popular items will not be overdone. And here we have, of course, every faith in the sound advice of Mr. J. M. Glover.

"Yes; the scheme is my own. I have been steadily maturing it for years, and my great desire is to provide the poor old worn-out musician, who has helped during his life to brighten the lives of thousands, with an old-age pension, which will be slightly assisted by the one provided by the Government. I believe we shall be able to do this from the proceeds of these concerts. But, apart from that consideration, it is a valuable lesson to the musician in the management of his own affairs, and I believe it will lead to a better understanding between himself and his employers. We hope to extend our present concerts to all parts of the metropolis during the coming winter.

"Do the musicians appreciate my efforts? Well, yes, I think they do. You see ours is a precarious business. We are not like the ordinary tradesman who is employed all the year round. It is no uncommon thing for some of our people to be out of employment for several months every year. To these an occasional concert is very useful, if only to pay the rent. Many of our members have been very grateful for the concerts we have already given, and now that we are going to extend the field of our enterprise I have no reason to suppose they will be dissatisfied.

"The highly successful concert which was held at the Coliseum on May 2 in aid of our Benevolent Fund will be still within the recollection of your readers. And in this connection I have to express our gratitude to Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, of The Era, who was the honorary treasurer for the concert, and who used his influence and employed his energies in many directions to ensure the success of the undertaking. The experience gained at that concert enabled us to show what we could do in the direction of organising concerts on a larger scale, and this particular performance has been a strong argument in favour of our present enterprise in respect of the forthcoming Sunday concerts.

"With two exceptionally fine bands, and bright, sparkling music, not forgetting a few humorous items, good vocalists and soloists, and other attractions, we hope all London will visit us at Mr. Stoll's handsome Coliseum every Sunday evening from Sept. 27 onwards."

MUSIC-HALL AGENT'S DEATH.

At the St. Giles's Coroner's Court on the 28th ult. Dr. Danford Thomas held an inquiry as to the death of George Anthony Ware, aged 54, late of Clovelly-mansions, Gray's Inn-road, which occurred on Tuesday, the 25th ult.

Mary Jane Ware, the widow, said she and the deceased had been married twenty-eight years. He was a music-hall agent. The deceased was in the habit of taking Epsom salts and carbonate of soda, and thought that they would do him good. On Tuesday afternoon he came home. He was not quite sober, but cheerful. He went to bed, and a little later asked the witness for some hot water, which she thought was to mix some salts. At 6.30 he awoke and complained of pains in his stomach. He vomited and suffered from diarrhœa. He said his inside was burning, and kept asking for water. Dr. Brooke was called in, but on his arrival the man was dead. Near the deceased was a jug and a glass, and a packet, the contents of which she did not know. There was a sediment as of crystals in the bottom of the glass and some water in the jug.

The Coroner—Do you know any reason why he should commit suicide?—No.

Since the death have you heard anything about any trouble?—No.

Was there any outside trouble?—Well, his business had failed.

Been getting worse lately?—Yes, very bad.

Had he been in distress for want of money?—Oh, yes.

Have you since found any packet or anything in writing?—No.

Police-sergeant Wilson, who was called to the house, said he found no trace of oxalic acid except in the tumbler.

Dr. Thomas Brooke, of Mecklenburg-square, saw the deceased about eight p.m., when he had been dead about an hour. On making a post-mortem examination he found the stomach contracted and containing a dark fluid mixed with blood, showing that the walls had been injured. The sediments in the glass produced answered to all the tests for oxalic acid, and there was a mixture of that and bicarbonate of soda. The water in the jug contained oxalic acid.

The Coroner said it looked like an intentional act, but the deceased might have supposed he was simply mixing salts with the soda.

Dr. Brooke, continuing, said the deceased was in a bad state of health, and was evidently a chronic dipsomaniac.

Marie Adams, a married daughter, said that when the deceased came home he had a small packet in his hand, but she did not see any label on it. He asked for hot water, and made a mixture in the jug, which he took to his bedroom. When the deceased came home he was as happy as anything. During his spasms of pain the deceased said, "I'm poisoned." He might have bought the acid to clean an old brass plate and taken it in mistake for salts.

The Coroner said it was just possible the chemist might have made a mistake. It did not look like a deliberate act of suicide.

After further evidence the jury returned a verdict of "Death by misadventure."

MR. JUDD-GREEN sends us the following: "The Bateman fish story has gone the rounds and served its purpose exceeding well. But here is one which is absolutely true. 'My word, if I catch you——' Edwin Boyde and I were on Southampton Pier one blazing June day, and we wandered down the steps underneath the pier to watch the proceedings of a greasy individual, who was standing with a long pole poised in the air and gazing intently into the depths beneath. All of a sudden he plumped the pole, which was attached to his wrist by a line, into the water, and, hastily hauling it up again, brought to the surface the largest bass seen around those waters for a long time, speared as cleanly as ever a fish was in this world.

"We were greatly interested as the fish wriggled and squirmed upon the spear. Just then George Short, long known as one of the chief stewards of the Isle of Wight line (now a prosperous publican), came down the steps with his small Yorkshire terrier. The canine pet began to jump and bark at the fish, and in its excitement fell into the water and was with some difficulty rescued, as the tide runs at a rapid rate when leaving Southampton Water. George Short purchased the fish from the fisherman, who turned out to be the Scotch engineer of the Solent Queen, and Boyde and I bore the catch in triumph, placing a walking-stick through its gills, and letting the fish hang down between us as we each held the stick.

"THE dog barked at the fish all the time as we mounted to the upper part of the pier, where a large crowd of people awaited us. 'What a splendid fish!' said one. 'How did you catch it?' said another. Then the Boyde youth asserted himself. "We didn't catch it at all. The dog jumped in and caught it. Look at the teeth marks.' And, amid exclamations of surprise and wonderment at the dog's sagacity, we went up the gangway of George Short's boat, the Duchess of York, and hid ourselves in the steward's cosy cabin. But the worthy Edwin's words were not breathed upon desert air, because in the evening local papers there appeared, in all the glory of a large type heading, "Mr. George Short's Dog Catches a Fish," and proceeded to give full particulars of how it was caught by the clever animal."

MR. JULIAN CLIFFORD, the popular manager of the Harrogate Kursaal, who is, we regret to say, still seriously ill, takes his annual benefit to-day, when a host of talent is announced, including Mme. Alice Gomez, the Hon. Mrs. Julian Clifford, Mr. Ben Davies, Mr. Joseph Lycett, Miss Fanny Wentworth, Auguste Van Biene, the famous Black Dike Band, and Datas, the whole to conclude with a display of fireworks.

"THE SILVER CRUCIFIX."

Sketch, by Arthur Shirley, produced at the Middlesex Music Hall, on Monday, Aug. 31.

No. 99 .....MR. FRANK STONE
Bishop Myriel .....MR. H. MONKHOUSE
Sergeant of Gendarmes
MR. J. ELMORE BREWERTON.
Tuzon .....MISS MAY HUNDALL.

The criminal classes have frequently been favoured in Mr. Arthur Shirley's numerous plays, and in the sketch above-named, which is designed for the music halls, their regeneration is again happily dealt with. The Silver Crucifix is obviously based upon an incident in Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables," which has been twice utilised on the theatrical stage within the past twelve months, but the prolific author has introduced some effective dialogue, in which the necessity of cultivating the softer side of the convict nature is insisted upon. The individual in this instance is Pierre Valjéan, a discharged convict from Toulon Prison, but the lines in which Mr. Shirley urges more humane treatment for the criminal when he comes out of prison might well be adapted for home use, and the Middlesex patrons, realising the application, cheered whenever a plea was put in for the gaol-bird. Jean Valjéan, known as No. 99 in the present version, has just received his discharge after undergoing seven years' imprisonment, and is being hounded from pillar to post, unable to obtain food or work. He enters the cottage of Bishop Myriel, the village priest, where he is entertained right royally by the estimable cleric, who does not fear to allow his silver plate to be used on the supper table. The valuables excite the cupidity of the refugee, who determines to possess himself of them. While the Bishop, seated on the sofa, sleeps peacefully, he extracts the key of the cupboard from his pocket, clutching a gleaming knife meanwhile, fully determined to take the old man's life should he awake. He gains the coveted silver and escapes with his booty, only to be captured and brought back to the cottage. The Bishop, bent upon Jean's redemption, declares he gave the articles to the man. Left alone with his benefactor, Jean falls on his knees, while the Bishop hangs his silver crucifix upon the breast of the convict, now thoroughly converted, and commends him to a life of repentance.

The sketch is acted by Mr. J. Elmore Brewerton's company, and as we have hinted, its appeal to the house was intense. Mr. Frank Stone gave a vivid exposition of the Convict, both acting and delivery being commendable. Mr. H. Monkhouse made an ascetic priest, and spoke in well-measured tones, and Mr. Brewerton was a smart Sergeant of Gendarmes.

"THE MARTYRDOM OF MICHAEL."

A New Episode, produced at the Bedford, Aug. 31.

Michael Vesney .....MR. MAURICE H. HOFFMAN
Robson Macowan .....MR. HUBERT LEE
Neville Potter .....MR. E. POWARD
Pepeto Domingo .....MR. SAM LEROY
Olive Kingsley .....MISS EDITH COWAN
Ruth Macowan .....MISS ETHEL KING
The Ordinary Gentleman .....

This new sketch, which had its first production on Monday, is undoubtedly a striking one, and it is excellently played by Mr. Maurice Hoffman and Miss Ethel King's company. Michael Vesney, an inventor, is in love with Macowan's daughter, whose father has robbed Vesney of a clever invention, and made a fortune out of it. Vesney follows the Macowans to Spain, where he is falsely imprisoned for six years on the charge of conspiracy. At this point the story opens, and in the first scene we find Michael in prison, doomed to die on the following day. A nun from a neighbouring convent gains admission to his cell and brings him means of escape. Michael then discovers that his deliverer is Ruth, who has been silently watching over him during his incarceration, having joined the convent in order to be near him. Three months elapse before the next scene, which is laid in Macowan's mansion in London. Here we find Macowan beset by remorse and worried by an unknown blackmailer whom he suspects to be Michael. In reality he is Neville Potter, his secretary, and a man known as the ordinary gentleman, who was once his clerk. Macowan gains entrance to the room by means of the window, and the ordinary gentleman comes in, and mistaking him for Macowan, tells him how he was wronged, and that he helped to rob him of his invention. Potter finding things getting too warm for himself, advises Macowan to flee the country, but the old man prefers suicide. His body is found and Potter accuses Michael of murder. However, Michael easily clears himself of the charge, and Potter finds himself arrested on the charge of blackmail. Michael and Ruth meet at last, and here the play finishes. It is well written, and after a few minor alterations should make a success. It was well received. Mr. Maurice Hoffman gives a strong portrayal of Michael and Miss Ethel King is good as Ruth Macowan. A clever character is that of the Ordinary Gentleman, and was excellently depicted by an actor whose name the programme omitted to give. Mr. Hubert Lee acts well as Robson Macowan, and Mr. E. Poward does well as Potter.

MR. ARTHUR BOURCHIER holds "that the chief variety theatres afford fine chances for the one-act plays that have no place in the regular theatres, because there the patrons would think the chief piece was weak and needed bolstering. Such opportunities ought to be hailed with gratitude by actors and dramatists—especially dramatists—as it would be impossible to give their best playlets a star turn in a dramatic house."

THE annual excursion of the Palace Theatre staff, Lincoln, took place on Sunday, Cleethorpes being the place selected. A party, numbering over fifty, consisting of the staff and invited friends and patrons of the theatre, left Lincoln by special train, and on reaching Cleethorpes made their way to the Dolphin Hotel, where was prepared a sumptuous repast, to which full justice was done. The manager (Mr. R. R. Black) presided, and proposed the loyal toast of "The King," followed by that of "Mr. Frank Macnaghten" and "Success to the Palace, Lincoln," which was received with the greatest enthusiasm. Mr. Baker, the oldest member of the staff, responded on behalf of Mr. Macnaghten.

THE examination in bankruptcy before Mr. Registrar Hope was concluded on Tuesday of Charles Arthur Rollason, of Beacondale-road, Gipsy Hill. The accounts showed liabilities amounting to £2,266, and assets nil. The debtor, it was stated, was a mechanical engineer, and had for the past eight years been engaged in constructing and working outdoor amusements, such as water chutes, &c. He had been associated with the Compass Trading Company (Limited), which had been dissolved, the Chutes and Amusements Company (Limited), of which he was a director at £50 per annum, the Weston-super-Mare Water Chute (Limited), and the Rollason Amusements Syndicate (Limited).

A COLLECTION made for the London Hospital last week at Hengler's Circus, by permission of Mr. Austin Fryers, realised a sum of £23 7s. 3d.

MR. ERNEST CH. GITTINS, who has resigned his position as the Carl Rosa Co.'s acting-manager to produce condensed operas on the halls, was compelled on Monday to make his reappearance on the stage, after an absence of ten years. One of the members of the company (The Daughter of the Regiment) was unable to appear, and at very short notice Mr. Gittins appeared at both houses as Tony.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD.

Fairs Ahead.

The fairs ahead for next week are Alversthorpe, on the Great Northern; Armley, on the Great Northern, Midland, and Lancashire and Yorkshire; Farnley, on the London and North-Western; Oldbury, on the London and North-Western and Great Western; Oxford, on the London and North-Western, Great Western, Midland, and Metropolitan District; Thorner, on the North-Eastern; Wortley, on the London and North-Western and Great Northern; Barnoldswick, on the Midland; Exeter, on the London and South-Western and Great Western; Wirksworth, on the Midland; Blandford, on the Midland and South-Western; Broadway (Somerset), on the Great Western; Chapel Town, on the Great Central; Lambert Castle; Morchard Bishop, on the London and South-Western; Openshaw, on the Great Central; Swinton and Pendlebury, on the Lancashire and Yorkshire; Tideswell, on the Midland; Witton, on the London and North-Western and Cheshire Lines; Congresbury, on the Great Western; Maldon, on the Great Eastern; Wareham, on the London and South Western; Batley, on the London and North-Western and Great Northern; Blackheath (Staffs.), on the Great Western; Brentford, on the London and South-Western; Buxton, on the London and North-Western and Midland; Cromford, on the Midland; Matlock, on the Midland; Woodthorpe, on the Midland; Ayr, on the Glasgow and South-Western; Aberavon, on the Rhondda and South Brecon; Neath, on the Great Western, and Neath and Brecon; and Blaenavon, on the London and North-Western and Great Western railways.

Strolling Players.

What is a theatre and what are stage plays was argued at the Reigate Borough Court last week. A. J. Baiden, the owner of a portable structure, known as the Royal Pavilion, Redhill, was summoned for causing to be acted and presented parts in stage plays in an unlicensed theatre.

Inspector Lee paid a visit to the defendant's theatre, and saw staged Convict No. 99. During his stay in the theatre he saw a person dressed as a convict, with a wheelbarrow, and another as a warder with a gun. When asked for his licence defendant said one was not necessary as they were strolling players.

For the defence it was contended that when defendant and his company entered the town they were referred by the Town Clerk to the County Council officials at Kingston if thy required a licence.

Defendant said he saw the officials at Kingston, who informed him a licence was not necessary for a portable theatre, as they were strolling players. It was also argued that the portable structure, having no foundations, was not a theatre, and that stage plays were not performed there. In other parts of the county which were under the jurisdiction of the County Council there were "gaffs," and no licences were issued. The authorities did not interfere so long as they were properly conducted and were not a nuisance.

Mr. Charles Elliston, who stated that he had had twenty-six years' experience in the profession, and was the defendant's stage-manager, described himself and the company as strolling players. Convict No. 99 was not a stage play, but was Simon Lee, the Poacher's Doom boiled down into a sketch.

The Bench held that the structure was a theatre, and that stage plays had been performed.

It was pointed out to the defendant by Mr. Brooks, one of the magistrates, that strolling players with a portable theatre did not require a licence when attending recognised fairs, but they could not erect their theatre in a town and stay an indefinite time without obtaining a licence.

A fine of £1 and costs was imposed.

Shows and Portable Theatres.

